MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

START

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

JAN 2 1913 THRU DEC 25 1913

Title: Red Lake Falls GAZETTE

30:15 - 31:13

Inclusive Dates: Jan 2 1913 - Dec 25 1913

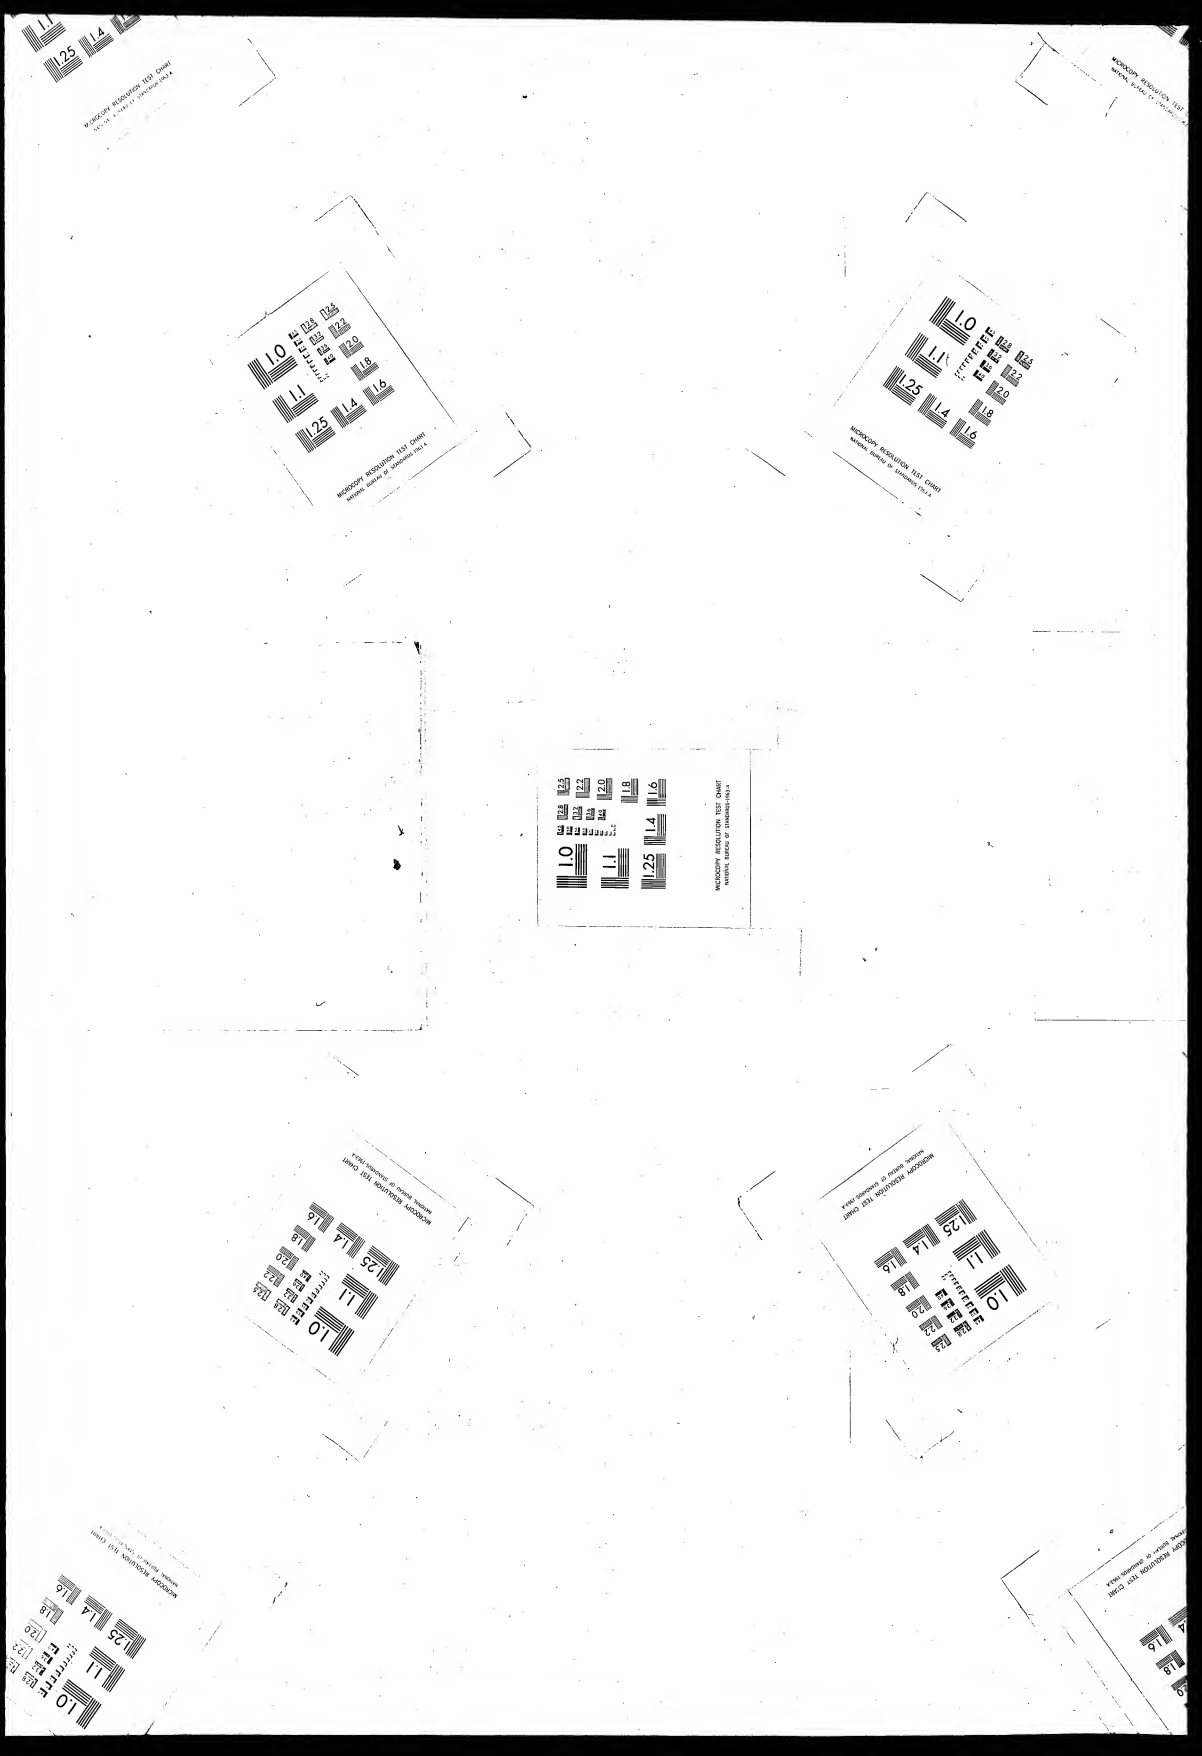
41-12 1981

Originals held by: MHS x Other ___

Prepared by: JAD MCL	Date: Nov 10, 1981	Format: 1A x 2B
Filmed by: Owens	Date: 12/4/81	Camera No. Red
Reduction Ratio: 14/12	Voltmeter .22/90	No. Expos.
Prelim. Inspection by:	Date: "	Density:
Target Resolution: ____/mm	O.K. ____ Reject ___	Length:

The Minnesota Historical Society has reproduced the material in this microfilm without any purpose of direct or indirect commercial advantage in order to preserve & to secure it for private study, scholarship, and research.

The material reproduced may be protected by copyright law. Any person engaging in further reproduction of this material may be liable for infringement.



RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY
MinnesotaHistoricalSociety

RED LAKE ALLS GAZETTE, ESTABLISHED 1893
RED LAKE COURIER, ESTABLISHED 1898

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 2, 1913

VOL. XXX—NO. 15

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES NOW DUE

Taxes Must be Paid Before First Day of March to Avoid Ten Per Cent Penalty.

Complete List for Red Lake County Published in This Issue of the Gazette.

The publication of the complete list of personal property taxes for Red Lake County in the first issue of the new year is a printing of no accomplishment that would merely be possible if it were not for the County's equipment now in the office of Hiontypo.

The publication of the list is undertaken solely as a matter of public interest, for there is no legal provision for the publication and no compensation for the labor involved. Yet this publicity is something to the Gazette is glad to be able to which the tax payers are entitled as convey the information to them.

The taxes become due the first day of the new year, yesterday, Jan. 1, 1913. To avoid the ten per cent penalty, they must be paid before March 1, 1913.

Following is a complete list of the County:

City of Red Lake Falls.

Bourdon, Chas. N.	5.95
Bebbins, C. H.	34.00
Brady, James	3.51
Bise, E. G.	5.31
Beisel, Alma	19.38
Boyce, Byron	3.57
Bourdo Bros.	4.07
Birr, D. W.	5.91
Beisel, Clem	8.08
Baker, C. R. C.	55.78
Bailey, Joe	14.28
Burdon, R. H.	50.26
Bown, W. E.	3.57
Bus & Campbell	24.43
Bunnelle, Paul	1.42
Boughton, C. H.	21.30
Boughton, Geo. H.	11.91
Bry, John	1.46
Bedard, Edward	5.85
Bromery Association	19.13
Christensen, Martin	1.42
Cr, George	2.28
Bengtson, Dan	21.31
Bates, Wilfred	3.43
Crampe, Thomas	1.44
Crow, L. E.	1.42
Cr, Joe Big	5.95
Cr, Paul W.	1.42
Connody, N. E.	17.74
Crow, Nick	1.46
Cuchorne, Louis	3.46
Cuchachan, John	5.95
Custerholt, L. A.	65.78
Comarak, Henry	5.68
Corome, A.	4.78
Duffy, J. A.	21.43
Duluth Brewing Co.	41.65
Dimon, L. E.	4.08
Dimard, Ovide	3.21
Dargis, Susanna	28.49
Dotcher, E.	1.10
Dobert, W. H.	1.95
Farmers Nati. Bank	744.50
Farley, F. L.	5.95
First State Bank	656.88
Fennell, Frank, F.	18.99
Fendelsen Imp. Co.	10.64
Fendelsen, Mrs. Wm.	4.00
Fen, Cy and Co.	22.10
Garris, Otto, Geo.	5.73
Gereau, Theo.	20.28
Gray, A. P.	14.42
Gullmenth, Nap	4.60
Gagnette, Paul	1.46
Gibson, Samuel	28.49
Gane, P. H.	48.88
Gunney & Goodner	4.35
Gotin, Nick	1.46
Holm Bros.	17.47
Holm Estate	152.96
Hance, James	1.42
Holland, Adolph	1.95
Healy, E & L.	5.44
Healy Land Co.	8.36
Higinbotham, W. H.	1.95
Healy, L. E.	5.01
Hemingmath, Henry	.85
Hansen, J. D.	8.30
Hance, Joe	4.00
Hallman, Rudolph	1.46
Harres, J. P.	4.15
Hoffmann, A.	62.19
Hill, Omer	1.24
Hastings, Geo. F.	13.34
Hunt Hdwe. Co.	231.42
Hunt, F. E.	15.47
Hunt, Mrs.	118.46
Johnson, H. A.	10.41
Jeffers, Frank	5.95
Krantz, Margaret	5.36
Knox, M.	29.41
Krueger, C. F.	15.95
Kilbert, Peter	1.42
Kowal Brewing Co.	41.00
Kuffenbach, J. P.	1.95
Kindorb, O. O.	7.64
Kruger, W. H.	10.27
Kettlehin, John	5.36
Kruger & Meier	17.85
Kruger, Augusta	3.91
Lallimodiere, Theo	535.35
Lutendresse, Dan	4.14
Lutendresse Bros.	17.20
Lambert, Alphonse	8.54
Lemieux, Tonis	3.40
Lemieux, Isreal	31.26
Lebbano, Joe	.76
Laurent, Leon	19.80
Lusha, J. H.	2.31
Lacouviere, G.	1.41
Laurent, Rudolph	14.23
Lunchan, Dan	2.38
Lundin, Ed	12.35
Merchants State Bank	266.48
Miller, J. L.	28.13
Majerus, Peter	2.38
Marshall, Mrs. E. F.	1.95
Mann, A.	34
Normandeau, Joe	4.95
Minneapolis Brewing Co.	87.31
Niergorski, Nicholas	10.64
Nelson, Ed	10.64
Normandeau, Eus	19.94
Prudhomme, Joseph	17.10
Poirier, R.	3.49
Poulin, Nap	5.95
Paul, Virginia	5.64
Pouliot, F. X.	42.64
Prebel, W. A.	21.20
Roy, Adolphe	10.88
Rubertus, A.	292.69
Red River Power Co.	166.25
R. L. F. Milling Co.	279.16
Reichert, A. L.	33.60
Seiger, Chas.	3.26
Sharp, W. J.	67.51
Skala, Nathias	107.51
Steinert, Leo	2.65
Savard, John	8.61
Sortebeit Land, Loan and Abstract Co.	17.00
Schreiter, W. A.	130.44
Sheeran and Mitchell	260.31
St. Ives, Harvey	2.49
Spilman, Leo	2.72
Seiff, Louis	76.13
Bailey, Joseph	8.35
St. Ives, Wm.	10.26
Standard Oil Co.	44.20
Toupin, A. P. & Son	4.62
Toupin & Duffy	17.00
The Robertson Lumber Co.	1,057.82
Vogtsy, Fred	1.92
Wheeler, J. E.	2.46
Whitmore, C. C.	10.26
Worden, A. S.	4.00
Watson, W. M.	15.95
Wilcox Lumber Co.	132.17
Zine, Joe	1.12
Zaiter, Fred	3.23
Zaiter, Mrs. Wm.	3.23
Zeh, Adam	1.91
Zins, A. W.	1.10
Zaiter, Wm.	12.33
Zaizer, Otto	11.56
Zaiter, Robert	1.87
Anderon, H. F.	2.25
Allen, Richard	3.00
Aton, Henry	6.00
Aelaga, Napoleon	1.24
Findelson, N. C.	9.00
Gravel, Frank	.46
Grandbois, Treffle	6.00
Hanson, Ole	2.10
Johnson, C. W.	3.00
Kingsbury, Fred	3.00
Power, John	1.50
Parenteau, Homer	1.28
Uedinger, Geo.	2.25
Webre, Henry	.45
Watson, Phil	6.00
Welland, Frank	4.00
Larandreau, A. A.	1.50

Town of Wylie.

Anderson, Anton	6.09
Bergen Estate	5.72
Bantain, William	7.27
Bantain, Ed	3.61
Bantain, Bill	5.46
Bergen, O. O.	3.06
Bergen, C. C.	3.71
Draper, Albert	4.76
Dahl, Paul	4.83
Eckstein, Nick	17.34
Gerlach, G.	5.42
Gerlach, Mrs. Daniel	8.20
Gerlach, Fred	1.91
Hanzel, Peter	6.02
Hunt, E.	3.43
Hunt, R.	10.61
Hunt, Theo	7.29
Hunt, Steve	10.21
Hunt, Jay	6.23
Knaack, A. R.	4.39
Lande, Gustav	9.41
Lands, August	1.91
Lands, Albert	5.96
Lands, Wm.	3.06
Mattenson, Wm.	18.09
Rivertson, Fremont	9.90
Schaefer, Mrs. Mary	3.18
Shults, Fred	.82
Shaw, Chas.	5.95
Wylie Farmers Elev. Co.	54.94
Fournier, Theo	.74

Town of Browns Creek.

Dueck, Peter	$7.28
Dougherty, Arthur	.26
Dougherty, Thomas	6.69

(Continued on Page Four)

THE NEW OFFICERS

Two New Commissioners and Two New County Officials Assume Duties Next Week.

The newly elected county officials will be sworn in next Tuesday, Jan. 7, when the board of county commissioners will meet for the first meeting of the year and approve the bonds of the county officials.

There will be two new members of the county board. C. O. Rankel and Ole Anderson, Commissioners Pigeon and Schultz hold over.

There will be only two new officials with offices at the court house. Auditor A. A. Latnadrese was not a candidate for re-election and he will be succeeded by George Pepper of Terrebonne. Albany Deforge will be the new superintendent of schools in the place of H.T.McAnulty, who was appointed for the unexpired term when H. F. Anderson resigned two months ago.

Treasurer C. O. Rladseth, Attorney Charles E. Boughton, Register Frank Jeffers, Judge Parranit, Sheriff Gillman, were re-elected. Clerk Johnson's term has two years to run.

Annual Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Etray Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Pennington and Red Lake Co., will be held at the hall in St. Hilaire, Minn., on the 6th day of January, 1913, beginning at 10 o'clock A. M. for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year and to transact other business that may properly come before said meeting.

JOHN G. SWANSON, Secretary.

Stockholders Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the First State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the election of directors will be held in the banking house on the 14th day of January 1913, between the hours of ten a. m. to four p. m.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minn., December 9th, 1912.

NOEL DELORME, Cashier.

THE GAZETTE HAS NEW LINOTYPE

RAPID FIRE TYPE SETTING MACHINE HAS JUST BEEN INSTALLED.

Capacity of Shop Greatly Increased —Paper Will Have "New Dress" Every Week.

THE Gazette's new linotype has been installed and the type from which this week's paper is printed is from the rapid fire type setting machine. It is probably not exactly proper to speak of a linotype as a type setting machine, though it is commonly so termed. It might more properly be called a type casting machine, though lid ces not cost any letter pieces.

By the aid of the operator at the keys the machine automatically casts lines of type—a vill line to each piece—hence the name "Linotype." The operator press the keys to produce the characters for the complete line and when completed the line falls into position from hot metal.

The paper will in the future be a new dress from time to time it appears. Lines of metal that have been used go into the metal pot to become a part of the most up-to-date press from which new lines are cast.

The principle value of the machine is, of course, that it is a labor saver, one competent operator on the machine being able to do about as much of certain kinds of work as three or four people could do by hand. Another advantage is that the paper will always be printed from new type. There is also a saving in time in the handling of lines of type in solid pieces over the old method of handling loose type.

The Gazette's machine is equipped to cast three sizes and six different faces of type. For example, the small headline as well as the body of today's paper, were set on the machine. This change in type being secured by [illegible] the matrix. The matrix [illegible] holds two faces instead of one, there are two faces of smaller type of the size commonly used in setting large advertisements. There are also two lines larger. These being commonly used in headlines and display and other similar work.

It will be evident without further explanation that the purpose in installing the machine is to increase the capacity of the print shop—to make possible the publication of a better paper and handle the customers' work in the print shop with greater facility.

It is with considerable satisfaction that the announcement of this improvement is made. The acquisition of the linotype gives The Gazette an excellently equipped print shop, and will make it possible to improve the paper as to quality, if not more rapidly, than conditions in the field will warrant. To acquire the linotype it has been necessary to make a large financial outlay.

The Gazette has the most astounding capacity for news items in the form of printer's copy and all are invited to contribute to satisfying the newsboys and relief in getting your news items to The Gazette. Once there every known there is a reason why you should "tell the town to The Gazette." Send it in, bring it in or phone it in. The linotype will devour it in any form.

A small picture of the linotype is shown at the head of this article.

FREE USE OF LIBRARY.

Offers Unrestricted Use of Books and Records.

The State Board of Visitors for the Public Institutions offers the use of its sociological library to students of institutional management, social science and related subjects. A reference room in maintained in connection with the Board's offices at the Old capital, where papers may read and study with free access to the shelves, and such assistance, if desired, of the Board's librarian, Miss Jessie Rhodes Thone living at a distance may be invited to correspond with the librarian, who will mail materials selected from pamphlets, but may obtain for use at any time all that is needed for the study of special topics.

The library comprises a full line of state and government reports and bulletins, proceedings of many conferences and congresses of philanthropists and workers in the field of charities and correction, both bound volumes and pamphlets. Probably there is also on the same ground of this class of publications be obtained, as students of these lines are referred to this library from the reference departments of city libraries. On the shelves are books on schedion, boys and boy training, child labor, children, civics criminology, defectives, economics, education, emigration, and immigration, labor, eugenics, foods, heredity, the home, housing, infant mortality, industrial development, insanity, institutional management, juvenile courts and juvenile delinquency, labor and labor problems, marriage and divorce, medical inspection, negroes, penology, pensions, pauperism, political science, prisons, probation, psychology, settlements, sex and social hygiene, social insurance, socialism, sociology, teaching of special classes, tuberculosis, unemployment, women employment, advancement, suffrage, etc., workmen's compensation, while advertising, and many other subjects.

New books are constantly being added, the board's having devoted more than $1,000 to the enlargement of the library. It is the purpose of the board to build this library on broad lines, that it may educate and deliver social sentiment to students, officials and citizens throughout the state, by affording aid through their own library of charities and corrections. Assistance to institutional managements by legislators will be called of the coming session for appropriation of $5,000 for the maintenance of this library, the value of which already been demonstrated, that it may be adequate to the special and effective work of the board and of the State.

TREASURER-ELECT WILL NOT SERVE

First Action Under Corrupt Practices Act Brought by G. H. Thibert Forestry of This City.

Violated Corrupt Practices Act, Court Says, by Giving Away Liquors and Cigars.

The first case under the corrupt practices act is ruled by C. H. Thibert, formerly of this city, now a resident of Walker, Cass county. He says he violated the corrupt practices act when he gave cigars and treating votors to induce them to vote for him at the general election in Nov. 5. This was the first case ever tried [illegible] Minnesota, and the decision [illegible] Judge Joseph Holtzland has declared vacant the board of commissioners of Cass county, Thibert, the county treasurer that the last election. Thibert, the plaintiff, says he violated the corrupt practices act when he gave cigars and treating votors to induce them to vote for him at the general election

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

C. R. C. BAKER, Publisher.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

The greatest happiness of all is that which comes from making others happy.

If you happen to be from Wisconsin this is one of the finest football years on record.

A Seattle boy of twelve has a crop of whiskers. A precocious little shaver, as it were.

Rabbits experimented upon with coffee died. New try oysters and ham and eggs.

Science has yet to devise a way to close the railroad switch that ought not to be left open.

The ancient Egyptians used parasols, but that had nothing to do with their complexions.

We suspected a long time ago that those Turkish cigarettes would get the Turks, sooner or later.

Emperor William of Germany has a clock that speaks the time. Time is money, and money talks.

Another aviator killed shows that the love of the air is as potent as before its tragedies began.

"He a Bulgarian," said a housewife, as she sent her husband out to the yard to bust a Turkish rug.

A New York physician says there are several varieties of death. Most people are satisfied with one.

Physicians are adding an anti-coffee crusade to Baltimore. And Baltimore is the home of the oyster.

With irreproachable eggs selling at six cents each in New York it might be cheaper to buy the whole hen.

A New York man, whose salary is $5 a week, has been sued for $100,000 by an actress. He must be her husband.

Beef, evidently, is soaring in England. An aviator has been fined there for running into a cow and killing it.

Angels may fly but they cannot fly unless their wings are 15 feet long. We have the word of a great aviator for this.

Aeronauts are known to China as the "sons of Heaven." In the ocean, probably, that they may be sogels before long.

A Brooklyn man of eighty-two married again a week after being left a widower. Evidently figured he had no time to lose.

Germany reports that the stork is fast disappearing. Perhaps that accounts for the reason why Berlin leads in race suicide.

A Chicago judge has decided that $1 a day is not enough for a man to give to his wife. Probably $50 per week would look better to her.

A Mississippi editor, when he put on his winter suit found a roll of bills amounting to $50. Wonder if any of them had been paid.

In Tidsholm, Sweden, 2,200 people are employed in making matches. A fire matrimonial agency would stand no show at all in Tidsholm.

A Louisiana farmer killed a cow last week and found a dornlog needle in its stomach. Evidently the cow found the needle to the hay stack.

Unmarried men are more prone to insanity than married men, according to a government report. And they haven't half the worry, at that.

Chafing dishes have been found in the ruins of Pompeii. Now we know why the people of that city failed to be alarmed by volcanic upheavals.

"The finest fur coat in the world, worth $25,000, is owned by the wife of a tobacco magnate." And she hops this isn't a pipe dream, either.

An East Orange divine got the bride mixed when performing a double wedding and passed to end of a row. A case of being double crossed.

"A St. Paul man became intoxicated on it?" The odor and appearance of some $2 bills are enough to indicate that they can do worse than that.

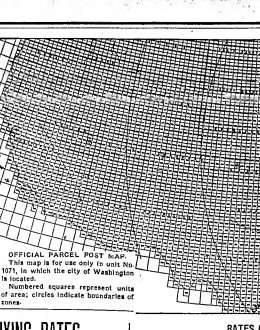
Speaking of military aviation there can be no doubt that the unexpected success of the allies put the whole concert of Europe up to the air for a time.

That elector who proposes to establish a precedent by voting for a woman as the Republican candidate for vice-president may be paying for a dubious compliment. Does he know that he is eligible she must confess she is only two years of age?

A man arrested in New York for theft claimed to be a grandson of Commodore Perry. He who plead for clemency on the ground of belonging to families of heroes should be punished all the more for disgracing illustrious names.

A German scientist has invented one method of telegraphing bullets but suppose the wires get crossed?

Advertising pays—except in the case of the "Old Philadelphia Lady," who has been trying in vain for the ten years, in the Paris edition of the New York Herald, to find somebody who can tell her how to change "Centigrade" into "Fahrenheit." We suggest that she quit using the editorial page and have her advertise cent inserted among the want ads where people will see it.



FIXING RATES UNDER PARCEL POST SYSTEM

Government Goes Into Business of Transmitting Merchandise Through the Mails.

NEW LAW FULLY EXPLAINED

Country Divided Into Zones and Units for Purpose of Fixing Charges for Carriage—Package Weighing More Than Eleven Pounds Is Mailable—Anything Properly Wrapped and Addressed Will Not Injure Other Mail May Be Sent.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

With the coming of the New Year there been made of the postmaster-general as to just what the parcel post will mean to the people. When the law of congress established the system which made provision for a division of the country into zones and into 23,000 units which are to be used in connection in describing the cities which mark the boundaries of the zones. There have been no clear understanding, apparently, of this zone system, but really it is a very simple matter.

The accompanying map shows the zones divided into units from the unit in which Washington is situated, and a study of the figures behind the map is a table showing the rate of postage per pound for parcels from Washington to places within the 50 zones.

Each unit contains an area thirty miles square. Now each unit is a center from which the zones are drawn and so every unit in the country no matter where it is situated will be drawn from it first exactly as Washington has been drawn from the unit. For instance, take Keokuk, Ia., which is in a unit in the fifth zone. The first unit will be drawn exactly as they are drawn from Washington and they will be numbered from Keokuk as number one, just as they are numbered from Washington as number one. Of course, however, Zone Six will have a different geographical position in relation to Keokuk than it has as related to Washington, but as the radius of the circles drawn from Keokuk is the same length as the radius of the circles drawn from Washington, Keokuk's Zone Six will be just as far from its center as Washington's Zone Six is.

How Rates Are Fixed.

It can be seen from this readily enough that the postal rates from Washington to its particular zone will be the same as the postal rates from Keokuk to its particular zones. Each unit having about thirty miles square will of course contain in most cases a number of postoffices, but each office in the same unit is considered as being the center of the circle from which the zones are drawn. The rates of postage are fixed from the unit in which the sending postoffice is situated, but the price to every piece in any zone is just the same. To illustrate, it will cost exactly the same to send a parcel from Washington to Erie, Pa., that it costs to send it to Atlanta, Ga., because Erie and Atlanta with reference to Washington are situated in the fourth zone. The rates therefore are fixed from the unit in which the postoffice is located, but they are the same from that office to any point in any one zone.

It will be seen by reference to the table of rates of postage that it will cost more per pound to send a package a long distance than it does to send it a short distance. The rate increases for a package weighing one pound a the rate of one cent for each zone. No package weighing more than 11 pounds can be sent under the new parcel post law. It should be said right here that on the rates the parcel post may not be able to compete with the express companies, but that on shorter hauls it can so compete. It was the expressed desire of the legislators and of the postoffice officials that the parcel post system should be made of such character as to increase having farm and factory products to transmit to consumers. It is probable that producers must study the rates of postage and the conveniences of transmittal and compare them with the cost and convenience under present methods before individually a men can determine whether he is to profit or not by the system. In the meantime another thing to be considered and which only can be known definitely when fuller regulations have been made to specify exactly what kind of things can be sent by parcel post. It can be said in a general way that anything can be sent which is properly wrapped and which will not injure other mail matter with which it may come in contact.

Copy Foreign Countries.

It is probable that the government will adopt a means of transportation for certain kinds of its merchandise which like those which have been adopted in parcel post countries abroad. What the English call hampers, basket-like arrangements, probably will be adopted, and as these can be sent separate from the rest of the mail matter it is believed that the regulations as finally adopted will allow the sending of eggs, butter, dressed poultry, live poultry, honey, fruit, and other products of the country.

The 11-pound limit for a single package will work ed from against any very extended use of the parcel post for some of the articles which have been named. Of course, more weight can be sent if it is sent in different parcels, but the cost to that case would be heavier because the increase per pound on a single package is not great up to 11 pounds, and probably it would increase at no great rate if the government were to raise the limit of weight which is now fixed. To make it simpler, it will cost more to send two packages of 11 pounds than it would to send one package of 22 pounds if the government so generously should allow a heavier single package to be carried and should charge a proportionate rate for it does now for one package of 11 pounds weight.

Every postmaster in the United States will have a parcel post map like the one which is here reproduced except that the zone lines will be shown with the unit of the postoffice as a center. All that a postmaster will have to do when a parcel is presented for transportation is to find out in what zone the destination of the package lies. His table will show him instantly the rate per pound from the unit in which the postoffice is to the zone of the package's destination, the price as has been explained before, to every postoffice in any one zone being the same. The parcel post will take nothing but fourth-class matter. Printed matter is still to be third-class designation. Therefore books cannot be sent by the parcel post system. That the postoffice authorities seem to think is in a way unjust and may work a hardship. It may be that in the future the law will be changed so as to include all printed matter. It seems to be certain that an attempt will be made to bring about this change as speedily as possible.

Must Bear Stamp.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has ordered that postmasters be advised that parcel post packages cannot be accepted for mailing unless they bear a distinctive parcel post stamp and have attached to them the return card of the sender. A series of distinctive stamps is now in course of preparation for the use of mail carriers in the parcel post service. Consignments of these stamps will be sent for shipment to all postoffices in ample time for the establishment of the new system on New Year's day.

The postoffice department has given instruction to every postmaster in the country to enlighten his patrons as much as possible on the general subject of the parcel post and especially on the rates of postage. Small stamps of the necessary attachment of the return card. The law requires that all fourth-class matter mailed on and after January 1, 1913, without parcel post stamps attached will be treated as "Held for postage" matter. Parcel post packages will be available only at postoffices, branch postoffices, letbranches will be supplied with automatic postage-stamp affixing machines for the parcel post service. The next class of offices, numbering about 10,000, will be given high grade hand scales, while for other classes of offices, numbering about 58,000, will be furnished with the best spring balances obtainable, each having a capacity for twenty pounds. These scales will be used by postmasters for weighing the amount of postage required on parcel post packages. Now that many of the postoffices of the country are now furnished with scales of a limited capacity makes it necessary for the postmaster general to make this very large purchase of scales capable of taking care of the parcel post business. It is understood that this will be the largest single order ever placed for scales.

Rate on Seeds Not Affected.

It should be said that the act of congress which puts a parcel post plan into operation does not in any way affect the postage rate on seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions and plants as fixed by section 462 of the postal laws and regulations.

The classification of articles mailable as well as the weight limit, the rates of postage, zone or terms and other conditions of mailability under the act of congress will be subject to the consent of the interstate commerce commission after investigation, to report from time to time such classification, weight limit, rates, zone or zones and conditions, as may be promote the service to the public or to insure the receipt of revenue from such service adequate to pay the cost thereof."

Through many years different members of the house and senate have been interested in promoting parcel post legislation. Among the men most active in securing the legislation which soon is to go into effect as law are Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon, Representatives David J. Lewis of Maryland and William Sulzer of New York, who has just been elected governor of that state.

To ascertain conditions surrounding the establishment of the parcel post system in places differing widely in size, climate and industries, Postmaster General Hitchcock recently summoned to Washington, to confer with the special parcel post committee, the postmasters of three typical offices. They are William H. Doyle, Pittsburg, Pa.; Daniel T. Corey, Jacksonville, Fla.; M. H. Joster, Wilmington, Del.; E. M. Gilday, Suffolk, Va., and Henry N. Brodley, Charlestown, W. Va.

Confer With Postmasters.

The postmasters of the five largest cities in the country have already appeared before the committee, so Pittsburg was represented as being a large first class office, though smaller than any of the greater five, and as being the center of a tremendous manufacturing area. The postmaster of Pittsburg reported that the board of trade of that city has a special parcel post committee, working toward bringing in the manufacturers of that nearer to each other by the new system. He also said that many of the merchants are planning to have their city deliveries made by parcel post.

Wilmington, Del., represented a large farming, and manufacturing district, with the most convenient connection with Philadelphia, one of the largest offices in Pennsylvania, the largest office in Florida, and the outlet for all the mail of the state. It is expected to have a special increase of force in winter, the tourist season, and the postmaster said that it was expected that travelers would use the parcel post extensively in sending home five and ten-pound packages of fruit.

Norfolk, Va., and Charleston, W. Va., are both very small second class offices, one in the tide-water district, the less rich interior, the other far inland in an orchard country, with diversified farm products. The postmasters of both offices reported great interest in the parcel post, and said that they had continued inquiries regarding its scope.

Three postmasters the committee was able to glean a great amount of valuable information, which, added to that gained from the postmaster in Marshfield, puts it in a position to plan the details of the service to the greatest advantage of the producing farmer.

NIAGARA MADE BY GLACIER

Columbia River Was Dammed, and Had a Fall of Four Hundred Feet Until It Cut Great Cliffs.

That one of the greatest natural wonders in the world was lost with the melting of the Okanogan glacier in the State of Washington, is the opinion of government geologists, who believe that the Columbia river had a river bed of the Columbia river in prehistoric times, and that the Niagara of great canyon that at one time was the river bed.

When the Columbia river flower through the Grand coolee it made Niagara Falls look like a comparison. This great river plunged from the upper to the lower levels in a sheer fall of 400 feet over great cliffs.

Moses lake is believed to have been at one time the outlet of the ancient of the Columbia river. During the ice age, the glacier, as it slowly pushed southward, scooped out a huge basin, but to have filled its great canyon with ice.

The southern limit of this great ice sheet glacier is marked clearly by a terminal moraine many miles in width. The moraine is formed of dirt and rock material which was pushed along or carried on its surface and deposited when the ice melted, and it includes many huge blocks of basalt and other rocks.

No more impressive scene, the geologists say, can be found in the Big Bend country than is presented by the great cliffs of black basalt below Grand coolee City, over which the Columbia once poured, but where now desert sagebrush grows and the water has long since channeled.

When the glacier left the canyon of the Columbia and retreated up the Okanogan valley the river resumed its former channel.—Indianapolis News.

Seeing Is Believing.

A trio of professional story tellers were in a cozy corner of the club spinning yarns. Brown had just told a most unbelievable story and the other two glanced at each other questioningly.

"Well, I assure you, gentlemen," said Brown, "if I hadn't seen it myself I shouldn't have believed it."

"He—h'm—well" said one of the two doubtful ones, "you must remember, old man, that we didn't see it."—Tit-Bits.

APPROVES RULES FOR PARCEL POST

Postmaster General Issues Regulations Governing System.

WHAT MAY BE SENT BY MAIL

Gives American People Opportunity to Send Farm and Factory Products by Mail From and to Any Point in United States.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has just approved the regulations which cover in detail the articles which may or may not be sent by parcel post These regulations are now being turned off at the government printing office on a rush order" and they will be distributed as rapidly as possible.

The rules as to what can be sent and what cannot be sent and the instructions for the preparation of mailable articles with other "official orders" are given here as they have just been prepared by the postoffice department in Washington.

The minimum rate will be five cents for the first pound and three cents for each additional pound to any point not exceeding fifty miles from the office of mailing; the local rate, which is five cents for the first pound and one cent for additional pound, applies to all parcels the delivery of which does not involve their transportation on railway lines. The rates increase with each successive one of the eight zones. The maximum rate being twelve cents a pound, which will carry a parcel to the sender in another or city of our possessions. Parcels will be limited to eleven pounds in weight and six feet in length and girth combined.

Mailable Perishable Articles.

Butter, lard and perishable articles such as fish, fresh meats, dressed fowls, vegetables, fruits, berries and articles of a similar nature that decay quickly, when so packed or wrapped as to prevent damage to other mail matter, will be accepted for local delivery either at the office of mailing or on any rural routes starting therefrom. When inclosed to an inner cover and otherwise properly packed in a basket, heavy corrugated pasteboard or other suitable material and wrapped so that nothing can escape from the package, they will be accepted for mailing at any postoffice within the first zone or within a radius of 50 miles. Butter, lard, or any greasy or oily substance intended for delivery at offices beyond the first zone must be suitably packed. Vegetables and fruit that do not decay quickly will be accepted for mailing to any zone if packed so as to prevent damage to other mail matter. Eggs will be accepted for local delivery when securely packed in a basket or other container. Eggs will be accepted for mailing regardless of distance when they are wrapped separately and packed in a container.

There is no restriction on salted, dried, smoked or cured meats and fish, but they must be so packed that in any form will be transported only within the first zone.

Parcels containing perishable articles must be marked "PERISHABLE," and articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transmission and delivery will not be accepted for mailing.

Manufactured Articles.

Manufacturers or dealers intending to transmit articles in considerable quantities are asked to submit to the postmaster general samples of each parcel showing the manner of packing.

When sharp pointed instruments are offered for mailing the points must be capped or encased. Blades must be housed so that they will remain attached to each other or within the handles or sockets.

Tea, powders, liquor, snuff, or other similar powders not explosive, or any similar pulverized or solid substance, or poisonous, may be sent when inclosed in glass tubes of metal, wood or other material to resist any leakage from escape of any of the contents. Fleur de lis shall not be put up in such manner as to prevent the package from being readily opened, examined by the mails.

Queen Bees and Nursery Bees, Queen bees, live insects, and dried reptiles may be mailed in accordance with the regulations that now apply to all other classes of mail.

Seeds of fruit, nursery stock, and all other plant products for preparation in accordance with the regulations that now apply to the domestic mails.

Confectionery and Soap.

Candies, confectionery, sweet cakes, soap in hard cakes, etc., must be inclosed in boxes sufficiently strong to prevent injury to other mail matter.

Sealed original packages of proprietary articles, such as soaps, tobacco, pills, tablets, etc., put up in fixed quantities by the manufacturer, and not to themselves unmailable, will be accepted for mailing when properly wrapped.

Millinery.

Fragile articles, such as millinery, toys, musical instruments, etc., and articles consisting wholly or in part of glass, must be packed in such manner as securely packed and the parcel stamped or labeled "FRAGILE."

Unmailable Matter.

The following matter is declared unmailable by law:

Matter manifestly obscene, lewd, or lascivious, and matter of any kind calculated to convey or transport obscene, indecent or immoral purposes; all matter containing malignia by any name; ontside cover or wrapper of which is a most unbelievable story and the other two glanced at each other questioningly.

"Well, I assure you, gentlemen," said Brown, "if I hadn't seen it myself I shouldn't have believed it."

"He—h'm—well" said one of the two doubtful ones, "you must remember, old man, that we didn't see it."—Tit-Bits.

reptiles; explosives of every kind; inflammable materials (which are held to include matches, kerosene oil, gasoline, naphtha, benzine, turpentine, denatured alcohol, etc.), infernal machines and mechanical, chemical or other devices or compositions which may ignite of explode; disease germs or scabs, and other natural or artificial articles, compositions or materials of whatever kind which may kill, or in any wise injure another or damage the mail or other property.

Pistols, Animals and Birds.

Pistols or revolvers, whether in detached parts or otherwise; live or dead (and not stuffed) animals, birds, or poultry, except as elsewhere provided; raw hides or pelts, guanos, or any article having a bad odor will not be admitted to the mails.

Treatment of Undeliverable Parcels.

Perishable matter will be delivered as promptly as possible, but if such matter can not be delivered and becomes offensive sod injurious to health, postmasters may destroy it, or the injurious or offensive portion thereof.

Undeliverable perishable matter which in its nature does not become offensive or injurious to health may be delivered by postmasters to the proper local municipal authority to be distributed to hospitals, asylums or other charitable or reformatory institutions. If there be no such municipal authority, the matter may be delivered to any charitable institution or organization making application therefor. If no application is made, the matter will be destroyed at the expiration of two weeks.

Parcels Improperly Packed.

Postmasters will refuse to receive for mailing parcels not properly indorsed or packed for safe shipment.

When parcels on which the postage is wholly unpaid or insufficiently prepaid is deposited for local delivery and the sender is unknown, notice of detention need not be sent but such matter will be delivered and the deficient postage collected from the addressee by the carrier. If the addressee refuses to pay the postage the matter will be sent to the Division of Dead Letters.

Insurance on Parcels.

A mailable parcel on which the postage is fully prepaid may be insured against loss in an amount equivalent to its actual value, but not to exceed $50, on payment of a fee of ten cents to parcel post stamps, such stamps to be affixed.

When a parcel is insured, the sender will be given a receipt showing the office and date of mailing and number of the parcel.

When a return receipt is desired by the sender of an insured parcel the postmaster at the office of mailing will note the request on the margin of the insurance log, and the postmaster at the office of address will obtain from the addressee a receipt and mail it to the sender.

The liability for indemnity shall cease when delivery has been effected.

Forwarding of Parcels.

Parcels may be remailed or forwarded to any postoffice of additional postage at the rate which would be chargeable if they were originally mailed at the postoffice to which, in which case the necessary stamps will be affixed by the forwarding postmaster. Payment must be made every time the parcel is forwarded.

Preparation for Mailing.

Parcels must be prepared for mailing in such manner that their contents can be easily examined. A parcel will be accepted for mailing unless it bears the name and address of the sender preceded by the word "From."

In addition to the name and address of the sender, which is required, it will be desirable to write or print on the covering of a parcel, or on a tag or label attached to it, the occupation of the sender, and to indicate in a small space the contents of parcels, letters, numbers, names or other brief description, the character of the parcel, but should not be placed on the address side for the full address legible characters and for the necessary postage stamps. Inscriptions such as "Merry Christmas" or "Happy New Year," "With best wishes," and the like may be written on the cover ing of the parcel in such manner as not to interfere with the address.

Distinctive Stamps.

The law requires that the postage on all matter must be prepaid by distinctive parcel post stamps affixed. Postmasters are forbidden to use ordinary parcels that do not bear such stamps.

Parcel post stamps are not valid for the payment of postage on letters, first, second, and third classes, and when used for that purpose, the matter will be destroyed or shall be treated as "Held for postage."

Mega Parcel Rates.

Parcel post maps, with accompanying guides, are to be sold to the public at cost, and will be supplied by the chief clerk of the post office department in ordering same should be taken to specify the post office to which the postage rates are to be determined.

Wedding Bells.

Miss Mary C. Belknap, the well-known settlement worker, is to wed an English gentleman.

"Oh, that is not an argument—that is a prophecy," remarked the woman, given the vote, wouldn't know how to use it.

"Now it's my opinion that the men don't deserve to be lucky in love," declared about women as Jenks was about the widowed stenographer.

"Jenks, you know, got to taking a young and pretty stenographer out to lunch and dinner, ostensibly to concerts; and when any one asked him about her, he'd smile and say:

"'Oh, another consultant.'

"Jenks, you see, probably he'd made a conquest; but the widow, standing beside Jenks a month later at the altar, the widow knew she'd made an annexation."

Give Him Time.

"You're a pretty old man to be beginning," said the lady to the man at the back door.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the man with his hat in his hand.

"Have you been begging all your life?"

"Not yit, ma'am."

FOR BETTER GRAIN

ENTIRE STATE, WITH ASSOCIATIONS IN EACH COUNTY, DECIDED ON AT CONFERENCE.

UNIVERSITY ORGANIZER.

Crusade to Be Financed Out of $1,000,000 Fund of Federated Grain Exchanges.—Prof. C. P. Bull Has Work in Charge.

Minneapolis—An organization of the entire state with county associations as the purpose of raising improved varieties of seed grains for use by all farmers, with Prof. C. P. Bull, secretary of the Field Crop Breeders' association, as organizer and inspector, was decided upon at a conference at the University of Minnesota College of Agriculture. The conference was attended by Dean A. F. Woods, A. D. Wilson, head of the extension division; Prof. Andrew Hoss, head of the agronomy department, and Prof. Bull.

The statewide movement for better seed grains, and hence larger and better crops, will be pushed by the college and extension division, and the Field Crop Breeders' association will be financed by Bert Hall of Chicago, secretary of the Federated Grain Exchanges of the United States. Mr. Hall, who has $1,000,000 at his disposal to use for improving the agricultural production of the country, was in conference with Dean Woods Saturday and then left for Fairbault to see the college then took action and Prof. Bull will be relieved of the duties at the St. Anthony Park station for three months while he organizes the state for a better seed grain production.

Associations in Every County.

In every county in the state crop breeding associations will be formed, through the officers of which Prof. Bull will carry on his work, and in each county sections of land will be set aside for the cultivation of improved varities of seed grain, which then will be used by the farmers in their general planting. Graduates from the agricultural schools at St. Anthony Park, Morris and Crookston, and from the various short courses conducted by these institutions will be organized in to experimental unions to participate in the movement.

Speaking of the state-wide campaign, Dean Woods said:

"We plan to enlarge the work of breeding and testing seed grains by effecting an organization of the whole state to which Prof. Bull will give the best three months of his time. We will start work in the counties of the West Central Development Association and then branch out. The Field Crop Breeders' association will arrange to get rational lots of improved seed grains and this will be used on good seed tracts to be established in every county by the county associations to be organized under the direction of Prof. Bull.

To Form Experimental Unions.

"There are at present about 70 seed breeders in the state and we hope to enlarge this number. Prof. Bull will give his entire time to the work of organizing the state and inspecting of seeds grown, and the graduates of the agricultural schools and short courses will form experimental unions, such as in Wisconsin, for the purpose of developing the testing and breeding of improved seed grains.

"Minnesota is adapted admirably to raising these improved varieties, and this is why Mr. Hall has chosen to stand for the expenses of organizing the work. We not only expect to supply our own farmers with the best seed grains, but to supply other states that want to come into the arrangement. The state already raises seed potatoes for seeding purposes, Minnesota 17 corn is used in other states for seed and the blue stem wheat is in big demand as a seed grain, the same will we want to do in to enlarge the work already carried on and produce a large and better stock of barley, oats, flax, wheat and in fact all grains."

Would Stop Lake Seining.

Slayton.—Resolutions adopting in the vicinity of Lake Shetek have begun a fight against the state game and fish commission in the manner in which it awarded the contract for taking rough fish from the lake. J. J. Foster, a farmer residing near Slayton, is out with an open letter under date of the commission's right to let the contracts for seining the lake. It is said that farmers living nearby will make an effort to have the work stopped in the same manner as the seining of the lakes in Martin county was stopped last season.

Duluth Ego Prices Drop.

Duluth—The Duluth ego has just about dropped out of the local egg market. Fresh eggs which brought wholesaling at 45 cents in Duluth, are now 29 cents a dozen in the same city and said to be the best storage eggs on the market, are selling here at 22 cents a dozen.

Quarantine Police station.

Winona.—The Winona station was under quarantine of health official for an hour Thursday afternoon, following the discovery that a prisoner had smallpox. The man, giving the name as Thomas Simpson, walked in to the station and asked to be locked up and charged with intoxication. A few moments after he was locked up he announced he was suffering from small pox. Health officials were called in, quarantined the jail and fumigated the city hall before any person was allowed to enter or leave.

Freight Blockade On.

Minneapolis, Dec. 21.—Every railroad entering the Twin Cities is struggling with a freight congestion in its terminals, greater than any ever before encountered. Upwards of 4,000 cars loaded with merchandise, grain and implements, are packed in the switching yards of Minneapolis and St. Paul, and there has been little change in the situation within the past four or five days. Most of the freight is eastward or westward bound, through Minneapolis.

TAXPAYER'S MEETING.

Municipally Owned Electric Lighting Plant May Be Abandoned Soon.

St. Peter.—Electrical current supplied by the Consumers' Power company at Mcnketo may be furnished to St. Peter consumers at a saving of approximately 25 per cent from present rates, and still the city will be able to realize a good profit on its business. This statement was made by R. R. Brown, general manager of the Mankato company, at a meeting of taxpayers.

Under present conditions there is practically the same expense, whether the plant is carrying a maximum or minimum load. There is a saving in cost consumption when the plant is rousing light, but the fixed expenses and the overhead charges remain unchanged. This item send not be considered if the Consumers' company furnished the current, for the city would pay for no more current than was actually consumed.

Mr. Brown guaranteed improved service and invited patrons to the effect that a breakdown of the local plant would leave St. Peter in darkness. His company has its dam at Mankato and this month will connect with a companion dam at Cando Pails. By next June it will be connected with its power at Terfield Pails, which now supplies light and power for Minneapolis. Between the three stations, fall, it still has an auxiliary steam plant at Mankato, another at Faribault, and two at Northfield.

A. M. Jensen, president of the St. Peter Commercial club, has been asked by the mayor to appoint a committee of three to investigate the proposition.

DOG DISTEMPER.

Epidemic at Albert Lea Ascribed to Importation of Hunting Animals.

Albert Lea.—The disease which has broken out in the city among blooded dogs is the same as that known to the scure disease, says Dr. H. Hughes, a veterinary surgeon. Distemper is rife in the country, is one of the most feared, virulent and infectious diseases known to the animal kingdom, namely, "canine distemper." The imported animals are thought to be responsible for the outbreak, declares Hughes.

Shocking has appeared on different farms in Freeborn county. In Hartland, Bath, Riceland and Pine Creek townships it has caused the death of over thirty head of cattle, but in every instance the disease has been prompted by the neglect to vaccination. Over 200 head were treated.

Hog cholera has not been so prevalent in Freeborn county this year as last, but is ragfest in a virulent form around Faribault.

CIGARS AS WEAPONS.

Fights Pack of Wolves with Perfecto.

Duluth—John Bergman, a resident of Palmer, Minn., tells of an attack by wolves on Tuesday night. With only four cigars in his pocket he successfully held a wolf pack at bay until assistance came from the camp where he is employed. He went to Palmer on the afternoon train Tuesday and was about to start for home the dusk. He saw wolves cross the road in front of him and knew the pack began to close in. Lighting four cigars, he kicked the snow from around the wolves, only stopping long enough to puff the perfecto to keep them burning. Then he threw the same trick in hulling distance of the camp he was exhausted. Men ran out with guns and the wolves fled.

Virginia Bond Issue Carries.

Virginia.—By a vote of 894 to 232 citizens of Virginia expressed their preference for the issuance of bonds to the $450,000 for the erection of the plant of the Virginia Electric Power and Water company. The proposition voted on was for the six wards, and the majority was much larger than anticipated, under open street railway. The $450,000 realized on the sale of the bonds plus the direct tax levy of 4 mills for water and light purposes is to be paid over to the company by the city for the erection of the plant which the city will take the point ehout April 1.

Wants Bible Printed in Kurdistan.

Winona.—Alexander Yohannan, of Kurdistan, Turkey, is visiting in Winona. He has brought with him the New Testament into Kurdistan, and is developing to raise funds in the United States to have the book printed in the Kurdistan language, something which has not yet been done.

Strawberry Committee Meets.

Winona.—The largest safety committee meeting ever held in Winona by Capo & North Western railway ever held in Winona was that Saturday, when all of the safety men and officials from Chicago and many others from Minnesota and the Dakotas in attendance. The sessions were held at the T. M. C. A. building and included a address by R. C. Richards of Chicago, general claim agent, on various phases of safety connected with railways.

Builders Elect in Mankato.

Mankato.—A two days' meeting of the State Plasters, Bricklayers and Stonemasons' union was held here. Officers for the ensuing year: President, R. M. Colvills, Virginia; first vice president, P. F. Jordan, Minneapolis; second vice president, A. H. Stiller, Austin; third vice president, John O. Larson, Crookston; secretary and treasurer, H. M. Purdey, Rochester. St. Cloud was decided upon as the next convention city.

BOY CONFESSES.

Directs Sheriff to Spot Where Gun Was Hidden—Brother Will Add Him.

Wyoming.—Olaf Christopherson, boy driver of Rev. John Cling, of Deanville, has confessed to Sheriff Frank Busby of Stevens county.

"When he said, 'Son, you're not carrying your board,' why I fast up and took him dead," said the lad.

"I ate my supper before I left the house. Yes, his dead body lay in the next room."

The boy accompanied the sheriff over the route of his flight toward his home, to recover the gun with which the shooting was done. He directed the sheriff to a spot about twelve miles from the Cling home, where the gun was found within four feet of the place mentioned.

Dustaf Christopherson, a blacksmith at Fergus Falls, and brother of the accused, was here yesterday, and arranged for J. B. Ormond to appear for the defense at the hearing on Jan. 7. The boy is charged with murder in the first degree.

Olaf is a quiet lad, somewhat difficult to engage in conversation, but able to tell a coherent story when he becomes interested. He says he was reared with two brothers and three sisters on a farm in northwestern Wisconsin, and there attended the country schools. His mother is Mrs. P. J. Overland, of Fergus Falls.

The curtains are not permitted to see the boy, and the confession which he made is being carefully guarded. According to the sheriff, the lad's story was as follows:

A little more than a week ago he met Rev. Mr. Cling at a revival meeting in Fergus Falls. The clergyman became interested in him and offered him work, which the lad was eager to get, his mother being a widow. It was easy employment, Olaf said, but he didn't like to be reminded of it.

On Wednesday night the two sons of the minister went to Deanville to spend the evening. They left supper for the lads and for Mrs. Cling and boy. Just before they sat down to the meal Rev. Mr. Cling told the boy he wasn't earning his board. This angered Olaf, who picked up a shot, gun and fired. His employer died instantly.

The boy, according to the sheriff, was not overcome with grief. Instead he sat down and enjoyed the evening meal, the body of the minister lying in an adjoining room. After he had finished eating the boy went to the barn, and hitching a horse to a buggy, left Cling. The sheriff believes the boy is insane.

SEEDS ARE BURNED.

Big Warehouse Consumed, Menacing the Minneapolis Grain Grade.

Minneapolis.—Fire that started at 4:30 a. m. Saturday, and caused a loss of many dollars and $250,000, destroyed the six-story seed warehouse of the Albert Dickinson company, at Twenty-fourth street and Fifth avenue S. E., in the Minneapolis grain and milling district, and an adjoining one-story warehouse used for storage. The location of the buildings, in close proximity to the mammoth Twin City Trading Company's storage elevator, and other big grain warehouses, caused fear that the flames might spread and roll up heavy losses, but they were confined to the two buildings, which were practically totally destroyed.

The six-story building was constructed with outer covering of sheet iron and was roofed about fifty years ago. It was 50 by 75 feet in ground dimensions. The one-story addition covered ground 56 by 112 feet.

Lestie Eigerton, manager of the Albert Dickinson company's Minneapolis office, is in Chicago, but will return here at once. Mr. Eigerton is president of the Twin City Trading company, which is allied to the Dickinson interests, said he could not give a definite estimate of the loss, as it would depend to some extent upon the quality of grain contained in the house.

A much larger seed warehouse of the Dickinson company and the milihion bushel grain elevator of the Twin City Trading company are the nearest from a distance to be on fire; a 5-21 alarm went in and brought Chief C. W. Ringer and much apparatus to the scene. The fireman had a long run through the snow.

The entire superstructure of the six-story building collapsed about 6 a. m., falling inward. It was almost entirely consumed. An open car of oats, partly piled high, on an adjoining track, was invaded by the firemen, and did not burn.

Girl Slayer Gets Life Term.

Virginia. — Shuffling along from spiritual paralysis resulting from a self-inflicted wound after he had killed Lucy Bocovich, when because she spurned his offer of marriage, Tom Martinek, who was convicted Dec. 15, of murder in the first degree, received the limit for his crime in Minnesota—life imprisonment. Through an interpreter, he was told to Judge Hughes that he was crazy when he killed the girl.

Safety Committee Meets.

Winona.—The largest safety committee meeting ever held in Winona by Chicago & North Western railway ever held in Winona was that Saturday, when all of the safety men and officials from Chicago and many others from Minnesota and the Dakotas in attendance. The sessions were held at the T. M. C. A. building and included an address by R. C. Richards of Chicago, general claim agent, on various phases of safety connected with railways.

Designs for Memorial Tablets.

Washington, Dec. 26.—The navy department has accepted Tobacco company, co-defendant was awarded a the designs of Charles Keck, a New York sculptor, for the memorial tablets which are to be cast from the scrap material of the historic battleship Maine, hurried outside Havana harbor last spring. The tablets will be 15 by 18 inches and will be framed as described. Each will weigh about 70 pounds. They will be obtained by municipal, military and naval organizations.

Tobacco Companies Win Suit.

New York, Dec. 23.—The American Tobacco company was awarded a verdict by direction of Judge Meyer in the U. S. district court in the $100,000 damage suit brought by E. Lorker and company. Brooklyn tobacco jobbers. The American Tobacco company, co-defendant was awarded a similar verdict. The plaintiffs sought treble damages under the Sherman anti-trust law, alleging they had incurred losses through violation of the law by the defendant companies.

LOOT BAGGAGE CAR

CHICAGO AND ALTON "HUMMER," WEST BOUND, HELD UP IN ILLINOIS.

ROBBERS CUT OFF CAR.

Passengers Are Reported to Have Been Unmolested—Amount of Booty Unknown.

BULLETIN.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 26.—More than $50,000 in gold, currency and jewelry was in the big safe of the express car of the Alton "Hummer" train, which was held up by a gang of bandits near Lee Junction, about four miles from here.

But although the robbers used enough dynamite and nitroglycerine to destroy the state capitol, they did not succeed in obtaining a dollar's worth of loot, the big safe resisting five terrific explosions.

Bloomington, Ill., Dec. 26.—Reports received at the general offices of the Chicago & Alton here say that the train stopped the Alton "Hummer" a short distance west of Lee, cut off the engine and baggage car and compelled the engineer to run down the track several miles. Deputy sheriffs and Alton detectives have been sent to the scene, but no clues have been received as to whether the bandits secured any booty.

Flagman Gave Alarm.

The flagman who gave the alarm, stated that the train was boarded shortly after two shots were fired, at a point a mile and a half west of Lee on the Joliet division branch of the road from Springfield and Roodhouse. After the train stopped, the bandits broke in the baggage car and forced the engineer, Frank McLaughlin, to run the car away for a mile or more.

The porter also ran back and with the flagman notified the train from the first telegraph station at Lee.

Porter Tells About It.

The porter stated that the two passengers were not disturbed, the bandits apparently having no interest in the baggage car. A switch engine was sent to the scene from Springfield, loaded with the sheriff and a force of deputies, policemen and Others.

Lee is a small town.

Springfield, Ill.—The "Alton Hummer" on the Chicago and Alton railroad was reported as having been held up shortly after midnight near Lee station, which is a flag stop in the city. Details of the holdup as yet have not been obtained.

The "Hummer," carrying extra express and baggage cars because of the Christmas time traffic, was one of the heaviest loaded passenger trains out of Chicago Thursday night.

INVESTIGATION ERA.

Probably Unprecedented in History of Congress—Many "Trusts" Concerned.

Washington, Dec. 26.—An era of investigation, probably unprecedented in the history of congress, is being heralded in when congress reassembles in January. Members of the house will divide their attention among seven giesies' committees. They already have begun investigations of the affairs of the so-called beef trust, demanded publicly by the meatpacker marine committee; the Glass sub-committee's investigation of the Aldrich bill; reform of a currency bill, and the inquisition of the Lorimer case, which is the superintendent of insurance in the District of Columbia and the investigation of the life insurance companies in Washington but also probably in New York. The insurance inquiry will be made by the full District of Columbia committeemen of the whitman stamp.

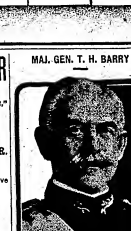
These committees will endeavor to complete their work by the end of the session. It is estimated the investigations will cost in the aggregate more than $100,000.

Milwaukee Grain Rules Changed.

Milwaukee, Dec. 26.—The Milwaukee chamber of commerce has voted to make a rule to the effect that warehouse receipts in other markets are not delivered on the Milwaukee market at the time of the sale the name of the warehouse in which the grain will be shipped is specified. A few years ago such a rule was in force here, but was suspended on that all deliveries must be made from elsewhere "At" Milwaukee.

Eustis Names Assistants.

Washington, Dec. 26.—William C. Eustis, as chairman of the inaugural committee, has named the chairman of the various sub-committees which will have charge of the events attending the induction of President-elect Wilson into office and have the supervising work of raising the $100,000 fund necessary for the event and the task of executing the numerous details. No difficulty in obtaining the money necessary is anticipated for within a few hours after the call was issued several thousand dollars had been subscribed.



MAJ. GEN. T. H. BARRY

Maj. Gen. Thomas H. Barry, now commanding the eastern division of the United States army, with headquarters at Governor's Island, New York, is said to be slated for the post of chief of staff to succeed General Wood, whose appointment expires automatically with the end of the Taft administration.

ALL WOULD ELIMINATE TURKEY

ALLIES ANNDUNCE TERRITORIAL CONDITIONS.

Demand Cession of Aegean Islands, Crete and Other Territory.

London, Dec. 26.—After several days of conference and skirmishing in accordance with the cherished traditions of diplomacy, the Turkish and Balkan states faced the real attack of the allies of the fifth meeting of the peace conference today in the ex-sheik, the settling of the war between the Balkan allies and Turkey.

The victorious allies laid their most drastic terms before the Turks. They were in the form of territorial conditions which they had agreed to impose on the Ottoman empire. They are reported as set forth were:

First—The cession by Turkey of all the territory west of a line starting from a point east of Rodosto, on the Sea of Marmora, to a point in the bay of Malatra, on the Black sea, and excluding certain islands of Archipelago, Asia's status to be decided by the powers.

Second.—The cession of the Aegean Islands occupied by the Greeks during the war, Crete to be ceded by the Italians, in the recent war.

Third.—The cession to Greece of all Turkish rights in the island of Crete.

The allies did not reveal the financial proposals which they will make to Turkey, reserving them for o future meeting.

Before the allies presented their specifications the Turks announced that their government was prepared to "proceed to the negotiations leaving the question of revictualing Adrianople for discussion between Turkey and Bulgaria." They declared that the previous request to provision Scutari and Janina.

The formal conference lasted only a quarter of an hour, the Turkish interest in the proclamation of the fate of their European empire without formal comment and asked for an adjournment until Saturday to consider the allies' demands. In the informal conversation with the delegates, which consumed an hour, they asserted that it would be impossible to accept the allies' terms but that statement is inevitable in questions of this character and was expected.

CASAS GRANDES TAKEN.

Orozco Revolutionists Now Control Railway Connecting Important Points.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 26.—Casas Grandes has been occupied by troops in the ranching and lumbering district southwest of Juarez, but now loyal to the rebels personally commanded by Gen. Pascual Orozco, Jr.

A column of 800 men marching against the rebels at Ascencion, was attacked by a force of rebels. The federal commander, General Jose Inez Salazar, was taken prisoner.

Confirming this report S. D. Amrose, the American hotel man at Casas Grandes, who has just arrived here. He was in Ascension at the time of its capture.

• Overman Continues to Improve.

Washington, Dec. 26.—Senator Lee S. Overman of North Carolina, operated on for appendicitis here last week, continues to improve.

Eustis Names Assistants.

Washington, Dec. 26.—William C. Eustis, as chairman of the inaugural committee, has named the chairman of the various sub-committees which will have charge of the events attending the induction of President-elect Wilson into office and have the supervising work of raising the $100,000 fund necessary for the event and the task of executing the numerous details. No difficulty in obtaining the money necessary is anticipated for within a few hours after the call was issued several thousand dollars had been subscribed.

BOMB HITS VICEROY

BARON WOUNDED; ATTENDANT KILLED; ASSASSIN ESCAPES; HOWDAH STRUCK.

COUPLE RIDE ELEPHANT

Parasol Bearer Dead and Another Native Injured—Lady Hardinge Escapes Unhurt—Viceroy In Hospital.

Delhi, India, Dec. 24.—Sir Charles Hardinge, viceroy of India, was wounded and one of his attendants was killed and another hurt by a bomb hurled at the viceroy from a housetop as he was entering the new capital in state. The bomb struck the howdah of the viceroy's elephant, killing the attendant instantly. The viceroy was hurriedly removed to a hospital. The bomb-thrower escaped.

Ceremony of Capital.

The viceroy was making entry in state to Delhi as the head of the ceremonies in connection with the transfer of the capital from Calcutta to Delhi. The transfer was made in October last, but Lord Hardinge was not to have formal possession of the new quarters until today.

A large gathering of troops, officials and English chiefs were present to welcome the vice-regal party. Its splendid elephant procession had just left the universities of Berlin and Strasburg and taught in the Harvard medical school.

DR. C. L. ALSBERG.

Dr. C. L. Alsberg, who has been made chief of the bureau of chemistry to succeed Dr. Wiley, has been connected with the department of agriculture for many years. He is a native of Germany and a graduate of Columbia university. He studied in the universities of Berlin and Strasburg and taught in the Harvard medical school.

MAN LOOTED OF 100 POSTOFFICES

LOGUE CASE PRISONER ADMITS WHOLESALE ROBBERIES.

Murder of Diamond Broker Still a Mystery to the Chicago Police.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—The mystery surrounding the murder of J. H. Logue, his diamond broker friend was slain in his office in the McVicker theater building last Thursday, is no nearer a solution than it was when the crime was found.

Three prisoners detained in connection with the murder, Clyde Stratton, Harry Hamilton and H. B. Hampton, still are held by the police, but it is generally admitted there is no evidence relating to the murder against them. They are to be examined on other charges.

Williams confessed, the police asserted, that he had attempted to dynamite the postoffice at McCool, Ind., and at different times had looted more than one hundred other postoffice inspectors immediately prepared warrants for their arrest. Stratton repudiated the alleged confession.

Several articles stolen from the McCool office were found in the flat formerly occupied by the prisoners. All of the women who had been detained for interrogation have been released. They were able to give the police some light as the alleged criminal operations of the trio still held but no information regarding the Logue death was obtained from them.

A coroner's inquest for two men, believed to be the slayers of Joseph H. Logue, was held. Following is a description of the two men sought:

No. 1—Twenty to thirty years old, 5 feet, 8 inches in height, dark eyes, wore a sweater jacket with a large roll collar, blue trousers and a dark cap.

No. 2—Long, beaked nose and face, wore dark clothes and shirt.

ADD ANOTHER PRIVATE.

Army Headed for Albany With Message for Sulzer Is Reinforced.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 24.—With its marching ranks augmented by a number of recruits, General Rosalie Jones' little army of suffragettes continued the march Albanyward and reached Rhinebeck after a 16-mile "hike." The new members are Miss Dorothy Cadigan Courson of this city, who will march through Albany, "until the state capitol is reached."

The suffragists, now numbering five, left Poughkeepsie early today, the number of loyal supporters of the cause, however, increasing as they went.

"Generals" Jones turned about and replied: "We are trying to help your future," and amid the applause of the crowd continued on the way.

New Durum-Wheat Found.

Washington, Dec. 24.—A new variety of durum wheat, which promises to be valuable for the cereal growers of the Northwest, has been imported by the department of agriculture. It comes from Manchook, southeastern Manchuria, where it was originated at the Russian government's experiment station.

Cornell Has Perfect Woman.

Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 22.—Cornell has a perfect woman, according to an announcement by Dr. Walter S. Parker, the physical examiner at Sage College. Miss Esther Hicks, Miss Hein School of Brooklyn, is the only perfect physically of any student she has had examined since Dr. Parker declares her measurements, although she is taller and weighs more, being nearer the proportions of Venus De Milo than any woman at Cornell since she, herself, has been connected with the staff.

Found Guilty of Murder.

Milwaukee, Dec. 22.—Wenzel Hughes of Wauwatosa, a suburb of Milwaukee, was adjudged guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the municipal court. Runge was charged with setting fire to his house on Feb. 12 last, which resulted in his wife being burned to death.

Indian Woman Dies, Aged 113.

Bay City, Ore., Dec. 26.—Mrs. Maggie Adams, widow of the famous Indian Chief Adams, is dead at Garibaldi. She was 113 years old.

Garment Workers May Strike.

New York, Dec. 26.—A strike which leaders claim will effect 100,000 workers in the city is threatened in a few days as the result of the vote, concluded after five days of balloting, among members of the United Garment Workers of America. More than 35,000 men and women have voted declared for a strike and a committee was appointed to fix a date for it to begin. Demands of the workers include an increase of wages from 15 to 20 per cent, and an eight-hour working day.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

BY C. E. C. BAKER

Printed Every Thursday at Red Lake Falls Minnesota.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.50 Per Year in Advance

THIS PAPER is made up 36 pages solid matter, 6 columns to the page. Entered at the Postoffice, Red Lake Falls, Minn., as Second-class Matter.

EXTENT OF NEW SERVICE.

In the establishment of the parcels post the government has undertaken a service far beyond that of any express company or all companies combined. Parcels will be carried on the railroad, in boats, by stage, over a million miles of rural routes, on star routes, to every part of the country. This service in all under one system, no matter what distance to be carried or destination of the parcel. The rates of transportation are much cheaper than the corresponding rates of the express companies, which will result in a saving to shippers, aside from the greater facilities offered by the more complete government service.

Under the new law the government will undertake to carry all kinds of articles of commerce, barring practically nothing except those articles that might endanger the life or health of people in the service.

You cannot do just as well today what you should have done last year.

THE COUNTY ASSESSOR.

The state tax commission has made a recommendation to the state legislature that no doubt is entitled to the favorable consideration of the law makers. The commission asks that the office of township assessor be abolished and that a law be passed creating the office of county assessor. This recommendation is made after years of study to determine what might be done to improve the states very crude system of assessing property for the purpose of taxation.

The present lack of system in the handling of this important part of the state's business is no doubt due to the tendency of the average legislator to be afflicted with "nerves" when tax reforms are suggested.

The people of the state presumed to contribute to the public revenue as near equally as possible according to their ability to pay, yet the system of taxation to determine what each citizen will pay, is little short of gross work. The township assessor is not a taxation expert; in fact, because of the limitations of his situation there is but no opportunity or his having any intelligent idea of what the duties of his office demand of him. He has little knowledge of what the other assessors in his county are doing, and practically no knowledge of what other assessors in the state are doing. The system and not the man is at fault. He must make as good a success as he knows, how to make, and let it go at that. And yet his is the man on the job inthe most important work of the state's business office.

The commission recommends a law creating the office of county assessor the duty of whose office it is to visit, advise and to receive a salary about equal to that of the county auditor or treasurer. It is believed that the work of assessing can be systematized by having a limited number of assessors working under the direction of the tax commission in such a capacity that they may become quite expert in taxation matters. It looks like a practical business proposition.

The Thief River News-Press printing plant has been improved by the addition of a new press and folder.

How'd you like to be the mail man? is the opinion of the man who carries the parcels, this is no joke.

It is hoped that this winter's session of the legislature will not undo all the good work of the special session.

One may wonder whatin ay have been the occasion for the 700,000 office seekers.

The Gazette starts the new year right by greatly increasing the capacity of the print shop by the installation of a linotype.

Equal suffrage has come in many of the states and without any Carrie Nation hatchet. Th eanffragettes on the other side should profit by observation of the more effective though less demonstrative methods of their sisters on this side.

It is reported that the express companies will reduce rates on that they will be below the government's parcels post rates. That will help some —and will indicate a justification of the establishment of the new service as a competitive institution.

Governor Bleasse, of South Carolina, is no doubt a firm believer in advertising without a discriminating sense as to the character of the publicity he receive.

No live country merchant can afford not to make a study of the effect of the new parcels post on his business and to conduct his business accordingly.

Some of the things that may not be sent by parcels post are also public liquors, poisons, explosives, infernal machines, obscene matter, plants or roosters, live or dead animals, or any substance which emits a bad odor. The reasons for placing the "ban" on some of these articles is apparent. Perishable matter, like food stuffs, fruit, etc., will be accepted for delivery within a fifty-mile radius of the mailing point.

THE PARCELS POST AND LOCAL ADVERTISING.

The fight against the parcel post which goes into effect the first of the year has always waged in the name of the local merchant. The express companies, the many concerns with which the express companies are more or less secretly allied by interest, the railroads, and even by the wholesalers and many retailers themselves, all declared that the cheap carriage rates of the parcel post would wipe out the local merchants and leave nothing but big city mail order houses.

None of them stopped to think that if the business of the country merchant is in any way insecure that cheap transportation would ruin it, it was bound to die anyway and should die.

But they did the country merchant less than justice. He gives credit, and the mail order houses don't. His goods are on exhibition for approval, and the mail order purchase is "sight unseen". He knows his customers, and the mail order house does not.

On top of these advantages, the local parcel post rates are so much lower than express rates that the local merchant has a clear advantage in the transportation rates.

The trouble with the rural merchant whose business might be injured by the mail order houses is that he is not progressive. Interpreted into more concrete terms, the trouble with him is that he doesn't advertise. True, he sometimes runs a card in the local paper, stating that he is in business, and keeps "live goods" but that isn't advertising. Everybody knows he is in business, and nobody expects him to say anything else than his goods are "fine." But it does not get him anything.

What his possible patrons do not know is that he has bargains as well as the mailer fellow houses. This knowledge he can convey to them only by advertising.

What the country merchant ought to do, parcel post or no parcel post, is to study advertising. Let him study what the city retail merchants are in that time. Let him learn how to do it for himself by copying after a country merchant could do no better for in his territory, for instance, there is no study relative advertisements in thedi erals. If he does not take the Herald, his local newspaper edition probably does, and he will be glad to lend it on file for this use if he is asked to do so.

The country merchant should advertise precisely as the city merchant does. Only in that way can he let his possible patrons know what he has in stock and what bargains he can offer. Because of the scattered territory, it is true, but it will cost him more and he can be sure that the local newspaper is read, nine out of ten circulars reach the waste basket immediately. But most advertise, and he must do it exactly as the successful city merchants do. He will find no royal road to the newly advertising methods in thus the advertising columns of this newspaper as they are filled by the English merchants.

The country merchant, if he knows it, has a weapon at hand which he can successfully fight the city mail order house, no matter how cheap carriage rates are made. That weapon is his local newspaper.—Duluth Herald.

PLUMMER.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Henderson arrived here the first of the week from their home in Minnesota for a visit with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Henderson. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson were married last week and are on their honeymoon trip.

Wilfred Morrisette left Monday evening for the Twin Cities, where he will spend a well-earned vacation of about a week, visiting friends. He intends to return about the first of next week.

Miss Marie Pahlen, who has been for some time, left for her home at Red Lake Falls in that city. Miss Pahlen left she was accompanied on her return by Mrs. Jack Pahlen who spent a couple of days at the Pahlen home.

Announcements were received here the first of the week announcing the marriage of Magnu J. Haleath, of Thief River Falls, to Mr. Peter H. Johnson, of Oklee, the wedding having been solemnized last Saturday. The bride is a sister of Mrs. A. Morrisette of this place and is well known here. They will make their home at Rhoda, Minn.

A fireman on the south-bound Soo flyer Saturday night had one of his fingers cut off by one of the large coal buckets while taking coal at the sheds here. He was unable to continue his work and remained here for the north-bound flyer on which he went to Thief River Falls, where he had his injury cared for by thecompany physician. The brakeman relieved as temporary fireman as far as Mahnomen, where he was to be relieved.—Pioneer.

UNDER THE NAME OF PROGRESSIVEISM

(Continued from Page One.)

recommendations along this line except in discuss the question. He thinks the problem can be solved in some other way. As to the initiative and referendum, Governor Eberhart holds that the two are matters which are not sufficiently ripe for any serious consideration on his part, hence his silence on the question. If such bills are passed he may sign them, but he will not recommend them.

✣ ✣ ✣

Recommendations galore will confront the two houses of the legislature when they meet and principal among them will be those just announced by State Auditor S. G. Iverson. He wants all laws carrying standing appropriations repealed and each department made to come before the lawmaking body and ask for what it needs. He says the standing appropriations are out of date and should be wiped off the state. He also wants the old law permitting state leases of iron ore lands put back on the books. State titles were taken off the state let six years and as a result the monopoly created in the case of those holding such has not been to the interest of the state.

✣ ✣ ✣

One thing that may be gratifying to the taxpayers of the state is the announcement by Mr. Iverson that if the legislature is economical the tax levy for revenue purposes for the next two years may be reduced to one mill. The maximum for the past two years has been one and nineteenth mills. Four years ago as the result of some extraordinary resolves the state was sent broadcast that Minnesota would soon be a state without a tax levy. It was published in magazines throughout the country and Governor Eberhart and the other executive officers were lauded in consequence. The state tax, however, still prevails and the prospects are that it will continue. This year State Treasurer Smith has borrowed fully $1,000,000 to tide the state over its lean period and the end is not yet. The trouble with the tax levy is that it is not fixed on a basis of what the state actually needs, but what is to succeed through no fault of either election. In the meantime the local banks supply the deficit at so much per.

✣ ✣ ✣

Governor Eberhart as a rule has a monopoly of those things which advertise and at the same time are willing to a conchaeh in the shape of public and political annoyances, but Secretary of State Schmahl bore him to it last week. Mr. Schmahl wrote a letter to Miss Helen Gould of New York city congratulating her, in the name of the people of the state of Minnesota for her approaching marriage and the answer is a nicely worded acknowledgment of the letter. As Miss Helen is world-advertised celebrity her letter and that of Mr. Schmahl naturally brought both much nice publicity.

✣ ✣ ✣

The annual custom of giving the chief executive a present was a missing feature of the Christmas season in the state capitol this year. The gift giving stunt was also called off in the number of the other departments. The reason for the calling off of the annual touch was the low tax rate and the ban on the boys during the campaign. In the case of some it may be presented nearer a month's entry and this was thought sufficient. A resolution Governor Eberhart was presented with a county silver tea set and the assessment as made then was protested by a number of employes. In the case of one official an emphatic "No" met those who called for a donation and the men active in waging the collection then vowed that they would never attempt a similar stunt again.

✣ ✣ ✣

Frank Minnette of Stockton county in the house and possibly a Duluth member in the senate will father the public utilities commission bill for the passage of which will be recommended by Governor Eberhart in his message. The Wisconsin idea will prevail in each as the law in force there is nearer to home and its benefits have been more farreaching. In the coastal states of this proposed commission the cities will probably be the most active, as they are vitally concerned in the proposition as proposed—but the endorsement of both the Democratic and Republican state central committees and their standard bearers.

✣ ✣ ✣

War is being made on Kelcey Chase, state bank superintendent, and it. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health, but it is hardly likely that the opposition will prevail in the case of either. Both were hearty contributors to the state campaign fund and while it is hardly proper to suggest such as the power behind the throne let me tell you it counts. Both are considered good officials and the fight being made on them is credited to partisan friends. Bracken was under fire two years ago but managed to get by.

✣ ✣ ✣

The revenue that will accrue to the state from all sources during the next three years is estimated at nearly $24,000,000. The disbursements will be about $23,000,000, which will leave nearly $1,000,000 for the coming legislature to spend.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES NOW DUE

(Continued from Page One.)

Enright, Ed.	12.48
Eckstein, Nick	7.39
Fred, Chas.	2.77
Ford Elizabeth	7.39
Ford, Earl	1.97
Grandbois, Felix	3.37
Grandbois, Alex	.56
Hagen, William	4.89
Halvorson, Thos.	8.58
Moren, August	5.84
Hereu, Bergs	4.37
Richards, Estelle	4.37
Ridge, Fenby	4.28
Ridge, Daddy	.98
Ridge, James	3.35
Ridge, Hazel	1.37
Revrud, Erick	2.06
Schneider, Henry	3.16
Sherry, Thomas	10.46
Schmitz, Joseph	6.51
Swanson, G. O.	.84
Weiss, George	6.46
Weber, Henry	12.13
Lee Phillip	2.95
Loo Sam	.82

Town of Louisville.

Red Lake Falls Mfg. Co.	32.07
Riegel, A. D.	12.66
Schmidt, Fred	15.82
Schmidt, Ed.	1.37
St. Michael, Alfred	8.52
St. Michael, Victor	7.07
Schultz, Herman	19.13
Trepanier, Ed.	2.74
Vasen, E. R.	9.01
Yette, Fred	6.57
Zuhl, ...	7.04
Roberge, Amede	2.46
Bright, Ben	6.18
Hust, Ed.	1.29
Audette, Agnes	1.71
Audette, Patrick	1.29
Audette, Pierre	2.44
Audette, Pierre	1.50
Beaudoin, ...	12.02
Brunelle, Roderique	6.29
Boutain, Pierre	7.57
Boutain, ...	2.24
Brunelle, Alfred	7.57
Cameron, H. O.	3.22
Clement, X.	6.14
Cassavant, Nap	3.52
Cassavant, J.	3.52
Cassavant, W.	1.78
Carpenter, Joe	4.52
Chatel, ...	1.78
Coe, Fred	4.23
Dubois, W.	12.48
Duharme, Louie	10.52
Darwin Bros.	17.41
Dreyer, ...	3.26
Crenier, Frank	10.97
Gerdtzen, Henry	6.46
Herold, Joe	8.08
Hagen Bros.	10.52
Hust, Arthur	8.42
Hust, J. B.	16.00
Hust, Chas.	2.35
Hust, H. P.	8.94
Hust, Jos.	2.24
Lachance, Peter	7.36
Lachance, Jos.	4.26
Lacourselre, E.	4.43
Lizotte, ...	1.37
Lashe, R. W.	.37
Lashe, Frank	2.86
Larson, A. S.	2.24
Lizotte, J. B.	3.17
Lahane, E.	3.38
Lamberge, John	.14
Lizotte, Dennis	.14
Marcotte, ...	7.32
Marcotte, George	6.13
McBroom, A.	.07
McBroom, A. C.	4.43
Morrisette, Ephrase	6.65
Morrisette, J.	1.98
Morrisette, ...	2.73
O'Neil Ed.	5.15
O'Neil, E.	6.16
Provost, Joseph	2.46
Pelland, Joseph	.41
Plante, Arthur	1.37
Patnode, Alex	1.37
Patnode, Louie	4.35
Plante, Adolphus	8.30
Pepin, ...	2.24
Pepin, Joe	8.94
Pepin, ...	2.24
Pepin, Mc Guire	10.52
Noel, Ildefonse	10.52
Rel, Napoleon	4.37
Raymond, Alex	4.37
Raymond, Geo.	2.24
Raymond, Joe	1.37

Town of River

Bergman, J.	3.48
Burstad, Herman	.41
Berg, Wm.	1.37
Fagstrom Anna	.82
Gothie, A.	2.74
Haupt, Hubert	.82
Haupt, Geo.	5.21
Hogstie, ...	2.06
Hogquist, Sarah	4.74
Hogquist, ...	4.74
Mortensen, Amelia	7.42
Palmquist, ...	1.37
Peterson Miller	2.74
Peterson, Frank	3.06
Swenson, Solomon	4.37
Stelzig, ...	4.37
Ulrich, C. G.	4.37
Nelson, N. A.	1.37

Village of Plummer

Anderson, Olof	25.05
Borge & Son	1.37
Carlson, John A.	1.25
Hansen, H. H.	1.37
Hanley, ...	1.37
Hallz, A. D.	1.50
Hogger, Hans	1.37
Hoffman, Gilbert	78.75
Johnson, Edward	7.52
Johnson, ...	63.48
Langlie Bros.	42.62
Lee, ...	8.87
Morro, S. P.	1.26
Morrisette, Mary	1.26
Nelson, N. A.	1.00
Nelson, ...	1.37
Pleth, Katherine	1.37
Pierce, S.	.55
Rice, Florence	15.33
Schuldtrup, E. L.	13.69
Schuldtrup, ...	12.83
Smardsville Creamery	1.37
Swarthmuir Right Lumber Co.	53.06
S.P. K. Lumber Co.	23.74
Thief River Lumber Mfg. Co.	59.94
Atlantic Elev. Co.	236.75
First State Bank

Town of Lambert.

Anselin, Peter	6.48
Anselin, Cleophas	1.37
Bolaven, Michael	1.37
Boucher, Antoine	1.37
Boucher, Reginald	1.37
Boucher, Pierre	1.37
Boucher, Adelard	1.37
Boucher, Xanter	1.37
Bernier, Alvida	1.37
Bernier, Simon	1.37
Bernier, Louis	.94
Bernier, Alfred	4.83
Borgeron, Urgele	1.37
Bechand, Wilfred	6.57
Bourque, Fedling	1.04
Bergeron, Charles	1.69
Baland, Joseph	6.48
Bergeron, Joseph	5.84
Bergeron, Alexis	3.84
Charret, George	2.65
Cloutier, Edward	2.33
Corneoau, Antolles	5.36
Doucet, Louis	15.84
Desaillier, Gideon	5.29
Derry, Hugues	5.36
Erickson, Ed J.	2.19
Eyenson, Charles	4.73
Falardeau, Joseph	6.48
Falardeau, Louis	15.17
Falardeau, Henry	.28
Fourstar, Francois	6.68
Farmers and Merchants State Bank	172.48
First State Bank	157.00
Gibeault, Silp	3.22
Hince, Adelard	3.09
Hince, Hermilaigh	5.36
Hince, Aneda	4.85
Hlace, Edmond	2.93
Hlace, Peter	5.36
Halvorson, C. H.	5.16
Hart, Wm., Jr.	.55
Hart, Thomas	1.25
Hart, Wm.	2.63
Hart, Daniel	.88
Gerrem, E. L.	32.27
Heppel, George	1.52
Lacourelere, Felix	5.36
Juberg, Olaf O.	7.65
Halley, Henry	2.93
Kinnel, Mrs.	3.84
Langlois, P. A.	28.55
Lambert, X. J.	6.80
Lambert, Armidee	4.19
Lambert, Joe, A.	4.39
Langlois, Mrs. Wm.	8.71
Lajambe, Joseph	4.06
Lajambe, Virginie	4.06
Lajambe, Gaspard	3.21
Lessard, Edward	7.07
Lacourselere, Abraham	2.93
Lacourselere, Joseph	8.31
Lessard, Alfred	3.31
Marsenge, Napoleon	2.93
Marsonette, Ferdina	1.66
Melby Bros.	20.77
McGinnesty, C. I.	5.36
Mooney, Thomas	2.93
Manager, I. O. Lbr. Co.	54.20
Nelson, Lewis	4.65
Nash, Mathew	4.39
Nelson, Henry	2.93
Poquin, Edward	4.40
Plante, John	.18
Padovin, D.	2.93
Parely, John	3.06
Plante, John	3.75
Plante, Louis	1.64
Peyette, Joseph	2.93
Plate, John	.50
Parelle and Bergeron	1.37
Riel, Moise	3.35
Reil, Frank	2.93
Rieson, Daniel	6.58
Rivard, Jos.	42.20
Schubert, S. H.	2.38
Schwant, F. A.	1.20
Schwant, Emile	1.20
Steger, C. F.	4.65
Tangen, O. O.	2.93
Torgerson, Torger	2.32
Torgeson, A. P.	2.93
Trask, George	7.17
Tangen, Ole	2.93
Verin, Jeromie	6.58
Valle, Jos.	7.12
Vaagen, O. F.	25.07
Wankee and Birsude	7.71
Wankee, ...	4.41
Wankee, Joe	4.65
Lefevre, Isidore	3.67
Wankee, Jos.	2.93
Northland, Elevator Co.	53.15
Northern Tel. Co.	1.85
Merchants State Bank, N.L.F.	1.41
Grotesh, Alfred	11.42
Grotesh, Alfred	3.06
Adolph, C.	1.37
VVagen, O. T.	.76

Town of Poplar River.

Atlantic Elev. Co.	63.97
Atlantic Elev. Co.	12.31
Barry, Lewis	11.56
Barrows, A.	4.32
Beaton, H. L.	11.42
Beaton, H. L.	3.06
Beandry, S.	6.16
Bertram Wright Lbr. Co.	42.20
Berg, Felix	2.93
Barrows, ...	6.35
Barrows, Richard	4.39
Brown, Child	2.80
Bachand, Antoine	6.32
Bachand, Emile	3.06
Childs, Clyde	3.45
Childs, Aaron	2.93
Canors, Harry	1.31
Connors, T. J.	4.65
Carrier, Peter	18.27
Carrier, Stan	6.32
Carrier, Joseph	8.38
Demtrs, Oliver	2.93
Dion, Frank	2.93
Dion, Emery	7.32
Dubois, Felix	4.65
Deschl, Sephrane	16.60
Dunn, A. & P.	11.42
Davis, Clyed	5.36
Davis, Jos.	2.93
Davis, D.	1.01
Davis, David, Jr.	4.39
Davis, J. H.	3.74
Dupuis, Wm.	65.82
First State Bank	6.11
Fournier, Peter	4.65
Fournier, Alex	5.00
Fournier, Arthur	4.39
Gagnon, Ernestine	5.36
Gagnon, Jos.	2.93
Hebert, J. B.	7.32
Hallas, Chas.	1.79
Hallas, Chas.	1.24
Honston, C. H.	2.93
Hanson, Iver	1.79
Herr, Frank	4.65
Hanson, Thorwald	25.98
Lanisl, Alphonse	2.93
Lamarche, ...	15.35
Lambert, J. P.	5.84
Lemire, Paul	1.20
Lanisl, Arthur	10.23
Lamarche, John	12.33
Mallard, Joseph	2.93
Moreau, Thomas	2.93
Mayo, ...	2.22
Noyes Bros.	25.98
Nelson, Ole	2.93
O'Clair, Adolph	.73
Parsuit, L. A.	15.47
Perrus, M. and R.	11.42
Pendleton, W.	2.93
Paquin, Delard	8.07
Paradis, Oliver	2.93
Phinney, B. H.	4.39
Premo, S. F.	2.17
Pigeon, Joseph	10.37
Perrault, J. E.	2.93
Paradis, Dennis	14.55
Premo, Harvey	2.93
Rondeau, ...	2.93
Smith, W. H.	9.83
Schrader, ...	5.43
Schrader, W. A.	23.26
Strand, C. M.	8.38
Shaugnessy, P.	11.38
Tougas, Flora	4.52
Vagen, Wm.	5.76
Vagen, Bert	2.93
Van Der Waal, A.	4.39
Welch, Thomas	2.91
Weldin, M.	4.39
Woodman, Hall	7.28
Gauthier, Lionel	3.43

(Continued on Page Five)

Greeting.....

May 1913 be the happiest and most prosperous of you life.

May it be privilege of the Bank to assist in condncting your financial affairs to safe and happy conclusions.

May there be no hesitancy upon your part to command us at all times for service in small matters as well as large.

The Farmers National Bank

An Absolutely Pure Flour

It's all the wheat that's fit to eat

Always Unifor MASCOT!

For Sale by Gr

NUF SED

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.

Stickney Gasoline Engines ARE THE BEST No. 42

An Elm Fence. Post—No!

You wouldn't, at smaller cost, erastor an elm fence post against a cedar or oak—Its worthless if you'd last.—The Stickney Engine is like a cedar or oak—It will give you the best service.

Joseph Helm Estate

EXCLUSIVE AGENT

Joseph Helm Estate Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Order for Hearing on Final Account of Guardian.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Cassaudie of Bells Ranallo, Ignace Wood.

Whereas, Ignace Wood has lawer named ward, viz: Ignace Wood, having made and filed in this court his final account, together with his petition praying for allowance thereof and for distribution of the remainder of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled; Therefore, It is Ordered, That said petition be heard and said final account examined and allowed by this court at the Probate Court Room in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, in the State of Minnesota, on the 20th day of January, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., and that the heirs at law of said ward, and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at said time and place and show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That notice thereof be given by publication of this order in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

Dated December 19th, 1912. JOSEPH PERREAULT, Probate Judge.

(Probate Seal)

Citation for Hearing on Final Account and for Distribution.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of John Keon, Deceased.

Whereas, Thomas Keon of Keon Corner, Ontario, Canada, and Mrs. Nellie Batchelor, and Mrs. Nellie Keon, have filed herein their petition praying for the final account and distribution of the estate of said deceased, and for allowance of said account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled; Therefore, It is Ordered, That said petition be heard and said final account examined and allowed by this court at the Probate Court Room in the City of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 20th day of January, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at said time and place and show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That notice thereof be given by publication of this order in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

Dated December 19th, 1912. JOSEPH PERREAULT, Probate Judge.

(Probate Seal)

A. L. KNIGHT, Attorney for Petitioner. 11026

Red Lake Falls Cement & Granite Works

Anyone desiring Monumentor Tombstones will save money by calling here.

Cement Work a Specialty. Granite Carried in Stock.

AUGUST MORIN, Prop.

Shop at Residence On Third St. 2½ blocks west of Main

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.

N. M. WATSON, M. D. Physician and Surgeon

GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY Montreal, Canada.

Office over First State Bank

J. C. WILKINSON Physician and Surgeon

OFFICE IN KANE BLOCK, RED LAKE FALLS

Telephone Fleischer's Drug Store

F. T. BENOIT, M. D. Physician and Surgeon

Office over Brooks Mercantile Co.

Brooks, - - Minn.

FRED L. FARLEY ATTORNEY

LAW, LOANS, COLLECTIONS, INSURANCE

Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls

Red Lake Falls, Minn

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON Attorney at Law

Oldest established lawyer in the city Abstracts, City attorney.

Red Lake Falls, Minnesota

LODGE DIRECTORY

Clerician Lodge No. 28 INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS Meets every Monday evening in its hall. A. L. KNIGHT, N.G. PAUL L. FARLEY, R.S.

Good Faith Lodge No. 201 MODERN BROTHERHOOD OF AMERICA FRANK BROUILLET, Pres. SAMUEL GIRARD, Secy. Meetings every Monday evening in its hall. Visiting sisters and brothers cordially invited.

Red Lake Falls Camp No 1308 MODERN WOODMEN OF AMERICA JAMES HAGEN, Consul ROBT. PUTNER, Clerk Meets every Wednesday evening in each week.

With Swift & Co.

The Union Commercial College of Grand Forks helped Miss Irene Englis to her position with the big meat packers, Swift & Co. The largest corporations call upon this well known school for help and because of the thorough training received they always make good even in the hardest places. Send for free catalog.

INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS

THE NEW YEAR

At the beginning of the New Year we are prompted by the spirit of good will so generally prevailing at this season to extend hearty greetings to our customers and friends, wishing for them a full measure of genuine prosperity and success.

The Merchants State Bank always welcomes the accounts of any persons who may be directed to it by those who already avail themselves of our facilities.

Merchants State Bank

Capital, Surplus and Deposits $300,000.00

RED LAKE FALLS, , , MINN.

Farm Loans at Low Rates

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY

Organized In 1884

This BANK has had an honorable history of continuous and helpful service to the business interest of this community. Always adhering to its conservative policies it has gained an enviable reputation for stability and strength.

Continuing under these policies it will grow still larger and stronger. Its depositors will enjoy in an increasing measure the benefits which come only of an association with a progressive, capable and willing Bank.

With its large capacity, this Bank is able to meet the requirements of many more clients and invites the patronage of those who appreciate the best banking service.

First State Bank

Red Lake Falls, - - Minn.

Interest paid on time deposits

Comfort and Recreation

A Comfortable and Elegantly Furnished Place

Good billiard and pool tables
—Refreshing soft drinks—Ice cream and confections—
Good smokes : : :

You will find all these at the

Rest Room Billiard Parlor

L. A. DUSTERHOFT, Prop.

Bids Wanted.

Sealed bids will be received by the City Council of the City of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the publication of notices and Council proceedings during the year 1913.

The City Council of said City will meet at the office of the City Clerk, in the Probate Court Rooms, in the Court House, on the 10th day of January, 1913, at 8 o'clock P. M. to consider such bids as shall be submitted. All bids to be filed with the City Clerk at or before the hour of meeting.

The council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Dated at Red Lake Falls this 24th day of December, 1912.

(Seal.) Joseph Perrault, City Clerk.

For Rent—My well improved halt section near Red Lake Falls.—Mrs. H. A. Hinkemann. Call at F. B. Gasso' office.—Adv. tf

Dr. Spofford will be in Red Lake Falls, Jan. 7. At Grand View Hotel.—Advertisement

PERSONAL TROPERTY TAXES NOW DUE

(Continued from Page Four)

Town of Terrebonne.

Archambeault, J. B.	2.12
Archambeault, Arthur	5.07
Beaulin, Joseph	3.86
Bisaa, Edward	5.23
Cadieux, L. C.	17.52
Cadieux, Ed	5.76
Cote, Joseph	7.08
Cote, Valarie	4.32
Clement, Adolphe	1.95
Champeau, Joe	6.46
Clement, H.	5.34
Dahn, Otto	2.67
Desotel, Dixie	5.81
Dandeneau, Ed	.46
Dorsaie, Antoine	15.39
Dandeneau, Bret	1.06
Desotel, Celina	1.10
Desotel Bros.	4.94
Ducharme, Telesphore	2.27
Ducharme, H.	3.18
Desotel, Arthur	4.09
Dupont, Geo.	.21
Desotel, Richemond	3.32
Dernier, Bruno	8.97
Dupont, Wm.	6.26
Dernier, Firmen	5.87
Fourgier, Toussaint	2.11
Fournier, Isaac	15.64
Fournier, Joe	8.21
Gagnon, Regie	13.90
Gregoire, Pedmee	7.52
Gonlreux, Ed	2.21
Gaugner, Amede	5.06
Gangor, P.	5.55
Gangor, Jos.	3.15
Harrtley, Wm.	5.07
Jussau, Alaine	6.09
Joly, Henriette	7.61
Joly, Redique	8.61
Jones, Frank	5.31
Kenusfick, Geo.	1.53
Kenusfick, Thomas	5.13
Kankel, Chas.	4.82
Kankel & St. Marie	10.48
Laurent, Homer	5.76
Lagron, L.	2.07
Laundry and Son	17.34
Lachance, Albert	1.36
Lachance, Mrs. D.	11.08
Lapiante, Joe	1.05
Lanton, C. W.	5.28
Lawton, C. C.	15.81
Mortorlin, Joseph	12.35
Montrull, Willie	9.85
Oldberg, R.A.	1.32
Parenteau, Louie	7.79
Peterson, Arthur	5.07
Payment, Joseph	4.83
Perrault, I. F.	4.09
Perrault, Alcide	10.83
Perrault, Louis	14.84
Perrault, Hdalge	8.32
Quesnelle, Louis N. R.	8.42
Quesnelle, Stephen	14.12
Roelgeol, Celina	11.47
Robillard, Oliva	14.92
Robidoux, Joe	9.37
Robidoux, A. J.	12.11
Remick, Joe. E.	2.58
Rosen, L. N.	13.18
Rock, Chas.	8.54
Robidaux, Joseph	6.53
Robidaux, C.	3.63
St. Yves, Elie	.84
St. Yves, Ed	5.42
Sauve, Ernest	5.10
Schultz, Herman	2.07
St. Marie, Joe	1.59
St. Marie, Raphael	3.41
Sabourin, Sam	6.82
Sabourin, Hebry	1.11
Sparrowhawk, J. B.	21.32
Soave, X.	9.79
Theroux, Louis	15.43
Terrebonne, Stallion Co.	4.97
Thibert, Raymond	8.04
Turner, I. L.	3.16
Thibert, Marcelin	1.07
Toupin, Fred	4.93
Walker, Roy	8.66
Oakberg, R. L.	1.88
Cenereux, Napoleon	16.05
Thibert, Moise	4.69

Town of Lake Pleasant.

Aret, T.	21.55
Bamberry, David	4.16
Bjorgo, Knut	6.93
Bjorgo, Fred	3.82
Champoux, Delore	8.55
Columbus, C. A.	28.07
Cardinal, Hubert	11.66
Catlin, Marion	7.71
Delorme, Omer	5.66
Delorme, Alfred	.08
Delorme, Napoleon	10.45
Delorme, Joseph	14.12
Demann, Wm. C. L.	21.56
Ducharme, M.	.82
Dupont and Perrault	2.63
Demarais, Philip	9.03
Dupont, Louise	4.99
Dupont, Archie	.82
Guthler, Odilon	5.94
Goss, Earl W.	5.63
Glass, John H.	.58
Glass, Roy	1.79
Glass, F. E.	5.72
Hunter, John	5.35
Hanson, George	12.72
Kruse, John	2.48
Luxemburg, John	.488
Luxemburg, George	6.96
Luxemburg, Sam	12.40
Lacroux, John	19.58
Meyer, Frank	7.62
Marleau, W. P.	.85
Marleau, Wm.	8.68
Nadwits, Charles	2.77
Purpart, Fred	7.29
Pursh, E.	5.27
Pray, G. W.	5.58
Page, Jos.	5.58
Page, T.	7.44
Plasonnault, France	9.36
Plasonnault, N.	5.33
R. L. P. Milling Co.	30.01
Schanner, Gust	7.44
Schanneur, Paul	9.36
St. Mars Eugene	4.12
Schaper, Wm.	20.35
St. Martin Jas.	5.38
Slyter, L. R.	9.45
Treudeau, Louis	14.87
Weiss, Mina	2.72
Wegner, Henry	5.82
Zimmer, Jacob	10.48
Fink, Herman	3.03
Nadwits, Mrs. B.	2.00

Town of Equality.

Anderson, Andrew	5.59
Aakness, Drena B.	5.03
Aakness, Bjorgof D.	1.73
Aakness, Ole D.	8.37
Anderson, Erick	6.74
Arverson, Alex	5.13
Austad, Asbjor	3.32
Akre, John H.	4.67
Bender, H. Fred	5.31
Bender, Geo. H.	7.40
Bender, Frank P.	8.59
Birkeland, Ole S.	76.1
Barsness, P.	3.78
Beaurault, Olaf	5.42
Bendickson, Ole	1.77
Burman, Mary	2.66
Burman, Axel	1.43
Bygium, Knut	5.65
Breland, Amund	6.85
Brekke, Amund	7.87
Cameron, John	5.61
Campton, Henry F.	6.84
Carlson, E. V.	2.21
Dahl, O. L.	10.05
Dumbland, James J.	1.27
Evenson, Engoburt	4.67
Erickson, Edw. O.	6.05
Erickson, Knut	4.83
Fore, R. N.	6.40
Fore, Jacob	0.66
Fore, Lars B.	1.81
Fore, Jens	7.23
Groven, Samuel H.	.40
Groven, Olaf H.	1.01
Green, H. H.	4.23
Gunderson, John	.72
Hoomne, Knut O.	21.01
Hark, Edw. E.	8.24
Hanson, A. H. & D. K.	8.24
Hillestad, Peter	7.45
Hillestad, Gunder	1.58
Holem, Gunlug	.28
Holem, Ole O.	6.81
Hegger, G. T.	9.76
Hatfald, Ralph	1.81
Hanson, Andrew	16.81
Iverson, Maren	6.20
Jorgenson, Geo.	1.76
Jorgunson, Signo	7.25
Johnson, Magnus	2.12
Johnson, Nels P.	5.27
Jotland, Torsten	2.72
Krouneu, Knut	4.76
Knutson, Asbjh	5.41
Kleven, Tollef	4.15
Larson, Torgus	1.01
Liebak, Ewend	4.16
Lee, Ole O.	5.81
Lynch, Will	6.69
Lynch, Frank	1.31
Laugle, Bjorgo	2.78
Larson, Mikkel	6.61
Larson, Lermund	4.91
Larson, Thor	2.61
Linhem, Adolph	5.81
Linhem, Christian	7.81
Larson, Torgus	1.01
Legvold, O.	1.27
Litvik, A. N.	5.93
Lindtvelt, Knut	.58
Lindin, Amund	.84
Lauge, Bjorgo	2.64
Lee, Ole O.	4.61
Lorson, Gerhart	.65
Mattson, M. O.	8.06
Nelson, Ole, Jr.	4.61
Nelson, Nikolai	1.79
Overson, Torger	2.27
Rystad, Jermund K.	4.98
Richardson, A. A.	4.98
Rolfson, Ed	4.98
Rodtnah, H.	5.06
Rondal, H. B.	7.86
Slettvet, Tollef T.	6.98
Strick, Gunder	7.20
Slettvet, K. T.	11.36
Sordal, Ingebore	5.93
Sorenson, Paul	2.91
Sorchson, Ole	2.61
Sordal, Ole	1.81
Syverrud, N.E	4.09
Sorrell, Louis	5.27
Sall, C. G.	14.84
Short, Geo.	23.60
Stonoeds, Daniel	5.27
Thompson, Torsten	3.28
Torkelson, Ole	6.40
Underdal, O. O.	4.98
Vitch, Thomas	4.05
Vatlum, Ole	6.21
Watsond, A. O.	5.44
Westah, Ole	21
Wold, Mary	5.05
Whalen, K.	3.55
Borg, T. J.	.18
Bennet, Clarence	3.21
Erickson, Hans	1.28
Clearwater Creamery Assn.	2.89
Gunderson, Sam	6.84

Town of Germes.

Anderson, Knut	1.79
Anderson, Ed	.31
Borgo, A. M.	8.54
Lemeaux Bros.	14.31
Billeka, John	2.04
Emond, Alex	1.95
Carrieve, Alfred	.88
Clove & Whetterman	1.27
Carrol, Daniel	2.51
Desotion, Knut	1.20
Ellingson, L. J.	16.32
Fiske, Marhson	4.10
Gunstonson, Even	4.26
Gunstenson, Harry	1.81
Gunstenson, Jorge	1.58
Gunstenson, Thor	7.00
Goulet, Joseph	1.91
Gordee, R. O.	12.27
Jostie, Peter	17.08
Jlofstad, Tom	6.70
Jlenfried, J. B.	13.21
Jlnaven, Ole J.	3.30
Kusby, L.	8.70
Jlnaven, Mart	1.19
Hell, Hjalmar	.35
Jlonart, Ami	.44
Johnson, Carl	1.91
Johnson, Charley	14.35
Jacobson, E.	10.31
Johnson, Thomas	9.85
Kolsto, O.	.08
Hagven, Hans	2.05
Lakkesen, August	3.11
Krostue, Sahve	3.51
Langseat, E. O.	3.87
Lovnase, Sam	11.12
Linder, Gust	6.57
Moe, C. L.	7.65
Maaren, Sever	6.74
Magnes, Carl	19.24
Olson, M.	5.92
Olsen, O. H.	1.31
Olsen, Sivon	5.43
Olsen, John O.	7.61
Olsen, Charley	2.14
Olsen, John	2.46
Olsen, Orvill	3.31
Olsen, Ole	5.84
Peterson, Anton	3.35
Pugh, Thomas	2.32
Rusin, C. O.	5.93
Rystad, Ole H.	5.35
Rystad, G.B	3.13
Rystad, Edward	3.13
Rue, K.W.	8.06
Sheano, W. B.	9.77
Suter, Simon C.	4.11
Sorenson, Thomas	4.87
Sorenson, John	5.87
Sorenson, Carl	8.17
Stensdal, O. N.	1.97
Skreland, Steve	4.44
Skreland, Gunder	4.08
Swenson, Simer	88.1
Swenson, Mrs. Ole	2.61
Schmidt, C.	1.38
Schmidt, Ole	1.38
Shuler, John	6.37
Sorenson, Ole	1.73
Tweit, Iver	.17
Thoresen, M. M.	7.69
Tromdly, Mrs. Peter	3.34
Tuska, Jay J.	4.04
Tande, Olaf	12.32
Underdahl, O. B.	2.54
Vatlum, Ole	5.75
Varsha, Sam	4.39
Weiland, Ida	4.04
Wickey, Edward	13.37
Wegner, Evan E.	10.77
Larson, John	12.08

Town of Gervais.

Anderson, A. P.	2.41
Anderson, Pete	3.68
Anderson, Oscar	6.21
Anderson, Gustav	5.76
Anderson, August	5.21
Aft, August	3.75
Abell, Ellis	16.25
Dixon, Andre	4.58
Dixon, Andre	4.05
Croft, Jas.	1.36
Christenson, C.	1.85
Christenson, Sophia	4.44
Dorosiere, Peter	4.58
Dorosiere, Maurice	7.13
Dumidson, Christ	4.05
Lee, Alfred	4.23
Knevoldson, James	1.39
Flage, L. O.	10.56
Fostrickson, S. L.	5.08
Fournier, Edward	8.62
Fournier, Isaac	2.46
Gjerkey, R.O	4.16
Geddo, Andrew	.99
Geddo, Otto	1.53
Gustafson, Hannah	.34
Hanson, Ole	3.96
Hartwich, S. W.	5.62
Hulberg, L.	1.62
Hirsch, Jos	2.58
Hisket, Burton	2.71
Hendrika, Claus	9.14
Johnglint, James	1.5.
Kein, Knut	8.51
Thornton, A. H.	1.34
Thornton, A. A.	.36
Valdal, Jacob O.	7.60
Westlake, Alfred	2.36
Westlake, John	3.08
Westlake, Orvil	1.55

Town of Red Lake Falls.

Akenson, Swan	6.88
Carit, L.	11.68
Dehn, Fred	30.40
Baker, E. E.	2.33
Carlson, John	6.30
Constant, Nap	4.20
Dorrell, L. F.	3.59
Dry, Paul	14.24
Duffy, John	11.28
Duffy, John	10.89
Dufaunt, E. S.	5.50
Elwood, W. H.	2.36
Eckert, Chas.	13.82
Emard, Mose	5.78
Emard, Peter, jr.	1.13
Emard, Peter	2.78
Flanigan, John	8.52
Flange, C. L. & O.	4.14
Gale, Larrimer	5.97
Gerlich, Dan, jr.	3.94
Granbois, C.	3.36
Garceau, E. J.	12.89
Gerlich, Carl	3.22
Hirsch, Conrad	4.75
Lundermark, Karl	6.76
Herald, P.	8.99
Hagl, Frank	6.73
Hagl, L. E.	7.60
Johnke, L.	18.39
Kaiser, Otto	10.59
Linnerts, John	8.45
Lindstrand, John	16.69
Lasha, Ell	7.45
Latendrieze, M.	3.47
Loeffler, J. F. C.	6.36
Loeffler, Mrs. Otto	8.85
Mathews, Mrs. M.	12.73
Mitchell, Geo.	10.72
Meyer, Albert	9.28
Nicholson, J. A.	26.46
Nelson, Peter C.	2.35
Nelson, Carl	1.98
Nelson, Almer	1.37
Palsen, Jacob	5.42
Peterson, Oscar	3.72
Pashia, L.	2.88
Perreau, Joe	8.91
Rickard, Ed	2.83
Reiker, E.	6.37
Shmuhl, John	4.50
Shmuhl, Sever	4.15
Skala, Matt	21.82
Steele, Arthur	3.37
Seegar, Fred	10.46
Whelen, Geo. T.	5.42
Whalen, Thomas	13.85
Weiss, Henry	9.52
Wilkens, John	15.70
Yantz, John	2.21
Zemelka, M. O.	5.46
Westphal, Fred	14.10
Carmody, M. E.	25.56
Mercier, C. P.	.46
Wagner, Fred	.89

? ? ? ? ? ? ?

Here is a Good after Christmas Suggestion

Are You Public Spirited?
Are You Interested in the Men who Represent You?

Do you want to know how they vote on laws which are of importance to you, and where and by whom those laws were drawn up?

Are you interested in whether your Representative gambles his time and heer money while he is away from home attending to your business?

If he is a County Optionist, are you interested in learning the location of the drug store which he patronizes?

It will be the duty of

The Northwestern Legislature Reporter

to keep you informed weekly on all these things; to tell you whether your Representative is a friend of the Corporate Interests, or of the People.

We will expose all Riders, Jokers and Corporation Woodchucks which are continuously fooling the people by their trusted Representatives.

We will throw our searchlight down all rat holes without fear or favor, and will have some very pertinent things to say on proposed legislation which a corporation owned newspaper could not bring before the public. We have at hand some very interesting facts gathered during the General Session, which will be interesting in connection with several proposed bills which are now drawn up ready to be brought before the Legislature. We will give you some red hot sizzling news that you will not find in any other newspaper. Among other things the evil arising from the entrance of the pulpit into politics, and its effect on the incoming legislature.

We have a few personal paragrrphs ready now, on some of the new Representatives, and their methods of becoming elected.

IS IT WORTH 50 CENTS A YEAR TO YOU?

We will be permanent, giving out exclusive write-ups of the National and Northwestern Legislatures, as well as Minnesota State.

DO YOU WANT THE TRUTH ABOUT YOUR LAWS, AND WHO IS BEHIND THEM??

DO YOU WANT TO KNOW WHOSE MONEY IS DEFEATING LEGISLATION WHICH IS FOR THE GOOD OF THE PEOPLE?

If you do, cut out and use the following coupon, and we will do the rest.

The Northwesterrn Legislature Reporter,
Union Block, St. Paul, Minn.

Enclosed please find 50 cents (stamps, check or money order), for which please send your weekly paper for one year beginning January, 1913, to

Name _____

Street _____

City and State _____

MAIL IN YOUR COUPON EARLY TO RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION.

KEZIAH COFFIN

by

Joseph C. Lincoln

Author of
"Cy Whittaker's Place"
"Cayn Ari, &c."

Illustrations by
Ellsworth Young

Copyright, 1917, by D. Appleton & Company

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arranging to move from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Joyce Kendrick, a young woman who has unfortunately refused, Capt. Elkanah Daniels, leader of the Hyanisis church office Keziah, a place as housekeeper for the minister. Keziah has been a widow for years in Trumet. Elkanah takes charge of Rev. John Ellery, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by preaching a sermon against smoking. Ellery's progress is steadily resisted by Peter Hammond, leader of the opposing Grace apologists for her guardian and Ellery accepts her home in his church. Keziah, who has refused to marry him, announces a bear in tonight the packet into port safely through fog and storm. Ellery finds Keziah sitting at her fire in some one, including money in the pocket. Keziah is accused of unfaithfully married when evidence of the arrival of Nat. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that they have been secretly married for years. Daniels excommunicates Keziah from the church that evening. Ellery is caught by the tide, and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Ellery and Nat have a talk about Joyce. Nat confesses that she wants them every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner Sundays with the Daniels. Instead, the captain's daughter, starts herself to church, and Ellery follows her. Nat arrives with everything for Keziah's dinner every Sunday at a certain time. She watches through a spy glass and then signals Impatience Keziah is hungry, and, Nat arrives. Ellery calls on Keziah and Nat, after which Nat tries to marry Grace.

CHAPTER X.

In Which Captain Eben Receives a Caller.

At the edge of the bluff, just where the plain and the barberry bushes were thickest, where the narrow, crooked little footpath dipped down to rise and down to the pasture land and the salt meadow, John Ellery and Grace had reached in their walk. The minister's face was pale, but set and determined, and he was speaking rapidly.

"I can't help it," he said. "I can't help it. I have made up my mind and nothing can change it, nothing but you. It rests with you. If you say yes, then nothing else matters. Will you say it?"

He was holding both her hands now, and though she tried to withdraw them, he would not let her.

"Will you?" he pleaded.

"I can't," she answered brokenly. "I can't. Think of your church and of your people. What would they say if—"

"I don't care what they say."

She shook her head.

"Some of them might respect you," she said. "They would say you had torn God into bits by me and were not so much to blame. But I——"

"They shall respect my wife," he interrupted, snapping his teeth together. "If I know the reason why?"

"I can't! I can't! My uncle——"

"Your uncle be hanged! I am not. We'll go to him together. I'll tell him myself. He worships you."

"Yes, I know. He does worship me. That's why I am sure he had rather see me dead than married to you, a Regular and a Regular minister. I know—I know he would never consent. His heart is set on something else. Nat——"

"Nat! Are you considering him, too? Is he to stand between us? What right has he to say——"

"Hush! Hush! He hasn't said anything. But—but he and uncle have married, just a little. I didn't tell you, but they have. And I think I know the reason. Not in Uncle Elkan's idol. If the quarrel should grow more serious, I believe he would break his heart. I couldn't bear to be the cause of that; I should never forgive myself."

"You the cause! How could you be the cause of a quarrel between those two? Grace, think of me."

"John," she said, "it is of you I am thinking. Everything else could—might be overcome, perhaps. But I must think of your future and your life. I must. That is why——"

He did not wait to hear the reason. He seized her in his arms and kissed her.

"Then you do care!" he cried joyfully. "You will marry me?"

For an instant she lay quiet in his embrace, receiving, if not responding to his caresses. Then she gently but firmly freed herself. He saw that there were tears in her eyes.

"I don't know," she sobbed. "Oh, I don't know! I must think—I must! Wait, please wait, John. Perhaps by to-morrow I can answer. I'll try—I'll try. Don't ask me again, now. Let me think. Oh, do!"

She started down the path. He hesitated, then ran after her.

"To-morrow?" he questioned eagerly. "To-morrow, then, you'll say that you will?"

"Oh, perhaps, perhaps! I mustn't promise. Good night."

It was after seven when Grace reached the old tavern. The landlord, Mrs. Poundberry, was anxiously awaiting her. She wore her bonnet and Sunday gown and was evidently ready to go.

"Supper's on the table and the kitchen's shilin'. You better eat in a hurry, 'cause the meetin' time soon. Your uncle, he started ten minutes ago. He'll again' right along, too, but I don't gain' to meetin'; I'm again' up to Betsy B.'s to stay all night. She's got a spare room for me, and the table's said, and she'll feelin' good, so I told her I'd come and eat a little spell. Your Uncle Eben's probably there and peaked lately. He ain't long for this world, I'm afraid. You ought to be awful good to him, Gracie."

"I know it," was the hurried reply. "Where's Nat?"

"I don't know. Can't keep track of him. Might's well try to put your finger on a flea. He's here today and gone yesterday, as the Scripture' says. He ate a little mite of supper, but not much, and then off he puta."

She reached the gate by this time, and Grace shut off the flow of conversation by closing the door. Then she took a candle from the row on the dining-room mantle, lighted it and went up to her own room. Standing before the old-fashioned bureau with the little oval mirror, she hastily arranged her hair and bonnet. Then she went to the prayer meeting at the chapel, but she felt that she must. The Come-Outer gatherings, with their noisy exhortations and shouting, had grown more and more repugnant to her.

She blew out the candle and came out into the hall at the head of the stairs. She was about to descend when she heard voices. The door of the dining room opened and closed. She felt certain that Nat had returned and wondered who was with him. Then she heard her uncle's voice, speaking sharply and with unwonted stammer.

"Why—why, Hammond!" it said. "I was about," said Captain Eben. "You say it's urgent; well, it's got to be. I'll keep me from my meetin'. I ought to, with the Lord's business in the minute and nothin' worldly's goin' to keep me from servin' Him. So speak right out. What is it?"

The voice that answered was one that Grace recognized, though she had never before heard in it the note of agitation and undignified excitement. There were thunderous pauses and "Hum—ha's" now.

"Why, I—I—Eben, Hammond!" it said. "And don't stand there preaching. Lock that door! Get a lamp! Are you crazy? Don't you want to hear my news?"

Captain Elkanah Daniels! Captain Elkanah visiting a Come-Outer! And the leader of the Come-Outers!! Grace's astonishment was great, but only for the world— She started to descend the stairs, a thought flashed to her mind. She stopped short.

"I'll get to the door, Elkanah," she heard her uncle retort sternly. "The fools are then who are deef to the call from on high. My foot was on the threshold of His house when you led me astray. He never hailed there afore. I warn you——"

"Stop! Shut up! Shut up, Hammond, I tell you that your precious church—yes and mine, the Regular church of Hyannis—will go to rack and ruin if you and me don't pull together this night."

"And I tell you, Elkanah Daniels, I'll have no blasphemy here. That little—that—that woman that I let visit to me, Keziah Coffin, she had more sense than to come to my house with such talk. The Almighty'll protect His own. As for the Regular church, that's no concern of mine."

"But I tell you 'tis your concern. And it's mine, and it's the church of my lady's."

There was an instant of silence. Grace, crouching on the stairs, noticed the change in her uncle's voice as he answered.

"My own family!" he repeated slowly. "My own— And the home of my church— What do you mean? Has Nat——"

"No, he ain't. But that cussed girl of yours——"

"Joyce?" shouted Captain Hammond. "Elkanah Daniels, for your own sake you'd better be careful. If you dast to say a word, another word like that, I'll——"

"If I dast! The hussy! But there's no use in our havin' a row. I'm here to tell you that Nat Sparrow's a Bedlamite. Either that, or you're in cahoots with him. I don't know which. I couldn't bear to be the cause of that; I should never forgive myself."

"You the cause! How could you be the cause of a quarrel between those two? Grace, think of me."

"John," she said, "it is of you I am thinking. Everything else could—might be overcome, perhaps. But I must think of your future and your life. I must. That is why——"

He did not wait to hear the reason. He seized her in his arms and kissed her.

"Then you do care!" he cried joyfully. "You will marry me?"

For an instant she lay quiet in his embrace, receiving, if not responding to his caresses. Then she gently but firmly freed herself. He saw that there were tears in her eyes.

"I don't know," she sobbed. "Oh, I don't know! I must think—I must! Wait, please wait, John. Perhaps by to-morrow I can answer. I'll try—I'll try. Don't ask me again, now. Let me think. Oh, do!"

She started down the path. He hesitated, then ran after her.

"To-morrow?" he questioned eagerly. "To-morrow, then, you'll say that you will?"

"Oh, perhaps, perhaps! I mustn't promise. Good night."

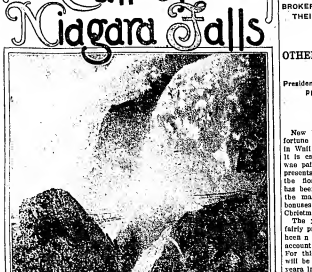
It was after seven when Grace reached the old tavern. The landlord, Mrs. Poundberry, was anxiously awaiting her. She wore her bonnet and Sunday gown and was evidently ready to go.

"Supper's on the table and the kitchen's shilin'. You better eat in a hurry, 'cause the meetin' time soon. Your uncle, he started ten minutes ago. He'll again' right along, too, but I ain't goin' to meetin'; I'm again' up to Betsy B.'s to stay all night. She's got a spare room for me, and the table's said, and she'll feelin' good, so I told her I'd come and eat a little spell. Your Uncle Eben's probably there and peaked lately. He ain't long for this world, I'm afraid. You ought to be awful good to him, Gracie."

"I know it," was the hurried reply. "Where's Nat?"

"I don't know. Can't keep track of him. Might's well try to put your finger on a flea. He's here today and gone yesterday, as the Scripter

Call of Niagara Falls



CAVE OF THE WINDS

THE ordinary visitor to Niagara Falls finds the excursion to the Cave of the Winds quite sensational enough for his peace of mind.

With proper care the trip is perfectly safe, but there is one moment of the journey when the mist and spray from the falls beat out your sight so nearest companion, which gives the man of average nerve an keen a thrill as he cares for. This is a idict when he is "through" is that he is glad to have done it once, but will be content not to attempt it again. There is a certain temperament, however, which the very sight of these appalling waters seems to goad to a frenzy of mad adventure. Some time ago, for instance, a man who normally followed the unheroic occupation of keeping a restaurant, went over the Horseshoe falls in a steel barrel and was safely fished out afterward, having suffered no damage but a broken leg. This set of foolhardies at any rate cannot be charged to youthful rashness, for the man was in his seventieth year, nor can it be explained by ignorance of what such a feat must involve, for he had already made the passage of the seething rapids some distance below in similar fashion.

In some of the most remarkable feats of which Niagara has been the scene the fascination of the exception for itself has been seconded by a certain commercial instinct. The performances of Blondin, we may be sure, were shrewdly calculated with a view to future box office receipts. In 1859 and 1860 he crossed the falls several times on a tight rope three and a quarter inches in diameter, 1,200 feet long and 160 feet above the water. He was not satisfied with the mere prominence, but would pause in front of the spectators—sometimes there would be as many as 25,000 watching him—by all manner of freakish variations.

Gorge Below the Falls.

Bloon Bloodin's day there have been several "equilibrist" exhibitions at Niagara, but no imitator has quite rivaled the example of the artist and the master of the profession. Perhaps the nearest approach, to his triumphs was that of Dixon in 1890. He crossed the river below the falls on a three-quarter inch wire hawser, and in one of his feats lay for a time with his back on the wire. But, startling as such performances may be, presumably they do not surpass either in actual risk or in relief at the end some of the ordinary feats of acrobats in the circus or even in the good and common task of steeplejacks and other useful persons whose work requires a cool head and a sure step. A quite different kind of problem is that of "shooting Niagara," either as the falls themselves or at the rapids. Every one has seen pictures of the falls and can form some conception of what it must mean to take the drop over the cataract. The Niagara rapids are less familiar, so a brief topographical note may be in order. One set of rapids occurs about the falls, just where the waters gather themselves for their great leap. But the more notable series is further down. Below the falls the river moves sleepily along for a while, but presently is compressed into a narrow gorge through which it makes its descent to Lete Ontario. This sudden narrowing into a whole mass bed is studded with rocks churns the immense volume of water into a mass of turbulent waves, where the main current, travelling at 30 miles an hour, is swung backward and forward and from side to side like a drunken thing. These whirlpool rapids, as they are called, empty the stream into the whirlpool itself, from which it has still to surge through the Devil's Hole rapids, no less triangular, before it once more becomes navigable near Lewiston.

Why Whirlpool Rapids were safely

threaded in 1861 by the Maid of the Mist, but the actual turning of the cabin of the steamer into an old man, many years later a man named Percy made the same trip in a lifeboat. A rival, R. W. Flack, challenged him to a race over the course, and lost his life in a preliminary rehearsal. But the most tragic story Niagara has to tell is that of Captain Matthew Webb, the son of an English country doctor, he entered the mercantile marine as a lad, but before he was thirty he abandoned a seafaring life to become a professional swimmer. In 1875 he swam from Dover to Calais. In 1883, though wecred that physically he was not what he had been, he made the desperate resolve to swim the Whirlpool rapids. In describing his plans he explained that when he found the water very bad he would go under, and would remain there until compelled to come up for breath. He intended at the whirlpool to strike out with all his strength to keep out of the sucb hole in the center. "My life," he added, "will then depend upon my muscles and my breath, with a little touch of common sense." On the afternoon of July 24 he took the plunge from a small boat. On entering the whirlpool rapids he was almost turned over by the force of the water, but he recovered himself, and in about five minutes he had traversed the mile and a quarter from the old suspension bridge to the entrance of the whirlpool. Here he seemed for a moment to be doing well. Then he threw up his arms and disappeared.

Swimming Whirlpool Rapids.

In July, 1895, John Soules was more fortunate than Captain Webb, for his defeat came earlier. While he was in the whirlpool rapids the breakers dashed him against the rocks, and he was washed ashore, badly bruised, but still reaching. Other daring would-be swimmers who have attempted the passage have hesitated to risk their undaided strength and skill. W. J. Kendall, a Boston policeman, sat through in 1886, but he wore a cork vest. He reported at the end of his journey that he found the swimming abilities useless. The current took him so much sooner to take the drop over the cataract. The Niagara rapids are less familiar, so a brief topographical note may be in order. One set of rapids occurs about the falls, just where the waters gather themselves for their great leap. But the more notable series is further down. Below the falls the river moves sleepily along for a while, but presently

FEW REALLY CONTROL MIND

Writer's Reflections Literally True Though Few Will Be in a Hurry to Admit It.

When I walk I must have a friend to talk to, or I shall have my own thoughts. I am not of those who, like Stevenson, believe that walking should be a kind of vegetative stupor, where the sun and air merely fill one with a diffused sense of well-being and exclude definite thought. The wind should rather blow through the dusty recesses of the mind, and the sun light up its dark corners, and then no one talking should be saner and blither and more joyful than within doors. But one must have a friend along to open the windows. Neither can I sympathize with those persons who carry on long choios of reasoning while they are traveling or walking. When alone, my thinking is as desultory as the scenery of the road side, and when with a friend, it is apt to be as full of romantic surprises as a walk through a woodland glen. Good talk is like good scenery—continues yet constantly varying, and full of the charm of novelty and surprise. How unusual it is to think except when one is forced to do it, is discovered when one attempts to analyze one's thoughts when alone. He is a rare person who finds something beyond the mere visual impression that float through his mind— either the reflection of what he is actually seeing, or the pictorial representation of what he has been doing or what he wants or intends to do in the near or far future. We should be shocked to confess to ourselves how little control we have over our own minds, we should be lucky if we can believe that we guide them—Ban Holph S. Bourne in the Atlantic Monthly.

Calling Down the Nurse.

Little Freak's nurse, when finding him in mischief was in the habit of exclaiming: "What in the name of common sense are you doing?" One morning, while she was bathing him, he asked: "What in the name of copper cents do you mean by getting soap in my eyes?"

MILLION FOR GIFTS

BROKERS ARE LIBERAL WITH THEIR HELPERS AT CHRISTMAS TIME.

OTHER HOLIDAY NEWS

President-Elect Wilson Is Given a Pipe, But Doesn't Smoke —Eyesight for Lad.

New York, Dec. 26.—A tidy little fortune in Christmas gifts was placed in Wall street's Christmas stockings. It is estimated that about $1,000,000 was paid out this year in Christmas presents to the army of employees in the financial district. Distribution has been going on for a week but in the majority of cases payments of bonuses was made on the day before Christmas.

The year now ending although a fairly prosperous one for bankers has been a lean one for stock brokers on account of the dullness in speculation. For this reason the Christmas total will be smaller than in some former years in which trading in stocks was heavy.

Fixed Amount Given.

In some houses in "the street" fixed amounts in gold are given to clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers and messengers and in others the employees receive a percentage of their yearly salaries. One of the large trust companies presented to each employee from the president down 56 per cent of his salary for the year, but in most cases the amount is much smaller.

In a large number of commission houses 10 per cent is paid. Employees of J. P. Morgan & Co. will not receive their bonuses until just before the close of the year. Ten years ago their present was a year's salary, but after that time 10 per cent has usually been paid to clerks affiliated with the firm for ten years or less and 15 per cent to those who have been there longer.

There is a growing tendency in the financial district to substitute salary increases at the first of the year for Christmas bonuses on the ground that indiscriminate distribution of lump sums encourages prodigality as they are called, empty the stream into the whirlpool itself, from which it has still to surge through the Devil's Hole rapids, no less triangular, before it once more becomes navigable near Lewiston.

Why Whirlpool Rapids were safely

threaded in 1861 by the Maid of the Mist, but the actual turning of the cabin of the steamer into an old man, many years later a man named Percy made the same trip in a lifeboat. A rival, R. W. Flack, challenged him to a race over the course, and lost his life in a preliminary rehearsal. But the most tragic story Niagara has to tell is that of Captain Matthew Webb. He son of an English country doctor, he entered the mercantile marine as a lad, but before he was thirty he abandoned a seafaring life to become a professional swimmer. In 1875 he swam from Dover to Calais. In 1883, though wecred that physically he was not what he had been, he made the desperate resolve to swim the Whirlpool rapids. In describing his plans he explained that when he found the water very bad he would go under, and would remain there until compelled to come up for breath. He intended at the whirlpool to strike out with all his strength to keep out of the sucb hole in the center. "My life," he added, "will then depend upon my muscles and my breath, with a little touch of common sense." On the afternoon of July 24 he took the plunge from a small boat. On entering the whirlpool rapids he was almost turned over by the force of the water, but he recovered himself, and in about five minutes he had traversed the mile and a quarter from the old suspension bridge to the entrance of the whirlpool. Here he seemed for a moment to be doing well. Then he threw up his arms and disappeared.

Swimming Whirlpool Rapids.

In July, 1895, John Soules was more fortunate than Captain Webb, for his defeat came earlier. While he was in the whirlpool rapids the breakers dashed him against the rocks, and he was washed ashore, badly bruised, but still reaching. Other daring would-be swimmers who have attempted the passage have hesitated to risk their undaided strength and skill. W. J. Kendall, a Boston policeman, sat through in 1886, but he wore a cork vest. He reported at the end of his journey that he found the swimming abilities useless. The current took him so much sooner to take the drop over the cataract. The Niagara rapids are less familiar, so a brief topographical note may be in order. One set of rapids occurs about the falls, just where the waters gather themselves for their great leap. But the more notable series is further down. Below the falls the river moves sleepily along for a while, but presently

Pretty Hocking Costume

This costume was especially fn shioned for the athletic "hockey girl." The short, warm jacket, scarf and cap and long gloves, all of the same wool material, n a distinct novelty for this winter. It serves both for keeping the wearer worm and freedom if movement.

RHINESTONES MUCH IN FAVOR

Really There Is No More Effective Trimming for the Smart Afternoon or Evening Dress.

Rhinestone trimmings are prominent for evening wear, especially in the simple outlining form suitable for edging tunics, cuffs, sleeves and edging elaborate scarfs of chiffon or mousseline. Rhinestones in combination with jet are formed into bandsome floral and scroll effects. Rhinestone and pearl slides and ornaments are used for catching up draperies. Narrow chiffon pink rosebud trimmings continue to be fashionable. Fur bands in stoank, mink, fox, ermine and sable continue to be much used for trimmings. Fur is often used in combination with tassel with excellent effect. An elaborate evening wrap or gown may be trimmed with a light-weight metal band outlined with a narrow strip of fur.

DRESSING GOWN

This is an excellent gown for winter wear, as it fastens quite up to the throat.

It is cut Magyar with long sleeves and is trimmed with band of Persian braid.

Materiele required: three and one-fourth yards of double width; two and three-fourths yards of galloon.

Old Rose Moire Gown.

Moire silk is particularly handsome, and has practically all the good qualities of satin without its perishable frailty. A smart coat and skirt in old rose moire has a full Napoleonic double collar, and revers of satin in the same shade, closely covered with rattail embroidery. The coat is of a long shape, with a slightly high waist, and longer at the back than in the front. It is fastened by silk cording and buttons arranged in corselet fashion and a high collar and jabot of lace are arranged as a white lawn fraudulation to form the vest.

New Handbags.

Handbags are seen in a variety of form. The newest is the long double sack bag, passed through a ring to wear over the fingers or sufficiently large to wear as a bracelet. These bags are embroidered in steel or dull bands an colored velvet or moire, to match the gown worn.

Get Rugs First.

A specialist on the subject of rugs says that in furnishing a room the rug should be chosen first. Then the decorations should be decided upon, that they may above all things be in harmonize with the rug. Walls toned to harmonize with rugs are better than those papered.

SMALL COATS OF BROCADE

One of the Prettiest of the Winter Fashions, With Trimmings of Odds and Ends of Fur.

The winter fashions are getting more and more alluring, and very pleasing are the little coats of brocade with their cutaway fronts and high waymen cuffs. These coats, like others of the swallow-tailed and banded descriptions, display an edging or trimming of fur, about, apparently, being first favorite. Many of them have been boarding short lengths of broche velvet or satin, and rejoice that the present vogue gives us an opportunity in utilizing them. If the length be not quite sufficient for a blouse we are permitted to call into service a plain satin for its accompli completion, and a combination of plain and fancy fabrics is a fashionable alliance this season.

Dry velours is carrying all before it, and in the finest quality is an ideal fabric for princess tailored robes as well as for coats and skirts. The more severe the design the more successful is the result, as one's fury supply the requisite trimming.

Wedgwood and Black Velvet.

A little girl's frock in a pretty wedgwood shade is made with kilted skirt and loose blouse bodice with a black velvet belt and buttons to match. In this case the finishing touch is given by a sailor collar of white silk. A pretty party dress is kilted in rose-colored silk, and has a gathered bodice set on to the skirt under a thick wording of the silk and finelyper a thick cording of the silk and finely tucked round the yoke, which is of cream-tinted lace.

One of the sweetest notions for the moonlight dance is carried out in cream sinon with a corselet and ballskeverse of white lawn round with the little borders of ball fringe for which the fancy still continues, though this style of trimming does not, of course, pretend to be new. This type of dress, with or without a trail of flowers or a mesh of ribbon, is very graceful and girlish, and it is certain to be a favorite ite one.

Cuff Reinforced.

How many of ne have discovered that, when our tailored waists come back from the laundry the third time the cuffs show signs of wear? As many of them are being made ready-made there is no material for new cuffs to match. Now, if a new waist I ap ever the edges of the cuffs with a tiny overhand stitch that is almost invisible, they will be reinforced for Honeskeeping. The cuffs then wear as long as the waist does.

Girlish Gown.

A simple and girlish gown is made of soft white chiffon trimmed with bands of green satin bows, applied to the bodice and skirt in border fashion. Three garlands within the round neck of the bodice, the high waist line in the form of a girdle and the edge of a draped tunic skirt are caught up with a green satin bow. Sleeves are also caught up with a satin bow.

Perfume Bags for Clothing.

Cloves, nutmegs, mace, caraway seeds, cinnamon and fangrine leaves each one-half ounce. Florentina orris root, three ounces. Have all ground to a powder and mixed and put up in small bags to place among clothing. This not only gives the cloth ing a fine perfume, but is a protection against moths.

Smart Coats.

Tailored suits have smart cutaway coats or long Russian blouse coats. The collars are high and straight. The straight band of fur used as a collar and finished with a bow or ribbon at the side or just beneath the collar at the back is very smart.

IMPORTANT ART OF ROPE SPLICING FOR MAKING HALTERS AND OTHER FARM WORK

Illustration and Detailed Instructions Given for the Home Manufacture of Useful Articles for Securing Horse or Other Animal, and for Other Various Requirements.

(By C. R. BUSH, Iowa College of Agriculture.)

To make a loop splice, doubles the rope where loop is desired. Through the short end of the rope, make an opening by making two of the strands sod pushing the third strand down. Pass the long part of the rope through this opening in the same direction that the third or single strand runs (see Fig. 1). Draw down to about the size that the loop is desired. Now make a similar opening in the long part of the rope just above where the short end crosses, and pass the short end through (see Fig. 2). Draw this through and draw the two openings together. If all has been done correctly, a very smooth splice (Fig. 2) will be the result.

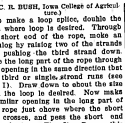


Fig. 1—Two-Loop Halter.

To make the eye splice, untwist the stronds at one end of the rope about six inches. Then double the rope to the size of the "eye" desired. Arrange the strands as (a), (b) and (c) on the main rope (see Fig. 1. Let the middle strand (c) lie along the main rope (a). Take strand (b) over to the left band, raise one of the strands in (a),on the side nearest (b). Push (c) through, under the strand which has been raised (see Fig. 2.) Now, put strand (b) over the strand beyond the one which (b) is in (see Fig. 2. Next, turn the rope back, raise the third strand in (a). Bring strand (c) down past this strand and then up over the next one. Pull strands tight.

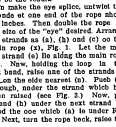

Fig. 2—Two-Loop Halter.

Now splice the three strands' (a), (b) and (c) down the main rope the same direction taken by (a) and (b). Then cut off the ends and trim in border one strand for the main rope. No two should be under the same strand and no two should come out from between the same two strands.

The splice can be used as a permanent fastening in the end of a rope to prevent it from unraveling. The eye should always be used in starting the end splice.

To make the crown the strands are first untwisted about six inches, then one of the strands is doubled to the right and laid between the other two strands. Then the next strand, (b) to the next strand, (b) around the rope in the right is brought down across the loop and held along the main rope. Then the third strand (c) is passed down through the loop made by (a) and (b)(see crown, Fig. 2). If all has been done correctly the ends now appear as shown in the illustration.

Endsplice, Fig. 1. Now draw the crown tight by holding the main rope at (z) (end splice Fig. 1) and pulling the ends, one at a time until all are tight. Take any one of the ends, pass it over the strand which lies next to it and under the next strand (Fig. 3 b). Turn the rope a little, take the next strand (c), place it over the main strand which is next to it, and under the next strand (a). Draw all three ends down tight (Fig. 5).

Eye Splice.

To make a two-loop halter, 12 or 13 feet of ¾ or ½ inch rope should be sufficient. This halter has the advantage of being adjustable to various sized heads. It is not at satisfactory for steady use, however, as the one-loop halter, as there is some danger of its loosening or slipping off the head.

Crown and End-Splice.

To make a two-loop halter, first make an eye-splice in one end of the rope. The "eye" should be only large enough to allow the rope to pass through. If too large, it loosens easily. From the nearest end this distance that will be required to reach nearly around the animals' nose, there make a loop-splice.

Have the loop about the same size as the "eye." (Fig 1 a.) Next pass the long end of the rope first through the "eye-splice" and then through the loop-splice.

Next pass the long end of rope through eye-splice, then through loop-splice; put an end splice to the end of the rope. The halter is now complete as shown in Fig. 2; (a) is the eye-splice, (b) the loop-splice, (f) the end splice, (d) the nose piece, (c) goes under the jaw and (e) over the top of the head behind the ears.

Loop Splice Used in Making Rope Halters.

PROVIDING NESTS FOR THE PULLETS

Habit of Egg Eating Often Formed in the Flock by Lack of Ample Room.

As the pullet begins laying, more nests should be provided at first. It is important that plenty of nests should be provided so there will be no quarreling over them.

The vice of egg eating is often started in the flock because there is a shortage for the nests, break the eggs and find out what they are good to eat. Soft shelled eggs and feeding egg shells without crushing them will form the habit. Once a hen starts to use learns, it doesn't take long for the whole flock to get the habit, and then there is trouble indeed.

Soft shelled eggs should be guarded against by feeding the best plenty of clover and keeping them well supplied with grit, oyster shell and green cut bone.

Whenever you catch a hen in the act of eating an egg, break one hard or on a market or cut off her head at once. So far as my experience goes, it is the only sure cure.

Some people advise cutting the bill down to the quick, filling the wound with red pepper, etc., but this is a great deal of trouble and cruelty, and I have never known it to cure. Prevention is much the better way.

Supply the hens with plenty of nests, guard against soft shells, never feed egg shells or nutritious food to them, and gather the eggs often.

Soya Bean in China.

Vegetable milk, cheese and butter are becoming popular in many parts of China, India and Japan, where the cultivation of the Soya bean is being encouraged. Milk is obtained from the bean by crushing them and from this bean milk, cheese and butter are made. Before the beans are crushed they are soaked in water. Maceration results in the production of a thick, milky liquid which can be filtered and drunk fresh or used for making the butter and cheese.

DESTROYS MANY HELPFUL INSECTS

In Short Life of Quail Bird Will Devour Many Bugs and Weed Seeds.

The natural life of a quail is short in years, so that enough of their birds may be supposed to eat during its lifetime 7,500,000 insects and 60,000,000 weed seeds. Yet, there are thousands of men who delight to go out in the fall and kill every quail they can find! A dead quail is worth in the market possibly $1. A man may eat in a few minutes and forget it. What a shameful ending for an faithful and so valuable a friend of mankind!

A few years ago there were millions of quails all over the southern middle and eastern states. Today they are almost entirely extinct everywhere.

A pair of Bob Whites in domestication have produced 100 eggs in a season. Five hens have produced of 85 eggs apiece.

To hold the insects in check and to destroy the weed seeds we need to have our gardens, fields, pastures and meadows literally alive with these useful birds.

A Rhode Island chicken killed in a cotton field in Texas had in its stomach the remains of over 300 cotton boll weevils.

A few years ago there were millions of prairie chickens in all the prairie states. Today they are absolutely extinct in several states, and on the verge of their finish in all the others.

Oats for Milk.

The oat crop was large this year and prices are down next to rock bottom, but the dairyman who has fed liberally upon cut green oats make one of the best of grain feeds for milk production.

Parsley for Winter.

Plant parsley in pots or boxes in some basement or kitchen window. Parsley will grow with very little light and furnish an abundance of green seasoning which will be appreciated all winter.

The Local Field

For Sale Cheap—Ice saw and ice tongs. JAMES BRADY. tf

Ed Dusterhoft returned Friday from a business trip to Iowa.

Mrs Wanted—To cut 500 cords of poplar wood—Healy Land Co.—Adv.

Mrs George F. Hennings entertained the P. and P. B. Friday afternoon.

S. L. Lewis, of Grand Forks, spent New Years day with friends in the city.

Dr. G. B. Fairchild spent New Years with his parents at Grand Forks.

Milton Converse and family spent New Years day with relatives at St. Hilaire.

Miss Vina Carrer, who teaches at Ironton, is at home for the holiday vacation.

John Rondell, of Mentor, was attending to business matters in town Saturday.

Miss Schutt returned Saturday from Fertile, where he spent Christmas with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Putnam, of Duluth, are visiting with relatives in the city.

Dr. Spetford will be in Red Lake Falls Jan. 7. At Grand View Hotel.—Adv.

Miss Marie Baril, of Grand Forks, is spending the week with relatives in the city.

Emil Heinonen, of Thief River Fall spent New Years with relatives in Red Lake Falls.

John Gustafson, of Thief River Falls, visited with friends in the city this week.

Andrej Patsode of Bovey is spending the holidays with relatives in Red Lake Falls.

Miss Ella Jackson of St. Hilaire is the guest of Miss Kathleen Spillane this week.

For sale—male English coach pups. Now on at the Bourdon house.—M. E. Carmody.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Decharme, of Dubuque, are visiting with relatives in the city and vicinity.

H. H. Hunnemuth, who is employed at Crookston, has been spending the week at home.

Miss Marie Crompe, of Crookston spent Christmas at the home of her parents in this city.

Earl Wheeler, of Fargo, brother of E. F. Wheeler, was a guest at the Wheeler home New Years.

M. O. Sortedahl has been away this week on a business trip to the southern part of the state.

Lost, Two months ago, red and white heifer, year and a half old.—John Carriere, Gentilly.—Adv.

Joe Normandeau leaves tonight to go to Chicago, where he will take a course in a school of watchmaking.

Miss Lou Fletcher, who teaches in the public schools of Minneapolis, is spending the holiday season at home.

The Misses Schmidt of Grand Forks who formerly resided in Red Lake Falls, are visiting with friends in the city.

Who wants a ladies' sweater at One-third off? Last call! 25 per cent off on cut glass. A $10.00 dogskin coat for $15.00; a $28.00 China bear for $18.00. Lots of cold weather yet. LAHISSONERE. Adv.

C. W. Johnson and family spent the holidays at the home of Mr. Johnson's parents in Black River township.

Mrs. Emma Schuster and daughters, Misses Bernetta and Irene, are spending the week with relatives at Crookston.

Miss Florence Griswold of Dodge Center, sister of Mrs. C. R. Baker, is spending the week at the Baker home.

Rev. A. B. von Stoll, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Edinburg, N. Dak., is the guest of Rev. David V. Richardson.

For Rent—My well improved half section near Red Lake Falls.—Mrs. H. A. Blakeman. Call at P. B. Gazette office. tf Adv.

Mrs. S. Hall and little son of Crookston, spent New Years at the home of Mrs. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Crompe.

Nels Berolt, grain buyer at Borwell for the Red Lake Falls Milling company, spent New Years day in Red Lake Falls.

Pier Laundry, the Terrehonne merchant, recently appointed postmaster, was attending to business matters in town Tuesday.

The subject of Rev. David V. Richardson's sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning will be "The Money Fool;" for the evening, "The Fool Virgins."

There was a big crowd at the dance given by the Red Lake Falls band Monday New Years eve, and the affair was very much enjoyed by those attending.

The state bank of Erskine was purchased by A. D. Stephens, of Crookston and F. F. Topples of Hudson, Wisconsin, together with local parties in Erskine.

Mrs. W. H. Krueger and children returned this week from their visit in the West. They spent several weeks with relatives at Missoula, Montana, and other points.

Alton Jackson, operator at the Soo depot at Bemidji, and Miss Jackson, who is employed at the Farmers National bank, spent Christmas with their parents in St. Hilaire.

Ernest Mayhew, foreman of the Thief River Falls Times office, is spending a part of the week with relatives in the city. He hannasisted in getting out this issue of the Gazette.

Geo. Dupont, county auditor elect, and his family are, now living in the city. They moved in from Terrebonne last week, and are occupying the Benoit house, near the high school.

William Michel returned today after an absence of ten days. He spent the holidays at his old home in Rennsen, Iowa, and attended to some business matters in southern Minnesota.

Red Lake county farmers have an opportunity to purchase some thoroughbred stock. Some of the very best stock at the Crookston Experiment farm are offered at private sale. See display in today's Gazette. This stock is offered for sale because it lack of room in the barns at the farm.

Miss Lou Fletcher, who is there from Minneapolis for the holidays, went to Grand Forks Monday for a visit at the home of her brother, Dr. F. F. Fletcher. She returned yesterday, accompanied by the doctor and they were guests for New Years day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fletcher.

Edw. A. Hermanson, editor of the Plummer Pioneer, and Mrs. Hermanson and the baby came from Plummer Saturday and spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Zalzer.

Mrs. Peter Carl, who was a patient at St. Vincent hospital, Crookston, recovering from an operation for appendicitis, was able to return home last week. Her condition is much improved.

—Fine, red apples—any size you want—at $1.75 to $2.00. Rome Beauties, N. Dak., is the guest of Rev. David V. Richardson.

For Rent—My well improved half section near Red Lake Falls.—Mrs. H. A. Blakeman. Call at P. B. Gazette office. tf Adv.

Mrs. S. Hall and little son of Crookston, spent New Years at the home of Mrs. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Crompe.

Nels Berolt, grain buyer at Borwell for the Red Lake Falls Milling company, spent New Years day in Red Lake Falls.

Pier Laundry, the Terrehonne merchant, recently appointed postmaster, was attending to business matters in town Tuesday.

The subject of Rev. David V. Richardson's sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning will be "The Money Fool;" for the evening, "The Fool Virgins."

There was a big crowd at the dance given by the Red Lake Falls band Monday New Years eve, and the affair was very much enjoyed by those attending.

The state bank of Erskine was purchased by A. D. Stephens, of Crookston and F. F. Topples of Hudson, Wisconsin, together with local parties in Erskine.

Mrs. W. H. Krueger and children returned this week from their visit in the West. They spent several weeks with relatives at Missoula, Montana, and other points.

Alton Jackson, operator at the Soo depot at Bemidji, and Miss Jackson, who is employed at the Farmers National bank, spent Christmas with their parents in St. Hilaire.

Ernest Mayhew, foreman of the Thief River Falls Times office, is spending a part of the week with relatives in the city and vicinity.

H. H. Hunnemuth, who is employed at Crookston, has been spending the week at home.

Miss Marie Crompe, of Crookston spent Christmas at the home of her parents in this city.

Earl Wheeler, of Fargo, brother of E. F. Wheeler, was a guest at the Wheeler home New Years.

M. O. Sortedahl has been away this week on a business trip to the southern part of the state.

Lost, Two months ago, red and white heifer, year and a half old.—John Carriere, Gentilly.—Adv.

Joe Normandeau leaves tonight to go to Chicago, where he will take a course in a school of watchmaking.

Miss Lou Fletcher, who teaches in the public schools of Minneapolis, is spending the holiday season at home.

The Misses Schmidt of Grand Forks who formerly resided in Red Lake Falls, are visiting with friends in the city.

Who wants a ladies' sweater at One-third off? Last call! 25 per cent off on cut glass. A $10.00 dogskin coat for $15.00; a $28.00 China bear for $18.00. Lots of cold weather yet. LAHISSONERE. Adv.

Making an Experiment.

"Why, Mollie, aren't you afraid you'll catch cold?"

"That's what I am trying to do."

"What for?"

"I am growing just the teeniest bit sleepy."

"Well?"

"And I want to wear my swellest evening dress the last of the week."

"Yes."

"Well, cold contracts, you know, and I am hoping by means of a good cold to squeeze into the gown."

—Fine, red apples—any size you want—at $1.75 to $2.00. Rome Beauties.

Mrs. Emma Schuster and daughters, Misses Bernetta and Irene, are spending the week with relatives at Crookston.

Miss Florence Griswold of Dodge Center, sister of Mrs. C. R. Baker, is spending the week at the Baker home.

Rev. A. B. von Stoll, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Edinburg, N. Dak., is the guest of Rev. David V. Richardson.

For Rent—My well improved half section near Red Lake Falls.—Mrs. H. A. Blakeman. Call at P. B. Gazette office. tf Adv.

Mrs. S. Hall and little son of Crookston, spent New Years at the home of Mrs. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Crompe.

Nels Berolt, grain buyer at Borwell for the Red Lake Falls Milling company, spent New Years day in Red Lake Falls.

Pier Laundry, the Terrehonne merchant, recently appointed postmaster, was attending to business matters in town Tuesday.

The subject of Rev. David V. Richardson's sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning will be "The Money Fool;" for the evening, "The Fool Virgins."

There was a big crowd at the dance given by the Red Lake Falls band Monday New Years eve, and the affair was very much enjoyed by those attending.

The state bank of Erskine was purchased by A. D. Stephens, of Crookston and F. F. Topples of Hudson, Wisconsin, together with local parties in Erskine.

Mrs. W. H. Krueger and children returned this week from their visit in the West. They spent several weeks with relatives at Missoula, Montana, and other points.

Alton Jackson, operator at the Soo depot at Bemidji, and Miss Jackson, who is employed at the Farmers National bank, spent Christmas with their parents in St. Hilaire.

Ernest Mayhew, foreman of the Thief River Falls Times office, is spending a part of the week with relatives in the city and vicinity.

H. H. Hunnemuth, who is employed at Crookston, has been spending the week at home.

Miss Marie Crompe, of Crookston spent Christmas at the home of her parents in this city.

Earl Wheeler, of Fargo, brother of E. F. Wheeler, was a guest at the Wheeler home New Years.

M. O. Sortedahl has been away this week on a business trip to the southern part of the state.

Lost, Two months ago, red and white heifer, year and a half old.—John Carriere, Gentilly.—Adv.

Joe Normandeau leaves tonight to go to Chicago, where he will take a course in a school of watchmaking.

Miss Lou Fletcher, who teaches in the public schools of Minneapolis, is spending the holiday season at home.

The Misses Schmidt of Grand Forks who formerly resided in Red Lake Falls, are visiting with friends in the city.

Who wants a ladies' sweater at One-third off? Last call! 25 per cent off on cut glass. A $10.00 dogskin coat for $15.00; a $28.00 China bear for $18.00. Lots of cold weather yet. LAHISSONERE. Adv.

Our Treat All Week!

Luscious "Sunkist" Oranges at Special Prices, at Your Dealer's!

The best part of breakfast is a juicy, thin-skinned, seedless "Sunkist" orange. "Sunkist" oranges are the finest, juiciest, most delicious oranges grown in the world.

Buy them by the box or half-box—they are most economical and keep for weeks.

Carefully picked and packed by gloved hands.

The cleanest of fruits. Tree-ripened.

Use "Sunkist" lemons on meats, fish, poultry and salads. Thin-skinned. The juicest, finest lemons grown.

Rogers Silverware Premiums for "Sunkist" Trademarks

Cut the trademarks from "Sunkist" orange and lemon wrappers, and send them to us. We offer 1847 Rogers A-1 Guaranteed Standard silver plate. Exclusive design.

This Dessert Spoon Premium for "Sunkist" trademarks and lemon wrappers. Roll Dessert wrappers and lemon wrappers come same as "Sunkists."

Buy "Sunkist" Oranges and Lemons at Your Dealer's

Send your name and full address for new complete free premium circular and full cash plan.

Address all orders for premium silverware and all correspondence to

California Fruit Growers Exchange
239 N. Clark Street (38) Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Peter Carl, who was a patient at St. Vincent hospital, Crookston, recovering from an operation for appendicitis, was able to return home last week. Her condition is much improved.

—Fine, red apples—any size you want—at $1.75 to $2.00. Rome Beauties.

Mrs. Emma Schuster and daughters, Misses Bernetta and Irene, are spending the week with relatives at Crookston.

Miss Florence Griswold of Dodge Center, sister of Mrs. C. R. Baker, is spending the week at the Baker home.

Rev. A. B. von Stoll, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Edinburg, N. Dak., is the guest of Rev. David V. Richardson.

For Rent—My well improved half section near Red Lake Falls.—Mrs. H. A. Blakeman. Call at P. B. Gazette office. tf Adv.

Mrs. S. Hall and little son of Crookston, spent New Years at the home of Mrs. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Crompe.

Nels Berolt, grain buyer at Borwell for the Red Lake Falls Milling company, spent New Years day in Red Lake Falls.

Pier Laundry, the Terrehonne merchant, recently appointed postmaster, was attending to business matters in town Tuesday.

The subject of Rev. David V. Richardson's sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning will be "The Money Fool;" for the evening, "The Fool Virgins."

There was a big crowd at the dance given by the Red Lake Falls band Monday New Years eve, and the affair was very much enjoyed by those attending.

The state bank of Erskine was purchased by A. D. Stephens, of Crookston and F. F. Topples of Hudson, Wisconsin, together with local parties in Erskine.

Mrs. W. H. Krueger and children returned this week from their visit in the West. They spent several weeks with relatives at Missoula, Montana, and other points.

Alton Jackson, operator at the Soo depot at Bemidji, and Miss Jackson, who is employed at the Farmers National bank, spent Christmas with their parents in St. Hilaire.

Ernest Mayhew, foreman of the Thief River Falls Times office, is spending a part of the week with relatives in the city and vicinity.

H. H. Hunnemuth, who is employed at Crookston, has been spending the week at home.

Miss Marie Crompe, of Crookston spent Christmas at the home of her parents in this city.

Earl Wheeler, of Fargo, brother of E. F. Wheeler, was a guest at the Wheeler home New Years.

M. O. Sortedahl has been away this week on a business trip to the southern part of the state.

Lost, Two months ago, red and white heifer, year and a half old.—John Carriere, Gentilly.—Adv.

Joe Normandeau leaves tonight to go to Chicago, where he will take a course in a school of watchmaking.

Miss Lou Fletcher, who teaches in the public schools of Minneapolis, is spending the holiday season at home.

The Misses Schmidt of Grand Forks who formerly resided in Red Lake Falls, are visiting with friends in the city.

Who wants a ladies' sweater at One-third off? Last call! 25 per cent off on cut glass. A $10.00 dogskin coat for $15.00; a $28.00 China bear for $18.00. Lots of cold weather yet. LAHISSONERE. Adv.

The Presidential Wager

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.

The news of Gormus had never been greatly interested in candidates or elections. There were no political bosses on grafters, and the candidates selected to run for town offices were of the best, and it made little difference who was elected.

A change was at hand, however, but no one suspected it until it came down upon the town like a roaring lion.

Henry Jackson was one of the men who traveled the country over, taking orders for the articles turned out at the factories, and one morning, as he returned from a trip, he met Elder Scott in front of the postoffice:

"Howdy, elder?" says Mr. Jackson.

"A little rheumatic, thank you," replies the elder.

"Politics warming up here any?"

"Not that I have heard of."

"It's red hot outside."

"Well, let 'em go it. I've made my mind who I shall vote for for president, but I'm not going to do any yelling about it."

"Blank is your man, of course?"

"He is that. He'll sweep the country."

"He'll sweep nothing! You old dozers here had better wake up as to what is going on. Your man won't be knee high when the votes are counted."

Now, what followed the elder could never clearly explain. He had never done the like before, and he didn't mean to do it then. Something come over him all at a sudden, and he put most for the first time in seventeen years and raised his voice to say:

"Don't call me an old dozer! I don't care what they say outside. My man is sure of victory."

"So is Tom Jones!"

"Friends, you don't know it all!"

"And don't imagine you know anything at all about it. Why, man, your party leaders gave the thing up weeks ago."

By this time a score of men had assembled to hear the discussion, and the elder began to feel his mettle. He was the only man in Gormus who had ever predicted a blizzard and was right for once in nine, and he didn't want to lose the prestige. He drew a long breath out, to the horror of his friends, called off.

"My candidate will be elected, not if I'm mistaken!"

"How much?" asked Mr. Jackson as his hand went to his pocket.

"A dol—that is, I will bet 10 cents!"

"Elder mon, but that is not even a baby's bet!"

"Then, by gosh, I'll make it 25!"

"Slay Eh?"

"No. Fifteen cents is my limit."

As Mr. Jackson could not get the figures down, he accepted them, and the money was placed in the postmaster's hands. It was spoken of as the highest election bet ever made in that town, and knots of two and three assembled that 200 men had heard of it. Some complimented the elder on his nerve, and some shook their heads as it was directed that it would turn out a bad thing for him.

The enormity of his offense did not dawn on the elder until the next day, when his good wife heard of the wager and tackled him with:

"And you made an election bet with Mr. Jackson who sama as a loafer would?"

"It was only for 15 cents."

"Never a bet should be made by a voter lower, and then look at the principle of the thing! I can't believe it that I have married an Christian man to a gambler! What you going to say?"

"I'll say I've voted to bluff me down."

"Sposin' he did? It's the duty of an elder of the church to be bluffed."

"Dorn him, he tackled me when folks were around!"

"Sed Sobi" exclaimed the wife. "This is the last bet and the last time you swear. The next thing will be swapping horses!"

"You know I didn't mean to be wicked," pleaded the elder.

"But it was wicked to bet, and you go straight to the postmaster and get that money back and give it to me!"

"Oh, no, you don't!" replied the postmaster when the good man assailed him the other and unexpectedly started to draw his money down.

"But it was what they call a bluff."

"I don't care if that way. You must have Mr. Jackson's consent. Have you got cold feet so soon?"

The elder looked down at his feet and studied them around in a weak feel of them and said:

"My wife wants the money."

"But she won't get it."

"I don't know what our church will say."

"Sorry for you, elder, but in time of election we are all on equal terms. You may win out on this and stoop in Jack's cash."

To the astonishment of a large share of the voters of Gormus, the elder's candidate came to their employers by giving them an unfailing subject to talk about.

You never can tell by the size of an ear how truly it can hear, nor how much.

A man is just as good as a woman if you pick out the right kind of man.

There are people whom you can persuade that two and two make five if you can use the right kind of persuader.

Cloverdale sounds cruel and charming, but it is likely to be composed of two houses and a blacksmith shop.

Don't say foolish to the man with the aggressive jaw and the long upper lip unless you want it.

In addition to doing their work servile elements came to their employers by giving them an unfailing subject to talk about.

You never can tell by the size of an ear how truly it can hear, nor how much.

A man is just as good as a woman if you pick out the right kind of man.

There are people whom you can persuade that two and two make five if you can use the right kind of persuader.

Cloverdale sounds cruel and charming, but it is likely to be composed of two houses and a blacksmith shop.

Don't say foolish to the man with the aggressive jaw and the long upper lip unless you want it.

In addition to doing their work servile elements came to their employers by giving them an unfailing subject to talk about.

You never can tell by the size of an ear how truly it can hear, nor how much.

A man is just as good as a woman if you pick out the right kind of man.

There are people whom you can persuade that two and two make five if you can use the right kind of persuader.

Cloverdale sounds cruel and charming, but it is likely to be composed of two houses and a blacksmith shop.

Don't say foolish to the man with the aggressive jaw and the long upper lip unless you want it.

In addition to doing their work servile elements came to their employers by giving them an unfailing subject to talk about.

The Easy Way.

Would you attract the public view,
Make for yourself a lasting name?
Go forth and do a good deed new,
And you will win undying fame.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It takes a lifetime for a man to get rich and to die, and then the dictatory executors get the money.

Don't say foolish to the man with the aggressive jaw and the long upper lip unless you want it.

Even a slow and indolent woman, who finds it difficult to climb a hill, has no trouble in running up a bill.

Trying to get yourself elected to a position of honor and large profits is about as sure of success as going out and inviting the lightning to strike you.

A philosopher is a person that finds it pleasanter explaining why than demonstrating how.

Why He Went.

"I think I shall make a business trip to the city this week and stay several days."

"I thought you were not going until next week?"

"I find that it will be to my advantage to go this week."

"Necessary to close the deal up quickly, eh?"

"Oh, no, but my wife has decided to give a party this week, and I don't like leftovers."

Insinuating.

"Hello, Jenkins! Where are you going?"

"I'm off on my vacation."

"Huh! That's too bad! Come and see me when you get back, and we'll have a good time."

Experienced.

"Do you know how to cook?"

"Yessum."

"Have you had much experience?"

"Lordy, yes! I've had fourteen places in fifteen days. Yessum, I'm 'sperienced."

Defined.

"What is your idea of a successful wife?"

"One who keeps her husband's weak points well oiled and who always has on tap his favorite brand of flattery."

Sad.

"Are you betting on the election?"

"Not this time."

"Say, what's the matter with you? You used to be a sport!"

"My wife plays bridge."

Being Womanly.

"What is your idea of a womanly woman?"

"She is a diplomat."

"A diplomat?"

"Yes. For example, she always cooks Bob's favorite dinner the day Bob thinks he is going to ask for a new party dress."

Accommodating.

"Whose dog are you kicking?"

"Mine should I know?"

"That is my dog!"

"Sorry, I'm sure. Well, bring him around any time he needs kicking, and I will do the job for you if I am feeling current."

Crops For Silage.

Any crop grown for forage may be preserved in the silo. The crops most generally used, however, in this country are corn, clover, millet, alfalfa, cowpeas, soy beans and the various sorghums. But Indian corn is a great silage crop.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Handy Seed Dropper.

An old garden hoe about three and one-half feet long attached to a runner that fits snugly makes an excellent dropper for garden and field seeds. No shoving is necessary.—Farm and Fireside.

Around the Honey Makers.

If you have not already done so, by all means requeen all colonies with poorly queens, as this will in a large measure prevent swarming next season.

For comb honey a hive a little more shallow in the brood nest than the regular size is preferable, as it forces the honey up into sections just where it is wanted.

There are some 800,000 beekeepers in the United States. More than 500,000 are farmers who keep bees as a side line, obtaining honey for home use and a little to sell.

There is no better time than the latter part of September for making the colonies strong in bees and stores for their long winter's sleep, and in this respect "a stitch in time is worth nine." While there will be little brood reared the last of this month, yet the weaker colonies may be strengthened by giving them frames of sealed brood and bees from stronger ones, and this can be safely done.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

ONE reason an optimist is so cheerful is that he anticipates a lot and they keep him so busy in order to be happy that he doesn't have any time to grumble.

Thirty cents looks good to the man who hasn't had the price of a sandwich for three days.

NO. 262.

Notice of Expiration of Redemption.
Office of County Auditor, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, December 31, 1912.

To C. C. Jackson:

You are hereby notified that the following piece or parcel of land, situated in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, and known and described as follows, to-wit: Lot Seventeen of Block Fifty five, in Richardson's Addition to the City of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota—Lot 17, Block 55, is now assessed in your name.

That on the 2nd day of May, A. D., 1910, the said piece or parcel of land was sold to the real estate tax judgment ing given and made in and by the District Court in and for said County of Red Lake on the 21st day of March, A. D., 1905, in proceedings to enforce the payment of taxes delinquent upon said real estate for the year A. D. 1902, for said county of Red Lake, the above described piece or parcel of land was duly offered at public sale and no one bidding upon said offer an amount equal to the full amount of taxes delinquent upon said real estate for the year A. D. 1902, for said county of Red Lake, the above described piece or parcel of land was duly struck off and sold to one bidding the highest amount bid therefor, which was the sum of One Dollar and Twenty Four Cents, the same was duly bid in for the State of Minnesota, for said county.

And further, and on the 11th day of November, A. D., 1912, the said piece or parcel of land, not then having been redeemed from said sale, and having then become the absolute property of the State of Minnesota, was sold and conveyed at public sale by the County Auditor of said County, pursuant to the order and direction of the State Auditor of the State of Minnesota, and in accordance with the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided for the sale for Two Dollars and Eighty Nine Cents, duly paid to the County Treasurer of said County.

That the certificate of sale of said piece or parcel of land executed and delivered by said County Auditor upon said sale had above mentioned has been presented to me at my office by the holder thereof for the purpose of having notice of expiration of time for redemption from said tax sale of said property given and served.

That the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale, at the date of this notice, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon said notice is the sum of Two Dollars and Ninety Five Cents, and that interest as provided by law to the day such redemption is made.

That the time for the redemption of said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale will expire one year from the 11th day of November, A. D., 1912.

WITNESS my hand and seal of office this 27th day of December, A. D., 1912.

A. A. LATENSERSE,
Auditor Red Lake County.
(Seal) by, M'nesseata.

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Foreign Will.

State of Jean Baptiste Tray, deceased.
State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Jean Baptiste Tray, deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Cel ia Tray, and all persons interested in the estate of Jean Baptiste Tray, deceased, and to the petition of P. B. Gross, representative, for Probate of Will, and for Letters of Administration with Will annexed, to him issued:

Whereas, a petition of P. B. Gross, representative, for Probate of Will, and for Letters of Administration with Will annexed to him issued as such representative, has been filed in this court, and this court has appointed Monday, the 20th day of January, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the probate office in the court house in said county, in the village of Red Lake Falls, for the hearing thereof;

You are hereby cited to appear at said time and place and show cause why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, and you are hereby required to issue notice of the time and place of said hearing as provided by law.

Let the publication and the 11th day of November, A. D., 1912, the said piece or parcel of land, not then having been redeemed from said sale, and having then become the absolute property of the State of Minnesota, was sold and conveyed at public sale by the County Auditor of said County, pursuant to the order and direction of the State Auditor of the State of Minnesota, and in accordance with the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided, for the sale for Two Dollars and Eighty Nine Cents, duly paid to the County Treasurer of said County.

That the certificate of sale of said piece or parcel of land executed and delivered by said County Auditor upon said sale had above mentioned has been presented to me at my office by the holder thereof for the purpose of having notice of expiration of time for redemption from said tax sale of said property given and served.

That the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale, at the date of this notice, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon said notice is the sum of Two Dollars and Ninety Five Cents, and that interest as provided by law to the day such redemption is made.

That the time for the redemption of said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale will expire one year from the 11th day of November, A. D., 1912.

WITNESS my hand and seal of office this 27th day of December, A. D., 1912.

A. A. LATENSERSE,
Auditor Red Lake County, Minnesota.
(Seal) by, M'nesseata.

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Foreign Will.

State of John Wilcomb, deceased.
State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of John Wilcomb, deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Mary Wilcomb, John F. Wilcomb, Edwin Wilcomb, Armond Wilcomb, Jr., and all persons interested in the estate of John Wilcomb, deceased, and to the petition of Armond Wilcomb, executor:

Whereas, a petition of Armond Wilcomb, executor of the estate of John Wilcomb, deceased, has been filed in this court, and this court has appointed Monday, the 20th day of January, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the probate office in the court house in said county, in the village of Red Lake Falls, for the hearing thereof;

You are hereby cited to appear at said time and place and show cause why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, and you are hereby required to issue notice of the time and place of said hearing as provided by law.

Let the publication and the 11th day of November, A. D., 1912, the said piece or parcel of land, not then having been redeemed from said sale, and having then become the absolute property of the State of Minnesota, was sold and conveyed at public sale by the County Auditor of said County, pursuant to the order and direction of the State Auditor of the State of Minnesota, and in accordance with the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided, for the sale for Two Dollars and Eighty Nine Cents, duly paid to the County Treasurer of said County.

That the certificate of sale of said piece or parcel of land executed and delivered by said County Auditor upon said sale had above mentioned has been presented to me at my office by the holder thereof for the purpose of having notice of expiration of time for redemption from said tax sale of said property given and served.

That the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale, at the date of this notice, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon said notice is the sum of Two Dollars and Ninety Five Cents, and that interest as provided by law to the day such redemption is made.

That the time for the redemption of said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale will expire one year from the 11th day of November, A. D., 1912.

WITNESS my hand and seal of office this 27th day of December, A. D., 1912.

A. A. LATENSERSE,
Auditor Red Lake County, Minnesota.
(Seal) by, M'nesseata.

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Foreign Will.

State of John Wilcomb, deceased.
State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of John Wilcomb, deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Mary Wilcomb, John F. Wilcomb, Edwin Wilcomb, Armond Wilcomb, Jr., and all persons interested in the estate of John Wilcomb, deceased, and to the petition of Armond Wilcomb, executor:

Whereas, a petition of Armond Wilcomb, executor of the estate of John Wilcomb, deceased, has been filed in this court, and this court has appointed Monday, the 20th day of January, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the probate office in the court house in said county, in the village of Red Lake Falls, for the hearing thereof;

You are hereby cited to appear at said time and place and show cause why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, and you are hereby required to issue notice of the time and place of said hearing as provided by law.

Let the publication and the 11th day of November, A. D., 1912, the said piece or parcel of land, not then having been redeemed from said sale, and having then become the absolute property of the State of Minnesota, was sold and conveyed at public sale by the County Auditor of said County, pursuant to the order and direction of the State Auditor of the State of Minnesota, and in accordance with the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided, for the sale for Two Dollars and Eighty Nine Cents, duly paid to the County Treasurer of said County.

That the certificate of sale of said piece or parcel of land executed and delivered by said County Auditor upon said sale had above mentioned has been presented to me at my office by the holder thereof for the purpose of having notice of expiration of time for redemption from said tax sale of said property given and served.

That the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale, at the date of this notice, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon said notice is the sum of Two Dollars and Ninety Five Cents, and that interest as provided by law to the day such redemption is made.

That the time for the redemption of said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale will expire one year from the 11th day of November, A. D., 1912.

WITNESS my hand and seal of office this 27th day of December, A. D., 1912.

A. A. LATENSERSE,
Auditor Red Lake County, Minnesota.
(Seal) by, M'nesseata.

Forfeited Tax Sale—Notice of Expiration of Redemption.

Office of County Auditor, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota. } Notice of Expiration of Redemption.

To Ernest Dose:

You are hereby notified that the following described parcel of land, situated in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, and known and described as follows, to-wit: Lot Seventeen of Block Fifty five, in Richardson's Addition to the City of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota—Lot 17, Block 55, is now assessed in your name.

That on the 2nd day of May, A. D., 1910, the said piece or parcel of land was sold to the real estate tax judgment ing given and made in and by the District Court in and for said County of Red Lake on the 21st day of March, A. D., 1905, in proceedings to enforce the payment of taxes delinquent upon said real estate for the year A. D. 1902, for said county of Red Lake, the above described piece or parcel of land was duly offered at public sale and no one bidding upon said offer an amount equal to the full amount of taxes delinquent upon said real estate for the year A. D. 1902, for said county of Red Lake, the above described piece or parcel of land was duly struck off and sold to one bidding the highest amount bid therefor, which was the sum of One Dollar and Twenty Four Cents, the same was duly bid in for the State of Minnesota, for said county.

And further, and on the 11th day of November, A. D., 1912, the said piece or parcel of land, not then having been redeemed from said sale, and having then become the absolute property of the State of Minnesota, was sold and conveyed at public sale by the County Auditor of said County, pursuant to the order and direction of the State Auditor of the State of Minnesota, and in accordance with the provisions of the statute in such case made and provided, for the sale for Two Dollars and Eighty Nine Cents, duly paid to the County Treasurer of said County.

That the certificate of sale of said piece or parcel of land executed and delivered by said County Auditor upon said sale had above mentioned has been presented to me at my office by the holder thereof for the purpose of having notice of expiration of time for redemption from said tax sale of said property given and served.

That the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale, at the date of this notice, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon said notice is the sum of Two Dollars and Ninety Five Cents, and that interest as provided by law to the day such redemption is made.

That the time for the redemption of said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale will expire one year from the 11th day of November, A. D., 1912.

WITNESS my hand and seal of office this 27th day of December, A. D., 1912.

A. A. LATENSERSE,
Auditor Red Lake County, Minnesota.
(Seal) by, M'nesseata.

DR. G. B. FAIRCHILD
PHYSICIAN
Graduate University of Minnesota
Office over Lallissonere's store
Office hours:
9 a. m. to 10 p. m. 1 p. m. to 4 p. m

JOHN W. PETERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office over Robertus' store
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1913 — VOL. XXX—NO. 16

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE, ESTABLISHED 1883
RED LAKE COURIER, ESTABLISHED 1898

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

KNOCKED OUT BIG DITCH ASSESSMENTS

COUNTY ATTORNEY BOUGHTON DID A BIG JOB FOR FARMERS NEAR PLUMMER.

The final hearing on Judicial Ditch No. 1, to be constructed in Beltrami, Clearwater, Polk, and Red Lake counties, was held in district court in Crookston, on Tuesday, at which time County Attorney Charles E. Boughton secured a change of venue on the ditch, which meant a saving to the district $25,000 to farmers in eastern Red Lake county. Mr. Boughton represented the farmers of the townships of Gurnee and Equality in Red Lake county, and the township of Jessieo, in Polk county, whose lands had been assessed for benefits to result from the construction of the ditch.

The ditch, if constructed as originally planned, would empty into the Clearwater river near Plummer, and many farmers in the townships of Gurnee and Equality were assessed for benefits to their lands as certain by the viewers.

Mr. Boughton showed to the satisfaction of the court that much of the proposed ditch was unnecessary and would serve no good purpose. He consequently, before the order establishing the ditch was made, the plans of the ditch was changed so that it will empty into the Clearwater river about ten miles east of Plummer, at Ralph Greene's place. This change will relieve all of the farmers in Gurnee from liability for any amounts for benefits and most of those in Equality will escape assessment. The assessments in the township had been placed at $22,000, and it is the courts order were reduced to $600. In addition, commuted the amount of $1,660 were awarded to certain farmers whose lands will be damaged instead of benefited by the construction of the ditch. The town of Equality included a part fraction of the old town of Silver Lake, had been taxed with a total assessment of $2,000. By the order of court, this assessment was also cancelled.

Mr. Boughton also represented the people of the town of Johnson, in Polk county, and secured a reduction of the assessments by one-half. All in all it was a pretty big clean-up for the people of east.

The ditch is a part of one of the big drainage projects in northern Minnesota. It starts in Beltrami county, passes through Clearwater county, and as now established, will drain a small amount of territory in Red Lake and Polk counties. The ditch was established by order of the court Tuesday, so the matter of assessments is definitely closed.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Regular meeting of the City Council held at the office of the City Clerk December 18th, 1912.

Meeting called to order by the President.

All aldermen present.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

On motion carried, the following bills were allowed:

Otto Zaiser, gravel for City well . . . . . $ 6.90
F. S. Goodker, cement walks 30.35
F. S. Goodker, cement walks 12.75
F. S. Goodker, cement walks 61.60
Red River Power Co., street lighting and lamps for Nov. 1912. . . . . 77.58
Wilbert Lumber Co., lumber, brick and cement 184.87
Joseph Salley, Secy. F. D. service by fire dept. at fire of Nov. 30 . . . . . 80.00
Jos. Salley, drayage 7.80
Elton Domarais, street work 3.75
E. J. Commandeur, blacksmithing 27.00
F. G. Macomber, work on City well 24.15
Otto Zaiser, work on City well 2.40
Geo. Faul, salary as member of street com. 25.00
C. F. Hennings, salary as member of Street com. 25.00
Frank G. Hunt, salary as member of Street com. 25.00
N. M. Watson, salary and fees as Health Officer, 1912 . . . 75.00

Aldermen Paul, Hennings, Hunt, and Clerk Perrault, were appointed by the Chair as a committee to audit the accounts of the City Treasurer for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1912.

On motion carried the Council instructed the city clerk to advertise for bids in Red Lake Falls Gazette for the printing of legal notices and Council proceedings for the year of 1913.

Aldermen Hennings offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Aledrman Forbes:

Be it Resolved, That the money now in the City Treasury belonging to the Water Works Fund, be placed at interest for a term of six months, and the City Treasurer is hereby directed to deposit the said funds, in equal amounts, in each of the three banks in the City at the highest rate of interest obtainable.

Five aldermen voted aye; no aldermen voted nay; whereupon the Chair declared the resolution duly adopted.

On motion, meeting adjourned.

GEORGE F. HENNINGS,
Vice-President

Approved this 26th day of December 1912.
J. LEMIEUX, Myor.
Attest—JOSEPH PERRAULT,
City Clerk.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	$ .72
Durum	.74
Rye	.46
Oats	.22
Flax	1.03
Barley	.35
Potatoes—new	.36
Butter—creamery	.40
Butterfat	.30
Eggs—fresh	.25
Eggs—packed	.22

Notice!

The annual meeting of the Clearwater Farmers Telephone Co., will be held in Plummer, January 14th, at 2 o'clock p. m. Be sure to attend.—P. S. MERCHILL, Secy.

THE JUVENILE BAND

New Musical Organization of Twenty Young Fellows Now Rehearsing.

Red Lake Falls has a juvenile band. Twenty of the young fellows have carefully lagged, con, and are rehearsing under the direction of Chas Brunelle. The new band will develop excellent material, from which to recruit members for the regular band. The new band has a membership of twenty and more are expected to join. On Friday evening the boys will give a concert for the benefit of the new band, and you can help the good work along by buying a ticket.

The members of the new band are yeric to be played by each are as follows, below:

Cornets—Moses Latendresse, Henry Hemmesiuh, Louis Philion.

Clarinets—Adolph Schuft, Robert Allo—Joe Lacourciere, Elmer Chapelon.

Alto—Felix Cress, Armond Moreau, Frank Helm.

Trombone—Fred Brunelle, Ed Kettenheim, Henry Paquin.

Baritone—George Eck, Herbert Hemmesiuh, Louis Philion.

Bass—Louis Cyr, Maurice Brunilen.

Drums—Geo. Crampe, Erling Kindseth.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ORGANIZE

FIRST MEETING OF THE NEW YEAR HELD AT THE COURT HOUSE TUESDAY.

The board of county commissioners held their first meeting for the new year Tuesday, Jan. 7, 1913. At that time C. O. Kaskel and Wm. C. Lee, commissioners elect of the two county officials were accepted. New officers who now have offices in the court house are Auditor Geo. Dupont and Supt. Albany DeForge.

The board was organized by the election of Commissioner xHunt as chairman and Commissioner Schultz as vice chairman. After the transaction of considerable routine business, the board adjourned to meet Jan. 14, at which time any unfinished business will be disposed of.

MINNESOTA SHORT COURSE.

Men and Women May Take Special Courses at the University.

The short course at the University, which will open January 20 to continue for one month, at University Farm, will be attended by both men and women this year as heretofore.

Numerous courses will be given by the regular University faculty.

The program provides for special lectures by Prof. Cyril G. Hopkins, Urbana, Ill., on "Conservation of Soil Fertility." Prof. M. L. Bowman, on "Corn"; Prof. Hugh Van Pelt, of Ames, Iowa, on "Dairy Types"; and Prof. M. L. King, on "The Silo." Attention will be given the breeding and care of horses. The Minnesota Horse Breeders' Association will meet with the Farmers' Short Course for a week, during which a special lecturer on horses will be present. Courses in Domestic Art, Domestic Science, Poultry, Bee Keeping, Fruit growing and Vegetable Gardening are provided for the women.

Get a program of J. M. Drew, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.

FARMING MAY BE REVOLUTIONIZED

NEW DISCOVERY AS RESULT OF HILL EXPERIMENTS CONDUCTED BY PROF. CRANE.

In his address delivered at the Red Lake county fair, last September J. J. Hill made the statement that his soil expert, Prof. Crane, who had charge of the experimental work with the demonstration plots established at various points in the northwest, would undertake some special experiments in soil analysis in Mr. Hill's greenhouses in St. Paul and that this work has just been announced.

Phosphorus has been found to be the great essential of plant food lacking to the soil of the northwest. Hill has found a way to harvease soil fertility.

"I believe," Hill said, "that we have found what to do, and we are going to do it. We can by application of these methods, increase the production of Minnesota grain to twice the quantity given in figures given by the department of agriculture for 1912, and this is true also of North Dakota."

The method of dirt was brought into St. Paul in November. Only F. H. Crane, the agricultural expert of the Great Northern road employ, who collected the soil from 387 Minnesota and North Dakota farms, and a few others concerned with the work knew what was going on.

Small experimental plots were then prepared from the soil taken from these carefully tagged, one plot containing the natural soil and the adjoining plot soil treated, that had been enhanced to the soil exact and its requirements determined and provided.

Mr. Hill gave out the results of the work on the Great Northern experimental farms last summer as compared with the government average, and they were as follows:

Wheat—Average yield per acre in Minnesota: Government figures for 1912, 16.5; Great Northern experimental farms, 30.6.

Wheat—Average yield in North Dakota: Government figures for 1912, 13.2; Great Northern experimental farms, 21.74.

Barley—Average yield per acre in Minnesota: Government figures for 1912, 28.3; Great Northern experimental farms, 44.6.

Barley—Average yield per acre in North Dakota: Government figures for 1912, 29.4; Great Northern experimental farms, 50.01.

Oats—Average yield per acre in Minnesota: Government figures for 1912, 41.7; Great Northern experimental farms, 70.09.

Oats—Average yield per acre in North Dakota: Government figure for 1912, 41.7; Great Northern experimental farms, 78.64.

Mr. Crane explained the method of conducting the experiments in Hill's greenhouses.

Each of the 387 soil samples was arranged in six divisions as follows:

First—Natural untreated soil.

Second—soil treated with nitrogen.

Third—Soil treated with phosphorus.

Fourth—Soil treated with nitrogen and phosphorus.

"We have established the fact," Prof. Crane says, "that phosphorus is the great essential plant food that we have not got int he northwest soil.

"It is simply a method for combinations of eclectic research with soil fertility, determined in such a way, that the average farmer may receive the benefits of the discovery or it, and we have also worked out an application of the idea so that the farmer does not have to have a scientific education to understand it and put it into operation."

FIFTY-ONE LICENSES

Not a Bumper Grop of Blushing Bridegroom in the Leap Year Class.

Just Closed.

During the year just closed, Clerk of Court C. W. Johnson issued fifty-one marriage licenses, somewhat of average number. The unusual showing of his records is that the month of June, when Dan Cupid usually makes his big killing, was not the big month of the year. An equal number of licenses were issued in February and a larger number in November.

Licenses were issued to the following named people:

January.

Albert Boutain—Dora Lana.

H. H. Hurley—Ella A. Krueger.

Charles Foré—Bertha Dougherty.

February.

Aime Mercil—Delia Cote.

Victor Reopelle—Amanda Deroeier.

Joseph Canavaut—Clara Audette.

Theo. Majorse—Adella Gervais.

Fred Measner—Annie M. Bergh.

[Continued on last page.]

GAZETTE OFFICIAL PAPER.

So Designated by the County Commissioners in Session Tuesday.

The county commissioners, in session Tuesday for the first meeting of the new year, accepted the bid of the Red Lake Falls Gazette to do the county printing for the year 1913. The Gazette offered to print the delinquent tax list at 25 cents per description, and the financial statement, commissioners' proceedings and all other printing at 60 cents per folio for the first insertion, and 25 cents per folio for subsequent insertions. The bid also provided for the circulation of the official printing in the Plummer Pioneer in supplement form.

The printing contract will give the papers for return for the labor and publicity service and is fair to the county, and was acknowledged by the members of the board. The work is to be done on a discount of about thirty per cent from the legal rate.

For the convenience of patrons, we have decided to establish a system of warnings in cases it is necessary to temporarily cut off the current, if the shut-down is to be for a brief time, two slow winks of the lights will be given, if the shut-down is to be long enough to make it necessary to provide lights, three slow winks will be given. Count the winks. RED RIVER POWER COMPANY. —Adv.

NEW MILL RUNNING

Product of the New Steinert Mill in Red Lake Falls is on the Market.

The new Steinert mill is now running full time, and the flour, the product, "Gold Seal Flour," is now on the market. The new mill is modern in construction, is well equipped, and its product is no doubt first class.

The finely equipped feed mill is operated in connection with the flour mill, so the company is in a position to do all kinds of grinding and to do business with the farmers on an exchange basis as well as manufacturing flour for the general market.

PROPOSES TWO NEW LAND BILLS

BIENNIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE UNDER WAY—CLASH IS EXPECTED.

By mistake the make-up man put the last page of the St. [illegible] story ahead of page four first and then what is printed below, and you will get it straight.

(Continued from Page Four.)

yer of Minneapolis and they will join any insurgent movement that may attempt.

* * *

J. T. Sexton of Minneapolis, president of the state banking bureau, is a candidate for P. M. Riagdel's job on the state board of control and some of the lotter's friends are now unkind enough to hint that Mr. Schulz's activity in the matter of the Hastings asylum was for the purpose of discrediting Mr. Riagdel and making his removal easy. The examination, which brought to light alleged cruelties in the asylum, was anything but a credit to the board and though the board of control members claimed the charges could easily be disproved the board's report, which was made by the board in full, was anything but pleasing with the report of the board of visitors.

* * *

St. Paul has a spirited newspaper fight last week when one of the local dailies sued a German publication contested for the publishing of the state treasurer's report. The job, which is worth about $2,000, went to the German publication and the English daily, which has pulled down the place of pie biscuitly for many years, is now said to be very much grieved. The story is that the plum was promised before election. The publication of the state treasurer's report in a rival and influential daze and should be abolished. No one reads it.

* * *

For a week now the lobby of the Merchants hotel in St. Paul has been filled with optimists for places on the legislative payroll, but the number continues to grow. How many of them can come from distant points and pay their railroad and hotel fare for a visionary job at $5 per is beyond the average man, but they do it and there is no let up on the number. In the case of the house it is said that the usual list of employes will be cut down to fifty-two, which is a reduction of twenty-one from the last house. If the combine rules in the senate the old list will be filled intact.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

DEAF MUTE LOST IN SNOW STORM

DRIVING FROM RED LAKE FALLS TO GROVE PARK, HE LOST HIS WAY.

Rexford Duby, a deaf mute who spent New Years day with friends in Red Lake Falls, had a very distressing experience while attempting to drive from Red Lake Falls to his home in Grove Park New Years night. He got lost on the prairie and suffered greatly from the cold.

Young Duby was the guest of Leonard Zaiser in Red Lake Falls New Years day, the boys having attended school in Fairbault together. After a pleasant day spent in town the young man started to drive to his home. He left a little after nine in the evening. About midnight it turned colder, the wind started to blow and the air was filled with snow and the driver lost his way. He was out in the storm until after four o'clock in the morning, when he found his way to the home of Paul Schoenseer in Lake Pleasant township, his horses being then almost exhausted and the young man almost overcome. He was taken in and made as comfortable as possible and the horses taken care of. The young man was not prepared for such a trying experience and his feet and legs were quite badly frozen. During the ordeal was a painful and trying one the young man will probably suffer no permanent ill effects. Later he had been made as comfortable as possible he was taken to his home.

READY FOR CHOLERA.

Some Sections Have and all Should be Prepared.

Hog cholera has recently been rather serious in southern Minnesota, says Dr. M. H. Reynolds of the University Farm, St. Paul. All farmers who are liable to lose from cholera should write to University Farm, St. Paul, for a copy of Experiment Station Bulletin No. 132, and Press Bulletin No. 49.

The Experiment Station will probably be able to furnish serum to all applicants, but not able to furnish a veterinarian from its force. They men are kept very busy manufacturing serum, teaching classes in the College of Agriculture, and in the School. They are too busy to attend work, which the local veterinarian can do for you. If you fear that cholera may come your way, make advance arrangements for a serum and the services of a competent veterinarian. Dr. S. H. Ward, Secretary of the Live Stock Sanitary Board, St. Paul, Minn., will furnish a field veterinarian when circumstances seem to justify such action.

If you suspect that your hogs have cholera, cut down feed to the lowest amount that will keep them reasonably strong. Give them a very thin slop. This low diet will help to cut down your losses even though you do not use serum.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Protect your hogs by keeping away stock buyers, stray dogs, threshing machine crews, and any who have recently been in public stock yards. If your neighbor's hogs are sick, be neighborly but keep him out of your hog lot.

Mr. Garceau Very Ill.

Theo. Garceau is critically ill at his home in this city. For many hours he has been lying in an unconscious state, from which condition it is believed he will not revive. No hope of his recovery is entertained.

INDIANS WILL ORGANIZE

General Council of Chippewas Will be Held in Cass Lake in February.

The following news report of an important meeting of Indians, to be held next month was sent out from Cass Lake:

At a general council of the Chippewa Indians at the Pow Pow Lodge reservation recently, resolutions were adopted making that council a working body for the purpose of promoting the welfare of the Chippewa Indians. A general convention, or a corporate body, will be formed.

It is suggested that members of each reservation call a council immediately and name delegates to attend the convention.

The corporate body will be represented by commissioners from each of the several reservations in Minnesota, who will be chosen for a term of years. The work in contemplation is the settlement and closing up of all old matters now in dispute by the Chippewas, and to aid the Indians in the proper conduct of the Rice treaty.

They also wish to suggest to the Indian officers that the rules of rules and regulations not in harmony with the best interests of the Chippewas, and urge the enactment by Congress of new laws which shall carry into effect the principles of Misses Laura and Mary Cote attended the Vandrin-Amiott wedding at Gentilly, Tuesday.

FARMERS ELEVATOR MAY BE BUILT

MEETING OF INTERESTED PEOPLE WILL BE HELD AT THE COURT HOUSE.

It is quite probable that a farmers' elevator will be constructed in Red Lake Falls during the coming season. There has been of late considerable discussion of the proposition for the organization of a farmers' elevator company and the plan is taking definite form.

A public meeting to discuss the proposition will be held at the court house Saturday afternoon, Feb. 1, at which time it is quite probable that definite action will be taken and a plan of campaign outlined. A few well known farmers in the country tributary to Red Lake Falls are now back of the movement and it is probable that others will become interested.

RIVERSIDE ANNUAL.

Officers For Club Will Be Elected Tuesday Evening.

The annual meeting of the Riverside Club will be held at the club rooms next Tuesday evening, and all members are urged to attend at this meeting. Officers and directors to serve for the ensuing year will be elected and other important business will be transacted.

Get Less Than Nothing.

The final legal business of the municipal court for the city of Crow was terminated last Tuesday afternoon in Judge Farmer's court room when the case of Calloway vs. Rolland Bros., was brought before a jury for disposition.

The litigaton arose over the sale of a hog carcass which the plaintiff alleged had been sold to Rolland Brothers for which payment had not been made. The defense contended that the carcass, when received, was unfit for food and put in a counter claim for $10.00 to pay for the expense incurred in disposing of the body of the unfortunate swine.

After proper deliberation the jury awarded a judgement of $1 and costs in favor of the defendant.—Lake River News-Press.

A small purse was found at the high school and was probably left there by some one attending literary program. Owner can get property by identification and paying for this advertisement.

THE NEW MILL
—is now—
Running Full Blast

OUR FANCY BRAND
...GOLD SEAL FLOUR...
—is now—
ON THE MARKET

FARMERS ATTENTION
We are prepared to do all kinds of grist work—gring your feed, exchange flour for your wheat, and will deal with you to your satisfaction.

Our new mill is equipped with the most modern machinery for producing the, highest grade of flour. Try a sack—and you will always use it. Ask your grocer or call up the mill.

SteinertMillingCo.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

C. R. G. BAKER, Publisher.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

The American people consume 120,000 gallons of ice cream a year.

It is his own fault if the lover of pumpkin pie is not happy now.

It must make a man feel mighty small these days to hide behind a woman's skirts.

A Boston minister says that a couple can marry on $15 a week. Still we advise them not to.

Needless to say that the women who threw her shoes at the judge's head did not hit him.

Chafing dishes have been found in the ruins of Pompeii. Evidently life in Rome wasn't all joy.

A western woman has lost two husbands by lightning. Evidently neither of them was a conductor.

Coach Haughton gets $10,000 a year for teaching Harvard how to play football. He earns the money.

Girls are superior to boys as practical farmers, says the department of agriculture. Back to the land!

A California girl refused to marry a man because he wore a mustache. Escaped matrimony by a hair, as it were.

A customs expert has decided that a hen is not a bird. At the present price of eggs a hen is a gold mine.

Gum chewing has been barred in court by a New York magistrate. There is sufficient rag chewing without it.

Supreme court of Illinois is trying to decide whether poker is loker or a pastime. With lots of experts, it's a clinch.

A Boston matron advises girls to dance in order to keep young. Turkey trot, or grizzly bear, or just the chicken flip?

When refused permission to make speeches, New York suffragettes talk by signs. But, then, nobody believes in signs.

Edison says that in a few years women everywhere will be cooking by wire. Suppose the wires get crossed.

A deputy marshal chased 70 miles after three men who sold whisky to Indians. He must have been bad an awful thirst.

Announces a dispatch that two physicians received $2,000 from "the estate of a patient for saving his life." Odd, isn't it?

Pins were first manufactured by machinery in 1824. But the inventor of hairpins has been dumped too deep into identity hidden to the present.

Parisian dandies refuse to leave their beds and stand to the rain to wheedle a cent. From what we have read of Parisian duels we don't blame them.

A snow plow smashed a street car in Buffalo recently. Too bad snow plows are not rife in summer when the auto speed hog is at the height of his glory.

A San Francisco actress was jailed because she sent photographs of herself in the altogether through the mails. She should have chatured to be a Science dancer.

Four armed and masked men who robbed a postoffice messenger in Paris, France, left behind a cap on which was pinned a small American flag. Some of our patriotic highwaymen are sojourning abroad.

Germany has already produced synthetic milk and synthetic rubber, and the synthetic cow cannot be far away. Then artificial beefsteak shall subsist to an era of good feeling and artificial teeth.

A New York modiste thinks she has discovered a law enabling her to copy right styles. Since such a law would restrict the circulation of certain styles it is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

Objection to the expoulsment of a women as playground director in Buffalo is made on the ground that she could not maintain discipline. Why not take a vote of the married men on that question?

The skin of a skye terrier has been grafted on the arm of a New York woman. Now let the mice beware.

A soldier who deserted two months ago to be married has surrendered and asked to be returned to his post. Evidently he prefers the chance of facing powder in the field to the certainty of facing it in the boudoir.

Leading educators met in Philadelphia the other day and agreed that examinations are of little use. Pupils are certainly justified in wondering of what use education is when a lot of educators have to hold a solemn conference to discover such an obvious truth.

The guest of a Paris host stabbed the gentleman who was entertaining him when, after a sumptuous repast, he refused to allow his visitor to smoke his pipe. Why didn't he attempt to borrow his tooth brush?

Germany talks of creating a fleet of 20 Zeppelin airships, each capable of carrying and discharging one ton of explosives, traveling 51 miles an hour, and remaining aloft for four days and nights without an intermediate landing. It is bound to give England another bad case of the twitters.

BIG EVENTS IN 1912

NOTABLE HISTORICAL HAPPENINGS DURING THE TWELVE-MONTH JUST PASSED.

BALKAN WAR GREATEST

Loss of Tripolis and Deaths of Aviators—Mexican Anarchy Overthrown—Victory of Democrats.

New York, Dec. 31.—Much notable history was written in the year of 1912. Events of vast importance and of world-wide interest followed each other in the quick march of the past twelve months.

The most significant of these, doubtless, was the war of the Balkan states against the Turkish empire, which put a period to the sultan's ancient supremacy in southeastern Europe.

The sudden rise of the minor states which comprised the Balkan allies is one of the marvels of the age. No less miraculous was the swift and decisive way in which they swept the Turks across the plains of Thrace and forced them back almost to the banks of the Dardanelles.

Greatest Marine Tragedy.

The most grievous occurrence of the year, especially to America, was the sinking of the Titanic on April 15. The loss of this greatest of all ocean liners, with over 1,500 people was the greatest marine tragedy of all time. It was not only the multitude of victims that made the catastrophe so overwhelmingly sad, but the character and importance of many of those who sank—the appalling list figure being 1,519.

In the middle of the night while the ship was flashing with myriads of brilliant lights and the great vessel was ringing with music and laughter, the Titanic ran head on into a gigantic iceberg while going at the rate of over 20 miles an hour.

Death in Air.

Death seemed to reign in the air as well as on the water, during the year 1912. The number of airmen who lost their lives was unprecedented. No one American woman is numbered among the victims—Miss Quimby, who fell into the ocean from the height of a thousand feet. The year claimed 30 aviators, bringing the total of all to 215.

The year marked some improvement in the lighter-than-air line, but on the whole the science of flying did not progress to any material degree.

Remarkable Political Events.

In the political realm the year 1912 witnessed many remarkable things. Perhaps the most significant was the overthrow of the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty in China and the installation of the Chinese republic, with Dr. Sun, a Harvard graduate, as president.

In America, of course, the most important political event was the overwhelming defeat of the Republican party, and the return of the Democratic party to power after sixteen years, with Woodrow Wilson as the new president.

An interesting feature of the political movements in this country was the birth of the Progressive party, with former President Theodore Roosevelt as its standard bearer.

The year 1912 also witnessed the discovery of the south pole by Capt. Roald Amundsen, the Danish explorer.

In the field of science great progress was made, especially in surgical experiments. The Nobel prize for the most notable achievement of the year in the medical field was awarded to Dr. Alexis Carrel, of the Rockefeller Institute. Although Dr. Carrel is a Frenchman by birth, he has labored in America for years.

Deaths and Crimes.

The year 1912 has witnessed the passing of many prominent men. Among the well known Americans who died during the year were Rear Admiral Joseph D. Evans and Ambassador Whitelaw Reid.

The most sensational individual crime of the year, at least in America, was the assassination of Herman Rosenthal, the New York gambler, by four gunmen acting as agents of Police Lieutenant Charles A. Becker.

Another event which stirred the heart of the nation was the attempt to assassinate Theodore Roosevelt at Milwaukee by John Shrank, a New York crank, who is now in an insane asylum.

Supreme Court Decisions.

Several important opinions were handed down by the United States Supreme court, the chief of these being the opinion touching the Union Pacific merger. The decision in that court resulted in the dissolving of the railroad combination which had been effected by the late E. H. Harriman.

Iroquois Fire Nine Years Ago.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Memorial service were held here for the 612 victims of the Iroquois theater fire, which occurred Dec. 30, 1903.

Senators-elect Nearly Decide on Death.

Garden City, Kan., Dec. 28.—Playing Santa Claus for a child in a hotel lobby drew almost resulted fatally for William H. Thompson, United States senator-elect. The senator is suffering from severe burns on his hands and singed hair and eyebrows. While bestowing presents Senator Thompson's clothing caught fire from candles on the tree. The flames shot up from the cotton trimmings on his coat instantime. The senator, however, quickly threw himself to the floor and wrapped himself in a rug.

World Mortgage Scui.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Miss Meuta La Page, postess, waited expectantly today behind the counter of the La Page delicatessen store for some one to come forward and become the mortgagee of her soul for a paltry $1,000. Miss Le Page, discussing the offer she has made—a mortgage for sale for $1,000 in order that she may publish a book of poems she has written—talked airily of her ambitions, her desires for fame and her longing to "see life." Hands Le Page is 24 and not unattractive.

WILLIAM CORCORAN EUSTIS

Mr. Eustis has been appointed chairman of the inaugural committee by Chairman McCombs of the Democratic national committee. He is a Washington banker, son of a former United States senator and son-in-law of former Vice-President Levi P. Morton.

WILSON GETS HOME AFTER TRIP

PRESIDENT- ELECT WAS DEEPLY TOUCHED BY RECEPTION.

Confers With Number of Democratic Leaders Aboard His Train.

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 31.—With a miniature ship of state in one hand and a basket of flowers from Dixie in the other, President-elect Wilson came home after an all day ride from Staunton, his birth place. As a parting gift the people of his native town gave him a ship of flowers and mint cheering bade him God speed.

The president-elect said he felt deeply touched by the hospitality displayed, not only toward him, but extended to the states back for the reunion. The governor bed so far regained his normal strength that he talked politics most of the day with people who rode with him on different stretches of the line. At Washington, where the governor's special car occupied an hour, Jerry J. Sullivan, one of the leaders of the Democracy in Iowa, was received by Mr. Wilson in his state room. Mr. Wilson had invited Mr. Sullivan to join him at Washington.

Mr. Wilson was asked if he had mentioned cabinet appointments to his Iowa visitors, and answered he had not. The inquiry was occasioned by the fact that Judge Martin Wade, national committeeman from Iowa, has been the abolishment of Mr. Sullivan as secretary of the interior, the name of Mr. Sullivan having been informally suggested to the president-elect, for political purposes by friends of his own.

When asked to elaborate on his remarks of Saturday night about party, Democratic independence, the president-elect said he did not wish to go into the question in detail at this time as he was not yet ready to make known his plans.

Governor Wilson indicated in his speeches at Staunton that he would submit to caucus not only those in the party who did not see the point of view, but the business men as well, that legislation "should be squared with the simple morals of individual action."

Wilson In Washington 40 Minutes.

Washington.—Governor Wilson motored from Staunton to Washington and back in 40 minutes.

Governor Wilson indicated in his speeches at Staunton that he would submit to caucus not only those in the party who did not see the point of view, but the business men as well, that legislation "should be squared with the simple morals of individual action."

Wilson In Washington 40 Minutes.

Washington.—Governor Wilson motored from Staunton to Washington and back in 40 minutes.

CONSPIRACY IS FOILED.

Is Called the Greatest Espionage Of Years—Many Arrests Made.

Berlin, Dec. 31.—Many arrests have occurred at Breslau, capital of Silesia, of men and women charged with being concerned in a widespread conspiracy. Correspondence has been seized, revealing a plot to destroy all the bridges over Breslau in the event of German mobilization.

London.—A Berlin dispatch in the Exchange Telegraph Co., reports the discovery of the greatest espionage conspiracy known for years. Thirty men and women, including Germans and a Dutch crank, who is now in an insane asylum.

Supreme Court Decisions.

Several important opinions were handed down by the United States Supreme court, the chief of these being the opinion touching the Union Pacific merger. The decision in that court resulted in the dissolving of the railroad combination which had been effected by the late E. H. Harriman.

Iroquois Fire Nine Years Ago.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Memorial service were held here for the 612 victims of the Iroquois theater fire, which occurred Dec. 30, 1903.

Senators-elect Nearly Decide on Death.

Garden City, Kan., Dec. 28.—Playing Santa Claus for a child in a hotel lobby drew almost resulted fatally for William H. Thompson, United States senator-elect. The senator is suffering from severe burns on his hands and singed hair and eyebrows. While bestowing presents Senator Thompson's clothing caught fire from candles on the tree. The flames shot up from the cotton trimmings on his coat instantime. The senator, however, quickly threw himself to the floor and wrapped himself in a rug.

World Mortgage Scui.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Miss Meuta La Page, postess, waited expectantly today behind the counter of the La Page delicatessen store for some one to come forward and become the mortgagee of her soul for a paltry $1,000. Miss Le Page, discussing the offer she has made—a mortgage for sale for $1,000 in order that she may publish a book of poems she has written—talked airily of her ambitions, her desires for fame and her longing to "see life." Hands Le Page is 24 and not unattractive.

150000 ORDERED OUT

4,000 SHOPS WILL BE CLOSED IF GARMENT WORKERS OBEY.

LABORERS CHEER MOVE.

Crowds Gather in Streets and Applaud Decision—Manufacturers to Fight Against Plans.

New York, Dec. 31.—One hundred and fifty thousand men, women and children, employed in the men's clothing industries in the city have been ordered to strike by the local executive committee of the United Men's Garment Workers of America. Four thousand shops are affected if the order is obeyed.

Crowds in Streets.

Crowds of workers thronged the street outside the building where the meeting was held, and cheers when the strike decision was read to them. Hundreds of persons were prevented by the police from pushing through the East Side to show their approval of the strike.

The national executive committees later gave its indorsement to the strike and voted to place T. A. Rickert of Chicago, chairman, at its head. No announcement was made whether the presence of the national committee was an indication that the strike would be extended to other cities.

5,000 Shops Affected.

Fifty national organizers were appointed as aides to National Chairman Rickert, and 5,000 pickets were scattered about the city to intercept workers and compel the strike order.

A committee under Abraham Cohan, editor of the Forward, a Jewish daily newspaper, will work in the national chairman.

Demands not Presented.

The demands of the workers have not been presented to manufacturers or employers, representatives of the latter said. Henry Wasman, treasurer of the manufacturers' association, put it as follows:

"The manufacturers give no notice in advance when they are going to cut prices, and we are following the same tactics."

The subcontract system, which is the cause of most of the strife in clothing tenements and also child labor, figures in the demands. The abolition of both is asked.

Other demands are a 20 per cent wage increase, with a minimum wage scale of $18 a week for women and $26 for men, overtime work to be paid for at "time-and-a-half" rate, and holiday overtime at double rates, and clean and sanitary workshops.

The Strike Leaders.

Strike leaders discussing the demand for better wages, said that men have been receiving as low as $8 a week and women less.

Manufacturers declare their readiness to meet the emergency. They say that they would have new employees in their shops by the agents of the strikers. Eugene Benjamin, president of the New York clothing trade association, said he did not think more than 50 per cent of the garment workers would walk out.

$100,000 LOOTED.

The Police Believe That the Capture of Seven Suspects Has Ended Burglaries.

New York, Dec. 31.—An epidemic of safe-blowing in the vicinity of Fifth and Bronx borough, apparently the work of an organized band of criminals, who are believed to have made off with something like $100,000 in loot from offices, factories, work in the hall of police believe, by the arrest of five men and two women.

This safe blowers worked with such cleverness that many business men slept in the city rather than risk their property. A chance pickup by a police squad in a downtown automobile who gave his name as Harry Gilar, and upon whom were found burglars' keys, safe drills and other paraphernalia used by crackmen, led to a raid on an apartment and the other arrests.

Mrs. Reid and son Arrive.

New York, Dec. 31.—Mrs. Whitelaw Reid and her son, Ogden Mills Reid, have arrived from England on the steamer Cedric. Their arrival was timed to precede by several days that of Miss Dorothy Reid, which is coming on the first port with the body of the late American ambassador to Great Britain, who died in London Dec. 15.

17-Ounce Baby at Aurora, Ill.

Aurora, Ill., Dec. 31.—The smallest baby girl was born in the city hospital. The child is perfectly formed and apparently is strong. Mrs. Eva Roots of Aurora is the mother. Her son Ralph is to slipped on one of the child's legs.

Save Pennies, Says John D.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Dec. 28.—"Save your pennies," was the advice given by John D. Rockefeller to a number of school teachers to whom he gave a sleighride about his estate. The teachers were driven by Mr. Rockefeller with what they saw that one of them said, as she alighted from the sleigh: "Just think, Mr. Rockefeller, you have such large parks, with three horses to live in, while we must content ourselves with a small yard with a flat." To which the old magnate's laconic response was: "Save your pennies."

Revision Warning Issued.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Treasure for the worst.. Revision downward soon will be accomplished fact." Truth is unbarred, is a letter, copies of which have been sent to manufacturers and others desiring protection, by Senator Penrose, chairman, and members of the senate finance committee. It is the conviction of Penrose and his friends that the Underwood bills of the sixty-second congress, with the exception of the free sugar bill, will be passed as they passed the present house.

FRANK HITCHCOCK.

Mr. Hitchcock predicts that it is only a question of time until the government will take over the business of the express companies. The postal's next. Is but the beginning of a vast, new federal institution, he believes.

ALL READY FOR PARCEL POST

HITCHCOCK CALLS IT STEP TOWARD EXPRESS BUSINESS.

Postmaster General Comments on Benefits of Plan to Country.

Washington, Dec. 31.—At midnight Tuesday, Washington time, the new parcel post system, authorized by congress, will be put in operation in the United States. Everything is practically ready to start the machinery that will carry into effect this vast addition to the postal business of the country. Many difficulties are said to be overcome, but the postal authorities are satisfied that these will disappear with experience.

In discussing the introduction of the parcel post system, Postmaster General Hitchcock said he regarded it a stepping-stone to the acquisition by the government of the entire express-carrying business of the country.

"From the study I have given to the subject of parcel post rates in the limited time permitted," said Mr. Hitchcock, "I am satisfied that they are now higher than we shall be able to make them after the service has been established and has passed the experimental period.

"My view is that ultimately the government should take over the entire business of express companies. I think also that it should be done gradually. I have expressed repeatedly a fair price for their business and equipment. Under their entire plants should be transferred to government control. In a measure it is fortunate that the government is to begin its work on an express carrier with a limited service, for in that way we shall be able to establish the foundation with tremendous task that the government would be called on to perform. The main thing will be the entire business of the express companies."

"The establishment of the parcels post is bound to result in a downward revision of express rates by the private companies. It is easy to see how this will be accomplished. They have a federal and state taxes to pay, and necessarily must be conducted at a profit, while a specific department like the parcels post can be used and will be required to earn money for the payment of dividends. It will be operated at cost.

"The fact that the express companies have not reduced their rates in view of course that there will be a reduction in the near future.

"Another thing that the parcels post will do will be to reduce the cost of living in this country. It will give a better and cheaper means of distribution to those whose prices are high on many articles because of the high charges for carrying them.

Traced to Wild West Tales.

Fort Smith, Ark., Dec. 31.—As a fit of insanity resulting, it is claimed, from the reading of "wild west" stories, Mrs. Dan Redfern, 26 years old, acted so as to crush the two heads of her two children, Clem, aged 2 years, and Leonard, aged 4 months, killing them instantly. She then killed mother then cut her own throat with a razor.

12,000 Chicago Peer Dead.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Twelve thousand poor were laid to rest in the potter's field plot of the Volunteers of America.

New Dances at Inaugural Ball.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Society will "Bunny hug," the "turkey trot," the "Texas Tommy" and the "tango" probably will be opposed at the inaugural ball on March 4, society leaders declare in dance chats during the evening. An order will be issued prohibiting couples from dancing the indecent dances named, but the order will not be enforced. The masts will be of the "popular brand." It will be planned by the United States Marine band under the direction of Lieutenant Santelmann.

Train Hits Buggy—Four Dead.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller and their son and daughter of Savoy, near here, were instantly killed when the Illinois Central Panama limited, southbound, struck a buggy in which they were returning from a Christmas celebration.

Fire Fatal To Two.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 28.—Two unidentified men were burned to death and five others severely injured, one fatally, in a fire which destroyed a North Main street lodging house.

33 SENT TO PRISON

SENTENCES OF E.PRISONERS SUSPENDED — TWEITMDE AND CLANCY GET SIX YEARS.

RYAN'S SENTENCE HEAVY

Seven Years at Leavenworth, Kas., for President of Iron Workers —Judge's Declaration.

Indianapolis, Dec. 31.— Sentences varying from seven years' imprisonment in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas., to one year and one day and suspended sentences were imposed upon the thirty-eight labor union officials convicted in the dynamite conspiracy cases.

Judge Reads Statement.

Judge Anderson, after the sentences, read from the bench a statement in which he said: "The evidence shows some of the defendants to be guilty of murder, but as they are not charged here with that crime this court cannot punish them for it."

Frank M. Ryan, president of the Iron Workers' International union, was given a sentence of seven years.

Olef A. Tveitmoe, of San Francisco, convicted on charges of aiding in plotting the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building, and Eugene A. Clancy, also of San Francisco, were given six years each. Herbert S. Hockin received six years.

Taken to Prison.

All the prisoners who received prison terms were taken to Leavenworth, Kan., at once.

A remarkable scene in the struggle of the wives of the prisoners to reach their husbands attended the sentences. It was ordered that all the spectators should be cleared from the room after the prisoners be allowed to talk with the members of their families.

Some of the men made pleas for mercy others wept in the arms of their wives. The court, however, pronounced the sentences one by one, remorselessly but plain.

Six men were given their liberty through suspended sentences. These included Edward Clark, of Cincinnati, the dynamiter who confessed to blowing up a bridge with the help of Hockin. He had appeared as a witness for the government against McNamara, another confessed dynamiter, was not sentenced at this time.

Jo- several cases sentences of one year and one day were imposed so that these men might be confined in a federal prison. Prisoners with terms of less than one year are kept in county jails.

Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson had many of the prisoners whom he said he considered less guilty then the chief conspirators, read his own statements. For an hour and a half the judge in a conversational way talking with prisoners, asking them what they believed in dynamiting as a method of promoting a strike. All of the men professed innocence.

"I hope God will strike me dead if—" pleaded one prisoner, but he was interrupted by the court.

Arrangements for taking the prisoners to Leavenworth on a special train already have been made.

The entire proceedings in court, as to which there has been months' preparatio comspiracy trial, required only two hours.

Before Judge Anderson passed sentence he said he desired to read a statement. He then reviewed the history of the dynamite conspiracy as well as the evidence introduced.

Suffragettes Await Sulzer.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 31.—The failure of suffragettes to get their bill to a Albany yesterday caused deep disappointment in the ranks of the suffragetta army, the members of which had walked from New York to deliver their petitions to governor-elect Sulzer. However, suppotsis will be on the watch for him tomorrow, and, if possibly upon his arrival, will seak a two-minute audience for "Gentleman" Rosalie Gardiner Jones, who will present the communication. All day "army" pickets watched the railway station.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

Twin City Markets.

Minneapolis, Dec. 31.—Wheat, Dec., closed, $1.00; May, $1.01@1.01¼; July, $1.01@1.01¼. Corn, No. 3 yellow, 66@66½c; No. 4 yellow, 64@65c; No. 3 white, 66@66½c; No. 4 white, 64@65c; No. 3 yellow, mailing, 66c; No. 4 yellow, mailing, 64@65c.

Oats, No. 3 white, 37@37½c; No. 4 white, 36c. Flaxseed, $1.07@1.08. Barley, 46@56c. Rye, 74@75c.

Bran, $20.50@21.00. Flour, in cotton sacks, first patents, $5.20@5.40; second patents, $5.10@5.30; first clears, $4.30@4.50; second clears, $3.80@4.00.

Duluth Grain Market.

Duluth, Dec. 31.—Wheat, No. 1 hard, $1.04½; No. 1 northern, $1.03½; No. 2 northern, $1.01½@1.02½; May, $1.01½; July, $1.01½. Oats, 36½c. Rye, 74@75c. Flax, $1.07@1.08. Linseed, $1.07@1.08.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Cattle—Receipts, 22,000; beeves, $6.50@9.50; steers, stock steers, $5.75@8.50; cows and heifers, $3.25@8.50; calves, $6.50@10.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 40,000; market, strong to 10c over Saturday; light, $6.60@7.15; mixed, $6.60@7.20; heavy, $6.60@7.20; rough, $6.60@6.75; pigs, $5.40@7.25; bulk of sales, $6.60@7.10.

Sheep—Receipts, 15,000; market, strong; native, $3.25@4.40; western, $3.25@4.40; yearlings, $4.60@5.20; lambs, native, $4.75@6.90; western, $4.75@6.90.

Auto Knee, Latest Ailment.

Boston, Dec. 31.—Boston physicians have found a new fashionable ailment. It is the automobile knee, and through their official paper, the Medical and Surgical Journal, they are advertising warnings against it. Further, they are preparing for other matters of grave moment. They are letting the public know that the grippe is coming, and the outlook is not cheering. They see the future American man as one of double chins, clean shaven faces, bow-legs, crooked backs and impaired digestions.

Widow of Composer Dies.

Elkhorn, Wis., Dec. 31.—Mrs. J. P. Whitney, aged 81, widow of the late J. P. Webster, is dead at her home here. She came to Elkho in 1858. Her husband was the composer of "The Sweet Bya and Bye."

Train Smashed to Kindling.

Hillsboro, Wash., Dec. 31.—Crushing 12 freight cars into kindling, two snow slides, near here, buried in 16 feet of snow, held a train on the Milwaukee road and injured only one person, so far as is known.

GREENFIELD'S 40 MILE VIEW

New Tower Is Erected in Connecticut by Town and Local Board of Trade.

Greenfield, Conn.—The Globe presents herewith a picture of the new tower just completed on Poet's Seat, Greenfield. It is built of local sandstone and commands a beautiful view up and down the Connecticut Valley of the Shelburne Hills on the west and other ranges of hills to the east.

On a clear day a view of 40 miles can be obtained. The cost of the tower is something more than $2,000. Of this the town appropriated $4,500, several hundred dollers was secured by the Board of Trade of Greenfield.

The plans were drawn by Jerome Allen, a native of Greenfield but now a New York architect, and were given to the town by Mr. Allen without financial compensation. The builder was Peter Barber.

New Poet's Seat Tower at Greenfield.

The tower is 41 feet and 3 inches high from grade to the top platform, with a stone parapet four feet high and concrete steps leading to the roof. The walls are 18 inches thick, with a light better about half the height of the tower, thus increasing the thickness of the walls at the bottom.

There are three reinforced concrete platforms. The steps from the ground to the first platform are made of reinforced concrete with landings at each turn. The upper flight to the top, or observation platform, is of iron and commences close to a corner, to give the maximum platform on the second and third platforms.

All stairs are about three feet wide. All railings are four feet high. Those in the triple arches on the second platform are of stone, while those in the upper openings are of iron. The stair railings are also of iron.

TAKES NAP IN WRONG HOUSE

Bewildered Intruder is Arrested After Alarming Occupants of Building in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—It was six o'clock in the morning, when Police Operator Abel received a phone call from a woman living in the flat building at the northeast corner of Fifth and Plum streets avenues. She was very much excited and declared that a burglar was in the house.

One minute after Lieutenant Conyer and Kemp, Fifth district station house keeper to the place, and three minutes thereafter the cause of the trouble was in the hands of the police.

The alarm resulted when Sam Bennett, fifty-four years old, says his home is at the Kings Mills hotel Kings Mills, Ohio, wandered into the place some time in the night. There is a heating stove in the hall and he took a nap. The place looked just like his own home.

When he woke up he was bewildered and in order to get his bearings he rapped on the various doors he encountered. When the occupants of the flat heard the rapping at the door and saw the invader they were frightened. The men went to call for the police.

Sam says he slept in a blank as to his involuntary visit.

WOLVES EAT FOUR PERSONS

Packs of Famished Animals, Driven From Mountains by Snow, Terrorize Inhabitants.

Lisbon, Portugal.—Famished wolves devoured four persons in the neighborhood of a village in the Province of Beira.

Large packs of the starving animals have come down from the gorges of the Sierra da Estrzilla, whence they have been driven by the deep snows, and they are terrorizing the low country. They attack lonely farms at night, and persons travelling alone along the roads are in constant danger.

A great hunt was organized by the country inhabitants in the province of Beira. More than 200 men participated, and they succeeded in killing eight wolves and wounding 100 wolves. Eight of the hunters were badly bitten.

Fireman Killed in an Explosion.

New York.—William Hammil, a fireman was buried fifty feet and injured when a section of the new subway explosion wrecked a forty thousand gallon oil tank at the Kings County Gas Plant in Greenpoint. Three other men were injured. The victims were under the tank when the explosion occurred.

Taft's Tub Causes Excitement.

Newport News, Va.—The large ocean liner transferred from the yacht Mayflower to the battleship Arkansas and which excited the curious was Taft's special size bath tub, which he used on his trip in the battleship to Colon, Panama.

Newport Bars Gambling.

Newport, R. I.—The lid has been riveted down on all forms of gambling here by Mayor William McLeod and there are bowls of protest emanating from fashionable clubs as well as "low brow joints."

Mistresses of the White House

WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON

© U. & I.

NOT only has Woodrow Wilson been elected president of the United States, but, what is fully as important in the estimation of multitudes of Americans, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, and Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Jessie Wilson and Miss Eleanor Wilson will move into the White House next March.

The place of the ladies of the White House has been kept before the country almost as prominently through all three years as has that of the president himself. Eternally questions of precedence and etiquette have come forward. The public has wanted to know all about the daily life and the domestic doings of the presidential family, the housekeeping woes of the mistress of the mansion and her behavior at the official receptions, the tastes and habits of all the feminine members of the family, and withal there have been at times little tales of boudoir plots and parlor intrigues. Although the history of the United States has very little of the back stairs kind of gossip that has played a large part in the histories of the nations of Europe.

Abigail Adams, First Mistress.

The wife of the first president did not live in the White House, of course. Abigail Adams of Quincy, Mass., was the first mistress of the mansion, although in her time it was a mansion in the making, and the finishing seemed to her very far away indeed. It was she who used the "great, unfinished audience room" as a place in which to dry the family wash.

Dolly Madison was almost as much mistress of the mansion in February time as in that of his successor, her husband, and it was she who saved the one piece of the original furnishings which is this day in the president's official residence. When the British burned the house in 1814 the redoubtable Dolly engaged to carry away the portrait of Washington which hangs now over the mantel in the Red room.

It has taken a long time for the mansion to approach completion, and no sooner was it finished than it was destroyed by the ruthless hands of the English soldiery.

The building which succeeded the first residence was a faithful reproduction in forms and dimensions of the plans drawn by the original architect, Maj. Hoban. The very foundations and part of the outside walls are relics of the building which went in fire in 1814.

Mansion Is Now Complete.

Then in 1902 there was begun the White House improvements which have resulted in the mansion of today becoming almost precisely what the president's house was intended to be by those who made the original plans for it. It was necessary to relieve the residence of the necessity of being headquarters for the business of the executive. An office annex was built and then the disfiguring additions to the mansion could be taken away.

The original plans were studied for the restoration of the residence itself, and the buildings of the University of Virginia, planned by Jefferson, were investigated. A dining room was provided which is large enough to entertain 100 guests at one time, for the comfortable housing of such a family as that of Woodrow Wilson was secured. And finally, in 1912 the office building has been enlarged and reconstructed, so that the new president will have such fine accommodations as many of his predecessors longed for in vain.

The story of the successive White House families has much of picture and variety. Perhaps the most intimate is that of the bachelor president who was a bachelor, he had been disappointed in love as a young man. Jefferson, Jackson, Van Buren and Arthur were widowers when they received some of the duties of the mansion. Tyler was married in the mansion. Tyler lost his wife while in office, and married again, but the ceremony took place in New York. Benjamin Harrison's wife died while he was in the presidential chair. Mrs. McKinley was an invalid, as was the first Mrs. Tyler.

Andrew Jackson had a battle that cost him more wear, probably than did the battle of New Orleans, a battle over the social recognition of a certain lady while he was living in the presidential home. The Pierces lost a son by a sad accident, and the calamity threw a shadow over most of their four years in the residence. And each of the two last presidents has had a daughter in the White House as the first young lady of the land, and now the new president has not only one, but three.

Detecting Invisible Finger-Prints.

Officers of the San Francisco bureau of identification have, it is said, perfected a process by which they detect invisible finger-prints. The discovery consists of a chemical solution that is kept secret. In a recent murder case, a former member of the accused girl was suspected. He disappeared mysteriously after the crime, but the detective found a time table in the room where the victim had lived. The new solution was sprayed on the pages of the booklet. Gradually green finger marks began to well out and disproved to be bloodstained finger-prints. This was three days after the murder. A streak made by a finger soon disappeared. At the end of it was a clearly defined finger-print. It pointed straight to a small village in Ohio, where the murderer journeyed and arrested their man.

/

Device to Frighten Baboons.

A novel method of trying to get rid of the baboon nuisance in the Grahamstone district, Cape Colony, was recently put into operation by a farmer. This man conceived the idea of getting rid of the nuisance by capturing a full-grown male baboon, dressing him in all the colors of the rainbow, putting a sheep-bell round his neck, and turning him loose to join the troop to which he belongs. The farmer believes that by so doing there will be an arduous seen in his neighborhood for a good many years.

A Proud Miss.

"Miss Prinkle, I understand, is going to pay to a finishing school in Europe."

"Thank you for the information. When I passed her on the street yesterday I took a loss in account for the unusual elevation of her chin."

SEES HE TAKES HIS MEDICINE

No Chance for Man to Escape When a Woman Is Responsible for Administering the Dose.

Ed Howe, the famous Kansas funny man and story-teller, has an article in the American Magazine in which he says:

"When a woman has charge of a sick man she feels as important as the marshal of the day at a county Fourth of July celebration, and however amiable she may be at other times, she is very bossy when she has medicine to give a man, or notions to put on him. If he wants a drink of water she suppresses the opinion that he is drinking too much, and remembers that her Aunt Harriet's husband once drank a great deal when he was sick, and had convulsions. If the sick man becomes impatient, and says the medicine is doing no good, she reminds him curtly that time is necessary; she has even been known to dip into the classics and say that Rome was not built in a day. The air of wisdom with which she examines the doctor books convinces the sick man that, however intelligent his medical adviser may have been after his recovery he will be informed that he would have been sick much longer had she not used her homemade notions. Whatever she does at night, the doctor will agree to the morning that it was good.

"The sleepiest woman in the world will stay up all night cheerfully if she can get a chance to doctor somebody. And if a man has enough to take at an unusual hour he will eat it, if there is a woman around."

Was It Cause and Effect?

The Young Doctor—Congratulations. Got another patient today. It's old man Stocks.

The Friend—That's great. They tell me the aged imbecile is a multimillionaire. How did they happen to call you in?

The Young Doctor (modestly)—I suppose they had heard of me. It's a good thing, you know, for a young doctor to have a special line of practice. Probably you remember that I had the old man Bonds. He only lived a month after I took his case.

Paris an Street Costume

(Photo. by Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.)

The plaid coat and skirt costume, with a shirt of blue satin, slashed at the side so as to show plaited underskirt and give freedom in walking. The buttons and loops running down the side of the skirt are of a darker shade of blue. The set is of dark blue taffeta with two smoot little tabs. The jabot and wrist frills are of muslin and the hat of white beaver. The effect is altogether odd.

FLOWERS FOR THE CORSAGE

Just How the Somber Tones Are Most Favored by Those Who Lead the Season's Fashions.

If you'd be quita in the mode this winter you'll have an assortment of the new big velvet flowers that, unlike the real live ones, can be stuck red fresh when they seem to wilt.

The vogue for somber tones makes a carefully chosen corsage bouquet a touch of particular importance. To be in good taste, the blossom must always be in season.

Just now it's correct to wear a couple of lovely velvet chrysanthemums, or a bouquet of mountain ash berries. Roman violets will form the corsage bouquet, scented so naturally that one who isn't very chary will take them for the really-truly kind.

The idea of matching the flowers used to catch the wide satin sash ribbons

Red Lake Falls Gazette

BY C. B. C. BAKER

Printed Every Thursday at Red Lake Falls Minnesota.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.50 Per Year in Advance

THE DAIRY INDUSTRY IN MINNESOTA.

Some interesting dairy figures have recently been gathered by H. J. Maxfield, commissioner of immigration, which show a remarkable growth of Minnesota's creamery industry, during the past twelve years.

"I confess that I am surprised," said Mr. Maxfield, "and I believe that many of our people will be when they learn that Minnesota creameries have more than doubled in the past twelve years. In 1899, Minnesota had 532 creameries, and in 1911 she had 1114. In 1899 our creameries manufactured 44,007,332 pounds of butter, against 96,384,789 pounds in 1911. Here is the most interesting and important fact of all. In 1899, $15,959,914.86 was paid out to the farmers for butter fat, against $23,381,375.26 in 1911, or a gain of $15,421,460.71—more than three times as much in 1911 as was paid out in 1899. This of course is not due entirely to increased population, but largely to advance in prices.

"The advance in price can best be observed by comparing the average price paid per pound for butter fat in 1899, which was 17.5, against 24.3 in 1911, an advance of about ten cents per pound. In 1899, the creameries of this state had 88,389 patrons, against 90,704 in 1911. 331, 532 cows were supplying Minnesota creameries in 1899, against 714,218 in 1911. These two latter cases show a substantial increase and both have more than doubled. The following table shows some figures from Minnesota creameries for the past twelve years:

Number of creameries in state in 1900, 532; in 1906, 814.

Pounds of butter made—1899, 44,007,332; in 1911, 96,384,789.

Amount paid patrons for butter fat in 1899, $15,959,914.55; in 1911, $23,381,375.18.

Average price per pound for butter fat in 1899, 17.5; in 1900, 22.13.

Number of creamery patrons in 1899, 88,389; in 1900, 90,704.

Number of cows supplying creameries in 1899, 331,532; in 1900, 714,218.

"The above figures were taken from the Dairy and Food Commissioners' reports. The 1911 report shows that Minnesota cows produced on average of 135 pounds of butter each. The amount received by each patron averaged $265.75. When we consider the fact that Minnesota has many thousands of acres of undeveloped land, all of which are particularly adapted to dairying, her future as a dairy state looks exceedingly bright, and I predict that in the next twelve years we will again see this remarkable industry doubled.

"The foregoing figures do not take into account the value of cheese produced in Minnesota, nor the value of the by-products of the dairy industry. It is safe to say, that on all of the dairy products of the state are worth annually to the farmer $40,000,000.00, outside of the indirect value to agriculture by the keeping of stock on the farm.

"Dairying is profitably carried on in older states, where land sells for much more than Minnesota land. If dairying is profitable on $200 land, it is necessarily much more profitable on Minnesota land that costs only from $25 to $125 per acre."

Governor Burke of North Dakota has been mentioned for a cabinet position—and there are a few others.

The mail order houses may profit by the establishment of the parcels post, but they won't if the country merchant knows his business.

The mail clerks are complaining because of the large amount of work resulting from the establishment of the parcels post service. No doubt they are being handed a few packages.

"Every Democratic statesman tries to take like Jefferson." Every Republican statesman tries to look like Lincoln," says the Minneapolis Journal. That may account for the defeat of Mr. Taft—the strain may have been too much.

It has been officially announced that the money of the United States is not exhausted and that Democratic friends would give each one $34.72. Most anybody can account for his 72 cents and make quite a noise jingling it, but who's got the thirty-four dollars?

Fortunately the base ball season closed at Cooperstown on New Years day or the management would be forced to issue rain checks.

That the successful advertiser must play a persistent, systemotic game has been clearly demonstrated again. Hundreds of packages intended for transmission by parcels post were hung up the first day of the service because they were not properly stamped, and this is quite in the fact that practically every package per in the land had published articles explaining the new service. The confidence implied in the rules had not been "driven home" with sufficient force of publicity.

The recent organization of the dairymen of the state to fight for their cooperative furtherance more evidence that there is more profit for everybody and greater economy for the consumer in the establishment of thriving local enterprises. The farmers not only progress to protect the local creameries but also to insure the consumers of fair value for their money if the fight against market control by the centralizers is successful. It was ever so. The purpose of any organization to control the supply of any commodity is ex nertiant profits. There can be no progressive. Many thriving, though set monopolistic, enterprise are languishing as well as purely trading, scattered over the land are of great public service. Where a number of businesses conflict in a competitive field assuring the producer value for his product and the consumer value for his money. The successful country man advertising enterprise, the successful country creamery, protects everybody against the unfair methods of the few who seek to profit by means of monopoly. The man who fails for the allurements offered by centralizers is playing into the hands of those who expect to eventually profit by unfair means.

PROPOSES TWO NEW LAND BILLS

ONE BILL FOR RELIEF OF PURCHASERS OF LAND IN ELEVEN TOWNS.

Congressman Steenerson last week introduced a bill "For the Relief of Purchasers of Land under the act of February 20th, 1904," commonly known as "The Eleven Towns," east of Tabet River Falls. The bill reads as follows:

"That any person who has heretofore purchased, or who may hereafter purchase land under the provisions of the act approved February twentieth, nineteen hundred and four (Thirty-six Statutes at Large, page forty-six), shall not be held thereby to have exhausted his homestead right."

Mr. Steenerson has made the following statement regarding the bill:

"The Act of February 20th, 1904, under which the so-called 'Eleven Towns' were opened, provided that the land should be sold to the highest bidder, subject to the homestead law, and further that persons who had exhausted their homestead right might become purchasers. This brought persons who hadn't exhausted their homestead into competition with those who had, and brought the prices in some cases pretty high. In order to equalize matter and give to those who had not exhausted their right another opportunity to take a homestead the bill has been prepared.

"I have received a large number of letters from the settlers on the Blevins townsite. They be effected by this bill, if it becomes a law, and they are strongly pressing their claims, and I believe they are right about it."

Mr. Steenerson introduced another bill providing for "Governing Homestead Entries in the State of Minnesota," about which he makes the following comment:

"The new Three-per Homestead Law, which was supposed to be more favourbiote the intending settler, and thereby prevent the continued episodes into Canada, has not proven entirely satisfactory, so far as northern Minnesota is concerned. The new law, although it reduces the period of residence from five to three years, requires the cultivation of at least one-eighth, or 20 acres out of 160, at the time of final proof. This requirement may be reasonable enough where the land is open prairie, but where it is of brush and timber land, as is most of the land subject to homestead entry in northern Minnesota, it is a very severe requirement; too much so for a poor man to be able to fulfill it.

"There are nearly two million acres of land subject to homestead entry in Minnesota, and nearly all of it is covered with brush and timber, and some of it needs drainage before it can be worked, which also requires a considerable outlay for every acre.

"Part of the land subject to homestead entry is ceded Indian land upon which a payment of $1.25 an acre is required, and some of this is outside Chippewa pine land, where the clearing of the stumps is necessary before the land can be cultivated. To require 20 acres to be cleared and cultivated in six years seems to me to expect from a poor man, and he would be better off under the old law. The object of the proposed bill is shown by the fact that the new gave the existing homesteaders the option to choose under which law they would complete their entries, and the Land Office at Washington advises me that nearly all have exercised their option to complete their entries under the old law.

"If my bill becomes a law, every intending homesteader will have the choice when he makes his entry under which law, the old or the new, he will proceed. Very likely, in the case of the prairie land, they will prefer the new law, but in all other cases, I think, they will prefer the old law, and as the old law is considered the most severe, I do not see that congress has cause to complain if entries under it if they prefer to do so."

PROMISES TO BE LIVELY SESSION

(Continued from page one)

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, Jan. 7.—With the estates and homes once again settled on the blennial grind, reactionaries and progressives engaged in a fierce struggle for the mastery of the state, and a line of legislation in sight that will undoubtedly out the full eight days, the thirty-eighth session of the Minnesota legislature promises to pass into history as the most strenuous in years. At high noon today both houses in convened Pathe Senate chamber was rapped to order for the third time and the usual routine carried out in swearing in the members and seating them. In a way the opening was without note, but what it lacked in the spectacular was fully made up in the surcharged atmosphere, a tightening of sword belts and a positive feeling that the session would be one that would see a clash. This clash was to be attempted deliberately between both Lieutenant Governor J. A. Burnquist in the senate and Speaker Henry Rines in the house. For the past week a conflict in the senate headed by Senator Hudson and by L. A. Lydland in the house, operating under the guise of the best in things progressive, have been herding a majority of the disgruntled and others who ought to know better under a scheme for a committee on committees. The Democrats were taken in under promises of spoils and good committeeships, but a combine of this sort could pravail seemed almost impossible, yet I have to chronicle the fact that when the senate and the house of legislature arrived the best posted were positive that the Lieutenant governor had been stripped. In the house, which is a far readily the larger body, Rines was regarded as still in the saddle, but this fact had caused not any up or on the part of those utter ile scalp. It was all this which faced the convening of legislature last Tuesday and kept a score or more of interested spectators guessing about the side lines on the qui vive.

+ + +

Possibly nothing in years has enlivened the opening of a session of the Minnesota legislature as has the tempted attack ph the official prerogatives of the two presiding officers and even if it fails it practically means ninety days of turmoil and strife. If it prevails it means inactivity for the for Burnquist and Rines. The world has little use for a man who is a successe knows been made as to what is behind the entire movement. Some say it is the purpose of defeating Burnquist and Rines out of business that they may have a free field next year for governor and the other for state auditor—and that this would leave the two of the most and extreme progressive in the purpose, and still others that the ultimate aim of the conspirators is not to the lilling of those who would overthrow the two presiding officers. The latter, I am inclined to think, is nearer the facts. To cause the loss of the Democrats to climb aboard under the promise of good committeeships and half of the job would indicate such. It is the only way in which they could be effected by the election. Then, too, there is the knowledge that several of the most important committees would give those opposed to such legislation as the infective and refreshing tonic of opposition, tha recall and other late day legislation a chance to bumper if not throttle such.

+ + +

Friday preceding the opening of the session the Democratic members of the senate, headed by S. B. Wilson of Mankato and Henry Wels of Le Sueur, announced at the St. Paul end of the proposition of joining the combine, but they refused to divulge what condition had been reached at the close. It was said that three of the Democrats had refused to have anything to do with the schamb. F. B. Lynch, national Democratic committeeman, had been accused of urging the Democrats to accept the offer of the Republican leaders, but he denies any activity. It ton to be said though that Mr. Lynch shows considerable interest in the whole thing and there are those who insist that he is the lad who is whipping the unwashed into line.

+ + +

The state capitol this week was a scene of gaiety when Governor Eberhart was endorsed an inaugural reception. The St. Paul chamber of commerce was behind the affair and, together with the governor's staff, which was present in full regalia, I understand paid the bill. Members of both branches of the legislature were guests and the affair was attended by friends of the governor from all over the state. Inaugural receptions, though suggested frequently, have been shied at by gubernatorial incumbents since Governor Merriam's time. The one held when he was governor came pretty near putting the entire Republican administration ticket period out of business and did bova considerable to do in putting Governor Merriam on the shelf when he came up for renomination. The banquet given in connection called for every condemnation from the press of the state and was even attacked in the public. However there will not be a banquet this time, just a reception.

+ + +

Clerks and legislative employes of Governor Hayne Ayres will be a missing feature of the two houses this time. Both bodies, it is said, are planning the passage of a resolution forbidding any employe from having a personal secretary or in anyway aiding letter syndicates. This is for the purpose of curtailing the activities of several reportorial bureaus which are now preparing to sell a weekly review of so much per and for the same time draw o $5 per diem from the state. The head of one of these bureaus, I am told, openly threatened Speaker Rines because he would not come to his old. He was told to go ahead and do his worst, but to be careful.

+ + +

As a result of reports filed with Governor Eberhart by Public Examiner Fritz I would not be surprised if the state highway commission and that for the marshall offices were given a searching examination by the legislature and that a number of the present Mr. Fritts thinks is too liberal use of the taxpayers' money in the payment of expenses. So bad are the financial efforts of the fire gubshoi's department that it will be compelled to go out of business for a period, or else be given an appropriation. The mission expenses have been granted engineers without limit. The salaries of the engineers $75,000 a year over $7,000 was paid for railroad fares, and the amount for hotels and rents and nearly $7,500 for livery hire. The fire marshal's office is known by $10,000 to the bad and does not know what it will do.

+ + +

The rebuke administered by Public Examiner Fritz in the case of both the departments was mild, but he inferred considerable and it had to be said that his inferences were not to the credit of the management of either department. The trouble with both is that they are overburdened with employes, and high salaried ones at that; that anything in the way of expenses as incurred by employes goes, and that no attempt is made to reduce either when financial ruin stared those in charge in the face. What do you think of $7 a day for a hotel, and just a room at that? Well some of the department heads in the employ of the state have charged that figure, and if any one doubts the statement he can find the item on the auditor's books."

+ + +

L. C. Spooner, a power in the last house, and who was a return ticket without an unsuccessful try at the governorship, arrived on the scene the second part of the week. He did not say much, but there were numerous conferences and the feature of each. It was said, was a bid for support, with Rines and his friends due to get the short end of it. Mr. Spooner, it is said, wants his old committee back, and if appearances, but Speaker Rines will not have it, hence the trouble. Solitty back of Mr. Spooner is Thomps Kneeland and Charles Saw-

Forfeited Tax Sale—Notice of Expiration of Redemption.

Office of County Auditor, } No. 258.
County of Red Lake. } Notice of Expiration
State of Minnesota. } of Redemption.

To Rosina Rue.

You are hereby notified that the following described land was forfeited to the state for the taxes of the year 1907, and that said land was sold for said taxes on the 2nd day of January, 1911, at a public sale held at the court house in said county, and bought in by the county auditor in trust for the state, and that the time of redemption from said sale will expire and said land will be subject to sale and conveyance to purchasers on the 2nd day of January, 1912, unless redeemed as provided by law, to-wit:

Lot 1, Section 17 Township 148 Range 43 containing 41.80 acres.

Dated on the 24th day of May, A. D. 1908, at a public land auction held at the real estate tax sale, about sixty days after said land was forfeited to the State of Minnesota, and sold for the taxes of the year 1907, and the said land was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1909, and the said land was duly offered for sale at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, the county seat of said county, on the 2nd day of January, 1911, at a public sale held at the court house in said city, and was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1911, and the said land was duly offered for sale at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, the county seat of said county, on the 2nd day of January, 1911, at a public sale held at the court house in said city, and was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1911, and the said land was duly offered for sale at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, the county seat of said county, on the 2nd day of January, 1912, at a public sale held at the court house in said city, and was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1912, and the said land was duly offered for sale at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, the county seat of said county, on the 2nd day of January, 1913, at a public sale held at the court house in said city, and was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1913, and the said land was duly offered for sale at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, the county seat of said county, on the 2nd day of January, 1914, at a public sale held at the court house in said city, and was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1914, and the said land was duly offered for sale at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, the county seat of said county, on the 2nd day of January, 1915, at a public sale held at the court house in said city, and was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1915, and the said land was duly offered for sale at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, the county seat of said county, on the 2nd day of January, 1916, at a public sale held at the court house in said city, and was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1916, and the said land was duly offered for sale at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, the county seat of said county, on the 2nd day of January, 1917, at a public sale held at the court house in said city, and was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1917, and the said land was duly offered for sale at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, the county seat of said county, on the 2nd day of January, 1918, at a public sale held at the court house in said city, and was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1918, and the said land was duly offered for sale at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, the county seat of said county, on the 2nd day of January, 1919, at a public sale held at the court house in said city, and was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1919, the said piece or parcel of land, lot or tract of land remains subject to redemption except as provided by law, and the same will be subject to sale and conveyance to purchasers on the 2nd day of January, 1920, unless redeemed as provided by law, to-wit:

Lot 1, Section 17 Township 148 Range 43 containing 41.80 acres.

Dated on the 24th day of May, A. D. 1908, at a public land auction held at the real estate tax sale, about sixty days after said land was forfeited to the State of Minnesota, and sold for the taxes of the year 1907, and the said land was struck off to the state, and the said sale was duly confirmed by the district court of Red Lake county, Minnesota, on the 1st day of March, A. D. 1909

The Local Field

Mrs. E. F. Marshall entertained the F. & F. B. Tuesday evening.

Miss Rose Helm visited friends in Thief River Falls Friday and Saturday.

George Thompson returned Monday evening from a business trip to North Dakota.

Miss Agnes Hirsch spent the first part of the week with relatives and friends in Thief River Falls.

The interior of St. Joseph's church is recently been repainted and redecorated and its appearance greatly improved.

A son born to Mr. and Mrs. X. Lambert of Brooks lived only two days. The funeral was held on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Sirola and Miss Corbeil, who were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Paul, left Saturday to return to Big Falls.

Miss Lillian Hoff, of Sheldon, N. D., has been engaged as teacher for primary grade in the Washington school on the north side to succeed Miss Mary E. Krier, who resigned. Miss Hoff is a graduate of the Valley City normal.

Herman Schuring of Iona Lake, Minn., was attending to business matters in the city this week. Mr. Schuring recently purchased the Holbourne farm and he and his family will come to Red Lake Falls in the spring to occupy the place.

You have been a "good fellow" to your friends and were never called down nor tight. What have you to show for it? Why not be a "good fellow" to yourself? Open an account, interest with the Merchants State Bank and turn your generous spirit to your own credit for a time.—Adv.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Order Berolt, died Monday morning at 2 o'clock. The little boy was seven weeks old and had been ill for five weeks. The funeral was held Tuesday morning. Misfortunes have come to Mr. and Mrs. Berolt with distressing frequency and they have the sympathy of friends in their bereavement.

The marriage of Miss Josephine Vaudrin and Mr. Adrian Amiott, two well known young people of Gentilly, occurred Tuesday. The ceremony was performed at St. Peter's church Gentilly at ten o'clock in the morning, Rev. Fr. Thillon officiating. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. B. Vaudrin. The young people have gone to housekeeping at once on a farm near Gentilly.

News which will be received with pleasure by the citizens of Thief River Falls is that to the effect that the money for the $20,000 electric Light bonds, which was voted for the second time a few months ago, is now in the hands of the city treasurer, the bonds having finally been purchased by Bolger, Mosser & Willaman. C. L. Bohner the first purchaser of these bonds, declined to accept them on account of legal technicalities which have since been ironed up to the complete satisfaction of the new purchasers.—Thief River Falls Times.

The Third Annual Farmers' Short Course at the Agricultural School, Crookston, will be held February 10 to 24, 1915. Leading experts on the various topics will be present. Professors Boss, Smith, Bull, Freeman and others will talk and give practical demonstrations during the ten days' course. Pure seed work, dairy and stock farming, flax, clover and corn raising will be discussed. Rooms and board will be provided at the school for a large number. A strong program has been arranged for farmers' wives and daughters also. Address the Superintendent, Agricultural School, Crookston, for further information.

LAMBERT (OKLE)

C. D. Hall has finished his Brooks work for cold weather and returned to winter quarters here.

Miss Gladys O'Neill departed Saturday night for Thief River Falls to resume her school work.

Many friends and neighbors are conversing with Mr. and Mrs. X. Lambert over the death of their infant son, who only blessed his parents' roof for two short days.

The directors of the First State Bank of Oklee held their annual meeting Tuesday. The cashier reports business good and growing with a surplus of about $700 to divide.

The stockholders of the co-operative creamery of Oklee held their annual meeting and election Monday afternoon and find their creamery compares favorably with neighboring creameries.

Farmers from the townships of Equality and Garnese made up a bunch load on the east bound passenger Tuesday morning en route to Bemidji to the final hearing on the big meadows ditch before Judge Stanton.

DIED WITH THE YEAR.

Old Lambert Postoffice is the Only Memory Now.

The post office of Lambert was killed by strangulation at midnight Dec. 31, 1912. The office was thirty-five years of age and had been in the hands of many masters, was always where it was wanted and was easily found because its latch string was ever out to the people whom it served. Lambert was long the beacon light at the end of the old Colony road and lured many a homeseeker on to the fertile lands about her smiling face. She was known to all business men as the address of a prosperous and God fearing people. Her fatal illness seized her at the time of the sale of the present townsite of Oklee. She struggled courageously against unseen odds but was finally strangled to death by the government she so long and faithfully served.

But let us be glad, altho we are sad, Its not quite as bad As it really might be—Then let us be glad of Oklee Cause it might have been plain Ole.

BROOKS

A jolly crowd called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Narcisse Robidoux Christmas day. Everybody reported a good time.

Miss Laura Robidoux has been visiting in town and around town for a couple of weeks.

Ernest Descoteli and sister, Miss Angelina, spent Christmas at the N. Robidoux home.

The people around Brooks enjoyed the New Years dance at the M. W. A. hall last Friday.

Miss Laura Heaton of Grand Forks visited with relatives and friends here for two weeks.

A crowd of young people spent Monday before New Years at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Desotell.

Patrick Andette and Louis Villet called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Robidoux New Years.

Xavier Lafreniere, of Lambert, visited with friends here New Years evening.

Alfred Judeau visited with his sister, Mrs. N. Robidoux, last Thursday.

Miss Mary Robidoux has gone her to Red Lake Falls, after spending the vacation at home.

Roy Vagne went to Red Lake Falls Monday.

Joe Boucher went to Red Lake Falls last week.

Napoleon Cyr was in Red Lake Falls last Monday.

AZOTURIA OF HORSES.

A Preventible Disease Common in Cold Weather.

A disease of horses that should be guarded against, especially at this time of the year, is azoturia, sometimes called "Monday morning" par excellence, or lumbago, says Dr. H. Preston Hopkins of the University Farm, St. Paul. This disease usually follows periods of rest or idleness, especially in cold weather, when horses have been kept on full feed. Horses in good flesh, in the pink of condition, are the ones usually affected. Just as milk fever picks out the best cows in the herd azoturia seems to strike the best horses in the stable.

The symptoms of the diseases come on after the horse is let in the stable, sometimes before a mile has been traveled. The first thing usually noticed is that the horse limps or favors one hind limb, frequently knuckling over at the fetlock. This rapidly gets worse if the animal is kept going. Perspiration breaks out over the surface of the body. If not brought to a stand still, the horse will travel till the hind limbs become paralized and collapse. If stopped when the first symptoms are shown, the horse will henr all of the weight on the unaffected limb, unless both are affected. He is restless and uneasy. The sweating is profuse, and may run off the body in streams, even in very cold weather.

The muscles of the croup on the affected side, appear very hard and tense, and the skin seems as firm as tanned leather. The pulse is usually dark in color, varying from a reddish-brown to a bluish-black. It frequently has the appearance of coffee and is often quite thick. If both hind legs are affected, the horse usually goes down and makes frequent ineffectual efforts to regain his feet. The breathing is usually labored, the pulse quickened, and the temperature may run high or stay at normal.

The proper thing to do under the conditions is to stop the horse just as soon as anything is noticed wrong. Stop right in the road if necessary and blanket the horse over the hindquarters. Do not try to return home or to a neighboring stable, unless the latter is within a few yards. More horses are killed by trying to keep them going than any other way. The disease progresses very rapidly if the horse is kept going, and few horses recover if they go down and are unable to rise. As soon as possible send for a veterinarian to take charge of the case. Do not give the horse any medicine, unless directed to do so by a veterinarian.

To prevent azoturia, observe the following rules: If it is necessary for a horse to stand idle for a number of days during cold weather, cut down his feed, especially if he is in good bodily condition. Give a liberal mash the evening before starting to work. Give the horse some daily exercise when idle, and see that the bowels are moving freely and regularly. When starting out from the stable, start slowly. Active, vigorous horses will want to step along freely after a rest of a few days, and it is in just such cases as this that we meet azoturia. If proper precautions have not been taken to prevent it.

The Only Way.

His wife had been spending a week or two at the seaside with her own people, and Jonesmith had been living the lone and simple life. But there was a certain look of calm deperation in his eyes when his wife came back.

And presently the wife began to make discoveries.

"Why, John!" she began. "Goodness! What have you done with my dressing? And what has happened to the lawn? What's that black patch in the center? Why—"

Jonesmith took a deep breath, then spoke bravely and manfully.

"I will say," said he—"Julia, I starved for two days, and then you wrote to me that the key of the pantry was in the pocket of your second best tailor made walking skirt—not the bolero of the morning!"

"I said morning skirt and not the tailor made one for the—"

"It doesn't matter," Jonesmith interrupted wearily and with a touch of savagery in his voice. "I don't know a tailor made one from a morning skirt nor a bolero from a fichu. So I just took the whole lot out on the lawn and burnt them. Then I found the key while raking among the ashes!"—Philadelphia Record.

Works Both Ways.

Almost as many people have been spoiled by too much money as by too little.—New York Times.

The Smile of a Child

By EDITH V. ROSS

Jim Gorton was working for a safe and lock company. He was very poor and had not long been given employment—indeed, he was in debt. He had a wife and several small children and found it difficult to keep them in food and clothing.

One day Jim was summoned to a gentleman's house for the purpose of picking the lock of a silverware and jewel safe. It was an elegant home, and when Jim walked on the handsome tiled rugs he thought of the bare floors in his own home and could not be reconciled to this man having so much and he having so little. He was shown into a small room where a safe was inserted into the wall. The combination had been lost, and he was delegated to open the safe by picking the lock. He found the job not a difficult one and, having arranged a combination, gave it to the lady of the house and went his way.

Time came when the concern that Jim was with determined to reduce its working force, and he lost his job. His wife got sick, and the condition of the family was deplorable. Jim thought what a difference a little money would make to him and those he loved. Then there were the wealth scattered about in the house where he had fixed the lock and opened it, and the silver plate he had found in the safe he had opened. Then came the temptation to get at that safe, open it and take enough of its contents to relieve the frightful condition of his family.

For awhile he resisted. He had a boy, little Jim, the apple of his eye, and shuddered at the idea of that boy when he grew to manhood knowing that his father had been a criminal. But he could not bear the straits of his children crying for what he could not give them, and one night in a fit of desperation he determined to get into the safe. One small diamond—it would scarcely be missed—would make a great difference in his home.

At midnight, when not a light appeared in the rich man's house, Jim raised a window with a jimmy and entering the kitchen, made his way softly upstairs. He remembered the location of the room where he had opened the safe and went straight to it, or, rather, to an adjoining room that led into it. A light was burning in the hall, which enabled him to find his way. Softly turning the knob of the sitterroom he saw some valuables scattered loosely with her face to the wall. He withdrew and tried the door back of the room that held the safe room. It opened easily, and he entered. By the dim light that came from without he saw a child's crib. A gas jet was burning low, and he turned it slightly on.

For a moment it seemed to him that he could hear little Jim was sleeping in that crib. At any rate a boy just like Jim was there, in the two chubby arms outside the covers. Jim studied for a moment what to do. He could shut the door, turn up the gas and within a minute open the safe, for which he had the combination. The boy might not awaken, and if he did Jim could soon stun quiet. He turned up the light and was working on the safe door when he heard a sound behind him. He looked around and saw that the child's eyes were open and fixed on him. When Jim looked at him his face broke into a smile.

That ended Jim's attempt at burglary. Within a few seconds what he needed would be within his grasp, but he couldn't take it past that innocent smile. He left the safe and, advancing to the boy, bent down and kissed him. The little chap seized his finger and held it in his little fist. Jim gottened to the door and, giving the boy another kiss, left the room. He was about to go downstairs when he heard a nurse's voice say:

"Stand! I've got the drop on you."

Jim obeyed. A man in a dressing gown came out of a room and, keeping him covered, marched him downstairs into the dining room, where he commanded him to throw the plunder he had taken on the dining room table.

"I haven't any plunder," said Jim, "though I could have taken the contents of your safe. I know the combination."

"Know the combination! How did you get it?"

"It's the man who opened your safe for you not long ago."

"Then that man, I thought your features were familiar."

"Yes," said Jim, turning his pockets inside out. "Can be told the gentleman his story, how he had been tempted to come there and how he had been saved from taking any plunder by the smile of an innocent child. "If you will come up to the safe room," he added, "I'll show you that I had completed the opening of the safe."

The gentleman went with him, found the safe unlocked and the contents untouched. He took Jim back with him to the dining room, gave him what he could find in the larder and what money he had in his pockets.

"Tomorrow," he said, "come to my office and I'll give you some work to do in the factory of which I am president. I will send my physician to your wife and otherwise aid you. A man who is only incited to crime by the sufferings of his wife and children and kept from it by the smile of a little boy is worth saving."

Jim is now at the head of the mechanical department of the Chesterton manufactory and prospering.

The Same Idea.

"Well, Johnny, what was the text today?" asked a proud father of his small son who had just returned from church.

"Let me fink, farver," said Johnny, scratching his head in deep thought. "Oh, yes, I remember! It was, 'Don't be scared; you'll get your quilts all right.'"

John's father, after puzzling awhile over this queer text, called up the minister.

"Could you tell me what was this morning's text, Mr. Jones?" he asked, and was convulsed to hear the reply:

"Fear not: the Comforter cometh."—National Monthly.

The Trouble.

Discontented Twin — Pretty rotten luck on me! I shouldn't so much mind having a face like mine if it wasn't so beastly like yours.—Punch.

Cross examination is the process of convincing the witness that he is either a liar or an idiot.—Green Bag.

You Can't Make Your Farm Pay

If You Eat the Doughnut and Offer the Hole as Collateral

THERE'S a man out in Illinois who owns a bank and lends money to farmers. He wanted to get at both sides of the question of borrowing and lending, so he got busy on a half-section of land and farmed it on the principle of a square deal to the soil. "What he found out was this: It's bad business, both for the farmer and the banker, for the farmer to eat the doughnut and offer the hole as collateral on a loan.

It's one of those simple solutions of a big financial problem that engaged the attention of the President of the United States and a group of Governors, meeting at the White House to discuss this great problem only a few weeks ago. Presidents of Insurance Companies, bankers, men and institutions with money to invest, farmers who want to borrow money—all these people will agree with us that Mr. Harris has thrown the searchlight of common sense on a subject that seemed as thick as a London fog.

There is a host of good things in this week's issue of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, but

Financing the Farmer

By B. F. HARRIS

Successful Banker-Farmer and Ex-President of the Illinois Bankers' Association will be read with rare interest by every man whose business it is to lend money, or to borrow it—which means several million people.

IT'S IN THIS WEEK'S ISSUE OF

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

For Sale at Any News-stand or Buy of Any SATURDAY EVENING POST Boy

5 Cents a Copy—Yearly Subscription $1.50

THE CURTIS PUBLISHING COMPANY, PHILADELPHIA

KEZIAH COFFIN

by

Joseph C. Lincoln

Author of "Cy Whittaker's Place" "Cap'n Eri," Etc.

Illustrations by Ellsworth Young

Copyright, 1915, by D. Appleton & Company

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arrested in more than Trumet in Dover ton following the death of her brother, Nathaniel Eldredge, a miser. Nathaniel, Jr., Roger, widower of his first marriage, and his indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Dar-ling, leader of the Regular church, offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the family. She accepts and moves to the house in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Her. John Kilbey, the new minister, and gives him advice as to his conduct toward members of the parish. Kilbey resents it. Keziah has a little trouble with Rosamond Hammond, daughter of Capt. Hammond, leader of the opposing Grace congregation, but quarrels and Kilbey escorts her home. Keziah, in the kitchen with Nat Eldredge's son, becomes a hero by overhearing the parlor talk just partly through the end of the window. Rosamond tells Kilbey she will never be his darling and agrees to a dance. She is curiously startled, however, at the arrival of Nat. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that he is the boyhood sweetheart of her youth. Unwise remonstrance with Kilbey for attending "Come-outer" meeting. Either is caught by the fish and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Kilbey and Rosamond are seen in the woods and hearts that also walked there Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner Sunday with the Hamonds. Among the crystal's daughter, scents herself to Keziah's room and tells her that she has gone with every Sunday at a certain time. She confesses through sobs that she is in love with Nat Eldredge. Keziah tells her she was her best a quarrel with his father, who wants him to marry Grace Kilbey sees Grace to marry him. She refuses to do so. Keziah tells Nat that she fears for Rosamond her happiness. Nat Keziah tactfully tells them about the mean-ferences her will make Grace chosen be-fore Nat's death. Nat tells Keziah that he is in a faint, following the excitement of Elkanah's visit.

CHAPTER XI—(Continued.)

"Well, doctor!" she asked anxiously.

The stout, gray-haired old physician—who had practiced in Trumet for nearly thirty years—shook his head.

"Not a single chance," he whispered. "He may possibly live till morning, but I doubt if he tests an hour. It's his heart. I've expected it at any time."

Captain Nat was standing at the door of the bedroom. His face was drawn and he had seemingly grown years older since noon.

"He's come to himself, doc," he whispered. "He don't remember how it happened or anything. And he wants us all. Why! why, Keziah! are you here? You can come in, too. I know dad likes you and I guess—What's mixed, I'll tell you after." He stepped back into the bedroom. "Yes," he added, returning: "you come, too, do wants you."

The little room, Captain Eben's own, was more like a sick-chamber than a chamber on land. In the corner stood the captain's big boots and his oilskin hung above them. His Sunday cane was there also. And on the bureau was a worn, heavy Bible.

Dr. Parker brushed by the others and knelt more to be fixed.

"Well, cap'n," he said cheerily, "how's she headed? How are you feeling now?"

The old face on the pillow smiled feebly.

"She's headed for home, I guess, doc," said Captain Eben. "Homed for home, and the harbor light broad abeam, I collate."

"Oh, no! you'll make a good many voyages yet."

"Not in this hulk, I won't, doctor. I hope I'll have a new command pretty soon. I'm truthin' in my owners and I guess they'll do the fair thing by me. Hallon, Gracie, girl! Well, your old uncle's on his beam ends, sun here!"

Grace glanced fearfully at his face. When he spoke her name she shrank back, as if she feared what he might say. But he only smiled as, with the tears streaming down her face, she knelt over and kissed him.

"There! there!" he protested. "You mustn't cry. What are you cryin' about me for? I'm fit and ready for the sea I'm goin' to sail." His eyes wandered from his son to Mrs. Coffin. For an instant he seemed puzzled. Then he said:

"Evenin', Keziah. I don't know why you're here, but—"

"I heard that Grace was alone and that you was sick, Eben. So I come right down, to help if I could."

"Thank ye. You're a good-hearted woman, Keziah, even though you ain't seen the true light yet. And you've housekeeper for that hired priest—a-a-a—" He paused and a troubled look came over his face.

"What is it, dad?" asked Nat.

"I—I—Where's Gracie? She's here, ain't she?"

"Yes, uncle, I'm here. Here I am," said the girl, lifts fingers groped for her hand and seized it.

"Yes, yes, you're here," murmured Captain Eben. "I—I—for a minute or two, I—I had an awful dream about you, Gracie. I dreamed— Never mind. Doc, however we may differ, true and honest, man to man: Can you keep me here for just a little spell longer? Can you? Try! Ten minutes, make Can you?"

"Of course I can. Cap'n Hammond, what are you—"

"Doctor, I tell you. Yes, I guess 'twas a dream. It had to be, but 'twas so sort of real that I— How long have I been this way?"

"Oh, a little while! Now just—"

"Hush! Don't pull your hand away, Gracie. Nat, give me yours. That's it. Now I've been two years with together. See, doctor? See, Keziah?"

"Don't, uncle, don't!" pleaded Grace. "Don't worry about me. Think of yourself, please."

"Sh-sh-sh! Don't put me off. Jon Hetzer, I want you to marry my boy, after I'm gone. I want you to say you will—say it now, so's I can hear it. Will you, Gracie?"

Grace would have withdrawn her hand, but he would not let her. He clung to it and to that of his son with all his failing strength.

"Will you, Gracie?" he begged. "It's the last thing I'm goin' to ask of you. I've tried to be sort of good to you, in my way, and—"

"Don't, don't!" she sobbed. "Let me think a minute, uncle, dear. Oh, do let me think!"

"You can say it for me, Gracie!" pleaded Captain Eben. She hesitated no longer.

"Yes, uncle," she answered through tears, "if Nat wants me he can have me."

Keziah clasped her hands. Captain Eben lifted up with a great joy.

"Thank the Almighty!" he exclaimed. "Hazel, I give thank you. You, boy, you're considerable older than she is and you'll have to plan for her. You be a good husband to her all her days, won't ye? Why, what are you wailin' for? Why don't you answer me?"

Nat groaned aloud.

"A minute, dad," he stammered. "Just give me a minute, for Heaven sakes! Keziah—"

"Keziah!" repeated Eben. "Keziah! What are you talkin' to her for? She hasn't anything to do no better match in the world. You do know it, don't ye, Keziah?"

"Well, Captain Eben slowly, "I guess you're right, Eben."

"Keziah Coffin," cried Nat Hammond, "do you tell me to marry Grace?"

"Yes, Nat, I—I think your father's right."

"Then—then—what difference does —All right, dad. Just as Grace says."

"Doctor, you and Mrs. Coffin are witnesses to this. Now I'll be happy. I'm more clear and I'd better get ready to land. Gracie, girl, the Good Book's there on the bureau. Read me a little chapter, won't you?"

Grace looked at Keziah sat alone in the dining room. She had stolen away when the reading began. Dr. Parker, walking very softly, came to her and laid his hand on her shoulder.

"He's gone," he said simply.

CHAPTER XII.

In Which Keziah Breaks the News.

It was nearly five o'clock, gray dawn of what was to be a clear, beautiful summer morning, when Keziah softly lifted the latch and entered the parlor. She had come from the bed by young Higgins; busy with Grace, soothing her, comforting her as best she could, and petting her as a mother might pet a stricken child. The poor girl was on the verge of prostration, and from hysterical spasms of sobs and weeping passed into a dazed state, a dry-eyed agony which were harder to witness and much more to be feared.

"It is all my fault," she repeated over and over again. "All my fault! I killed him! I killed him, Aunt Keziah! What shall I do? Oh, why couldn't I have died instead? It would have been so much better, better for everybody!"

Dr. Parker was very anxious.

"She must rest," he told Mrs. Coffin. "If she can't she will give way. I'm going to give her something to make her sleep, and you must get her to take it."

Keziah tried and, at last, Grace did take the drug. In a little while she was asleep, and the doctor and the nurse left her in charge of Keziah, who sobbed, "Let me think a minute, uncle, dear. Oh, do let me think!"

"You poor boy," she cried, "I'm trying to tell you one of the hardest things a body can tell. Yes, some one is dead, but that ain't all. Eben Harmon's dead, and a ton of his troubles and gone."

"Then Rosamond! Captain Eben! Dead! Why, why—"

"Yes, Eben's gone. He was took down sudden and died about ten o'clock last night. I was there and—"

"Captain Eben dead. Then, he was as well as—as— She said— Oh, I can't go! I must go at once!"

He was on his way to the door, but she held it shut.

"No," she said gravely, "you mustn't go. John—you won't mind me callin' you John, I'm old enough, pretty nigh, to be your mother, and I've come to feel almost as if I was. John, you've got to stay here with me. You can't go to that house. You can't go to Grace."

"Mrs. Coffin, what are you saying? Do you know—Have you—"

"Yes, I know all about it. I know about the meetin's in the pines and all. Oh, she didn't keep it sweet and tell me! If you had, all would have been much better!"

He looked at her in utter amazement. The blood rushed to his face.

"You know that?" he whispered.

"Yes, I know."

"Did she tell—"

"No, nobody told. That is, only a little. I got a hint and I suspicioned somethin' afore. The rest I saw with my own eyes."

"Then she was here while, but his jaw shot forward and his teeth closed.

"Mrs. Coffin," he said, "you must realize that my place is here with her. Now, when she is in trouble—"

"I ain't the companion, John," she said, "Nor Trumet, nor your minister. That means more'n you think it does, now; but it ain't that. You mustn't go to her because she'll be cause she don't want you to."

"Doesn't want me! I know better. He laughed in scorn.

"She doesn't want you, John. She don't want to see you if you want. She would send you away again, sure, sayin' she wouldn't. And if you didn't go when she sent you, you wouldn't be the man I hope you are. You wouldn't see Grace again. She ain't yours. She belongs to some one else."

"John, Grace Van Horne is goin' to marry Cap'n Nat Hammond. Therel that's livin' truth."

She led him over to the rocking-chair and pushed him into it. He obeyed, although with no apparent recognition of what he was doing. Still with her hand on his shoulder she went on speaking. She told him of the visit of the Hammonds, and, knowing nothing of Mr. Pepper's call nor of her own experience in the parlor, she told of Captain Eben's seizure, of what the doctor said, and of the old Come-Outer's return to consciousness. Then she described the scene in the sick room and how Nat and Grace had plighted troth. He listened, at first with surprise and wrath, then with growing impatience.

"So you see," she said, "it's settled that they're engaged, and Dr. Parker will tell everybody of the engagement this forenoon. It won't be any great surprise to me. Those who have been watchin' together years see the real thing that was almost bound to happen. Eben's heart was set on it and he'll rest easy now. Grace is a good husband, John, that I know. And she'll do her best to make him happy. He's a good man and—"

"Stop!"

"Do you suppose she would come to you if she knew it would be your ruin?"

He hesitated. The less time they saw, ages before—no, only the previous afternoon—she had told him it was his business and his duty to preach that she thought of. He choked and drew his hand across his eyes.

"Mrs. Coffin," he said, "you tell me it will be her ruin. You tell me so. You say she doesn't want me. I tell you that the only thing that will keep me from her is because she has cast me from her own lips. When she tells me to leave her I will, and not before."

"I don't think she will, she'll tell you. And I know Grace. She's made up her mind and won't change it. But I ask you this: I ask you not as a man to a man, but as a child to her who will keep, warm out by what she's been through and under the effects of the powerful sleepin' medicine. He said she must rest or he was afraid her mind would give out. For her sake, then, wait a little. Then, if you don't hear from her, maybe I can arrange a meetin' where you can see her for a little without anyone's knowin' it. I'll try, but wait a little while, for her sake, won't you?"

At last he was listening and hesitating.

"Won't you?" begged Keziah.

"I'll," he answered slowly. "I'll wait. I'll wait until noon, somehow, if I can. I'll try. But I won't wait later. Not one. You don't know what you're talking about, Mrs. Coffin."

"Yes, I do. I know well. And I think you for her sake."

But he did not have to wait until noon. At six o'clock, through the dawn quiet and still at the very last, came Dr. Higgins boy. For the first time in his short life he had been awake all night and he moved slowly.

The housekeeper opened the door He held up an envelope, clutched in a grimy hand.

"Mr. young, Mrs. Keziah," he said. "Gracie she sent it. There ain't no answer."

Mrs. Coffin closed the door and tore open the envelope. Within was another addressed, in Grace's handwriting, to Mr. Kilbey. The housekeeper entered the study, handed it to him and turned away.

"Dear John," wrote Grace, "I presume Aunt Keziah has told you of uncle's death and of my promise to Nat. It is true. I am going to marry him. I am sure this is right and for the best. Our friendship was a true one and you must not see me again. Please don't try.

"GRACE VAN HORNE."

Beneath was another paragraph.

"Don't worry about me. I shall be happy, I am sure. And I shall hope that you may be. I shall pray for that."

The note fell to the floor with a rustle that sounded loud in the stillness. Then Keziah heard the minister's step. He turned. He was moving slowly across the room.

"John, what are you goin' to do?"

He shook his head. "I don't know," he said. "Go away somewhere, first of all, I guess. Get somewhere and—and try to live it down. I can't, of course, but I must try."

She put out her hand. "I know it'll be hard," she said, "very hard, I mean. But your duty to others—"

"Don't you think we've heard enough about duty for a while? Let me have my duty to myself!"

"I guess that's the last thing we ought to think about in the world, if we do try to be fair and square. I'm a church thinks a heap of you, John. They build on you. You've done more for the little while you've been here than Mr. Langley did in his last fifteen years."

"You've never been asked to sit quietly by and see the one you love more than all the world marry some one else."

"How do you know I ain't? How do you know I ain't doin' just that now?"

"Mrs. Coffin!"

"Mrs. Kilbey, you listen to me. You think I'm a homely old woman, probably, to you. Maybe I am, by the clock. I guess I look like it and act like it. But I ain't so awful old—on the edge of forty, that's all. And when I was your age I won't so awful homely, either. I was a fellow's girl-hangin' round and I could have married any one of a dozen. She ain't honestly; and knows I'm far from that. I was brought up in the town and also when I was a girl. Now there was only one boy I cared two straws about. He went to sea, and I once together and to parties and everywhere. Folks used to tease us, how he was keepin' comp'ny, even then. But when I was eighteen he died. Then she died, I went to New Bedford to work in a store there. Wanted to get away, you see, and like young folks' I'm tellin' you about want away to see, but when I came home from a voyage he come to see me and things went on that way till we was married in a church. Then my engagement wa'n't announced, but 'twas so, and there wa'n't any secret about it. We've been married in another year. And then we quarreled.

"John, What Are You Going to Do?"

"It was a fool quarrel, same as that kind gen'rally are. As much my fault as his and as much his as mine, I s'pose. Anyhow, we was both proud, or thought we was, and I have a good husband, John, that I know. And she'll do her best to make him happy. He's a good man and—"

"I know—"

"Do you suppose she would come to you if she knew it would be your ruin?"

He hesitated. The less time they saw, ages before—no, only the previous afternoon—she had told him it was his business and his duty to preach that she thought of. He choked and drew his hand across his eyes.

"Mrs. Coffin," he said, "you tell me it will be her ruin. You tell me so. You say she doesn't want me. I tell you that the only thing that will keep me from her is because she has cast me from her own lips. When she tells me to leave her I will, and not before."

"I don't think she will, she'll tell you. And I know Grace. She's made up her mind and won't change it. But I ask you this: I ask you not as a man to a man, but as a child to her who will keep, warm out by what she's been through and under the effects of the powerful sleepin' medicine. He said she must rest or he was afraid her mind would give out. For her sake, then, wait a little. Then, if you don't hear from her, maybe I can arrange a meetin' where you can see her for a little without anyone's knowin' it. I'll try, but wait a little while, for her sake, won't you?"

At last he was listening and hesitating.

"Won't you?" begged Keziah.

"I'll," he answered slowly. "I'll wait. I'll wait until noon, somehow, if I can. I'll try. But I won't wait later. Not one. You don't know what you're talking about, Mrs. Coffin."

"Yes, I do. I know well. And I think you for her sake."

But he did not have to wait until noon. At six o'clock, through the dawn quiet and still at the very last, came Dr. Higgins boy. For the first time in his short life he had been awake all night and he moved slowly.

The housekeeper opened the door He held up an envelope, clutched in a grimy hand.

"Mr. young, Mrs. Keziah," he said. "Gracie she sent it. There ain't no answer."

Mrs. Coffin closed the door and tore open the envelope. Within was another addressed, in Grace's handwriting, to Mr. Kilbey. The housekeeper entered the study, handed it to him and turned away.

"Dear John," wrote Grace, "I presume Aunt Keziah has told you of uncle's death and of my promise to Nat. It is true. I am going to marry him. I am sure this is right and for the best. Our friendship was a true one and you must not see me again. Please don't try.

"GRACE VAN HORNE."

Beneath was another paragraph.

"Don't worry about me. I shall be happy, I am sure. And I shall hope

"Keziah Coffin!" Cried Nat Hammond, "Do You Tell Me to Marry Grace?"

For upon her rested the responsibility of seeing that his wishes in the matter was kept. And she, and no other, must break the news to him.

The dining room was dark and gloomy. She lighted the lamp. Then she heard a door open and Kilbey's voice, as he called down the stairs.

"I'll be there in twenty minutes," he said.

"It's morning," said the minister. "Are you sick? Has anything happened?"

"Yes," she answered slowly, "something has happened. Are you dressed? Can you come down?"

He replied that he would be down in a moment. When he came he found her standing by the table waiting for him. The look of her face in the lamplight shocked him.

ACT COST AN OFFICE

CORRUPT PRACTICES LAW CASE RESULTS IN INELIGIBILITY.

FIRST MINN. CASE TRIED.

Court Finds James McIntosh, Treasurer of Mahnomen County, Treated Voters to Cigars and Liquor, While Soliciting Votes.

Mahnomen.—Judge Andrew Grindeland has declared James McIntosh, elected county treasurer at the last election, ineligible to hold office. He says he violated the corrupt practices act by giving away cigars and treating voters to liquor, at the same time soliciting for support at the polls. This was the first case ever tried in Minnesota under the act.

Board to Appoint.

Judge Grindeland intimated that issuance of a writ of mandamus would be necessary to compel the board to appoint a successor. The petition not going to the person who received second place in the election.

G. H. Tibbetts was the contestant. He received 1,004 votes to 975 for McIntosh. The court in its findings says that during the months of October and November, McIntosh, who is of Irish blood, was engaged in the saloon business in Mahnomen, having a bartender in his employ named Thomas Hobbs; that between primary election and the general election Hobbs, who was also in the saloon, talked politics and told corrupt stories to assist their employer, of which was known to McIntosh.

Enumerates Instances.

Then the court enumerates incidents in which Hobbs and McIntosh "set up" drinks for persons, at the same time seeking their support at the polls. The court further says in the court, the bartender said, "this is on me, Jim," and that McIntosh also declare that the candidate conveyed the information to the bartender that he would win by fifteen. But with the amended petition, it is to Harris' disadvantage to have the ballots disappear, for it the returns from Proh and Grant Valley are taken from the official canvass, Moon will win the office by three votes.

Harris' attorneys are making a hard fight for him. Evidence has been introduced to show that there were errors in the returns of thirteen precincts of the county; that there is evidence of at least one envelope of ballots having been tampered with by the county auditor, and that the combination of and access to the vaults where the ballots were kept and that there had been negligence on the part of the county auditor in caring for the ballots.

FAMILIES POISONED.

Children Found Senseless and Moth-ers Prostrated in Pain.

Minneapolis.—Returning from a brief walk, Andrew Barney, 801 Eighth street S. E., found his wife and three-year-old children prostrated by a mysterious illness. Two of the children, Gwen Wagner, aged 3, and Gladys Barney, aged 3, were unconscious. Mrs. Barney and Mrs. Wagner were in pain. Dr. Charles White, Barney was telephoning for a physician and an ambulance, Wegner suddenly recovered and complained of terrible pains. Physicians believed the symptoms to be due to carbonic acid gas or diner the night before. Barney had not eaten any dinner, as one of his two unconscious children were rushed to the city hospital, where prompt attention saved their lives.

Man Stabbed at Stillwater.

Stillwater.—Eric Dahlberg, a carpenter of Scandia, was stabbed in the county jail and Fred Johnson, a cooklooker, and former marshal of Scandia, will be held. The stiff hospital. The letter has a gash across the palm of his left hand, that almost severs three fingers to dangle, which may have to be amputated. Fred Johnson declares he was in a row in his saloon he intended to eject Dahlberg, who lunged at him with an open knife and his hand received the cut that was intended for his body. Dahlberg is being held pending the making of a complaint by Johnson.

No Tender Yet Made Bryan.

Mahnomen.—It is reported better from Willmar Jennings Bryan, his old friend of the Third Nebraska regiment in the Spanish-American war, that Mrs. Harrison is informed that Mr. Bryan has not been offered the position of secretary of state in President-elect Harding's cabinet, but that he would consider the offer. Mr. Morrison's friends say that Mr. Bryan is pressing the hope that he would accept the position if it were offered.

In No Hurry to Market Grain.

Minneapolis.—Frank Morrison, who travels for an elevator company, is of the opinion that not much more than half of the grain in western Minnesota has been marketed. What is more, he believes that a good deal of this grain is not going to be marketed this fall. Farmers are not pressing sales with present prices. They take the view that the bulge in wheat is exceptionally large and consequently there is no real effort to force sales, as they are not pressed for funds, they propose to hold their grain.

$5,300 Gift For Mayor.

Minneapolis.—It was indeed a beautiful Christmas present for James C. Haynes. No crippled, poverty stricken child, suddenly and unexpectedly coming into possession of a Christmas tree and myriad presents all his own, reached such full realization of happiness as did the retiring mayor of Minneapolis. Mr. Haynes was given a purse of $5,300 and an illuminated address in floral form, bound in vellum, containing the names of the subscribers to the fund.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENTS

MONTANA MOUNTAIN DIVISION TO BE ELECTRIFIED.

Soo Said to Project Line Thief River Falls to International Falls.

Minneapolis.—By far the most important announcement made in railroad circles recently, closely touching the northwest, is that the Milwaukee road is closing negotiations with the Montana Power company, a $100,000,000 corporation organized under the laws of New Jersey, for the immediate electrification of part of its western line and the Soo is planning a new line in Minnesota.

This electrification, according to Minneapolis sources is close kinship with Charles W. Wetmore, president of the power concern, Max Hoyhen, Charles Norman Fay, Alfred Jaretzke and Charles B. McCabe of New York city, may extend in five years to Minneapolis.

Coincident with this announcement is one that the Soo has made an exhaustive survey for a line branching from the main line at Thief River Falls and crossing the northern part of the state to International Falls. The land is now being reclaimed by the state and the northern counties.

Drainage ditches have been dug and more will be dug next year. The muskeg lands in many parts have been drained and made available for farming. The drainage projects have been completed all this land will be ready for the plow and the line of the Soo look to it for no small revenue.

The distance between International Falls and Thief River Falls is 125 miles. The Soo has still further a direct route from that territory, thus making another line to the coast via state accessible to Minneapolis.

Coincident with the announcement that the Milwaukee is negotiating for the power, is the final announcement that the Milwaukee will now an integral part of the Milwaukee system. The deal for the road will probably be known through its line as the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

This deal is only one of an important number of such transactions that have just been brought to light. Through officers of the Milwaukee road and railroad presidents and other officials in Minneapolis, have been issued annual passes reading through Milwaukee and Puget Sound" for 1913, authorities assure in Minneapolis will give out the information that the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound are now one and the same.

The electrification of what has been known as the Chicago, Milwaukee and Minneapolis road and a part of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul is in line with the electrification of part of the Great northern railroad.

Woman Patient Disappears.

New Ulm.—Miss Augusta Jennings of Morgan has been mysteriously disappeared from St. Alexander's hospital, where she was taking treatment for rheumatism. She had been under care over a week, and relatives and the local officials have instituted a search, but can get no trace of her. She is 30 years of age, tall, slender and of a very slender build. Her hair is reddish, falling below her knees when unbound. She speaks both English and German. Nurses and attendants could scarcely believe she had any serious mental trouble, except at intervals, when she seemed to be under some harm was about to befall her.

Dairymen to Meet at Albert Lea.

Albert Lea.—A dairyfarm's meeting will be held in this city Thursday, Jan. 5. The Business Men's league will entertain the visitors with a G. Winkler, dairy and food commissioner, will speak on "The Outlook for Dairying." Other addresses will be Professors R. M. Washburn, C. P. Bull and W. H. Eckles.

Wanted to Thank Santa.

Minneapolis.—For three very long hours little Daisy Montague waited with breathless interest for the approach of Santa Claus. The little tot said Santa Claus was coming to her door she wanted to find him to thank him for the beautiful doll that he gave her. The police picked her up.

Three Hurt in Car Crash.

Minneapolis.—Two men and one woman were injured from an automobile and cut and bruised when a street car struck the machine at 11th street and Bryant avenue south. The automobile was smashed almost beyond repair.

Child Burned to Death.

Holyoke.—Little Edith Fabelle, the 5-year-old daughter of Jean Fabelle, was burned to death here in a fire originating from a lighted Christmas tree. The new dress worn and of the seven other members of the family barely escaped injury.

Lake Fisherman Drowned.

Duluth.—One fisherman was drowned from the ice and two more narrowly escaped their death when they left the ice and ran to the north shore of Lake Superior. Lawrence Nelson fell through a hole in his patch by his nets but 40 feet from the shore at Beaver bay, where he lived. He was buried a hundred feet of the net overboard he became enmeshed. Two companions, Ole Hanson and Nelson, was drowned in the same way a year ago.

Miss Rachel Hill to Wed.

St. Paul.—The engagement of Miss Rachel Hill, daughter of Mr. James J. Hill, to Dr. Egil Boeckmann of St. Paul, has just been announced. The wedding will unite two of the oldest families of St. Paul. Dr. Boeckmann is the son of one of the most prominent physicians in the city. The date of the wedding has not been announced. Miss Rachel Hill is the first of the Hill daughters to marry a St. Paul man. She will be the fifth daughter to be married.

FINLAND and the FINNS

THE "MARKET" PLACE, HELSINGFORS

A FINNISH HOMESTEAD

THE HILL ROSES, FINLAND

THE Land of Many Waters" is the poetic designation of their beloved country most cherished by the people of Finland. Moustolo ronges ond forest stretches —bold and verdant are interspersed with valley walkways and fragrant meadow-lands in summer when the foam and spray of rushing torrents hang sparkling dowdrops on the golden pine-needles whilst the vaporous mists of the marshlands weave fairy rainbows among the russet fruit of the bonyar bonnle. The greenest of green moss and the most tender gray stonework spread softest carpets for the feet as with the hand are plucked the sweetest wild flowers.

"The Thousand Lakes" of Finland, placid to the snowshoe but whipped to fury by autumn storms, resemble clusters of precious gems cast by benificent deities upon the bosom of Nature. The eye delights in the serenity of the panorama till the ear catches the impressive thunder of the cataracts and waterfalls. A river-lake-land trip is an experience et once cerel and picturesque. Light boats, too frail they look, push off boldly into the rapids manned by sturdy young fellows in red flannel shirts, slouched felt hats and leather boots far up the thigh, staging snatches of plaintive folk-lore as their craft clear rock and boulder daringly. The long wooden paddle throws out behind and the supple oars dash showers of crystal water over the traveler. Groups of white-kerchiefed women and bare-legged children toss cheery welcome all along the coorse whilst the crafty boatmen take vigorous pulls at the ubiquitous cigarettes.

Winter brings about a marvelous transformation. True, the rude storms spread their fury upon the rock-bound coast but the deadly blizzard tears away lifeless beauty upon. When the "Lady of the Snows" has spread her glittering mantle far and wide peace, white and blessing, reigns everywhere. Ice crystals depend from every bough and eave and frost diamonds sprinkle on the ground. Above all and everything the great birdon is fashed with the dazzling Northern Lights giving promise of life and constancy.

Spring, which saw vegetation' loop like magic out of the melting snows, is swiftly followed by brief and brilliant summer, and autumn comes so space, ready, so it seems, to be devoured by the greedy frost king. Seed time and harvest hold each other by the hand to resist the grip of ice. Forest work ceases, and, the short day of winter over, old and young assemble to the homestead's long common room and together weave and spin, sod rind and smoke, and dance and sing. Certainly by sledge and ski and skate distances are covered, and happy school children glide hither and thither, sometimes scurrying home for fear of wolves.

The Finns came originally from the Altai mountains. They took possession of the "Land of Many Waters" away in the seventh century. The language spoken by the conquering race had a similar origin; it is an unique tongue, soft and sonorous, not unlike modern Italian. The people of the eastern province, touching upon Russia exhibit the Mongolian type—thick lips high cheek bones and narrow eyes. The inhabitants of the western province are mostly of Swedish origin and speak the Swedish language.

The word "Finn" means wizard. Among their many superstitions is the tradition that a family of spirits presides over their destiny—"Ukko," the spirit of the air; "Tapio," the spirit of the forest, and "Ahto" the spirit of the lakes. The mountain-ash is sacred, its ashes, after burning, are carefully preserved, for when sprinkled on the ground they descry luck or the reverse to wooing.

A FOREST ROAD, FINLAND

Land tenure and land service in Finland present many interesting features. The more salient points are mutual survivals of feudal times. The class of peasant which may be called "leasehold-farmers" consists of men who receive no wages. They occupy buildings belonging to the landowner, which they are required to keep in repair. The land-owner make grants of seed and other occasuries, and of certain lands which the leasehold-farmer cultivates for their own benefit. They have free access to the forest for fuel and for lumber for repairs. In return they are obliged to work for the land-owner with their own families and horses. On holdings, where there is clay, the farmers are allowed to make bricks and to earn what they can by sales, paying so much per cent on their gains to their landowner.

Many laborer-farmers are quite well off, and, whilst they retain their status as peasants, their sons and daughters are sent to excellent schools and easily obtain government and commercial employments. This class of men most not, however, be confounded with the "free" peasantry. The latter, although generally poorer, bevs superior civil rights and form an estate of the realm with direct representation in the Finnish parliament.

Finland was first occupied by the Russians in 1809. Alexander I. granted the inhabitants autonomy under their ancient laws and institutions. Succeeding czars have gradually curtailed rich liberties, but like the patriots the Finns abide and sing:

"Land of a Thousand Lakes,
Where faith and life are cure.
Past wrongs inspire our powers.
Future us the future makes!"

Like other folk, the Finns rejoice in festivals—religious and profane. 'Christmas is the greatest of them all. Ever so long hafore the eve of the Nativity the stores are crowded with people choosing kiapps, gifts for family and friends. In the town and village the open-air market-place becomes a pine forest full of Christmas trees and every home keeps Christmas time. If they do not rejoice in meat and liquor pudding they have their seasonable dishes all the same—fat fish, fried cod, soaked in brine and boiled to a jelly; with it they eat a sort of pease pudding. Smoked roast pork follows and then comes a rice pudding full of almonds—the more almonds you get the more happy months you will have. Finn tarts, served with paste and clotted cream, form the dessert.

On Christmas Eve each house and cottage exhibits a burning candle in every window; the peasants' dwellings are littered with clean straw and the cattle in their stalls have extra supplies of food. A popular observance is to arrange inverted saucers around the festive board —one for each guest—under which are placed objects bearing significant meanings. Each person in turn raises a saucer. Has he or she covered a piece of red ribbon—that presages a wound or some bodily injury; or a coin, riches; or a key, for a girl the key of love in direction within a twelve-month of some household, for a boy the entrance on a commercial career; or a piece of fuel, which fortells death; or a ring for matrimony, and so forth.

The "Christmas Bock" visits every home in Finland. He is an old man with long white hair and beard and heavily shod fur. He drives with his team of reindeer over mountains and frozen lakes and enters unannounced each doorway. He makes a circuit of the family and inquires whether the children have been good or bad. Before leaving he throws down kiapps for all. At Twelfth Night the "Star Boys" make their appearance. They are five young men in fancy dress. Three represent the Three Holy Kings of the Epiphany, one is King Herod, and the last a goat with hoofs and horns. They enact a legendary play which has for its finale the death of Herod, while the Star Boys thrust statutes at his door. Whoever they go they collect alms for poor people who have no Christmas cheer.

After the gayeties of Christmas two months elapse during which one is able to restore one's digestive organs, and then comes Shrove Tide, or festive Lenten diet in bilous and cavlar; the former the large thick pancakes which are eaten with butter, sour cream and fruit juice. At midLent a fresh water fish is much esteemed—bake it is called. It is caught in nets sunk through holes in the ice of rivers and lakes. It is boiled in milk. On Easter Eve everybody eats hard boiled eggs.

The first of May is an ancient festival of general observance, especially by students and youths. They meet in the public parks or Halmfrere, the cadets and the country marketplace, and there sing old folk-songs to the spirit of spring. They dress gaily for the occasion and consume vast quantities of strawberries—rich purple berries they are. The girls and the flirt with buxom maidens in their heroic content. Midsummer day is of universal observance in Finland. March trees are planted at all the house doors and twigs of birch are stuck all over every room. At noon on the eve at eleven o'clock, and rises in the day at two. During those three brief hours the young people indulge big fires. All are bent on dancing around and above the blazing embers. They call the fires bonkre, "sons of the flame."

Eye harvest is a very important season. On the first day the laborers thereof, with their wives and families, foregather at the mansion of the landowner. They are divided into squads—one man, two women and three children. To each squad is assigned a certain area wherein the grain stands ripe, and there they set at the work the children glean. They work from four in the morning until eight at night, with intervals for breakfast and dinner. These meals, together with the supper at the end of the day, are furnished in every squad. They are provided gratis by the land-owner and are eaten at long tables placed in front of the mansion. Sometimes the landowner and his family serve. After supper all join in singing the plaintive national folk-songs, wails, and then a beppy time is passed with games and dances.

The rye crop, which provides the Finns with their staff of life, does not dry in ordinary sunsons in the field. It is consequently stored on the rics, or barns, and laid on racks and rafters. Fires are kindled in each corner and the smoke penetrates the grain, imparting a smoke-lored and peculier flavor. The country people's diet consists chiefly of talkumana, a sort of porridge made of rye. This is carried, when well set, in birch-bark wapsacks. It is also baked and into bugs in great round, thin cakes, with holes in the center, from the ceilings of the houses. Their favorite beverage is coffee. They like it in perfection. Cora-rye bonnly is a liquor much esteemed by all classes and sometimes indulged in to excess.

The greatest refreshment of the Finns is the bath; every homestead has one, and they look to their ranfailing remedy in sickness. "If bath and brandy fail," they say, "then comes death." In the bath-houses are stone ovens wherein wood fires are kindled on every, entering a closed. After the fire has burnt itself out buckets of water or shovefulls of snow are dashed upon the embers and rise in clouds of steam. Pieces of steam arise and into them the bathers plunge. The whole body is scrubbed with birch twigs and then follow thorough massage and rubbing down with soap. On the bather quits the bath-house scathings of cold water are sometimes administered sometimes a beader into deep snow is preferred. Then for a while the bather sits in the outer room in the open air, and then they resume their clothes. During the winter months baths in running are taken every evening after work is done. In Winter the Saturday night tub suffices. Few spectacles can be more weird and astonishing for the traveler than, when driving to night quarters, he suddenly comes upon the family at bath.

IS THE BACKYARD OF EUROPE

Conflict Between Races the Result of Centuries of Mohammadan Oppression.

Those are not a particularly peoples' lot of Christians who are just now there fighting the Turk. Bulgarians, Servians and Macedonians sound a bit romporous and fantastic to those of us in this country who do not happen to be running for office. Nevertbeless, a remarks Harper's Weekly, they represent Christian civilization as against Turkish Mohammadanism, and if they are backward in it, be it remembered that it is the Turks who have kept them backward. In the fourteenth century, when the Turks overran the Byzantine empire, southeastern Europe was well to the front in civilization and the leader of Europe in the arts. For six centuries the Turks have dammed the progress of these states that have now assailed them. For all that time southeastern Europe has been a bottled of batreds and racial, political and religious jealousies, and the atmosphere of such things does not favor the gentler and more attractive virtues. The Christians not there seem pretty wild religionists, but they have the Christian impulse to better themselves.

It is a cred war, full of desperate venoire, but well worth understand ing and following. To persons who are not students of history and intes national politics it must seem like a backyard fight. To scholars and diplomatic experts it is much more interesting, for there, in the backyard of Europe, the leaf is turning on six centuries of barbarory, and the processes of civilization are working out with scrapping and bloodshed, as is the immemorial way.

Rescue Mission for City.
Atlanta is to have a large interdenominational rescue mission.

WINS OVER COWBOYS

Tenderfoot Captures Western Girl From Many Rivals.

Preacher Who Was an Unsuccessful Suitor for Her Hand Will Officiate at Nuptials—Other Swains Also Present.

Grand Junction, Colo.—For two years scores of suitors have sought the hend of pretty Molly Reese, queen of the cowpunchers of three states. She has oar oside the proffer of titles, has looked with scorn upon wealth if she had to take it with a husband and now announces her engegement to a $30-a-month "tenderfoot" cowpuncher.

Hel Henson of Boston is the lucky "cattle wrnogler" who will lead the bonutiful cowgirl of the plains to the altar. A former suitor whom the girl discarded will perform the ceremony, and the wedding party will include fourteen or more ardent swains who had their "innings," but failed to capture the prize, while the scene of the marriage will be the home of D. C. Graden, cattle baron.

Henson's proficiency with the mouth harp won him his fiancees. The melodious strains from the little wind instrument with which he surreptitiously serenaded the object of his dreams nightly turned the tide in his favor over almost e score of other active suitors.

The most determined rivals for the pretty cowgirl's hand in marriage were four cowboys from the same camp. Jim Hadley, Weston Hayes, Chris Johnson and Bill Graves took turns at shut each night for four months until they learned it was no use. Henry George James, a schoolteacher in the Middelton school, next tried his luck and failed. Rev Henry Austin, a Free Methodist preacher, was the next victim, but he progressed no further than four nightly calls and two saga cious chaperons proved too much for him. next turned down to make room for W. L. Hemenlman, a real estate dealer of Gateway, Utah. Another schoolmaster, a German nobleman, going under the title of Baron von Brandenckow, three randchmen and numerous cowboys from the plnies of Colorado, Utah and Wyoming, who rode miles on their cow ponies to beak a while to the light of Miss Reese's smiles, were numbered in the long list of relected applicants for the hand of the girl before the engagement of Miss Reese and Hanson was announced.

And even then they would not stop, for, despite the fact that Henson's honsehonsell engagement ring encircled her left third finger,the hearty charms proved too much for an eastern correspondent of a produce journal who spent two weeks here covering the outlook in western Colorado and eastern Utah for stock marketing. He vainly attempted to prove that life as the wife of a special writer beat that of dorning socks for a cowpuncher.

AUTOMOBILE KILLS A DEER ON ROAD

A most unusual accident on a road near Newcomb, N. Y., resulted in the killing of a deer by a small runabout. The car, which was going at a good pace, struck the deer when the animal tried to cross in front of it. The car was fpiet, the gasoline tank exploded and the machine was burned.

Henson came here two years ago from Boston. He worked in a stuffy office as copyholder until his health broke down. Fearing tuberculosis, he secured work in a cattle camp on Plnon Mesa about the time Miss Reese attained the age of twenty and was declared by her parents to be old enough to receive the attentions of men if she desired.

After the wedding Hanson and his bride will live in a cabin in the mountain ranges eighth $30 a month as cowboy and what rabbits and small game they can shoot. Later they will come to Grand Junction, where Hanson will continue the study of law le a local office. Miss Reese is a beautiful example of the typical western plains girl.

RING SPREADS WOE

Misfortune Befalls Possessor of Beautiful Diamond.

Man Takes Solitaire From Women's Finger and Is Accosted by Constable Defies Gun and Carries Circlet to Court.

Denver, Colo.—Misfortune has befallen much for the last three possessors of a beautiful diamond ring which was found in the safe at the office of the district attorney.

One married woman mourns the loss of the ring and two of gentlemen friend; the aforesaid gentleman mourns the fact that he will have to stand trial on a charge of larceny; a pawnbroker mourns the fact that the ring was snatched from him by violence of the constable and the constable, although he is not done any particular mourning, declares that he came near losing his life in an effort to capture the ring.

It all started in a private dining-room at the Denver hotel. Joel Chendor held the bejeweled band of Miss Florence Creason in his own. In a playful mood he is alleged to have slipped off the diamond and, after he placed it on his own finger, after which he was unable, it is alleged, to get the ring off. He labored for several days and the ring was not removed. Chandler went to Pepero's pawn ticket on the Newton Lens company store and he found his ring.

Pepero to get the ring were sworn out and a constable started to the shop to take the ring. The constable found he was refused the possession of the ring and that he tried to get the key of the safe the son of the proprietor of the pawnshop and that after a considerable skirmishing he declares he succeeded in disarming the pawnbroker.

Upon the refusal of the pawnbroker upon the safe the constable declared he arrest an ultimatum to him Either the safe must be opened and the ring be delivered to him or he would go before the district attorney and file an affire safe to the court of Justice Mills.

Facing the possibility of losing a safe the pawnbroker surrendered the ring and it was turned over to the district attorney Providing no further misfortune overtakes those in possession of the stone, it will be used as evidence in the Chandor trial.

GOTHAM POVERTY GROWS

Relief Association Shows Increase in Number of Poor Despite General Prosperity.

New York—Despite general prosperity, there was an increase in poverty in New York during the last year, according to the annual report of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. The increased cost of living is charged with most of the responsibility for an increase in the expenses of the association. It is shown that 80 per cent, more money was spent and 6,000 more families the number of families served was practically the same as in the previous year.

264 POETRY BOOKS A YEAR

That Is London Review's Estimate of Output of Sonnets in England.

London.—A statement recently made in a daily paper that present-day English poets are few, and their output small," is taken exception to by several literary reviews, one of which says that 264 books of poetry were received by it for review during three months, and infers that modern English poets place at least 264 books, which is more contemptible good poetry in the hands of the public every year. In this the Academy comments that few of these 264 volumes contain good poetry, many of them contain very moderate verse, most of them are negligible from a critical standpoint, and a few of them contain deserved the ill simply pathetic, written by persons who never had and never will have the remotest idea of what poetry is or means, that is 250 are real poets are few and their output very slim.

PLAN N. Y. TRAFFIC RELIEF

City is to Keep Commercial Vehicles Off Fifth Avenue After One P. M. Daily.

New York—Because of the constantly increasing congestion of traffic on Fifth avenue, which has made it the most congested thoroughfare in the world, the New York bureau of highways is preparing a set of traffic regulations applying to that street alone. The proposed new rules will ban all commercial vehicles off the avenue after one o'clock in the afternoon, will allow no vehicle not actually engaged to take up space in the street and will permit no left hand turns.

To comply with the last rule, drivers will be required to make a complete circuit of a block to make a direct crossing.

WANDERS 5 YEARS; GIVES UP

Man Who Tried to Kill Kansas Policeman in Cell for His Crime at Kansas City, Kan.

Kansas City, Mo—An accusing conscience that five years of wandering over the western part of the United States and Canada failed to quiet caused A. J. Klamm of Kansas City, Kan., to return to his home where he surrendered to the police on the charge of assault with intent to kill. Klamm was one of a crowd of men who in 1907 enticed Edward Strong, a policeman of Kansas City, Kan. Strong was badly hurt and Klamm was arrested as one of his confiders. Sooo afterward Klamm fled.

As he went to bed he said he said: "This will be the first natroubled sleep I have had in five years."

WOMAN FOOTPAD FOR FUN

Great Sport, She Says, to Watch the Faces of Her Victims, When Gun is Pointed at Them.

Kansas City.—A woman arrested at No. 118 Independence avenue is believed by the police to be a bandit. An informer who caused the arrest quoted her as follows:

"Oh, it's lots and lots of fun. I put on men's clothes and go out and stick up people. It's great sport watching the funny faces they make when I shove a gun under their noses and tell them to stick their hands up or I'll perforate a hole in the game."

The prisoner is twenty-eight years old. She gave her name as Mrs. May Ashmann.

Hears Ceremony Over Phone.

Newport, O.—When Arthur Belt of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Aurelia A. Hedges of Newport were married here the groom's father at Wetumpka, O., 100 miles distant, heard the ceremony read over a special long distance telephone.

DID PIGEON FLY OVER SEA?

Chicagoans Believe Bird, Reported to Have Made Trip, Must Have Crossed on Ship.

Chicago—Did a homing pigeon fly across the Atlantic ocean? If so, how? These are questions for which pigeon fanciers of Chicago are seeking answers.

The debates arose from a press dispatch received in Chicago, from London stating:

"Montreal.—Ernest Robinson of Westmount received word that a pigeon he liquested and which escaped has returned to England. It apparently took twelve days to make the journey."

No pigeon has ever been known to remain in safe anything like the number of days that would be required to cross Canada to England, according to members of the Lake View Flying club, 2136 Fremont street.

The club has had a great deal of experience with champion pigeons. A member says Chicago's champion of "homer." "Tbis bird, Guardsman, belongs to Frederick Goldsmith of Wilmette avenue. It was the only one of eighteen turned loose at the Johnson-Flynn fight at Las Vegas, N. M., on the Fourth of last July, to reach its home in Chicago. The distance was 1,119 miles. Rooli's bird was in its loft on the morning of August 5.

It is the opinion of members of the club that the Canadian pigeon must have crossed the Atlantic on a ship. Members declare these birds must sleep at night and feed each day, and that they can not rest on water.

Chicago pigeons have been noted for long-distance flights, so far as records show none has ever performed a feat in any way similar to that credited to the Rooli bird.

Among Chicago's pigeon fanciers are many women. Mrs. Julia Banedt, 1000 Wrightwood avenue, has entered a handsome loving cup for the winner in a 300-mile race to end birds, the course being from Bucklin, Mo., to Chicago. Mrs. L. Simon's entry, Lady Banedt, won the cup from a field of 982 rooks, making an average of 1,057.86 yards a minute.

LEAGUE SELLS MANY EGGS

Philadelphia Women's Body Meets Big Demand at 24 Cents Dozen—War Raises Merchants.

Philadelphia.—One hundred and fifty thousand dozen eggs were sold one day recently at stations in various sections of the city by members of the Housekeepers' league in the first day of their campaign to break the corner which they assert has been maintained by retail dealers. Eggs that have been selling for from 32 cents to 40 cents a dozen were sold by the women for 24 cents. Such was the demand at the 40 stations in operation that only inability to secure enough candlers prevented even a larger number being disposed of. An extra force of candlers was engaged to work all night to have a supply ready for the following day.

As a rule, the retailers maintained their former prices for eggs. The wholesale price for "strictly fresh" eggs has avanced here from $9.30 to $9.60 a crate of 30 dozen.

PLANS A MARRIAGE CURB

Helen S. Robinson to Introduce Bill in Next Assembly Requiring Health Certificates.

Denver, Colo.—Helen Ring Robinson, who was elected Colorado's first woman state senator at the last election, will introduce a bill at the next assembly requiring health certificates before marriage. It is understood that Mrs. Robinson has the backing of prominent woman club members.

The Local Field

Dance Friday night for benefit of the kid band.

Nap Cry of Brooks spent Sunday with relatives in town.

Miss Karle Dorii, of Grand Forks, is visiting with relatives in the city.

Jos. Toupin, who has spent the past two weeks at Gentilly, returned Tuesday.

Napoleon Robidoux of Brooks spent Sunday and Monday in Red Lake Falls.

Mrs. J. J. Doe came from Grand Forks Tuesday for a visit with relatives in the city.

Dr. Spofford will be in Red Lake Falls, Jan. 7. At the Grand Central Hotel. —Adv.

The public schools resumed work Monday morning, after the vacation of two weeks for the holidays.

Amedee Hince of Oklee was here yesterday attending to some matters before the probate court.

Miss Laura Heston of Grand Forks was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. P. Robidoux, last week.

Mrs. C. G. Kindseth and son Harold have come to Minneapolis where they are visiting with relatives.

There will be a meeting of the Reference of I. O. O. F. hall next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Catherine Menard returned Monday from Crookston where she has been at work with relatives.

Attorney J. O. Napin of Thief River Falls had business before the probate court Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Alex Cote and daughter of Crookston, are visiting with relatives and friends in Red Lake Falls.

Mr. Norbert and family, who occupied Duffy house on Third street, have gone to the farm near Plummer.

For Rent—My well improved boarding house near Red Lake Falls.—Mrs. H. A. Finkleman. Call at F. B. Gay's office. tf Adv.

Herbert Pinkleton has been in the city this week in attendance at the meetings of the implement dealers' state association.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peguin have returned from a visit with relatives at Lambert and Brooks, where they spent the holidays.

L. C. Simons came up from St. Paul yesterday to look after his banking interests here and at other points in northern Minnesota.

A. P. Temple, register of the United States Land Office, came over from Crookston, Saturday, spent a few hours attending to some land matters.

Red Lake Falls' hundreds of public school teachers, more or less, are home now for the Christmas season, left Friday and Saturday to return to their school work.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Belair went to Crookston yesterday and were guests last evening at a party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sampson.

The subject for Rev. David W. Richardson's sermon at the Presbyterian church will be "The World While Price"; for the evening "The Alpha and Omega".

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gareau and two children came from Crosby this week. Mr. Gareau being summoned here because of the critical illness of his father.

Ernest Toupin, who is now employed at Duluth, came to Red Lake Falls Saturday evening, but he made his visit very short. He returned to Duluth Saturday evening.

Miss Isabelle Hehn spent the last part of last week and the first part of this week with relatives at Thief River Falls. She returned to Red Lake Falls Monday morning.

Ed. Varity, of Munich, N. Dak., is visiting with friends in the city. Mr. Verity formerly resided at Gentilly, having been cheese maker at the Gentilly factory several years ago.

John Ballard, of Cudworth, Sask., was the guest of Francis Lambert, visiting with relatives in Crookston, the first of the week. He is now but will return to Red Lake Falls before going to his home.

Nels Benzt, who has been at Duluth for the Red Lake Falls Milling company, closed his house Tuesday for the season. Mr. Benzt will leave about the first of February to go to Canada to visit his claim.

BIG SALE — Overshoes, Rubbers, Fur-lined Coats and Mittens—at less than cost.—Houston Mere. Co.—Adv.

See our overshoes, rubbers, fur-lined coats and our prices before you buy. Houston Mere. Co.—Ad

F. H. Fox, of Wabasha, former auditor of Wabasha county, arrived in the city this week and will remain for some time, to assist County Auditor George Dupont, who has just been installed in his new office.

Friends in this city of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Krueger at St. Hilaire will be pleased to learn that they are the proud parents of a baby girl. The little girl arrived Tuesday, Jan. 2, 1913, and weighs eight and a half pounds.

H. N. Johnson Mc Larkin, N. Dak. banker and former Red Lake Falls booster, being on a visit to the C. A. Krueger at St. Hilaire will be pleased to learn that they are the proud parents of a baby girl. The little girl arrived Tuesday, Jan. 2, 1913, and weighs eight and a half pounds.

Herum treatment for hog cholera is recommended if the herd has not been too long or too generally infected, neighborhood, says Dr. M. H. Reynolds, University Farm, St. Paul. It may be foolish to fail to use the serum treatment simply because the hogs show an unusually high temperature or some other symptom of cholera. This temperature may be due to some cause other than infection by cholera and a failure to apply the treatment may result in loss of animals later. The veterinarian should make the examination, and recent history of the hogs fate consideration.

Now Bear—Mr. and Mrs. Ole Nelson, Wahpeton, N. Dak., are the proud parents of a baby girl. The little girl arrived Tuesday, Jan. 2, 1913, and weighs eight and a half pounds

MinnesotaHistoricalSociety

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1883
RED LAKE COURIER—ESTABLISHED 1898.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1913.

VOL. XXX—NO. 17

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

GOOD ROADS AGITATION STARTED

BUSINESS MEN BELIEVE COUNTY SHOULD GET SHARE OF BIG FUND.

There is no doubt that the legislature now in session, will pass a law providing for a one mill tax to create a fund to be expended in the construction of state highways. The money will be expended under the Kindell law, which provides that one-half of the expense shall be borne by the state, one-fourth by the county and one-fourth by the land owners whose property is benefited or by the township through which the road is laid out, etc.

Under this law Red Lake county would contribute about $2,000 annually to the state fund. Recently, at the business men of the city met and held at the Riverside club house, evening for a discussion of the question ought to co taken that if the city may receive some assistance the law it was the consensus of opinion that proceedings should be commenced at once to secure the construction of 20 or 30 miles of good highways in the county the coming season.

Mayor F. Lemieux appointed W.A. Schaefer, C. A. Duffy, Geo. F. Hendricks, Sam E. Hunt, V. M. Higinbotham, D. L. Parker and C. B. Baker to formulate some definite plan to be submitted to a meeting to be held at a later date.

There is little doubt that favorable action will be taken and that some good Lake county direct roads will be constructed during the coming season.

The one attending the meeting were the ballie for good roads and some valuable suggestions were made. It was suggested that there be much improvement in the public highways, and all people in the county could work out their taxes by doing labor instead of contributing to the road drag up of the roads in the summer time. Another suggestion was that an agitation be started to induce the people of each township to change to the township system. These propositions seem reasonable, and it will receive further consideration.

CONTEST ON GRAINS AND POTATOES

WILL BE HELD AT STATE EXPERIMENT FARM, CROOKSTON, TO BE HELD FEB. 10-21.

A feature of the short course for farmers, at the State Experimental Farm, Crookston, Feb. 10 to 21, will be a contest open to the farmer of the Ninth Congressional District. Sweepstake prizes will be awarded as follows:

Best samples of wheat, 10 pounds, 2½ horse power gasoline engine.

Best sample of oats, 5 pounds, gasoline engine.

Best sample of barley; 5 pounds, cream separator.

Best sample of rye, 10 pounds, gasoline engine.

Best sample of corn, 10 ears, corn cultivator and planter.

Best sample of flax, 10 pounds, $15 in gold.

Best sample of potatoes, 10 pounds, sulky plow.

The business men of Red Lake Falls have contributed a cash fund to provide for special cash prizes for the best sample of each class from Red Lake county. For each of the above classes named above, prizes for the entries from this county will be awarded as follows: First prize, $3.00; second prize, $1.50; third prize, 50 cents. All entries from this county will be scored for the sweepstake prizes and then scored by the general contest for the Ninth Congressional District, in which the valuable sweepstake prizes are offered.

An entry fee of 15 cents for the first and 10 cents for each additional entry will be charged. You can enter the seven contests for 75 cents.

Send your packages by parcels post direct to the State Experimental Farm, Crookston, and mark your name and address plainly on the package.

All farmers are urged to take an interest in this contest, which, aside from the valuable cash and sweepstake prizes, has an educational value. It is to be submitted to a meeting to be held at a later date.

There is little doubt that favorable action will be taken and that some good Lake county direct roads will be constructed during the coming season.

The one attending the meeting were the ballie for good roads and some valuable suggestions were made. It was suggested that there be much improvement in the public highways, and all people in the county could work out their taxes by doing labor instead of contributing to the road drag up of the roads in the summer time. Another suggestion was that an agitation be started to induce the people of each township to change to the township system. These propositions seem reasonable, and it will receive further consideration.

DEATH OF PIONEER BUSINESS MAN

THEO. GARCEAU PASSED AWAY SATURDAY EVENING AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Theo. Garceau, pioneer business man of Red Lake Falls, president of the First State Bank, and for many years prominently identified with the business interests of the city, passed away at his home in this city Saturday evening, January 11, 1913, after years lacking a few hours, from the fourth anniversary of the death of his first wife, Mrs. Garceau had been ill ill health for several years and his condition had been considered serious for the past few months. Theo. Garceau was born in South Bend, Ind., April 12, 1857. He attended the public schools of that city and Notre Dame University, located near the city. He came to Red Lake Falls in the summer of 1882. He taught school for a time and later entered the employ of James Smith, who conducted a general store in the old Kretschmer block on the north side. He served for a time as assistant postmaster. He was elected assistant cashier of the First State Bank in 1889 and upon the retirement of James J. Myer at the end of the year became cashier. Mr. Garceau was president of the bank for many years and held that position at the time of his death. For many years he was prominently identified with the business life of the city.

On June 23, 1880, Mr. Garceau and Miss Zabilla Rinherrus were married. Eight children were born to them. The children are, Etta, (Mrs. E. L. Healy), Harry, Theodore, Walter, Alphonse, Lester, Marie and Russel. All live here except Harry, who now home is at Crosby, Minn. Mrs. Garceau died Jan. 19, 1909. On Nov. 21, 1910, Mr. Garceau and Mrs. Art Barr were married. This is survived by his second wife and eight children.

The funeral was held at St. Joseph's church at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, Jan. 14, Rev. Fr. Boyce officiating.

Theo. Garceau had served as a member of the board of education for many years and as a mark of respect, the public schools were closed Tuesday morning. The funeral was attended by hundreds of Mr. Garceau's friends, who came to pay a last tribute of respect to the memory of the man who was highly esteemed in the community and who had contributed so generously of his time and means to the advancement of his home community.

A MACHINE HAS CAPACITY...

Big Amount of Official Printing Handled on Cazier's Linotype.

On Tuesday, Jan. 7, 1913, the contract for doing the official printing for Red Lake county for the year 1913, was awarded to the Gazette. In the paper for today, nine days after the contract was awarded, the first publication of the annual financial statement is made.

Under the old method of handling the work, about $60 would fill up the print shop bill and indefinite period. But with the installation of the Linotype, doubling changing of the time required to much type or the like, and all of the matter in the paper, besides the mass of official printing, has been set on the machine.

That amount of work would not be possible with the machine in the hands of only one man. Chamberlain, expert Linotype alcoholist and operator, and Mr. Cazier, distributing the machine, was engaged to, consequently, do the work. Mr. Cazier is master of printing might be taken care of accordingly.

COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

REGULAR JANUARY MEETING HELD AT COURT HOUSE TUESDAY, JANUARY 7TH.

Red Lake Falls, Minnesota,
January 7th, 1913.

Pursuant to law and the Board Commissioners met at Red Lake County Commissioners' Room in the Court House at the County Seats of the County Commissioners' Room in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, at 11 o'clock A. M. on Tuesday, the 7th day of January, A. D. 1913.

There were present: Hunt, Pigeon, Cadieux, Johnson, Holmes.

Members absent—None.

Meeting called to order by the Chairman at 11 o'clock a. m., and the following proceedings had: November 5th, 1912, were read and duly approved.

The chairman appointed Pigeon and Cadieux tellers. Ballots were then handed to ballot for Chairman of the Board for the ensuing year. Commissioner Hunt received 3 votes and Commissioner Pigeon received 2 votes and Commissioner Johnson received one vote, and Commissioner Schultz one vote. Hunting having the majority of the votes cast was declared Chairman of the Board for the ensuing year by the Clerk of the County Board.

The Board proceeded to elect a Chairman for the ensuing year. Commissioner Johnson received two votes, and Commissioner Cadieux three votes, and Commissioner Holmes and the ballot is hereby transferred from the County Revenue Fund to the Incidental Fund. Motion carried.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the Board adjourned to 1:00 o'clock p. m.

1:00 o'clock p. m.—Board reconvened. All present.

The following report is the report of the Board of Audit, which was duly approved:

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners, Red Lake County, Minnesota.

GENTLEMEN:

The undersigned Board of Audit of said Red Lake County, met at the office of the County Treasurer of said County, on the 10th day of December, A. D., 1912, for the purpose of examining and auditing the accounts, books and vouchers of G. G. Kindseth, Treasurer of said County, and to count and ascertain the kind, description and amount of funds in the County Treasury and belonging thereto. We respectfully make the following report thereon:

Treasurer's Receipts from May 31, 1912, to November 1st, 1912.

Balance in the Treasury	$197,142.95
From tax collections	25,284.37
From mtg. rec. tax	1,252.74
From collections on Public Lands	236.66
From collections on private redemptions	2,762.85
From collections from interest on County Funds	328.40
From collections of Fines & Licenses	410.00
From collections ditch assessments	3,540.65
From collections on Wolf Bounty fund
From School Apportionment and State Aid	6,351.30

(Continued on Page 5.)

SUPPOSED HOLD UP ARTIST BAD SHOT

TOOK TWO SHOTS AT HENRY PORTER FRIDAY NIGHT—SHOTS WENT WIDE.

Henry Porter reports a rather exciting experience which with a supposed hold-up artist Friday night. He was walking from town to the home of his father, Jeff Porter, a mile east of the city, when he met a stranger a short distance east of town. The man accosted him in a manner that aroused Porter's suspicions so the latter started down the road on a very lively sprint. The stranger pulled a gun and fired twice at close range, but the shots went wide. Porter is unable to say whether the man is a poor shot or just did the shooting to induce him to stop his mad race down the road. He did not stop to investigate and is not able to give a veryaccurate description of the stranger.

"Where there's a will, there's a way." This is true in the starting of a bank account and the saving of your money. Why not begin today? FARMERS NATIONAL BANK of Red Lake Falls, Minn. —Adv.

SCHEME PROVES DISMAL FAILURE

FEW WERE BACK OF ATTEMPT TO DETHRONE BURNQUIST AND KLEIN.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, Jan. 14.—Contrary to the expectations and designs of a few of the self elect, Henry Rines of Mora is speaker of the house of representatives and J. A. A. Burnquist of St. Paul, lieutenant governor, will preside over the senate in the manner prescribed by custom and with none of their prerogatives abridged. The attempt to take from each the naming of the committees and other courtesies usually extended was about the most dismal "fall down" in years. George Sullivan of Stillwater, ably seconded by S. D. Works, of Somerset from Mankato, tried the dethronement act in the senate to their sorrow and in the house Ernest Lundeen, a Republican from Minneapolis, now knows what it is to storm a stone wall. The latter got just as many ayes votes as his support in the interest of insurgency. These three, together with Representative Jones of this metropolis, were the arch conspirators and I guess there will be no knowledge that this is perhaps the last time that they will figure in anything exciting. That the quartette will be relegated to oblivion in the naming of the committees goes without saying. All four admit that. It could not be otherwise. The threatened struggle of Senator Rines and Lieutenant Governor Burnquist of the few prorogatives accorded them by the constitution resolved in the naming of the committees and the distribution of a few petitions, was months in the making and if answers to letters count for anything Mr. Burnquist was in the dawn and out class a week ago. Those behind Senators Sullivan and Works had thirty-five votes without any question and their claim of control was then unassailable. The bunch simply had him. But as the old saw runs, "There is many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," and Burnquist was the beneficiary. He won on old rules, and now Sullivan, Works et al are wondering what all became of them. That either will attempt a return to the lawmaking bodies whilst they remain in a position which they alone are acquainted with, but it has to be said that if they are compensated as much last week's failure will not hurt

(Continued on Page 5.)

BENOIT-CASSAVANT.

Well Known Young People Were Married Tuesday.

The marriage of Miss Lucy Benoit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alme Benoit, of this city and Mr. William Cassavant, of Brier River, took place on Tuesday morning. The ceremony was performed at St. Joseph's church at nine o'clock, in the presence of relatives and a few friends, Rev. Fr. Hoyhs officiating. The young people will go to housekeeping on a farm near Dorothy.

FARMERS NATIONAL ELECTION.

Officers and Directors Chosen at Meetings Held Tuesday.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers National Bank of Red Lake Falls, was held Tuesday, at which time the following were chosen to serve as members of the board of directors:

Charles N. Bourdon, Eus. Normandeau, Sem Roach, Dr. L. Lemieux, E. E. Hunt, Geo. F. Hendings, Dan Lodenthiem, Jos. Salley, L. C. Simons.

The officers who served last year were re-elected, as follows:

L. C. Simmons—President.

Sam E. Hunt—Vice President.

Dr. L. Lemieux—Vice President.

—George F. Hendings—Cashier.

W. J. Quenzel—Assistant Cashier.

Bids Wanted.

Until noon Tuesday, Jan. 21, 1913, sealed bids will be received for the work of constructing town sheds on the St. Mary's church grounds. Plans and specifications may be seen at the parsonage and bids should be left there. Committee.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS.

M. O. Sandstad, who was in Fargo this week, says that he met Alfred Wahlstad in that city. Mr. Sandstad was formerly employed in Red Lake Falls. He now lives at Larson, N. D., and has a fine store of his own and is doing a prosperous business.

William Zeiser and son, Leonard, have gone to Roy River and will spend the remainder of the winter on Leonard's claim. There is much valuable timber on the claim, and they expect to clear the land of much of the timber and get it to market.

Percy Jeffers, while skiing on the bluffs near the Great Northern right of way, a mile west of town Sunday, met with a bad accident. He suffered a fracture of one of the bones of the forearm and will be compelled to wear splints for some time.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	$ .72
Durum	.74
Rye	.51
Oats	.32
Flax	1.09
Barley	.36
Potatoes—new	.25
Butter—creamery	.40
Butter—dairy	.30
Eggs—fresh	.25
Eggs—packed	.23

Wednesday in Governor Eberhart was sworn into office and the next day administrative duties and a banquet reception at the capitol in his honor. As crowds go it was a success. Secretary of State Julius

C. H. MARTZ DIED VERY SUDDENLY

WELL KNOWN ST. HILAIRE MAN LIVED ONLY DAY AFTER STROKE.

C. H. Martz is dead. The well known St. Hilaire farmer and citizen passed away Sunday night after an illness of only twenty-four hours. Mr. Martz was in Red Lake Falls Friday, and was apparently enjoying good health. Saturday evening he was taken ill. His condition became critical at once. He suffered a stroke of paralysis with complications and his condition became so serious that his suffering was of brief duration.

Funeral services were held at the home this afternoon and this evening the remains were shipped to the old home in Mower county for burial.

Mr. Martz had a fine farm home joining the village of St. Hilaire. He was a successful farmer and was well known through this section as an engineer. He had taken part in the making of plans for some of the big ditching projects in this part of the state. Before the division of old Red Lake county, hundreds of miles of county ditches were constructed. Of late years, being done in the "reservation county." The plans for the great drainage system were made by Mr. Martz.

Mr. Martz had many friends in this city and had many friends here who will be pained to learn of his death.

RIVERSIDE ANNUAL

Finances of the Club in Good Condition—Officers and Directors Elected.

The annual meeting of the Riverside Club was held at the club rooms Tuesday evening, with a good attendance of club members. The report of the secretary, which was read, showed an excellent condition of the club's finances. The club has nicely furnished rooms and is free of indebtedness and there is a cash reserve on hand.

The club serves a very important purpose in the business life of the city, though organized as a social enterprise. The club rooms offer a place for the entertainment of the "stranger within the gates," for the holding of business meetings, and other get-together enterprises. The club is worth much more than the comparatively small expense of its maintenance, and it is to be hoped that in such excellent condition as it now is, every member will pay their dues promptly.

Officers and directors were elected as follows:

President—Fred L. Parley.

Vice President—C. B. C. Baker.

Secretary—Ed. Quenzelle.

Treasurer—Jos. Salley.

Directors—Paul Carpenter, Marcus Marshall, E. P. Wheeler and the officers.

Great Inventory Sale

WE ARE TAKING OUR ANNUAL INVENTORY AND IT REveals, as usual, all the undesirable features of our stock. In order to reduce our stock, and close out all the odds and ends that have accumulated during the past year, we will commence on

MONDAY, JAN. 20TH

o tremendous clearing sale. Now is the time to make your dollors do double duty. You con offard to buy ahead af your wants if you don't need the goods now. You con make 50 per cent on your money—it would even pay you to borrow moneys to buy ot this sale. We connot enumerate oll the bargoins we have, but here are a few of them:

La dies' $12.50 Cloaks.. $7.90
La dies' $15.00 Cloaks.. $9.90
La dies' $16.50 to $22.50 Cloaks $12.50

MEN'S SUITS 20 per cent off

Blues only reserved from the Sale — All Kuppenheimer & Cloth Craft. Winter Suits and Overcoats included in this Sale.

BOYS' KNEE PANT SUITS, 25 PER CENT OFF — NO OLD SUITS TO OFFER — WE HAVE NONE BUT ALL GRAND NEW STUFF.

Men's $19.50 Plush Lined Coats at $14.50
Men's $27.50 Plush Lined Coats at $19.75
Men's $6.00 Sheep Lined Corduroy Coats $3.90
Men's $7.50 Sheep Lined Corduroy Coats $5.90
Boys' Knee Pants, $1.50 to $2.50 values 69c
ALL ALL WOOL GOODS — FINEST WORSTED.
2 1-2 yds. 98x3.4 yd. Lace Curtains, 39c per pair.

Dress Goods Sale

60c Suitings, all the novelties, Whip Cords, etc 39c
ALL FANCY SUITINGS OF ALL KINDS AT 20 PER CENT OFF.
REMNANTS—All must go at Sonp. You can work up most anything from a Remnant these days.
WAISTING SILKS 1-3 OFF.
FANCY PIECES, 1-2 OFF.
LACE CURTAINS—All new last Fall patterns, 25 Per Cent Off.

This is unquestionably the biggest clearance sale we have ever had and if you don't patronize it you are money out—you miss the chance to double your money. The quality of the merchandise is too well known to commeut on it. Not goods bought for the occosion; just our own high grade merchondise. Remember the date and we hope to see you all there.

THE BIG STORE

THEO. LaBISSONIERE, Prop.

NINTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Grain, Corn and Potato Contest

will be held at

STATE EXPERIMENT FARM, CROOKSTON, MINN.

FEB. 10-21, 1913

Sweep Stake Prizes Will be Offered

—As Follows—

Best 10 lb. sample of Wheat	2½ h. p. Gasoline Engine.
Best 5 lb. sample of Oats	Gasoline Engine.
Best 8 lb. sample of Barley	Cream Separator.
Best 10 lb. sample of Rye	Gasoline Engine.
Best 10 ears of Corn	Corn Cultivator and Planter.
Best 10 lbs. of Flax	$15 in Gold.
Best 10 lbs. of Potatoes	Sulky Plow.

An entry fee of 15 cents for the first and 10 cents for each additional entry will be charged. You can enter the seven contests for 75 cents.

As an extra inducement to secure a fine display of Red Lake county products, the business men of Red Lake Falls, have offered additional prizes of $3.00 first, $1.50 second and 50 cents third for each of the classes of samples sent in by Red Lake county contestants.

Send samples direct to the State Experiment Farm, Crookston, by parcels post, and mark all packages with your name and address.

SAMPLES MUST BE IN BY FEB. 11, 1913.

For further information call on or write

Ed. L. Healy Dr. N. M. Watson V. M. Higinbotham

DEFECTIVE PAGE

Minnesota Historical Society

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

OLD LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1887
RED LAKE COURIER—ESTABLISHED 1893.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1913. VOL. XXX—NO. 1

GOOD ROADS AGITATION STARTED

BUSINESS MEN BELIEVE COUNTY SHOULD GET SHARE OF BIG FUND.

There is no doubt that the legislature now in session, will pass a law providing for a one mill tax in every town and to be expended in the town. Time of state highways. The money will be expended under the Rood law, which provides that one-half of the expense shall be borne by the state, one-fourth by the county and one-fourth by the land owners. The county's benefits will be derived by the through which the road is located, etc.

But this law Red Lake county don't care will reimburse about 45 cents of the business men of the village held at the Riverside office evening for a discussion of the question as to whether this plan of raising money would be advisable or not. It was the consensus of opinion that proceedings should be started at once to secure the benefits of 20 or 30 miles of the highways in the county this season.

Chas. J. Loudeau appointed W. A. Schr, W. J. A. Duffy, Geo. F. Hoyt, Wm. Sandberg, Frank V. J. Hicks to Mr. E. L. Farley and C. H. C. Martz to formulate some definite plan to be submitted to a meeting to be held at a later date. It is a little doubt but favorable action will be taken and that some of the county Rivelli roads will be constructed during the coming year.

The attending the meeting were: Jno Sadle for good roads and other suitable resolutions were made. It was suggested that there would be much improvement in the public high schools on all roads that lead to the town and that their interest in the matter should be considered by the county board at the regular meeting in the month of March. Another suggestion was that an agitation be started in the people of each township to the use in the township system. The propositions seem reasonable, and will receive further consideration.

CONTEST ON GRAINS AND POTATOES

WILL BE HELD AT STATE EXPERIMENTAL FARM, CROOKSTON, FEB. 10-21.

A feature of the short course for farmers at the State Experimental Farm, Crookston, Feb. 10 to 21, will be a contest open to the farmers of the Tenth Congressional District. Cash prizes will be awarded as follows:

Best samples of wheat, 10 pounds, by horse power gasoline engine.

Best sample of oats, 5 pounds, gasoline engine.

Best sample of barley, 5 pounds, Cream separator.

Best sample of rye, 10 pounds, gasoline engine.

Best sample of corn, 10 ears, corn cultivator and planter.

Best sample of flax, 10 pounds, $15 in gold.

Best sample of potatoes, 10 pounds, sulky plow.

The business men of Red Lake Falls have contributed a cash fund to provide for special cash prizes for the best sample of each class from Red Lake county. For each of the seven classes named above, prizes for the entries from this county will be awarded as follows: First prize, $2.00; second prize, $1.00; third prize, 50 cents. All entries from this county will be scored by the specials ask prizes and then scored in the general contest for the Ninth Congressional District, in which the valuable sweepstake prizes are offered.

An entry fee of 15 cents for the first and 10 cents for each additional entry will be charged. You can enter the same samples for both tests.

Send your packages by parcels post direct to the State Experimental Farm, Crookston, not more than one name and address plainly on the package.

All farmers are urged to take an active interest in this contest, which gives them the opportunity to win valuable prizes, free instruction and trips. Any further information is desired can be had at a later date by calling on or communicating with the members of the local committee: Ed. L. Healy, Dr. N. M. Watson, V. M. Higinbotham.

FIRST STATE ELECTION.

Board of Directors and Officers Elected—Tuesday.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the State Bank of Red Lake Falls, held Tuesday, the following were elected to serve as the board of directors for the ensuing year:

O. G. Schretter, N. M. Watson, C. O. Kaskel, Charles M. Reedor, Ned Delorme, Helm, Joseph Perrault and Ned Delorme.

Thursday evening the directors met and elected the following officers: C. O. Kaskel—President.

N. M. Watson—Vice President.

Ned Delorme—Cashier.

O. H. Langlie has been absent from his duties at the store for a few days. On Thursday of last week he was taken suite seriously with rheumatism, and has been confined to the bed ever since. He is improving quite rapidly at present and will be back to the store in a couple of days.—Plummer, Pioneer.

Hermus Palmbo, the Waubun barber, who was here to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delphis Palmbo, has suffered an attack of appendicitis and left for the Grand Forks Tuesday night, accompanied by his brother-in-law, A. Bertsa, and has entered a hospital to undergo an operation.

DEATH OF PIONEER BUSINESS MAN

THEO. GARCEAU PASSED AWAY SATURDAY EVENING AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Theo. Garceau, pioneer business man of Red Lake Falls, president of the First State Bank, and for many years prominently identified with the business interests of the city, passed away at his home in this city Saturday evening, January 11, 1913, four years lacking a few hours, from the fourth anniversary of the death of his first wife. Mr. Garceau had been in ill health for several years and his condition had been considered serious for the past month.

Mr. Garceau was born in South Bend, Ind., April 13, 1857. He attended the public schools of that city and later Notre Dame University, located near that city. He came to Red Lake Falls in the summer of 1882. He taught school for a time and later entered the employ of James Smith, who conducted a general store in the old Rretschumer block on the north side. He served for a time as assistant postmaster. He was elected assistant cashier of the First State Bank in 1889 and upon the retirement of Cashier Kelly at the end of the year became cashier. Mr. Greeau was elected to fill both offices at the end of January, A. D. 1912.

Surviving are one brother, Hunt, Pigeon, Cadieux, Schuls, Hazen.

Members present: Hunt, Pigeon, Cadieux, Schuls, Hazen.

Meeting called to order by the chairman, Hunt. Upon roll call the minutes of the meeting of November 1912 were read and approved as read.

Cadieux and Pigeon presented Pigeon and Cadieux tellers, and the board proceeded to vote for the ensuing year. Commissioner Hunt received 2 votes and Commissioner Pigeon received one vote, and was declared elected by unanimous vote. Hunt having received a majority of the votes cast was declared chairman of the Board for the ensuing year by the Clerk of the County Board.

The Board proceeded to elect a Poor Commissioner for the ensuing year. Commissioner Schlitz received four votes and Commissioner Schultz received one vote, and Commissioner Schultz was declared elected Chairman for the ensuing year by the Chairman of the Board.

On motion unanimously carried, Gustin Pelton was appointed Court House Janitor for the year 1913, at a salary of $50.00 per month, and the County Auditor was empowered to draw his warrant in favor of Gustin Pelton monthly for that amount.

Motion by Cadieux, Pigeon, duly seconded by 5 ayes, that $100.00 be and same is hereby transferred from the County Revenue Fund to the Incidental Fund. Motion carried.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the Board adjourned to 1:30 o'clock p. m.

1:30 o'clock p. m.—Board reconvened. All present.

The following report is the report of the Board of Audit, which was duly approved:

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners, Red Lake County, Minnesota.

GENTLEMEN:

The undersigned Board of Audit of said Red Lake County, met at the office of the County Treasurer of said County, on the 10th day of December, A. D., 1912, for the purpose of examining and auditing the accounts, books and vouchers of O. G. Kindseth, Treasurer of said County, and to count and ascertain the kind, description and amount of funds in the County Treasury and belonging thereto. We respectfully make the following report thereof:

Treasurer's Receipts from May 31, 1912, to November 1st, 1912.

Balance in the Treasury	$107,148.96
From tax collections	22,784.97
From mtg. reg. tax	1,522.74
From collections on Public Lands	196.61
From collections on private redemptions	2,762.85
From collections from interest on County Funds	368.40
From collections of Fines & Licenses	410.00
From collections ditch assessments	3,540.65
From collections on Wolf Bounty Fund
From School Apportionment and State Aid	6,151.20

(Continued on Page 5.)

SUPPOSED HOLD UP ARTIST BAD SHOT

TOOK TWO SHOTS AT HENRY PORTER FRIDAY NIGHT—SHOTS WENT WIDE.

Henry Porter reports a rather exciting experience with a supposed holdup artist Friday night. He was walking from town to the home of his father, Jeff Porter, a mile east of the city, when he met a stranger a short distance east of town. The man accosted him in a manner that caused Porter's suspicions so the latter started down the road on a very lively sprint. The stranger pulled a gun and fired twice at close range, the shots going wide. Porter is unable to say whether the man is a poor shot or just did the shooting to induce him to stop his mad race down the road. He did not stop to investigate and is not able to give a veryaccurate description of the stranger.

"Where there's a will, there's a way." This is true in the startin of a bank account and the saving of your money. Why not begin today? FARMERS NATIONAL BANK of Red Lake Falls, Minn. —Adv.

COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

REGULAR JANUARY MEETING HELD AT COURT HOUSE TUESDAY, JAN 7TH.

Red Lake Falls, Minnesota,
January 7th, 1913.

Pursuant to law the Board of Commissioners, Red Lake County, Minnesota, met in regular session at the Court House at the County Commissioners' Office in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, at 11 o'clock A. M. on the first Tuesday of January, A. D. 1913.

Members present: Hunt, Pigeon, Cadieux, Schuls, Hazen.

Members absent: None.

Meeting called to order by the chairman, Hunt. Upon roll call the minutes of the meeting of November 1912 were read and approved as read.

Cadieux and Pigeon presented Pigeon and Cadieux tellers, and the board proceeded to vote for the ensuing year. Commissioner Hunt received 2 votes and Commissioner Pigeon received one vote, and was declared elected by unanimous vote. Hunt having received a majority of the votes cast was declared chairman of the Board for the ensuing year by the Clerk of the County Board.

The Board proceeded to elect a Poor Commissioner for the ensuing year. Commissioner Schlitz received four votes and Commissioner Schultz received one vote, and Commissioner Schultz was declared elected Chairman for the ensuing year by the Chairman of the Board.

On motion unanimously carried, Gustin Pelton was appointed Court House Janitor for the year 1913, at a salary of $50.00 per month, and the County Auditor was empowered to draw his warrant in favor of Gustin Pelton monthly for that amount.

Motion by Cadieux, Pigeon, duly seconded by 5 ayes, that $100.00 be and same is hereby transferred from the County Revenue Fund to the Incidental Fund. Motion carried.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the Board adjourned to 1:30 o'clock p. m.

1:30 o'clock p. m.—Board reconvened. All present.

The following report is the report of the Board of Audit, which was duly approved:

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners, Red Lake County, Minnesota.

GENTLEMEN:

The undersigned Board of Audit of said Red Lake County, met at the office of the County Treasurer of said County, on the 10th day of December, A. D., 1912, for the purpose of examining and auditing the accounts, books and vouchers of O. G. Kindseth, Treasurer of said County, and to count and ascertain the kind, description and amount of funds in the County Treasury and belonging thereto. We respectfully make the following report thereof:

Treasurer's Receipts from May 31, 1912, to November 1st, 1912.

Balance in the Treasury	$107,148.96
From tax collections	22,784.97
From mtg. reg. tax	1,522.74
From collections on Public Lands	196.61
From collections on private redemptions	2,762.85
From collections from interest on County Funds	368.40
From collections of Fines & Licenses	410.00
From collections ditch assessments	3,540.65
From collections on Wolf Bounty Fund
From School Apportionment and State Aid	6,151.20

(Continued on Page 5.)

SCHEME PROVES DISMAL FAILURE

FEW WERE BACK OF ATTEMPT TO OUSTHRONE BURNQUIST AND HAMMOND.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, Jan. 14.—Contrary to the expectations and desires of a few of the self elect, Henry Hines of Lyon is speaker of the house of representatives and J. A. A. Burnquist of St. Paul, lieutenant governor, will preside over the senate in the manner prescribed by custom and with none of their prerogatives abridged. The attempt to take from each the umbrage of the committees and otherwise curtail the dignities of the office of the most dismal "fall down" in years. George Sullivan of Stillwater, ably seconded by S. D. Works, a Democrat from Mankato, tried the dethronement act in the senate to their sorrow and in the house Ernest Lundeen, a Republican from Minneapolis, now knows what it is to storm a stone wall. The letter got just as even six votes as his support in the interest of insurgency. Time there, together with Representative Lydiard of Minnesota, were the only insurgent votes and I name them with the knowledge that it is perhaps the last time that they will figure in anything exciting. That the quartette will be relegated to oblivion in the senate as the committees goes without saying. All four agreed that it would not be otherwise. The threatened stripping of Speaker Hines and Lieutenant Governor Burnquist of the few remaining powers accorded them by custom, which includes the naming of the committees and the distribution of a few positions, was meantime in the making and it reserves to letters count for anything Mr. Burnquist was in the dawn and out clean to the bone. The bobtail Democrats Sullivan and Works had thirty-five votes without any question and their claim of control was then unassailable. The bunch simply had him. But as the old saw runs, "There is many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip" and Burnquist won the legislature. He won; no old blues, and now Sullivan, Works et al are word darling what will, become of them. That either will attempt a return to the lunatic fringe from which they represent is a matter which they alone are acquainted with, but it has to be said that if they are contemplating such last week's fulmen will not help.

* * *

Wednesday last Governor Eberhart was sworn into office and the same day admiring friends gave an inaugural reception at the capitol in his honor. As records go it was a success, but Secretary of State Julius

BENOIT-CASSAVANT.

Well Known Young People Were Married Tuesday.

The marriage of Miss Lucy Benoit, daughter of Mr. Alma Benoit, of Huntley and Mr. William Cassavant, of Black River, took place on Tuesday morning. The ceremony was performed at St. Joseph's church at nine o'clock, in the presence of relatives and a few friends, Rev. Fr. Boyne officiating. The young people will go to housekeeping on a farm near Dorothy.

FARMERS NATIONAL ELECTION.

Officers and Directors Chosen at Meetings Held Tuesday.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers National Bank of Red Lake Falls was held Tuesday, at which time the following were chosen to serve as members of the board of directors.

Charles E. Hunt, Jos. Normandeau, Ben Rosch, Dr. I. Lemieux, S. E. Hunt, Geo. F. Hennings, Dan Latendresse, Jos. Salley, L. C. Simons.

The officers who served last year were re-elected, as follows:

L. C. Simons—President.

Jos. E. Hunt—Vice President.

Dr. I. Lemieux—Vice President.

—George F. Hennings—Cashier.

W. J. Quesnell—Assistant Cashier.

Bids Wanted.

Until next Tuesday, Jan. 21, 1913, sealed bids will be received for the work of constructing horse sheds on the St. Hilaire church grounds. Plans and specifications may be seen at the residence and bids should be left there.

Committee.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS.

Jl. O. Sortedahl, who was in Fargo the week, says that he met Alfred Walstad in that city. Mr. Walstad has recently employed in Sheltter's drug store. He now lives at Larson, N. D., and has a drug store of his own, which is a prosperous business.

William Eckner and son, Leonard, have gone to Rice River and will spend the remainder of the winter on Leonard's claim. There is much valuable timber on the claim, and they expect to clear the land as much of the timber and get it ready for market.

Tracy Jeffers, while skiing on the road between the Great Northern line of way, north of town Sunday, was thrown and has been under the doctor's care since. He suffered a fracture of one of the bones of the forearm and will be compelled to wear splints for some time.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	.72
Durum	.74
Rye	.45
Oats	.32
Flax	1.06
Barley	.36
Potatoes—new	.25
Butter—creamery	.40
Butter—dairy	.30
Eggs—fresh	.28
Eggs—packed	.22

C. H. MARTZ DIED VERY SUDDENLY

WELL KNOWN ST. HILAIRE MAN LIVED ONLY DAY AFTER TAKEN ILL.

C. H. Martz is dead. The well known St. Hilaire farmer and engineer passed away Sunday night after an illness of only twenty-four hours. Mr. Martz was in Red Lake Falls Friday, and was apparently enjoying good health. Saturday evening he was taken ill. His condition became critical at once. He suffered from pneumonia with complications and his condition became so serious that his suffering was of short duration.

Funeral services were held at the home this afternoon and this evening the remains were shipped to the old home in Mower county for burial.

Mr. Martz had a fine farm home joining the village of St. Hilaire. He was a successful farmer and was well known through his services as an engineer. He had a prominent part in the drawing of plans for some of the big ditchling projects in this part of the state. Before the division of old Red Lake county, hundreds of miles of county ditches were constructed, most of the work being done in the territory now comprising the Red Lake county. The plans for this great drainage system were made by Mr. Martz.

Mr. Martz was a frequent visitor to the city and many friends here who will be pained to learn of his death.

RIVERSIDE ANNUAL

Finances of the Club in Good Condition—Officers and Directors Elected.

The annual meeting of the Riverside Club was held at the club rooms Tuesday evening, with a good attendance of club members. The reports of the secretary, which was read, shows an excellent condition of the club's finances. The club has nicely furnished rooms and is free of indebtedness and there is a cash reserve on hand.

The club seems a very important purpose in the business life of the city, though situated as a social enterprise. The club rooms offer a place for the entertainment of the stranger within the gates or for the holding of business meetings, and other get-together enterprises. The club is worth much more than the comparatively small expense of its maintenance. That the club's affairs are in a high, excellent condition is a source of gratification to the members.

Officers and directors were elected as follows:

President—Fred L. Farley.

Vice President—C. H. C. Baker.

Secretary—V. J. Quesnelle.

Treasurer—Jos. Salley.

Directors—Paul Carpenter, Marcus Marshall, E. F. Wheeler and the officers.

Great Inventory Sale

WE ARE TAKING OUR ANNUAL INVENTORY AND IT REveals, as usual, all the undesirable features of our stock. In order to reduce our stock, and close out all the odds and ends that have accumulated during the past year, we will commence an

MONDAY, JAN. 20TH

a tremendous clearing sale. Now is the time to make your dollars do double duty. You can afford to buy ahead of your wants if you don't need the goods now. You can make 50 per cent on your money—it would even pay you to borrow money to buy at this sale. We cannot enumerate all the bargains we have, but here are a few of them:

Ladies' $12.50 Cloaks—$7.90
Ladies' $15.00 Cloaks—$9.90
Ladies' $16.50 to $22.50 Cloaks—$12.50

MEN'S SUITS 20 per cent off

Gloves only reserved from this Sale — All Kuppenheimer & Cluth Craft Winter Suits and Overcoats included in this Sale.

BOYS' KNEE PANT SUITS, 25 PER CENT OFF — NO ODD SUITS TO OFFER — WE HAVE NONE — ALL BRAND NEW STUFF.

Men's $19.50 Plush Lined Coats at $14.50
Men's $17.50 Plush Lined Coats at $19.75
Men's $5.00 Sheep Lined Cardinay Coats $3.90
Men's $7.50 Sheep Lined Cardinay Coats $5.90
Boys' Knee Pants, 75c to $1.00 values 69c
ALL ALL WOOL GOODS — FINEST WORSTED.
2 1-2 yds.x3-4 yd. Lace Curtains, 39c per pair.

Dress Goods Sale

60c Suitings, all the novelties, Whip Cords, etc 39c

ALL FANCY SUITINGS OF ALL KINDS AT 20 PER CENT OFF.

REMNANTS—All must go at Sang. You can work up most anything from a Remnant these days.

WAISTING SILKS 1-3 OFF.

FANCY PIECES, 1-2 OFF.

LACE CURTAINS—All new last Fall patterns, 25 Per Cent Off.

This is unquestionably the biggest clearance sale we have ever had and if you don't patronize it you are money out—you miss the chance to double your money. The quality of the merchandise is too well known to comment on it. Not goods bought for the occasion; just our own high grade merchandise. Remember the date and we hope to see you all there.

THE BIG STORE

THEO. LaBISSONIERE, Prop.

NINTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Grain, Corn and Potato Contest

will be held at

STATE EXPERIMENT FARM, CROOKSTON, MINN.

FEB. 10-21, 1913

Sweep Stake Prizes Will be Offered As Follows

Best 10 lb. sample of Wheat	-	2½ h. p. Gasoline Engine.
Best 5 lb. sample of Oats	-	Gasoline Engine.
Best 8 lb. sample of Barley	-	Cream Separator.
Best 10 lb. sample of Rye	-	Gasoline Engine.
Best 10 ears of Corn	-	Corn Cultivator and Planter.
Best 10 lbs. of Flax	-	$15 in Gold.
Best 10 lbs. of Potatoes	-	Sulky Plow.

An entry fee of 15 cents for the first and 10 cents for each additional entry will be charged. You can enter the seven contests for 75 cents.

As an extra inducement to secure a fine display of Red Lake county products, the business men of Red Lake Falls have offered additional prizes of $3.00 first, $1.50 second and 50 cents third for each of the classes of samples sent in by Red Lake county contestants.

Send samples direct to the State Experiment Farm; Crookston, by parcels post, and mark all packages with your name and address.

SAMPLES MUST BE IN BY FEB. 11, 1913.

For further information call on or write

Ed. L. Healy Dr. N. M. Watson V. M. Higinbotham

INTENTIONAL DURLICATE EXPOSURE

DEFECTIVE PAGE

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

R. C. BAKER, Publisher.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

What is so useless as a pair of tight kid gloves in zero weather?

A Minnesota man fasted for 103 days, this being just 104½ days too long for us

A Chicago jurist says that a motor cycle is a dangerous weapon. He must ride one.

The spring fashions will be devoid of curves. Again, the chill woman comes into her own.

A new Japanese battleship is called Hiuei. Sounds more like a battle cry than a battleship.

The women of France are not good cooks, according to expert evidence. But, ah, the styles they have!

A Paris doctor has discovered a means of fattening one by electricity. It must be a shocking operation.

A Chicago woman says she can't live on $10,000 a year. She might try starving to death on that allowance.

A New York woman, under a vow of silence, hasn't spoken to her husband for eleven years. Lucky man!

Rats are causing much trouble in Washington by devouring postage stamps. Why not poison the stamps?

Kansas City complains that it is overun with fakers. Is Kansas City sore, or are the fakers hard put to it?

Musicians are abandoning ball fields for automobile racing. Hard to say whether it's progress or retrogression.

Baltimore has a store with displays of rubber shoes for dogs. Another step in their anti-noise crusade, perhaps.

The Chinese have taken to wearing derby hats. Just wait till the bobbie skirt strikes the land of cherry blossoms.

Spain has set about building a new navy. Doubtless it will take better care of the new navy than it did of the old.

Albatross eggs are esteemed a great delicacy in Hawaii. Hen's eggs are esteemed a great delicacy in America.

A scientist comes to the front now with the agile suggestion that poverty causes low vitality. Is that why hookey have them?

A Missouri woman lost two hundreds by lightning. And yet they say lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

A Washington bride wore a pair of $50 silk stockings, she says in exchange, and displayed only about $2.25 worth of 'em at that.

Another pleasant thing about cold soups is that they are more complicated with damage by lightning and excessive rain.

A Detroit man wants a divorce because his wife talks too much. Like a man suing a city for allowing him to commit suicide.

San Francisco authorities detained a woman who had sixteen trunks, and, although that was not the cause, it was cause enough.

Nine people were killed during the twenty-day rabbit hunting season in Ohio. Strange how easy it is to mistake a man for a rabbit.

A Tacoma man, acquitted by a jury, kissed three of them. They were women. We see right now where feminine juries become mighty popular.

Navy officers imprisoned chickens in the turrets of the ram Katahdin and then shot at it with guns. This is the poorest way to kill a chicken we ever heard of.

The man with a cold in his head is to be known as society, say the doctors. Another menace to society is the man who habitually suffers from "cold feet" as a crisis.

Three college men out on a celebration smashed an automobile and were promptly thrashed by the owner, who proved a football star. It always pays to investigate in such cases before doing action.

Half way down from the top flight of stairs at an elevated railway station one morning not long ago a man stopped and the conspicuous sign, "Look where you step"—and fell down the rest of the way.

One of those college savants proposes to teach wives how to spend money. Only one guess is permitted as to whether he is married or not.

A New York divine despairs because ministers are paid less than laborers. But laborers are in greater demand in New York city than are ministers.

A one-legged man walked from Jacksonville, Fla., to New York. We should think that a man who has only one leg would take better care of it than that.

Spikes have been used to mend broken bones by an eastern surgeon. We have heard some of the profession termed butchers, but we have never heard them called carpenters before.

Dr. Schafer of the University of Oregon says that arithmetic isn't so important, after all. Few money makers of today will agree with him.

A New Jersey man used a turkey as a weapon of defense when attacked by a footpad. It must have been a long time in cold storage.

BOAT SINKS; 32 LOST

ROSECRANS GOES ASHORE WHILE CROSSING INTO THE COLUMBIA RIVER.

55-MILE GALE BLOWING.

Four Men Rescued After Clinging to Rigging For Hours—Craft Had Unfortunate Career.

Astoria, Ore., Jan. 9.—The oil tank steamship Rosecrans, bound from Monterey, Cal., for Portland, Ore., ran aground where here on Peacock Spit while crossing into the Columbia river during a 55-mile gale and was lost with 31 members of her crew of 35.

Four Are Saved.

The survivors of the wreck, who reported to have reached shore at Tioga, Wash., 30 miles from the scene of the disaster and the Point Adams lifesaving crew rescued three other men. The men had taken refuge in the rigging of one of the masts when the ship went down. For many hours they clung there, the waves breaking over them repeatedly. Two of the men were taken from their perch, while the third, who had leaped into the sea when the lifeboat neared the spot was taken from the water.

The Rosecrans was hurled upon the rocks of Peacock Point at the same place where the steamship Columbia Washington went aground a year ago. Owing to the thick weather, the pilots of the Rosecrans were not located for several hours. When her portholes were known tugs and the Fort Canby and Point Adams lifesaving crews started to her aid.

When the tugs reached the neighborhood of the steamer she was found to be hard aground, the high seas and driving winds making a near approach impossible. Even the gangway was shifted and began to break up, and before the tugs and lifesavers could get near enough to put a line aboard she slipped off the rocks and sank with only her funnel and masts appeared above the water, with three men of the crew clinging to the rigging.

Steamer Unfortunate.

San Francisco.—Trouble perched on the topmast of the steamer Rosecrans when she was launched as the Methven Castle in Glasgow, 29 years ago and never left her.

Captain L. F. Johnson, her master, went down with her after three weeks within a year, for none of which he was responsible. On an early voyage, Carey, one of the Phoenix Park murderers, who surrendered his confederates in the assassination at Dublin of Lord Chester Frederick Cavendish and Thomas Burke, was tracked half around the world to Cape Town, South Africa and shot down on her decks by avengers. For a time she did duty as an American army transport, but the government was dissatisfied and sold her.

Rebuilt out and converted into a tanker, she became more actively unfortunate. On March 12, 1912, after hitching a terrific gale all night, she became unmanageable and was tossed broadside on the rocks a hundred miles north of Santa Barbara.

The captain and engineer and quartermaster were washed overboard and drowned. With a hole 25 feet wide in her plates and spiked firmly on the rocks, the Rosecrans was given up for lost, the wireless operator heard and it was seen that she could be saved.

Picked up and made to work again, the steamer caught fire five months later while taking in oil at Gaviota and burned to the water's edge.

Name Not Known.

The owners put another handful of thousands into her to repairs and sent her to sea again. Then she was given a complete job of it on the rocks of Peacock Spit, taking her most-treated master and 31 men with her.

The names of the sailors may never be known. Some of the hand and log of the steamer since she was repitched after the fire, the "telegraph sheet," containing the names of the seamen for the records of the steamship, was lost with the ship.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

Twin City Markets.

Minneapolis, Jan. 9.—Wheat, May, 85¾@; July, 81½@; No. 1 northern, 85@; No. 2 northern, 83@84; No. 3 wheat, 81@82; No. 2 yellow corn, 58@59; oats, 34½@35½; barley, malting, 63@70c; No. 2 rye, 56@56c; No. 1, $1.25.

Duluth, Jan. 9.—Wheat, May, 85¾c; July, 81½c; No. 1 northern, 85@; No. 2 durum, 83@84.

South St. Paul, Jan. 9.—Cattle—Cows, calves and canners, $5.25@6.25; steers, $5.25@7.15; stockers and feeders, $6.25@8.50; bulls, $5.25@6.50.

Hogs—Light, $7.20@7.35; mixed, $7.25@7.45; heavy, $7.30@7.45; rough, $7.30@7.40; pigs, $6.50@7.25.

Sheep and lambs, $4.60@6.75; yearlings, $6.25@7.25; wethers, $6.25@6.90; ewes, $5.25@6.25.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Cattle—Beef steers, $6.25@9.60; western steers, $6.15@8.80; stockers and feeders, $5.25@8.10; cows and heifers, $3.25@8.40; calves, $6.50@10.50.

Hogs—Light, $7.20@7.55; mixed, $7.25@7.65; heavy, $7.30@7.65; rough, $7.30@7.40; pigs, $6.50@7.40; bulk of sales, $7.40@7.60.

Sheep and lambs—Wethers, $6.25@6.90; lambs, native, $6.50@8.90; western, $6.60@8.90; yearlings, $6.25@7.25; ewes, $5.25@6.25.

Strikers Ready for Struggle.

New York, Jan. 9.—Both sides in the garment workers' strike have drawn their lines closer in preparation for a protracted struggle. Employes belonging to the Clothing Trade Manufacturers' association voted not to recognize the closed shop nor to deal with the workers union. Some 15,000 members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers union began voting on whether they should join the United Garmen Workers in the walkout.

Boy Robber Killed.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Activity of holdup men resulted in a death here when Thomas Scully, aged 17 years, was shot through the lung and fatally wounded by a policeman while attempting, with a companion, to rob a man. Officer Hugh Mulvey witnessed the attempted robbery from the porch of his home and opened fire on the thieves when they refused to surrender. The other bandit got away when he saw his companion shot down. Both were masked.

HOUSE WHERE WOODROW WILSON WAS BORN

This is the old house in Staunton, Va., where President-elect Wilson was born, the photograph being taken on the day of his recent visit there. The house has been remodeled since Mr. Wilson's father lived there.

URGE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

TO PROTECT PEOPLE AND NOT HARM CORPORATIONS.

Body Would Have Control Over Firms Doing $5,000,000 Business Annually.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Senator Bristow of Kansas has presented to the senate a proposal for an industrial commission of seven members to take over the work of the bureau of corporations and exercise control over all persons, firms or corporations doing an interstate business the gross receipts of more than $5,000,000 per year.

"The purpose is to protect the people with some degree of promptness from the extortionate practices of powerful corporations, without destroying the business they represent," he said.

He declared that the proposed commission and the powers given to it would not "interfere with big business operations if such operations are along honest and creditable lines." He declared that the Standard Oil and Tobacco Trust cases had demonstrated that the courts were ineffective for the supervision of big business.

Senator Bristow's bill would give to the industrial commission power to investigate the financial condition, business operations and management of all big interstate concerns. The commission would in no way be similar to the commission on industrial relations recently authorized by congress to investigate general conditions in the industrial world.

TEN LOSE THEIR LIVES

Three Coasting Launches Driven on California Shore During Terrific Storm.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 7. — Three coasting launches were driven ashore on the lower California coast near Point of Rocks, about 15 miles south of this city, and 10 men probably were drowned. One of the wrecked boats was the United States immigration launch Elizabeth. There was a total of 12 men on board the three vessels, five of whom have not been picked ashore.

Among the lost are United States immigration inspectors George Jones and Daniel Kirkendall. One unidentified body is the only one that has come ashore.

The three vessels met disaster in the worst storm the coast guard has experienced on its southern California patrol. The wind at times reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour.

Limited Jumps Track.

Staunton, Wis., Jan. 8.—Bumping from side to side over the ties, where the brake shoes scrunched under every ounce of pressure in the air, total excitement stood between death and 250 passengers on board the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Pioneer Limited, east-bound, early Tuesday when a broken rail divided the train for miles east of here. No one suffered even a scratch.

To Kidnap Officials.

London, Jan. 8.—Milder atrocities failing to win the belief, the militant suffragists' new threaten stronger methods to gain their ends. Despite desperate precautions to insure secrecy, it leaked out that Scotland Yard received reliable information that women of the suffrage movement had formed a plot to kidnap some members of the cabinet.

Patten to Stand Trial.

Washington, Jan. 7.—"Cornering the market" in commodities is illegal under the Sherman anti-trust law, according to a decision of the supreme court of the United States, which holds James A. Patten and his associates for trial in the New York federal courts for an alleged "cornering" of the cotton market in 1910. Patten is the Chicago sportsman whose manipulations in the wheat pit were a spectacular feature of the grain markets on several occasions in recent years.

Seven Killed At Crossings.

Denison, Tex., Jan. 6. — Five persons were killed and two probably fatally injured when a Chicago & North Western train struck a buggy at a crossing one mile north of here. The dead are John Evars and his six-year old child, and John Reimers, his wife and five-months-old baby.

Toledo Surgeon Killed.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 6. — Dr. Peter Donnelly, a Toledo surgeon of national reputation, was drowned when he drove his automobile off a dock.

SHIP SINKS; 22 DIE

EIGHT SURVIVORS ARE PICKED FROM RIGGING OF BATTERED STEAMER AFTER SIX HOURS.

BARK RAMMED AND SUNK

Captain and Wife Among the Victims —Rest of Dead Are Mostly Foreigners—Laden With Phosphate.

Newport News, Jan. 6. — Eight survivors of the steamer Julia Luckenbach, homeward and sunk in the Chesapeake bay by the British trump steamer Indrakuala, arrived here and told how twenty-two of their number were given watery graves within sight of life. The fortunate eight, after a six hour battle with the gale which swept the coast, were taken from the rigging of their sunkep ship by the Dutch steamer Pennsylvania and brought here.

About To Anchor.

The Luckenbach, from Port Tampa to Baltimore, was about to anchor off Tangier Gas Buoy, at the mouth of the Potomac, early yesterday when the Indrakuala caught it and cut the steamer practically in two. It went down like a rock and only the men on deck had a chance for life. The latter fought desperately and under danger of sinking, drew off [illegible] Captain Gilbert of the Luckenbach and his wife were among the lost.

The survivors had little more than taken to the topmast parts of the rigging of the submerged hulk when the gale struck them. They stood for six hours they found for life while some of their number, exhausted, dropped off one by one to death.

With a wind blowing at cyclone velocity and waves beating around them, the hardiest soon used their endurance. Others were torn to shreds and they were on the verge of exhaustion.

Chief Engineer Chris Knudson was the last to go. Before he died he ordered the gale until his hands were bleeding from gripping the ropes. He was exhausted and dropped into the sea.

The Pennsylvania could not reach them at first, even with lifeboats because of heavy seas. After many unsuccessful attempts lifelines were run to the struggling men and they were taken aboard. Two officers were taken on board the Pennsylvania, some were unconscious.

According to the survivors, Captain Gilbert and the chief engineer and seven were standing on the bridge when the collision occurred. There was no warning and they found themselves falling backward. Captain Gilbert made a desperate effort to reach the cabin and when last seen was swimming aft of the sinking ship.

"I don't know how I escaped," said Chief Officer Hunt. "After the ship went down I found myself grabbing in the rigging and there I stayed. Not a thought was in my head, so quickly did the Luckenbach go down."

Crew Mostly Foreigners.

Baltimore.—With the exception of Captain Gilbert, Chief Engineer Knudson and one of the engineers, the crew of the ill fated Luckenbach was composed of foreigners. They were signed here December 12, just prior to the sailing of the steamer for Port Tampa, laden with phosphate rock for Baltimore.

Wood Urges Army Changes.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The restoration of the army canteen and enactment of legislation for the withdrawal from the United States army of units of men among the principal recommendations of Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff, in his annual report. General Wood likewise recommends the concentration of the army on strategic points in areas where it can be more economically maintained, and would transfer most of the personnel of the staff corps to the line.

Provides Comforts for Poor Folks.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 6.—Philanthropic plans, made during the life of H. C. Akeley, the late Minneapolis lumber king, and which included the building in Southern California of a beautiful home for indigent old people, a plan that for a time was postponed by the death of Mr. Akeley—may yet be carried out, in part, by his widow, Mrs. Clara Hood Hoyes Akeley, who received five-twelfths of the Akeley estate by a compromise effected in Los Angeles. The total amount is estimated to have a value of $800,000.

GOLD ENDANGERS ORANGE CROP

FIRES ARE LIGHTED TO TRY TO SAVE FRUIT.

San Francisco Experiences Lowest Temperature in Twenty-five Years.

Los Anzeinze, Jan. 8.—Thousands of men are working against the cold weather to save from further damage southern California's orange and lemon crop, which was valued at nearly $50,000,000. What the loss entailed by Sunday night's freeze was cannot be estimated, but growers and exporters say that it will be an appreciable affect on the price of fruits.

Within a radius of 125 miles of Los Angeles, where the freeze embraced practically the important orange and lemon growing sections, smudge pots by the thousands smouldered, emitting dense clouds of smoke, which it was hoped would raise the temperature within the orange orchards and prevent suffering to forest from being of the fruit on the trees.

According to the sales managers of various growers' associations, hardly more than a tenth of the orange crop has been shipped. The remainder, they assert, will show serious damage.

Frisco in Cold's Grip.

San Francisco, Jan. 8.—McAdie, director of the government weather bureau at San Francisco, said that the cold weather was practically at an end.

Monday was the coldest in 25 years in San Francisco, according to official records. The temperature reached 32 degrees above zero, which was the lowest mark since Jan. 15, 1888, when it dipped to 28. For the first time the lakes in the Golden Gate Park were frozen over, their seating of ice remaining all day; skating rinks were general through the state.

INJURIES AT MEETING.

Several Hurt in Rush to Attend Strike Gathering at New York.

New York, Jan. 7.—In the rush of more than a thousand men and women in an attempt to enter the Hip, podrome to attend a mass meeting of the striking waist and dressmaker workers, several women were slightly injured. About 6,000 persons were in the hall when the doors were ordered closed. When a report reached the street that there were 1,000 vacant seats the rush at the entrances followed, and many fainted in the powwows.

Resolutions at the meeting declared in favor of women joining the tailors' strike, which involves 40,000 workers, several women were slightly injured. About 6,000 persons were in the hall when the doors were ordered closed. When a report reached the street that there were 1,000 vacant seats the rush at the entrances followed, and many fainted in the powwows.

Resolutions at the meeting declared in favor of women joining the tailors' strike, which involves 40,000 workers, several women were slightly injured. About 6,000 persons were in the hall when the doors were ordered closed. When a report reached the street that there were 1,000 vacant seats the rush at the entrances followed, and many fainted in the powwows.

Among the spectators were Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Miss Inez Milholland and Mrs. J. E. Milholland, suffragists leaders, who heard a statement of Jacob Panken, one of the speakers, that "the strike of the ladies' waist and dressmaker union is the last of 40,000 would advance the cause of women's suffrage more than all the begging from politicians."

Lawyers to Meet in Montreal.

New York, Jan. 7.—The executive committee of the American bar association, including members from all parts of the United States, and a number here selected Montreal, Canada, as the place for the next annual meeting of the association.

Judge Archbald On Stand.

Washington, Jan. 8. — Friendship was the keynote of the testimony of Robert W. Archbald, of the United States commerce court to negotiate with officials of the Erie and Lehigh Valley railroad over the settlement of coal land matters, and that induced him to indorse certain notes, according to the statements made by his accused jurist. He took the stand before the impeachment court of the senate to testify in his own behalf.

Americans Urged to Flee.

El Paso, Jan. 7.—Representatives at Washington of two Mexican mining companies have telegraphed the mine managers to send out at once all American women and children. The cause of the apprehension is not explained. The six Guggenheim smelters and mining plants in Northern Mexico are reported to be in imminent danger of shut downs for lack of fuel caused by the interrupting railway traffic by rebels and the strike of national railway employes.

DOINGS OF THE SOLONS

Minnesota Legislative Affairs of the Past Week—Law Makers Hard at Work.

St. Paul, Jan. 8.—Harry Rines of Morris received the unanimous vote of the Republican members for speaker of the house.

The only other nominee was Frank Minnette, presented by the minority party. The vote was 101 to 19.

The threatened house combine was completely broken. Ernest Lundeen, H. H. Dunn and L. C. Spooner, who lead this movement, voted for Mr. Rines.

Senate Combine Defeated.

The Minnesota senate rejected the "committee on committees" project, supported by a bipartisan combine under the guiding hand of F. E. Smith, chairman of the republican state central committee, and officered by senator F. A. Duxbury of Caledonia. The Duxbury resolution was defeated 16 to 46. Feeling that has developed in the state senate between the leaders of the progressive "Combine" and J. A. A. Burnquist, the new lieutenant governor, burst into flame at the very opening of the legislative session. That senate was treated to the spectacle of an open conflict between members and its presiding office before the Duxbury resolution was ever read. When Senator Duxbury rose to offer it, Mr. Burnquist announced that other resolutions already in his hands would have precedence. This aroused the ire of Mr. Duxbury and of his brother general in the combine, George H. Sullivan of Hillwater. They protested against the ruling and finally appealed from it, but Senator A. J. Rockford of Zumbrota averted the rupture over by a motion to appeal the above resolutions and take up Duxbury's. Mr. Burquist's firmness was severely tested during this contest, for which he was backed up by two former speakers, Rockne and Frank Clegg.

"Those who dare not stand by the right are slaves," declared Mr. Duxbury, "and the senator from Washington and myself are not slaves."

War in Senate.

Although making no fight on the election of Rines as speaker, Ernest Lundeen declared war on the new presiding officer, with the announcement that he would introduce his resolution taking from the speaker the right to appoint the senate committees. He declared that he would make a strong fight for his resolution and has enlisted the support of L. A. Lydiard, H. H. Dunn, W. H. Westcott and F. H. McGarry.

The fight for the resolution came when the rules committee reported.

"We are in the fight to the finish," said Mr. Lundeen. "We are asking that committees on committees appoint the house committees, because it is a progressive measure."

Democrats Form Alliance.

The Democratic members of the house formed an alliance with Speaker Rines, voted to oppose the Lundeen resolution and will become a part of the Rines organization. This spells defeat for the Lundeen resolution.

Minority members wrangled for two hours over resolutions favoring the initiative and referendum, the recall, and the state utilities commission, presented by Representatives Dinsmore and Frank Minnette. M. J. Sullivan of Minneapolis led the opposition. The members adjourned without action.

Speaker Rines announced the appointment of the following committees:

Rules—W. I. Nolen, Kerry Conley, J. T. Johnson, C. T. Knapp, A. J. Peterson, C. N. Orr and Charles Davis.

Mileage—Finke, Reed, Preston, Teigen and Putnam.

Legislative Expenses—Conley, J. T. Johnson, Vasaly, Vexland and Palmer.

Enrolled Bills—Committee employed named by the Republican caucus last night was appointed.

Uniform Laws Asked.

The board of commissioners appointed by the 1911 legislature to make recommendations on uniformity of legislation, reported to the present legislature. It is signed by Roma G. Brown, Cordenio A. Severance and Thomas Wilson.

The report recommends the adoption of a uniform negotiable instruments act, as recommended by the national conference of commissioners on uniform laws; also a uniform law relating to divorce and family desertion.

Changes in Laws.

The officers of the legislature are:

House—Speaker, Henry Rines, Morris; Chief Clerk, Oscar Arneson, Fosston; Assistant Clerk, G. O. Hege, Crookston; Second Assistant Clerk, Jerome Rice, Minneapolis; Enrolling Clerk, Harold Sheldon, Little Falls; Bookkeeping Clerk, Carl Rasmussen, Northfield; Sergeant-at-Arms, E. A. Simonson, Grand Meadow; Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, Ole Peterson, St. Paul; Postmaster, George F. Kelley, Mankato; Assistant Postmaster, W. V. Kendall, Chaplain, Rev. Andrew G. W. Lutz, St. Paul.

Senate—Secretary, George W. Peterson, Owatonna; Sergeant-at-Arms, James Ege, Minneapolis; Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, Ben E. Christensen, Marshall; Chaplain, Rev. Andrew J. Stave, Minneapolis; Enrolling Clerk, N. C. Kooi, Caledonia; Engrossing Clerk, Harry Nordholm, Red Wing; Clerk to Judiciary Committee, W. H. Hodgeman, Winnebago.

Making of Committees.

The conferences which have been held between Mr. Rines and leading members of the house indicate that in making committee assignments but small attention will be paid to any differences of view in regard to the speakership that have been alleged to exist. R. C. Dunn, who, since has been repeatedly used in the public press as one of the arch conspirators in an alleged insurgent movement today, after an interview with the speaker to be, used a short and ugly word to characterize those who intimated that he had been active in trying to upset the plans of the progressives. Mr. Spooner, of whom it has been said that he was among the disgruntled, is emphatic in the declaration that he has taken no part whatever in any insurgent movement, that he will let no conference he wants two years ago in helping organize the house and that he intends to offer no factious opposition to those now in control. Other representatives assumed a "Veritas!" the organization have been freely consulted, and on the surface, at least, there is every indication that the early proceedings in the house will be entirely harmonious. Indeed from what can be learned, if anything goes wrong, it is quite as likely to result from the indiscretions of Mr. Rines' friends, the most of whom are those who are not all they might be, as from the machinations of his enemies.

An Unexpected Turn.

It is learned that the chairmanship of the reapportionment committees, which it has been assumed would be given either to Representative Knapp, Lake county, or Representative O'Neill, of Pennington county, is given that honor. It has been carried off by Representative Warner, of Duluth, who was popularly believed to be hooked for the committee on railroads. The reapportionment committee has enlisted the services of the first importance and places on it have been eagerly sought. The selection of Mr. Warner as chairman is generally regarded as perhaps the best that could have been made.

There never has been any question in the minds of those familiar with the situation that a majority of the house was back of the candidacy of Henry Rines, of Morris, for the speakership. That has been settled for weeks, and the rumors that have been heard of formidable opposition to him from the members have never anything substantial or tangible behind them. He has all along had the support of a good working majority of the house and his strength at this stage is scarcely among the political possibilities.

The Line-Up.

With Mr. Burnquist in the senate the case was different. It would be folly to deny that there is a native contingent among the republican senatorial corps who sympathize with the Lieutenant Governor and the things he stands for. If the solid conservative element should be induced to join with them in insisting that the senate be organized to form its own organization instead of delegating that function to the Burnquist, the combination would have been strong enough to accomplish the purpose in the senate.

The overtures made to the democratic senators to induce them to join the combine were attractive. In the chairmanship of committees they were to have a fair representation with the republicans, and of the patronage in the senate at its disposal, and this is considerable, they were offered the same share. It is not surprising that the tenders made were seriously considered and that a majority of the democratic senators were inclined to them.

A majority, however, wasn't enough. Unless practically the entire democratic senators went into the deal it was bound to fail through. It was, therefore, with the purpose of luring the democratic senators up with the proposed combine that Senator Works, who from the first entered heartily into the movement, called upon his colleagues to meet in conference at the St. Paul hotel last Friday afternoon.

Chances Out of Game.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Ping Bodie announced to-day he had confirmed the statement that he will not engage in baseball next season.

Morgan to Sail for Egypt.

New York, Jan. 6.—Although the Pujo committee investigations at Washington its inquiry into finances, J. P. Morgan, it has been one of the most important witnesses in the investigation, will sail from this port to-day for the Mediterranean, Adriatic, to interest himself in buried treasures. Just about a year ago Mr. Morgan sailed for Egypt to see the progress of an expedition which he fitted out to make excavation near Khargah. It is expected he will visit the same vicinity in the present trip.

Suffrage For Negro Women.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—A meeting, which had as its object the organization of the first negro women's suffrage club in Chicago, was held at Quinn chapel. The gathering was under the direction of the "No Vote, No Tax League of Illinois," of which Miss Belle Squire is the moving spirit. Miss Squire presided and introduced Miss Clara Gillaud and Miss Antoinette Funk who urged the negro women to take an active part in the fight for equal suffrage. The organization is to be the first of its kind in the country.

Train Falls Through Trestle.

Hinckley, Minn., Jan. 6.—Four men are known to have been killed and a score of persons injured, when part of a Great Northern train of Chicago passenger train crashed through a trestle of Leaf, this state.

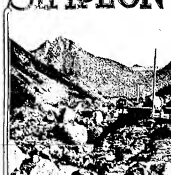
Scandinavia Snowbound.

Christiania, Jan. 6.—The Scandinavian peninsula is still snowbound. For a week past Norway and Sweden have experienced the heaviest snowstorm of twenty-five years.

Case to Take Three Weeks.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 9.—United States District Attorney McPherson estimated that it would require three more weeks for the government to present its testimony when the trial of John H. Patterson and twenty-nine other officials of the National Cash Register company was resumed in the United States district court here. Hugh Chalmers of Detroit, formerly general manager of the company, was expected to be one of the important witnesses to testify for the government during the present week.

TERRORS OF SIMPLON PASS



ON SIMPLON PASS

Few things so think of the heroic lives of the monks of St. Bernard, of the men who assist them or of the dogs who cooperate with them in the snow and frozen wastes of the Simplon pass in the Alps.

The rescue force consists of 17 monks and 15 assistants who must take the work for the sake of humanity. The men must be strong of limb and lung and robust in every way to stand the life. Even with perfect physical endowment most of them break down in their twelfth year of service. A few last fifteen years and then death follows. No member has lasted more than twenty years. The constant exposure and attendant hardships are too much for human endurance. As the monks live 8,000 feet above the sea level the cold is intense and the breathing of such a rarified air injures the health and hastens the end. They live near the region of perpetual snow, for the winter lasts nine months of the year and even in the July snowstorms occur which bother greatly the tourists who make the passage of the steep road to the monastery in large numbers.

When Brigands Assailed Them.

The hospice was founded 948 years ago by a nobleman, Bernard de Menthon, for the benefit of pilgrims travelling to Rome. For a long time after the monks were installed they were harassed by the brigands who infested the surrounding mountains. Sometimes the demands of these vagabonds were refused and then the thwarted would go away after threatening vengeance. Soon a score of 25 or 30 of these gangsters of the mountains would appear, but they found barricaded doors and windows impossible to pass and the monks lived in a state of siege until fierce storms drove the brigands away.

Napoleon in leading his army of 30,000 across the Alps, in 1800, headed for Italy, used the hospice as a barracks for his weary, frost-bitten soldiers. At St. Pierre, the last village on the Swiss side, are shown the small table and the armchair used at breakfast by Napoleon before starting for Italy.

The monastery is a plain, unpretentious block of gray buildings with thick walls to withstand the terrific gales and snowstorms. The snow is frequently eight or ten feet deep around the hospice and sometimes forms enormous drifts which reach to the roof of the building. Shelter can be provided for nearly 400 travelers and stormstorers for about 500 persons crossing the pass is welcome to the hospitality of the monks. Voluntary contributions can be made and, for honesty, there is a generous request, for the cost of keeping up the monastery is very heavy, as everything has to be hauled so far over a dangerous road long and none too good road. Mules have to haul the food and other supplies for many miles each day. Two meals are served each day at 12 m and one at 6 p. m. Every nation is represented in the crowds at the tables. The monks mingle freely with the diners and make them feel at home. Two places presented by King Edward of England are played in the evening after dinner and make the hours pass pleasantly. More than 30,000 persons cross the pass every year and more than two-thirds of the number make the journey during the winter. The majority are laborers, on their way to work, who cannot wait for more favorable weather, and it speaks volumes for the vigilance of the monks that a life is very rarely lost now. The monastery is connected by telephone with stations on both sides of the pass and whenever travelers start to make the ascent the number is telephoned to the monks so that they can look out for them and send rescue parties to their aid if they fail to put in an appearance.

Everyone has heard the wonderful stories of the sagacity of the St. Bernard dogs. At the top of the pass is a monument in memory of one who saved 40 lives during the 10 years of its existence. On one occasion it disappeared in the snow a child whose mother had been killed by an avalanche. After rousing it by licking its face, the dog induced it to get on its back and brought it safe and sound to the hospice. Unfortunately this dog was killed several years ago by some unknown person, probably in error. The inscription on the monument runs: "Save the Heroic. Saved the lives of 40 persons and was killed by the cruel."

In the early part of the last century one of these splendid animals was decorated with a medal for having rescued 22 people from a snowy grave, but lost his own life while on an errand of mercy in the winter of 1816. A courier from Piedmont, after sheltering for a time at the monastery one night during a severe snowstorm, insisted on continuing his journey to the village of St. Pierre, as he expected to meet some friends there. The monks, after trying in vain to dissuade him, lent him a dog and two guides to show him the way, but when the party had proceeded some distance in safety down the mountain they were overwhelmed by an avalanche and killed.

Some of the dogs stand more than 30 inches high and weigh about 180 pounds. They are extremely powerful and have been known to drag an unconscious man for more than three-quarters of a mile. Their sense of smell is so highly developed that they can detect a human being even if he be covered by several feet of snow.

WHY EMPLOYER WANTED HER

Beautiful Stenographer Agrees to Marry Assistant Even When She Learns the Truth.

"Did you send for me?" asked the beautiful stenographer.

"Yes," replied the head of the establishment. "Please sit down. My wife left yesterday for Europe."

"Oh, Mr. Bullington, I'm so—an surprised to hear you say so," [illegible] see, I didn't know she was expecting to go."

"She made up her mind rather suddenly. Her health has been poor of late, and the doctor thought a sea voyage might benefit her."

"I hope it will—that is, I suppose you will be very anxious about her."

"I hardly think so. She's not going to do her much good. I'm afraid she'll be off for a long time. If she does come back I want you—"

The telephone bell rang just then and Mr. Bullington engaged in conversation over the wire.

When he had hung up the receiver he turned to the beautiful young stenographer and seemed to be trying to remember what he had been saying when the bell had interrupted him.

"You said," she suggested, "that if your wife never came back you wanted me."

"O, yes; if she never comes back I want you to remain as my guest six months that I am to send a check to her mother. You have formed forgetful about such things."

As she was going out the beautiful stenographer drew a deep sigh and looked sadly over her shoulder. Then she paused. "Is dead of the young assistant secretary and whispered:

"I have been thinking over what you spoke to me night before last."

"And what do you say?" he asked, taking advantage of a chance to squeeze two of her fingers.

"Yes."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Every girl should look out for herself, and she does if there is a wife dow in the room she occupies.

Defenseless Woman.

One of Stevenson's most intimate friends is telling a rather funny story about this clever actress.

"She came into my house one evening very much excited, and I said to her, 'Blanche, for heaven's sake, what is the matter with you? You seem to be all gone to pieces.'

"'Hunter enough,' she answered as her voice shook with anger. 'I have been accosted by a man in the street.'

"'What did you do?' I asked.

"'I hailed off and hit him in the face,' she answered, 'and I said to him, "You dirty dog, would you speak to a defenseless woman?"'

"'And where was he when you said this?' I again inquired.

"'Rolling in the gutter where he fell when I hit him,' she said in a surprised tone at my question."—Toledo Blade.

When Andrew Lost His Clothes.

The death of Andrew Lang has served to recall various anecdotes and sayings of Stevenson's wallet-loved "Andrew of the bridled hair." Among these is the following: Lang was a visitor at the home of a friend, and was to catch a train in the morning. Breakfast was ordered for nine o'clock, but at half past eight a horrified maid announced to the family that some one had stolen Lang's clothes, and he could not get up. The host went to the room of his guest and found him sitting up in bed in pajamas and pajamas. There was no sign of any other garment in the room. The host went down-stairs to summon the police, but before he got to the telephone, the maid came running down to inform him that Mr. Lang's clothes had been found. He had folded them up the night before and had put them under his pillow, because it was too low, and had forgotten all about it.—Youth's Companion.

"Nothing, it seems to me, looks as unimportant as a bridegroom at a wedding."

"Have you ever noticed a governor when he was surrounded by the uniformed members of his staff?"

Enjoy present pleasures in such a way as not to injure future ones—Seneca.

PRISONERS SIGNING

82 MEN AFFIX SIGNATURES TO BLANKS AT LEAVENWORTH IN WARDEN'S PRESENCE.

MOST OF THEM MAILED.

Court of Appeals Will Pass on Sureties Within Next Ten Days, It Is Expected.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 8.—Thirty-two of the 33 labor leaders convicted in the dynamite suit, signed applications to the United States court of appeals for their release on supersedeas bonds.

T. E. Gallagher, secretary of the international ironworkers' union, brought the applications in person and they were signed in the warden's office in the presence of Warden McClaughery. A majority of the applications were mailed from Leavenworth to friends whom the dynamiters say will raise the necessary money.

Herbert S. Hockin, branded by his fellows as the "informer," was the [illegible] to sign his application, but not been prepared. After the others had signed their applications Hockin announced in company with McClaughery.

"He asked me," McClaughery said, "if his applications had been prepared. That was the first intimation that he wanted to appeal his case. I do not know that any arrangements have been made to get his release."

Upon McClaughery's advice, the men were summoned into an ante-room, opposite the warden's office. McClaughery explained to them the object of his visit.

Will Be Three Weeks.

"Boys," he said, "I am here with applications for your release. It probably will be three weeks after they are signed before all are released. Don't be disappointed if some are out before others, for I am certain we can raise enough money for everyone."

The men were then called, one by one, into the warden's office, where they signed the applications.

Each man wore a broad smile as he grasped the pen and dashed his name to the paper which he hoped would bring his ultimate release.

Will Consider Appeals.

Chicago.—Bonds for the 33 labor leaders convicted in the dynamite suits and in whose cases appeals were granted last week, will be submitted to the United States circuit court of appeals in Chicago within the next ten days, attorneys for the defendants said.

The bonds will not, as was first announced, be submitted to Judge Anderson, who presided at the cases at Indianapolis. District Attorney Miller, who prosecuted the cases, will be asked to aid in passing on the sureties.

Sureties will be tendered in various sections of the United States. It being necessary for each defendant to obtain bondsmen from his own state.

NO ONE KNOWS, AS YET

Wilson Says That No Cabinet Portfolios Have Yet Been Issued.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 7.—President-elect Wilson has made it clear that nobody in the United States knows as yet, who is going to be in his cabinet, or what will be the program he will suggest for the next congress when it assembles in December. A special message, specific forms of the subjects upon which he would like to see legislation enacted.

To Transplant Nerves.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Restoration of life by a method as surgical as it may be is to be attempted by Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller institute for medical research in New York, now in Paris on his way to New York from Stockholm, where he has been experimenting with a Swedish scientist. His announcement of his plans was made in the French capital. "I am about to undertake," he said, "the graft and transplant nerves and organs connected with the nervous system."

Orchardist Found Guilty.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 7.—J. Brebl, charged with having used the United States mails to defraud in connection with the operations of the Columbia Rivers Orchards Co., was found guilty by a jury in the United States district court here.

Small Liability Sustained.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Railroads and express companies won a revolutionary decision in the supreme court when it was held that contracts limiting to small sums their liability for loss of shipments were not subject to state laws but to interstate laws.

Canadian Woman Dies of Cold.

Winnipeg, Jan. 7. — Mrs. George Buckley, wife of a wholesale farm implement dealer of Reahurn, 37 miles west of here, was found frozen to death.

Johnston Succeeds Bailey.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 6.—The appointment of R. M. Johnston, president and editor-in-chief of the Houston Post, as successor to Joseph W. Bailey in the United States senate for the term expiring March 4 next, is announced by Governor Colquitt.

Keene Funeral Monday.

New York, Jan. 6.—The funeral of James R. Keene will be held in the Church of the Ascension on Monday morning. Interment will be in Wood land cemetery.

Splendid French Cloak

The splendid and gorgeous fabrics brought out this season cos only be worn to best advantage when they are made up into ample draperies that fall about and embrace the figure. They have been inspiration to the designers. Fabrics have for years indeed substantiated styles. When we look at these marvels from the loom we realize that they are fit for goddesses to wear.

Perhaps, for this very reason, cloaks are long but full. Materials are so supple that they decline to fall to the figure and to aid them they are provided with little weights where needed.

A superb coat of satin and a gold brocaded fabric is shown here. It is worn with muff and hat of chinchilla and an ostrich neck ruff.

The dress under the coat is of satin and chiffon. It appears to be something between a pannier and redingote style. Again the lightness and suppleness of the fabrics make possible the mixed design. It is not so beautiful on the coat but the many interesting features, like the paper shaped sleeves and pointed collar and the long line of the skirt, are noticeable.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

HAVE WIDE CHOICE IN COATS

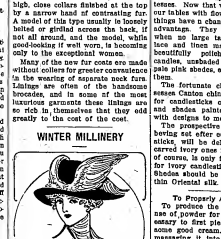
Not for Many Years Has There Been Such a Large and Excellent Variety from Which to Select.

Certain short draped coats of supple fur rounding away in the front are launched by fearlessness, who are pushing the peplum silhouette, but they are by no means graceful even for the slender woman, and are not likely to be taken seriously by the women in this country.

Some Russian coats of half length or longer button up the left front, close on the left shoulder, and bow high, close collars finished at the top by a narrow band of contrasting fur. A model of this type usually is loosely belted or finished across the back, if not all around, and the model, while good-looking if well worn, is becoming only to the exceptional women.

Many of the new fur coats are made without collars for greater convenience to the wearing of separate neck furs. Lainage are often of the handsome brocades, and in some of the most luxurious garments these linings are so rich in, themselves that they add greatly to the cost of the coat.

WINTER MILLINERY



Most appropriate for this season of the year, becoming dark colors have precedence in millinery. In the velours, browns and similar fabrics which are so much used, the darker colors are always most beautiful. These are frequently accentuated and relieved from too extreme sombreness by a touch of white. The hat in the drawing is a charmingly rolled brim of unexaggerated line, but with the long extension of brim of the side. This hat is of black velvet, with high square crown, against which a beautiful brooch of sprays of white aigrette in bird relief. Two supplementary wings increase the width of the sides.

One-Sided Coiffure.

The hair is being dressed low. If there is a pompadour at all it is much broader than it was and is somewhat higher at one side than the other. Often the hair is parted and drawn back over the ears with a cluster of curls escaping from under the bands. Coils of hair arranged in a two stranded plait are seen curling low at the back and these are charming effects also, while sometimes one may see surviving the older fashion of dragging the hair round the head till it resembles nothing so much as a cocoanut.

Novel Cord Bag.

A cord bag can be made quickly at small expense. Make it so as to easily hold an ordinary ball of twine. Gather at the bottom and sew around a brass ring, so that cord can pass through. Put a drawstring in top of bag and arrange a loop to hang the bag up by. Trim top with bow of ribbon.—Harper's Bazar.

NEW VOGUE IN CANDLESTICKS

Those of Glass Are Delicate Chinaware Have Replaced the Mere Elaborate Silver Ones.

The newest candlesticks are of iridescent glass, and their effect is charmingly festive, though they are not so dignified as the handsome, dull-cared-for silver ones of tradition. Sometimes these glass candlesticks have shades of deeper tinted glass also. Dresden candlesticks that have long been treasured for their dainty beauty alone are also being forced out into action by some smart bohemians. Now that we no longer crowd our tables with flowers these precious things have a chance of being seen to advantage. They are most effective when no large tablecloth, but only lace and linen mats are used on a beautifully polished table. White candles, unshaded or with white or pale pink shades, should be used with them.

The fortunate chatelaine who possesses Canton china is now searching for candlesticks of the same hues and shades painted in water color with designs to match the china.

The prospective bride, instead of having set after set of silver candlesticks, will be delighted to receive carved ivory ones instead. This hint, of course, is only for wealthy friends, for ivory candlesticks are not cheap. Shades should be made for them of thin Oriental silk.

To Properly Apply Powder.

To produce the best effect in the use of powder for the face it is necessary to first place a foundation of some good cream. Apply it gently, massaging it into the skin, with all the remaining portions with a soft piece of cheese cloth. Then powder over the face and neck, taking care that the space beneath the chin and about the ears are well covered. Next rub the powder well into the skin with a soft piece of velvet until it is evenly blended. With a damp brush trim away the powder from the brows, lashes or the edge of the hair.

New Dress Materials.

At the outset of every season a multitude of new materials for gowns is thrust upon the notice and the gradual elimination we soon know which will prove popular and make up suitably. This year's fashion is particularly specialistic in several new materials which come in a charming display of colors and changeable effects. The most fashionable material is the much-worn brocade, and it is sought by manufacturers in every conceivable type of gown from street suits to the most elaborate evening gowns and wraps.—Harper's Bazar.

Ribbon Wreath.

A lovely hair ornament for evening is made by braiding loosely the cord of three different shades the necessary length to crown the head, says a writer in the Woman's Home Companion. Make two rosettes of silk to match the cord, and sew these to one end of the cord. This ornament is fastened together by a hook and eye. A pretty color scheme is to have the cords of pale green and gold, the rosebuds of pink-and-gold shaded ribbon, with green velvet leaves as a background for the roses.

Collar Braid.

When the lining next to the collar of your wrap begins to show signs of wear, get a few inches of wide silk military braid, matching the color, and sew it neatly over the worn part By pulling a thread at the edge, the braid will be perfectly smooth and the garment will not look patched.—Good Housekeeping.

ERADICATION OF INJURIOUS CANADIAN THISTLE ACCOMPLISHED BY CULTIVATION

Weed Crowds Out Grain Crops on Account of Its Rank Growth and Is Quite Commonly Mistaken for Prairie Bull Thistle by Those Unfamiliar With the Two Noxious Plants.

Injurious Canadian Thistle.

The Canadian thistle is a deep-rooted perennial of European origin with creeping root-stocks, which send up shoots at intervals from two to four feet high. Leaves deeply notched and very prickly, with a somewhat crimped appearance. The under surface of the leaves is woolley and grayish in color; the upper surface is smooth and dark.

It produces a large number of flower heads, containing flowers which are from three-quarters to one inch across, light purple in color.

The seed is about one-eighth of an inch long and of a golden color with a tuft of fine down at the top, by means of which it is distributed by the wind. Seeds ripen about July or the first of August. It is propagated both by its seeds and extensive root stocks, the latter penetrating the soil from ten to fifteen inches.

In localities where it has gained a foothold it soon becomes the commonest weed in grain crops on account of its rank growth.

Canada thistle is quite commonly mistaken for Prairie Bull thistle by those unfamiliar with the two weeds. The Prairie Bull thistle bee white woolley leavee and stems and much larger flower heads than the Canadian thistle.

If Canada thistle occur in small patches only, keep them in check by cutting with a spud bow every time they appear above the ground. When the infested area is large, allow the plants to grow until the flower bud has formed, then cut with mower as close to the ground as possible. By allowing the plants to reach the flower-bud stage, the roots will be somewhat exhausted of food material and will be in a weakened condition. Plough deeply, following with a thorough cultivator with a spring tooth cultivator bringing as many of the roots as possible to the surface. Give ground a thorough surface cultivation until quite late the following spring. Seed early with barley and oat for green feed. Cultivate with a sharp-rimed cultivator at intervals each time new stems are thrown up.

USE FOR CEMENT IS FOUND DAILY

One of Most Novel and Recent Is in "Tree Dentistry"—Saves Much Decay.

Hardly a day passes nowadays that a new use for cement is not found, recently one of the leading railroads replaced wooden telegraph poles by concrete poles, and they are being found more satisfactory from almost every point of view. Reinforced concrete planks are being used in steam-heat conduits. Wooden floe are being replaced by concrete on some railroads. For instance, the cabs are tained in a dairy where the floors, walls, bins, feeding troughs and stalls are all of concrete. As he grows older he is surrounded on all sides by concrete structures, and when he dies his body is placed in a grave whose bed is composed of concrete, and a concrete tombstone is used to mark his resting place. One of the examples of the varied uses of cement might be the manner in which a dentist arrests decay in a tooth cavity before filling. Care should be exercised, however, to see that the decay of the cement is low enough for the bark to grow over.

Foresters believe this will be the means of saving many old trees from further decay and destruction.

Spurious Catalpa Stock.

Investigations of the Ohio experiment station indicate that a great per cent of catalpa stock distributed in the past has been spurious, and on account of the shortage of seed last year the demand for stock this year will assume greater proportions and prospective planters next spring are warned to take every measure possible to ascertain the reliability of seed purchased for the next season from this seed crop.

Potato Bug Machine.

A machine has been perfected that brushes bugs from potato vines as it is driven over a field and crushes them to death between steel plates.

Much Butter Made.

According to official figures, 1,650,000,000 pounds of butter are made in the United States every year.

Cooking Food.

So far as cooking food for cows or any kind of live stock, only in rare instances is it profitable.

DESTROY GREEN CABBAGE WORMS

Effectual Spray to Eradicate Insect Pest Is Given—Bugs Are Voracious.

The cabbage worm is the larva of the white butterfly, which may be seen flying around the garden early in June. The moth lays her egg in the heart of the cabbage—the eggs soon hatch out where the worms feed hot and dry. The worms are small at first, and of a greenish color. They are voracious and feed mostly on the inner leaves of the cabbage. Unless destroyed when young, the cabbage will be ruined, as they eat out the heart of the cabbage. The most effectual remedy is the paris green solution—made as follows:

Pure paris green, one pound, and water 50 gallons; mix thoroughly, spray the cabbage as soon as the worms appear. Some gardeners use the dry paris green mixture—which is made as follows: Paris green, one tablespoonful mixed with two gallons of air-slaked lime—or dry land plaster. The paris green solution is not less poisonous than paris green and safer to use while fruit or vegetables are nearly ripe. It may be had for 10 cents per pound. A mixture of fine table salt and black pepper is said to be effective. It should be sprinkled on the leaves of the cabbage when leaves are wet with dew. Apply as soon as worms appear. The salt when dissolved will kill the worms and also help the growth of the cabbage.

Green Food for Chickens.

One reason why so many farmers get so few eggs during the winter is that they do not provide their flock with green feed during these seasons. A combination of high production or both milk and eggs depends in a large measure upon a constant supply of green, succulent feed for the animals producing them. Rye is one of the cheapest and best green feeds for these purposes that can be grown.

Profit by Mistakes.

Prepare to get better results with fruits, flowers and vegetables next season, by noting the mistakes of the year, and a study of some of the good horticultural literature easily obtained.

First Threshing Machine.

The improved threshing machine appeared in 1846.

Orchards in England.

Great Britain's orchards cover 324,000 acres.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Of Red Lake County, Minnesota, for the Year Ending December 31, 1912.

Prepared by
A. A. LATENDRESSE,
County Auditor

County Auditor's Office, Red Lake County, Minnesota.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, January 7th, 1913.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA.

GENTLEMEN:

I have the honor to submit to you herewith the Financial Statement of Red Lake County for the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1912. It contains an account of all the receipts and disbursements by the County Treasurer of said County during said year and shows the balance remaining in his hands and belonging to the several funds.

Annexed hereto and a part thereof is a detailed statement of all County Expenses for which orders or warrants were drawn during the year, so arranged as to show the purpose of each expenditure.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. A. Latendresse

(Auditor's Seal.) County Auditor.

TOTAL BALANCE COUNTY AUDITOR.

From General Ledger of County Auditor of Red Lake County, Minnesota, in condition at the close of business on the 31st day of December, 1912.

Balances—	Debit.	Credit.
Cash	$35,183.92
Warrants Outstanding		417.45
Current School Fund		15,000.00
Current Road and Bridge		15.00
Current Revenue	25,422.34
Current Poor		2,000.00
Current Interest		6,000.00
Current Redemption		1,000.00
Current Bridge		1,000.00
Current Road and Bridge		1,000.00
Current Ditch		1,000.00
Current Ditch Interest		1,000.00
Current Ditch Redemption		1,000.00
Current Ditch Bridge		1,000.00
Current Ditch Road and Bridge

COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

(Continued from Page 1)

From miscellaneous 998.74

Total Balance and Receipts $145,495.23
Disbursements—From May 31st, 1912 to November 1st, 1912.
Paid Orders on Revenue Fund ..... $ 8,809.40
Paid Orders on Poor Fund
Paid Warrants on Private Road Fund 3,109.30
Paid Warrants on Road & Bridge Fund 4,222.85
Paid Warrants on Interest Fund 3,197.50
Paid Warrants on General Road & Bridge 11,237.04
Paid Warrants on Town Orders 11,256.91
Paid Warrants on School District Fund 15,694.71
Paid Warrants on State Bridge 3,635.30
Paid Warrants on collections Inside Public Lands 3,263.05
Paid Warrants on Wolf Bounty Fund
Paid Warrants on outstanding warrants 24,136.30
Paid Warrants on miscellaneous 710.20
Balance at close of business, Oct. 31st, 1912 .... $ 50,243.75

Total Disbursements and Balance $145,495.23
Bank Deposits and Cash on Hand (To Balance.)
Cash in safe and Drawer .. $ 70.14
Cash items, checks, money orders 655.61
Deposited in First State Bank, H. L. P. 12,786.72
Deposited in Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11,122.46
Deposited in Farmers Nat'l. Bank, H. L. P. 12,457.13
Deposited in First State Bank, Brooks 5,315.40
Deposited in First State Bank, Plummer 5,387.75
Deposited in First State Bank, Okloe 3,249.30
Deposited in Farmers and Merchants State Bank, Okloe 4,232.65
Town orders 855.80

Total Funds $56,213.76
Respectfully submitted this 13th day of December, 1912.
A. A. LATENDRESSE,
County Auditor.
SAM E. HUNT,
Chairman Board Co. Com'rs.
C. W. JOHNSON,
Clerk District Court.

VERIFICATION OF CURRENT TAX COLLECTIONS—BY BOARD OF AUDIT.

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners, Red Lake County, Minnesota.

Gentlemen:—

The Board of Audit of Red Lake County, respectfully report to your Honorable Body that they have examined the books, accounts, and vouchers of the County Treasurer, counted and reconciled the cash on hand and amount of funds in the treasury of said County, as the books thereof, for the period from June 1st, 1912, to October 31st, 1912, both inclusive, find the Treasurer charged with the Tax Levy for 1911 as follows:

Tax Levy for 1911 ..... $85,189.49
Additions to the Levy .....
Total Debit 85,189.49
Taxes Collected as per Treasurer's Report 73,251.60
Taxes Abated 118.42
Total Credits 73,470.02
Taxes uncollected Nov. 1st, 1912 ..... 11,719.97

We hereby certify that we have made the corrections of the foregoing statement by checking the duplicate receipts with the tax books for the period above named.

A. A. LATENDRESSE,
County Auditor.
SAM E. HUNT, Chairman,
Board County Comm'rs.
C. W. JOHNSON,
Clerk District Court.

Official Proceedings of the Board of Audit,
December 2nd, A.D.1912.

Pursuant to law the Board of Audit met at the office of theCounty Auditor, in the City of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota, on the 2nd day of Dec. 1912, for the purpose of designating County Depositories for the funds coming into the County Treasury of Red Lake County, Minnesota, and to consider proposals for the security that will be given for the funds so deposited and what rate of interest will be paid by such depositaries, on the daily balances of such funds.

Meeting called to order by the chairman, and the following proposals were received and submitted:

First State Bank of Red Lake Falls, 2 per cent on daily balances up to the amount of $8000.00.

Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls2 per cent on daily balances up to the amount of $8000.00.

Farmers National Bank of Red Lake Falls 2 percent on daily balances up to the amount of $8000.00.

First State Bank of Plummer, 2 per cent on daily balances.

First State Bank of Oklee, 3 per cent on daily balances.

Motion made and carried unanimously that the proposals received be accepted.

Adjournment taken until the 4th day of January, 1913.

Pursuant to adjournment the Board of Audit met at the office of the County Auditor, on the 6th day of January, 1913.

Motion made and carried unanimously that the depositories be approved and required to put bonds personal bonds with the exception of the First State Bank of Brooks, which offered a surety bond.

The bonds as accepted and approved are as follows:

First State Bank of Red Lake Falls, in the sum of $50,000.00.

Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, in the sum of $25,000.00.

Farmers National Bank of Red Lake Falls, in the sum of $25,000.00.

First State Bank of Brooks, in the sum of $5,000.00.

First State Bank of Plummer, in the sum of$24,000.00.

First State Bank of Oklee, in the sum of $15,000.00.

Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, in the sum of $25,000.00.

The board adjourned without day.

Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, Dec. 6, 1912.

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County, Minnesota:

Gentlemen:

I hereby offer to do all of the public printing required to be done by and for Red Lake County, Minnesota, during the year 1913, in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published in the City of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota, at the following rates, to-wit:

For publishing Commissioners' proceedings, fifty (50) cents per folio.

For furnishing the Delinquent Tax List, fifteen (15) cents per description.

For publishing the Financial Statement, fifty (50) cents per folio for first insertion and twenty-five (25) cents per folio for each subsequent insertion.

For all other notices or publications required to be done by law, fifty (50) cents per folio for first insertion and twenty-five (25) cents per folio for each subsequent insertion.

This bid is an offer to do the same for a period of 1 month of 30 days, thirty per cent from the legal rate.

If accepted, I will enter into a contract, to supply, without expense to the County Commissioners, a copy of the Financial Statement, Delinquent Tax List and Commissioners' Proceedings for the circulation in the Plummer Pioneer in such numbers as the publisher of that paper may request for circulation in the respective issues of his paper.

Respectfully submitted.

C. R. C. BAKER
Publisher Red Lake Falls Gazette.

I hereby agree, if the bid of the Red Lake Falls Gazette for the Red Lake County printing for the year 1913, is accepted, to circulate in the Plummer Pioneer supplements of the Financial Statement, Delinquent Tax List and Commissioners' Proceedings without cost to the county.

EDWARD A. HERMANSON
Publisher Plummer Pioneer.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Hanson and seconded by Commissioner Schultz, who moved its adoption.

Resolved, that the Red Lake Falls Gazette of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, be and the same is hereby designated by the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County, and State of Minnesota, as the newspaper in which the notice and list of Real Estate remaining delinquent in the County aforesaid on the First Monday in January, 1913, shall be published.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, this 7th day of January, A. D., 1913.

SAM E. HUNT,
ANDREW HANSON,
HERMAN SCHULTZ,
L. C. CADIEUX,

JOSEPH PIGEON,
Attest: GEORGE DUPONT,
County Auditor and Ex-Officio Clerk of Board.

Resolved, that the Red Lake Falls Gazette, of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, be and the same is hereby designated by the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, as the newspaper in which the Financial Statement, showing the condition at Red Lake County, at the close of business on December 31st, A. D. 1912, and all other County Publishing shall be published, and that the said Red Lake Falls Gazette is hereby designated as the official newspaper of Red Lake County.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, this 7th day of January, A. D., 1912.

SAM E. HUNT,
ANDREW HANSON,
HERMAN SCHULTZ,
L. C. CADIEUX,
JOSEPH PIGEON.
Attest: GEORGE DUPONT,
County Auditor and
Ex-officio Clerk of Board.

Moved by Commissioner Pigeon, duly seconded by Commissioner Schultz, that an approved bond of $2,000 be required of the Red Lake Falls Gazette for doing the County Printing.

The annual report of fees and emoluments and printing for the year 1912 received by Frank Jeffrey, F. F. Anderson, Charles Fellman, C. W. Johnson, Joseph Pigeon, G. O. Kindseth, Joseph Perrault, Joseph Beilair, Chas. F. Boughton, Sam. E. Hunt, A. A. Latendresse, C. O. Kanal, Herman Schultz were on motion duly approved.

On motion duly carried the following bonds were approved: George Dupont, County Auditor; Frank Jeffers, Register of Deeds; Charles F. Boughton, County Attorney; G. O. Kindseth, County Treasurer; Joseph Beilair, Coroner; Chas. Fellman, Sheriff; Joseph Perrault, Judge of Probate.

Resolved by Commissioner Schultz, duly seconded by Commissioner Pigeon, that the salary of the County Auditor for the ensuing year be set as follows:

County Auditor, $1,200.00; County Treasurer, $700.00;Judge of Probate, $850.00; Sheriff, $800.00; County Commissioners, $125.00; Clerk of District Court, $650.00; Superintendent of Schools, $1000.00; County Attorney, $1000.00, each, per year.

Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Commissioner Pigeon, duly seconded by Commissioner Cadieux, that all appropriations granted out of the County Road and Bridge Fund during the year 1912, shall be considered as unexpended and paid during the year 1912.

Motion carried unanimously.

The Chairman announced the membership of the different committees as follows:

Finance Committee—Codlieux, Hanson, Schultz.

Ditch Committee—Hanson, Pigeon, Cadieux.

Road and Interest—Pigeon, Hanson, Schultz.

Road and Bridge—Full Board.

Court House and Jail—Schultz,Cadieux, Pigeon.

Motion made by Commissioner Pigeon, duly seconded by Commissioner Schultz, that Dr. L. Lemieux, Commissioner Cadieux and Commissioner Hunt, be and they are hereby appointed as County Board of Health.

Motion carried unanimously.

On motion duly carried the Bonds for County Deputies of the following named banks were approved: First State Bank, the Merchants State Bank and the Farmers National Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota; the First State Bank of Plummer, Minnesota; the First State Bank of Brooks; and the First State Bank and the Farmers and Merchants State Bank, of Oklee, Minnesota.

On motion duly carried, the following papers was spoke of as the official papers of the Board:

We, the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County, State of Minnesota, hereby certify that the accounts, books and vouchers of G. O. Kindseth, County Treasurer of said County and having counted and carefully examined the total amount or sums of funds in the Treasury and belonging thereto, respectfully report that we found the said Treasurer indebted to the county aforesaid at the close of business, on January 6th, 1913, to the agregate sum of $35,416.17.

And we find the Treasurer in possession of funds covering the said indebtedness in kind and amounts as follows:

Deposited in First State Bank of Red Lake Falls $ 6,723.25
Deposited in Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls 5,026.14
Deposited in the Farmers Nat'l Bank of Red Lake Falls 6,047.50
Deposited in First State B'k. of Plummer 4,426.02
Deposited in First State B'k of Brooks 4,354.75
Deposited in First State B'k of Oklee 3,365.90
Deposited in Farmers & Merchants State B'k of Oklee 5,416.70
Coppare ..... .21
Total in Bank $35,372.39

Silver 21.45
Stamps 22.13

Grand Total $35,416.17

The Financial Statement, as prepared by County Auditor A. A. Latendresse, showing the condition at the close of business on December 31st, 1912, was on motion duly approved by the Board.

Received, that the application of F. A. Grady, for abatement of taxes assessed against Lot 4, Block 9, City of Thief River Falls, for the years 1910, 1911 and 1912 be denied, subject to the approval of the Minnesota State Tax Commission. Resolution carried unanimously.

On motion duly carried, the Board took a recess until 7:15 o'clock p. m., January 7th, 1913. All members being present.

Moved by Commissioner Pigeon, duly seconded by Commissioner Schultz, that the salary of the Deputy Register of Deeds be discontinued, and that the same take effect from the 1st day of January, A.D.1913. Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Commissioner Pigeon, duly seconded by Commissioner Schultz, that the Chairman of the Board and the County Auditor be and they are hereby authorized to be and act as a purchasing Committee for the purchasing all Blanks, Blank Books and Supplies necessary for the County Offices for the year ending 1913, and that no bills for such supplies shall be allowed by the board unless the same are ordered and purchased by said Committee. Resolution prevailed.

Moved by Commissioner Schultz, duly seconded by Commissioner Cadieux, that the Resignation of an official abstractor in Red LakeCounty be deferred until the next meeting of the Board

Moved, seconded and carried unanimously that all Blanks, be allowed:—

Charles Fellman, turnkey salary, Nov ..... $ 4.00
Charles Fellman, livery hire
Cunningham case 8.00
Charles Fellman, board of Cunningham at jail 1.20
Charles Fellman, turnkey salary, Dec. 4.00
Charles Fellman, Board of William Pagin 6.00
E. G. Hunt, drawing petit jury Nov. term 4.25
E. G. Hunt, justice fees, State vs. Pagin 4.25
E. G. Hunt, justice fees, State vs. Cunningham 4.25
Fritz Cross Co., supplies to Court House 11.46
Fritz Cross Co., files for Clerk of Court 3.00
Fritz Cross Co., books, stationery and supplies 142.75
Red Lake Falls Gazette, bills and printing 17.50
Red Lake Falls Gazette, legal publications 23.05
Peter Lachance, carrying election returns 2.00
W. H. Krueger, meals for jury 6.80
Theo. Kuplo, covering cess pool Court House 4.50
Napoleon Deloge, 2 cords of wood for Court House 8.50
Orvie Hinds, engineering services at Court House 11.00
A. J. Heimstead, procuring general election ballots 1.60
A. J. Heimstead, procuring primary election ballots 1.60
H. T. McAnulty, livery, poll tags and express 36.80
Peter Hanson, services on State road No.1 ..... 2.50
Clerk procuring General Election ballots 2.00
Henry Lemieux, procuring General Election ballots .. 1.50
N. Lemieux, services election men 9.00
Fred Gother, carrying election returns and mileage 3.00
A. A. Latendresse, Court House 14.72
M. Dechouvrons, printing Primary and General Election ballots 4.00
Nick Hahn, putting up storm windows, Court House 14.40
G. G. Kindseth, postage and stamps for Co. Board 54.14
J. A. Taupin, member of Co. Canvassing Board, services and mileage 9.00
Sam E. Hunt, mileage attending Co. Board meetings 3.50
Sam E. Hunt, livery dues and mileage, Board of Audit 18.00
O. Lafontenbarg, acct. Co. Ditch No. 12 ..... 50.00
O. Lafontenbarg, services canvassing and legislative returns 9.00
C. Latendresse, member of Co. Board of Audit 18.00
Hunt Hardware Co., mdse. and repairs, Court House .. 62.31
Hunt Hardware Co., Hardware Co., mdse. and repairs, Court House 18.20
C. A. Johnson, County Board of Audit 18.00
Geo. F. Hennings, premium on Co. Treasurer's bond 100.00
Free Press Pig Co., supplies to Election Boards 4.10
Security B. B. and Pig. Co., blanks by Co. Commissioners 2.07
Security B. B. and Pig. Co., duplicate tax receipts—treasurer 25.40
Sam E. Hunt, county canvassing Bd 9.00
C. O. Swanson, procuring General election ballots ... 2.40
C. O. Swanson, County Canvassing Board 18.00
Red River Power Co., electric light for court House and Sheriff 20.84
Red River Power Co., electric light for court House and Sheriff 21.10
Joseph Ballay, coal for Court House 198.05
Washington Co., blnks., certified sup. of Ole Gandrud, insanity case 64.82
Andrew Hanson, mileage, atty. Board meeting 5.50
Herman Schultz, mileage, atty. Board meeting 1.40
Joseph Pigeon, mileage, atty. Board meeting 3.20
L. C. Cadieux, mileage, atty. Board meeting 3.20
Louis F. Dow Co., blanks,Clk. of Court 2.13
Gervais twp. one-half expense of Bridge on Sec. 29 ..... 421.00

Moved seconded and carried unanimously that the following bill be laid over, viz: Bill of Charles Fellman for two days labor, amount of $5.50.

On motion made by Commissioner Hanson, and duly seconded by Commissioner Pigeon the Board adjourned to the 31st day of January, 1913.

By the Board:

SAM E. HUNT, Chairman of Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County, Minnesota.

Attest: GEORGE DUPONT, County Auditor and Official Clerk of County Board.

(SEAL)

SCHEME PROVES DISMAL FAILURE

(Continued from Page 1.)

Sentiment inserted early into the official statement when he allowed a select few to pick up a few hundreds in his office and now a legislative investigation is demanded. "Hocus," you probably know, is not permitted in the capitol or on the grounds surrounding it and this Mr. Schmahl overlooked. Then there was a stick in one of the panels bowin that those who attended the reception were invited to drink and not opeed to thin reporter who wrote up the affair, but it was there just the same and when the legislature gets busy we will probably find out who put it there. All around, as one St. Paul duly put it, the occasion was pretty much of an orgy. However, in the heat in put the secretary of state in bad it failed to tell who drank the highballs or the quantity of beer consumed.

✣ ✣ ✣

Liquor was served to a chosen few in connection with the inaugural reception, and it was quaffed in the office of the secretary of state, that it is not the first time in the history of the state that booze has figured at the state house. What inspired the publicity is the fact that Mr. Schmahl is a member of the state printing commission and the commission at the present time is not in good standing with the proprietor of certain St. Paul newspapers. The owner of the Pioneer Press and the commission's endorsement of the publication of the secretary's annual statement in a German daily paper, a plum heretofore enjoyed by his publications. It is worth about $2,000. So strained have the relations become that it is said that the governor has called in each of the members of the printing commission, which includes Mr. Schmahl, are not permitted in print unless the article involving them is to their discredit.

✣ ✣ ✣

When the scandal was first given publicity regarding the state's expenditures and receipts was considered of sufficient importance that a special session calling for the sess and a daily appropriated at the seat of government was named as the proper medium.

The cost involving an expense of perhaps $100 to $200 the publication of the state's financial details has assumed a cost that is now in the thousands and naturally the business has been eagerly sought by those publications particularly the St. Paul. For years the treasurer's annual report has been alternately printed in two certain St. Paul dailies and now that a rival publication daily has broken into the game the owners of the former, which are now under one management, are quite hostile. To add to the fun in question is not of general circulation its compilation by the compilation and that the report is not in legal form inasmuch as it is not in full English. While the Governor Smith and the printing commission admit, further details of the matter are lacking because of the cost involved. To print a complete financial statement, they say, would cost $5,000.

✣ ✣ ✣

That Governor Eberhart will make a third try at his nomination for two years hence and that at the close he will be succeeded by Lieutenant Governor Ivington position is now generally accepted at the state capitol and there are those who say the Governor's reception given him last week was to that end. The affair was financed by the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce and though the invitations sent out bore the names of Governor and Mrs. Eberhart the heads of the St. Paul organization were in charge. It is said they favor Governor Eberhart for United States senator and that from now on nothing will be overlooked in pushing the Mankato man in a public way.

✣ ✣ ✣

Speaking of Governor Eberhart and his message to the legislature before it the executive rather surprised a few of his friends when he fattened in his message to the legislature for the initiative and referendum. For the benefit of those who have anticipated his message some days previous to its delivery with an outline of what he would contain, but there was nothing about the initiative and referendum then the fact the new idea was believed to be the farthest from the governor's views on legislative subjects. Speaking from the experience of the past Governor Eberhart did not take any long chances when he advocated the idea, as there is little chance of it passing. Personages was the stumbling block two years ago when the bill for the initiative and referendum came up and it is going to be the obstacle again. Even the Democrats, who are wedded to the idea, are split on the question.

✣ ✣ ✣

That R. C. Dunn of Princeton and his namesake, H. H. Dunn of Albert Lea, former speaker of the house, will not be among the silent ones of the present legislature was evidenced last week when the two led a vigorous attack on the rules, which were later sustained. The arbitrary features of the regulations was their contention and the two attacked the attempt to throttle the members in a way that means they will be heard from later. W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis, who is at the head of the house committee on rules, won out in his fight for the new order of things, in the fight by no means over. One of the things protested was a rule giving the committee supervision over the other committees of the house and the chances are that when it is put into effect there will be a lively war.

✣ ✣ ✣

"Blue sky" laws, which is the slang name for those acts designed to provide for state control of stock issues and sales of securities, have made their appearance in both houses of the legislature. No less than four were introduced last week and more are threatened. In this particular case danger lies in numbers and some of the interested members are trying to limit the activity. Governor Eberhart, Secretary of State Schmahl and A. A. O. Swanson have each advocated the passage of a blue sky law.

✣ ✣ ✣

That Jackknives do not go any longer was demonstrated at the opening session of the house, when the committee on legislative expenses directed the removal from each box of supplies for the members of a letter opener, the handle of which contained a scratch knife. The cost was $1 and when the committee got through pruning the bill each box represented an expense of $2.50 per member.

✣ ✣ ✣

In previous sessions the secretary of state anticipated the opening by providing the necessary supplies, which were unopened later and are a pile at a cost that was exorbitant. All around, as one St. Paul duly put it, the occasion was pretty much of an orgy. However, in the heat in put the secretary of state in bad it failed to tell who drank the highballs or the quantity of beer consumed.

✣ ✣ ✣

In previous sessions the secretary of state anticipated the opening by providing the necessary supplies, which were unopened later and are a pile at a cost that was exorbitant. All around, as one St. Paul duly put it, the occasion was pretty much of an orgy. However, in the heat in put the secretary of state in bad it failed to tell who drank the highballs or the quantity of beer consumed.

✣ ✣ ✣

Liquor was served to a chosen few in connection with the inaugural reception, and it was quaffed in the office of the secretary of state, that it is not the first time in the history of the state that booze has figured at the state house. What inspired the publicity is the fact that Mr. Schmahl is a member of the state printing commission and the commission at the present time is not in good standing with the proprietor of certain St. Paul newspapers. The owner of the Pioneer Press and the commission's endorsement of the publication of the secretary's annual statement in a German daily paper, a plum heretofore enjoyed by his publications. It is worth about $2,000. So strained have the relations become that it is said that the governor has called in each of the members of the printing commission, which includes Mr. Schmahl, are not permitted in print unless the article involving them is to their discredit.

✣ ✣ ✣

When the scandal was first given publicity regarding the state's expenditures and receipts was considered of sufficient importance that a special session calling for the sess and a daily appropriated at the seat of government was named as the proper medium.

The cost involving an expense of perhaps $100 to $200 the publication of the state's financial details has assumed a cost that is now in the thousands and naturally the business has been eagerly sought by those publications particularly the St. Paul. For years the treasurer's annual report has been alternately printed in two certain St. Paul dailies and now that a rival publication daily has broken into the game the owners of the former, which are now under one management, are quite hostile. To add to the fun in question is not of general circulation its compilation by the compilation and that the report is not in legal form inasmuch as it is not in full English. While the Governor Smith and the printing commission admit, further details of the matter are lacking because of the cost involved. To print a complete financial statement, they say, would cost $5,000.

✣ ✣ ✣

That Governor Eberhart will make a third try at his nomination for two years hence and that at the close he will be succeeded by Lieutenant Governor Ivington position is now generally accepted at the state capitol and there are those who say the Governor's reception given him last week was to that end. The affair was financed by the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce and though the invitations sent out bore the names of Governor and Mrs. Eberhart the heads of the St. Paul organization were in charge. It is said they favor Governor Eberhart for United States senator and that from now on nothing will be overlooked in pushing the Mankato man in a public way.

✣ ✣ ✣

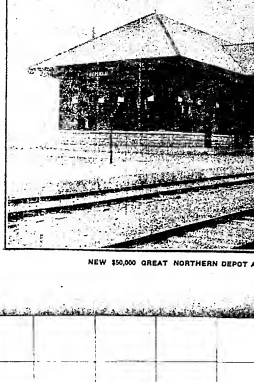
Speaking of Governor Eberhart and his message to the legislature before it the executive rather surprised a few of his friends when he fattened in his message to the legislature for the initiative and referendum. For the benefit of those who have anticipated his message some days previous to its delivery with an outline of what he would contain, but there was nothing about the initiative and referendum then the fact the new idea was believed to be the farthest from the governor's views on legislative subjects. Speaking from the experience of the past Governor Eberhart did not take any long chances when he advocated the idea, as there is little chance of it passing. Personages was the stumbling block two years ago when the bill for the initiative and referendum came up and it is going to be the obstacle again. Even the Democrats, who are wedded to the idea, are split on the question.

✣ ✣ ✣

That R. C. Dunn of Princeton and his namesake, H. H. Dunn of Albert Lea, former speaker of the house, will not be among the silent ones of the present legislature was evidenced last week when the two led a vigorous attack on the rules, which were later sustained. The arbitrary features of the regulations was their contention and the two attacked the attempt to throttle the members in a way that means they will be heard from later. W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis, who is at the head of the house committee on rules, won out in his fight for the new order of things, in the fight by no means over. One of the things protested was a rule giving the committee supervision over the other committees of the house and the chances are that when it is put into effect there will be a lively war.

✣ ✣ ✣

"Blue sky" laws, which is the slang name for those acts designed to provide for state control of stock issues and sales of securities, have made their appearance in both houses of the legislature. No less than four were introduced last week and more



NEW $50,000 GREAT NORTHERN DEPOT AT BEMIDJI.

Organized In 1884

This BANK has had an honorable history of continuous and helpful service to the business interest of this community. Always adhering to its conservative policies it has gained an enviable reputation for stability and strength.

Continuing under these policies it will grow still larger and stronger. Its depositors will enjoy in an increasing measure the benefits which come only of an association with a progressive, capable and willing Bank.

With its large capacity, this Bank is able to meet the requirments of maney more clients and invites the accounts of those who appreciates the best banking service.

First State Bank

Red Lake Falls, - Minn.

Interest paid on time deposits

Comfort and Recreation

A Comfortable and Elegantly Furnished Place

Good billiard and pool tables
—Refreshing soft drinks—Ice cream and confections—
Good smokes

You will find all these at the

Rest Room Billiard Parlor

L. A. DUSTERHOFT, Prop.

The IVORY POACHERS of the LADO ENCLAVE

By W. ROBERT FORAN

COPYRIGHT BY THE HOCHAY COMPANY

There's a legion that never was 'listed.
That carries no colors or regiments,
Not split in a thousand detachments,
But breaking the mold for the single —Kipling

I WAS trailing ex-President Theodore Roosevelt through Uganda on the last stages of his year's hunting trip in Central Africa, being the only newspaper correspondent in remote in the field out of the small army of them who had set out with him from New York in March, 1909, when my travels took me to the shores of the Albert Nyanza, from which the White Nile quickly begins its course. Here are the headquarters of the small body of men who are hunting all manner of dangers to make a fortune by elephant-hunting in "No Man's Land," on the Lado Enclave territory on the Belgian Congo, bordering on the great River Nile, has been termed.

Many of these men were personally known to me during my residence in British East Africa as a government official. I had acquired a wholesome respect for these hardy and intrepid tamers of the uncivilized sections of the great equatorial hinterland of Central Africa, and what I saw and heard of them at the Albert Nyanza and on the banks of the Nile did not lessen my regard for them as men. Perhaps their calling as elephant-poachers may not have been regular in the eyes of the law, but then there was such an element of danger connected with their work that the offenses of which they were guilty paled before all other considerations, and one is forced to concede to them the possession of the sense of pluck. The freebooter or soldier of fortune is ever a picturesque figure and the Congo poachers amply fill this role.

I had marched one hundred and sixty-five miles across the dreary, sweltering hot Uganda country, and it was with feelings of extreme relief that I saw the shimmering expanse of the waters of the Albert Nyanza from the top of the ridge overlooking Butiaba, the small port on the sandy shore of the lake.

I pitched camp on the site of the recent Roosevelt encampment within one hundred feet of the lake.

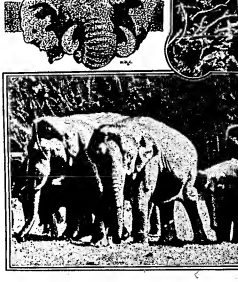
I had heard from natives that one of the Congo poachers was in port at Butiaba, but none of them seemed to know his name and I was at a loss to know who he might be. I remembered that there were a number of men whom I knew intimately poaching in this district, and I wondered whether perchance I was to be given an opportunity of renewing my acquaintance with one of them. Perhaps it might be Arthur Heyns, the big, genial "King of the Kikuyu;" or "Karomaje" Bell, the mightiest of elephant hunters; or Bernard Grahame Rupert Cavens, brother of Earl Cavendish; or Pearson, to say nothing of many others whom I had met from time to time. I was with them by their correct names, for they made no secret of their calling and I feel sure that I am not committing any indiscretion by so doing.

Each one of these men has a history, and each and every one of them can tell thrilling tales of his experiences not only in the Congo but also in every other part of Africa.

My interest was considerable as to who the men at Butiaba might be were soon set at rest. It is the custom for all white men in Africa to call on any other white man who may camp in their vicinity, and so it was not long before the "poachers" came to my camp to see me. It proved to be Bennett, the ex-engineer of the Uganda Nile Sash, who had abandoned his profession for the life of more thrilling and lucrative work of shooting elephants for their ivory. For many years he had been in charge of the small steam launch plying between Butiaba and Nimule on the Nile, and during these years he had done much shooting on the banks of the river. His beat of ivory each year to his small income as a launch engineer, so that it was a bad year indeed when he did not finish with a few tusks, but never in all that had been with Winston Churchill, when the letter made his trip up the Nile on the government flotilla when inspecting East Africa and Uganda in his official capacity as undar secretary of state for the colonies.

This is the story of a man, as told to me on my first night in camp at Butiaba, sitting in my tent beating off the attack of greedy mosquitoes while entertaining Bennett with the aid of my limited supply of whisky. The story was so startling that often I had to pinch myself during the recital to satisfy myself that I was not dreaming of the days of Emin Pasha and Stanley as the result of the anaesthetic of my surroundings.

I noticed that his hands were badly lacerated, in fact, in a fearful state, and all the time we conversed about generalities I was wondering what had been the cause. Presently the conversation turned in the subject of elephant shooting, and I asked him how he was progressing with his quest for ivory. I had got him interested now and leaned back in my easy camp-chair to listen.



"On the orders of the chief I was offered milk to drink and given a native hut to live in as a prisoner, with a native guard. My food during this time consisted of milk and one or two little of that. After some days of torture, wondering what they intended to do with me, I was boiled before the chief and given a public trial. I could understand but little of the proceeding, and it appeared that the witch doctor, the chief, was in favor of my death. Fortunately for me, the chief's wishes prevailed and I was released and allowed to go free. I left the village, having a guaranty that I would not be molested in this district. I was threatened with instant death and torture if I was caught again by them.

"Then began six days' journey through the blazing African sun with all my clothes in rags, no helmet and no hat, no water, and no food except what I could find my the way, which was very little, saving that I had a rifle and a few cartridges. I was followed and allowed to go free in my camp equipment, stores and rifles had been taken away from me and I had not all my ivory, the result of many months' arduous work in the Congo.

"At last, after days of infinite torture, I reached the camp of a Belgian official near Mahagi, who clothed and fed me, promising me that the natives would be punished. This was indeed kind of him, for it must be remembered that I was a poacher in the Belgian territory and fields to be very severely punished by decree of the Belgians in the act of poaching ivory. I have came to Butiaba to try to get together another outfit and return to the Mahagi district to replace my losses. I am determined to make up my fortune and feel confident that I shall do so."

I wish that I could tell the tale with the unaffected simplicity and unconscious self-effacement manner in which Bennett told it to me.

The next day I left by launch for Nobe, the first government post on the Nile, where I found a small village of white elephant-poachers, but all of them were away after ivory in the Congo at the time of my visit. They live on the British side of the Nile and make periodical excursions into the Congo after ivory. The British government allows Congo ivory to pass through its territory on payment of twenty-five per cent royalty, and in a way this encourages the poachers, for they are allowed to export their ivory, and at the time, elephants each year in East Africa or Uganda, on payment of a $250 license. In the Congo no license is necessary and they may shoot as many tuskers as they can, without a license, so they can make a handsome profit by the Belgians or the natives.

Each man takes untold risks when he follows this calling. Not only does he chance ten years' imprisonment in a chain-gang in the interior of the Congo, if caught by the Belgians, but he also takes his life in his hands every time he shoots an elephant, for a single charge of a bullet from the fifteen or twenty-foot grass, selects the big bull and shoots at it, may mean the death of the ten to fifteen yards. No one who has not tried elephant-shooting can realize the terrifying speed of a herd of elephants when your are close to them. They move so silently, and yet with such ease in spite of crushing the life out of any man who dares disturb their peace.

At Koba I found the houses, made of grass and mud, of John Boyes, the Honorable Rupert Cavendish or Pickering and Buckley. Grahame had had given up poaching for the time being, as he had made more than sufficient out of it to satisfy all his desires. Bell is a big Englishman, who has a big estate in England and an annual rental of some $15,000. He came out to Central Africa seeking adventure in 1902, when only eight years of age, and at once turned his attention to elephant-hunting.

I am told that in the last eight years Bell has spent $100,000 in seeking ivory and has made $250,000, so that he has cleared one hundred per cent.

John Boyes, alias "King of the Kikuyu", was unfortunately, pocketing in Congo ivory, should have liked to renew my acquaintance with him, for he is a remarkable character. Boyes was at one time a side-bobbed naval officer on a merchant vessel and was wrecked, or deserted, I know not which, at Zanzibar, where he made his start in the first meeting with him in 1904. He had spent all his time cattle-trading and ivory-hunting in the wilds, and for many years made the territory of the Akikuyu tribe his headquarters. He had become blood-brother to their king, Kinanjui, and then had made himself virtually their king.

He said he had just returned from the Congo, where he had been shooting elephants for some months at the back of Mahagi, and that he had been very successful up to a certain point, but then had lost all his hard-earned ivory, all his effects, owing to an attack from the natives. His subsequent narrative was an enthralling one, and I wish that it were possible for me to reproduce it exactly as he told it to me on that still African night.

"I got on very well with the natives and had not seen very few tusks," he continued. "One day I was out after some elephants, which had been located by the natives for me, and came across four huge tuskers. I fired at the biggest, but only succeeded in mortally wounding it. He charged through the tall elephant grass toward me, with his huge ears outspread and his trunk lifted high above his head. He screamed fearfully with rage and pain and the sight was indeed a terrifying one. I fired at point-blank range and again hit him mortally. The elephant continued his charge and one of my native servants felled to get out of his way. The elephant pushed the native to one side with his trunk in passing and the boy fell to the ground without a sound. The elephant fell down dead a short distance away.

"The three remaining elephants were wild with rage and screamed and trumpeted, tearing down the trees in all directions as if they had been reeds of paper, screaming shrilly all the time. It was an anxious moment for me, for I was within fifty feet of them at the time of my first shot. I stood my ground and fired again, killing one of the take, and I followed them up and succeeded in killing a second of them in three shots at close range.

"I returned to look for my native servant, thinking that he would be watching over my first trophy there. To my astonishment I found the boy lying dead where he had fallen when the elephant bowled him over. I examined him carefully and found that no bones had been fractured, nor was there a mark on his body. He must have died from shock at the terrifying spectacle.

"On or about December 10th I moved off farther inland after a big herd and camped, learning my way about in Africa in such a manner. Within a radius of twenty miles of me there were four other white poachers, namely, Pearson, Dickinson, Boyes and Knowles. The natives appeared perfectly friendly to me. On my first night in camp they visited me, dancing and singing round my campfire. I suspected no treachery from them; in the country they appeared willing to show country toward the lake

(continued from page 4)

H. H. Anderson, traveling 8.00
C. W. Neal, hauling 2.00
Co. of Indiana, pfd., 6 % 705.26
H. H. Fraser, cleaning two 2.00
Lumber Co., lumber, repairs 1.20
court house, 1912 ..... 7.00
Jos. Bellet, hauling freight 1.50
H. F. Anderson, postage 3.00
Lumber Co., lumber, repairs 1.20
C. Kuehn, inspector of 3.00 county seal, published for by 3.40
Co., lumber and other 3.40
..... $3567.79

C. NTY ROAD AND BRIDGE FUND.

Receipts.

..ce balance, January 2nd, ... $4320.20
..s Receipts 4782.55
..ce balance, Jan. 2nd, 1911 ..... 84.98
Total $9189.59

Disbursements.

..ants issued $10,077.87
..ce balance 1111.72
Total $10,9189.59

County Road and Bridge Fund.

Tr. Whom For What Amt'.
Warrant Issued Purpose Amt'.
State of Minnesota, ... 4.00
Township of Louisville 1875.00
John H. Hunt, Treasurer, ... 16.50
Township of Belgrade 1000.00
Township of Emmedville 1000.00
Sarah Young 423.20
Forrest Rice 787.50
Minnesota 3.00
Other Expenses 637.16
Wm. Rice & Brother 1400.00
Thomas Tidmarsh 1.00
Village of Plummer 1467.18
Town of Garfield 84.00
Ed. Hunt 2.00
Ed. Hunt 2.00
Wm. L. Swann 4.80
Wm. L. Swann 4.80
Thomas Duncan 4.80
Wm. H. Dehmann 4.80
Wm. H. Dehmann 4.80
C. Kuehn 3.00
Charles Fellman 2.00
Charles Fellman 2.00
Village of Plummer 1000.00
Joseph Hlavka 1.60
Town of Garfield 1127.00
Wilhelm and Harvey McIvers 1035.00
John Tyler 4.80
Lloyd Swift 4.80
Town of Louisville 1127.00
Town of Louisville 2.00
Other Expenses 8502.00
..... $19951.87

C. NTY BOND & INTEREST FUND.

Receipts.

..ce balance, January 2nd, ... $6,122.25
..s Receipts 14,651.01
Total $19,773.26

Disbursements.

..ants Issued $14,887.27
..ce balance 4885.99
Treasurer Sinking Fund 900.00
..ce balance, January 2nd, ... 4885.99
..... $5789.31

County Bond and Interest Fund.

Tr. Whom For What Amt'.
Warrant Issued Purpose Amt'.
To County Treasurer, Penn 1.00
H. H. Wellcome, Jr. 3.00
First State Bank, Red Lake 7.50
Falls 17.47
The Pioneer Co. 8.00
Farmers Natl. Bank, R.L.F. 1.00
Farmers Natl. Bank, R.L.F. 111.88
Farmers Natl. Bank, R.L.F. 17.00
W. H. Sawyer, Agt. 1.75
First State Bank, R. L. F. 1.00
First State Bank, R. L. F. 1.00
Security State Bank of St. 1.20
Farmers Natl. Bank, R.L.F. 1.00
First State Bank, R. L. F. 1.00
Merchants State Bank, R. 1.00
Merchants State Bank, R. 250.00
Chas. E. Bourbon 9.37
Marcellus Bank, R.L.F. ..... .18
Wetzel Smith, State 170.00
Treasurer 400.00
Walter J. Smith, State 400.00
Treasurer 1000.00
First State Bank, R. L. F. 1000.00
First State Bank, R. L. F. ..... .40
Merchants State Bank, R. ..... .18
Hilger 9.00
Merchants State Bank, R. 9.00
L. F. 900.00
..... $5789.31

INCIDENTAL FUND.

Receipts.

..ce balance, January 2nd, ... $ 61.88
..s Receipts Revenue 1000.00
..ce balance Jan. 2nd, 1913 ..... 61.88
Total $1061.76

Disbursements.

..ants Issued $1060.76
Total $1060.76

Tr. Whom For What Amt'.
Warrant Issued Purpose Amt'.
..s Lauenberger, postage 1.00
..s Lauenberger, express 2.13
..s Fellman, postage stamps on 2.00
..s Lauenberger, postage stamps 2.00
..s Lauenberger, express 2.09
..s W. Johnson, express and 2.00
..s Lauenberger, express 2.15
..s Lauenberger, postage 2.00
..s Lauenberger, express 2.00
..s Fellman, postage ..... .65
..s Lauenberger, express 2.00
..s Lauenberger, postage 2.00
..s W. Johnson, postage and 2.00
..s Fellman, postage 2.00
..s Lauenberger, postage 2.00
..s Lauenberger, postage 2.00
..s Jeffers, postage 2.00
..s Lauenberger, express 2.00
..s Jeffers, express, etc. 2.00
..s Lauenberger, express 2.00
..s Lauenberger, express, etc. 2.00
..s Lauenberger, postage 2.00
..s Lauenberger, express 2.00
..s Lauenberger, postage 2.00
..s Lauenberger, express 2.00
..s W. Johnson, postage and 2.00
..s Lauenberger, express 2.00
..s Lauenberger, express 2.00
..s Lauenberger, postage

KEZIAH COFFIN

by

Joseph C. Lincoln

Author of
Cy Whittaker's Place
Capn Eri, Etc.

Illustrations by
Ellsworth Young

Copyright, 1907, by Joseph C. Lincoln & Company

SYNOPSIS.

Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is arrested in Boston from Trumet to Dennisport, following the death of her lover for whom she left her husband. Arrest, trial, imprisonment, escape, and recapture and re-imprisonment follow. Capt. Elkanah Doane, leader of the Regular church, offers Keziah a place as housekeeper, but she refuses, and the decision of Rev. Jonathan Atkins, pastor of the Congregational church, Hillsboro, to take her in also, and allow him seldom to see her, arouses the wonder of the people. Difficulties of Keziah in attending church are overcome by Capt. Elkanah's generosity in carrying her to and from meeting. Grace appreciates her self-sacrificing devotion and Ellery enjoys the ride. Capt. Elkanah's wife dies. Grace wins Keziah over by bringing the secret into public notice in the prayer circle. Ellery finds Keziah willing a home to some one in the family, and Grace offers to accept the invitation. Keziah's acceptance is soon followed by the arrival of Capt. Elkanah's brother, Nathaniel, and their call on Keziah. Grace hopes that they have come to take her away with Ellery and Keziah, but Nathaniel's object is to secure Keziah's services for attending Commodore Consider, a rich old bachelor, who is confined to his room by illness. Keziah refuses to leave Grace, while nothing is said about Ellery. Keziah goes to Boston. The Commodore's nephew, Nathaniel Consider, falls in love with the flatterer. Annabel, the daughter, Knowles, Keziah, Coffin, Mrs. Higgins and Ike. The little company visit Out of the cemetery, and Captain Eben Sparrow, Keziah's lawyer, and Mr. Trumet.

Keziah lingered to speak a word with Grace. The girl, looking very white and worn, leaned on the arm of Captain Eben, whose big body acted as a buffer between her and overzealous Mrs. Deacon Cahoon. Ellery and Grace, Ellery declared he will make Grace promise between him and the greater part of the journey home in a fallen, limp heap. Because of Keziah's promise from Nat and Ellery's promise from Grace, Keziah breaks the news to Ellery that she is going to stay with Grace during she is needless to say, Ellery has not to say a word of saying him not to go to her aunt.

CHAPTER XII.—(Continued).

"Never mind about that other man. He was handsome these, in a way, and he had money to spend, and he liked her. He wanted me to marry him. If—if the other, the one that went away, had written I never would have thought of such a thing, but he didn't write. And, my pride bein' hurt, and all, I finally said yes to the second chap.

"Well, for the first year 'twa'n't so bad. Not happiness exactly, but not misery either. That come later. The people was well off and he'd never worked much of any. He did for a little while after we was married, but not for long. Then he began to drink and carry on and lost his place. Pretty soon he begun to neglect me and at last went off to see afore the mast. We was poor as poverty, but I could have stood that; I'd been used to it. I took in sewin' and kept up an appearance, somehow. Never told a soul. Folks come painted the brightest and offered me money, so's I needn't disgrace them. I sent 'em right about in a hurry. Once in a while he'd come home, get tipsy and abuse me. Still I said nothin'. Thank God, there was no children; that's the one thing I've been thankful for.

"You can't keep such things quiet always. People see bruises and so. They come to me and said, 'Why don't you leave him?' but I wouldn't. I'd made my promise afore him easy enough, and I was a church member, and I'd said and they offered me this place here at the parsonage. There! that's my story, just as it is. I've never told a livin' soul afore, except Sol."

She ceased speaking. The minister, who had sat silent by the window, apathetically listening or trying to listen, turned his head.

"I apologize, Mrs. Coffin," he said gently, "you have had a hard cross to bear—"

"But they ain't as hard as yours, you think? Well, I haven't quite finished yet. After word come of my husband's death, the other man came and wanted me to marry him. And I wanted to—so, how I wanted to! I cared as much for him as I ever did; more, I guess. But I wouldn't—I wouldn't, though it wrung my heart out to say no. I give him up—why? 'cause I thought I had a duty laid on me."

Ellery sighed. "I can see but one duty," he said. "That is the duty given us by God, to marry the one we love."

Keziah's agitation, which had grown as she told her story, suddenly died out into flame.

"Is that as far as you can see?" she asked fiercely. "It's an easy duty, then—or looks easy now. I've got a harder one; it's to stand by the promise I gave and the man I married."

"Why, the man you married is dead."

"No, he ain't. You remember the letter you sent me readin' that night when you come back from Come-Out-ers' meetin'? Well, that letter was from him. He's alive. Yes, he's alive. Alive and sound and 'round the world somewhere. Every little while he writes me for money and, if I have to say, I send it to him. Why? Why 'cause I'm a coward, after all, I guess, and I'm scared I don't do what he says he will and come back. Perhaps you think I'm a fool to put up with it; that's what most folks would say if they knew it. There's a time I was goin' to divorce him. Well, I can't, I can't. I walked into the mess blindfolded; I married him in spite of warnin's and everything. I took him for better or for worse, and I know that he's treated me not worse, I must take my medicine. I can't live with him—that I can't do—but while he lives I'll stay his wife and give him what money I can spare. That's the duty I hold you was laid on me, and it's a hard one, but I don't run away from it."

She stopped short; then covering her face with her apron, she ran from the room. John Ellery heard her descending the stairs, sobbing as she went.

All that afternoon he remained in his chair by the window. It was six o'clock, supper time, when he entered the kitchen. Keziah, looking up from the tossing board, saw him. He was white and worn and grim, but he held out his hand to her.

"Mrs. Coffin," he said, "I'm not going to say that you've shown me what devotion to duty really means. I shall learn, all of us shall learn, in time. But—"

Her face lit up. "Will you?" she said. "I thought you would. I was sure you was that kind."

CHAPTER XIII.

In Which the Sea Mist Falls.

They hurried Captain Elkanah to the little Cape Cod cemetery at the rear of the chapel. The Come-Outers were there, all of them, and some members of the Regular society, Captain Zeb Hopkins, Dr. Parker, Keziah Coffin, Mrs. Higgins and Ike. The little company filed out of the cemetery, and Captain Eben Sparrow walked with Mr. Trumet.

Keziah lingered to speak a word with Grace. The girl, looking very white and worn, leaned on the arm of Captain Eben, whose big body acted as a buffer between her and overzealous Mrs. Deacon Cahoon. Ellery and Grace, Ellery declared he will make Grace promise between him and the greater part of the journey home in a fallen, limp heap. Because of Keziah's promise from Nat and Ellery's promise from Grace, Keziah breaks the news to Ellery that she is going to stay with Grace during she is needless to say, Ellery has not to say a word of saying him not to go to her aunt.

"Never mind about that other man. He was handsome these, in a way, and he had money to spend, and he liked her. He wanted me to marry him. If—if the other, the one that went away, had written I never would have thought of such a thing, but he didn't write. And, my pride bein' hurt, and all, I finally said yes to the second chap.

"Well, for the first year 'twa'n't so bad. Not happiness exactly, but not misery either. That come later. The people was well off and he'd never worked much of any. He did for a little while after we was married, but not for long. Then he began to drink and carry on and lost his place. Pretty soon he begun to neglect me and at last went off to see afore the mast. We was poor as poverty, but I could have stood that; I'd been used to it. I took in sewin' and kept up an appearance, somehow. Never told a soul. Folks come painted the brightest and offered me money, so's I needn't disgrace them. I sent 'em right about in a hurry. Once in a while he'd come home, get tipsy and abuse me. Still I said nothin'. Thank God, there was no children; that's the one thing I've been thankful for.

"You can't keep such things quiet always. People see bruises and so. They come to me and said, 'Why don't you leave him?' but I wouldn't. I'd made my promise afore him easy enough, and I was a church member, and I'd said and they offered me this place here at the parsonage. There! that's my story, just as it is. I've never told a livin' soul afore, except Sol."

She ceased speaking. The minister, who had sat silent by the window, apathetically listening or trying to listen, turned his head.

"I apologize, Mrs. Coffin," he said gently, "you have had a hard cross to bear—"

"But they ain't as hard as yours, you think? Well, I haven't quite finished yet. After word come of my husband's death, the other man came and wanted me to marry him. And I wanted to—so, how I wanted to! I cared as much for him as I ever did; more, I guess. But I wouldn't—I wouldn't, though it wrung my heart out to say no. I give him up—why? 'cause I thought I had a duty laid on me."

Ellery sighed. "I can see but one duty," he said. "That is the duty given us by God, to marry the one we love."

Keziah's agitation, which had grown as she told her story, suddenly died out into flame.

"Is that as far as you can see?" she asked fiercely. "It's an easy duty, then—or looks easy now. I've got a harder one; it's to stand by the promise I gave and the man I married."

"Why, the man you married is dead."

"No, he ain't. You remember the letter you sent me readin' that night when you come back from Come-Out-ers' meetin'? Well, that letter was from him. He's alive. Yes, he's alive. Alive and sound and 'round the world somewhere. Every little while he writes me for money and, if I have to say, I send it to him. Why? Why 'cause I'm a coward, after all, I guess, and I'm scared I don't do what he says he will and come back. Perhaps you think I'm a fool to put up with it; that's what most folks would say if they knew it. There's a time I was goin' to divorce him. Well, I can't, I can't. I walked into the mess blindfolded; I married him in spite of warnin's and everything. I took him for better or for worse, and I know that he's treated me not worse, I must take my medicine. I can't live with him—that I can't do—but while he lives I'll stay his wife and give him what money I can spare. That's the duty I hold you was laid on me, and it's a hard one, but I don't run away from it."

He met the captain at the corner of the "Turnpike" one day late in August. He tried to make his bow seem cordial, but was painfully aware that it was not. Nat, however, seemed not to notice, but crossed the road and held out his hand.

"Well, Mr. Ellery," said Captain Nat, "I won't waker again. I see you're in a hurry. Just thought I'd run along-side a minute and say goodby. Don't know's I'll see you again afore I sail."

"Before you sail? You—you are going away?"

"Yup. My owners have been after me for a good while, but I wouldn't leave home on account of dad's health. Now he's gone, I've got to ha gettin' back to my ship. Got a letter from Liverpool dredged and overhauled and sent to New York now lookin' for Mate ille. It's a long vy'age, even if I come back direct, which ain't likely, so I'll say not see the old town again for a couple of years. Take care of yourself, won't you? Good men, especially ministers, are scurse, and you're one. I hear about you I call'ate Trumet needs you."

"When are you going?"

"Least of next week, most likely."

"Will you—shall you go alone? Are you to be—be—"

"Married? No. Grace and I have talked it over and we've agreed it's best to wait till I come back. She'll stay in the old house with Hannah."

"Goodby, captain!"

"Goodby, Jr.—I say, Mr. Ellery, here's things at the parsonage. Keziah—Mrs. Coffin, your housekeeper, is she sisters?"

"She's well."

"That's good. Say, you might tell her goodby for me, if you want to. Tell her I wished her all the luck there was. And—and—just say that's all! any—well, that her friend —say just that, will you?—her friend Nat. Guess she'll understand. So it's—a sort of joke between us."

"Very good, captain; I'll tell her."

They shook hands and parted.

Dikdma and her fellow members distributed the text of Captain Nat's sailing broadcast during the next few days. Mrs. Cahoon, who possessed at the delayed marriage, but the general verdict was that Captain Ebe's illness death and the proper respect due to it furnished sufficient excuse. Hannah Pendleton, delighted at being so close to the center of interest, said much the same. Grace was prevented the interviews which would have been a comfort to her. Nat left town on the packet, on the following Wednesday. Within another week came the news that his ship, the Sea Mist, had sailed from New York, bound for Manila.

CHAPTER XIV.

In Which Trumet Talks of Captain Nat.

Summer was over, autumn came, and gone, and it was winter—John Ellery's first winter in Trumet. Fish weirs were taken up, the bay filled with ice, the gulls retreated to them, and the village settled down to hibernate until spring. The stage came through on its regular trips, except when a storm or snow rendered the roads impassable, but passengers were very few. Twice there were wrecks, but on a fishing schooner, the crew of which were fortunate enough to escape by taking to the dories, and no other, a British bark, which struck on the outer bar and went to pieces in the places by the great waves, while the townspeople stood helplessly watching the scene from shore, for nothing in all that surf was impossible. Mr. Pepper made no more calls at the parsonage, and when the minister met him at church or Prayer Meeting, seemed anxious to avoid an interview.

"Well, Abishai," said Keziah one day, on one of these occasions, "how are you getting on at home? Has your sister learned you to smile?"

"No, sir, she ain't," replied Ryan. "Lavina, she's sort of different lately, she ain't slept so—so down on a fellah as she used to be. I can get out nights now, and she don't say nothin' when she wants to write a letter or somethin'. Writes one about every week or so to a woman. She's talkin' of goin' up to Sandwich pretty soon."

"She is! Alone?"

"No, sir, with me."

"To learn you hone? Why! well, I'm surprised."

"Godfreya mighty! so he I., But she says she b'lieves she needs a change and there's church conferences up there, you know, and she figures that she'll be seen in conference she don't know when. I s'pose you'll go, won't you, Mr. Ellery?"

They Shook Hands and Parted.

"Probably."

Lavinia got herself elected a delegate and went, in company with Captain Elkanah and Mrs. Marks, and others to the conference. She was a faithful attendant at the meetings and seemed to be having a very good time. She introduced the minister to one Caleb Bar "Aunt Keziah," at her request and she continued to call him "John." This was in private, of course; in public he was "Mr. Ellery" and she "Mrs. Coffin."

Then his walks about town he saw nothing of Grace. She and Mrs. Pound-berry and Captain Nat were still at the old home and no one save themselves knew what their plans might be. Yet oddly enough, Ellery was the first confider to learn these plans and that from Nat himself.

Spring once more; then summer. And now people were again speaking of Captain Nat Hammond. His ship was reaching home again. Even in those days, when there were no cables and the telegraph was still something of a novelty, word of his arrival should have reached Trumet months before this. But it had not come, and did not. Before the summer was over, the wiseheads of the island were openly shaking dubiously. Something had happened to the Sea Mist, undoubtedly serious.

As the weeks and months went by without news or any relaxing vessel, this belief became almost a certainty. At the Come-Outer chapel, when Ezekiel Bassett now presided, prayers were offered for the son of their former leader.

One afternoon Keziah came into Ellery's study, where he was literating with his next Sunday sermon, and sat down in the rocking-chair. She had been out and still wore her bonnet and shawl.

"John," she said, "I ask your pardon for disturbin' you. I wanted to ask if you know Mrs. Prince was sick?"

"No, is she? I'm awfully sorry. Nothing serious, I hope?"

"No, I guess not. Only she's got a cold and is kind of shaky in the weather. I thought p'raps you'd like to run up and see her. She thinks the world and all of you, Mrs. Prince has so good when she was distressed about her son. Poor soul, things have been hard time of it. I just heard that she was sittin' over to Bayport. Dr. Redmans said she was all but dyin'; so I know she pretty'd had a little cold, or somethin'. It was only yesterday I was there. Di would have had her buried by this time, I guess, if it hadn't been ahead of anybody else's. I ain't been up there, but I met her 'rother morn-in'."

"Didams?"

"Mm-hm. Prince. She'd come down to see Grace."

"Yes. The old lady's been awful kind and sympathetic about Grace's going away. It reminds her of the loss of her own boy, I presume likely, and I'm very glad she's here. John, what do they say around town about—about Nat?"

Ellery laid Hammond? Why, if you mean that they've all given up hope, I'm afraid they have. Captain Elkanah Mayo and Captain Daniels were speaking of it in the store, of which I heard, and they agreed that there was still a chance."

"A pretty slim one, though, they calfated, didn't they?"

"Well, that's—there—there doubtful, of course. There was the possibility that he had been wrecked somewhere on a desert island or picked up. They cited several such cases. The South Pacific is full of islands that are almost seldom touch, and he and his crew might be on one of them."

"John," she answered, with a sigh, "sometimes I think you'd better get married yourself."

"Oh, I'm not going to leave Trumet! Not yet."

"Oh, twouldn't be because I wanted you to go. I'm not that selfish. But I was a kind of fate hangin' over me and that," she smiled feebly, "as I was married once I wouldn't, now you say. Everybody I ever cared for has had somethin' happen to 'em. First my brother died; my—the man I married went off to sea and died; then Grace had to be miserable and I had to help mahm you so; I sent Nat away and is a sort of jinx, I guess."

"No, no. He didn't blame you. He wasn't you went through. Aunt Keziah, you're my anchor in windward, as they call it, and always will be, no matter goodness knows where I should drift. Don't put over talk of that sort, please."

"Thank you, John. Its glad you feel that way. I don't leave you awhile; never—unless I have to. John, I feel scared about Nathaniel Consider."

"You did? From—from that man?"

"Yup, from—" For a moment it seemed as if she would attempt to pronounce her husband's name, something that she rarely did, but this proved once; but if she thought of it, she changed her mind.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Archiepiscopal Feast.

A correspondent sends us the material for a feast in honor of the archbishop of York in 1465: Three bunbread, spiced; 300 gallons of ale, 104 tuns of wine, 1 pipe of spiced wine, 80 fat oxen, 6 wild bulls, 1,304 sheep, 304 pigs, 200 calves, 2,000 geese, 3,000 capons, 300 pigs, 113 peacocks, 400 cranes, 100 kine, 4,000 cygnets, 4,000 rabbits, 204 harts, 4,000 bucks, 4,000 roes, 400 pheasants, 500 partridges, 4,000 woodcocks, 400 plovers, 4,000 curlews, 200 pike, 300 bream, 8 seals, 4 porpoises and 400 tarts. The number of spectators, 62 cooks and 515 assistants. One correspondent says that the archbishop's charity does not state in what circumstances the dinner was provided. The menu seems assembled. Possibly some reader may be able to throw light on the subject.—London Globe.

Annoying Honesty.

Having vouched for the honesty of the woman who without a character had undertaken to do a good-natured man was subjected to a severer examination than that usually accorded the building.

"You are degrees of honesty," said the superintendent. "How honest is she?"

The good-natured man reflected. "Well," he said, "I'll tell you. She'll go home if you throw anything that looks to be worth a copper into the street, but if you throw anything that is destroy this' or she will fish it out and put it back on your desk again without argument. Healthy, I'm pursuit of rare game!"—Puck.

DAIRYMEN TO MEET

PLANS WELL IN HAND FOR THE ANNUAL CONVENTION AT NORTHFIELD.

TIME SET IS JANUARY 21

Attendance is Estimated At At Least 500—Unusual Interest is Being Shown.

Northfield — Plans for the thirtieth annual convention of the Minnesota Dairymen's association, which is to be held in this city Jan. 21 to 24, are practically complete. The committees reports an unusual interest in the meeting and estimates an attendance of at least 500.

Special attention is being given to the dairy show, which is held in connection with the convention. This feature will undoubtedly be stronger than ever before, because of the fact that the best of Scotch-topped and Holstein-Friesian dairy herds are to be on exhibition. F. D. Curtiss, secretary of the association, in a circular letter to 1,000 dairymen in the state, says:

"Northfield can truthfully boast of the best dairy cattle in the country and they will be right on the ground, in all ages and sizes, so that every dairyman will have an opportunity to see what good dairy cattle look like."

The Prizes Offered.

Cash prizes aggregating $242 have been offered, in addition to the silver loving cup awarded the best herd.

The program has been made as practical as possible. It will be divided as a "four days' school for dairy farmers," supplemented by a short session of the cows and the boys who make the butter." Speakers of national reputation in dairy and agricultural work have been obtained.

CENSURES EXPENSES.

State Public Examiner Criticizes Practice of Employees Hiring and Paying Other Help.

St. Paul.—Two state government branches, the highway commission and Fire Marshal Charles E. Kelsey's office, are criticized in reports submitted to the governor today by Public Examiner Andrew E. Pritz in regard to their expenditures of money, though he adds that in each case the office accounts are well kept.

Both departments are censured for permitting subordinates to hire and pay other persons for services and reimburse themselves from the state treasury, and highway department engineers for hiring their own relatives. The highway commission is said to be "very liberal" in its allowance of expense money to engineers. The fire marshal, it is said, has almost used up all available funds by paying expenses of arson prosecutions, when the amounts should be paid by the counties in which the crimes were committed.

"Allowance for expense bills for district engineers appears to be very liberal," says Mr. Pritz, discussing the highway commission's expenses. "In the case of engineers whose home an engineer has been reimbursed for money paid for the services of his own relative and the item for livery hire appears to be quite excessive. One engineer is allowed $65.25 for being a team one month, exclusive of feed. The department maintains an employee is allowed to pay his own help. The rule is that one shall be put in per from the state for work done shall get his own check for his services. Instances have come to apply to every state department because it frees responsibility upon the state and encourages a 'graft' system."

In the itemized statement the amount for livery is $7,370.85.

"The commission upon motion," continues Mr. Pritz, "authorizes the secretary to audit and approve bills semi-monthly payrolls. This responsibility should be placed upon the chairmen of the commission."

Mr. Pritz declares that fourteen of the chief deputies and assistant engineers have not filed their bonds of $2,000 each as required by law. He remarks that road inspectors, road patrols and assistant engineers are the cattle of office. In the fiscal year covered by this report, the department expended $1,000 for horses and $1,005.74 was used for office expenses and $1,000 for traveling by the field work.

Mr. Pritz states that the fire marshal's department has exceeded the appropriation for maintenance ever and above the receipts appropriated from insurance companies, and has up nearly all the balance of 1910, the marshal is now in far worse position financially than he was at the same time last year, says Mr. Pritz. The state auditor's books gave him a credit balance of only $429.30 and he should be protected against this. March 1. This situation might have been avoided by a careful estimate of all available resources and by the employment of a less number of deputies in proportion to the fire marshal claims that conditions have been such that he could not foresee them, but in not the intention of the law that the expenses of prosecuting arson cases should have been paid by the counties in which the crimes were committed. Evidently he is not the intention of the law that the expenses of prosecuting arson cases should be borne by the fire marshal's department.

The governor respectfully report the recommendation made at the last extra session that moneys should not be paid out by assistants or clerks for services rendered by a third party."

GREAT INDIAN COUNCIL.

Chippewas of Minnesota Will Organize to Protect Interests and Obtain Rights.

Cass Lake.—At a general council of Chippewa Indians on the Red Lake reservation, resolutions were adopted constituting the council a working committee for the purpose of promoting the welfare of the Chippewas in Minnesota. All chiefs, headmen and men on all the Chippewa reservations in Minnesota were invited to attend a convention, or great council to be held at Cass Lake, on Feb. 4, for the purpose of organizing the Chippewas of Minnesota into a corporate body, to enable them to act in unity to protect their property and obtain their dues from the government.

It was suggested that members of each reservation call a council immediately and choose delegates to attend the convention. It is proposed that a constitution and by-laws be adopted to govern the body to be created. This corporate body will have permanent headquarters selected by the convention and will be represented by commissioners from each of the several reservations in Minnesota, who will be chosen for a term of years.

The work in contemplation is the settlement of all old treaties with the tribe by the Chippewas upon any of the reservations in Minnesota and to aid the government in administering the Nice treaty, under the act of Jan. 14, 1889, so as to secure all of the provisions of the Chippewa commission. The Indians will also attempt to the Indian office modification of rules and regulations not in harmony with the best interests of the Chippewas, and to the enactment by congress of new laws which may be found to affect the principles of citizenship.

CEYLON BANK SWINDLE.

Stranger Gets $5,500 by Means of Fraudulent Certificate of Deposit.

Ceylon, Minn.—It has come to light that the First National bank of this city has been swindled out of more than $5,000 by a "sharper" who came here about a month ago. He bought a mercantile business from B. H. Ward of Minneapolis, which the gentleman had secured in exchange for land. The stranger gave his name as John Carr and claimed residence at some town from Fairbanks, Alaska.

The trade was worked by means of a certificate of deposit on the First National bank of Ceylon, which, Alaska, the bank here accepting it without investigation. Carr then paid $4500 and received a bank draft on the state, which he and his wife, who on her way here from Alaska, had been taken ill at Seattle. He deported at once for her bedside.

Before going he drew all of the $5,500 he had in the bank except $5, and disappeared. He had not been absent two weeks before the bank suspected that all was not straight with the Alaska stranger.

Investigations were then set on foot which revealed the fact that the certificate of deposit had ever lived at Fairbanks, Alaska, that there had never been any money in the bank there to the credit of such a person, and that the bank of Fairbanks, Alaska, was named Mrs. John Carr had been ill at Seattle.

New Barrows Bank Incorporated.

Barrows.—The First State bank of Barrows has been incorporated and will begin business about Feb. 1. The incorporators include John Wahl and G. A. Bergstrom of Tilden, Rudolph Kitzkenberg, formerly assistant cashier of the Soldiers' Summit bank of Evaleth, Professor Williams, superintendent of the Barrows schools, Mr. Hutchenreuter of Duluth, E. C. Lane of Brainerd and J. P. Ernster of Minneapolis. Mr. Ernster, who is also to be the president, J. P. Ernster, president; John Wahl, vice president; Rudolph Kitzkenberg, cashier, and Professor Williams, assistant.

Judicial Reforms Studied.

St. Paul.—A conference commission appointed by Governor Eberhart to consider a scheme for reforming the judicial system met in the supreme court and made their plans. The conference was the executive chamber Eberhart presided and outlined the reforms he desired. The conference commission has been flooded with suggestions from lawyers and bodies of lawyers in the state, but some are to be considered. To expedite cases in their progress from the lower to the higher court is the principal thing desired by Governor Eberhart.

Railway Extension Planned.

Brainerd.—Grading is said to even reports that the Minnesota, Dakota & Western railroad will build an extension next spring to Craig, the northern terminus of the Deer River branch of the road. Last fall heavy steel was laid twenty miles south from Littlefork and it is said that the extension of the logging road will extend to Craig, thus tapping a rich area from International Falls to Deer River.

Attacked at Home.

Minneapolis.—"It's only me, Lizzie," was the answer to a stranger after knocking at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly, 1015 Nicollet avenue south. Believing that the knocker was a friend, Mrs. Kelly opened a plasterer, she unlocked the door. Before she could survey the visitor, Mrs. Kelly was struck down and kicked into insensibility. Her assailant then ransacked an house later, and her screams of terror and pain brought neighbors. No trace of her assailant could be found.

Bank Officials Swindled.

Fairmont.—Officers of the First National bank of Fairmont, Minnesota, say they have been swindled out of $5,000 by a smooth stranger calling himself Roy Carr of Fairbanks, Alaska, in a manner creditable to J. Rufus Wallingford. The man came here a month ago and negotiated with B. H. Ward of Minneapolis for a stock of general merchandise at Ceylon owned by Mr. Ward. To finance the deal he produced a certificate of deposit on the First National bank of Fairbanks, Alaska, for $5,000.

LEAN WINS ELECTION.

Court Decides Probate Judgeship Contest of Wahasha County.

Winona.—James E. McLean of Wabasha was declared elected probate judge by the district court and mailed by Judge Snow of Winona to the clerk of court of Wabasha county by 173 majority in the contest of the county commissioners.

The decision was by an official canvass of the votes in Wabasha, was counts were not contested in the county in dispute.

Judge Snow says, first, that the statute does not require the rotating of names where only two names are to be printed; and, second, that there is no evidence that the will of the voter was not fully expressed in the total figures.

McLean Legally Elected.

Winona.—James E McLean of Wabasha was legally elected to the probate judgeship of Wabasha county at his last general election, according to an opinion written by Judge Snow of Winona.

Asks Return of Marriage Fee.

Minneapolis.—Wolf Alnagon, sixty years of age, heavily bearded and with a wife twenty years younger, is seeking the return of $2.50 that he paid for his marriage license. When he secured it he said he would marry Divors Berlasky, 52 years old, and the license was issued. Alnagon explained to Deputy Clerk Ed Cody, through the aid of an interpreter, that a change she is not ready to marry yet and when she is left court and buy another license. But the deputy explained that a marriage license could stays only.

Olson Still Leads Mathews.

Marshall.—When the recount of the votes of the Mathews-Olson race for county auditor is finished that I. M. Olson's majority for the judgeship had been reduced 15 votes, but is still retained a lead of 80 over M. E. Mathews, a democrat.

Five Plat of Townsite.

Brainerd.—Clarence M. Field and wife have filed a plat of Five Crest, situated in the east half of lot 2, in section 6, township 137, range 25, northeast of Emily.

FEDERAL PROTECTION OF BIRDS

By WILLIAM T. HORNADAY
Director of the New York Zoological Park

(The bird portraits with this article are from the "American Natural History." Copyright, 1904, by William T. Hornaday. Are reproduced here by the permission of the publishers, Charles Scribner's Sons.)

THE United States department of agriculture is responsible for the alarming statement that, in the year 1904, insect pests cost this country no less than $420,000,000. Here are the figures of government experts:

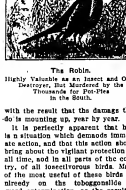
Product.	Percentage Amount of Loss.	Value.
Cereals	10	$200,000,000
Hay	10	42,000,000
Cotton	10	60,000,000
Tobacco	10	5,000,000
Orchard crops	10	25,000,000
Sugar	10	6,000,000
Fruits	10	10,000,000
Farm forests	10	11,000,000
Miscellaneous crops	10	3,000,000
Total		$420,000,000

Keeping in mind this enormous loss, consider also the following facts:

(1) That insectivorous birds do more than all other agencies combined to keep down insect pests;

(2) That such birds undoubtedly are rapidly decreasing in number; and that, therefore,

(3) Unchecked insects are, in all probability, increasing very rapidly,



The Robin.
Highly Valuable as an Insect and Orch Destroyer, But Murdered by the Thousands for Pot-Pies in the South.

with the result that the damage they do is mounting up, year by year.

It is perfectly apparent that here is a situation which demands immediate action, and that this action should bring about the vigorous protection for all time, and in all parts of the country, of all insectivorous birds. Many of the most useful of these birds are already on the tobogganside toward extermination, as the result of stupid state legislation, or the lax enforcement of such laws as have been enacted. To be explicit:

There are seven states in which the robin is being legally killed by the tens of thousands annually as "game"! Those states are Louisiana, Mississippi, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee and Maryland.

The black bird is legalized "game," and suffers the same fate in four states—Louisiana, South Carolina, Tennessee and Pennsylvania—and the District of Columbia besides.

Doves are slaughtered by the wholesale in 25 states, much to the loss of the farmers, for this bird is a great eater of weed seeds.

Cranes, which are also very useful birds, are much hunted for food and for "sport" in Colorado, Nebraska, North Dakota and Oklahoma.

Of the sixty-odd species of shorebirds (i. e., snipe, curlews, plovers, sandpipers and the like), at least 30 feed on noxious insects, and all of these birds are rapidly disappearing. According to Mr. W. L. McAtee of the Golden-Winged Woodpecker.

A Great Tree Protector, and Champion Ant-Destroyer Which Is Being Exterminated by Pot-Hunters.

bureau of biological survey (United States department of agriculture):

"The black-bellied plover, or beetle-head, which occurred along the Atlantic coast in great numbers years ago, is now seen only as a straggler. The golden plover, once exceedingly abundant east of the Great Plains, is now a rare.... The Eskimo curlew with in the last decade has probably been Episcopal Cure for Rheumatism.

Rev. Joshua Kimber, in his interesting reminiscences, which have been running through the Living Church (Milwaukee), tells the following anecdote of the late Bishop Horatio Potter:

He had been journeying up the east bank of the Hudson river, stopping for confirmation each day at adjoining parishes. When he reached Poughkeepsie he saw a woman at the rail waiting for confirmation whose face he was sure he recognized and was somewhat familiar with. He was not certain that she had been confirmed within the week at another place. The bishop whispered to her to remain after service, and said, "My dear madam, what do you mean by coming for confirmation? I am sure I confirmed you on Monday at such a place. Did I not?" She said, "Yes certainly did. I have been following you up the river and have been confirmed every day this week." He, astonished, said, "Why did you do that?" Whereupon she replied, "Because I heard it was good for rheumatism."

Recipes for Longevity.

The late John Bigelow, the petrarch of diplomats and authors, and the no less distinguished physician and author, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, were together several years ago at West Point. Dr. Bigelow was then ninety-two and Dr. Mitchell eighty.

The conversation turned to the subject of age. "I attribute my many years," said Dr. Bigelow, "to the fact

The Killdeer Plover.
Another Valuable Shorebird Which Deserves Great Quantities of Worms and Insects.

HAREMS OUT OF DATE IN TURKEY

Only the Sultan Adheres to the Old Style Oriental Institution—Modern Turk Resorts to Divorce.

The domestic arrangements of the Turks are entirely different from those of his subjects. Most Turks have one wife; the sultan has the unlimited number. Turks of high rank marry into their own class; the sultan chooses unions with women of slave origin. The ordinary man may not look upon an unveiled woman except she be his relation or servant; the sultan has the right to talk with any woman in the land face to face. Turks of position model their households more or less on the European plan; the sultan's household is oriental.

That does not mean that in the imperial palace you would find women sipping sherbet or smoking cigarettes or clad in baggy trousers. On the contrary, you would find them smoking nothing more oriental than a cigarette, sitting on a European chair and—yes, even wearing corsets! But the code of morals is entirely different, as you New York Sun.

The imperial harem is founded on the old court system of the Byzantine emperors and has an etiquette and law of its own. The first fact one would grasp is that the wives or favorites of the sultan have no importance at all. They are nobodies. The daughter of a Circassian peasant may be honored by the sultan's favor and even bear him a child, but yet be distinguished by no other title than the commonplace "Kadin Effendi." Only the mother of the eldest son receives the distinguished title "sultan," her whole title being "Khasseki sultan."

Her dignity only results from her being the mother of a possible heir to the throne, that is. In the event that the sultan has no brothers, for the brothers have the right of precedence as the elder male descendants. And the royal favorite of the moment will have considerable importance on account of the influence which she may exercise over the sultan.

Royal princesses are considered inferior to the mother of the sultan, who is the real queen of the little world of the harem, has absolute authority, a large staff of servants and the superb title of "Valide sultan." This it happens that a woman of slave birth may, if she be the mother of or heir to the throne, eventually become the highest woman of the land.

Every royal princess has her dairs, or separate apartments, slaves, servants and so on, the management of the household being given over to her father, or ladies in waiting—that is to say, Turkish women of good birth who have remained unmarried.

Royal princesses rarely take a husband of their own rank. They are generally married by the sultan to the sons of men of wealth and position, who are given a princess of state, high civil officials and the like, a policy which is founded on a very excellent principle, that is arrangement makes the existence of a belligerent aristocracy impossible.

One of the paradoxes in Turkey is that the poorer a Turkish woman is the greater her freedom. The rich women cannot move a step unaccompanied. She sees Constantinople only from the windows of her closed brougham or through a veil thick enough to act as a mask. She may dress as magnificently as a mannequin in a Paris dressmaker's showroom, but she must not display so much as an inch of embroidery in public.

When her husband wants to take a second wife or grown child for her and wishes to divorce her, he has both the opportunity and the means to be a rich man. It is a rule that among Turks of any education to take a second wife, but divorce is rarely resorted to. Divorce is the only plan by which a husband if he wife, provided he is well enough off to pay the heavy alimony settlement, which he is legally bound to make over to her.

The woman of the poorest classes can go out alone. Custom does not allow her to wear her veil down. Should her husband, in a fit of anger, wish to divorce her, he must first of all appear before the kadi, a kind of judge, in ready money, not an easy matter for a poor man.

The real danger to domestic happiness in the great mass of Turkish homes is the strong tendency of the wives, and a divorce wholly favorable to the man as against the woman.

The payment of the modest mehrjah arranged at the time of his marriage is a simple affair, and it is seldom enough to keep the divorced wife for the rest of her days. She is forced to take refuge with her parents or to find shelter with some of her friends.

Day on Which Women Rule.

Candlemas day is generally celebrated in Holland much more than in England, but there is hardly a country which is not known in this country. Slipper day in the Netherlands is the one day in the year in which the Dutch women exclaim superiority over her husband.

On that day she puts on her best heart's content, and he generally obeys good-naturedly every whim of his wife, unless she is one of those ladies not unknown in Holland or in any country who adopt the principle that rule over their unhappy partners throughout the year.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Jumped, Killed; Stayed, Safe.

Ernest Woods, Scraun, jumped and was killed early Friday. Fred Scraun, engineer, stayed at his post and escaped death when he saw the runaway train which they were driving, collided with an engine in the Grand Trunk railroad at Montreal. Scraun and Woods leaped from the engine when the baggage car toppled over upon him.

LOST CITY IS FOUND

Believed to Have Been Built by Chinese in Mexico.

Three Towns Were Erected on the Same Site by Three Civilizations Prior to the Aztec-Mongolian Image Is Discovered.

City of Mexico.—A sensation has been created in British scientific circles by advices received from Sir Martin Conway, Prof. William Niven and Senor Roman Mena of the discovery of remains of Mongolian remains only a couple of hours' walk from the City of Mexico, thereby confirming the hypothesis that has long been held that the most ancient civilization of Mexico and Peru preceding that of the Toltecs and the Aztecs was of Mongolian origin, says a correspondent.

Close to and partly beneath the ruins of the ancient city of Tootibuacan, about nineteen miles northeast of the City of Mexico, the scientists discovered the still more ancient city of Ocumbe, which flourished with a wondrous civilization centuries before the Aztecs or Toltecs were even supposibly avan before Babylon and Nineveh sweeped the destinies of western Asia.

With the financial assistance of the Mexican government the expedition began the removal of a six-foot layer of earth, representing the dust and detritus of more than twenty centuries. This soon brought into view the massive remains of what is no doubt the largest pyramid. It is 700 feet square at the base and its apex is 197 feet high, while many of the giant blocks of stone in its massive walls must have required extraordinary mechanical skill to handle. This pyramid was built by the Chinese city of Ocumbe, while the Chinese city of Ocumbe, while the main gallery is coincidental with the magnetic meridian.

The workmanship is of a high order, the figures being boldly drawn and elaborate.

Then came the greatest discovery of all. While excavating near the base of the great pyramid Professor Niven unearthed the remains of yet a third civilization beneath the ruins of ancient Ocumba, making three great cities one on top of another, each built ona above the other.

The oldest of these to have been a tomb of the lowest city, whose age so far defies calculation, Professor Niven found the clay image of a Chinaman with chlique eye slits, padded coat, and features of a man of men. At last the queue was lacking to make a complete portrait of a mandarin of the recently-defunct Chinese empire. It should be remembered, however, that the Chinese have been in Mexico ever since

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES —IN CANS—

Along about this time of the year wouldn't a can of fruit that taste just as natural as the fresh, or a can of corn or tomatoes taste fine? We have a line of fruit, vegetables or fish in cans that cannot be beat. Below is part of our line but come in and let us show you.

BENGAL RED RASPBERRIES— per can 25c
UNIVERSITY BLACK RASPBERRIES—Per can 25c
HOME SLICED PINEAPPLES per can 10c
HESPERIAN SLICED PEACHES —per can 25c
GLASS CAN LABEL—HALVED or SLICED PEACHES — Per Can 28c
HESPERIAN BARTLETT PEARS per can 25c
BENCAL WHITE CHERRIES — per can 30c
BROADWAY BRAND TOMATOES per can 10c
ANDERSON TOMATOES — Per can 15c
GLASS JAR LABEL TOMATOES per can 18c
OLD COLONY CORN—per can 10c
PARIS CORN—per can 15c
GOLDEN CORN—per can, 10c— 2 for 15c
LAKESIDE WAX BEANS— Per can 15c
RUNABOUT PEAS—per can 15c

REMEMBER! A complete line of Groceries, all guaranteed to satisfy or your money back, at

SPILLANES

The Store of Quality

Coffee and Lunch, Hot Chocolate, Beef Tea, etc., may be bought at Spillanes.

The Local Field

L. P. Sperry spent Sunday with relatives at Cloquet.

Mrs. John Massey is quite seriously ill with typhoid fever.

Ed. Dahl has returned yesterday from a business trip to Michigan.

For Sale Cheap—Pair of light bobs. John Trebilcott.—Adv.

Miss Stella Mayhew visited with relatives at Thief River falls over Sunday.

Mrs. F. Lawson, of Pelican Rapids, Minn., and the guest of E. T. Wheeler's parents.

Mrs. Temple visited with relatives at Cloquet last Saturday until yesterday morning.

Mrs. C. Watson went to Crookston Saturday evening, returning Sunday morning.

Mrs. Hodge has returned to Grand Forks after spending several weeks with relatives in this city.

Mrs. Ed. Odell is making arrangements for the erection of a residence on Lake Julia.

Mrs. Money carried on the person is not safe. Money loaned without good security is not safe. Money invested in speculation is not safe. Money deposited in the MERCHANTS STATE BANK is absolutely safe, and will earn 3 per cent annual interest to you. —Adv.

20 per cent Discount on all Ladies' and Children's Furs. We have only a few left but don't want to carry any of the stock over. —Adv.

A. RUSBETUS.

A. H. Cowles has returned from Brainerd, where he was a patient in the Northern Pacific hospital. He is recovering nicely from his effects of an operation for appendicitis.

Stirred from my place Monday—Heaby cold, coming two years old in spring. Is light red with white stripe on back and has short horns. Finder please notify M. O. Sortedahl.—Adv.

Auditor George Dupont, accompanied by the former auditor, A. A. Andenoras, went to Thief River Falls yesterday to meet with Pennington county officials to consider some ditch matters.

From now until February 1st we will give One Third off on all ladies' and children's Coats. Our line is badly broken, but there are some good numbers left. A. RUSBETUS.—Adv.

Mrs. F. E. Pirsh has gone to Mankato and will spend several weeks with relatives in that city. Mr. Pirsh has gone to Thief River Falls and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ives until the return of Mrs. Pirsh.

Your account will be appreciated by our bank and your interests will always be carefully considered. If you are not a patron of the bank, let the be your invitation to do so come one. FARMERS NATIONAL BANK. —Adv.

A. C. Simoes came from St. Paul and Charles N. Reardon from Winnipeg, arriving in the city Tuesday morning, the purpose of their visit being to look after their business interests here and at other near-by points.

Mr. O. Sortedahl returned today from a business trip to Fargo, Breckenridge and Madison, Minn.

We are offering a big discount on all lines of overshoes and warm footwear, three months of cold weather to wear these goods. A. RUSBETUS —Adv.

Rev. David V. Richardson has been called away for the coming week, and will not be here for the services of the Presbyterian church Sunday. However, he has made arrangements to have the pulpit supplied by Mr. Nyand, a student of Wesley College, who will be here Mr. Richardson's morning sermon will be "All Things are Ready," for the evening the Hope of Heaven."

New 25c goods arriving every week at the Sunshine to be sold at the Big 25c Sale. Watch for some new 25c bargains next week.—Adv.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the First State Bank of Odessa held recently, the following were elected members of the board of directors: A. P. Toupin, J. A. Duffy, Samuel Gilman, Theo. Isaacson, L. L. O'Dell. At a meeting of the board, to be held soon, the officers will be elected.

William Schutt has moved his meat market to the corner building vacated by A. H. Retcher in the fall. The building has been completely remodeled and excellent fixtures and equipment have been put in, making a modern, convenient and attractively arranged market. There are concrete floors in the parts of the building and in the large front sales room there are steel walls and ceiling and massive fixtures and equipment to keep cooling. A large refrigerator is so constructed that it will be possible to keep meats below the freezing point in the warmest weather. A battery of machines of the kind that are used to facilitate the work of a modern meat market are driven by electric power. The plant is a marked improvement on the principal business street and the people of the city will wish Mr. Schutt a substantial business to compensate him for his enterprise.

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. In the Matter of the Estate of Theo. Garceau, Deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Mary Greeson, Harry H. Garceau, Theodore Garceau, Walter Garceau, Joseph Garceau, Lydia Garceau, Marie Garceau, Rosa Garceau, and to all persons who claim any interest or estate in the above named estate of said deceased. The petition of H. H. Garceau having been filed in this court on the 27th day of December, 1912, praying that the will of said deceased, now on file in the office of the Clerk of this Court, may be proved, and that a certificate of appointment be issued thereof to H. H. Garceau, executor thereof, you and each of you are hereby cited to appear before this court at the Probate Court Room in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of January, 1913, at ten o'clock A. M., at which time all said persons interested may appear and show cause why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Honorable Joseph Farrell, Judge of said Court and the seal of said Court, this 27th day of December, A. D. 1912.

JOSEPH FARRELL, Probate Judge.

Probate Court Seal.
CHAS. F. HOUGHTON, Attorney for Petitioner. 50-3t

DR. G. B. FAIRCHILD
DENTIST
Graduate University of Minnesota
Offices over LaBlanchere's store
Office hours:
9 a. m. to 12 m. 1 p. m. to 5 p. m

JOHN W. PETERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office over Ruhsting' store
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

AUDITOR-TREASURERS STATEMENT OF MONEYS IN TREASURY.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, ss.

A statement of the exact amount of money remaining in the treasury of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the first day of October, 1912, and the amount in each particular fund.

Main Road Fund	$ 27,811.21
Current School Fund	6,814.91
County Revenue	289.76
Road and Bridge Fund		$ 75.84
General Fund	13,341.65
Bridge Fund	637.07
School District Fund	1,184.25
Town, City and Village	4,763.24
Incidental Fund	96.51
State Land and Interest	2,467.45
Drainage Bond Interest	6,131.24	105.24
Redemption Account	1,334.44
Mortgage Tax Collections
Total Amount in the Treasury	$56,113.76
Consisting of Bills and Coin	2.34
Checks and Drafts	2.85
Silver	37.00
Currency	405.00
Checks	55.57
Deposited in Banks	55,465.39
Total	$56,713.76

We certify that the above and foregoing statement is true and correct. Dated this 26th day of December, A. D. 1912.

T. G. SINCLAIR, County Treasurer.
A. A. LAVENDERGER, County Auditor.
(SEAL)

P. G. Gaza leaves this evening on a business trip thru Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa, and plans to be away for some time.

Frank E. Hunt will leave in a few days on a trip through the west. He will go first to Tacoma, where Mrs. Hunt is spending the winter with Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Argue. He will later visit Los Angeles and other points of interest and expects to be gone several weeks.

M. O. Sortedahl who is Breckenridge this week and while there Findley C. F. Krueger, who was engaged in real estate business in Red Lake Falls until a few months ago. Mr. Krueger has acquired an interest in the Breckenridge National Bank and was elected cashier of that institution the first of the new year.

Herman Fisher, who went to Grand Forks for hospital treatment the first of the week, underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday morning. The case was a serious one, an abcess having formed. However, the patient withstood the shock of the operation well and a report from Grand Forks today says he is getting along nicely.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tilbury, of Terrebonne, fell down stairs Sunday and has a badly fractured arm as a result. Several small bones near the elbow joint are broken. The little boy was taken to Crookston Monday so that the fracture might be set under the X-ray. The fracture is a bad one and will result in a permanently stiff joint, though the arm is not certain.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

(Continued from page 7.)

Dist. No. 151		260.89
Dist. No. 152		1,000.00
Dist. No. 153		27.96
Dist. No. 154		1,000.00
Frederick Schmitt, treasurer Dist. No. 155		6.22
Norman Page, treasurer Dist. No. 156		73.76
Dist. No. 157		6.64
Dist. No. 158		219.58
Joseph Scanlon, treasurer Dist. No. 159		1,000.00
A. J. Hemmind, treasurer Dist. No. 160		104.73
Theo Garceau, treasurer Dist. No. 161		93.66
Dist. No. 162		1,000.00
Dist. No. 163		212.31
Dist. No. 164		1,000.00
Dist. No. 165		125.98
Dist. No. 166		1,000.00
Dist. No. 167		3,000.00
Dist. No. 168		110.76
Dist. No. 169		116.09
Dist. No. 170		1,000.00
Dist. No. 171		1,000.00
Dist. No. 172		1,000.00
Dist. No. 173		1,000.00
Dist. No. 174		1,000.00
Dist. No.

Minnesota Historical Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1882
RED LAKE COURIER—ESTABLISHED 1898.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1913. VOL. XXX—NO. 18

FARMERS INSTITUTE TWO DAYS

FEBRUARY 12 AND 13 ARE DATES FARMERS SHOULD BEAR IN MIND.

Reports from the University Farm will be in Red Lake Falls Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 12 and 13, for a two-days farmers' institute. Every farmer for miles around should plan to be in town those two days for the addresses will be well worth hearing.

Men who have earned reputations as authorities on the various farm questions, will deliver addresses and many valuable suggestions will be offered for the solution of farm problems. Hear the dates—Feb. 12 and 13—in mind.

GRAIN, CORN AND POTATO CONTEST

TO BE HELD AT THE STATE EXPERIMENT FARM, CROOKSTON, FEB. 10-21.

In the Grain, Corn and Potato contests to be held at the Agricultural School, Crookston, Minn., during the Short Course Feb. 10-21, 1913, nearly $250 in cash prizes, furnished by counties of the Ninth Congressional District, will be given for the best wheat, oats, flax, rye, barley, corn and potatoes raised during 1912 in the counties that are now competing in the contest. The farmers will compete for the cash premiums in their counties. The first prize winners of each class of grain from each county entered in the contest will compete for the sweepstakes prizes. The following counties have entered to date: Polk, Red Lake, Pennington, Kittson, Marshall Norman, Clay and Kittson. It is expected that most of the five other counties of the district will also join this contest.

The sweepstakes prizes are valuable. They are donated by well known manufacturers who wish to encourage these contests. The following list shows what you may get if you send your grain, etc., to the school contest. If the counties of the Ninth Congressional District where these have been provided cash prizes for the entries from their own county, the farmers will be the ones for the sweepstakes premiums.

Best 10 lbs. Wheat—Thresher, value $200.

Best 10 lbs. flax—$10 in gold.

Best 10 ears corn, northern section—Six shovel corn cultivator, value $12.00.

Best 10 ears corn, southern section—Corn Planter, value $90.

The business men of Red Lake Falls have contributed a cash fund to provide for special cash prizes for the best sample of each class from Red Lake county. For each of the seven classes named above, cash prizes for the entries from this county will be awarded as follows: First prize, $2.00; second prize, $1.00; third prize, 50 cents. Entries from this county will be scored for the special cash prizes and then scored in the general contest for the Ninth Congressional District, in which the valuable sweepstakes prizes are offered.

Painful Accident.

Carl Peterson had quite a serious accident last Thursday night, at the coal shed. While filling the buckets of coal for the south-bound train, he ran a couple of his fingers between the cog wheels of the gasoline engine used for hoisting the heavy coal buckets, sustaining a couple of badly smashed fingers. As a temporary relief he bandaged his hand in a handkerchief and in this manner continued his work, while filling the can with gasoline a little later he, in some manner, got the temporary bandage and part of his shirt sleeve saturated with gasoline. And to cap the climax of all his troubles which tated to happen in rapid succession, he later discovered that the fire in the base of his "torch" was getting low and was inadvisedly pouring the oil above in the stove when all of a sudden his sleeve and the bandage covering his damaged fingers was transformed into a mass of flames. He rushed to the out side and extinguished the flame by shoving his hand into the snow, but during this brief period his whole forearm had been quite badly burned. His misfortune has proved quite painful but it is anticipated that his hand will heal rapidly unless complications should happen to set in, which is not thought likely.—Plummer Pioneer.

HOUSE BURNED SATURDAY MORNING

MRS. WESTPHAL AWAKENED BY PART OF CEILING FALLING ON HER BED.

The large brick house on J. A. Dufy's farm, just south of the city limits, occupied by F. C. Westphal and family, was burned to the ground early Saturday morning. Mrs. Westphal was awakened at about 6 o'clock by parts of the burning ceiling of her room falling on her bed. She had just time to awaken the one child who was at home with her and get outside when the building was all afire. It was bitterly cold that morning, and they were scantily attired and suffered from the cold considerably as they made their way to the home of A. L. Brunelle several blocks away.

The Westphals had planned to move to a farm near Dorothy Saturday and Mr. Westphal and the children, except the one at home, were at Dorothy at the time of the fire. It is supposed that the fire originated from a defective chimney.

The loss on both the house and personal property is covered by insurance.

IS NOT A BAD PLAN

IN SOME TOWNS MERCHANTS CO-OPERATE IN THE GIVING OF CALENDARS.

Some of the exchanges tell of co-operative undertakings of business men to curtail the enormous expense of the giving of calendars the first of each new year. In two or three of the towns the business men will join in the purchase of a series of calendars. They will spend several thousand of the one act and all will have a supply of the calendars to give to their customers. In one town the members of the commercial club held a meeting, decided on the co-operative plan and to spend the money saved in some public enterprise.

It looks like a sensible arrangement. It would probably cost no more to get out something very nice and at the same time useful. The Gazette ventures the guess that those who have been well remembered by Red Lake Falls business men will be more than duly appreciative.

Of course this is not all wasted, nor are the gifts all unappreciated but it has become very much a matter of test to determine whose calendar will be kept and which one destroyed. Many of course are discarded, so the scheme is something against the old adage that his calendar will be the one to catch the eye, but whether it makes the next calendar just a little better than the last and is worthy a place of honor is of next consequence.

It is not strange that the business men in some places have decided to economize in the matter of calendars in a little different way. The special county calendars are a good deal cheaper and higher.

Every instance has its peculiar conditions. The manner in which calendars were handled makes a peculiar condition in the printing business. The printing of calendars is simple work and any good print shop can do it satisfactorily. There are a few of the editors of calendars make their own calendars, they buy them from the houses that do make them and simply print the add on the and that the county printer who attempts to do this work usually does it, but now it is done, almost invariably "falls heavy". The business men become familiar with the idea that the little print shop at home can't do "that kind of work" and they send to the print shops who have men on athe rotol which calendars, but who never attempt to sell to their home business men. But times are changing.

It is clear that the business men have a pages of reference for the "getting wise". The local printer will be able to offer calendars that suit business men will save much money.

HOW TO GET COUNTY AGRICULTURIST

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA IS AUTHORIZED TO PLACE MAN IN EACH COUNTY.

A competent agricultural advisor is wanted in every county in Minnesota that has large agricultural interests. R. H. Rice, Extension Division superintendent, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn., is in charge of the matter and information have been distributed in the form of a pamphlet which is open, but they can never quite take the place of the man who knows and will tell you and answer your questions as to your local problems. Every county should know about farming, but he can and should make it the business to find out just what you need to know about my problems. If you wish to undertake the work awaken and will pick up many ideas almost any time. The county in which should be carried to the other farms of the county. If he thinks farmer has yet solved some given problem, he can in any matter in which the College of Agriculture or to the United States Department of Agriculture, which has thousands of specialists and experts, and get the knowledge which they have. The county agent cannot know everything but he should know where to find any agricultural information desirable, and should be a good organizer part of farmers that will best meet local needs, whether for marketing or other economical or social purposes.

In order to provides funds for county agents, Hon. A. F. Woods of the College of Agriculture, arranges to have the United States Department contribute $65 per month in the way of salary, the Farmers' Institute Board authorizes the use of $200 in each county for this work, and Bert Hall, representing the International Federation of Grain Exchanges, gives an additional thousand dollars for use in the work, while the county in which the agent is to work is expected to raise one thousand dollars for the first year and a guarantee for a thousand dollars for the second year. Arrangements are made with local organizations by the Extension Division and Mr. George J. Baker of that Division is in charge of the actual field work of the county agents. If your county needs a county agent, write to Dean A. F. Woods, or to the writer of this article.

IMPROVE THE ROADS AT NO MORE COST

SUGGESTED RED LAKE COUNTY TOWNS DO THE TOWN-SHIP SYSTEM.

The business men of Red Lake Falls are about to suggest to the people of the county a way of improving the rural highways without increasing road taxes, if, in fact, the plan to be suggested will not result in an actual reduction in taxes. It will certainly make for better roads without additional expense and that is worth considering.

The state law, Section 1241 Revised laws, now provides for changing of the manner of handling road work to the township system. At the spring election the voters of any township may, by petition, vote on the proposition to change to the township system.

The advantages of making the change are that under the township system road taxes are paid in cash and all road work is done by contract. The man who hauls the road does not put in any time but his own. The man who has the job for road repairs or road construction must do his work according to specifications. His work is inspected by the town board just as public work might be inspected by the county board, and is not done not paid for his work until it is completed. There are no wasted time or wasted energy and it is evident that there will be a greater for the road tax money expended.

Blank petitions asking for the privilege of voting on the proposition change will be sent to people in all of the townships within a short time. It will be necessary for petitioners to these petitions to bring the matter to a vote. All public spirited citizens are urged to sign the petitions and to work for the change which is to be gained by the change and nothing can be lost. This is a proposition on which all good people can do some campaigning. Be a booster for good roads.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	.78
Durum	.77
Flax	.97
Oats	.37
Corn	1.12
Barley	.32
Potatoes—new	.30
Butter—creamery	.40
Butter—dairy	.30
Eggs—fresh	.27
Eggs—packed	.25

FARM HOME PLANS

Will be Prepared for Distribution by the Minnesota State Art Society.

A communication from the State Art Society, St. Paul, says that Minnesota farmers are to have the advantage of a vast amount of new information about farmhouse building which will be gathered by the State Art Society through a competition of architects. The conditions, which are sent to all architects in the state this week, indicate that the directors of the Society, Maurice I. Flagg, who has had helpful conferences with many farmers on the subject, intends that the designs submitted shall provide those simple but often forgotten conveniences which makes the work of the women folks easier and living conditions more pleasant.

Prizes totaling $500.00 will be given and it is expected that a large number of plans will be entered. They will all be shown at the exhibit of the State Art Society in the Auditorium, St. Paul, March 1-8; in the Minneapolis public library, March 21-31.

At least the six prize-winning plans will be published and may be obtained by any Minnesota farmer. Later the first prize plans probably will be carried out in a house built on the agricultural college grounds, St. Paul.

The whole enterprise promises to be of great value to Minnesota farmers, who, if they could themselves obtain the information, only transform the appearance of their farms and add greatly to the pleasure of living on them.

MONEY FOR RED LAKE COUNTY FAIR

OF THE FAIRS HELD LAST FALL RED LAKE COUNTY'S RANKS FIFTEENTH.

A. Robertus, secretary of the Red Lake County Agricultural society, has received a check for $1065.35, which is Red Lake county's share of the money appropriated by the state legislature to the county fairs. The state had pays 89 per cent of the amount paid out in premiums. The total amount paid out in premiums Red Lake county ranks fifteenth, fourteen other counties having paid out more and sixty-five less. For this service the state Red Lake county ranks first.

EDITORS WILL MEET

Annual Meeting of Northern Minnesota Editorial Association at St. Cloud.

The winter meeting of the Northern Minnesota Editorial Association will be held at St. Cloud on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 21 and 22. Following is the program for the two days:

1—Opening address—Pres. P.A.Dare, Walker Pilot.
2—Secretary's annual Report—A. G. Hedstrom.
3—Election of officers.
4—Advertising the Railroads—C. E. Scheers, Aldes Herald-Tribune.
5—Advertising the Manufacturers.
6—Front Page Editorials—Claude M. Atkinson, Hibbing Tribune Ore.
7—Getting Run a Newspaper—Write out a Job Press—P. A. Wilson, Bemidji Pioneer.
8—The Fallacies of the Flat Rate—J. C. Thompson, Morris Tribune.
9—The Office Cat: A Chair. Talk—Ros Chase, Anoka Herald.
10—Boosting, and the Country Editor—C. F. Nichols, Red Lake Gazette.
11—The Profits of Charitable Advertising—Earl C. Cutler, Thief River Falls News-Press.
12—Sunday banquet at Carter Hall, followed by smoker.

On Saturday the newspaper men will enjoy a trip thru the Watab Paper Mills.

BIG MEETING AT THIEF RIVER

JOINT MEETING OF EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATIONS TO BE HELD IN FEBRUARY.

A joint meeting of the Northwestern and the North Central Education-al association will convene at Thief River Falls on February 13th, 14th and 15th, 1913, according to announcements made by President E. E. Sisson of the International Falls are Secretary J. H. Hay of Thief River Falls. As these two organizations represent the territory in Minnesota north of Detroit and west of Deer River, it is expected that the attendance of persons interested in educational work will reach at least 1,000. This large number will lend enthusiasm to the meeting, will assure a strong program and invite the attendance of all the leading educators of the northwest.

The official program will be issued at an early date and in the meantime all teachers and others who ought to attend such a convention will make preparations to be present.

Some of the features of the program are as follows:

(a) The lectures include State Superintendent C. G. Schulz, Prof. Cassidy Looney, covering research of the Red River Power Company's Electric Light Research Laboratory, and others, Messrs. Phillips, Quigley, Woodward, Chamberlain, Steele, Sheppard, and other well known educators.

(b) Prof. Vincent will give lectures on the evening of Feb. 13th, 14th and 15th, which all other school officers are invited.

(c) Round tables will be arranged for teachers of rural schools, high schools, graded schools, industrial and agricultural work, household economy, normal training, and for county superintendents.

(f) A public reception and other entertainment by the citizens of Thief River Falls.

(g) Free lodging for all lady visitors who register at association headquarters.

(h) An exhibit of school work by the Thief River Falls schools. Persons who will be in town during the greater portion of Feb. 12th for the inspection of visitors.

(i) Meeting of the Schoolmaster's Club.

Other attractions not enumerated above will be provided. It is suggested that staffs of the schools allow all teachers for their attendance at this convention. It is rare, indeed, that so much talent from abroad can be secured for a sectional meeting, and it behooves all interested parties to make the most of the opportunity. It is suggested to school boards that they close the schools in order to hold school on Feb. 12th, a legal holiday, so that they may attend the convention for the full time.

Council Proceedings.

Pursuant to adjournment the City Council met at the office of the City Clerk, January 10th, 1913, at 7:30 P. M., all members being present except Hennings.

Meeting called to order by President Crompe.

On motion carried the following bills were allowed:

Red Lake Falls Gazette, printing	$32.50

Joseph Perrault, Postage and telegrams	3.43
Theo LaBissonière, merchandise for poor	10.00
Hunt - Kankel Hardware Co., merchandise	87.34
Hunt - Kankel Hardware Co., merchandise for city well	61.68
Frank Jeffers, recording fees	1.25
E. G. Buse, postage and station-ery	5.00

On motion made, seconded and duly carried that the Council proceed to open bids for the City printing for the year 1913, the Council opened the following bid:

C. R. C. Baker, Publisher of the Red Lake Falls Gazette—50 cents per folio for first insertion and 25 cents per folio for each subsequent insertion.

Alderman Paul offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Aldermen Hunt: Resolved, that the bid of C. R. C. Beker, to print in Red Lake Falls Gazette the proceedings of the Council and all other notices required to be published by and for the City for the year 1913, at the rate of 50 cents per folio for the first insertion and 25 cents per folio for each subsequent insertion, be accepted, and that said Red Lake Falls Gazette be and it is hereby designated as the official newspaper of the City for the year 1913.

All members voting Aye, the president declared the resolution duly adopted.

On motion carried unanimously the certificate of the Fidelity and Casualty Company, covering renewal of the Red River Power Company's Electric Light Franchise Bond, was accepted subject to the approval of the City Attorney.

On motion duly carried the following resolution offered by Alderman Paul was unanimously adopted.

Resolved, that the sum of $300.50 and the same is hereby appropriated from the Current Expense Fund to the City Hall Fund of the City, and the City Clerk and the City Treasurer are hereby directed to order such transfer upon the records of their respective offices.

On motion meeting adjourned sine die.

T. A. CROMPE, President.

Approved this 15th day of January, 1913.

I. LEMIEUX, Mayor.

Attest:—JOSEPH PERRAULT,
City Clerk.

HUOT-HAMEL.

Wedding of Local Interest Tuesday Morning.

A wedding of much local interest was that of Miss Rose Huot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Huot, of Louisville, and Mr. Eugene Hamel of Grand Forks. The wedding took place at the Louisville church at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, Jan. 21 in the presence of relatives and intimate friends. A sectional meeting of the bride will leave soon to go to their new home in Canada. Mrs. Hamel has many friends in Red Lake county who will be glad to offer congratulations on the happy occasion and who will wish her much joy in her new home.

BIG WRESTLING MATCH SCHEDULED

CURTIS OF HALSTAD AND FRANCIS OF ST. PAUL AT LYCEUM THEATRE.

Manager E. J. Dusterhoft has scheduled a big wrestling match to be pulled of at the Lotus Theatre Friday night, January 31. The bout will be between Curtis of Halstad and Francis of St. Paul, two star members of the middleweight class. These men wrestled at the auditorium in Thief River Falls a few days over-looking of last week. E. J. Dusterhoft and L. A. Rines refereed the match bout and they say it was a thriller. Of the contest the Thief River Falls News-Press has the following to say:

"Curtis' deadly body scissors hold caused the first fall in 26 minutes and 8 seconds. The shoulders of Mr. St. Paul boy came closer and closer to the mat, forced by the hold that has caused the downfall of many other wrestlers, and although he battled gamely it was impossible to stave off the inevitable.

"The second round was much the same as the first, Curtis on account of the time, and Francis beneath him held by a body scissors hold. Several times the terrible pressure around his waist became too great and with agonized cry of distress, but refused to quit. After an hour's work Referee Doran called the match to the rule that either wrestler could call the match after twelve o'clock. The crowd, however, was anxious for a finish bout and so the men continued.

"The time of the second fall was 1 hour, 15 minutes and 34 seconds, and was secured by a body scissors.

"The outcome of the contest met with the approval of the larger crowd, the greater share of whom had supported Curtis. The St. Paul boy, however, made many friends by the aggressiveness of his style of endeavors, and his strength and skill could not help but be admired. He is without doubt a 'comer' in the wrestling game and is by far the best man that Curtis has been privileged to meet.

"As for Curtis the match has probably placed him in the front rank of middleweight championship crown. His followers are confident that he can show a good account of himself in a match with champion Walter Miller. The champion, however, has not considered Curtis entitled to the honor of meeting him and has flatly refused to negotiate on any terms whatever. Curtis' defeat of Francis, who has traveled in the recognized and approved miller society, has given him at least the right to the challenge."

A WORD WITH THE ADVERTISERS

We are going to use this space for a little heart to heart talk with Mr. Advertiser. He, and there are several of him, has gotten into a habit that has thrown the work of getting out the paper into a useless commotion. A large number of the advertisers have been bringing in their copy on press day, at a time when the effort of the printing force should be directed toward getting out a good newspaper. The system of handling the work of a weekly newspaper office, no matter how efficient the force or how complete the equipment, cannot be the same as that of a daily office. The Businessman, being an intelligent man, will be able to understand this without further explanation.

If you have been preparing your advertisements Wednesday night, just change the program and prepare them Tuesday night and let us have them Wednesday morning—earlier if you can. Isn't this request reasonable? Then

PLEASE DO IT, MR. ADVERTISER

MEETING OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

PROPOSITION FOR CONSTRUCTION OF FARMERS ELEVATOR WILL BE CONSIDERED.

A meeting to consider the proposition for the construction of a farmers' elevator in Red Lake Falls will be held at the court house at one o'clock Saturday afternoon, Feb. 1, 1913. It is probable that at that time plans that have been under discussion for some time will take definite form.

The proposition has been under consideration for some time and the meeting is called to give those interested an opportunity to express their views and to take the necessary steps for the organization of a company if the sentiment seems to favor such procedure. All farmers living in the Red Lake Falls area are urged to attend the meeting.

COUNTY OPTION ALONE MISSING

ALL OTHER TROUBLE MAKING BILLS ARE NOW ON THE LEGISLATURE.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—All that remains now to complete the list of brain children and trouble makers which confront every legislator and cogdems many to oblivion is the county option bill. It is coming, but it can be said that a majority of both houses are now anxious to see it. Last week woman suffrage saw the light of day and the same fate of Otter Tail county as its sponsor in the upper branch of the legislature, and Adolph E. Larson of the Scandinavian fatherigs it is the house. Thursday a teacher tax bill, with Representatives Bjorge and Frankson as the joint authors, made its appearance, and is now the darling of the Gazette of Stearns county offered for consideration. This bill creates school districts commission. Duplicate bills of each were presented in the senate. As to the initiative and referendum the house has thrown into the legislative hopper no less than three bills relating the subject and the senate a like number. The senate committee, each ranges all the way from five to fifteen and it looks very much as if the last would strike the same rock encountered two years ago—a division of sentiment in the committee ought to concede anything to his rival. As to the "blue sky" law, which concerns the regulation of stock and security sale and issue, yours truly has had count of the number offered at the last writing. When adjournment was taken Saturday night a committee to the bill bopper had exceeded the big number and no house it was near the 200 figure. The prospects are for the biggest grist of bills to be thrown in the hopper in Minnesota legislature.

+ + +

That Speaker Rines' organization is firmly fixed and the few who are opposite to him are getting their heads against a stone wall was made apparent when Representative Lydiard of Minneapolis proposed a resolution calling for an increased force of employes in the house looking to a reduction in their number. Just six months before the same Representative Lydiard of Minneapolis and Representative Boerner of Morris answered Mr. Lydiard's call for help. Lindeen, who fathered another resolution a few days afterwards, which was calculated to embarrass Mr. Rines and the organization, met the same fate. Even a proposition to include in the rules for the selection of future legislatures, a provision for the appointment of the house committee clerks committee to be named for that purpose went the same way. Lydiard, Lindeen and the progressive crowd which is in charge, says he is simply trying to compel them to live up to progressive principles. His argument is that Rines and his followers claim to be progressives and that as such they should live up to the name.

+ + +

That the old crowd is dying hard was indicated in open threats gained by the less drastic county option of

(Continued on Page Four)

PARCELS POST VERY POPULAR

MANY PEOPLE TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE CHEAP RATE ON PACKAGES.

The parcels post service is becoming quite popular in Red Lake Falls as it has the country over and there is every indication that the volume of this class of business handled through the local post office. Packages of all descriptions are being received and dispatched. They are of various sizes and descriptions and vary in the nature of their contents from a box of hoabona to a good old week's washing.

The popularity of the service is not only due to the cheap rate, but to the convenience of the service that makes it possible to send packages of almost-any description by the simple formality of affixing a stamp.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Of Red Lake County, Minnesota, for the Year Ending December 31, 1912.

Prepared by
A. A. LATENDRESSE,
County Auditor

County Auditor's Office, Red Lake County, Minnesota.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, January 7th, 1913.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA.

GENTLEMEN:

I have the honor to submit to you herewith the Financial Statement of Red Lake County for the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1912. It contains an account of all the receipts and disbursements by the County Treasurer of said County during said year and shows the balance remaining in his hands and belonging to the several funds.

Annexed hereto and a part thereof is a detailed statement of all County Expenses for which orders or warrants were drawn during the year, so arranged as to show the purpose of each expenditure.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. A. Latendresse

(Auditor's Seal.) County Auditor.

TRIAL BALANCE COUNTY AUDITOR.

From General Ledger of County Auditor of Red Lake County, Minnesota, showing the condition at the close of business on the 31st day of December, 1912:

Balances—	Debit	Credit.
Current Revenue Fund	$55,161.97
Warrant account		$44,838.95
Taxes & penalties	11,322.40
Current School Fund		25,473.38
County Revenue	191.34
Road & Bridge Fund	8,359.24
Ditch Fund	17,546.67
Indemnities Fund	1,254.22
School District Interest	1,654.72
Road & Bridge Interest	2,457.46
Intermediate Fund	41.84
Permanent Fund
State Revenue and Interest	50.00
State Land & Int.	587.50
Ditch Assessments	2,211.12
Ditch Interest	1,139.17
Refunding	14.70
Building Fund	39.54
Mortgage Registry Tax	3.00
County Fire Fund	1.00
Total	$52,569.85	$52,569.85

Receipts of Red Lake County, during the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1912:

Balance in County Treasury January 2nd, 1912	$ 45481.97
Current tax collections	30139.51
Delinquent tax collections	2699.94
Mortgage registry and certificate	1077.50
Interest on fees paid	1272.55
Dividends on stock	1.00
Public redemptions
Collections, principal and interest	6579.46
Sale of school sites
Sale school sites and to schools	7810.95
Interest on county deposits	1987.33
Auctioneer's license	85.00
Saloon license	800.00
County fees	99.00
Justice court fines
Constructive fines for road & bridge fund	1987.33
Constructive fines, scct. per-sonal property tax warrants	1940.00
Liquor license	1940.00
Constructive fines fee	1987.33
Dividends acct. settlement with insolvent banks	21924.27
Dog, resale from pound	400.00
Hwys chief county	1987.33
Survey of section lines	940.50
Refund of wolf bounty
Interest and fees of Pennington county	6992.97
Personal property tax, 1907	43.16
Warrants outstanding December 31st, 1912	3726.53
Total	$247,791.49

Disbursements of Red Lake County during the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1912:

Warrants drawn on county treasurer, fund	$126015.45
Warrants drawn on County Road and Bridge fund	19077.47
Warrants drawn on County Ditch fund	4589.71
Warrants drawn on Private Indemnities fund	12461.53
Warrants drawn on General Ditch fund	25454.94
Warrants drawn on incidental Expense fund	1987.33
Warrants drawn on School district fund	54152.81
Warrants drawn on Town, City and Village fund	25009.72
Warrants drawn on Special Road and Bridge fund	534.05
Warrants drawn, Court House and Jail fund	922.00
Warrants drawn on Refunding Interest fund	188.55
Warrants drawn on Intermediate fund	175.60
Warrants drawn on State lands	6560.65
State Revenue and School Taxes	1987.33
Interest and penalties	74.32
Mortgage tax collections	1987.33
Warrants out Dec. 31st, 1912	44838.95
Balance in Treasury December 31st, 1912	33367.46
Total	$247,791.49

TRIAL BALANCE COUNTY AUDITOR.

From General Ledger of County Auditor of Red Lake County, Minnesota, showing the condition at the close of business on the 31st day of December, 1912:

Balances—	Debit	Credit.
County Treasurer	$72,267.46
Warrant Account		44,838.95
Taxes & penalties	11,322.40
General School fund		25,473.38
Current Revenue	191.34
Road and Bridge fund	8,359.24
Ditch fund	17,546.67
Indemnities fund	1,254.22
School District Interest	1,654.72
Road & Bridge Interest	2,457.46
Intermediate Fund	41.84
Permanent Fund
State Revenue and Interest	50.00
State Land & Int.	587.50
Ditch Assessments	2,211.12
Ditch Interest	1,139.17
Refunding	14.70
Building Fund	39.54
Mortgage Registry Tax	3.00
County Fire Fund	1.00
Interest on County Deposits		1,987.33
Auctioneers License		10.00
Saloon License		800.00
Clerk of Court fees on P. F. Co.		1.50
Dog Licenses		99.00
Receipts from Pennington county		1987.33
Ditch repair		6992.97
Horse and bovine license		43.16
Wolf bounty		940.00
Interest from Pennington county		1987.33
Liquor License		1940.00
Constructive fines, Contingent fund		1987.33
Transferred from Ditch fund		194.58
Transferred from County Revenue fund		1987.33
Transferred from County Poor fund		1987.33
Transferred from Court House and Jail fund		188.44
Transfer of Warrant No. 22319		12.00
Total		$47,661.99

Disbursement.

Debit balances, January 2nd, 1912	$25575.76
Warrants issued	21922.23
Warrants issued, Warrant No. 23331	163.00
Transferred to Incidental fund	100.00
Refunding warrants	2.70
Credit balance, January 2nd, 1913	339.69
Total	$47661.99

COUNTY OFFICERS' SALARIES.

County Auditor.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21951	A. A. Latendresse, salary		$150.00
22102	A. A. Latendresse, salary		150.00
22212	A. A. Latendresse, salary		150.00
22319	A. A. Latendresse, salary		150.00
22385	A. A. Latendresse, salary		150.00
22509	A. A. Latendresse, salary		150.00
22584	A. A. Latendresse, salary		150.00
22944	A. A. Latendresse, salary		150.00
	Total		$1350.00

County Treasurer.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21952	G. G. Kindseth, salary		100.00
21961	G. G. Kindseth, salary		100.00
22103	G. G. Kindseth, salary		100.00
22389	G. G. Kindseth, salary		100.00
22449	G. G. Kindseth, salary		100.00
22585	G. G. Kindseth, salary		100.00
22738	G. G. Kindseth, salary		100.00
22945	G. G. Kindseth, salary		100.00
23019	G. G. Kindseth, salary		100.00
	Total		$1000.00

County Attorney.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21953	Chas. E. Boughton, salary		$100.00
22104	Chas. E. Boughton, salary		100.00
22318	Chas. E. Boughton, salary		100.00
22384	Chas. E. Boughton, salary		100.00
22508	Chas. E. Boughton, salary		100.00
22583	Chas. E. Boughton, salary		100.00
22737	Chas. E. Boughton, salary		100.00
22801	Chas. E. Boughton, salary		100.00
22943	Chas. E. Boughton, salary		100.00
23018	Chas. E. Boughton, salary		100.00
	Total		$1000.00

County Superintendent of School.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21954	H. F. Anderson, salary		$62.50
22106	H. F. Anderson, salary		62.50
22210	H. F. Anderson, salary		62.50
22317	H. F. Anderson, salary		62.50
22383	H. F. Anderson, salary		62.50
22507	H. F. Anderson, salary		62.50
22582	H. F. Anderson, salary		62.50
22736	H. F. Anderson, salary		62.50
22800	H. F. Anderson, salary		62.50
22942	Henry F. McNulty, salary		62.50
	Total		$625.00

Judge of Probate.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21955	Joseph Perreault, salary		$170.83
22107	Joseph Perreault, salary		170.83
22320	Joseph Perreault, salary		170.83
22386	Joseph Perreault, salary		170.83
22510	Joseph Perreault, salary		170.83
22586	Joseph Perreault, salary		170.83
22739	Joseph Perreault, salary		170.83
22802	Joseph Perreault, salary		170.83
	Total		$1366.64

Clerk of District Court.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21956	C. W. Johnson, salary		$4.17
21962	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
22108	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
22321	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
22387	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
22511	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
22587	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
22740	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
22803	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
22946	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
23020	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
	Total		$166.67

Sheriff.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21957	Chas. Pellman, salary		$66.64
21963	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
22109	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
22253	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
22322	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
22350	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
22388	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
22384	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
22512	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
22582	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
22804	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
22945	Chas. Pellman, salary		66.64
	Total		$799.92

Deputy Auditor.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21870	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		$40.00
21958	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		40.00
22110	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		40.00
22324	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		40.00
22388	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		40.00
22513	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22588	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22804	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22947	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
23021	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
23045	J. H. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
	Total		$490.00

Deputy Register of Deeds.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21871	Margaret Rose, salary		$41.66
21962	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22111	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22324	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22389	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22514	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22589	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22805	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
23022	Margaret Rose, salaryn		41.66
	Total		$499.92

Clerk Hire in County Auditors Office

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21959	Joseph Perreault, salary		$20.00
21960	Joseph Perreault, salary		20.00
	Total		$40.00

Clerk Hire in County Treasurer's Office

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21881	E. L. Kindseth, salary		$ 6.00
21882	Joseph Perreault, salary		10.00
22240	Joseph Perreault, salary		10.00
22241	E. L. Kindseth, salary		10.00
23023	Elmer L. Kindseth, salary		60.00
23019	Joseph Perreault, salary		60.00
	Total		$141.00

Court Reporter.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21877	M. Lahn, salary		$ 7.33
21964	Chas. M. Lahn, salary		14.67
22112	Chas. M. Lahn, salary		14.67
22326	Chas. M. Lahn, salary		14.67
22392	Chas. M. Lahn, salary		14.67
22465	Chas. M. Lahn, salary		14.67
22516	Chas. M. Lahn, salary		14.67
22591	Chas. M. Lahn, salary		14.67
22807	Chas. M. Lahn, salary		14.67
22948	Chas. M. Lahn, salary		14.67
	Total		$116.27

Janitor.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21878	W. O. Bruggeman, salary		$12.00
21965	W. O. Bruggeman, salary		14.00
22325	W. O. Bruggeman, salary		14.00
22391	W. O. Bruggeman, salary		14.00
22466	W. O. Bruggeman, salary		14.00
22467	W. O. Bruggeman, salary		14.00
22515	W. O. Bruggeman, salary		14.00
22592	W. O. Bruggeman, salary		14.00
22808	W. O. Bruggeman, salary		14.00
22949	W. O. Bruggeman, salary		14.00
	Total		$134.00

SAM E. HUNT, Commissioner at Large.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21879	Sam E. Hunt, salary		$10.42
21966	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
22327	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
22393	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
22468	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
22517	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
22593	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
22809	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
22950	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
	Total		$125.04

C. O. KANKEL, Commissioner at Large.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21880	C. O. Kankel, salary		$ 10.42
21967	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
22113	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
22328	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
22394	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
22469	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
22518	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
22594	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
22810	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
22951	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
23024	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
	Total		$125.04

HERMAN SCHULTZ, Commissioner of Second District.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21872	Herman Schultz, salary		$ 12.42
21968	Herman Schultz, salary		12.42
22114	Herman Schultz, salary		12.42
22329	Herman Schultz, salary		12.42
22395	Herman Schultz, salary		12.42
22470	Herman Schultz, salary		12.42
22519	Herman Schultz, salary		12.42
22595	Herman Schultz, salary		12.42
22811	Herman Schultz, salary		12.42
22952	Herman Schultz, salary		12.42
23025	Herman Schultz, salary		12.42
	Total		$149.04

JOSEPH PIGEON, Commissioner of Fifth District.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21873	Joseph Pigeon, salary		$ 10.42
21969	Joseph Pigeon, salary		10.42
22115	Joseph Pigeon, salary		10.42
22330	Joseph Pigeon, salary		10.42
22396	Joseph Pigeon, salary		10.42
22471	Joseph Pigeon, salary		10.42
22520	Joseph Pigeon, salary		10.42
22596	Joseph Pigeon, salary		10.42
22812	Joseph Pigeon, salary		10.42
22953	Joseph Pigeon, salary		10.42
23026	Joseph Pigeon, salary		10.42
	Total		$125.04

COUNTY BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21874	Sam E. Hunt, member Bd. of Equalization		$ 2.00
21964	C. O. Kankel, member Bd. of Equalization		10.4
21970	Joseph Pigeon, member Bd. of Equalization		10.30
22247	Herman Schultz, member Bd. of Equalization		10.30
22248	Joseph Pigeon, member Bd. of Equalization		2.00
22249	Sam E. Hunt, 1 day attending Board of Equalization		2.00
22250	C. O. Kankel, 1 day attending Board of Equalization		2.00
22251	Herman Schultz, 1 day attending Board of Equalization		2.00
22240	C. O. Kankel, 1 day attending Board of Equalization		2.00
			$63.10

County Board of Audit.

No. of Warrant	To Whom For What Issued	Purpose	Amt'l.
22254	Sam E. Hunt, member Board of Audit		$ 21.00
22255	C. O. Kankel, member Board of Audit		21.00
22256	Joseph Pigeon, member Board of Audit		21.00
22257	C. O. Johnson, member Bd. of Audit		12.00
22258	A. A. Latendresse, member Board of Audit		12.00
			$93.00

County Canvassing Board.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
22259	Sam E. Hunt, member Bd. of Canvassing		$ 6.00
22260	C. O. Kankel, member Bd. of Canvassing		6.00
22261	W. Thompson, member Bd. of Canvassing		6.00
22262	E. G. Buse, member Bd. of Canvassing		6.00
22263	A. A. Latendresse, member Bd. of Canvassing		9.00
			$33.00

Petit Jurors.

No. of Warrant	To Whom Issued	For What Purpose	Amt'l.
21875	Wm. Gerlach, Mch. 1912, grn. term		$ 4.40
21876	Wm. Gerlach, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21971	Frank Brodilly, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21972	Wm. Gerlach, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21973	E. Styles, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21974	Frank Brodilly, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21975	Wm. Gerlach, Mch. 19012, grn. term		4.40
21976	Gerar Lois, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21977	Wm. Gerlach, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21978	Wm. Hagnoh, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21979	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21980	Ovide Savard, Mch. 19012, grn. term		4.40
21981	Ovide Savard, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21982	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21983	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21984	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21985	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21986	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21987	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21988	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21989	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21990	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21991	Chas. Hemsted, Mch. 1912, grn. term		4.40
21992	Henry F. McNulty, salary		62.50
			$191.60

Deputy Clerk of Court Fees.

No. of Warrant	To Whom For What Issued	Purpose	Amt'l.
22263	C. W. Johnson, for court		$ 4.17
22264	Delinquent tax list		2.00
			$6.17

Deputy Clerk of Court Fees.

No. of Warrant	To Whom For What Issued	Purpose	Amt'l.
22265	C. W. Johnson, salary		$ 16.67
22266	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
22267	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67
22268	C. W. Johnson, salary		16.67

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO ABRAHAM LINCOLN

This beautiful memorial to Abraham Lincoln, which has been designed by Henry Bacon of New York is to be erected to Potomac park. Weshington, if the house passes the $2,000,000 appropriation still which already has been approved by the senate. The building is to be of white marble, and there will he a statue of Lincoln within it.

JAILED BY REBELS

Released American Tells of Horrors in Mexico.

Crowded With Thirty-Four Others Into Sunless Dungeon About 20 Feet Square—Finally Freed by Federal Soldiers.

St. Louis, Mo.—Reduced from 170 pounds to a mere shadow by a long confinement in a Mexican dungeon, C. W. Maunsel, once a resident of Chickasha, is now under the care of Dr. L. E. Maunel, the city physician, at Chickasha, Okla.

Stooped, thin and sallow almost beyond recognition, it was hard for one who knew him to believe that the thin, bearded figure is the same lean of sturdy physique who left here some years ago. Macatee says he went from here to Wichita, Kan., where he joined a Mexican colony, went to Mexico and purchased forty acres of land from the government.

The following is Macatee's own story:

"I had about $250 in money and several hundred dollars' worth of horses, cattle and mules when the present Mexican revolution broke out. When the rebels captured Chihuahua they seized all the American colonists and demanded that they turn over all they possessed to the rebel leaders. They destroyed all we had, took over the stock and money and marched us in a hollow square of soldiers to prison in Chihuahua there are two prisons—one known as the 'outside' prison and the other as the 'inside' prison.

"In company with thirty-four other Americans I was placed in the 'outside' prison, where for about sixteen months I did not see a ray of sunshine nor get a breath of fresh air except that filtered into the cell by a circular pipe that reached the roof. We were thrown into prison on April 15, 1913, and were liberated Aug. 15, 1912, when Madero's army recaptured Chihuahua.

"The cell which I shared with 34 other prisoners was possibly 20 feet square, and during all the time we were there the cell door was unlocked but three times—twice to clear the cell and once to remove the bodies of four of our comrades, which removal occurred two weeks after their death. We were fed decidedly worse than a drove of hogs, and death came to my four companions obsolutely from starvation. We could eat only a handful of cereals, owing to the crowded condition of our cell, and were usually put to most of our time sleeping.

"We did not hear the federals when they battered down the front door of the prison, and the first knowledge we had that something unusual was taking place was when they battered down the door to the cell in our rooms. We naturally thought that our hour of execution had come, but were happily mistaken. Being almost naked, we were given some clothing and smuggled across the lines to El Paso, where I stayed two weeks. It was fully that long before I dared to attempt to open my eyes in daylight. Even now I have to wear cinder glasses.

"Though I weighed 170 pounds when I went into prison, my weight was less than 100 pounds when I arrived in El Paso. I remember three of the men who were in prison with me—Charlie Gardner of Arkansas City, a man by the name of Woods and another named Atwell, from Kansas.

"The English consul visited us once, but the consul from our own nation did not come to see us."

MAN LEAPS FROM FAST TRAIN

Detective Holds to Wrist and Drags Man Four Miles Before Letting Go.

London—The 5 o'clock express from Liverpool to London was the scene of a dramatic struggle between police officers and a prisoner, ending in the temporary escape of the latter.

Detective-inspector Fowler, of Scotland yard, and Detective Mackay of Liverpool, arrested in that city a man named Sarker on a warrant issued three years ago at the instance of the director of public prosecutions.

The two officers and their prisoner, the latter handcuffed to Detective Mackay, took their seats in the express, and all went well till a point between Leighton Buzzard and Bletchley Here Sarker on a pretext, was temporarily released from the handcuff which bound him to McCoy. He made a dash for the door, pulled it open, and jumped from the train, which was then going at sixty miles an hour. As he did so Detective Inspector Fowler seized him by the wrist with one hand, and though Sarker is a heavy man, held him suspended. While Mr. McCoy pulled the communication cord. Inspector Fowler held on to his one for four miles, but his wrist then become numb and he was compelled to release his grasp.

Three miles further on the train stopped. The two police officers provided themselves with lanterns, and walked back along the line in search of the fugitive. Finally they came to the spot where he had fallen, and traced him by blood stains on the railway, where he had taken refuge. He was so badly injured about the head that medical assistance had to be secured.

After Sarker's wounds had been dressed he was taken on to Euston. He was formally charged and then taken to the infirmery.

DEVIL TAVERN STILL EXISTS

Was Favorite Resort of Ben Jonson and Shakespeare Located in London.

London—At the present time it would be difficult to discover a London tavern ever called by the name of "The Devil." But in the eighteenth century 1 Fleet street, still in existence, was so called.

"The Devil's Tavern" was so called owing to the proximity of St. Dunstan's church and the food recollection of an interlude between the saint and the Evil One.

This was Ben Jonson's favorite resort and here he presided over a club of which he was the master. He wrote once:

"The first speech in my 'Catiline,' spoken to Scylla's ghost, was writ after I had parted with my friends at the Devil Tavern; I had drank well that night and had brave notions."

It was also the resort of Shadwell, pilloried as Og by Dryden in his "Absalom and Achitophel." Here the poets laureate used to rehearse their birthday odes, so carefully written with the minimum of emotion in the Augustan style, and here Killigrew had one of the scenes in his "Parson's Wedding."

Swift, in his "Journal to Stella," the human document of a passionate holiday, mentions dining here with Addison and Garth. Pope has embalmed it in the amber of his classic verse. Here Goldsmith, in his prosperous hours, played at cards, and to 1751 Dr. Johnson assembled his merry and almost famous party to celebrate the publication of the delightful Mrs. Charlotte Lennox's first novel, "The Life of Harriet Stuart."

LORD MORLEY IS NEAR 75

English Biographer and Reviewer Receives Congratulations of Friends.

London.—Many eminent persons, including royalty, statesmen and men of letters, passed to the hinrry to send a few words of greeting to Lord Morley congratulating him upon the beginning of his seventy-fifth year. For many years the Rt. Hon. John Morley was looked upon as the successor of his old friend Gladstone as England's most distinguished plain man of letters, and since his elevation to the peerage five years ago Lord Morley has lost none of his public esteem. In his day he held many high offices under liberal administrations, and never failed to commend the highest respect even from his most bitter political opponents. Since his retirement from the office of secretary of state for India two years ago Lord Morley has devoted himself almost entirely to literary work. As a biographer and reviewer he is probably without a peer in the English-speaking world today.

"Vinegar King" Mourns Bride.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Stephen Scott, the "vinegar king," is disconsolate over the continued absence of his nineteen-year-old bride, whom he married last summer.

HUMAN LADDER SAVES FOUR

Man Falls Into Sound and His Wife Jumps In After Him.

New Rochelle, N. Y.—Capt. James Clayton, his wife and two patrolmen, formed a human ladder last night. As a result near the New Rochelle Coal & Lumber company dock, four persons from drowning through the bravery of Albert E. McGill.

Hanging from the part of the pier by his legs, McGill called to the four in the water that he was a "human ladder."

"Swim over here," he said, "and grab my arms. Then you can get to the pier." They followed his instructions. First Mrs. Clayton seized him. She crawled from his arms to his shoulders and then reached the dock. Next he rescued one of the patrolmen and afterward the other two men were dragged to safety.

Captain Clayton and his wife were standing on a plank to a coal barge when he fell in the sound. His wife called for help. She saw him sink and when he rose she jumped in after him. They were to a perilous position, between the coal barge that was swinging in the tide, and the dock. Mrs. Clayton afterward said her belief she they were about to be crushed to death.

Patrolmen Harness and Havard heard the woman call before she jumped. They ran to the dock. A ladder was extended down one side of the pier and the last rung of it was four feet from the water.

Harness took off his coat and jumped from the pier, but Havard went down the ladder. A rung broke and he, too, fell into the sound. Then McGill, who owns the automating garage, a customer for Detor hooks, went to the pier.

McGill crawled down the ladder as

Tiger was rushed to Atlantic City from the south on the hops of saving his sloth life, the only one that remained after he took a fall which broke his back. Age had long since stricken him blind.

Millionaire's Son is a Laborer.

St. Louis.—In an effort to learn the business "from the ground up," Adam S. Swift, son of the millionaire Chicago meat packer, donned overalls and is working as a laborer in a packing plant.

PRODUCTION OF EGGS IN COLD MONTHS DEPENDS ON FEED AND CARE GIVEN HENS

Houses Should Be in Good Shape and Birds in Good Health—Keep Them Busy Working Through Deep Litter for Their Morning Meal to Instill Vigor—Dust Bath Is Essential.

Interior Of Well Furnished Poultry House.

As the winter months are on and the eggs are scarce and high in price, it means that good care should be taken of the fowls. See that the houses are in good shape and the birds are in good health. Now is the time to give a little condition powder in the mash to regulate their system if they are sluggish after the cold, wet weather. Also see o'clock that they will retain a small feed of mash or ground bone.

The hens will keep them busy until their night feed, which should be of hardy grain and warm, so their organs will have some work to do overnight. In this way they will consume a great deal of time you go to the house with their mash and clean out mash and keep them busy. It won't be many weeks before the eggs will begin to come your way, and you will get a good reward for your work. A good many think if you feed a hen in the morning and give a little ice water to drink that is all you should do. But the more we work with our hens the better the returns we will get.

Every time you go in your house, if it is ten times a day, pick the litter up in a pile and put in a handful of wheat, and see what enjoyment the birds will have kicking it around and digging up their feed. Here lies joy and happiness. If you keep this up all winter, you will not have any sick and puny birds. When breeding season comes your stock will be full of vigor, and the result will be fertile eggs, strong and healthy chicks and a profit in the English-speaking world today.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Stephen Scott, the "vinegar king," is disconsolate over the continued absence of his nineteen-year-old bride, whom he married last summer.

EXPERIMENTS IN USING SKIMMILK

Found Best at South Dakota Station to Stick to One Kind for Good Pork.

To a report of a recent test at the South Dakota Experiment Station to determine the comparative value of sweet skimmilk and buttermilk as buttermilk with corn for pork production, the following statement is given:

"Each bushel of corn fed without milk yielded an average of 11.5 pounds of pork. Each bushel of shelled corn fed with 114 pounds of sour skimmilk yielded an average of 17.6 pounds of pork. Each bushel of shelled corn fed with 163 pounds of buttermilk yielded an average of 17.7 pounds of pork. The records show that an average of 1.53 pounds of milk was required to produce an average of 17.7 pounds of pork."

From which two lessons may be drawn. First, that it is generally known, that milk added to corn makes a more economical production of pork corn alone. And second, that the hog makes as efficient use of any one of the grains of milk as of either of the others.

So from a practical standpoint it doesn't matter whether we feed sweet skimmilk, sour skimmilk or buttermilk, so long as it is best, however, to stick to one kind. As to palatability the hogs seem to like one as well as another, and we can't please all.

Feeding Value of Alfalfa.

Alfalfa leaves contain most of the feeding value of the alfalfa plant.

Amount of Tankage to Feed.

One pound of tankage with ten pounds of corn is a good mixture for fattening hogs, but when the hogs are turned on the clover pasture the tankage may be reduced and finally discontinued, feeding only corn and clover, which is a balanced ration.

Improvement Through Rain.

Keep your eyes open for a better rain than you have been using. No one can tramping the same ground ever year after year. Get a little further along the road to better things.

to see and the neighbors to enjoy.

The dust bath is just as essential in winter in keeping the fowls free from lice as it is in summer. Lice multiply in winter as well as in summer; not so rapidly, of course, yet fast enough to the average poultry house to make life a torture to the hens if nothing is done to keep the pests in check. The dust bath will help in the fight against the pests as much as anything else.

The dust must be dry when put out for the fowls' use. Chickens will not dust in damp earth in cold weather. The dust should be fine also. As it is collected, sift it, so as to discard all the stones and lumps. The supply of dust to the poultry house ought to be renewed at frequent intervals. Herein the importance of collecting a considerable amount of it.

In two or three weeks the dust house will become fouled, and they should be emptied then and refilled with a fresh supply. Do very cold days it is a good idea to slightly warm the dust before taking it to the chicken's quarters. Where the flock is not large, and only a small amount of dust is required, it can be warmed in the house without much trouble. Then, when it is taken to the poultry quarters, place it in the sunshine or the light of the windows.

Another important essential for the poultry flock is a plentiful supply of grit. This probably is a more important essential than the dust bath. A hen may get along without the dust bath, but she cannot get along without grit. Grit is the hen's teeth. The gizzard of a fowl requires it, and when this organ does not contain grit the food consumed by the fowl cannot be digested, and consequently it is wasted.

The birds that are not equipped to digest their food properly are not going to lay many eggs, even if they have the best of care. Hens that eggs are that they will not keep in good health. Usual trouble in the flock can be often traced to an insufficient supply of grit, and a large number of the hens may die from this cause.

PAYING HENS ARE FROM BEST STRAINS

Profitable Birds are Delight to the Eye and Help to Fill Pocketbook.

The paying hen is usually hatched from a paying strain. The paying hen that comes out of a flock of good-for-nothing hens is seldom met with. It is not worth hunting for. It takes time, it takes money and it takes the best possible to produce a flock of paying hens. It takes a very little neglect to send this flock back to the class of the non-paying hens.

Paying birds are a delight to the eye. You show them to your friends great pride. You are conscious of what they are and what they have been worth to you. You are willing to prosperly mate and feed them, and you look for the best return from them.

Paying birds never make up a large part of your flock when you sell the cream of the choice chicks every year. Money making flocks are made up of the best you raise, always letting the second best go to the market.

Paying birds live in houses free from vermin and supplied with pure air and water. They get food that is needed to bring the profit to the proper point. Cheap food because it is cheap never helped to produce the paying hen and keep her running to the nest.

Hens that pay splendid profits are the hens that are bred for the laying and are demanding. Are you ready to be among the hens willing to fill the orders for this kind of birds?

Comfort for Pigs.

Don't forget the pigs on cold nights, but give them a good warm bed of straw.

Beautiful Home Grounds.

Beautiful home grounds are an investment, just as good fences, drainage, etc., are. It adds to the value of the farm and to the happiness of the family.

Danger of Weak Harness.

This injury air makes the horses frisky. After they have been shut up in the stable for awhile they want to go. But if one of the lines should break something serious might happen. Better see if the splices are be-ginning to give way.

Three Fascinating Frocks Designed for the Really Smart Dresser

1. The new tunic in blue Liberty satin with panels of brocade, skirt edged with black fur. 2. A harmony in black velvet and white tulle, edged here and there with white fur. 3. A graceful biscuit cloth with collar, sleeve revers and sash in ermine. A small red tie supplies the inevitable bright touch.

JEWEL CASE AND PINCUSHION

Double Convenience for the Woman Who is Required to Do Considerable Traveling.

One of the most convenient little accessories to the toilet for the woman who travels short a great deal is a small jewel case and pincushion combined.

It is made of a piece of fancy ribbon or plain satin twelve inches long and six inches wide. The material is sewed together lengthwise, then divided into three parts, four inches in each, either by stitching it on the machine or with very close cross-stitch or featherstitching.

Do this stitching four inches from one side first, then fill the center with wool to form the cushion in which to stick the pins, then stitch it across four inches from the other end.

There you have a solid center with hollow end, and these ends are turned in to form a hem one inch wide. In these a small casing is run, with narrow ribbon placed through that so as to pull it up like a little bag on each end.

This makes a flat cushion in the center, having bagline ends in which the jewelry is kept, brooches, bracelets, rings, chains and the watch, when it is not in use. The cushion can be decorated with some pretty design done in cross-stitch or an embroidered initial or a small spray of flowers.

Such a case can be made of any material you may choose. Brocaded satin is always pretty; plain satin covered with lace or cream linen that can be laundered will be found a satisfactory substitute for other more expensive fabrics.

One side of the cushion may be used for towels and the other for sewing materials—cotton, scissors, needles, etc. Even a soft ball of darning cotton, that is always handy to have when traveling.

This combination cushion and case will make a splendid gift for the young girl who is entering boarding school or for one away from home.

FEATHER-TRIMMED CHAPEAU.

This hat is composed of violet velvet, the brim being drooped over the back of the neck, and is trimmed with a plume of ostrich feathers drooping over the left side.

Silk Lace Scarfs.

Silk Spanish lace scarfs, dyed to match the gown, are in favor for evening wear. Some of the handsomest scarfs at present are made of a fine gauze silk, embroidered in one of the broidered veils in the border design. One very lovely one shown by a Chestnut street importer is of a shade of rose color, handsomely embroidered, with exquisite roses also embroidered in the rose velle lassie. In all the decorations the most prominent of rose color melting into white were used.

Tray Tables.

The Tripoli tray table is a thing of parts—three in number. There is a large top tray, a small tray (which fits on supports a third way up the legs of the stand) and the folding stand. When not in use this four-legged stand may be folded and stowed away in a small space. The trays are made of bamboo, and are strong yet light in weight, and can be easily washed. This table would be very ornamental for a tea or refreshment table in a bachelor maid's den.

BEST SCENTS FOR THE BATH

Much Choice is Possible, and a Woman May Use Any Particular Perfume Which She May Prefer.

The commonest form of the bath sea e beautifier is the bran bath. This particular bath has the advantage of being inexpensive and efficient at the same time. The bran should be sewn into a coarse little square sack of cheesecloth covering, and dropped into the bath when the water is run in. The water must not be too hot, or the bran will be cooked and thus rendered useless, but if warm water is ponred on it a creamy mass is formed, which will render the skin delightfully soft.

For those who wish to be a little more elaborate there are sold at chemists and stores little sacks of bran mixed with various perfumed herbs, according to taste, such as violets, lavender and sunflower seed.

The milk bath is not unusual, and is to claimed that it has no rival to beautifying the skin. One well known beauty in Paris is understood to use milk for her bath always, and the skin of her throat and shoulders is as creamy a white as the liquid she is supposed to bathe them with. Of course, one would not actually get right into a milk bath as one does with water. The milk is applied on wads of cotton-wool, the face, to prevent any stickiness, it is rubbed gently with can de cologne.

French women are also very partial to the use of alcohol in the bath. It is performed in some way with such scents as lavender or violet, and those who indulge in these baths or the bran ones use only about a pint twice a week.

Sea bathing is probably the most bracing and the best form for the rheumatic, but in a climate such as ours it cannot be recommended except in the hot months, unless the bather is very strong. Those who are unfortunate enough to possess very brittle skins will be well to eschew sea baths altogether.

For ordinary bathing purposes most people use ammonia or borax, which not only softens the water, but is invaluable for removing grease. It is necessary, however, to exercise caution in the use of these two articles, for an overdose in the bath, instead of making the skin soft and supple, will harden it and make it much too dry.

Dark Furs Becoming.

It seems odd that so few should realize that dark furs are much more becoming than light, that is, to the majority of women. Sable, mink, black fox, make her complexion look at its very best, whereas ermine, white fox, chinchilla and squirrel have exactly the contrary effect.

The same way of wearing the stole is to put the middle of it on in front, pass the ends under the shoulders, crossing them at the back and bringing them forward under the arms. The ends are then left their rounded or pointed back are worn with the fronts of evening wraps and comfortable, though slightly unorthodox.

Art in Making Bows.

A woman who can tie a bow well possesses a rare talent not to be easily acquired. Bow makers in some dress centers have a calling of their own. Some of the handsomest silk, millinery, and so many purposes. The ribbons are made with short loops and two ends of uneven length. For lingerie there is the shower bow of narrow ribbon with knotted ends, and the pin wheel with six loops and the ends knotted into a circle. The pin wheel makes a pretty millinery, especially in gauze ribbon. Very pretty for ball or evening headdress is a band of gold and silver ribbon with roses and buds made of satin ribbon. Ribbon bows are greatly worn, so are all kinds of dainty made of white ribbon with yellow centers, and large roses are easily constructed of soft satin.

Tomatoes and Mushrooms.

Cut some large tomatoes into halves, scoop out some of the pulp, mix it with 10 or 12 chopped button shrooms, two ounces of bread crumbs, pepper and salt to taste and an ounce of butter. Fill the tomatoes with this mixture, bake in a moderate oven.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

BY C. B. C. BAKER

Printed Every Thursday at Red Lake Falls Minnesota.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.50 Per Year in Advance

Do not judge a legislator by the number of bills he introduces.

Since there is to be open door in the White House under the Wilson administration, it is hoped that the neighbors kids won't make an awful noise running in and out.

The special session of the legislature made a great record because it did a few things well. If the regular session could do that there would be glory enough for all and progress in good government.

The usual trouble with the legislature is that it attempts to do a vast number of important things instead of doing a few important thing well. Every little legislator has a few little bills all his own.

Though talk is cheap, conversation is not always so. Conversation over the direct wire phone like which is soon to connect New York with San Francisco will sell at the rate of eighteen dollars a minute.

The suffragettes will be represented at the Wilson inaugural by an aeroplane with a young woman aviator. Nothing could be more appropriate. Most of the politicians and many of the statesmen are up in the air on the suffrage proposition.

If a member of the legislature is right on the comparatively small number of really important questions that come up for consideration and makes his influence felt he may be excused a good public record though he may be the "father" of no bills and he may "land" nothing for his town.

The normal school war is on again. A bill introduced in the state senate by P. H. McGarry provides for the location of a new normal school at Cass Lake. Representative D. P. O'Neill's bill, introduced in the house, provides for the location of a school, presumably the normal school, at Tiber River Falls.

It is a known and notable fact that by far the larger number of laws "made" by each session of the legislature are at no effect whatever. Either they are unconstitutional or the only conditions they effect are covered by the existing laws. Improvements in the conduct of governmental affairs are brought about not so much by the making of new laws as by the proper administration of those in existence.

If each township in Red Lake county would change to the township system it would make possible the doing of road work by contract instead of under the old poll tax method. The builder of each piece of road would do his work "by the job" and he would be paid when his job was completed according to contract. At the same expense, if not with an actual reduction in road taxes, much better roads could be built in every township.

We are pleased to report the result of the boys' quarter-acre corn contest conducted by the Tracy Commercial Club. Eleven boys completed the contest, getting yields from fifty-four to ninety-nine bushels per acre. The average yield of eleven quarter-acre plots was at the rate of 77 bushels 13 pounds per acre. While larger yields than these have been secured in other parts of the state, this result is certainly remarkable, as it shows what can be done when the people really go after large yields. Bryant Lindsay, who raised over ninety-nine bushels per acre, is only twelve or thirteen years old, but he is an enthusiastic corn student. The fact that he has produced more than three times the average yield in the state is but an added argument that it pays to know corn.—A. D. Wilson, Extension Superintendent, University Farm, St. Paul.

Minnesota has come near to the old section of a United States senator by popular vote. In the November election the people were given a chance to express a preference for United States senator, and the people spoke for the re-election of Senator Knute Nelson. Recognizing the popular expression, the legislature on Tuesday re-elected "Uncle Knute" by unanimous vote, republicans, democrats, the socialists assortment of pure progressives and the prohibitionists all voting alike.

CO-ADJUTOR'S REMARKS.

Another newspaper consolidation has taken place in Western Minnesota, the Ortonville Herald-Star by Irve Townsend, and the Big Stone County Journal by Editor Boista, starting under one head. The paper hereafter to be known as the Ortonville Journal. Messrs. Boista and Townsend will make a strong newspaper team. This move for consolidation is in keeping with the tendency of the times. One newspaper to a town the size of Ortonville is better in many ways than two. It enables local advertisers to reach the local territory at half the expense required when two papers are published, and the subscribers get the same amount of news in one paper that they usually get in two. This much to the advantage of the newspaper patron. On the side of the publishers is the fact that consolidation prevents a division of the business that naturally belongs to the local newspaper, and there is less invested in machinery, rent, taxes, insurance and labor. The Tribune joins with others of ten fraternity in extending a hearty welcome to the new firm.—Browns Valley Tribune.

When President Taft takes his trip around the world he will probably refrain from dictating England's policy in Egypt and telling Kaiser Bill how to run his army, and as another of "my policies" will be neglected. —Owatonna Tribune.

Why should the freight rates on hard coal be three times as much as the freight rates on soft coal?—Midway Globe.

Don't know, and why should it cost less to ship a carload of any kind of coal from Duluth to St. Paul, 150 miles, than to ship a carload of the same coal 130 miles from Duluth to some country town? There is a vast amount of discrimination in the matter of freight rates. How long will the public submit?—Browns' Valley Tribune.

Timothy E. Byrnes, a Meeker county boy, later a Minnesota politician and one of the presidents of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, told a meeting of conductors in Boston yesterday that "it looks as if the time is coming when the government will run the railroads of the country." Not at all, Tim. But the time is coming when the government will make their owners run the railroads on the square and with more regard for public interests and personal safety of employees.—Litchfield Ledger.

There is no general demand for the repeal of the second choice feature of the primary election law, but still it has been given a thorough trial, and it will take several elections to do that.—St. James Pilatedealer.

About the only opposition that has developed so far to the non-partisan judiciary election law is from lawyers, which puts party fealty above everything else. In this progressive day and age there is only about a corporal's guard left of the old school of intensified politics and if the right non-partisan bill is presented to the legislature it should go through without a struggle. The only real poll tax left on the statute books is the one that compels citizens in the way of fat county offices and people are beginning to be free and people are beginning to believe that fitness for the office should count for something.—Ada Herald.

The present legislature is likely to amend the primary law so as to make all county offices non-partisan. There are no valid reasons why this should not be done. The adoption of the proposed plan will be far toward simplifying the primary election with respect to candidates for county offices. When the primary law becomes more generally understood, state offices should also be made non-partisan.—Roseau Region.

GRAY MUTUAL ELECTION.

Officers and Agents for New Year Selected.

At the annual meeting of the Gray Mutual Fire Insurance Company, held in St. Hilaire on January 4th, 1912, the following officers and agents were elected for the coming year:

Reis K. Anderson, President, St. Hilaire.

John O. Swanson, Secretary, Wylie.

N. A. Nelson, Treasurer, St. Hilaire.

Ed A. Aubol, Director, St. Hilaire.

A. August Erickson, Director, Red Lake Falls.

Fritz Goethler, Director, Red Lake Falls.

Agents.

Emil Larson, Brey township.

P. A. Hallstrom, Polk Centre and Wylie.

John S. Smith, North.

Olaf Larson, Numedal.

C. E. Asa, Nordon.

Peter Engelstad, Rockebury.

P. O. Sorlien, Silverton.

A. J. Hemstad, Emardville.

Thomas Johnson, Gartner.

A.A.Donaldson, Equality and Deer Park.

Alf. Dahlstrom, Sanders, Black River and Brooks's Creek.

A. S. Anderson, River Falls, River and Gervais.

Matt Ehalt, Red Lake Falls and Louisville.

Otto Peterson, Wyandotte, Smiley and Mayfield.

C. C. Weld, Fratka, High Landing, Star, Clover Leaf, Goodridge and Helmer.

The great interest that is being taken in dairying and in poultry raising in northern Minnesota shows that they are profitable enterprises. Problems will come up all the time for the best methods of feeding and breeding cattle, caring for the milk, cream, eggs and butter, and others. What should be looked for in a good dairy sire? How can I sell a good cow when I see one? Several of the best dairying specialties of the state will be at the Farmers' Short Course, Agricultural School, Crookston, Feb. 19-23, 1912 to discuss these problems. Mr. Scribner, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; Mr. Haecker, of State Dairymen's association; Mr. Sargent, of the Agricultural School, and others will give their experience. No farmer can afford to fail to keep in touch with this part of his business. Write to the school for further information.

COUNTY OPTION ALONE MISSING

(Continued from Page 1.)

the hacking given by its legislative members to Lieutenant Governor Burnquist in the senate and Speaker Rines in the house. Their threat is the passage of a nonsense tax. Sometimes it looks as if the threat was actuated more by a desire to force a little spending money than revenge, but if such is at the bottom of the whole thing the mercenary ones are likely to be disappointed. Representatives Frankson and Bjorge, who are known to be opposed to the sales tax, are on the squares, for they believe that a manage tax is the only proper solution of the problem. Their efforts, however, constitute a mean row to hoe and that it will be taken advantage of by the reactionary element is more than probable.

+ + +

For six years now the iron Range residents have had the tonnage tax bogaboo dangled before them. Every time it came up they have been frightened out of their shoes, but after they declare they are tired of the whole thing and that if it is forced over some one will get hurt. In the hands of the liquor crowd when that bunch was in the saddle it was an excellent club to force reluctant upstate members into line. The railroads even used it and more than one thrashed anti-measure was put to sleep with the proposed tax as the sandman. Former Representative Congdon, the millionaire member from Duluth, was so long in finding out this fact and since his retirement, it is said, his whole time has been given over to getting even and allowing his successors in office that it is about time R. Louis county took on some Independence. "Swat the bunch," they say, is his advice.

+ + +

Speaking of Mr. Congdon, who according to reports is so rich he can hardly find places to reinvest his income, there is many a man around here that he wants to see go to the United States senate as a successor to Moses Clapp. His wealth is naturally against him, but this obstacle he hopes to overcome by demonstrating to the people that if he is wealthy he is all the better equipped for his fight against those interests which has set out to throttle. The Duluth man, it is said, put considerable money into the last campaign and that in each instance the investment was for the purpose of putting out of business those interests which is firmly believed controlled the last legislature. He came out flat against Governor Eberhart and he made open warfare on the liquor crowd, which he and two friends stepped reapportionment. The election of a successor to Senator Clapp, however, is four years off and a lot of things can happen in that time. Former Governor Eberhart says: "They say he is anxious to represent the state at Washington.

+ + +

The blemish county option bill has got into the legislative mill and is coming. The proposed measure is being drafted now and will probably be offered by Representative Vezlund of Kanyon, the lone Prohibitionist member of the house. It has a steady introduced anti-liquor bills designed to keep liquor off state property and prohibit its sale within a mile of the university or any military reservation. This bill was introduced for the purpose of wiping out the saloons which practically hem in every gate of Pyle Snalling. A bill to prevent liquor shipments into dry territory is also on the house calendar.

+ + +

It is hardly likely that county option will get through the house, though it will get a respectable vote. It is practically dead in the senate and many will be compelled to vote for it for policy sake and to appease an element in the state which is so fanatical that it would be willing to put Anti-Saloon league, which formally and its lobbyist right on the floor of the senate to look after proceedings. But its absence this time and this fact in a manner is responsible for the lack of interest shown, but, as I said, this bill's coming and it will be reported out by the temperance committee. Some drastic anti-liquor legislation along other lines is going to be attempted, but how far it will get remains to be seen. Whether the house is known progressive all kinds of dire things in this line have been predicted, but so far it has been evident that would indicate its intention to set the state on fire.

+ + +

Last week's Washington news letter from the report of the conference committee which has been investigating the White Earth Indian reservation land and Indian department scandals and if the shocking things told by those who testified before the committee are not bring about some reforms then it is up to the president to interfere. The disgraceful showing about it all is that several Minnesotans high up politically are implicated, or were involved. Dar Hall, formerly a member of the state senate was a prominent land agent for years, is scored, and so is Simon Michelet, at one time Indian agent and said to be a big factor in palgns in behalf of the present Republican administration. Michelet calls it all rot, but it is not the first time that he has been under the fire of congressional loose tongues in connection with the administration of Indian affairs, due largely to the reports the Indians were robbed right and left by the white men because many of them were unable to call down the line. In every case the Indian got the worst of it.

+ + +

That the White Earth Indian scandal will be investigated to the limit is due to figure considerably in the political ambitions several in Minnesota. So is more than likely. Congressman Steenerson of the Ninth district and United States Senator Clapp have been drawn into the game. In fact Iowa approved by Gov. Carroll has come to the disposal of the timber and lands belonging to the Indians are charged as being in a measure responsible for present conditions. Senator Clapp's connection with the legislation now so vigorously denounced by the house committee is another row. He comes in past campaigns heads frequent threats to "put him" by showing up conditions brought about by the Clapp Indian measures, but nothing came of it. Popular opinion, which was keen with the senator, howled down all such attempts, while those who protested refused any help, though politically they were against him.

+ + +

If woman suffrage does not get by this session it will not be the fault of the women in charge. Ever since the opening of the two branches of the legislature the members have been bombarded with letters and petitions asking support. To this has been added personal visits by the ladies. That the Democrats will put up a united front against the bill is more than probable. The various corporate interests are also against it. The amendment fails to pass it will do one thing, and that is make the initiative and referendum possible. The liquor interests of the state, it is said, have announced that they will not make any fight on the latter, as they believe it is bound to come, and their only interest is in seeing that the percentage in each is not too low.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

(Continued from page 7.)

29928	Charles Bolsvert, treasurer Dist. No. 79	134.85
		$54,192.81

TOWN, CITY AND VILLAGE FUND.

No. of Warrant	To Whom For What Issued	Purpose	Am't.
21832	Mirchaats State Bank, R. L. F., ist on R. R. bonds, town of Gervais		15.20
21891	Mercantile State Bank, R. L. F., ist on R. R. bonds, Red Lake Falls twp.		60.00
21892	Clerk of Minnesota, insurance Hospital		5.00
22083	Andrew Trovatten, treasurer		2405.20
22030	Washington County, treasurer		3.5
22091	Andrew Trovatten, treasurer		29.87
22092	Pennington County, treasurer		172.53
22093	John G. Iverson, treasurer of Equality twp.		606.26
22094	Oswald Hasby, treasurer of Gervais twp.		349.44
22095	Gervais Co. Dry, treasurer		119.61
22096	Wm. Schaper, treasurer of Lake Pleasant twp.		146.60
22097	Louis Fulardeau, treasurer of Lambert twp.		243.41
22098	Louis Voss, treasurer of Louisville twp.		245.59
22099	P. E. Smidseng treasurer of Poplar River twp.		14.37
22100	Emil Gieske, treasurer of Poplar River twp.		228.86
22101	Chas. Bergeron, treasurer of Agder twp.		29.87
22102	Andrew Mortenson, treasurer of Huntsville twp.		22.04
22103	E. C. Cadieux, treasurer of Red Lake Falls twp.		262.98
22104	Fred Hoffman, treasurer of Plummer Vill.		388.66
22105	Red Lake Falls City treasurer		2157.07
22106	Marchants State Bank, R. L. F., ist on R. R. bonds, Red Lake Falls twp.		120.00
22107	Marchants State Bank, R. L. F., ist on R. R. bonds, Brooks twp.		60.00
22108	Henry Stiggs, treasurer of Browns Creek twp.		159.59
22109	Geo. G. Nelson, treasurer of Emardville twp.		405.26
22110	Chas. Bell, treasurer of Gervais twp.		227.07
22111	Ingvald Husby, treasurer of Diamond twp.		320.20
22112	Walter J. Smith, State treasurer of Red Lake Falls twp.		682.76
22113	Lake Agassiz Bank, Silver E. Sidstad; Mathias E. Solelstad; Hans O. Pederson; Mathilda O. Pederson; Anton O. Pederson; Ellen O. Pedersen, attorney Pederson, all persons interested in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent		96.00
22114	Petition of Feder E. Smidseang, as representative of the above named deceased, being duly filed in this court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and of all interested therein that certain lands of, said decedent described therein be sold and praying that a license be to said Feder E. Smidseang, granted to sell the same.)
22115	Now, Therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of February, 1913, at 2 o'clock p. m., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.		5.00
22116	Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said court, this 17th day of January, 1913.		30.00
22117	JOSEPH PERRAULT, Judge of Probate Court.		30.00
22118	(Probate Court Seal.)		30.00
22119	FRED L. FARLEY, Esq.,		30.00
22120	Attorney for Petitioner.		30.00
22121	Marchants State Bank, R. L. F., ist on R. R. bonds, Red Lake Falls twp.		60.00
22122	Marchants State Bank, R. L. F., ist on R. R. bonds, Brooks twp.		30.00
22123	Henry Stiggs, treasurer of Browns Creek twp.		14.25
22124	Geo. Gieske, treasurer of Gervais twp.		14.25
22125	Chas. Bell, treasurer of Gervais twp.		20.25
22126	Ingvald Husby, treasurer of Diamond twp.		28.50
22127	Red Lake Falls City		60.20
22128	Geo. G. Gry, treasurer of Emardville twp.		20.85
22129	Geo. G. Gry, treasurer of Emardville twp.		122.33
22130	Lake Pleasant twp.		451.76
22131	Andrew Trovatten, treasurer of Lambert twp.		525.18
22132	Louis Voss, treasurer of Louisville twp.		241.13
22133	Cyrille Lussier, treasurer of Poplar River twp.		29.58
22134	John Lisenby, treasurer of Plummer Vill.		14.25
22135	Andrew Trovatten, Co. Treasurer		29.87
22136	P. E. Smidseang, treasurer of Poplar River twp.		245.00
		$25000.72

ASSESSED VALUATION OF RED LAKE COUNTY FOR YEAR 1912.

Real Estate	$2,258,262.00
Personal property non exempt Tions	244,999.00
Total	$2,503,261.00

INVENTORY OF COUNTY PROPERTY.

Lots 1, 2, 3, 10, 11, 12 and 13, 4, Block 1, of Lafayette's Addition	$1,500.00
Church Lot in the Original Township of Red Lake Falls Minnesota, including Court House and Jail	6,000.00
Personal property includes furniture and fixtures	6,000.00
Total	$50,500.00

Bonded Debt of Red Lake County.

5 per cent Jail Bonds	$ 5,000.00
5 per cent Building Bonds	25,000.00
5 per cent Refunding Bonds	15,000.00
5 per cent Refunding Bonds	10,000.00
Court House Bond Issue	70,000.00
Special Poor County Bond	3,333.33
Total	$128,333.33

Amount to be paid by Pennington County as its proportionate share of the Bonded debt at the time of division as determined by the Commissioners appointed by the Court

Lake and Pennington Counties	$20,566.60
Amount to be paid by Red Lake County	78,672.63
Total	$99,239.23

RED LAKE COUNTY DRAINAGE BONDS.

Amount of Drainage Bonds assumed by Red Lakes county	$70,861.57
Amount of drainage bonds assumed by Pennington County, formerly part of Red Lake County, Minne.	114,818.45
Total issue outstanding	$184,680.02

The foregoing statement prepared by the County Auditor, is approved by the Board and respectfully submitted to the tax payers of Red Lake County, Minnesota.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, this 7th day of January, A. D. 1913.

SAM E. HUNT, Chairman.
ANDREW HANSON,
JOSEPH PIGEON,
HERMAN SCHULTZ,
A. C. CADIEUX,
Board of County Commissioners.
(SEAL.) Red Lake County, Minnesota.
Attest: A. LATENDRESSE,
County Auditor.

An Absolutely Pure Flour

It's all the wheat that's fit to eat

Always Unifor

MASCOT!

For Sale by Gr

NUF SED

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.

Stickney Gasoline Engines
ARE THE BEST

No. 91

Be Progressive

A man can thrash his grain with a flail—
But time counts and money is made by machinery.
You can do your work without a Stickney

Gasoline Engine—But it will cost you time and money.

Joseph Helm Estate

EXCLUSIVE AGENT

Joseph Helm Estate — Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage or Lease Land.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Ole E. Solelstad, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Mathea S. Amundsen; Ellie S. Smidseang; Peter S. Smidseang; Silver E. Sidstad; Mathias E. Solelstad; Hans O. Pederson; Mathilda O. Pederson; Anton O. Pederson; Ellen O. Pedersen, attorney Pederson, all persons interested in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent:

Petition of Feder E. Smidseang, as representative of the above named deceased, being duly filed in this court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and of all interested therein that certain lands of, said decedent described therein be sold and praying that a license be to said Feder E. Smidseang, granted to sell the same.)

Now, Therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 14th day of February, 1913, at 2 o'clock p. m., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said court, this 17th day of January, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.

(Probate Court Seal.)

FRED L. FARLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner. 123-6t

Citation for Hearing on Final Account and Petition for Distribution.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of John Nimegeern, deceased.

The State of Minnesota to all persons interested in the above entitled matter:

Whereas, Nicholas Nimegeern, has filed in this court his final account of his administration of the estate of the above named deceased, together with his petition praying for the adjustment and allowance of said final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled; It is ordered, that said petition be heard, and all persons interested in said matter he and appear before this court on the 16th day of February, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, at the City of Red Lake Falls, in said County, and then and there, or as soon thereafter as said matter can be heard, and said cause, if any they have, why said petition should not be granted; and it is ordered that this citation be served by the publication thereof in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper, according to law for three successive weeks.

Witness the Honorable, Joseph Perrault, Judge of said court, and the seal of said court, this 16th day of January, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.

(Probate Court Seal.)

FRED L. FARLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner. 123-6t

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Thos. Garceau, Deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Mary Garceau, Harry Garceau, Lawrence Garceau, Walter Garceau, Lewer Garceau, Lester Garceau, Hazle Garceau, Ethel Garceau, all persons interested in the absence and probate of the will of said deceased, Thos. Garceau, late of Red Lake County, Minnesota:

Petition having been filed in this court representing that Thos. Garceau, late a resident of Red Lake County, Minnesota, died testate on the 10th day of January, 1913, and that a last will and testament which is presented to this court for probate, and praying that said instrument be allowed as the last will and testament of said deceased, and that administration be granted to Joseph Helm, of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, or to some other New Therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited and required to appear before this court in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of February, 1913, at 2 o'clock p. m., of said day, then and there to show cause, if any you have, why said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said Court, this 25th day of January, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.

(SEAL)

FRED L. FARLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner. 123-3t

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Thos. Garceau, Deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Mary Garceau, Harry Garceau, Lawrence Garceau, Walter Garceau, Lewer Garceau, Lester Garceau, Hazle Garceau, Ethel Garceau, all persons interested in the absence and probate of the will of said deceased, Thos. Garceau, late of Red Lake County, Minnesota:

Petition having been filed in this court representing that Thos. Garceau, late a resident of Red Lake County, Minnesota, died testate on the 10th day of January, 1913, and that a last will and testament which is presented to this court for probate, and praying that said instrument be allowed as the last will and testament of said deceased, and that administration be granted to Joseph Helm, of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, or to some other New Therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited and required to appear before this court in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of February, 1913, at 2 o'clock p. m., of said day, then and there to show cause, if any you have, why said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said Court, this 25th day of January, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.

(SEAL)

FRED L. FARLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner. 123-3t

N. M. WATSON, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon:
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA
Office over First State Bank

J. C. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN KAYS BLOCK, RED LAKE FALLS
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store

F. T. BENOIT, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office over Brooks Hardware Co.
Brooks, - Minn.

FRED L. FARLEY
ATTORNEY AT LAW
LAW, LOANS, COLLECTIONS, INSURANCE
Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON
Attorney at Law
Oldest established practice in the city
Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City attorney
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota

LODGE DIRECTORY

Clearwater Lodge No. 131
INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS
Meets every Thursday evening.
A. L. RANCOURT, N. G. FRED L. FARLEY, R. S.

Good Faith Lodge No. 52
MODERN BROTHERHOOD OF AMERICA
Meets every Tuesday evening in Kays hall.
Visiting members welcome.

Red Lake Falls Camp No. 306
MODERN WOODMEN OF AMERICA
JAMES ERICKSON, Sovereign Commander
Meet Wednesday evenings closed week

Forfeited Tax Sale—Notice of Expiration of Redemption.

Office of County Auditor, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota.

In the matter of the Forfeited Tax Sale of Lands in said County and State.

To Whom It May Concern:

You are hereby notified that the following pieces or parcels of land, situated in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: Lots 7-8-9-10, Block 27 of Block 31, in addition to the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, were forfeited to the State for taxes for the year 1909, and that the undersigned is duly authorized to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes for said forfeited for the year A. D. 1909, for and County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, for taxes, penalty and costs for said year for sale, and no one bidding upon said offer, the same was declared to that the whole said pieces or parcels was subject to be sold, to-wit: the sum of sixty Thirty cents, the same was duly bid in by the State of Minnesota for the sum of

That thereafter, on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1912, the said pieces or parcels of land were then and there duly sold by the County Auditor of said County of Red Lake, to the County Auditor of said County, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, for the sum of Five Dollars and Thirty cents (the same being the amount of said Claim) and

That the certificate of sale for said forfeited taxes, penalty and costs was delivered by said County Auditor upon said sale to the purchaser thereof, and the purchaser thereof has presented the same to the holder thereof for the purpose of having said certificate of sale filed for redemption from said tax sale of said pieces or parcels of land, and

That the amount required to be paid by law to the day such redemption is made.

That the time for the redemption of said pieces or parcels of land from said forfeited tax sale will expire on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1913, and that after service of this notice the deed of sale of said pieces or parcels will be executed.

Witness my hand and seal of office this 27th day of November A. D., 1912.

A. A. LATENDRESSE,
Auditor, Red Lake County, Minnesota.
By J. E. Beaulieu, Deputy.

(SEAL)

14288

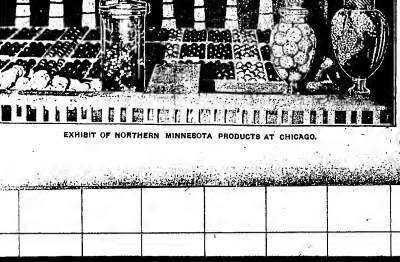

EXHIBIT OF NORTHERN MINNESOTA PRODUCTS AT CHICAGO.

5% INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS

IT IS NOT THE SIZE

of the account that determines your right to use this bank as a depository and pay by check.

We have watched many small accounts grow to large ones. As you prosper, your business with us will thrive. Your connection with this bank can be a great help toward business success.

Checking Accounts Invited

Merchants State Bank

Capital, Surplus and Deposits $300,000.00

RED LAKE FALLS, , , MINN.

Farm Loans at Low Rates

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY

MONEY MAKES MONEY

if planted in our bank. Keep in mind that we are a bank that does things. Every man can't get rich, but every man can save something. The only safe way to save money is by depositing it. When it jingles in your pocket you want to spend it. Your name would look well on our books. Call and let us put it there today.

FIRST STATE BANK

Red LaKe Falls, Minn.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

W. A. SCHREITER, Pres. — NOEL DELORME, Cashier
S. M. WATSON, Vice Pres. — A.A. LATENDRESSE, Asst. Cash.
JOSEPH PERRAULT — CHAS. N. BOURDON
C. O. KARREL — JOSEPH J. HELM

Safety Deposit Boxes for Rent.
We Pay 5 per cent on Time Deposits.

Comfort and Recreation

A Comfortable and Elegantly Furnished Place

Good billiard and pool tables
--Refreshing soft drinks--tea cream and confections--
Good smokes : : :

You will find all these at the

Rest Room Billiard Parlor

L. A. DUSTERHOFT, Prop.

Attend the Farmers' Institute at Red Lake Falls FEBRUARY 12 and 13, 1913

The Local Field

Frank Jeffers spent last week in the twin cities.

Dr. G. B. Fairchild spent Sunday with his parents in Grand Forks.

For Sale, Cheap—Pair of light bob sleighs.—John Techirhart.—Adv.

Miss Gertrude Hennemuth entertained the F. and F. B. last Thursday evening.

Editor Converse of the St. Hilaire Spectator spent Sunday with relatives in the city.

Frank Jeffers and Athany DePorge were at Thief River Falls between trains Tuesday.

Mrs. J. J. Dos has gone to St. Paul for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Spillane.

A. P. Toupin, register of the United States land office, was over from Crookston yesterday.

"Josie", the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Helin, is quite seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roi returned Monday from Grand Forks where they had been visiting with relatives. Misses Bonalin and Thelndin Roi accompanied them.

For Sale—Complete house moving outfit, the only one in Thief River Falls. Good location and good business. See Emil Sedlacek, Thief River Falls.—Adv.

The subject for Rev. David V. Richardson's morning sermon at the Presbyterian church will be "The Abundant Life"; for the evening, "Saved by Hope."

Iro C. Richardson returned from his south last Saturday, where he has spent port of the fall and winter. His health is slightly improved.—Thief River Falls Press-News.

Leon Huot, Jr., who is employed in a Crookston barber shop, arrived in the city Monday and drove to the home of his parents in Looselville to attend the wedding of his sister, Miss Rosa Huot, to Mr. Eugene Hamel which occurred Tuesday.

C. E. Peterson, who has been selling the Bluford (North Dakota) Times since leaving Red Lake Falls four years ago, has recently purchased the business and will go to Bluford in the future. Mr. Peterson's many friends in Red Lake Falls will wish him well in his business venture.

The women's Shop Course at the Agricultural School, Crookston, which will be held Feb. 10-21, will give particular attention to home decorations and furnishing, especially for homes where the means are small and every dollar has to go a long ways. The important subject of healthful conditions in the home will be discussed in a practical manner by an expert. It will be possible for the women to have a room in the dormitory during all or a part of the course. Some women come every year, showing how they value the course. For further particulars, address the school.

Miss Mary Bull of Minnesota Agricultural College, Miss Rosa Rowe of the Agricultural School, Crookston, and Miss Putnam of East Grand Forks, will have some very interesting classes and home household appliances, labor saving devices and home decorations. The women who come to the short course at the Agricultural School, Crookston, will have every chance to learn fully about these things. A postal card request to Miss Rowe or the Superintendent will bring you a catalog of the Short Course. The dates are February 10-21, 1913.

BROOKS

A. M. Berry left last Wednesday for Tracy to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. E. Berry of that place, who died Wednesday morning of heart failure. He will accompany the body to Campbellsport, Wis., for burial and will not return for a few weeks.

L. M. Berry is now serving as substitute carrier on Route No. 1, during the absence of the regular carrier, A. M. Berry.

John Cromwell is on the sick list at present.

Ovide Desautel and his sister drove to Red Lake Falls last Monday.

There was a surprise party at Mr. and Mrs. Philip Desautel's last Thursday night. Every one who attended the party reports a good time.

Joe Hebert is now visiting at his home near Brooks.

Willie Langlois and Misses Leah and Rose Langlois called at Mr. and Mrs. N. Rohidoux's last Sunday.

A party of young people enjoyed a good time at a party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Perrault last Saturday.

PLUMMER

Wolves are reported as being quite plentiful this year in this vicinity. Wolf tracks are more plentiful than in a number of years past and it is quite common to see one or more of them while passing along the road. Hunting has become quite a sport lately, altho the hunters state that it is quite difficult to get within shooting distance. Trapping is quite un successful as the wolves seem not hungry enough to pay much attention to bait.

Geo. Leimers, who resides near Rhoda, was up to Thief River Falls last week and while there closed a deal for the purchase of the Ogahmah Hotel, one of the big hotels of that city. Mr. Leimers expects to take possession at once and will close out all his stock, machinery and household goods at public auction on Saturday, Jan. 25. The many friends of the Leimers family wish them success in their venture and in their new home.—Pioneer.

Woman and Baba Stranded.

Mrs. Bannet and a three-year-old son is at the Palace today, stranded. She arrived from Winnipeg last night with her son, and states that after her arrival at the hotel she discovered that her purse containing money and some street car tickets was missing. She thinks she lost the purse either in the Winnipeg depot or that it was stolen from her there or shortly after she boarded the train. She states she had a $25 bill and a little loose change. She wants to get to Bagley where she says her father, Donald Bain, lives on a farm. Poor Commissioner Hughes will confer with her this afternoon and will probably send her on to Bagley.—Crookston Times.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Smith read us a short story from "The Unknown Quantity" Tuesday morning.

The "Lost Privileges" board had quite an honor roll Monday noon.

Our high school editor has appointed a new editor in his place for the week.

The manual training building will soon have a gasoline engine and some other machinery installed.

The Sophomore boys will soon be through with their blockmaking and will take up mechanical drawing instead.

The Journal Junior story-writing has stopped for the present.

There will be an Athenian program Friday of this week. An interesting debate will be one of the numbers. Theso debates are very exciting and are worth hurrying—and seeing.

Rev. Wyand, a student of the University of North Dakota, who held services in the Presbyterian church Sunday, visited the High School Monday morning and gave an interesting talk before dismissal.

The Juniors will begin the study of American History Tuesday.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

(Intended for last week.)

The Athenian Literary Society Tuesday morning for the benefit of those who wished to join, elected Gertrude the late Mr. Theo. Goreeon, who was a member of the school board.

Reporter's Note—Being Kindergarten school reporter, was absent a few days on sick leave, so pardon us if our notes are a little "shaky."

Niels Holm, Jr., and Carl Schmidt, have joined our ranks the second semester.

The literary work has set in in earnest, and our societies are working hard for the ship. Come to our programs and see the work we are doing.

Miss Myrtle Pelham entertained the Sunday school class, of which she is a member, and her friends last evening in the window—and everybody was having a good time; but there was only room for one on the porch, so he was forced to sorrowfully take himself away.

An exciting debate on "The Presence of Country Life Schools" also was won last Friday by the Athenians.

The dance given by the Junior band last Friday was quite a "Junior affair," many high school students attending.

The Juniors are talking about giving a dance to their friends in the Senior banquet.

The next literary program will be given by the Athenians, Friday, Jan. 17th. There will be another debate about whether president's have two four-year terms or one six-year term with the accusers.

Miss Thomas, "Antonette, how long did Carthage last?"

Antonette (promptly) "Seventeen years!"

Last Thursday we had another discussion of current topics.

We planned Hopeless Varia at the programs last Friday. Whether 40's go, Bing?

John has some queer abbreviating in chemistry—such as "solute" for "dilute"; and "roubiduus" for "resilue."

The reporters seemingly have not yet "worked" Shakespeare only one seat in his news this week.

DAIRY RECORD BULLETIN ISSUED

FORTY-THREE THOUSAND COPIES SENT FROM UNIVERSITY FARM —GET YOURS?

Extension Bulletin 29 on the Keeping of Dairy Cow Records has just been mailed to over forty thousand Minnesota farmers. The bulletin tells us that cows from herds in which careful records are kept and some attention is given to selection and breeding, an average production of from five to eight thousand pounds of milk and from two to three hundred pounds of butter fat per year may be secured. But it is estimated that the average Minnesota cow produces only about four hundred pounds of milk and a hundred and fifty pounds of butter fat per year. They believe that this average could be increased by at least 50 per cent by simply weeding out the unprofitable cows of each herd after keeping careful and accurate milk records and cite from their own experience the value of the milk scale keeping such records.

Suggestions for feeding the butter fat test and keeping a monthly and annual individual cow record with test and butter produced and feed consumed accompany simple, easily understood blanks for keeping these records. The blank forms are approved by the University Farm, the state's Department of Agriculture, the State Dairymen's Association, the State Dairy and Food Department, and the State Creamery Association. The bulletin should be in the hands of every man who keeps a cow, if you have not received a copy write for it today. If you ask, your name will be placed on a list to receive other numbers of the Farmers' Library covering a wide range of agricultural subjects. Extension Division, University Farm, St. Paul.—J. C. Rankin, Editor, University Farm, St. Paul.

Farmers at Hazel Organized.

A very enthusiastic meeting was held at Hazel last Thursday to organize a Farmers' Elevator Company. A temporary organization was effected and stock to the amount of $1500 was subscribed for. A committee was appointed to make a thorough canvass among the farmers and from present indications there will be no difficulty in securing enough capital to erect a modern up-to-date elevator this coming spring. Another meeting will be held in the near future to make the financial arrangements and perfect the organization.—Thief River Press-News.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the city Council held at the office of the City Clerk, January 2nd, 1913.

Meeting called to order by Vice-President Hamilngs.

Members all present except Crompe.

Minutes of previous meeting were read, and approved.

On motion carried the following bills were allowed:—

A. F. Lambert, drayage . . .	$ 3.75
Jako Bieff, hauling firs engine fire of Nov. 29 . . .	5.00
John Drier, street work and work on city well . . .	6.35
Joe Cottrell, work on City well . . .	1.25

On motion meeting adjourned to January 10th, 1912 at 7:30 o'clock, P. M.

T. A. CROMPE, President.
Approved this 8th day of January, 1913.

I. LEMIEUX, Mayor.
Attest;—JOSEPH PERRAULT, City Clerk.

SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

Will Open at State University the First Day of February.

The School for Nurses of the University of Minnesota will enter another class of beginning students at the opening of the second semester February 1st, 1913. Women who are graduates of first-grade high schools or matriculants of colleges or the universities, who are between the ages of 20 and 35, and in good health are eligible as applicants for admission.

The School for Nurses, the first school under complete University control or a department of teaching, is thriving well; having entered the largest class in September that has been enrolled. Bulletins of information and blank applications for admission may be had of the Superintendent of the School for Nurses, University Hospitals.

UPS AND DOWNS.

Pilgrim Joe, Striving to Do Good, Is Unappreciated.

HE FINDS HIMSELF IN WRONG.

And Is Escorted From the Town of Get Away Quick by the Hilarious Populace—The Show Is a Frost, and He Is Out $60.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.]

LISTEN for my hand on the high ways.
I ask for my gayly painted wagon.
Come out to the gate to see me.
Have your money ready.
Ask for medical advice if you think you need it.

There is but one Pilgrim Joe.

As I shaded in the town of Last Chance for a few days while suffering the infliction of a carbuncle on my neck I received a letter from the mayor of the town of Get Away Quick, asking me to come over there as soon as I could and show my show of moving pictures and spending a large stock of Pilgrim pain alleviator. The aforesaid alleviator has now been before the public for many years, and is certain change, and the mayor seemed to freeze up on me. He had sincerely letter when an alderman suggested that I go to with him on a horse race and keep the town. I gave him a discouraging reply, and he left me with a threat on his lips. Then a third citizen approached me. He was a deputy sheriff, and he wanted me to ring in a tooth paste with my alleviator and beat the public and whack up with him. When I referred him to my superiors requisition for honesty he shook his fist under my nose and said I was an hypocrite and a fraud. The next landlord of the tavern inquired if I had brought along any loaded dice, and when I replied that I never dealt in such things he also called me names and hinted that I was a cuss who needed taking down a peg or two.

He Starts Something.

As the shades of evening gathered over the roofirees mod tumbled down into the street from the north end the tavern, and I set up my stand in the public square and announced the virtues of my Pilgrim pain alleviator. There wasn't a man in the crowd who could say that I was not honest and sincere, and I stood ready to produce any number of certificates, but I had no use. I never struck a town where they needed the alleviator more, but not a bottle would they buy. Among other things I assured them:

That if a man hadn't been left hanging too long the alleviator would restore him to life.

That heart disease gave way before it, and consumption took to flight as soon as it saw the yellow label.

That there never was a divorce case in a family using it.

That it had five times the estimation of comedy at one fifth the cost.

That a whole barrel of whisky don't contain the warrinoos of a single bottle.

But talk was useless, and when I found it so I asked the crowd to follow me to the hall where I was to exhibit my moving pictures. I waited to let them understand that I was not in the business for gain and thereby invite them. I announced that the show would be free to all, including wives and sons. This put some life into them, and they turned on behind. I opened the show by exhibiting a picture of the beef trust raising the price of liver 400 per cent. Wherever else that picture was shown the trust had been greeted with dismal groans, as showing the feelings of the masses. But in this business a man stood up and swung his hat and shouted:

"Harrah for the beef trust! Long may it wave! Let's have another 400 per cent raise!"

He was cheered for five minutes, during which several products of the vegetable kingdom were thrown my way. I then followed with a picture of Washington crossing the Delaware. When this spirited picture was exhibited in the town of Come Off one of the free American citizens sprung to their feet and cheered until five lengths of stovepipe fell clattering to the floor. During the excitement that followed some one shot my pocket of $7, but I did not lay it up against him. I then showed a picture of the last American citizen's patriotism is appealed to he will do most anything to show his desire to die for his country.

He Is a Frost.

In this instance the picture did not receive one single cheer, though I kept it in front of the audience for the entire time. The boys looked expressed the astonishment I felt the mayor got up and said:

"Move him along! G. Wash. is a back number! Give us something up to date!"

I did. I gave them the picture of the congressman found guilty on two trials of stealing government land out 300 miles from the nearest railroad, and finally succeeded in throwing it off, but later on I came to understand that it was a unwise that I would have done well to heed. I had sixteen entered the town of Get Away Quick when I was struck by a certain air of gourmet levity and recklessness. The mayor came forward to shoka hands with me, and while doing so he whispered in my ear:

"Old top, I've got it all fixed for you and me to be pards in a game of poker and clean up the town."

I replied that I never indulged in poker except when I felt that the heathen of Africa were short of small broke into laughter. I shorted her on freeze up on me. He had sincerely the when an alderman suggested that I go to with him on a horse race and keep the town. I gave him a discouraging reply, and he left me with a threat on his lips. Then a third citizen approached me. He was a deputy sheriff, and he wanted me to ring in a tooth paste with my alleviator and beat the public and whack up with him. When I referred him to my superiors requisition for honesty he shook his fist under my nose and said I was an hypocrite and a fraud. The next landlord of the tavern inquired if I had brought along any loaded dice, and when I replied that I never dealt in such things he also called me names and hinted that I was a cuss who needed taking down a peg or two.

He Starts Something.

As the shades of evening gathered over the roofirees mod tumbled down into the street from the north end the tavern, and I set up my stand in the public square and announced the virtues of my Pilgrim pain alleviator. There wasn't a man in the crowd who could say that I was not honest and sincere, and I stood ready to produce any number of certificates, but I had no use. I never struck a town where they needed the alleviator more, but not a bottle would they buy. Among other things I assured them:

That if a man hadn't been left hanging too long the alleviator would restore him to life.

That heart disease gave way before it, and consumption took to flight as soon as it saw the yellow label.

That there never was a divorce case in a family using it.

That it had five times the estimation of comedy at one fifth the cost.

That a whole barrel of whisky don't contain the warrinoos of a single bottle.

But talk was useless, and when I found it so I asked the crowd to follow me to the hall where I was to exhibit my moving pictures. I waited to let them understand that I was not in the business for gain and thereby invite them. I announced that the show would be free to all, including wives and sons. This put some life into them, and they turned on behind. I opened the show by exhibiting a picture of the beef trust raising the price of liver 400 per cent. Wherever else that picture was shown the trust had been greeted with dismal groans, as showing the feelings of the masses. But in this business a man stood up and swung his hat and shouted:

"Harrah for the beef trust! Long may it wave! Let's have another 400 per cent raise!"

He was cheered for five minutes, during which several products of the vegetable kingdom were thrown my way. I then followed with a picture of Washington crossing the Delaware. When this spirited picture was exhibited in the town of Come Off one of the free American citizens sprung to their feet and cheered until five lengths of stovepipe fell clattering to the floor. During the excitement that followed some one shot my pocket of $7, but I did not lay it up against him. I then showed a picture of the last American citizen's patriotism is appealed to he will do most anything to show his desire to die for his country.

He Is a Frost.

In this instance the picture did not receive one single cheer, though I kept it in front of the audience for the entire time. The boys looked expressed the astonishment I felt the mayor got up and said:

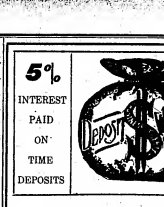
"Move him along! G. Wash. is a back number! Give us something up to date!"

I did. I gave them the picture of the congressman found guilty on two trials of stealing government land out 300 miles from the nearest railroad, and finally succeeded in throwing it off, but later on I came to understand that it was a unwise that I would have done well to heed. I had sixteen entered the town of Get Away Quick when I was struck by a certain air of gourmet levity and recklessness. The mayor came forward to shoka hands with me, and while doing so he whispered in my ear:

"Old top, I've got it all fixed for you and me to be pards in a game of poker and clean up the town."

I replied that I never indulged in poker except when I felt that the heathen of Africa were short of small

5% INTEREST PAID ON TIME DEPOSITS



5% INTEREST PAID ON TIME DEPOSITS

We offer you a strong and well equipped bank in which to deposit your money.

We are under the supervision and control of the United States Government. This should also be a inducement for you to Deposit your Money with the Farmers National Bank.

All business entrusted to us is treated strictly confidentially.

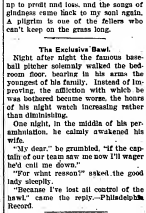
We want you to feel free to come in and talk over business matters at all times.

FARMERS NATIONAL BANK

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Farm Loans Closed Promptly.

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY



"HE SAID I WAS A PRAIN."

and sometimes I am sure he knows it, all, but I cannot let this opportunity pass without saying that:

It is a comfort to be despondency.

Two doses cure the earache.

It acts like magic on disappointed love.

One bottle will assuage the deepest sorrow.

If your wife has stooped the alleviating habit take one of it.

It cures ingrowing toe nails and painful corns on the heel.

Thousands of people who were standing on the verge of the grave have looked back and come on twelve to 200 pounds by investing in a single bottle.

The Joy Returns.

Whenever and wherever you find a man without seeing my alleviator you need ask no further references. He is reposed to hell do most anything to show his desire to die for his country.

He Is a Frost.

In this instance the picture did not receive one single cheer, though I kept it in front of the audience for the entire time. The boys looked expressed the astonishment I felt the mayor got up and said:

"Move him along! G. Wash. is a back number! Give us something up to date!"

I did. I gave them the picture of the congressman found guilty on two trials of stealing government land out 300 miles from the nearest railroad, and finally succeeded in throwing it off, but later on I came to understand that it was a unwise that I would have done well to heed. I had sixteen entered the town of Get Away Quick when I was struck by a certain air of gourmet levity and recklessness. The mayor came forward to shoka hands with me, and while doing so he whispered in my ear:

"Old top, I've got it all fixed for you and me to be pards in a game of poker and clean up the town."

I replied that I never indulged in poker except when I felt that the

What He Had Done.

The Salesman — Have you looked over the samples I left with you?

The Merchant — No; I overlooked them.—Chicago Record.

Tardy.

Ethel, aged three, had been to visit her cousins, two fun loving and romping boys. She had attended open her father's knee and was telling him of the visit. "Papa, every night when John and George say their prayers they are glad to make their good bock," said she. "That is nice," said papa. Then, thinking soberly for a few minutes, she said. "He ain't done it yet."—Sedgwick Pantagraph.

A College Secret.

Reece—What did your boy learn at college?

Egbert—Says he can't tell me.

Reece—Why not?

Egbert—Says it's a secret.

Reece—Nonsense!

Egbert—No. You know, he learned the football signals.—Yonkers Statesman.

A College Secret.

Reece—What did your boy learn at college?

Egbert—Says he can't tell me.

Reece—Why not?

Egbert—Says it's a secret.

Reece—Nonsense!

Egbert—No. You know, he learned the football signals.—Yonkers Statesman.

KEZIAH COFFIN

by

Joseph C. Lincoln

Author of

Cy Whittaker's Place

Capt. Eri, Etc.

Illustrations by Ellsworth Young

Copyright, 1907, by D. Appleton & Company

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow of pirate, is cast ashore on Nantucket Island, following the death of her husband, for whom she had kept house. Kezia Prince, milkmaid, pities the woman and befriends her. Mrs. Coffin is visited by the lawyer of the Regular church offering Kezia a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain. Mrs. Coffin's past is investigated by Capt. Obed Kelley. The new minister, and Kezia's suitor, begin to be conduct toward members of the parish. Kelley causes a sensation by attending a "dame-party" given by Mrs. Coffin, which is broken up by the arrival of Lieut. Richard Sparrow, the revenue officer. Grace apologizes for her conduct and Kelley openly declares his love for her. Capt. Nat Hammond, the father of Grace, returns from a voyage to the Pacific and Kelley openly brags of his success in his conduct toward Grace. Nat, in response to a demand, has a conference with Mrs. Coffin, in the course of which he tells her that Capt. Obed Kelley is Keziah Coffin's husband, and says that they have been known almost a year. Mrs. Coffin's reason for attending the dame-party was to get Kelley to propose to her in this and is enraged by his failure to do so. Nat, who has become friendly Grace while walking in the fields, and learns that she has been meeting Kelley secretly, tells him that he has been disobeying orders in the matter. Annabel, the "mulatto" daughter, earns Kezia's admiration on him. She receives a letter from Nat and Grace, telling of their elopement. Keziah breaks the news to Kelley and later is visited by Nat, who tells her that he has married Grace and asking her to come to see her again. Keziah tells the story of her own marriage, after which Nat turned out to be a good for-nothing, and who was reported to have been killed at sea, and of her love for Nat, whom she cannot marry because the husband is alive. Captain Nat sails for Manila on his second voyage. He says he and Grace have decided not to marry until he returns.

CHAPTER XIV.—(Continued.)

"From him," she said. "His wanted money, of course; he always does. But that won't the worst. The letter was from England, and in it he wrote that he was gettin sick of knockin' around and guessed he'd be for comin' to the States pretty soon and huntin' me up. Said what was the use of havin' an able-bodied wife if she couldn't give her husband a home."

"The scoundrel!"

"Yes, I know what he is, maybe full as well as you do. That's why I spoke of leavin' you if that was comin' true. Trumet, I'll go, sure as death."

She hurried out of the room. Later, as the minister passed through the dining room on his way to the door, she spoke to him again.

"John," she said, "I didn't say what I meant to when I broke in on you just now. I meant to tell you about Grace. I know you'd like to know and wouldn't ask. She's goin' away, Gracie is."

"Going away?"

"Yup. She's goin' to stay with a relation of the Hammonds over in Connecticut for a spell. I coaxed her into it. Harsh's here at home ain't helpin' suspense and with Hannah Poundher's'e tongue droppin' lamentations like acrests out of a cone shell, it's enough to kill a healthy batch of kittens with also three apiece."

Silbery took his hat from the peg and opened the door. His foot was on the step when Keziah spoke again.

"She—it don't mean anithin', John, except that she ain't so hard-hearted as maybe you might think—she's asked me about you 'most every day since I've been there. She told me to take good care of you."

Silbery was thinking deeply as he walked up the main road on his way to Mrs. Prince's house. His eyes were regarding themselves over and over in his brain. She had asked about him. She had not forgotten him altogether. Mrs. Prince was very glad to see him. He found her in the big easy chair with the quilted back and the perplexing "design at each side of her head. She was wrapped in a "Rising Sun" quilt which was a patchwork story of red and crimson. A young girl, a neighbor, who was apparently acting in the dual capacity of nurse and housekeeper, admitted him to the old kitchen presence. Mrs. Prince's good spirits were in short duration. Her conversation soon shifted to the loss of her son and daughter, using the corner of the quilt to wipe away her tears. "Eddie" had been her "baby" and, as she said, it was hard to believe what folks told her, that he was in the good Lord's will, and therefore all for the best.

"And there's Nat Hommond," continued Mrs. Prince. "A fine man—no better anywhere, even though they do further was a Cune-Outer—just goin' to be married and all—and then to be all drowned—why? Why was that necessary?

Silbery could not reply. The old lady did not wait for him to do so. The mention of Captain Nat's name reminded her of other things.

"Poor Gracie!" she said. "It's turrible hard on her. I went down to see her two or three times afore I was took down with this cold. She's been an awful nice girl. Land sakes alive! talk about angels! I s'pose I ain't comin' up the road this blessed minute."

John Silbery had risen. Now he seized his hat and moved hastily toward the door. Mrs. Prince called to him to remain, but he would not. However, her good-bye detained him for a minute, and before he reached the yard gate Gracie was opening it. They were face to face for the first time since they had parted in the grove, so many months before.

She was thinner and paler, he saw that. And dressed very plainly in plain. She looked at him, as he stood before her in the path, and her cheeks flushed and her eyes fell.

"Er—John Yen Hommond," he stammered, "I merely wanted to tell you how deeply I—we all feel for you in your trouble. I—I—I am so sorry. I have heard so much of the captain from—"

"From Aunt Keziah? Yes, she was Nat's warmest friend."

"I know. Er—Mrs. Coffin tells me you are going away. I hope you may hear good news and soon. I shall think of you—of him—I want you to understand that I shall."

She held out her hand and he took it. He knew that she was trembling, but so, too, was here. The hands fell apart. Grace entered the house and John Silbery went out at the gate.

CHAPTER XV.

In Which the Minister Boards the San Jose.

"Hey, Mr. Silbery!"

It was Captain Zeb Mayo who was calling. The captain sat in his antique buggy, which, like the antique white horse, and was hailing the personage through a speaking trumpet formed by holding both his big hands before his mouth.

The minister and Mrs. Coffin, the former with a napkin in his hand, had emerged from the front door of the parsonage and now came hurrying down to the gate.

"Land o' Goshen!" exclaimed the captain, "you don't mean to tell me that you've been eatin' dinner at this hour, after seven o'clock. Why, Mr. Silbery, I'm ashamed of you. Keziah, you're a bad provider, stepped up to our house a few minutes ago. He's just come down from the mainline over the hollands by the light—where the wreck was, you know—and he says there's a nice morphrodite brig anchored three or four miles out and she's fixin' colors bright aboard and union down. They're gettin' a boat's crew together to go off and see what's the matter. I'm goin' in drive over and I thought may be you'd like to go along."

A moment later the minister, having donned his hat and coat, was down the walk and climbed into the chaise beside Captain Zeb. The white horse, attempted into cruelty, started off at a rapid stepping of the reins and roars to "Get under way!" and "Cast aft!" moved along the sandy lane.

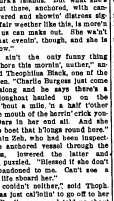
They found a group on the beach. Two fishermen, one or two lobster-men and wreckers, and the lighthouse-keeper gathered on the knoll by the lighthouse. They had a spyglass, and the spyglass' property was ready for launching.

"Where is she, Noah?" asked Captain Zeb of the lighthouse-keeper.

"She's a brigantine, Zeb," observed the keeper, handing him the spyglass. "And flyin' the British colors. Look's if she might be one of them salt hoats from Turk's Islands. But what she's doin' out there, anchored, with canvas lowered and showin' colors so's to fair weather like this, is more'n any soy of a man can tell. I'm glad you've come, 'cause that's what I'm for, to find out what's the matter."

Captain Zeb, who had been inspecting the anchored vessel through the spyglass, shook his head. Evidently he seemed puzzled. "Blessed if she don't look deserted to me," he said. "Can't see a sign of life aboard her."

"She couldn't neither," said Thoph. "We've had a lot callin' to go off to her when Charlie come and told us about the longboat. I guess likely we can go



"She Ain't So Hard-Hearted as Maybe You Might Think."

now; it's pretty nigh smooth as a pond. You'll take an oar, won't you, Mr. Silbery?"

"I can't leave the light very well. My wife went over to the village last night. You and Charlie and Bill go along, Zeb?"

"No, I'll stay here, I guess. The old lady made me promise to keep my foot dry since I left the house."

"You want to go, Mr. Silbery? Lots of room."

The minister was tempted. The sea always had a fascination for him and the mystery of the strange ship was appealing.

"Why, I won't be in the way?"

"No, no! 'course you won't," said Burgess. "Come right along. You and Thoph and Bill'll row. That'll be enough for one day. If we need more, we'll signal. Heave ahead."

The stationman, who was staring hard in the direction they were going, scowled.

"Humph!" he grunted again. "I swan to man, fellars, I believe she's abandoned!"

"Bubbish!" panted Bill, twisting his neck to look over his shoulder. "Course she ain't! Who'd abandon a craft such weather's this, and Provincetown harbor only three hours' run or so!"

The rowers "bit her up" and the dory moved faster. Then Burgess, putting his hand to his mouth, hailed.

"Ship ahoy!" he roared. "Ahoy!"

No reply.

The dory slackened speed, turned its obedience to the steering oar, and slid under the forequarter of the anchored vessel. Silbery, looking up, saw her name in battered gilt letters above the bluff-cut bow.

"Stand by, Thoph!" shouted Charlie. "Spose you can jump and grab her forechains? Hold her steady, Bill. Now, Thoph! That's the time!"

Thoph had jumped, seized the cholsa, and was scrambling aboard. A moment later he appeared at the rail, swindelips, a rope in his hand. The dory was brought alongside and made fast; then one after the other the men in the boat climbed to the brig's deck.

"Ahoy!" yelled Burgess. "All hands on deck! tumble up, you lubbers! Humph! She is abandoned, sure and s'artin."

"Yup," asserted Bill. "Her hoats are gone. See? Guess that explains the longboat on the beach, Charlie."

"Call'ate it does; but it don't explain why they left her. She ain't leakin' none to speak of, that's sure. Hilden's light's a feather. Christmas! look at them decks; dirty hogs, what you call 'em!"

Thoph led the way aft. The cabin companion door was open and they peered down.

"Hello!" sniffed Burgess. "She ain't no cologne bottle, is she! Well, come on below and let's see what'll we see!"

"Is the cabin dark?" inquired Thoph, expressed it. The floor was covered with scattered heaps of riff-raff—fish skins, coats, empty bottles, and pipes. On the table a box stood, its lidpiped fid thrown back.

"Medicine chest," said Burgess, examining it. "Nothin' in it, though. Somebody's been sick, I shouldn't won der after—"

The minister opened the door of one of the little staterooms. The light shone through the dirty port and lightly closed "built-eye" window and revealed a bunk, with a mattress soiled and streaked. The smell was stifling.

"Fetch fellers," whispered Thoph, "I don't like this much myself. I'm for gettin' on deck where the air's better." Somethin's happened aboard this craft, somethin' serious."

Charlie and Bill nodded an emphatic affirmative.

"Let's get another look about it little more!" asked Silbery. "There's another stateroom there."

He opened the door of it as he spoke. It was, if possible, in a worse condition than the first. And the odor was even more overpowering.

"Humph!" grunted Burgess, peeping in. "And that bunk ain't been slept in for weeks. See the mildew on the mattress! Phew! I'm fair sick to my stomach. Come out of this."

On deck, in the sunlight, they held another consultation.

"Somethin' pretty serious ever I see," observed Charlie. I never—"

"I see somethin' like it once," interrupted Bill. "Down in the Gulf 'twas I was on the old Fishhawk. Eben Elkins' dad from over to Bayport skipped her. We picked up a West Indy schooner, abandoned, and found exactly as this one, but not anchored, of course. Yeller jack was the trouble on her, sure-ed— What's the longboat, Thoph?"

"Didn't take a squint at the fo'castle," replied Theophilus, moving forward. The minister followed him.

The fo'castle hatchway was black and grim. Ellery knelt and peered down. The sunlight penetrated but little light at all and the air was fouler than that in the cabin.

"Not anything, Mr. Silbery!" asked Thoph, looking over his shoulder.

"No, I don't see anything. But I thought—"

He seemed to be listening.

"What did you think?" he asked.

"Nothing, I—"

"Thought you ain't goin' down there, be you? I wouldn't. No tellin' what you might find. Well, all right, I'll go."

He stepped to the ladder, and Thoph, looking over his shoulder, saw that he was going.

"Come back!" he shouted. "Don't you do it! Don't you go down there!"

But Ellery, looking up, saw only a face, white and terrified, framed in the hatchway. Then Burgess, putting his hand to his mouth, hailed.

"Ship ahoy!" he roared. "Ahoy!"

No reply.

The dory slackened speed, turned its obedience to the steering oar, and slid under the forequarter of the anchored vessel. Ellery, looking up, saw her name in battered gilt letters above the bluff-cut bow.

"Stand by, Thoph!" shouted Charlie. "Spose you can jump and grab her forechains? Hold her steady, Bill. Now, Thoph! That's the time!"

Thoph had jumped, seized the cholsa, and was scrambling aboard. A moment later he appeared at the rail, swindelips, a rope in his hand. The dory was brought alongside and made fast; then one after the other the men in the boat climbed to the brig's deck.

"Ahoy!" yelled Burgess. "All hands on deck! tumble up, you lubbers! Humph! She is abandoned, sure and s'artin."

"Yup," asserted Bill. "Her hoats are gone. See? Guess that explains the longboat on the beach, Charlie."

"Call'ate it does; but it don't explain why they left her. She ain't leakin' none to speak of, that's sure. Hilden's light's a feather. Christmas! look at them decks; dirty hogs, what you call 'em!"

Thoph led the way aft. The cabin companion door was open and they peered down.

"Hello!" sniffed Burgess. "She ain't no cologne bottle, is she! Well, come on below and let's see what'll we see!"

"Is the cabin dark?" inquired Thoph, expressed it. The floor was covered with scattered heaps of riff-raff—fish skins, coats, empty bottles, and pipes. On the table a box stood, its lidpiped fid thrown back.

"Medicine chest," said Burgess, examining it. "Nothin' in it, though. Somebody's been sick, I shouldn't won der after—"

The minister opened the door of one of the little staterooms. The light shone through the dirty port and lightly closed "built-eye" window and revealed a bunk, with a mattress soiled and streaked. The smell was stifling.

"Fetch fellers," whispered Thoph, "I don't like this much myself. I'm for gettin' on deck where the air's better. Somethin's happened aboard this craft, somethin' serious."

Charlie and Bill nodded an emphatic affirmative.

"Let's get another look about it little more!" asked Ell

(Continued from page 2.)

...

COUNTY ROAD AND BRIDGE FUND.

Receipts.

Credit balance, January 2nd, 1912	$3338.28
Tax collections	4162.52
Liens collected	500.00
Credit balance, Jan. 2nd, 1912	84.79
Total	$10,875.59

Disbursements.

Warrants issued	$10,647.92
Indemnity	1.25
To roll	226.42
	$10,875.59

County Road and Bride Fund.

No. of Warrant	To Whom For What Issued	Purpose	Am't.
2838	State of Minnesota		$ 2.00
2839	Township of Bellevue		1.40
2840	Township of Greenwood		1.40
2841	Township of Wells		434.66
2842	Township of Gerdenville		1,250.00
2843	Rudolph Hoss		2.80
2844	Fred Nutt Bank, Crookston		1,021.25
2845	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.		2.80
2846	State of Minnesota		2.80
2847	Township of Wylie		1,250.00
2848	H. H. Wilkinson		2.80
2849	Wm. St. Jean & Henry		2.80
	St. Hilaire		1,200.00
2850	Township of Fisher		1,400.00
2851	Village of Fisher		1,021.25
2852	Township of Huntsville		1,250.00
2853	W. W. Kinkel		2.80
2854	Sam H. Dunn		2.80
2855	Township of Lee		1,250.00
2856	Wm. Bowman		2.80
2857	Township of Grandville		1,250.00
2858	Township of Tabor		1,250.00
2859	Town of Norway		1,250.00
2860	Herman Schultz		2.80
2861	Township of Fresh Haven		1,400.00
2862	Township of Hickory		1,250.00
2863	William and Harvey Stiles		2.80
2864	John Isley		2.80
2865	Fred Wallner		2.80
2866	Louis Zoff		2.80
2867	Town of Louisville		1,250.00
2868	Town of Terrebonne		850.00
			$19057.42

COUNTY BOND & INTEREST FUND.

Receipts.

Credit balance, January 2nd, 1912	$1,128.20
Tax collections	4,047.92
Total	$10,784.26

Disbursements.

Warrants issued	$10,567.27
Indemnity	.39
Transferred to Court House and Jail Fund	250.00
Credit balance, January 2nd, 1913	166.60
Total	$10,784.26

County Bond and Interest Fund.

No. of Warrant	To Whom For What Issued	Purpose	Am't.
2870	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.		$ 10.00
2871	Nelson Tenney, Pres. Huntson County		1.60
2872	H. H. Wilkinson		2.10
2873	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.		173.95
2874	First State Bank, Ind Lake Falls		276.42
2875	The Pioneer Co.		1.00
2876	Fourth Nat'l Bank, R. L. P.		118.75
2877	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.		2.10
2878	Farmers Nat'l Bank, R. L. P.		17.10
2879	H. L. Sperry Co.		2.10
2880	W. M. Webb Mf. Co.		1.15
2881	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.		2.10
2882	Louis Peterson		2.10
2883	Security State Bank of St. Hilaire		1.50
2884	Farmers Nat'l Bank, R. L. P.		217.75
2885	Fourth Nat'l Bank, R. L. P.		2.10
	In F. G. Hendrickson		240.00
2886	Thos. G. Hendrickson		1.00
2887	Tax of Emardville		.76
2888	Security State Bank of St. Hilaire		2.10
2889	Walter J. Smith, Treasurer		1,000.00
2890	First State Bank, R. L. P.		309.00
2891	Fourth Nat'l Bank, R. L. P.		2.10
2892	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.		2.10
2893	Tax of Emardville		.76
2894	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.		2.10
	Total		$10569.77

INCIDENTAL FUND.

Receipts.

Credit balance, January 2nd, 1912	$ 41.86
Transferred from County Revenue Fund	100.00
Credit balance, Jan. 2nd, 1913	18.92
Total	$160.78

Disbursements.

Warrants issued	$156.78
Total	$160.78

Incidental Fund.

No. of Warrant	To Whom For What Issued	Purpose	Am't.
2894	A. Laterdresse, express charges and express		$ 1.10
2895	John Pellman, postage stamps		2.00
2896	Joseph Ferranti, postage stamps		5.00
2897	Joseph Ferranti, express and postage stamps		4.73
2898	W. W. Jackson, express and postage		6.00
2899	A. Laterdresse, express and postage		2.00
2900	Joseph Ferranti, postage stamps		6.00
2901	A. Laterdresse, express charges		1.00
2902	Chas. Pellman, envelopes		11.30
2903	A. Laterdresse, express and postage		2.00
2904	Chas. Pellman, postal cards		5.00
2905	A. Laterdresse, express charges		1.50
2906	P. Jeffers, postage stamps		10.00
2907	A. Laterdresse, express and misc. items		3.84
2908	A. Laterdresse, express, charges and express		2.50
2909	A. Laterdresse, postage and express		3.45
2910	A. Laterdresse, express charges		1.50
2911	A. Laterdresse, express and postage		2.00
2912	Chas. Pellman, envelopes for sheriff's office		3.00
			$160.78

PRIVATE REDEMPTION FUND.

Receipts.

Credit balance, January 2nd, 1912	$ 1,625.62
Redemptions	11,767.68
Total	$13,393.30

Disbursements.

Warrants issued	$12,491.83
Credit balance, January 2nd, 1913	901.47
Total	$13,393.30

Private Redemption Fund.

No. of Warrant	To Whom For What Issued	Purpose	Am't.
2913	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.		$ 10.00
2914	A. Vandervunt		14.45
2915	H. H. Wilkinson		143.16
2916	Peter Klein		7.37
2917	P. H. Wilkinson		4.00
2918	Peter Klein		7.37
2919	Wm. Bowman		41.28
2920	P. H. Wilkinson		47.37

(Continued from page 3.)

2921	W. H. Smith	18.45
2922	Wm. A. Flenaut	18.45
2923	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.	4.00
2924	H. H. Wilkinson	10.44
2925	Township of Tampico	41.31
2926	First State Bank, R. L. P.	15.00
2927	A. Vandervunt	14.45
2928	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.	4.00
2929	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.	4.00
2930	A. Vandervunt	14.45
2931	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.	4.00
2932	H. H. Wilkinson	47.41
2933	A. Vandervunt	14.45
2934	George F. Hemings	422.67
2935	Wm. Bowman	41.28
2936	Township of Tampico	146.46
2937	Township of Tampico	29.85
2938	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.	18.55
2939	W. H. Smith	18.45
2940	A. Vandervunt	14.45
2941	H. H. Wilkinson	10.44
2942	First State Bank, R. L. P.	17.80
2943	H. H. Wilkinson	47.41
2944	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2945	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2946	H. H. Wilkinson	29.24
2947	Hemings & Osborne	260.16
2948	H. H. Wilkinson	27.00
2949	W. B. & L. Assn. of Crookston	182.57
2950	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2951	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2952	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2953	W. H. Smith	31.15
2954	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2955	H. H. Wilkinson	29.24
2956	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2957	First Nat'l Bank, Crookston	1021.25
2958	First State Bank, R. L. P.	18.55
2959	H. H. Wilkinson	10.66
2960	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2961	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2962	W. W. Pritchard	31.60
2963	W. W. Pritchard	31.60
2964	W. W. Pritchard	24.67
2965	W. W. Pritchard	24.67
2966	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2967	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2968	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.	4.00
2969	E. F.	64.18
2970	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2971	A. Vandervunt	14.45
2972	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.	11.10
2973	Merchants State Bank, R. L. P.	209.89
2974	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2975	H. H. Wilkinson	38.15
2976	First State Bank, R.L.P.	18.55
2977	H. Gaues	12.25
2978	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2979	H. H. Wilkinson	252.57
2980	First State Bank, R. L. P.	18.55
2981	First State Bank, Thief River Falls	1.25
2982	Merchants State Bank, R.L.P.	4.00
2983	A. & L. Assn. Crookston	54.34
2984	Fourth Nat'l Bank, R.L.P.	18.55
2985	Merchants State Bank, R.L.P.	19.0
2986	Merchants State Bank, R.L.P.	18.55
2987	Merchants State Bank, R.L.P.	18.55
2988	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2989	H. H. Wilkinson	247.92
2990	First State Bank, R.L.P.	18.55
2991	H. H. Wilkinson	60.45
2992	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2993	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2994	Louis Mathieu	3.50
2995	Merchants State Bank, R.L.P.	7.40
2996	Merchants State Bank, R.L.P.	7.40
2997	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
2998	P. H. Wilkinson	24.91
2999	H. H. Wilkinson	112.19
3000	G. Vandervunt	702.37
3001	Merchants State Bank, R.L.P.	18.55
3002	Peter Wolbeck	21.60
3003	Merchants State Bank, R.L.P.	18.55
3004	Northern State Bank, Crookston	3.00
3005	Thomas Tenney, Pres. Huntson County	33.45
3006	Merchants State Bank, R.L.P.	18.55
3007	G. Vandervunt	15.20
3008	Farmers Nat. Bank, R.L.P.	21.10
3009	W. B. & L. Assn. of Crookston	6.70
3010	Peter Klein	14.45
3011	Wheeler Masser Lum. Co.	12.85
3012	Wheeler Masser Lum. Co.	10.60
3013	W. L. Dennison, per diem and mileage, inspecting county ditch No. 24	11.00
3014	Joseph Pingon, per diem and mileage, inspecting county ditch No. 24	8.80
3015	C. G. Kunkel, per diem and mileage, inspecting county Ditch No. 24	8.80
3016	Wm. Stuart, services plowing culvert in road along County Ditch No. 24	2.50
3017	Herman Schultz, per diem and mileage, inspecting County Ditch No. 24	8.80
3018	Wm. L. Dennison, per diem and mileage, inspecting county ditch No. 24	11.00
3019	Joseph Pingon, per diem and mileage, inspecting county ditch No. 24	8.80
3020	C. G. Kunkel, per diem and mileage, inspecting county Ditch No. 24	8.80
3021	Herman Schultz, per diem and mileage, inspecting County ditch No. 24	8.80
3022	Wm. L. Dennison, per diem and mileage, inspecting county ditch No. 24	11.00
3023	Joseph Pingon, per diem and mileage, inspecting county ditch No. 24	8.80
3024	C. G. Kunkel, per diem and mileage, inspecting county Ditch No. 24	8.80
		$62.40

Miscellaneous Items.

No. of Warrant	To Whom For What Issued	Purpose	Am't.
	Northern Culvert Co.		$ 1,792.00
	culvert acct. Ditch No. 24		32.00
	Wheeler Masser Lum. Co.		1,291.21
	1911 settlement		2,981.28
	Pennington Co. share of New Year's Treasurer's Office forfeited tax sale collection		7.21
	Andrew Trenbath, Co. Treas. Men. settlements, coll.		2,466.84
	P. H. Wellcome, 1906-1907 tax.		1,792.63
	Wm. Stuart, Sec. 31-20-123 et. state bridge, Ditch No. 24		32.94
	Northern Culvert Co.		1,792.63
	Wm. Stuart, Sec. 31-20-123 et. state bridge, Ditch No. 24		32.94
	Township of Tampico

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES —IN CANS—

Along about this time of the year wouldn't a can of fruit that taste just as natural as the fresh, or a can of corn or tomatoes taste fine? We have a line of fruit, vegetables or fish in cans that cannot be beat. Below is part of our line but come in and let us show you.

BENGAL RED RASPBERRIES—per can	25c
UNIVERSITY BLACK RASPBERRIES—Per can	25c
HOME SLICED PINEAPPLES per can	25c
HESPERIAN SLICED PEACHES —per can	25c
GLASS JAR LABEL—HALVES or SLICED PEACHES — Per Can	35c
HESPERIAN BARTLETT PEARS per can	30c
BENGAL WHITE CHERRIES — per can	30c
BROADWAY BRAND TOMATOES —per can	10c
ANDERSON TOMATOES — Per can	15c
GLASS JAR LABEL TOMATOES —per can	18c
OLD COLONY CORN—per can	10c
PARIS CORN—per can	15c
GOLDEN CORN—per can, 2 for	25c
LAKESIDE WAX BEANS—per can	15c
RUNABOUT PEAS—per can	15c

REMEMBER! A complete line of Groceries, all guaranteed to satisfy or your money back, at

SPILLANES

The Store of Quality

Coffee and Lunch, Hot Chocolate, Beef Tea, Etc., may be bought at Spillanes.

The Local Field

Mrs. L. E. Ericson is quite seriously ill.

Rev Pr. Reyne is spending the week at Warroad.

Orlin Desotell of Brooks was in town Monday and Tuesday.

Frank E. Hunt was at Thief River Falls between Christmas and New Years.

Mrs. E. G. Rose entertained the F. and F. H. Tuesday evening.

Lost—Brown kid mitten. Finder return to tailor shop for reward.—Adv.

L. A. Danforth has added an electric piano to his pool room equipment.

Miss Delfra Desotel of Brooks visited in Red Lake Falls the first of the week.

P. J. Deymonaz of Brooks was attending to business matters in the city Saturday.

Napoleon Marcot of Brooks was attending to business matters in town Monday.

The members of the M. B. A. lodge and guests enjoyed a dancing party at their hall Monday evening.

The members of the C. O. F. lodge and guests enjoyed a dancing party at their hall Tuesday evening.

Miss Angelina Desotel of Brooks was the guest of friends in Red Lake Falls last week and this week.

Mr. Sporford will be in Red Lake Falls, Jan. 7. At the Grand View Hotel.—Adv

James Brady and son, John, went to Big Falls Monday for a visit with Mr. Brady's daughter, Mrs. Allard, and family.

Only two more weeks of the 12c sale at the Sunshine. See the new line of curtain cloths in white and ecru at only 12c per yard; 12 to 17 inch floundings at only 12c per yard; good serviceable hand bag at only 12c; 25 cents buys a dollar's worth of new goods at the sale.—Adv.

Leonard Waldorf arrived last Thursday from North Dakota and is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Oscar Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fahrdeau and little son of Lambert visited with friends and relatives in Red Lake Falls last week.

The St. Hilaire firemen are making arrangements for a masquerade ball to be given in St. Hilaire Friday evening, Jan. 31.

Some of the young people are making arrangements for an informal dancing party at the opera house, A. hall Friday evening.

H. T. Catlin of Lake Pleasant township is enjoying a visit with his mother, who came from her home in Portland, Minn., last week.

Small debts accumulate rapidly. Small savings do likewise. Begin to save something today. Deposit it at interest in the Merchants State Bank.—Adv.

A. A. Latendresse, the retiring county auditor, has accepted a position with the First State Bank and began his work with the bank this week.

The members of the M. B. A. lodge will enjoy a dancing party at their hall next Monday evening. All members of the lodge and their guests are invited to attend.

Rose Foster has gone on a business trip to Detroit, Minn., where the head offices of the Wilcox Lumber Co. company are located. He will return the last of the week.

We are sole agents for Daisy bleached muslin, the best 10c muslin in the city. Cannot sandwich, the best underwear gambric made, 12½, 15, 18c.—The Big Store.—adv.

Herman Patnode, who is a patient in a Grand Forks hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis, is getting along nicely and will be able to leave the hospital soon.

H. T. Catlin last week sold his farm in Lake Pleasant township. He will continue to occupy the farm until spring and in the meantime purchase another Red Lake county farm.

The Gordon hat for spring is here. A little early but why not have it ready? As ever, the best.—La Blanche.—Adv.

Miss Swandby of Warren, sister of Mrs. M. O. Sortedahl, was a guest at the Sortedahl home this week. She returned to her home last evening.

Just opening up loads of Serpentine crepes, galatea cloths, lenos, embroideries, trimmings, Calcolai flannelettes, linoleums, etc.—The Big Store.—Adv.

R. H. Green came from his farm in Iowanity township the first of the week and during the week here attending to some business matters and visiting with his daughters in the city.

Strayed from my place Monday—Heifer calf, coming two years old in spring. Is light red with white stripe on back and has short horns. Finder please notify M. O. Sortedahl—adv.

The members of the ladies aid society of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. Ed. L. Healy for a business meeting Saturday afternoon. All members are urged to be in attendance.

We are showing the finest line of linens we have ever had—in most comprehensive line. Handkerchief linens 50c to 95c, art linens of all kinds and prices, crashes 6c to 22c. If in linen you want we have it.—The Big Store.—Adv.

A number of young people enjoyed a dancing party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. St. Martin Monday evening. A novel of young people from Dorothy were present and all spent an enjoyable evening.

Don't forget our big sale—20 per cent off on suits, 25 per cent off on lace curtains, fig drapes, dress goods at a song, remnants for almost nothing, boys suits 25 per cent off, 20 per cent off on blankets, boys' Mocha mittens 25c.—LaBlanchere.—Adv.

Frank Hovald has been critically ill for the past few days and it is feared that he cannot survive. It will be remembered that he was injured in a runaway accident last spring. It is believed that his present condition is due to the injuries received at that time.

A. H. Cowles left Monday for his old home in southern Wisconsin, where he will spend several weeks. Mr. Cowles is convalescing from an operation for appendicitis and though he is gaining strength rapidly, he has decided not to return to his work at the Northern Pacific station for a few weeks. He expects to visit with relatives in Wisconsin until about the first of March.

Handkerchief sale—50 dozen fine barred lawn regular 5c, sale 3 for 10c. Work waist, 25 to 50c goods, 25c. Toilet silk, almost as good as Sunshine, 25c; 36-inch $1.25 Peau de Soie, 98c; and don't forget our sale on dress goods, 20 per cent off on all fancy suiting, it's up to you to reduce the high cost of living.—The Big Store.—Adv.

The largest and one of the most representative bodies of business men that have ever gathered in this city met at a banquet board, last Saturday evening at the Hotel Evelyn, at an informal banquet given by Lucor or Chase L. Dehner, the retiring president of Thief River Falls' sentient financial institution, the First State Bank.—Thief River Falls News-Press.

Professor H. R. Smith, head of the agricultural husbandry department of the State Agricultural College, will be present at the Farmers' Short Course at the Agricultural School, Crookston, Feb. 20-21, 1913. He and Prof. W. A. McKerrow, a recognized authority on live stock will hold judging classes as well as talk on the various topics related to live stock on the farm. Prof. Smith's book on "Live Stock Feeding" is in use in nearly every agricultural school. The Short Course men are fortunate to have such men as these come to this part of the state. Dr. Vas Ek, of North Dakota Agricultural College, a recognized authority along veterinary lines will also be present one day. Full particulars regarding the Short Course may be had by addressing the Superintendent at Crookston. The Great Northern morning and evening trains will stop at the school spur.

DR. G. B. FAIRCHILD
DENTIST
Graduate University of Minnesota
Offices over LaBlanchere's store
Office hours:
9 a. m. to 12 m. 1 p. m. to 5 p. m

JOHN W. PETERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office over Robertos' store
Red Lake Falls, - Minn.

THEO. ALTENDORF
Watkins' Representative
Successor to Wm. Zaiser
Mail Orders receive prompt attention
Phone 107
Red Lake Falls, - Minn.

DEATH OF A PIONEER

VITAL LAPLANTE PASSED AWAY WEDNESDAY MORNING—FUNERAL FRIDAY.

Vital LaPlante, a pioneer of Red Lake county and for many years a resident of the city, passed away at eleven o'clock Wednesday morning, Jan. 24, at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cardinal in the Badger creek country. Mr. La Plante had suffered from rheumatism for many years but had been able to be about until about a month ago. His death occurred on the sixty-ninth anniversary of his birth.

Mr. LaPlante came from his birthplace in Canada to Red Lake county and settled in the Badger creek country thirty-two years ago. He lived on the farm there until thirteen years ago when he came to this city to reside. A year ago he went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cardinal where he died.

Mr. LaPlante is survived by five daughters. They are Mrs. Hubert Cardinal, Mrs. J. Lacourciere, Mrs. Charles Willette of Saskatchewan, Mrs. Thomas LaBlanchere of North Yakima, Wash., and Mrs. Daniel Champeau. One daughter, Mrs. Philip Demarais, died eleven years ago. His wife died at the old Badger homestead twenty-nine years ago. There are two sons, Frank LaPlante and Arthur LaPlante, the latter now living in North Yakima, Wash.

Funeral services will be held at St. Joseph's church at 10 o'clock Friday morning. The pastor, Rev. Fr. Reyne, being away, Rev. Fr. Ambrose of St. Mary's church will officiate. Mr. La Plante was known to hundreds of Red Lake county people and his many friends will regret to learn of his death.

ANNUAL PHONE MEETING.

Officers and Directors for Clearwater Farmers' Telephone Company.

The annual meeting of the Clearwater Farmers Telephone company was held at the village hall here last Tuesday afternoon, the meeting being called at one thirty o'clock. A large delegation of farmers were present at the meeting, and everything passed off smoothly and harmoniously. Officers were elected for the following year as follows:

President—Chas. Ball.
Vice-President—H. J. Enderle.
Secretary and Manager—A. Hatchill.
Directors—Sem Lovaas, Tom Melby, H. J. Enderle and T. T. Stettvell.

The report of the company showing the affairs of the year also showed it to be in a good sound condition. The company is encouraged as has been enjoyed during the past year the company will be at the head of another year in a very good financial condition, the members assert, and will be in a better condition than ever to make improvements and make such other improvements as they may find necessary.

The first meeting of the new board of directors will be held a week from Friday.—Plummer Pioneer.

Closing out fancy sugar cookies, 50c goods 35c; 35c goods 25c; oranges 30, 40 and 50c—Sweetest one; lemons all the time; fina red apples 5c and 10c; corn 8c; tomatoes 10c; salmon 12½c; sardines 4c; seeded raisins 10c; evaporated peaches; canned milk 10c; good cheese 15c lb; coffee 25c—the best coffee in the city; Arabia relish 12½c. Candy sale Saturday—Nut goodies 12½c lb. —LaBlanchere.—Adv.

LAMBERT (OKLEE)

G. O. Preeton, the Seo agent, has a very sore foot on account of dropping a log on it.

Gunder Stromme and wife are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine boy last week.

Mrs. J. McKenzie is confined to her bed with lagrippe, so the male lessons will go undone for n few days.

Frosty weather and wood sawing seem to go hand in hand. The farmers are busy these days hustling wood and grain and generally getting ready for an early spring.

Jos. Laurentzon and Miss Foley, the former teacher at Oklee, were married in Minneapolis last Thursday Jan. 16th, and returned to Oklee Sunday, where they will live at home hereafter. Mr. Laurentzon is the well known butter maker and needs no introduction to Lambert people. All join in best wishes to the young people.

Henry O'Neill, the champion corn grower of the northwest, was visiting relatives and friends in the town of Lambert last week. Henry has holds the silver cup of the Tri State Corn Growers association and has sold a great many bushels of Minn. No. 13 to Red Lake Falls farmers in this county and as a corn grower speaks well for our county.

Fred Bender of Equality township has just completed a modern feed mill at Oklee and the business men there are trying to get him to put in an electric light plant. The electric light plant and a supply of water for fire purposes are two things badly needed. Mr. Bender is equipped for power and may take up the other proposition later on.

How They Do It.

"I hear the men talk a lot about their horse-power. Guess they must do it by machinery."

"Not exactly that way."

"How?"

"Hot air."

Different.

"Madge is pretty"—
"Aw, come off."
"Madge is pretty rich."
"Indeed! And what a beautiful girl she is too!"

From a European Geography.

"What are the principal products of the U. S. A.?"

"Chicken tourists of the common variety and heiresses."

Simple.

"I want to save you, Jack!"
"Then permit me to smoke a cigarette."

Mays Garments.

Poor women used to wear the pants,
But now the vest and coat
Is here if she should care to vouch
Where women have the pose.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It is not much taking, but effective, that takes the cake in the gift fest.

The people who judge by first impression generally get a distorted impression, which they proceed to perpetuate.

A man whose eye is out of focus seldom makes things dovetail.

Don't worry if folks don't notice you. It is probably about what you are worth and what their notice is worth as well.

Good advice is so blooming plentiful that it threatens to be a total thing.

The trouble with an egotist is that he has somehow got the idea that a part can be more effective than the whole.

Financial Report of City Treasurer, Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

Jan. 1, 1912, Balence as hand	$1110.56
Moneys received from County Treas.	$ 4469.67
Moneys received from liquor Lic.	3000.00
Moneys received from Water Works Bond	20141.67
Moneys received from Justice of Peace fees	4.00
Moneys received from other licenses, etc.	153.00
Moneys received from Side Walk Tax	36.83
Total Receipts for year	$34808.22 $34808.22
	$35918.78
Disbursements
Total orders paid on current expenses fund	$ 3021.76
Total int. paid on current expense orders and other bonds	1165.97
Total interest paid on water works bonds	750.00
Total poor fund orders paid	140.00
Total special fund orders paid	15003.50
Total water works orders paid	228.03
	$22816.36 $22816.36
Balance Cash on hand Jan. 1, 1913	$13102.42

Correct Attest: E. G. ROSE,
City Treasurer.

GEORGE F. HENNINGS,
SAM E. HUNT,
SIMON PAUL,
Auditing Committee.

HORSES

From now on I will always have on hand a large number of native broke mares, ranging in weight from 1200 to 1500 pounds. If you want any horses that you may need for your spring work. You can always buy them RIGHT from me.

LOUIS SIEFF, SR.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

BIG SALE AT THE Red Lake Falls Variety Store

All goods that sold for 10c, 15c and 20c now	9c	All goods that sold for 35c and 40c now	29c
All goods that sold for 25c and 30c now	19c	All goods that sold for 45c, 50c and 60c now	39c

These prices go into effect
Saturday, Jan. 25, and continue 9 days

On SATURDAY, JAN. 25, ONLY, we will sell Record Hair Nets 3 for one dime. Also 18 POST CARDS for 9c.

Buy a Lead Pencil for 5c and get a chance on our beautiful 8 day clock

BIG WRESTLING MATCH Between
Curtis and Francis at the
LOTUS THEATRE
FRIDAY NIGHT, JAN. 31

COME ONE, COME ALL,
and attend the
Gigantic Sale Beginning
Friday, Jan. 24th,
And Continuing for Two Weeks

WE must dispose of several thousand dollars worth of goods within thirty days, and in order to do so we are going to do some of the biggest price cutting ever attempted in this place. We are not confining this sale to winter goods alone, but to nearly everything in our entire line.

Our 1912 business was the largest in the history of the store,and we are going to make 1913 still better if we have to sell goods at cost to do so. Everything within 25 miles of Red Lake Falls should buy from $25.00 to $50.00 worth of goods at this sale as it will be the biggest money saving proposition of the year. Remember we carry nothing buy first-class goods,no shoddy or seconds in our entire stock. Everything will stand the closest comparison, for our motto has always been "Good Goods at Right Prices."

Time and space will not allow us to give a list of all the bargains, but we will quote a few to show you that we mean what we say:

15 to 35 PER CENT DISCOUNT on DRESS GOODS and WASH GOODS

1 Ladies' Plush Coat, regular price $22.00, sale	$13.50
4 Chinchilla Coats, regular price $16.00, sale price	9.00
4 Long Mackinaws, regular price $12.50, sale price	7.50
1 Black Broadcloth Coat, regular price $20.00, sale price	14.50
2 Heavy Grey Fancy Coats, regular price $15.00, sale price	10.00
1 lot Ladies' Coats, old style, at this sale for	Half Price
1-3 off on Misses' and Children's Coats
1-3 off on Ladies' and Misses' Skirts
1-3 off on Ladies' and Misses' Furs

All Calicos at per yard - 6c
15c Percales at per yard - 12½c
12½c Percales at per yard - 10c
12½c Outing Flannel at per yard - 10c
10c " " " - 8c

25 per cent off on Men's Sheep Lined Coats
1-3 off on Men's Long Mackinaws
1-3 off on all Sweaters
1-4 off on Men's and Boys' Caps and Mittens
1 lot of Men's Caps at - Half Price

A Big Sacrifice on our entire line of Felt Shoes and Overshoes
Big Bargains in all lines of Leather Shoes. 60c off on every pair of Ladies' Lace Shoes.

Don't forget the date
Friday, January 24,
and continuing for 2 weeks

With every $10.00 worth of Groceries purchased $1.50 worth of Merchandise free, and with every $5.00 worth of Groceries purchased 65c worth of Merchandise free.

Remember these prices will be for cash only, as no discount will be allowed when goods are charged.

Yours respectfully,

A. RUBERTUS.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1893
RED LAKE CHRONICLE—ESTABLISHED 1898.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1913. VOL. XXX—NO. 19

Minnesota Historical Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

HOW TOWNSHIP SYSTEM WORKS

H. H. GREEN IN INTERVIEW, EXPLAINS ADVANTAGES OVER POLL TAX SYSTEM.

H. H. Green of Equelty township, who was in the city last week, was interviewed by a Gazette reporter and was asked to express his opinion as to the advantages of the township system of handling road work. Mr. Green said that considerable road work was done in Equelty township under the old poll tax system, as it is done in most Red Lake county towns now, for many years, but several years ago the people out there voted to change to the township system, Mr. Green has been a member of the town board for several years and has had an opportunity to observe how the system works and consequently his opinion is worth something.

The change was made five years ago. There was some complaint at first because the work being done by contract and a part of the roads being improved each season, some who could not see results at first because the roads near them were not improved, complained of the change. "But," says Mr. Green, "the good results are now apparent to all and I do not think you can get a man in Equelty township to vote for the change to the old system."

"We are getting better roads for less money", he added. "We were under the old system for eleven years. I'll venture the statement that under the new system we did more actual road work in two years than we did in the entire eleven years under the old system."

When asked as to the effect upon taxes he said, "Why, we are now doing ten times as much work in a season as we did before the change and our taxes are less. The total amount of our taxes, poll tax, road estate, road tax, and personal property road tax used to amount to about $12 per year for the man who had a quarter-section, varying slightly according to the amount of personal property. Now it runs about $6 per quarter paid in cash."

Mr. Green said there is nothing to the election that people prefer to "work out" their road taxes. There are plenty of opportunities for anyone who may desire to work on the roads to get a contract that will pay his taxes for several years.

"The roll tape under the new system does not amount to anything," Mr. Green added. "The town board may on a single trip approve all the work done in the township for the entire season. The expense of letting of contracts and inspecting work is actually less than was paid in the old pathmaster."

The adjoining township of Garnes changed to the township system a year or two before Equelty did. It should be evident to everybody that if the people of these two townships did not like the change, they would have gone back to the old system long ago. Mr. Green said that the people of Garnes seemed as well pleased with the new system as the people of Equelty.

"I cannot quote me too strongly on this subject," concluded Mr. Green. "I hope that every township in Red Lake county will change to the township system."

The advantages of the township system are almost too apparent to require more explanation, but the Gazette is going to urge every farmer who may read this to make the agitation for a change in the system a personal matter. Do a little campaigning. Tell your friends of the advantages of the change and urge everybody to vote for the change to the township system next spring.

SMASHING "BOOZE"

Government Secret Service Man Causes Indians Much Pain.

Falls.

And the end is not yet.

There crowd gathered at the depot on Friday as the afternoon passenger was about to pull in, were treated to a little unlooked for excitement when a government secret service man went through the grips and bags of a bunch of Indians, men and women, who had boarded the train. He found hottles and jugs in several grips and the quick disappearance of a red man smashed it all against the side of the car track.

He left again on the midnight train, but it is hard telling what may follow.—Bagley Crystal.

EXAMINATION POSTPONED.

No Teachers' Examination This Year at Thief River.

The state department has decided not to hold an examination for common school teachers certificates this spring. All certificates, however, that expire March 1, 1913, will be extended to Aug. 1, 1913, if sent to the county superintendent. All such certificates should be sent in on or before Feb. 12, as certificates reaching the state department later than Feb. 15th will not be extended.

The first high school board examination for graded and rural schools will be offered on March 24th and 25th. Requests for examination questions must not be made later than Feb. 8th stating clearly the number of pupils wishing to take the examinations. Examination will be offered in only the following branches: Arithmetic, English Grammar, American History, and Geography.

BUSE IS OFFICIAL WEATHER MAN

METEORLOGICAL STATION HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED IN RED LAKE FALLS.

If you want haze hail weather, if you want fair weather for a picnic or favorable weather for a county fair place your order with E. G. Buse, the official weather man.

The chief of the United States weather bureau this week notified Congressman Steenerson that his request for the designation of Red Lake Falls as a meteorological station has been granted. E. G. Buse has been appointed observer and has been directed to establish the station.

Mr. Buse will be equipped with a government thermometer, a barometer, wind gauge, signal flags, and he will measure the rainfall and will do everything that a well-behaved weather man should do. However, he will not sell hien sky.

The fact that Red Lake Falls is to have a government thermometer will be some advantage. The thermometers that are given away with a pound of X. Y. often register 10 below zero when the government thermometer does not go below 25 or 30. When Weatherman Buse gets to doing business there won't be as much excitement in the contest of seeing whose thermometer will register the lowest.

WELL SUPPLIED WITH MATERIAL

HUNDREDS OF BILLS ARE NOW BEFORE THE MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, Jan. 28.—So far the Minnesota legislature has not only one law on the statute books, and it actually is taking the vonors of the state $100,000 for expenses incidental to what it intends to do, but this need not be taken as indicating that it is going to fall down in the harvesting job. It has plenty of material to work on. To date the sixty-three members of the senate have supplied the committees with no less than 226 bills to work on while in the house nearly 300 measures covering as many subjects have been dumped into the hill paper. The session is now only fifteen days old and if the supply keeps up those in charge will be swamped in another month. Why this deluge in the cultural question, while it really amounts to little is known that as far as the house is concerned over half the members are new to the game and each must make good on promises made during the campaign. Then, too, there is the progressive movement, which has called forth many needed reforms, and no member desirous of future political preferment but what it is does not at least father something since the fall line. One of the most active in this respect is Mr. Boone of Park Rapids. That Dr. Boone desires a return to the legislature is perhaps about the least of his troubles, but he is so constituted that he is not happy unless he is reconstructing some of the things that are. He works night and day on all of the bills and is involved he says the bill out of his own pocket. There are a dozen others just like him in the two bodies and it is they who are providing the heavy grist. They spend a day of idleness as practically a theft. They always answer to roll call and no committee meeting is without their presence.

One of the long disputed reforms advocated by Governor Eberhart in his message to the general legislatures and rejected of the opening of the present session is the reorganization of the present governing bodies of the state. The consolidation of some of the boards and commissions wiping out of others he has repeatedly suggested. The Soldiers' Home at Moonan of Waseca came to the governor's aid with a resolution pledging both branches of the Legislature to the reforms demanded. It fell down in the house when Chairman Hanson of Representative Scooner of Morris tried to lump all of the duties of the boards in question and Governor Eberhart, who is responsible for those boards, then, within the next half hour. Mr. Scooter proposes investigating the various bureaus with a view of ascertaining their salaries and the jobs that are attached and will make will no doubt bring out some interesting if not embarrassing things.

* * *

That the Norris man has no love for the present administration is evidenced by the fact that the governor, which was unsuccessful, his one claim was that they were working under Governor Eberhart and holding their jobs by reason of his generosity were extravagant in the administration of the people's money and it is reasonably certain that he will make this charge the chief issue of the campaign. He has promised a thorough probe of every department and the public can be certain that nothing will be overlooked by Mr. Scooner in getting at the facts. In opposition to the Norris resolution without first investigating the departments with Governor Eberhart desired consolidated or abandoned as the case might be the Morris man was bitter in his remarks and practically intimated that the senator from Waseca was putting cheap suits out of the fire for some one else. In his remarks he did not even dignify references to Governor Eberhart by using him his official title. He spoke of him as "that man Eberhart" throughout.

* * *

There have not been any knock down or drag out scenes so far this session, but former Speaker C. A. Dunn of Albert Lea pitched several toes last week and incidentally came near causing a riot when, in commenting upon the reform propensities of some he knew, he said: "They preached reform behind a red nose and a shady part." Representative W. L. Nolan of Minneapolis, who is the old days treated with the how and hod as high a speed record as any, took the remark to himself and demanded an apology, which was of promptly given by Mr. Dunn. The Albert Lea man, by the way, has probably the sharpest tongue of any member in the house. He does not like Nolan and his followers, who are pretty much in the saddle just now, and his shafts of sarcasm have been frequently directed at them of late.

* * *

This has been a progressive week in St. Paul and two factions of the new organization have been robbing shoulders in the Capitol City. First it was the Minnesota Republican Progressive league, with Leffen Lyons of Minneapolis as the dominating figure, and it held no more than completed its labors than the Northwestern Progressives, with Hugh T. Halbert of St. Paul, made a bid for public favor. Each finished its deliberations with a monster banquet. Strange to say there was no clash except that each claimed to represent the only true progressive principles. Roosevelt and La Follette were the issues and the battle was a draw. Senator Bevelage of Indiana handled the Roosevelt banquet, while Governor La Follette sat for the Minnesota Republican Progressive league. He had heard of Colonel Roosevelt, but that was all. On the other hand the Northwestern Progressives had a ringing message from the colonel and it brought with it war talk.

* * *

The house has reported out for passage a bill providing for the leasing of state funds upon improved farm lands. Such a bill has been before the two branches of the legislature for the past three sessions, but has always been defeated. Many think such a measure would be unconstitutional. It is particularly desired by the northern counties to aid in the development of their agricultural lands.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

BIG WRESTLING MATCHES SCHEDULED

WILL BE PULLED OFF AT LOTUS THEATRE FRIDAY AND TUESDAY.

Manager E. J. Dusterhoft has lifts two big wrestling matches to be pulled off at the Lotus Theatre. The first will be on Friday night, Jan. 31, and the other Tuesday night, Feb. 4.

The first event is billed for Friday night. Jan. 31, when Jim O'Leary, who is making a tour of the states and Roy Sorrels of Grand Forks will meet for a finish catch, and to catch can, best two out of three falls to decide. O'Leary is rated a fast man and Sorrels has been making a local reputation, as the wrestling fans look for an interesting exhibition.

Through a misunderstanding, Curtis, the fast man from Karlstad, was advertised as the attraction for Friday night. However, those who have been wanting to see Curtis in action are not to be disappointed. He has been billed to appear at the Lotus theatre next Tuesday night, Feb. 4. His opponent will be Jack Dunn of Swanson, Manitoba, who has made a reputation as the star side of the line.

Curtis' record as a wrestler in Red River Falls recently places the Karlstad man as the championship class. The only man who won stands between Curtis and the middleweight championship is Miller of St. Paul and a match between Curtis and the latter will probably be on event in the wrestling game in the near future.

The winner of Tuesday night's match will take all of the money so the fans are looking forward to a contest on merit.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE EDITORS

NEWSPAPER MEN OF NORTHERN MINNESOTA ARE GUESTS OF ST. CLOUD.

The annual business meeting of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association held at St. Cloud last Friday and Saturday was an enjoyable as well as profitable meeting. Though the weather was disagreeable it was enjoyable to a consideration of the business affairs of the association the people of St. Cloud exerted themselves to make the visit of the editors pleasant and enjoyable. Among the entertainment features were an elaborate banquet Friday evening and visits to the re-ormatory and the Watab paper mills.

Before adjournment the following resolutions were adopted:

"The association endorses the movement to secure a fair and just reapportionment of state senatorial and legislative districts, and urges the officers and members to put forth every legitimate effort to bring about that result. The association further endorses the stand taken by the Northern Minnesota Development Association on this and other matters.

"The association forges the measure now before the Minnesota legislature providing for an equal suffrage constitutional amendment, and we commend our only woman member, Miss Mary McPadden, for her enthusiastic and persistent efforts for this cause."

The association's new officers are:

President—E. C. Riley, Grand Rapids; vice president—C. F. Schoen Akley; secretary - treasurer—A. G. Hultiga, Bemidji; executive committee—Fred Schilplin, St. Cloud; F. A. Dare, Walker; J. C. Morrison, Moorhead.

Bemidji was selected for next summer's meeting and Little Falls for next winter's meeting.

EDUCATORS TO MEET AT THIEF RIVER

MANY PROMINENT MEN WILL ADDRESS JOINT MEETING OF ASSOCIATIONS.

A joint meeting of the Northwestern and North Central Educational associations will meet at Thief River Falls, Minn., on Feb. 13, 14 and 15. This convention comprises all the territory north of Detroit and west of Deer River, Minn. All the prominent educators of the state will be present, as well as some distinguished speakers from abroad. It is suggested that trustees require their schools to be kept open Feb. 12th, a legal holiday, in order that it may be more convenient for the teachers to attend this convention on the dates indicated. The Thief River schools will be in session on the 12th for the inspection of visitors. A school exhibit will also be displayed.

The joint annual meeting of the school officers of Marshall and Pennington counties will take place at this time, to which all other school officers are invited. State Superintendent C. G. Shults, and others from the department of public instruction will be present for this occasion.

Aside from the general program, there will be special meetings for the teachers of agriculture, household economy, manual training, normal training, rural schools, graded and high schools, and for county superintendents and school officers. A public reception by the citizens of Thief River Falls will be tendered the guests. Music and other forms of entertainment will also be supplied. President George P. Vinent of the State University, will deliver an address on Thursday evening on "The New Duty of the School." Dr. J. Adem Puffer of Boston will deliver an address on Friday evening.

The following list comprises some of the speakers: President Vincent, Dr. Puffer, C. G. Schultz, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; E. E. Phillips, Rural School Commissioner; Inspectors Alton, Chellman, Corbett and R. W. Storm; Professors Swift and Quigley of the University; Andrew Sheidman, Cincinnati public schools; Frank E. Weld, President Moorhead Normal; Miss Anna Shelland, International Falls; C. G. Selvig, Crookston School of Agriculture; Benn A. F. Woods, College of Agriculture.

It is safe to say that one fare and a third on the certificate plan will be granted by the railways, for which reduction the secretary, Professors Swift and Quigley of the University, Andrew Sheidman, Cincinnati public schools; Frank E. Weld, President Moorhead Normal; Miss Anna Shelland, International Falls; C. G. Selvig, Crookston School of Agriculture; Benn A. F. Woods, College of Agriculture.

It is safe to say that one fare and a third on the certificate plan will be granted by the railways, for which reduction the secretary, Professors Swift and Quigley of the University, Andrew Sheidman, Cincinnati public schools; Frank E. Weld, President Moorhead Normal; Miss Anna Shelland, International Falls; C. G. Selvig, Crookston School of Agriculture; Benn A. F. Woods, College of Agriculture.

It is safe to say that one fare and a third on the certificate plan will be granted by the railways, for which reduction the secretary, Professors Swift and Quigley of the University, Andrew Sheidman, Cincinnati public schools; Frank E. Weld, President Moorhead Normal; Miss Anna Shelland, International Falls; C. G. Selvig, Crookston School of Agriculture; Benn A. F. Woods, College of Agriculture.

It is safe to say that one fare and a third on the certificate plan will be granted by the railways, for which reduction the secretary, Professors Swift and Quigley of the University, Andrew Sheidman, Cincinnati public schools; Frank E. Weld, President Moorhead Normal; Miss Anna Shelland, International Falls; C. G. Selvig, Crookston School of Agriculture; Benn A. F. Woods, College of Agriculture.

IMPORTANT MEETING SATURDAY AFTERNOON

FARMERS TO CONSIDER PROPOSITION FOR ORGANIZATION OF ELEVATOR COMPANY.

At one o'clock Saturday afternoon, Feb. 1, the farmers tributary to Red Lake Falls will meet at the court house to consider the proposition for the organization of a farmers' elevator company.

The proposition for the organization of a company and the construction of a house in this city has been under consideration and it is not improbable that a building will be put up the coming season.

It is expected that after Saturday's meeting the plans will have taken definite form and the plan of campaign outlined.

All farmers tributary to Red Lake Falls are urged to attend the meeting.

NEWSPAPER CHANGES HANDS.

Homer F. Mussey Has Sold His Thief River Times.

Yesterday afternoon a deal was completed whereby Homer F. Mussey disposed of his interests in the Thief River Falls Times to Thomas H. Ryan, who for the past eighteen months conducted the Herald-Tustler at Badger, Minn.

The Times was first organized by Harvey E. Mussey, who is now a recent proprietor, and one of the pioneers of this city, in March, 1911. In June of last year Mr. Mussey sold out to his son who has since conducted the paper.

Mr. Smith, who assumes charge of the paper today, is a nephew of the Rev. F. Ryan of this city. He was formerly in the minister's but for some time has been interested in newspaper work. We extend greetings and bespeak for the new management a bright and prosperous career.—Thief River News-Press.

Mrs. Wm. Findelsen and her daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Germo, went to Minneapolis Monday night and later left on extended trips. Mrs. Germo goes to Los Angeles, where she expects to remain permanently. Mrs. Findelsen goes to Aguascalientes, Old Mexico, where she will spend the remainder of the winter with the home that the sojourn in the south will be beneficial to her health. While there she will be a guest in the home of her brother, Dr. Findelsen.

TEN COUNTIES ARE IN

Farmers May Contest for Prizes at Crookston Agricultural School.

The farmers of the following counties of the Ninth congressional district will compete for prizes offered in the scoring contest conducted in connection with the Short Course at the agricultural school, Crookston, Feb. 10-21: Wilkin, Marshall, Red Lake, Pennington, Beltrami, Polk, Clay, Norman, Mahnomen and Otter Tail. Special cash prizes are offered by the business people or organizations in each of the ten counties. The winners in the entries will be scored by the cash prizes offered for his county and again for the valuable sweepstakes offered by the school people. A list of the prizes has been published previously in the Gazette.

Entries may be sent by parcels post and should reach the agricultural school not later than Feb. 11, 1913.

Financial Report of City Treasurer, Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

Cash, 1, 1912, Balance on hand	$1130.66
Moneys received from County Treas.	$ 5463.97
Moneys received from Rgnor Lic.	3000.00
Moneys received from Water Works Bond	5141.67
Moneys received from Justice of Peace fees	9.00
Moneys received from other licenses, etc.	171.00
Moneys received from Side Walk Tax	36.88
Total Receipts for year	$34808.32 $34808.32
	$35918.98

Disbursements

Total orders paid on current expenses fund	$ 5621.76
Total int. paid on "current expense orders and other bonds	1165.07
Total Interest paid on water works bonds	2187.50
Total per fund orders paid	140.00
Total special fund orders paid	276.25
Total water works orders paid	15501.50
	$23891.36 $23816.36
Balance Cash on hand Jan. 1, 1913	$12102.62

Correct Attest: C. G. BUSE,
City Treasurer.

GEORGE F. HENNINGS,
SAM E. HUNT,
SIMON OLL,
Auditing Committee.

Special Stock Reducing SALE

FOR 10 DAYS ONLY
AT LESS THAN WHOLESALE PRICES

WATCHES!	WATCHES!	WATCHES!	WATCHES!
7 Jewel Elgin, Waltham or Hampden, 18 size, for	$4.65	21 Jewel Hampden, 18 size, at this sale	$17.85
15 Jewel Elgin, Waltham or Hampden for	5.95	21 Jewel Rockford, 16 size, 20 year gold filled case, reg. price never less than $37.50, special price	24.25
17 Jewel Elgin, Waltham or Hampden for	6.95	16 size Boys' Watches, regular price $1.50, sale price	69c
17 Jewel Elgin, Waltham or Hampden, 16 size, 20 year gold filled case, during this sale for	14.00	Alarm Clocks during this sale at	59c

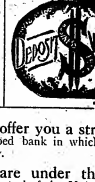
Special Discount on All Jewelry--20 per cent Discount on Silverware

SPECIAL PRICES ON DIAMONDS
1½ carat, Perfect Blue White during this sale	$346.00	1-2 carat, Perfect Cut Blue White, during this sale	$76.00
3-4 carat, Perfect Cut Blue White, during this sale	150.00	1-2 carat, Slightly Imperfect, during this sale	63.50
		1-4 carat, Perfect Cut Blue White, during this sale	26.50

Every article guaranteed as represented or money cheerfully refunded.

R. HOLZMAN, Jeweler,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

5% INTEREST PAID ON TIME DEPOSITS



5% INTEREST PAID ON TIME DEPOSITS

We offer you a strong and well equipped bank in which to deposit your money.

We are under the supervision and control of the United States Government. This should also be an inducement for you to Deposit your Money with the Farmers National Bank.

All business entrusted to us is treated strictly confidentially.

We want you to feel free to come in and talk over business matters at all times.

FARMERS NATIONAL BANK
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Farm Loans Closed Promptly.

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Of Red Lake County, Minnesota, for the Year Ending December 31, 1912.

Prepared by
A. A. LATENDRESSE,
County Auditor

County Auditor's Office, Red Lake County, Minnesota.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, January 7th, 1913.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA.

GENTLEMEN:

I have the honor to submit to you herewith the Financial Statement of Red Lake County for the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1912. It contains an account of all the receipts and disbursements by the County-Treasurer of said County during said year and shows the balance remaining in his hands and belonging to the several funds.

Annexed hereto and a part thereof is a detailed statement of all County Expenses for which orders or warrants were drawn during the year, so arranged as to show the purpose of each expenditure.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. A. Latendresse

County Auditor.

(Auditor's Seal.)

TRIAL BALANCE COUNTY AUDITOR.

From General Ledger of County Auditor of Red Lake County, Minnesota, showing condition of the books of business on the 31st day of December, 1912.

Balances—	Debit	Credit.
County Treasurer	$54,481.97
Warrants account	44,838.93
Taxes & penalties	11,102.21
Current School Fund	15.40
County Revenue		25,472.18
Road Fund	10.15
Bridge Fund	5,336.26
Ditch Fund	2,225.00
Indemnities Fund	1,655.40
School Fund (District)	7,464.85
Town, City & Village	41.85
Poor Fund		99.00
State Revenue and School		99.00
School		3,191.81
State Land & Int.		2,191.81
County Bonds		6,519.25
Refunding Bonds, Int.	14.70
Refunding		90.54
Building Fund		1,962.50
Mortgage Registry Tax		5.00
County Fire Fund		5.00
Total	$153,969.85	$60,303.51

Receipts of Red Lake County, during the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1912.

Balance in County Treasury, January 2nd, 1912 ..... $ 9341.97
Current tax collections 76738.42
Delinquent tax collections 2993.44
Mortgage tax 2291.44
Interest, penalties and costs 1237.66
Bonds redemption 11761.66
Collections, principal and interest on state lands 3570.45
State auditor's school apportionment 1421.39
State auditor, state aid to schools 7420.00
Interest on county deposits 943.35
Auditor's license 1000.00
Hunters' license 4.00
Liquor license 1040.00
Liquor license 211.12
Candidates filing fees 24.00
Receipts sent settlement with Pennington county 2113.17
Sale of personal property sold 22.98
Auditor's fees 45.10
Survey of section lines 3.00
Refund of self county 940.00
Interest paid by Pennington county 4762.97
Personal property tax, 1907 ..... 45.00
Warrants outstanding December 31st, 1912 ..... 3226.42
Total $247,791.49

Disbursements of the Red Lake County during the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1912.

Warrants drawn on county treasurer ..... $ 93855.66
Warrants drawn on County Road and bridge fund 10017.47
Warrants drawn on County Bond & Interest fund 4589.71
Warrants drawn on Private Ditch fund 1240.43
Warrants drawn on General Ditch fund 2544.94
Warrants drawn on Indemnity fund 109.75
Warrants drawn on School district fund 54155.81
Warrants drawn on Town, City and Village fund 2500.72
Warrants drawn on Special Bond and Interest fund 628.50
Warrants drawn on Court House and Jail fund 1.00
Warrants drawn on Refunding Bonds 445.92
Hunters license 4.00
Interest and Principal on state bonds 4262.43
State Revenue and School Tax 3163.91
Interest on penalties 1.00
Mortgage tax collections 2291.44
Warrants cancelled, Dec. 31st, 1911 ..... 44838.92
Balance in Treasury December 31st, 1912 ..... 32367.48
Total $247,791.49

TRIAL BALANCE COUNTY AUDITOR.

From General Ledger of County Auditor of Red Lake County, Minnesota, showing condition of the books of business on the 31st day of December, 1912.

Balances—	Debit	Credit.
County Treasurer	$73,567.47
Warrant account	1,557.98
Taxes & penalties	4,502.21
Current School fund		15.40
County Revenue	300.49
Road & Bridge fund	81.97	1,492.15
Ditch fund		339.87
Bridge fund		3,469.10
Indemnities fund	18.82	887.84
State Lands and Interest		1,738.29
County Bonds, Interest	200.42	6,319.1
Refunding Bonds		772.00
Mortgage Registry tax		5.00
Total	$83,971.76	$83,971.76

Receipts and Disbursements by Funds.

COUNTY REVENUE FUND.

Receipts.

Taxes and Penalties $15740.87

Sheriff.

Warrant No. of	Issued To Whom	Purpose For What	Am't.
21460	Charles Pellman, salary		$83.33
21461	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
21953	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
22054	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
22055	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
22353	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
22354	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
22464	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
22465	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
22466	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
22554	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
22555	Charles Pellman, salary		83.33
			$799.92

Deputy Auditor.

Warrant No. of	Issued To Whom	Purpose For What	Am't.
21619	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		$45.00
21620	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		45.00
21621	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22130	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22131	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22563	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22564	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22565	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22612	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22613	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
22614	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
23034	J. B. Beaulieu, salary		50.00
			$595.00

County Register of Deeds.

Warrant No. of	Issued To Whom	Purpose For What	Am't.
21961	Margaret Rose, salary		$41.66
21962	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22335	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22336	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22337	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22338	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22495	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22496	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22497	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
22498	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
23139	Margaret Rose, salary		41.66
			$499.92

Clerk Hire in county Auditor's Office

Warrant No. of	Issued To Whom	Purpose For What	Am't.
21899	Joseph Perrault, salary		$20.00
			$20.00

Clerk Hire in County Treasurer's Office

Warrant No. of	Issued To Whom	Purpose For What	Am't.
21891	H. Kindseth, salary		$ 5.00
21892	Joseph Perrault, salary		15.00
21940	Joseph Perrault, salary		20.00
22441	Erling L. Kindseth, salary		10.00
22969	Erling L. Kindseth, salary		10.00
23019	Joseph Perrault, salary		20.00
			$100.00

Court Reporter.

Warrant No. of	Issued To Whom	Purpose For What	Am't.
21617	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		$ 7.33
21618	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.66
22024	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.67
22025	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.66
22294	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.66
22295	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.66
22296	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.66
22497	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.66
22497	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.66
22745	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.66
22746	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.66
23163	Chas. M. Lohn, salary		14.66
			$166.27
21678	W. O. Bruggman, salary		$ 7.33
21679	W. O. Bruggman, salary		14.66
22035	W. O. Bruggman, salary		14.66
22036	W. O. Bruggman, salary		14.66
22037	W. O. Bruggman, salary		14.66
22493	W. O. Bruggman, salary		14.66
22494	W. O. Bruggman, salary		14.66
22495	W. O. Bruggman, salary		14.66
22496	W. O. Bruggman, salary		14.66
23162	W. O. Bruggman, salary		14.66
			$153.27

Janitor.

Warrant No. of	To Whom	For What	Am't.
21670	Lochan Philion, salary		$50.00
21671	Lochan Philion, salary		50.00
22028	Lochan Philion, salary		50.00
22029	Lochan Philion, salary		50.00
22030	Lochan Philion, salary		50.00
22031	Lochan Philion, salary		50.00
22032	Lochan Philion, salary		50.00
22033	Lochan Philion, salary		50.00
22034	Lochan Philion, salary		50.00
23090	Lochan Philion, salary		50.00
			$500.00

SAM E. HUNT, Commissioner at Large.

Warrant No. of	To Whom	For What	Am't.
21475	Sam E. Hunt, salary		$10.42
21476	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
21477	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
21478	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
21479	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
21480	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
21481	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
21482	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
21483	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
21484	Sam E. Hunt, salary		10.42
			$125.04

C. O. KANKEL, Commissioner at Large.

Warrant No. of	To Whom	For What	Am't.
21472	C. O. Kankel, salary		$10.42
21473	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
21474	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
21931	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
21932	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42
21933	C. O. Kankel, salary		10.42

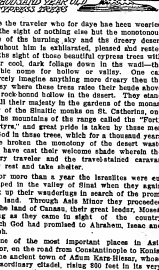
Where Moses and the Ten Commandments

PHOTOS ©BY UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD

THE FORTIFIED BLACK CHAPEL

SPOT ON WHICH MOSES HAND THE COMMANDMENTS

TRIANGULAR VALE OF FERAIEH WADI



PLAINS OF ASSEMBLAGE IN DISTANCE

ONE than 5,000 years ago there were gathered at the command of Moses, on the plains of Assemblage in the valley of Mount Sinai, all of the children of Israel to listen to the reading of the laws that were revealed to Moses during the "forty days and forty nights" he spent in the midst of a cloud communing with the God of the "chosen people."

Since that momentous and epoch-making event nations have risen to mighty power, only to go down to decay and oblivion. Unpeopled plains have been converted into hives of industry, and hives of industry have reverted back to unpeopled plains. New lands have been discovered and peopled and new seas have been navigated and charted. Everywhere progress has changed the mental condition of the people. Everywhere progress has changed the historical and geographical importance of nations and countries. Here, alone, in the Mount Sinai Valley, where the notion that gave us the Savior first sprang into prominence, progress has stood still. Surrounded by the peaks of the "Forty Martyrs," all is hushed and still on the plain where once the hum of thousands of voices was heard, and where the valley rang with the resounding words of the hosts of Israel.

On the peak of Ras-es-Safsafeh, the cross, the symbol of Christianity, has been planted on the very spot upon which Moses, the great law giver and leader of the Jews, stood and gave to his people the ten commandments, the basis of all religious beliefs and the foundation of all law, moral and civil. Now unpeopled and deserted, the very lonesomeness of the place is awe-inspiring, and the "silence of the tomb" is not more impressive than the "veil of silence" that envelops Ras-es-Safsafeh and its surroundings.

The mount on which God is said to have revealed himself to Moses is situated in the southern half of the so-called peninsula of Sinai, projecting into the northern extremity of the Red sea, between the Gulf of Suez on the west and the Gulf of Akeheh on the east. This perk of the peninsula consists of a mass of granite and porphyry mountains which may be divided into three groups, a northwestern, reaching in Jebel Serbal a height of 6,713 feet; a central, including Jebel Musa (Mount of Moses), 7,363 feet, and Jebel Katerin, 8,537 feet; and an eastern and southern, whose highest peak is Jebel Umm Shomer, 8,449 feet. Whether the Biblical Sinai was Jebel Umm Shomer or Jebel Serbal is being "quoted by leading authorities. The former was advocated by Pemblue, Jerome, Cosmo Indicopleustes, cod is more modern times by Lepsius and Ebers. Jebel Musa, however, is preferred by most authorities, and is favored by tradition (which dates, however, only from Constantine times), indicated by the name "Mountain of Moses," and the erection of a monastery upon it which goes back to the days of Justinian. The northern peak of Jebel Musa, known as Ras-es-Safsafeh (6,540 feet), meets the conditions required, since there is as open space at its base sufficient to accommodate a large encampment.

Standing on the lofty summit of Mount Sinai, what thoughts and visions are conjured up as one contemplates that there on the west plain of Assemblage that stretches before the eye hundreds of feet below, fifty centuries ago, the commandments were delivered to the assembled children of Israel.

Excepting for the Mount Sinai monastery, which from these heights looks like a little toy fort built of blocks, the region is still and hushed, and almost deserted. The massive walls of the monastery raised by the peace-loving and God-fearing monks under Justinian in 527 A. D. —as a protection against the marauding bands of Bedouins that infested that part of the country when the wealth of an empire was possessed by the builders and occupants of the monastery —are in the same condition as when built 1,400 years ago. Today, however, the Christian world keeps a watchful eye over this mountain monastery and its contents, and the Bedouins, knowing this to be the fact, keep on friendly and at visiting terms with the monks.

In the monastery are stored the priceless books narrating the history of Christianity in the tongue of every Christian nation. Slowly the brotherhood of Mount Sinai monks are dying out, there being but twenty or twenty-five at the present time. The life and the pay—not enough to buy tobacco—are not sufficient inducement for young recruits to join the order that year by year are growing smaller. In the course of a few years the tenantry of the monastery will remain but a memory to remind one of the greatness of its founder, Justinian.

Looking northwest from Jebel Musa to Wadi el Leja the traveler who for days has been wearied by the sight of nothing else but the monotonous blue of the burning sky and the dreary desert all about him is exhilarated, pleased and cheered by the sight of those beautiful cypress trees with their cool, dark foliage down in the wadi—the Arabic name for hollow or valley. One can scarcely imagine anything more dreary than the valley where these trees raise their heads above the rock-bound hollow in the desert. They stand in all their majesty in the garden of the monastery of the Sinaitic monks on St. Catherine, one of the mountains in the range called the "Forty Martyrs," and great pride is taken by these men of God in these trees, which for a thousand years have broken the monotony of the desert waste and have cast their welcome shade wherein the weary traveler and the travel-stained caravan may rest and take shelter.

More than a year the Israelites were encamped in the valley of Sinai when they again took up their wanderings in search of the promised land. Through Asia Minor they proceeded to the land of Canaan, their great leader, Moses, dying as they came in sight of the country which God had promised to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

One of the most important places in Asia Minor, on the road from Constantinople to Konia, is the ancient town of Afium Kara Hissar, whose extraordinary citadel, rising 850 feet in its very center, was the Byzantine fortress of Accaenia, where in 730 A. D. the Arabs, under the leadership of 804 el Battal el Ghazi, were defeated by the Turks in its very shadow. To get a view of this most picturesque town a climb up the stairway cut in the rock of the citadel brings one to the very summit where there still remain the medieval Turkish fortifications.

Like all other towns in Asia Minor, Afium Kara-Hissar is built of mud bricks. Its streets run in every direction of the compass. Although the language spoken there is Turkish, there is a large Armenian population. It is as dirty a place as one can imagine. Overrun with half-starved, howling dogs in the day, the night is made hideous by their mad attempts to clean up the refuse thrown in the streets. It is a good place to be avoided by the fastidious. The town boasts of a fine bazaar, churches for the Armenians and mosques for the Turks, as well as schools for both classes. The Armenians have made a commendable effort to make their part of the town inhabitable and sanitary.

The story of the birth and infancy of the founder and first legislator of the Israelite nation is one of the treasured gems of Hebrew literature. He was of the tribe of Levi, and his mother, Jochebed (his father's name was Amram), had him three months in defiance of the edict of Pharaoh, who, to prevent the growth of his Hebrew slave population, had ordered all their male children to be put to death at birth. As the danger of discovery became great, the infant was placed in an ark on the Nile, was found and adopted by the daughter of Pharaoh, and was brought up as an Egyptian Prince. But his heart was with his enslaved brethren, and like the little bit of leaven amongst the dough, the influence will quickly be felt throughout your immediate community, and then further.

Incalculable good will be derived even in your business. Just try it out and prove it for yourself.—Exchange.

Poser for the Court.

A colored woman was on trial before a magistrate, charged with illegal treatment of her child.

Evidence was clear that the woman had severely beaten the youngster.

"Of course, you have some convictions in matters of public concern."

"Mebbe," replied Farmer Corntossel.

"Well, why don't you come out and express them?"

"I dean't. We've got boarders from all political parties."—Washington Star.

Not for Publication.

"Of course, you have some convictions in matters of public concern."

"Mebbe," replied Farmer Corntossel.

"Well, why don't you come out and express them?"

"I dean't. We've got boarders from all political parties."—Washington Star.

DOINGS OF THE SOLONS

Minnesota Legislative Affairs of the Past Week—Law Makers Hard at Work.

St. Paul, Jan. 16.—After a three days' recess the senate was unable to muster a quorum when it met Monday evening at eight o'clock. The house was more successful, probably half of the members being present. Beyond the introduction of a few bills no business, however, was transacted.

The most important of these was a series of measures introduced by Dr. Stone with a view to lessening the mortality from tuberculosis. The measures provide for the establishment of a tuberculosis sanitorium or hospital at a cost of $500,000; for the creation of a state tuberculosis commission, and for the segregation of persons afflicted with tuberculosis, the theory being that the disease is contagious.

Letter from Chief Justice.

On Tuesday morning a letter was read in the senate from Chief Justice Brown asking that he be relieved from duty on the state board of investigation. The judge finds that he has not the time to give to the matter and besides, this position being purely executive, he questions whether it is not a violation of the constitution to assign its duties to a member of the judiciary. Legislation will be necessary, however, to relieve present chief justice of the duty he presently performed.

Senator Noonan offered two resolutions; one to urge congress to put lumber on the free list, and the other providing that a joint committee of the senate and house be appointed to frame legislation to reorganize the various state departments as recommended by the governor in his message.

At this session the lieutenant governor assigned his committees. Following are a few less in number than at the previous session. The assignments are as follows:

STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE.

Judiciary—Senators Wallace, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Public Health—Senators Hall, Chairman; Dunn, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Public Education—Senators Peterson, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Railroads—Senators Hughes, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hayward, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Agriculture—Senators Hayward, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Banks and Banking—Senators Lewis, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hayward, Hughes, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Public Buildings—Senators Nelson, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Municipal Corporations—Senators Sullivan, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Wilson.

Game and Fish—Senators Wilson, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan.

Insurance—Senators Hall, Chairman; Dunn, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Manufactures—Senators Dunn, Chairman; Hall, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Labor—Senators Hayward, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Drainage—Senators Peterson, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Public Examiners—Senators Hughes, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hayward, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Forestry—Senators Dunn, Chairman; Hall, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Public Accounts and Expenditures—Senators Hall, Chairman; Dunn, Hayward, Hughes, Lewis, Nelson, Peterson, Sullivan, Wilson.

Public Health—Senators Hughes, Chairman; Dunn, Hall, Hayward

Red Lake Falls Gazette

BY C. B. C. BAKER

Printed Every Thursday at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.50 Per Year In Advance

Heading in Minneapolis newspaper says Lorin Nelson is again senator from Minnesota. Why say again?

Though it may be well to plan to do your Christmas shopping early, you'd better not practice writing 1914 until you are sure of 1913.

Newspaper heading says women will pray for success of suffrage movement. That will no doubt be more effective than throwing bricks.

Tony, the leader of the "army" that marched to Washington, is still alive and make his existence known by getting himself recognized as a good roads advocate. He probably remembers that the roads were bad during his march.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature providing that a law shall not be declared unconstitutional if two or more judges join in a dissenting opinion. The author of the bill has probably overlooked the fact that if the bill should pass, the court will have authority to pass upon this proposed limitation of judicial authority.

"The big stores of the big cities have filled the advertising columns of the daily papers since the 'fifty-dollar' way from Browns Valley Tribune. "These stores have now also have studied the effect of advertising, and they seem to take more space in the supposedly dull seasons than at any other time. A politician for the country merchants, some of them are getting wise."

Let us Hope So.

It has been reported that only five cases of dishonest work among the students of the State University were discovered during the last semester. One might ask, is that the number who have confessed their guilt or has it great reform been accomplished? There was a time, not long ago, when it would be difficult to find the five students who did work "on the square"! That is a rather strong statement, but it is made not entirely in jest. There was a time when dishonest work was done so openly that it was no effort at all to find five students and many more who would not hesitate to avail themselves of any means to gain what seemed to them "results".

The faculty made little apparent effort to curb the dishonest work their assumption seeming to be that those who were dishonest in their work cheated only themselves. They did not seem to take into account the effect of such a situation upon the mind of the immature boy beginning his college work. If the faculty men looked upon the situation with seeming lack of concern, should the young student be expected to look upon the situation with the eyes of a sever and more mature man? Was the boy to be seriously criticised if he reasoned, if he did not actually feel, a lack of responsibility in his work?

The placing of a boy on his own responsibility when he goes to college is no doubt a good thing, but placing him in a position to suffer because of responsibilities his instructors failed to exercise should not be made a part of the plan that is to make of him a thinker of initiative and a man of responsibility.

If there has been a great reform at the State University all good friends of the institution will rejoice.

Big Figures in Farm Statistics.

Some comparative figures compiled by H. J. Maxfield, Commissioner of Immigration of farm statistics, covering the period of thirty years, from 1880 to 1910, are particularly interesting as they show the remarkable strides of agricultural development in Minnesota during that period. From 92,386 farms in Minnesota in 1880 to 164,137 in 1910 gives a gain of 71,751 farms or an average annual increase of 2,125 farms. Of the 92,386 farms in 1880 but 54.1 per cent of the land was improved. However, 1910 figures show that of the 166,135 farms, 71.6 per cent are improved, a gain of about 17 per cent. In 1880 Minnesota farm loads with improvements, including the buildings, amounted to $193,724,260 and in 1910 it has reached the sum of $1,262,441,425, a gain of $1,068,717,165 and an annual increase of $35,657,238. The value of implements and machinery on Minnesota farms in 1880 was $15,089,783 and in 1910 it amounted to $65,329,165, or a gain of $39,239,382 an increase of about 400 per cent.

Minnesota live stock values in 1880 was $31,904,823 against $161,641,146, a gain of $129,736,323 and an average annual increase of $4,324,544. To total the whole, including farm lands, improvements and property, we find that in 1880 these figures were $238,718,866 against $1,476,411,227 in 1910, a gain of $1,237,692,875, or an average annual increase of $41,256,429.

While the figures I have just quoted show a steady and substantial increase of agricultural development in Minnesota, I predict that during the next few years, we will witness remarkable progress along that line; for in fact, before long, we shall accomplish as much in the next ten years, as we have in the last thirty, and there are many things to indicate that my prediction will come true. Almost everyone, who is at all observing, will agree with me that there is a universal land hunger and that this "Back to the Farm" movement has a firm grip upon us all. The city man, the capitalist, the professional and the laboring man, have, or should have, a desire to own a farm, so that today thousands and tens of thousands of landless men are either buying or planning to buy a farm. It is true that the free homestead lands are no longer obtainable, but in the west, together with the highly advertised Canadian grain lands, are been considerable with Minnesota, but that not in the least discourages me in the sanguine belief that Minnesota will get her share more. The present day farmer will surely acquaint himself with the important fact that in Minnesota we do not have to go to Canada.—Spectator.

CO-ADJUTORS' REMARKS.

John Post of Pennsylvania is the father of e fine boy, and with the consent of Mrs. Post, has named him Percel, which should leave his by the tag of the popular stamp.—Albert Lea Standard.

The parcel post will enable the unsatisfied now to buy their gold bricks direct from the maker, thus enabling them to eliminate the middleman.—Owatonna Tribune.

And now the price of lemons has increased. Woodrow has probably created a scarcity by purchasing enormous quantities of the fruit for presentation to the heroine of Democratic office seekers who are not entitled ot plums.—Princeton Union.

One of the first bills introduced in the present legislature was one by Senator Noonan providing that the people vote et the general election in 1914 on the proposition of calling a constitutional convention. This is right in line with what the Sentinel paper has been advocating. A new and up to the times Constitution is one of the things Minnesota needs badly.—Crookston Journal.

Our legislator has secured the passage of a law allowing Minneapolis sports to hunt rabbits with ferrets and another says that the catching of the frogs be prohibited. Let someone now introduce a bill legalizing prize fights and someone else counter with a law forbidding Sunday evening calls. Be careful at all times to preserve the carefully adjusted and well-balanced laws which now exist.—Cambridge North Star.

LEADING EDUCATORS.

Will be at Crookston School for Short Course.

Few Agricultural Short Courses can boast of a better array of workers than is announced in the Crookston catalog. Among those advertised are to be found the leading authorities in their several lines in Minnesota and neighboring states. Practically all instruction will be given for men and women and the younger people not not be forgotten.

Among those who come from the Minnesota College of Agriculture are Professor Andrew Boss, widely known because of his work in field crop and farm management; Professor H. H. Smith, recently in charge of animal husbandry at the University of Nebraska; E. Bell, Associate Professor of culture, who is conducting a campaign for pure seed; W. A. McKerrow, Live Stock specialist of the Extension Division; Dr. R. E. Present, Professor of Biology and Plant Pathology; and Miss Mary L. Bull, who will have charge of the work in Domestic science.

Among those who are expected from adjoining states are: President Frank Lelland McVey, of the University of North Dakota; Professor C. P. Waldron, Horticulturist of the North Dakota Agricultural College at Fargo; Thomas F. Hunt, Professor of Farming Association, Fargo; F. H. Kruger, a well known dairy expert of Rosendale, Wisconsin.

ST. HILAIRE

Phillip Lee returned Thursday to Brookbuch, where he has several teams working, after a short visit here.

An alarm or fire yesterday called out the fire department. The fire was at the meat market, caught from the exhaust pipe of the gasoline engine. No damage done.

Mrs. Carl Krueger was taken to St. Vincent's hospital at Crookston, Yesterday. She has been ill since the baby girl came to the home two weeks ago. Mr. Krueger accompanied her to Crookston.—Spectator.

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage or Lease Land.

Estate of Cyprien Cassavan, deceased.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Cyprien Cassavan, Deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Marie Louise Cassavan, Arthur Cassavan, Victor Cassavan, Leonard O'Neill, Eva Cassavan O'Neill, Mrs. Cassavan, Arthur Cassavan, Victor Cassavan, Leonard O'Neill, Eva Cassavan O'Neill, heirs-at-law, next of kin and creditors of Cyprien Cassavan, deceased, and to all persons interested in the administration of said deceased, hereby notified that Marie Louise Cassavan, the administratrix of the above named decedent, filing herein her petition praying for a license to sell all the personal property belonging to said estate and interests of said estate in the following described real estate, to-wit: Lot numbered three (3) in Block numbered one (1) in Cassavan's Addition to the City of Red Lake Falls, according to the plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Red Lake, Minnesota, for the purpose of paying the debts of said deceased, the charges of administration and the taxes upon said real estate, and that the hearing upon said petition will be had before this Court, in the Probate Court Room in the City of Red Lake Falls, in said County and State, on the 10th day of January, A. D. 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., at which time and place any person interested may appear and show cause why said petition should not be granted; and that notice of said hearing be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls, in said County and State.

Witness the Honorable, Joseph Perrault, Judge of said Court, and the seal of said Court, this 16th day of December, 1912.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.
(Probate Court Seal.)
FRED C. KELLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner. 1203

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will.

Estate of Vital LaPlante, deceased.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Vital LaPlante, Deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Agnes Cardinal Frank LaFlamme, Alphonsine Lacourciere, Mary Wyatt, Della LaFleschiere, Stella Limoureux, Mrs. Lacourciere, Mrs. LaFleschiere, Mrs. Limoureux, heirs-at-law and next of kin of aforesaid deceased and proof of the will of said decedent, and to all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, hereby notified that Peter LaFlamme, who claims to be a resident of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, and who died on or about the day of , leaving a last will and testament which is now on file in this Court, and praying that said instrument be allowed as the last will and testament of said decedent, and that administration thereof be granted to Peter LaFlamme, the executor in said will named, or to some other suitable person.

And it appearing that a hearing upon said petition should not be granted, and that the petition be granted as prayed for, and that said hearing be had before this Court, in the Probate Court Room in the City of Red Lake Falls, in said County and State, on the 10th day of January, A. D. 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., at which time and place any person interested may appear and show cause why said petition should not be granted; and that notice of said hearing be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Red Lake Falls, in said County and State.

Witness the Honorable, Joseph Perrault, Judge of said Court, and the seal of said Court, this 16th day of December, 1912.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.
(Probate Court Seal.)
CHAS. E. BOUGHTON, Probate Judge.
Attorney for Petitioner. 1203

Citation for Hearing on Final Account and for Distribution.

Estate of Louis Hinch, deceased.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Louis Hinch, Deceased.

The State of Minnesota to all persons interested in the above entitled matter: Whereas, Peter Hinch, administrator of said estate, has filed herein his petition for final settlement of his administration of the estate of the above named decedent, together with a petition for the allowance of his final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons thereunto entitled; It is Ordered, that said petition be heard, and that all persons interested in said estate appear before this Court, in the room of the said Court, at Red Lake Falls, in said County, on the 10th day of January, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the Probate Court Room in the City of Red Lake Falls, in said County and State, and show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted, and that said petition be granted, and that said final account be allowed and the administration of said estate be closed, and that the residue of said estate be distributed to the persons entitled thereto, and that said petitioner be discharged from his trust as such administrator, and that he be allowed his fees as such administrator, and that he be allowed his fees as such administrator, and that he be allowed his fees

The Local Field

Farmers' institute, court house, Feb. 12 and 13.

Farmers' elevator meeting at the court house Saturday afternoon.

Miss Orilla Hemenmuth went to Valley City, N. Dak., Monday evening.

Arthur, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Duffy, has been quite seriously ill.

Big wrestling matches Friday, Jan. 21, and Tuesday, Feb. 4. Lotus Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Miller of Grand Rapids are visiting with friends in the city.

The members of the M. B. A. lodge and guests enjoyed a dance at M. B. A. hall Monday evening.

The condition of Miss Ima Haney, who was seriously ill with typhoid fever, is much improved.

The members of the Royal Neighbors lodge enjoyed a dancing party at the Woodman hall Tuesday evening.

The last dance before lent will be given by Pound's orchestra at M. B. A. hall next Tuesday evening, Feb. 4.

The Rebecca drove out to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wagner Monday night and spent a very co-

A number of the young people of the city gave an informal dancing party at M. B. A. hall last Friday evening.

John Helm went to Grand Forks Tuesday evening that he might be at the hospital Wednesday morning when his brother, Oscar, underwent an operation.

Albert and Fred Schultz and Will Lubits returned Wednesday from Bloomer, Wis., where they have been visiting for the past six weeks. Joyable social evening.

The condition of "Josie" Helm, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is improved. Though still a pretty sick boy, his illness is no longer considered dangerous.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ziebell arrived Wednesday from Bloomer, Wis., for a few weeks visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schultz at Louisville. Mr. Ziebell is a brother of Mrs. Schultz.

Are you a slave or have you made a start towards financial independence? In other words, are you saving your money and depositing it regularly in the Merchants. State Bank?—Adv.

Miss Zella Quesnelle will open a millinery store in the building north of Poullots harness shop. Miss Quesnelle has purchased her stock and the building is now being remodeled for her occupancy.

P. W. Lee left Monday evening to go to Pinkley, where he will spend the remainder of the winter. Mr. Lee has a string of horses in the woods near Pinkley and will look after the handling of his horses.

Oscar Helm is a patient in a Grand Forks hospital. He underwent an operation for rupture yesterday morning. He withstood the shock of the operation well and his condition is such that he will be able to return home in a few days.

Romuold Perras of Brooks is at Washburn, Wis., for a visit with his uncle, Miss Bolre, formerly of Red Lake Falls. He has also been visiting with relatives in Nedeau, Mich., and on his return will visit with relatives in Duluth and Cloquet.

Arthur LaPlante of North Yakima, Wash., arrived in the city Monday in response to a telegram advising him of the death of his father, the late Vital LaPlante. He was not able to get here for the funeral which was held Friday. He will visit with relatives here for a time before returning to his home in North Yakima.

Christ Christensen, a former resident of Red Lake Falls but who has living at Audubon, Iowa, arrived in the city Monday. The members of his family have been here a month visiting at the home of Mrs. Christensen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Worden. They will live on the farm formerly occupied by Mr. Banbury southeast of town.

Thomas Cooper, Secretary of Better Farming Association, of North Dakota, and Prof. Anderson, of the Minnesota Agricultural College, will be at the Third Annual Short Course of the State Agricultural School, Crookston, Jan. 30-31, 1913. These names alone guarantee that the best men obtainable give their valuable information and experience at the Short Courses held at this school. Presidents McVey of North Dakota University has also promised to be present. A catalog of the Short Course will be mailed upon request.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Mr. Carpenter's gas engine has arrived but has not been put into place yet.

English teacher: Adrian, give me the principal parts of bring.
Adrian: bring, brang, brung.

Miss Brown has been ill the past week and continued her school work Tuesday.

In the debate last Friday, on "A President Should Have a Six Year Term and no Re-election," the Spartans, who took the negative side, won.

Some new books have been in the library the past few weeks and the way they have been read proves they are interesting.

The literary work is now getting into fine shape. Don't forget to come to the programs, especially the evening programs. The next one is Friday, Feb. 7.

Since Miss Brown has returned would it not be wise to calm down, you normals and shoot squirrels?

Lenora Garceau has returned to school and is now taking up the normal work.

The high school is much interested in "Ebeu Holden" which Miss Smith is reading to us.

Miss Smith: What does "height of complacency" mean?
Mozella: A tall man, that's all.

THE BOWSER EYE.

It Tamed the Cat, but Couldn't Hold the Tinker.

HE ABANDONS HYPNOTISM

For the Less Pleasant Occupation of Convalescing—The Tin Peddler Disagrees After Doing the Bowser Family a Great Favor.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.]

WHEN Mr. Bowser came out of the office the other evening he glared at a newsboy, and the boy shivered and backed away. On the street car he looked at a man, and the man turned pale.

As he got off at his corner he looked at a dog, and the canine sat down and howled.

When dinner had been finished Mrs. Bowser noticed that Mr. Bowser was looking at her in a strange manner, and when he had continued this for several minutes she asked:

"Have you got a headache or a sore throat this evening?"

"Not a bit of it," he answered.

"Are you puzzled over anything?"

"No."

"Well, your countenance looks as blank as if you had fallen from a balloon and struck on your head. I don't know but something had happened."

"You needn't worry yourself about my blank countenance, Mrs. Bowser. As a matter of fact, you are not competent to tell when a man's whole soul is in his face or when he has no more feeling than a cabbage head."

It was policy for her to maintain silence, and he walked up and down for five minutes with his hands crossed under his coattails before he continued:

A Discovery.

"A rather queer thing happened at the office this afternoon. A man named Gilbert came in on some business, and

THERE CARRY IT UP ON SOMEBODY ELSE."

he minute I caught his eye I hypnotized him. He was like one in a trance. When I told him to sit down, stand up or walk around he obeyed me like a child. He would have flung himself out of the window if I had told him to. It's the first time I ever knew that I had hypnotic powers, and the idea rather pleases me. Did you ever suspect that I had this power?"

"Never!" replied Mrs. Bowser, with a laugh.

"What in thunder are you giggling about?" he demanded as his ears began to twitch.

"About your hypnotic powers. Did you take this Mr. Gilbert out after the office was closed?"

"Of course not! What do you mean?"

"I didn't know but he was working you for the drinks."

"Say, woman, you ought to be sent to an asylum for fools!" shouted Mr. Bowser as the blood reddened his face and neck and took away all the blankness. "If I ever start to tell you anything you always twist it around to make out that I haven't brains enough to chew gum. Did you ever see a case of hypnotism?"

"I don't think so."

"Then don't try to be too funny. I say I hypnotized that man, and if I did, that I have discovered that I have a great power for good. I can hypnotize you, the cat, the cook—almost anybody else. Just watch that cat for a minute"

A Demonstration.

He sat down with his hands on his knees and fastened his eyes on those of the cat, which was sitting on the floor a few feet away. She glared back at him for a few seconds, and then her eyes began to grow green, her tail to become bushy and her back to arch.

"She'll go mad if you don't stop!" cautioned Mrs. Bowser.

"Keep quiet. Don't break the spell," whispered Mr. Bowser as he continued his glare. "She came under the influence sooner than I expected, and it will be a complete success. By George, look at that back! Now watch her while I tell her to jump down and roll over on the floor."

She gave the order, but the cat meowed and spat at him. He repeated it, and she spat at him again. His face took on a look of triumph as he said to the cat:

"You are driving her mad!" exclaimed Mrs. Bowser as she rose up to flee.

"Shut up! Now, cat, you jump to the floor and roll over. Jump, I say!"

She jumped. She jumped to the floor, and she rolled over, and she bounded to the floor, and after a "spit" and a howl she ran down the basement stairs and scared the cook out of her seven senses as she whisked out into the back yard.

"Didn't I tell you I could do it?" exclaimed Mr. Bowser in great glee as he rose up. "That cat will be a beautiful subject to work on, and in less 'n a week I'll have her standing on her head and playing all kinds of circus. I will now exercise my powers on you."

"You won't do anything of the kind," protested Mrs. Bowser, "and you'd also better let the cat alone. She was scared instead of hypnotized."

"Nothing of the sort. She was under the influence as plain as day. Look me in the eyes for a moment."

"I won't, for it"

He Tries It on Mrs. B.

"Look me in the eye. Now raise your right arm."

Mrs. Bowser turned her back on him and left the room in a huff.

No lifting took place, but Mrs. Bowser started down the hall in go up stairs.

"Woman, I command you to return!" shouted Mr. Bowser, but she did not feel the "influence" and passed on out of his sight.

"I'll bring her to it! I'll bring her to it!" he muttered to himself as he turned to Jenny. "I've got the power, and she feels it, but I'll take her unawares next time. I'll go down and hypnotize the cook."

The cook promptly objected. He had scarcely explained his errand and asked her to fix her eyes on his for a minute when she said:

"I'll do nothing of the sort, and if you don't get out of this kitchen I'll throw up me job!"

"But, my dear woman, I wish to only try out an experiment," he pleaded.

"Then carry it out on somebody else. I'm here to do the cooking at $20 a month, and nobody can make a fool of me. I had a brother who was fool enough to look a man in the eye, and he went to the hospital with his legs all tied up in knots."

Mr. Bowser turned away with a sigh. But luck was with him. Just at that moment the basement bell rang, and he went to the door to find a traveling tinker who wanted to mend any old thuware.

Enter the Tinker.

"Come right in!" was the hearty greeting. "I don't think we have anything to mend, but I'd like to explain a matter to you. You have heard of hypnotism, of course?"

"It's where a feller glares at you?" replied the tinker.

"Yer, something that way."

"And you lose your mind, and he makes you do as he will?"

"That's it. I think I'm a hypnotist, and I want to experiment a little. You look to me like a good subject, and"

"No fooling, sir! I'm a hardworking man, and I don't stand for any such breeze!"

"Look me in the eye," whispered Mr. Bowser.

"I'll do it, sir, but"—

"Now let yourself seem in sink away as if going to sleep. Keep your eyes on mine."

"Don't get me mad, sir, because when I'm mad I'm dangerous!"

"Keep quiet, tinker. Now, then, you are in a burning building and must escape by the window. Do you see the flames around you?"

"I do."

"Do you feel the heat?"

"I do."

"Do you realize your peril?"

"I do, sir, and dom me if I'll let any man make a Punch and Judy out of me! Here's for you!"

Exit Mr. Bowser.

It was the cook's yells that brought Mrs. Bowser downstairs, and she found Mr. Bowser on his back on the dining room floor in a semiconscious condition. The tinker had seized him one on the jaw and got out.

"It was thy hypnotism, the hypnotism, missus!" explained the cook as she stood with arms spirited.

"Yer, it was the hypnotism," whispered Mrs. Bowser as she bent over the recumbent form. "He's got it, and got it bad, and while I'm making a poultice for his jaw you get the carpet bhor and take off his shoes and collar."

"And will he live, mum?"

"Oh, yes, but he won't be a hypnotist any more. He'll probably turn to pleurology."

It was ten minutes before Mr. Bowser sighed and grunted and sat up to ask:

"Where am I?"

"Still in the United States," replied Mrs. Bowser.

"But what's happened?"

"You come home with a hypnotic eye."

"I-yes."

"You tried it on a tinker who came along."

(A grunt.)

"You got him into a burning building."

(A groan.)

"And the only way he could get out was to swing you one on the jaw and walk over you. For further particulars see small bills."

Mr. Bowser was a humbled man.

The Spider and the Fly

By WILLIS BEACH POTTER

Mrs. Brindsley was calling upon Mrs. Sternes and was lamenting the fact that her son instead of marrying and settling down was spending his time with undesirable associates and recklessly squandering his money also.

"If I could only get him tied up to some nice girl long enough for her to become a necessity to him it would change him."

"I wish I could help you," said her friend.

"You can. I have an idea that I have come to propose to you. I will go away, and you and Ethel come to my home and take care of it during my absence. The servants will be there and will need looking after. Besides, there's Zip, our little dog, and Spot, the parrot. I wouldn't trust either one or the other to any except one who understands dogs and birds. I will go to Florida for a few months, and by the time I return I shall expect Ralph and Ethel to have become engaged. Of course all this is contingent upon your approval of a match between them."

Mrs. Sternes very much approved of the match. Ralph Brindsley was worth $500,000 in his own right, and there was nothing bad about him. What he needed was an anchor, and Mrs. Sternes was sure her daughter was just the anchor needed. She consented to the proposition after pronouncing it impracticable.

Mrs. Brindsley went to Florida, and Mrs. Sternes and Ethel, as agreed, went into her house to take care of it during her absence.

For a few days after his mother's departure Ralph didn't appear at home much. Then one afternoon he came home to replenish his wardrobe. While Ethel had nothing whatever to do with the conspiracy against his liberty, she being a young girl and he being a young fellow, there was the same natural relation between them as between the spider and the fly. She heard him come in, go to his room and after awhile come out again. The library was on one side of the hall and the parlor on the other side. Ethel took position in the library, and when she heard Ralph coming down she started across the hall to go into the parlor, so timing the movement as to meet him at the stairs.

Ralph's treatment of his mother's friends had not been very civil. He knew there was a girl, but she was neither a servant nor a chorus girl, and he had no use for any other. Seeing a very pretty young lady, he considered it his duty to say something to her, so he bid her good morning, adding that he hoped she and her mother were comfortable and asked if there was anything he could do for them. Ethel had prepared a list of things concerning the house and its contents upon which she needed information, so she said that if he had time she would like to submit them to him. She glanced toward the parlor. Ralph followed the direction of her eyes.

Will you walk into my parlor, said the spider to the fly.

It's the prettiest little parlor that ever you saw, by any means.

There is no necessity; indeed, it would be compromising for us to follow the couple into the parlor. The young lady, knowing that the gentleman was not to be blown away from the gilded set that held him in thrall by prudery during the few weeks that she lived under the same roof with him, granted him all favors that were proper, including him to a late supper at home instead of at a restaurant and with her instead of his hoop companions. The result was that by the time her mother was ready to return he was quite ready to have her remain away.

Mrs. Sternes and Ethel, as agreed, went into her house to take care of it during her absence.

For a few days after his mother's departure Ralph didn't appear at home much. Then one afternoon he came home to replenish his wardrobe. While Ethel had nothing whatever to do with the conspiracy against his liberty, she being a young girl and he being a young fellow, there was the same natural relation between them as between the spider and the fly. She heard him come in, go to his room and after awhile come out again. The library was on one side of the hall and the parlor on the other side. Ethel took position in the library, and when she heard Ralph coming down she started across the hall to go into the parlor, so timing the movement as to meet him at the stairs.

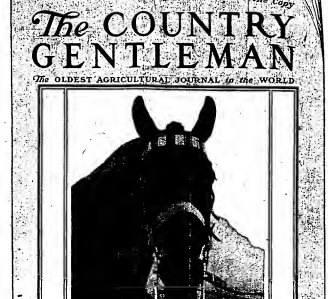
Ralph's treatment of his mother's friends had not been very civil. He knew there was a girl, but she was neither a servant nor a chorus girl, and he had no use for any other. Seeing a very pretty young lady, he considered it his duty to say something to her, so he bid her good morning, adding that he hoped she and her mother were comfortable and asked if there was anything he could do for them. Ethel had prepared a list of things concerning the house and its contents upon which she needed information, so she said that if he had time she would like to submit them to him. She glanced toward the parlor. Ralph followed the direction of her eyes.

Will you walk into my parlor, said the spider to the fly.

It's the prettiest little parlor that ever you saw, by any means.

There is no necessity; indeed, it would be compromising for us to follow the couple into the parlor. The young lady, knowing that the gentleman was not to be blown away from the gilded set that held him in thrall by prudery during the few weeks that she lived under the same roof with him, granted him all favors that were proper, including him to a late supper at home instead of at a restaurant and with her instead of his hoop companions. The result was that by the time her mother was ready to return he was quite ready to have her remain away.

YOU HAD BETTER BURN YOUR MONEY



AND SAVE YOUR ENERGY, says DR. CYRIL G. HOPKINS, soil expert at the Illinois Experiment Station, than continue farming on the plan of taking from and not putting back into the soil those things which are absolutely essential to permanent, successful agriculture.

And he proves this statement. But he does more. After showing with irrefutable facts just why the prevailing American method of farming is ruinous, he demonstrates how you can make your farm yield from 30 to 40 more bushels per acre.

It's all in a series of articles entitled

The Farm That Won't Wear Out

Now appearing in THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

This Week's Issue On Sale Today

The Homesteader's Gamble is another big feature of this week's issue. It is by W. J. Harsha, a Colorado homesteader, and it tells the whole homesteading proposition from A to Z. Mr. Harsha has been through the mill and he says that a man who stakes a homestead and hasn't the two G's—gumption and grit—had better quit. He says further that a homesteader will stand a better chance of succeeding if he has $1000 in cash.

A Word With the Women. Every week the "Country Gentlewoman"—a farmer's wife, a mother, a good housekeeper and an intelligent woman all rolled into one—writes an article that is full of helpful ideas and sensibleadvice. This week her subject is Farm Children's Clothing. This issue also contains: Using The Kitchen's Left-Overs (a substantial way of reducing the cost of living), New Simple Furniture (showing that economy, beauty and utility may be combined; From Tough to Tender (meaty suggestions in the full sense of the word).

And, Besides All These Features, The Western Farmer and His Help, a solution of the farm labor problem, by Walter V. Woehlke; Spraying Plants In the Greenhouse, the keynote of success in growing and selling them, by F. F. Rockwell; Duck Culture, by Ted Edwards; A Land of Berry Farms, by Russell Smith; Gas Engine Troubles, valuable information about ignition and carburetion, by F. Webster Brady; Four Sons Who Stayed On the Farm, by D. H. Doane; A Dairy Contest of the Middle West, by George H. Dacy, and the regular departments dealing with farm legislation, poultry, crops and the market, and a page of pertinent editorial comment.

For Sale at Any News-Stand or Buy of Any SATURDAY EVENING POST Boy
5 Cents a Copy. Yearly Subscription $1.50 The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia
MORE THAN 200,000 COPIES WEEKLY
NET PAID CIRCULATION

TRACY JEFFERS, Red Lake Falls

THE BOWSER EYE.

It Tamed the Cat, but Couldn't Hold the Tinker.

HE ABANDONS HYPNOTISM

For the Less Pleasant Occupation of Convalescing—The Tin Peddler Disagrees After Doing the Bowser Family a Great Favor.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.]

WHEN Mr. Bowser came out of the office the other evening he glared at a newsboy, and the boy shivered and backed away. On the street car he looked at a man, and the man turned pale.

As he got off at his corner he looked at a dog, and the canine sat down and howled.

When dinner had been finished Mrs. Bowser noticed that Mr. Bowser was looking at her in a strange manner, and when he had continued this for several minutes she asked:

"Have you got a headache or a sore throat this evening?"

"Not a bit of it," he answered.

"Are you puzzled over anything?"

"No."

"Well, your countenance looks as blank as if you had fallen from a balloon and struck on your head. I don't know but something had happened."

"You needn't worry yourself about my blank countenance, Mrs. Bowser. As a matter of fact, you are not competent to tell when a man's whole soul is in his face or when he has no more feeling than a cabbage head."

It was policy for her to maintain silence, and he walked up and down for five minutes with his hands crossed under his coattails before he continued:

A Discovery.

"A rather queer thing happened at the office this afternoon. A man named Gilbert came in on some business, and

THERE CARRY IT UP ON SOMEBODY ELSE."

he minute I caught his eye I hypnotized him. He was like one in a trance. When I told him to sit down, stand up or walk around he obeyed me like a child. He would have flung himself out of the window if I had told him to. It's the first time I ever knew that I had hypnotic powers, and the idea rather pleases me. Did you ever suspect that I had this power?"

"Never!" replied Mrs. Bowser, with a laugh.

"What in thunder are you giggling about?" he demanded as his ears began to twitch.

"About your hypnotic powers. Did you take this Mr. Gilbert out after the office was closed?"

"Of course not! What do you mean?"

"I didn't know but he was working you for the drinks."

"Say, woman, you ought to be sent to an asylum for fools!" shouted Mr. Bowser as the blood reddened his face and neck and took away all the blankness. "If I ever start to tell you anything you always twist it around to make out that I haven't brains enough to chew gum. Did you ever see a case of hypnotism?"

"I don't think so."

"Then don't try to be too funny. I say I hypnotized that man, and if I did, that I have discovered that I have a great power for good. I can hypnotize you, the cat, the cook—almost anybody else. Just watch that cat for a minute"

A Demonstration.

He sat down with his hands on his knees and fastened his eyes on those of the cat, which was sitting on the floor a few feet away. She glared back at him for a few seconds, and then her eyes began to grow green, her tail to become bushy and her back to arch.

"She'll go mad if you don't stop!" cautioned Mrs. Bowser.

"Keep quiet. Don't break the spell," whispered Mr. Bowser as he continued his glare. "She came under the influence sooner than I expected, and it will be a complete success. By George, look at that back! Now watch her while I tell her to jump down and roll over on the floor."

She gave the order, but the cat meowed and spat at him. He repeated it, and she spat at him again. His face took on a look of triumph as he said to the cat:

"You are driving her mad!" exclaimed Mrs. Bowser as she rose up to flee.

"Shut up! Now, cat, you jump to the floor and roll over. Jump, I say!"

She jumped. She jumped to the floor, and she rolled over, and she bounded to the floor, and after a "spit" and a howl she ran down the basement stairs and scared the cook out of her seven senses as she whisked out into the back yard.

"Didn't I tell you I could do it?" exclaimed Mr. Bowser in great glee as he rose up. "That cat will be a beautiful subject to work on, and in less 'n a week I'll have her standing on her head and playing all kinds of circus. I will now exercise my powers on you."

"You won't do anything of the kind," protested Mrs. Bowser, "and you'd also better let the cat alone. She was scared instead of hypnotized."

"Nothing of the sort. She was under the influence as plain as day. Look me in the eyes for a moment."

"I won't, for it"

He Tries It on Mrs. B.

"Look me in the eye. Now raise your right arm."

Mrs. Bowser turned her back on him and left the room in a huff.

No lifting took place, but Mrs. Bowser started down the hall in go up stairs.

"Woman, I command you to return!" shouted Mr. Bowser, but she did not feel the "influence" and passed on out of his sight.

"I'll bring her to it! I'll bring her to it!" he muttered to himself as he turned to Jenny. "I've got the power, and she feels it, but I'll take her unawares next time. I'll go down and hypnotize the cook."

The cook promptly objected. He had scarcely explained his errand and asked her to fix her eyes on his for a minute when she said:

"I'll do nothing of the sort, and if you don't get out of this kitchen I'll throw up me job!"

"But, my dear woman, I wish to only try out an experiment," he pleaded.

"Then carry it out on somebody else. I'm here to do the cooking at $20 a month, and nobody can make a fool of me. I had a brother who was fool enough to look a man in the eye, and he went to the hospital with his legs all tied up in knots."

Mr. Bowser turned away with a sigh. But luck was with him. Just at that moment the basement bell rang, and he went to the door to find a traveling tinker who wanted to mend any old thuware.

Enter the Tinker.

"Come right in!" was the hearty greeting. "I don't think we have anything to mend, but I'd like to explain a matter to you. You have heard of hypnotism, of course?"

"It's where a feller glares at you?" replied the tinker.

"Yer, something that way."

"And you lose your mind, and he makes you do as he will?"

"That's it. I think I'm a hypnotist, and I want to experiment a little. You look to me like a good subject, and"

"No fooling, sir! I'm a hardworking man, and I don't stand for any such breeze!"

"Look me in the eye," whispered Mr. Bowser.

"I'll do it, sir, but"—

"Now let yourself seem in sink away as if going to sleep. Keep your eyes on mine."

"Don't get me mad, sir, because when I'm mad I'm dangerous!"

"Keep quiet, tinker. Now, then, you are in a burning building and must escape by the window. Do you see the flames around you?"

"I do."

"Do you feel the heat?"

"I do."

"Do you realize your peril?"

"I do, sir, and dom me if I'll let any man make a Punch and Judy out of me! Here's for you!"

Exit Mr. Bowser.

It was the cook's yells that brought Mrs. Bowser downstairs, and she found Mr. Bowser on his back on the dining room floor in a semiconscious condition. The tinker had seized him one on the jaw and got out.

"It was thy hypnotism, the hypnotism, missus!" explained the cook as she stood with arms spirited.

"Yer, it was the hypnotism," whispered Mrs. Bowser as she bent over the recumbent form. "He's got it, and got it bad, and while I'm making a poultice for his jaw you get the carpet bhor and take off his shoes and collar."

"And will he live, mum?"

"Oh, yes, but he won't be a hypnotist any more. He'll probably turn to pleurology."

It was ten minutes before Mr. Bowser sighed and grunted and sat up to ask:

"Where am I?"

"Still in the United States," replied Mrs. Bowser.

"But what's happened?"

"You come home with a hypnotic eye."

"I-yes."

"You tried it on a tinker who came along."

(A grunt.)

"You got him into a burning building."

(A groan.)

"And the only way he could get out was to swing you one on the jaw and walk over you. For further particulars see small bills."

Mr. Bowser was a humbled man.

The Spider and the Fly

By WILLIS BEACH POTTER

Mrs. Brindsley was calling upon Mrs. Sternes and was lamenting the fact that her son instead of marrying and settling down was spending his time with undesirable associates and recklessly squandering his money also.

"If I could only get him tied up to some nice girl long enough for her to become a necessity to him it would change him."

"I wish I could help you," said her friend.

"You can. I have an idea that I have come to propose to you. I will go away, and you and Ethel come to my home and take care of it during my absence. The servants will be there and will need looking after. Besides, there's Zip, our little dog, and Spot, the parrot. I wouldn't trust either one or the other to any except one who understands dogs and birds. I will go to Florida for a few months, and by the time I return I shall expect Ralph and Ethel to have become engaged. Of course all this is contingent upon your approval of a match between them."

Mrs. Sternes very much approved of the match. Ralph Brindsley was worth $500,000 in his own right, and there was nothing bad about him. What he needed was an anchor, and Mrs. Sternes was sure her daughter was just the anchor needed. She consented to the proposition after pronouncing it impracticable.

Mrs. Brindsley went to Florida, and Mrs. Sternes and Ethel, as agreed, went into her house to take care of it during her absence.

For a few days after his mother's departure Ralph didn't appear at home much. Then one afternoon he came home to replenish his wardrobe. While Ethel had nothing whatever to do with the conspiracy against his liberty, she being a young girl and he being a young fellow, there was the same natural relation between them as between the spider and the fly. She heard him come in, go to his room and after awhile come out again. The library was on one side of the hall and the parlor on the other side. Ethel took position in the library, and when she heard Ralph coming down she started across the hall to go into the parlor, so timing the movement as to meet him at the stairs.

Ralph's treatment of his mother's friends had not been very civil. He knew there was a girl, but she was neither a servant nor a chorus girl, and he had no use for any other. Seeing a very pretty young lady, he considered it his duty to say something to her, so he bid her good morning, adding that he hoped she and her mother were comfortable and asked if there was anything he could do for them. Ethel had prepared a list of things concerning the house and its contents upon which she needed information, so she said that if he had time she would like to submit them to him. She glanced toward the parlor. Ralph followed the direction of her eyes.

Will you walk into my parlor, said the spider to the fly.

It's the prettiest little parlor that ever you saw, by any means.

There is no necessity; indeed, it would be compromising for us to follow the couple into the parlor. The young lady, knowing that the gentleman was not to be blown away from the gilded set that held him in thrall by prudery during the few weeks that she lived under the same roof with him, granted him all favors that were proper, including him to a late supper at home instead of at a restaurant and with her instead of his hoop companions. The result was that by the time her mother was ready to return he was quite ready to have her remain away.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

C. R. G. BAKER, Publisher.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

Hot stove baseball is a great sport and nobody gets bounce cheering it.

It will be funny if the bugs cotton crop does not make silk skirts cheaper.

A contemporary says there are 4,000 poets in this country. Who supports 'em?

An unkissed girl has delivered a lecture on the decline of chivalry. Gee, she must be homely.

There is no question but what it was a tough wire assaulted the Chicago girl who lost two teeth in biting him.

Love of animals, says a New York specialist, is a disease. That, however, society circle must be on awfully unhealthy set.

A Scotsman has donated $100,000 to combat college athletics. Probably it will be used to start chess, checkers and pingpong tournaments.

A Kansas City woman's jury returned a verdict in three hours in a case in which a male jury previously had disagreed. They must have been talked out.

An Idaho feminine jury adjourned court at noon to go home and get dinner. And still there are those who say jury duties would interfere with woman's work.

Two Chicago detectives were obliged to give up after chasing two merry iron workers up and down the skeleton of a skyscraper. They were up in the air, all right.

A Pennsylvanian dog got stuck in a ratspout in Philadelphia, and a policeman used a can opener to release it. That policeman knew how to get the lid off, all right.

A Chicago doctor says appendicitis is to be treated without a surgical operation. But an anaesthetic will be needed to relieve the patient of the bankroll afterwards, just the same as now.

Apparently France is getting ready for the ten-cent vaudeville comedian. One of its savants has prepared a dictionary of the monkey language and made a collection of monkey songs.

A Columbus woman, knocked down by a street car, recovered to find that her deafness of ten years was gone. Quite likely the first thing she knew was an automobile honking for her to dodge it.

The Bronx zoo is the proud possessor of a wild sea cow that kicks 72 times to the minute. Wouldn't it be a fine thing to stand some of the New York police officials back of it, and see if they'd get into action?

It is held by a Gotham judge that a man need not support his wife who moves into the second flat of their building and remains there, after he has based his decision on the theory that she was too uppish.

One feature of much beta an that which compels a man to push a peanut along the sidewalk for four city blocks, with a sausage in the probability that the winners will also get jobs helping to run an asylum was comfy.

It is reported that a Milwaukee man has invented a system where he can make milk from timothy hay without the aid of the cow. As improvements over some milk dealers, who have attempted to make it out of water.

A Parisian chemist has discovered a dye for dresses that changes color hourly. A time saving device for society matrons who heretofore have remade their toilets each hour.

Somebody shifted feed into the place of $50,000 worth of British sovereigns in transit and the shipment is as much amazed as the boy seeing the rabbit come out of the silk hat.

Suffragettes in New York, forbidden to speak at a big exhibition, have invented the "voiceless speech." This idea ought to take them enthusiastically in the average domestic arena.

It is rumored that the dog biscuit a Paterson woman fed her guests were not dog biscuits at all. They were simply her first attempt, and she hit on that excuse by hide her failure as a biscuit maker.

A contemporary reminds us that the English sparrow is largely responsible for the disappearance of the horse. Nonsense, you, we had innocently supposed the disappearance of the horse had something to do with it.

The starvation of the fly, beginning in the homes of the nation, might appropriately be continued to the markets, shops and other places where the flies naturally think themselves invited to a feast without restriction.

Alleging that he was pricked by a nasty needle in his mattress, a New Orleans resident has brought suit against a local hotel keeper. The only explanation as to how the needle came there is that it was the much mooted one of haystack fame.

A St. Louis boy was struck by an automobile and got injured. The chauffeur should lose his license.

A New York pastor asserts that it is impossible for a clergyman to "maintain his honor on $1,000 a year." If we rightly understand the meaning of the word "honor," the man who cannot maintain it on $1,000 or $500 a year, will not maintain it on $10,000. If the complainant will substitute the word "family" for "honor," his assertion will have a greater proportion of veracity.

ARCHBALD IS GUILTY

SENATE DECIDES AGAINST JUR-IST; WILL LOSE POST—VOTE 68 TO 5.

CONVICTED ON 1ST COUNT

Declared Innocent of Allegations in the Second and Sixth Articles—Some Refrain From Voting.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commerce court was found guilty by the senate sitting as a court of impeachment of having misused his office and power as a judge for his personal gain. The penalty is removal from his high office.

Archbald was convicted on the first count of thirteen which the house of representatives brought against him. It charged that he had used his position as a judge to persuade the Erie Railroad company to give to him and E. J. Williams of Scranton an option on a coal dump at a price probably $30,000 less than its real value.

Proceed to Vote.

On this the first charge, the senate voted 68 to 5 for his conviction of "high crimes and misdemeanors." Although the verdict insured Judge Archbald's removal from the bench and the service of the United States courts, the senate then proceeded to vote on the other twelve counts of the articles of impeachment which charged various other acts where Archbald had improperly used his influence as a judge.

Mrs. Archbald, who has been at her husband's trial every day and who testified in his behalf, heard the senate's decision from a seat in the gallery.

The vote on the first count was as follows.

For Conviction — Ashhurst, Burkett, Bourne, Bristow, Brandegee, Bryan, Burton, Chamberlain, Clapp, Clark of Wyoming, Clarke of Arkansas, Crane, Crawford, Culberson, Cummins, Curtis, Dillingham, Dupont, Fletcher, Foster, Gallinger, Gore, Gronna, Hitchcock, Johnson of Maine, Kenyon, La Follette, Lippitt, Lodge, McCumber, McLean, Martin, Martine, Myers, Nelson, Newlands, O'Gorman, Owen, Page, Perkins, Pomerene, Root, Simmons, Smith of Arizona, Smoot, Stephenson, Stone, Sutherland, Swanson, Thornton, Tillman, Townsend, Warren, Wetmore, Williams, Works.

Against Conviction—Burnham, Crayton, Oliver, Paynter and Penrose.

The Second Article.

Not guilty was the verdict on the second article of impeachment, which charged Judge Archbald with having used his position to secure a fee by settling a case between the Marion Coal company and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad. The vote was 46 to 25 in the judge's favor.

The vote on the third article was 60 to 11 in favor of conviction. The vote on the fourth article of impeachment again resulted in conviction by a vote of 52 to 20. Archbald was found guilty by a vote of 54 to 5 on the fifth article.

Judge Archbald was acquitted on the sixth charge, the voting for conviction being 34 to 45.

Archbald was found not guilty on article seven, the vote being 39 to 36.

Not guilty on article eight was the verdict, by 52 to 20.

On article nine the vote was: Guilty, 33; not guilty, 39.

Senators Refrain From Voting.

Before the final vote on each impeachment was read, Senator Kern, of Indiana, Senator Dillingham, of Vermont, and Senator Bradley, of Kentucky, asked to be excused from voting because they had not been present throughout the trial. They were excused. Senator Clark, of Arkansas, was excused from voting on all articles else which charged Judge Archbald with unethical acts before he was elevated to the commerce court; Senator Bourne was excused from voting on all articles except the first, and Senator Jackson, of Maryland, was excused from voting on all articles. He entered the senate since the trial began. This left the total possible voting strength of the senate eighty-eight, on account of absences and vacancies.

Plenty of Wives.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Charles Frederick Merkel talked too much in his sleep and got a wife. He also got a penchant for beating his wife. As a result Merkel is under arrest and is said to be a bad bunch in New York on a charge of bigamy. Merkel, who is described as a freight clerk by the police, was arrested for beating Mrs. Merkel. "It don't cause anything for my wife, anyway," he remarked to Lieutenant Joseph Thomas as he was being locked up. I've got another one in New York."

Trying to Settle Strike.

New York, Jan. 14.—Except for a mass meeting there were few activities in the garment trades strike, which involves 125,000 workers and has been in progress since Jan. 1. It is announced that 50,000 men and women will march in a parade today. Samuel Gompers, and Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, are in the city and it is reported they are engaged in conferences with the strike leaders, seeking to arrange a settlement.

Rockefeller Examined By Ordar.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 14.—William Rockefeller, whose testimony is wanted by the house committee investigating the so-called money trust, was examined here by Dr. Charles W. Richardson to determine whether or not the physical condition of the New York millionaire is such that he may safely testify. Dr. Richardson asserted that nothing would be given out regarding the examination until he had made his report to Representative Pujo, chairman of the committee.

TAFT'S PLANS FOR CITIZENSHIP

WILL TAKE UP DUTIES AT YALE IN THE SPRING.

President Will Visit South and Canada—Will Not Practice Law.

Washington, Jan. 15. — President Taft has completed plans for the first years resumption of his citizenship after March 4. He will take up the duties of a law professor at Yale and will not make a world tour in the interest of peace and arbitration. He will reside in New Haven, but for three months of the seven he expects to live in Canada.

Mr. Taft will leave Washington with Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen on March 4, after the inauguration of Mr. Wilson, for Augusta, Ga., to become the guest of that city until March 27. He will stop at a winter resort hotel there. Charles D. Hilles, his secretary, and Mrs. Hilles, also will be guests of the city of Augusta. T. C. Taft, the president's brother and Mrs. C. P. Taft, John Hays Hammond and Mrs. Hammond are expected to visit the Tafts at Augusta.

Mr. Taft expects to leave Augusta in time to arrive in New Haven at the beginning of the spring term of Yale university. There he will reside at a local hotel, remaining in New Haven through commencement late in June. This commencement will be the thirty-sixth since the president was graduated, and his class, that of '78, will hold a reunion.

After commencement Mr. Taft will go to Murray Bay, Canada, for a three months' stay. On Sept. 5, 6, and 7 the president will attend the annual meeting of the American Bar association in Montreal. He has written a personal letter to Lord Haldane, the British chancellor, asking him to attend these sessions.

From Murray Bay Mr. Taft will return to New Haven to take up the work of the fall term.

TO RETIRE OFFICERS.

Plans for Reorganization of the Customs Service Are Made Public.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The treasury department's tentative plan for the reorganization of the customs service, it was learned, contemplates the abolition of all custom naval officers and surveyors of customs, confining the port administration to collectors and deputy collectors.

It also is the department's intention to deprive the collector at ports along the Great Lakes and the Canadian border of their present perquisites from the sale of manifest blanks and to turn this revenue into the treasury. At some of the smallest ports where the salary of the collector does not exceed $1,000, four or more of manifests are believed by officials to be sufficient compensation to a large amount, even $15,000 or $20,000 in some cases. At New York and all principal seaports the collector's years ago lost the returns from the sale of manifest blanks.

The abolition of the naval officers and also the passing of one of the most historic characters in the service of the United States. He is a relic of the colonial days.

FLOOD IS ABATING.

River Men Declare Great Has Been Reached and Worst is Over.

Cincinnati, Jan. 15. — After delog thousands of dollars worth of damage as well as causing about 2,000 families to abandon their homes, the flood of the Ohio river at this point has come almost to a standstill.

The river is rising at the rate of one-tenth of a foot every four hours, but river men say the crest of the flood has been reached and the worst is over.

Two hundred homes berber families driven from their homes while 25 municipal free "soup" or eating houses have been established and are working to their capacity.

The city council will meet with the city sleking trustees and it was stated by the latter that the worst may be over, but that the fire will be subdued, the Ohio will be flooded for days, as almost the entire city is under water.

FIRE LOSS $2,000,000.

Canadian Packing Plant Burned—Will Cause Large Meat Shortage.

Calgary, Alta., Jan. 14.—The packing plant of H. Burns & Co. has been destroyed by fire. The loss, including stock in cold storage, probably will be in excess of $2,000,000.

The loss is serious because the plant was the largest of its kind in this part of Canada, and from which all the western cities drew largely for their meat supplies. The company estimates that the loss will be 20,000 carcasses. The property was insured, including the stock in storage, for about 1,000,000.

Penny Brigade Growing.

Boise, Idaho, Jan. 15.—Senator Dow Dunning's "penny brigade," composed of contributors of one cent each in the fund toward paying the fines of R. S. Sheridan, C. O. Broxon and A. C. Crayne, imposed by the Idaho supreme court for contempt, grows with the arrival of hundreds of letters in every mail. Pennsylvania has the second Monday among the outside states in the number of subscribers to the fund. In some instances pennies here been collected through the medium of newspapers.

Helen Gould's Marriage.

New York, Jan. 14.—Announcement of the date and the arrangements for the marriage of Helen Miller Gould and Finley J. Shepard has just been made. The wedding will take place Jan. 22 at Miss Gould's country place at Irvington, N. Y. Only a small gathering of relatives and intimate friends will be present.

Duchess of Connaught Improves.

Montreal, Jan. 14.—The condition of the Duchess of Connaught who is ill here, shows continued improvement.

ROYAL FAMILY OF THE NETHERLANDS

This is the only group photograph received in the United States of Wilhelmina, queen of the Netherlands, and her consort, Prince Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, to whom she was married in 1905, and their daughter, Juliana Wilhelmina, born April 30, 1909. The young princess of Orange, as the custom calls, will succeed to the throne occupied by her mother, unless a son and heir to the reigning house is born.

VESSEL IS STRANDED

ORDERS GIVEN TO LIGHTEN URANIUM, FAST ON THE ROCKS OF HALIFAX.

HOW SHIP CAME TO GRIEF

Was Playing "Good Samaritan of the Seas" Trying to Answer Call For Help.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 15.—So firm and fast is the steamer Uranium lodged on the rocks near Chebucto Head, where she ran aground to Sunday's fog, that no amount of rebuilding by a fleet of tugs pulled her a foot towards deeper water.

After three ineffectual attempts to float her, orders were this morning issued to land another vessel, the tug Scotsman, on the ledge beside her. Capt. Eistace decided he would have to lighten the ship before she could be extricated.

Of the 188 passengers who were taken off the stranded liner many left here for their destination during the day. Six bodies of corpses, so embalmed by United States immigration service inspectors Monday afternoon expect to leave soon for New York.

The Uranium line on an almost even keel with her forward bulkhead stove in and two more feet of water to it on the bed Sunday.

The cargo which Capt. Eustace ordered removed weighs about 1,400 tons.

Cargo 14,000 Tons.

It was while playing the good samaritan of the seas that the Uranium came to grief. Capt. Eustace said: Bound from Rotterdam to New York, she turned out of her course on Jan. 9 to answer a wireless call for help. The message came from the steamer Northampton. It said that fire was raging ahead and that it was beyond control. For three days the Uranium groped through the fog trying to find and succor the burning vessel; then the Northampton herself, by wireless that the fire was subdued, the Uranium resumed her track, reaching the entrance to Halifax harbor in a dense fog.

The Egg Island buoy was sighted but not the intervening buoy and without this to guide her, the Uranium crashed into Chebucto Head.

Disqualified from Holding Office.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Robert W. Archbald, for 20 years an occupant of judicial positions in the United States, was today adjudged guilty of "high crimes and misdemeanors," was stripped of his office as judge of the commerce court and forever disqualified from holding positions of public honor or profit under the United States, has announced the appointment of Dr. Willard D. Bigelow as a member of the board of food and drug inspection which passes on all cases of alleged violation of the pure food law. Dr. Bigelow, who fills the vacancy caused by the voluntary retirement of Dr. R.-E. Doolittle, has been with the bureau of chemistry for 20 years and had served as assistant chief since 1903.

Saskatoon Has $50,000 Blaze.

Saskatoon, Sask., Jan. 14.—Fire destroyed the building of the Western Foundry and Machine company here. On account of the cold firemen experienced difficulty in fighting the flames. The damage was $50,000.

Three Convicts Escape.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 14.—Three convicts in the state penitentiary stole an automobile and made their escape in it. They got a fifteen-minute start of the armed guards and headed straight south.

WILSON PREDICTS SOLIDARITY

PRESIDENT-ELECT CREDITS HIS ELECTION TO PROGRESSIVES.

Declares People Are Swinging Round to Democratic Party—Some of the Conditions.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 15.—Governor Wilson, for whom the majority of the states in the union Monday officially cast their electoral votes for the presidency, proclaimed in a speech to the New Jersey presidential electors that he interpreted his election as the direct expression of the Progressive impulses of the country.

"I shall not be acting as a partisan when I pick out progressives and only progressives, to aid me," the governor said, in analyzing the spirit that he said had produced his election.

The governor predicted no division to the counsels of the Democratic party, but foresaw solidarity. "Those Democrats," he said, "who hitherto have been slow to align themselves with the Progressive banner of the party are everywhere yielding. The business men of the country, too are swinging ahead of the Osteman governor's line of their duties to the people."

The speech was delivered at a luncheon given for the electors by the Democratic state committee before the official ballot was cast. It was the last General Wilson will be called to make before his inauguration.

Telegrams came from Democratic committeemen throughout the union congratulating the governor on the balloting yesterday. New Jersey's ballot will be carried to Washington by three Democrats who will be in a row, a cousin of the president-elect and a student of Princeton university.

ARRAIGNS WOMEN.

Miss Ida Tarbell Says Woman Overdo in Dress—Instinct Gets Upper Hand.

New York, Jan. 15.—"What it all amounts to is that instinct for ornament has got the upper hand of a great body of American women. We have failed so far to develop standards of taste, fitness and quality, strong, sure and good enough effectually to impress themselves to an unreal or natural taste in dress; there is only admirable skill to adapting fashions made in other countries. There is no national sense of restraint and proportion. There is no national sense of equality; even the rich in this country are imitating goods bad designs."

In a talk on the tendency of modern American women, Miss Ida Tarbell, historian, said last night at the meeting of the history of Standard Oil, place her as an authority on all questions that affect the economic and social position of the modern American woman, made the above criticism of her country-women.

Sent Stolen Presents.

Vincennes, Ind., Jan. 15.—Ferdinand H. Johnson, of Glenwood, Minn., arrested in Chicago on charges of sending of seedleg stolen gifts to women, pleaded guilty to grand larceny and was sentenced to 2 years in the Michigan City prison. Johnson was arrested by a local department store. During his service hundreds of dollars worth of goods had disappeared in this city, on March 1. On the same day the medal awarded by congress to Captain Rostron will be presented to him by President Taft.

Revocation Attempt Fails.

Washington, Jan. 15.—An attempt to revoke President Taft's recent order placing fourth class postmasters under the classified civil service and to remove from classification assistant postmaster and clerks in first and second class postoffices by an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill, failed in the house. The bill, carrying $276,483,781 was passed. The amendment offered by Representative Gulino, of Indiana, provided for the revocation of the executive order of Oct. 13, 1912.

WAR MAY CONTINUE

ALLIES AUTHORIZED TO TERMINATE ARMISTICE UNLESS OTTOMANS AGREE TO TERMS.

TURKS WILL NOT YIELD

Further Hostilities Expected—400,000 Troops Surround Fortress of Adrianople, Ready to Strike.

London, Jan. 15.—The peace delegates of all the Balkans have informed Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, that they are authorized to terminate the armistice with Turkey immediately, unless the Turks agree to the terms offered by the allies, including the cession of Adrianople and the Egean islands.

Simultaneously.

The decision definitely to break up the peace conference in London simultaneously with the presentation to the Turkish government of the note of the European powers was also reached.

The resolution of the representatives of Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro and Servia will be communicated to the Porte in a formal note. Since Dec. 3 hostilities between Bulgaria and Servia on the one side and Turkey on the other have entirely ceased. Greece, which did not sign the armistice protocol, however, has continued fighting against Turkey both on sea and land with varying success.

Montenegro also which was compelled by a party to the armistice, has been engaged in the interim in many severe skirmishes with the troops forming the garrison of the Turkish fortress of Scutari, which shows no sign of surrendering. It is believed that the Ottoman troops there, most of whom form part of the regular army, are fully well provided with food and ammunition, as Scutari was always a great center of the grain trade and contains a large arsenal.

Janina, in the south of Epirus, was the rallying point for a large force of Turkish troops who escaped from Adrianople and other places in Macedonia and Albania. The Greeks have closed all approaches to the fortress from the south but to the north and west the communications are still open and the Turks there are able to obtain supplies.

Despite the reports as to conditions in the great fortress of Adrianople are current but it appears evident that the Turkish troops and inhabitants of the city are suffering greatly from disease and lack of provisions. They have been besieged ever since the last week of February by the Bulgarians, who have since been reinforced by large bodies of Servians, fresh from their victories on the other side of the peninsula.

Before the Tchatalja lines defending Constantinople there is a great army of Bulgarians who are strong entrenched and fronting them are large bodies of Turkish troops some of them the remnants of the defeated army which fled before the advancing Bulgarians and other fresh troops brought to Turkey from the Asiatic provinces of Asia Minor.

The threatening note of the allies to the Turks is to be worded to such a way that it will become effective only in the event of the Ottoman government's refusing compliance with the advice given to it by the ambassadors of the European powers.

The ministers of the Balkan league are of the opinion that the note drafted by the European diplomats is to obtained that the Ottomans be confronted by a vitalitoje toolo and this, they think, will be supported by their fleets on certain hostilities.

It is expected that the situation to London expresses the opinion that Turkey will reject the advice of the European powers and that hostilities will be resumed.

The representatives of the Balkan allies declare that they are ready to face all events. They say that a fewer than 400,000 of their troops are concentrated around the fortress of Adrianople and that the lines of Tchetalja while all the heavy siege batteries have been placed to position before Adrianople.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

Minneapolis, Jan. 15.—Wheat, May, 88@c; July, 89@c. No. 1 northern, 90@91c; No. 2 northern, 88@89c. No. 3 durum, 87@87c. No. 1 durum, 88@89c. No. 2 durum, 87@87c. No. 1 flax, $1.30@1.31. No. 2 flax, $1.28@1.29.

Duluth, Jan. 15.—Wheat, May, 89c; July, 89@c.

South St. Paul, Jan. 15.—Cattle, receipts, 4,000; market slow, weaker. Beeves, $5.50@7.25; cows and heifers, $3.50@6.50; stockers and feeders, $5.00@7.00; calves, $6.50@9.50. Hogs, receipts, 14,000; market 5c lower. Light, $7.30@7.60; mixed, $7.30@7.60; heavy, $7.30@7.60; rough, $7.30@7.40; pigs, $5.75@6.75; bulk of sales, $7.30@7.60. Sheep, receipts, 11,000; market steady to 10c lower. Wethers, $5.50@6.25; ewes, $4.50@5.50; lambs, native, $7.50@8.40; lambs, western, $7.50@8.40.

Chicago Livestock.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Cattle, receipts, 1,000; market slow, weaker. Beeves, $5.50@8.90; Texas steers, $5.50@7.00; western steers, $5.60@7.50; stockers and feeders, $5.00@7.80; cows and heifers, $3.50@8.00; calves, $7.50@10.50. Hogs, receipts, 31,000; market 5c lower. Light, $7.30@7.60; mixed, $7.30@7.60; heavy, $7.30@7.60; rough, $7.30@7.40; pigs, $5.75@6.75; bulk of sales, $7.30@7.60. Sheep, receipts, 31,000; market steady to 10c lower. Wethers, $5.50@6.25; lambs, native, $7.50@8.40; lambs, western, $7.50@8.40.

Captain Rostron is Rewarded.

Washington, Jan. 15.—In recognition of his prompt response to the call of humanity in rescuing the passengers of the Titanic, Captain Arthur H. Rostron, then in command of the steamer Carpathia, has been awarded the medal of honor by the American Cross of Honor. In with he presented him by Secretary Bryce, the British ambassador in this city, on March 1. On the same day the medal awarded by congress to Captain Rostron will be presented to him by President Taft.

Foundation Stone Laid.

Washington, Jan. 15.—An attempt to revoke President Taft's recent order placing fourth class postmasters under the classified civil service and to remove from classification assistant postmaster and clerks in first and second class postoffices by an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill, failed in the house. The bill, carrying $276,483,781 was passed. The amendment offered by Representative Gulino, of Indiana, provided for the revocation of the executive order of Oct. 13, 1912.

WINTERING IN NILE VALLEY

Egypt is Rendezvous of Many Tourists—Hellopolis Affords Travelers Numerous Pleasures.

Cairo, Egypt.—Last year more than 50,000 tourists from every part of the globe disembarked at Alexandria to winter in the Nile Valley. The sequence of these figures shows not only that the taste for travel is attracting every class of society, but also that this desire has been fully satisfied by the steamship and railway companies, by the tourist agencies and the river boat companies. The journey up the Nile can be divided into three main stages. The first will take us from Cairo to Assouan, upon the Nubian frontier, the second from Assouan to Khartoum, and the third from Khartoum to the center of the Dark Continent.

To reach Cairo we disembark at Alexandria, and here the traveler gains his first glimpse of the east. No sooner has the great steamer moored than it is surrounded by hundreds of boats full of Egyptians, Turks and Arabs, gesticulating and yelling. In a few moments we are boat is stormed by this motley, clamorous crowd of dragomans, guides, interpreters, boatmen, tourist agents, etc. The former is distinguished by a fez, a turban of tourists, a frock coat and a heinous bewildering: the astounded tourist is horrified to behold Egyptian officials in black clothes upon his luggage and carry it fortwith away. At that moment a contortive voice is heard: "Gently, gently, there; we represent Cook; we undertake all responsibility." On the deck appears a colossal Arab, in a superb gold-laced costume, followed by a battalion of stout porters, wearing red corsays. As if by enchantment the tumult is calmed. Like a general upon the battlefield, the agent commands and divides his men, and with a few travelers any information which they may require. Alexandria is distant from the capital a journey of three hours. The express trains are composed of modern corridor carriages, and an excellent dinin[illegible] can be had on the way or ordered in advance.

A View of the Nile From the New Cairo Automobile Road.

A short distance from Cairo is Heliopolis, which has become the residence, for the most part, of the rich cream of Cairene Society. Founded about six or seven years ago on the Abbaieh Oasis, to the middle of the desert a short distance from Cairo, the new town has developed so rapidly that it now affords the holidaymaker more luxuries and pleasures than any other watering-place of approximate repute.

MASTERPIECE IN JUNK SHOP

Physician's $100 Purchase Thought to Be a Velasquez Worth at Least $20,000.

Moorovia, Cal.—Drawn by idle curiosity to a junk shop section in Moorovia, Dr. Joseph Ward, the Pottenger of Monrovia, it is stated, bought for $100 a painting that pleased his fancy and which later was pronounced by connoisseurs a Velasquez masterpiece worth at least $20,000.

Judges of art works declared the painting, a dairy scene, was undoubtedly from the hand of Velasquez, the famous Spanish artist, who died thirty years ago.

They averred the painting was probably fifty years old, one going so far as to declare it was painted in Seville in Paris a few years ago for several thousand francs.

SICK MAN BATTLES WITH LION

Shot Beast Three Times Before It Dropped Fifty Fast From Him—Lion Dies at Hands, Wyo.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—Stricken with one of the largest mountain lions ever seen in this section, George Weber, a sufferer from tuberculosis shot and killed the animal, weighing 375 pounds, which he found feeding on a steer. The battle occurred at Hecla, in Laramie county.

Fisher shot at the animal, wounding it in the lion at once gave the dead and started for Fisher in leaps. The man retreated, scoring another bullet into the beast. Weber was about to take effect, it did not stop the attack. The struggle ended on the animal's head, and as it was within 50 feet of Fisher it dropped dead.

GERMAN TAX LAW OPPOSED

Proposed Action Against Nickel Shows and Saloons Raises Storm of Protest.

Berlin.—A storm of protest has been aroused by the government's decision to tax tickets of admission to motion picture shows and increase the tax on brewery malt. More than 350 proprietors of nickelodeons and motion picture shows in Berlin and 2,000 saloon keepers, cafe and hotel proprietors, have petitioned against the two taxes. The Socialists are bitter in their attack upon what they term an attempt to tax the cheapest form of pleasure—the only one the working classes can afford.

(Continued from page 2.)

2751 H. E. Anderson, traveling expenses and expenses 9.12
2777 Co. of Interest paid, 8, 10, 1911 ..... 75.76
2803 H. H. Frazer, cleaning, repairs, chimneys, sheriff's residence 2.00
2804 Co. Commissioners, fee for Court House, 1911 ..... 2.20
2805 Jos. Bailey, hauling freight 2.00
2861 H. F. Anderson, postage stamps 5.00
2862 Lewis Lumber Co., lumber for sheriff's residence 5.60
2907 C. O. Kimball, inspection of county road, petitioned for by one H. Bridel and others 4.00
Total $7557.79

COUNTY ROAD AND BRIDGE FUND.

Receipts.

Credit balance January 2nd, 1912 ..... $9320.26
Tax collections 4167.38
Liquor licenses, June 2nd, 1911 ..... 500.00
Total balance, June 2nd, 1911 ..... 4267.62
Total $18,255.26

Disbursements.

Warrants issued $16,057.47
Let-backments 1.57
Total $16,059.04

County Road and Bride Fund,

No. of Warrant Issued Purpose Amt.
2198 State Treasurer, interest on bonds 1000.00
2199 Board of Co. Commrs., salary 75.00
2200 John Hughes, salary 50.00
2201 Treasurer of Deschutes 620.00
2202 Ingalls Mfg. Co. 167.75
2203 Zaiser Bros. 262.00
2204 Bank of Minnesota 87.50
2205 Zaiser Bros. 470.00
2206 Wm. St. Ivey & Harvey Bros. 1500.00
2207 Charles Fellman 3.00
2208 Wm. Fellman, salary 75.00
2209 Town of Green 167.50
2210 C. O. Kankel 2.25
2211 Sam C. Hunt, salary 75.00
2212 Herman Schultz 4.50
2213 Wm. Fellman, expenses 6.00
2214 Town of Lonsdale 6.75
2215 Wm. V. L. Dennon 4.50
2216 Town of Terrebonne 5.00
2217 Joseph Plasse 2.25
2218 Wm. Fellman, salary 75.00
2219 Town of Evansville 13.50
2220 Charles Pellman 2.00
2221 Town of Green 3.00
2222 Herman Schultz 3.00
2223 Town of Lonsdale 4.50
2224 Frank Donald 2.25
2225 William and Harvey Bros. 1500.00
2226 John Dyer 2.25
2227 Fred Wagner 14.00
2228 Wm. Fellman, salary 75.00
2229 Town of Lonsdale 6.75
2230 Town of Evansville 22.5
2231 Town of Terrebonne 5.00
Total $20651.67

COUNTY BOND & INTEREST FUND.

Receipts.

Credit balance, January 2nd, 1912 ..... $ 4,122.24
Tax collections 14,552.64
Total $18,734.70

Disbursements.

Warrants issued $1,560.37
Interest paid on County Indebtedness 1,000.00
Court House and Jail fund 575.00
Credit balance, January 2nd, 1913 ..... 5599.33
Total $18,734.70

County Bond and Interest Fund.

No. of Warrant Issued Purpose Amt.
2156 Tax County Treasurer, Penn. County ..... $ 1.00
2157 H. Wellcome 1.00
2158 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 1215.62
2159 First State Bank, Red Lake 1.00
2160 Penn County Co. 1.00
2161 Farmers Nat'l Bank, H.L.P. 1.00
2162 Farmers State Bank, H.L.P. 1.00
2163 Merchants State Bank, H.L.P. 1.00
2164 First State Bank, H.L.P. 1.00
2165 W. F. Nat'l Bank, H.L.P. 1.00
2166 W. W. Wash Mf. Co. 1.00
2167 First State Bank, L. L. 1.00
2168 Louis Ferrant 1.00
2169 Citizens' State Bank of St. Cloud 1.00
2170 Farmers Nat'l Bank, H.L.P. 237.25
2171 First State Bank, H. L. P. 1.00
2172 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 1.00
2173 Chas. C. Hopkins 760.98
2174 Tax of Dunsmith ..... .16
2175 Walter J. Smith, State Treasurer 120.00
2176 Walter J. Smith, State Treasurer 800.00
2177 First State Bank, H. L. P. 1.00
2178 Farmers Nat'l Bank, H. L. P. 1.00
2179 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 1.00
2180 Hilmer 1.00
2180½ Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 1.00
2181 Penn County 925.00
Total $4569.27

INCIDENTAL FUND.

Receipts.

Credit balance, January 2nd, 1912 ..... $ 41.56
Transferred from County Revenue 100.00
Credit balance Jan. 2nd, 1913 ..... 18.92
Total $160.48

Disbursements.

Warrants issued $160.35
Total $160.35

Incidental Fund.

No. of Warrant Issued Purpose Amt.
2181 A. Laterdeen, express ..... $ 2.12
2182 Joseph Perrault, postage 1.00
2183 Joseph Perrault, postage stamps and envelopes 10.00
2184 A. Laterdeen, express and postage stamps 2.50
2185 C. W. Johnson, express and postage 6.95
2186 A. J. Laterdeen, express 2.50
2187 A. Laterdeen, express and postage stamps 2.50
2188 Chas. Fellman, express and postage 2.50
2189 C. W. Johnson, express and postage 2.50
2190 Wm. Fellman, postal cards and envelopes 2.00
2191 A. Laterdeen, express and postage stamps 6.00
2192 A. Laterdeen, express and misc. items 3.81
2193 N. Lemieux, express, election supplies 2.50
2194 A. Laterdeen, express and postage 3.45
2195 A. A. Laterdeen, express and postage 2.50
2196 A. J. Laterdeen, express and postage 2.50
2197 Chas. Fellman, express and postage 1.00
2198 A. Laterdeen, express and postage 2.50
2199 Homer Hill, express 2.50
2200 A. J. Laterdeen, express and postage 2.50
2201 A. Laterdeen, express and postage 2.50
2202 Other Fellman, envelopes for sheriff's office 1.00
Total $160.48

PRIVATE REDEMPTION FUND.

Receipts.

Credit balance, January 2nd, 1912 ..... $ 1,475.02
Redemption 17,561.95
Total $19,036.97

Disbursements.

Warrants issued $12,461.83
Credit balance, January 2nd, 1913 ..... 6,575.14
Total $19,036.97

Private Redemption Fund.

No. of Warrant Issued Purpose Amt.
2203 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. ..... $ 31.40
2204 J. Vanderzanden 45.53
2205 F. H. Wellcome 161.16
2206 Peter Klene 2.25
2207 F. H. Wellcome 3.00
2208 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 1.00
2209 F. H. Wellcome 16.87
2210 Brown Bros. 34.98
2211 F. H. Wellcome 10.87
2212 W. H. Smith 19.45
2213 W. H. Freeman 8.00
2214 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 1.00
2215 Peter Klene 68.55
2216 C. H. Marts, services and expenses acct. Judicial Ditch No. 24 ..... 25.90
2217 C. H. Marts, services and expenses acct. County Ditch No. 24 ..... 28.85
2218 C. H. Marts, services and expenses acct. Judicial Ditch No. 1 ..... 50.80
2219 W. H. Smith 20.07
2220 C. H. Marts, services and expenses acct. Judicial Ditch No. 1 ..... 9.75
2221 C. H. Marts, services and expenses acct. Judicial Ditch No. 2 ..... 45.00
2222 C. H. Marts, services and expenses acct Ditch No. 24 23.75
Total $382.42

Publishing and Advertising.

No. of Warrant Issued Purpose Amt.
2223 Lake Falls Gazette, publishing Ditch No. 3, petitioning notice of sale $9.70
2224 Mrs. John Eastmen, Judicial Ditch No. 2, publishing notice of sale 8.70
2225 Lake Falls Gazette, publishing Ditch No. 1 notice of sale 9.70
2226 Red Lake Falls Gazette, publishing notice of sale Judicial Ditch No. 1 & 2 ..... 8.70
Total $36.80

Interest on Ditch Bonds.

No. of Warrant Issued Purpose Amt.
2227 F. H. Wellcome 22.50
2228 First State Bank, H. L. P. 9.37
2229 W. F. Nat'l Bank, H. L. P. 9.37
2230 J. V. Tumpin 187.50
2231 Wm. Smith 187.50
2232 W. W. Pritchard 37.50
2233 Peter Klene 187.50
2234 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2235 Peter Klein 93.75
2236 Merchants State Bank, Crookston 187.50
2237 First State Bank, H. L. P. 34.62
2238 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2239 Peter Klene 93.75
2240 H. Gass 24.69
2241 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2242 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2243 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2244 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2245 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2246 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2247 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2248 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2249 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2250 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2251 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2252 H. H. Gass 24.69
2253 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2254 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2255 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2256 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2257 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2258 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2259 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2260 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2261 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2262 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2263 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2264 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2265 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2266 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2267 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2268 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2269 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2270 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2271 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2272 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2273 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2274 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2275 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2276 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2277 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2278 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2279 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2280 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2281 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2282 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2283 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2284 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2285 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2286 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2287 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2288 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2289 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2290 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2291 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2292 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2293 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2294 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2295 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2296 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2297 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2298 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2299 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2300 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2301 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2302 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2303 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2304 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2305 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2306 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2307 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2308 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2309 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2310 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2311 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2312 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2313 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2314 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2315 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2316 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2317 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2318 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2319 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2320 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2321 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2322 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2323 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2324 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2325 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2326 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2327 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2328 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2329 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2330 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2331 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2332 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2333 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2334 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2335 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2336 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2337 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2338 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2339 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2340 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2341 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2342 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2343 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2344 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2345 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2346 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2347 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2348 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2349 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2350 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2351 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2352 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2353 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2354 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2355 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2356 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2357 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2358 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2359 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2360 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2361 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2362 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2363 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2364 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2365 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2366 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2367 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2368 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2369 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2370 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2371 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2372 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2373 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2374 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2375 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2376 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2377 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2378 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2379 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2380 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2381 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2382 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2383 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2384 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2385 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2386 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2387 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2388 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2389 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2390 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2391 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2392 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2393 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2394 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2395 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2396 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2397 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2398 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2399 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2400 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2401 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2402 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2403 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2404 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2405 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2406 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2407 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2408 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2409 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2410 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2411 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2412 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2413 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2414 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2415 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2416 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2417 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2418 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2419 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2420 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2421 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2422 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2423 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2424 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2425 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2426 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2427 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2428 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2429 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2430 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2431 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2432 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2433 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2434 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2435 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2436 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2437 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2438 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2439 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2440 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2441 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2442 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2443 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2444 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2445 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2446 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2447 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2448 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2449 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2450 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2451 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2452 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2453 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2454 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2455 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2456 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2457 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2458 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2459 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2460 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2461 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2462 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2463 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2464 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2465 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2466 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2467 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2468 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2469 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2470 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2471 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2472 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2473 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2474 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2475 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2476 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2477 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2478 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2479 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2480 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2481 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2482 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2483 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2484 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2485 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2486 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2487 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2488 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2489 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2490 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2491 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2492 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2493 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2494 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2495 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2496 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2497 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2498 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2499 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2500 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2501 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2502 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2503 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2504 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2505 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2506 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2507 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2508 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2509 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2510 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2511 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2512 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2513 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2514 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2515 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2516 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2517 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2518 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2519 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2520 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2521 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2522 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2523 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2524 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2525 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2526 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2527 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2528 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2529 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2530 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2531 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2532 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2533 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2534 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2535 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2536 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2537 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2538 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2539 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2540 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2541 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2542 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2543 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2544 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2545 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2546 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2547 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2548 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2549 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2550 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2551 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2552 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2553 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2554 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2555 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2556 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2557 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2558 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2559 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2560 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2561 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2562 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2563 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2564 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2565 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2566 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2567 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2568 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2569 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2570 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2571 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2572 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2573 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2574 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2575 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2576 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2577 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2578 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2579 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2580 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2581 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2582 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2583 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2584 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2585 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2586 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2587 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2588 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2589 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2590 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2591 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2592 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2593 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2594 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2595 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2596 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2597 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2598 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2599 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2600 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2601 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2602 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2603 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2604 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2605 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2606 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2607 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2608 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2609 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2610 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2611 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2612 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2613 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2614 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2615 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2616 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2617 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2618 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2619 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2620 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2621 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2622 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2623 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2624 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2625 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2626 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2627 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2628 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2629 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2630 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2631 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2632 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2633 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2634 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2635 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2636 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2637 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2638 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2639 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2640 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2641 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2642 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2643 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2644 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2645 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2646 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2647 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2648 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2649 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2650 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2651 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2652 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2653 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2654 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2655 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2656 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2657 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2658 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2659 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2660 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2661 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2662 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2663 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2664 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2665 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2666 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2667 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2668 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2669 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2670 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2671 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2672 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2673 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2674 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2675 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2676 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2677 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2678 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2679 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2680 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2681 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2682 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2683 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2684 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2685 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2686 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2687 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2688 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2689 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2690 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2691 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2692 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2693 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2694 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2695 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2696 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2697 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2698 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2699 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2700 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2701 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2702 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2703 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2704 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2705 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2706 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2707 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2708 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2709 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2710 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2711 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2712 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2713 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2714 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2715 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2716 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2717 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2718 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2719 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2720 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2721 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2722 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2723 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2724 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2725 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2726 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2727 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2728 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2729 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2730 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2731 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2732 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2733 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2734 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2735 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2736 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2737 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2738 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2739 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2740 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2741 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2742 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2743 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2744 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2745 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2746 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2747 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2748 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2749 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2750 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2751 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2752 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2753 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2754 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2755 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2756 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2757 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2758 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2759 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2760 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2761 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2762 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2763 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2764 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2765 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2766 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2767 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2768 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2769 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2770 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2771 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2772 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2773 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2774 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2775 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2776 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2777 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2778 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2779 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2780 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2781 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2782 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2783 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2784 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2785 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2786 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2787 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2788 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2789 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2790 F. H. Wellcome 200.31
2791 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2792 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2793 G. Vanderzanden 21.25
2794 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2795 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 93.75
2796 F. H. Wellcome 187.50
2797 Merchants State Bank, H. L. P. 11.10
2798 F. H. Wellcome

Stationery and Box Paper

The leading lines and styles in Stationery are to be had here. Whether it is a nickel's worth of writing paper or a $1.00 box of high-class Stationery, come here to buy it and you will be satisfied that you buying the best.

We have the largest line in the city; everything new, clean and up-to-date.

Come and see—then you will know that we have a real Stationery Department.

SPILLANES

The Store of Quality

JUST IN—INITIAL CORRESPONDENCE CARDS

The Local Field

Jos. Turpin spent Sunday at Crookston.

Farmers' Institute, court house, Feb. 12 and 13.

Geo. W. Eastman of Hazel was in the city over Sunday.

Mrs. Omer Hall entertained the F. and F. M. Tuesday evening.

Dr. C. H. Fitchhill spent Sunday at the home of his parents in Grand Forks.

County Attorney C. E. Boughton has been at Thief River Falls this week, having some cases before the district court in session in that city.

Found—A trap was found near dam on Red River. Owner may have same by identifying and paying for this notice.—Rival Bielling. Adv.

Farmers' elevator meeting at the court house Saturday afternoon.

Ed. Frodhomme and Thomas Nartell of Gentilly were guests at the Porter home Sunday.

Fred Krueger visited at the home of his son, Carl Krueger, at St. Hilaire last week.

Dr. Spafford will be in Red Lake Falls, March 7. At the Grand View Hotel. —Adv.

See my 7 Jewel Elgin watch, gilt, Sears Roebuck's price $4.98, my price $3.75.—Rudolph Holzman.—Adv.

James Brady and son, John, returned Tuesday from Big Falls where they had been for a visit with Mr. Brady's daughter, Mrs. Allard.

A benefit dance will be given at Brooks Friday night, the net receipts from the affair going to the base ball fund. Freund's orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

Miss Angelina Desouid spent Sunday at her home in Badger.

Messrs. Alphonse and Oral Berry of Euclide visited with relatives in town last week.

J. J. Padden of the Crookston Mill log company was attending to business matters in town Wednesday.

Miss Rose Cyr of Birchwood, Wis., arrived in the city last week and will visit with relatives here until spring.

The firemen are planning on giving a big Easter ball. Definite announcements of the big event will be made later.

The big 13c sale is still on at the Sunshine store,also the finest line of Valentines we have ever shown now on display.—Adv.

The Red Lake Falls Orchestra will give a big dance at Woodmen hall next Monday night, Feb. 3, to which all are invited.

To make your pullets strong and your young hens lay, feed them ground bones. Put in your order today.—Wm Schutt.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Demarais entertained a few friends Sunday evening. The guests spent a pleasant evening and at midnight lunch was served.

See my 15 Jewel watch, Elgin or Waltham. Sears Roebuck price $6.50, my price $5.75, and I pay the express charges.—Rudolph Holzman.—Adv.

Miss Regina Prudhomme visited with relatives at Crookston last week. Be sure to read LaMonnierre ad. it will mean a saving in you.—Adv.

A new resident of the city is B. O. Ketilson, who moved in from his farm southwest of town. Mr. Ketilson has bachelor quarters in the little house north of the Garceau residence.

See my 17 Jewel watch, Elgin or Waltham. Sears Roebuck price $7.45, my price $5.75, and you do not have to pay the express charges.—Rudolph Holzman.—Adv.

The subject for Rev. David V. Richardson's Sunday morning sermon at the Presbyterian church will be "The Soul's Consecration to Duty"; for the evening "The Reason for the Christian's Bravery and Hope of Victory."

Now is the time to have your gravel hauled for the coming summer. You will save 8 per cent by ordering before spring breaks up. I can furnish you with fine grit for your poultry or coarse gravel for your drive way.—Paul Brunelle.—Adv.

Frank E. Hunt left Wednesday evening on his trip to the Pacific coast, going over the Northern Pacific. Mr. Hunt's first visit will be at Tacoma at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Angwin, where Mrs. Hunt has been since last fall. He will later go to Los Angeles and will visit many points of interest to the west before his return.

Last Monday, Jan. 27, between St. Joseph's school and Jos. Hance's place, a dark goat skin robe. Was lined with green plush and slightly torn on one end. Offer $5 if returned to me or left at the harness shop. —J. F. Mathews.—Adv.

Miss Madeline Morin was pleasantly surprised by a number of her young friends Tuesday evening, they calling to help her celebrate her twenty-first anniversary of her birth.After several hours pleasantly spent playing "rummie" and with music, the guests were treated to a dainty lunch of sandwiches, cake, coffee and shortbat. Miss Morin was the recipient of a pretty gift.

Mr. and Mrs .Wilfred Lesieur of Fairview, Montana, were the guests of Mr. Lemieux's father, Dr. I. Lemieux and other relatives in the city this week. They arrived Saturday and leave this evening to go to St. Paul for a brief visit. They will visit it with relatives in Wisconsin and will then go to Seattle, where they will visit relatives, and they will visit other points of interest on the coast before returning to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Baker returned Tuesday from Montevideo, where they had been summoned because of the death of Mr. Baker's mother, which occurred on Tuesday, Jan. 14. The funeral was held Friday, Jan. 17. Mr. Baker says there is no snow in the vicinity of Montevideo and while there he took a long auto ride over roads that were in the condition one might expect in the summer time.

Many of the problems of the women of the home will be taken up at the Women's Short Course, Agricultural School, Crookston, Feb. 10-21, 1913. Several experts in home economics work will be present. The work will consist mainly of practical demonstrations and lectures. The use of the fireless cooker will be demonstrated. Women may procure rooms at teh dormitories and thus remain out at the noted during the entire course or a part of it. Full information, upon request, from th superintendent.

LAMBERT (OKLEE)

Last week Tuesday occurred the death of Peter Delaire, the fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Lacourciere. The boy was taken violently with pain on Sunday and his suffering terminated in death on the third day. Peter was a bright active boy just beginning the active duties of life and his untimely death was the sympathy of theentire community.

Au this writing we learn George Ducet lies at dash's door with little hope of recovery. Pneumonia is the worst form it the cause. Georgie has been a life long sufferer from consumption of the spine and has been failing rapidly during the winter months, but is making an unusually strong fight for his life. Every one knows and likes the little man and all hope he will yet win the battle.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Farfardeau visited with relatives and friends in Red Lake Falls last week and Henry took the boy along to see the doctor.

Jno. Belland, an old resident of Lambert and one of our pioneers homesteaders, is back on a visit from his Canadian home. He is the guest of his son Joseph and family. Mr. Belland speaks well of the northwest and is trying to induce some of our boys to go back with him.

Mrs. M. Reil has a sister visiting her from Montreal for a month.

Our citizens are rearing small pot, which is at Brooks now and people are generally trying to be careful.

Rev. W. O. Veaker and Mrs. A. Donchor have returned from big Fork where they went for the funeral of a brother-in-law, who was killed in the woods.

OLD LAMBERT

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Bergeron returned from their Canadian trip. They had been visiting friends and relatives.

Miss Aurora Ducharme of Badger Creek visited her two sisters, Mrs. F. Lacourciere and Mrs. F. Boisvert. She also attended the funeral.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Belland a supper was given in honor of John Belland, who is visiting his old Lambert place. He left this county for Cotlworth, Sask., ten years ago. Those who were present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lacourciere, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lacourciere, and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Lacourciere.

Peter Delair passed away at his home Tuesday morning at 3 o'cock at the age of 11 years and 9 months. The death of the young boy is mourned by his good mother and his step father; his own father, Mr. Tilloues Delair, died 11 years ago. The mother was married to Jas Lacourciere, ten years ago. The boy was sick only three days before his death. The pall bearers were Masters Victor Lacourciere, Victor Derry, Jos. Fournir, Albert Bergeron, Louis Bergeron, Magerin Dupont. His brother, Archie Delair, came back from the woods for the funeral Tuesday. Burial was at St. Antoin church in Lambert.

SOFTENING WATER.

Lime and Soda Cheaper Than Hard Water Soaps.

Some hard water soaps have been placed on the market, but lime and soda are much cheaper for softening laundry water. Hard waters have from 16 to 18 degrees of hardness, while even river and lake water may have from 5 to 12 degrees hardness is usually due to the presence of compounds of lime and magnesia dissolved out of the rocks and soil. The lime salts do most of the damage by curdling the soap and precipitating the scum. Water with ten degrees of hardness will prevent the action of seventeen pounds of soap per thousand gallons of water, while water of twenty degrees of hardness will prevent the action of thirty-four pounds of soap per thousand gallons of water.

Much of the hardness of Minnesota water may be removed by the addition of two pounds of quick lime to one thousand gallons of water. This average hardness. This will not remove more than about three-quarters of the hardness of the water; but it can be used further removed by adding a little washing soda.—George W. Wilson, Agricultural Chemistry and Soils, University Farm, St. Paul.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	.75
Durum	.75
Rye	.46
Oats	.24
Flax	1.20
Barley	.38
Potatoes—new	.25
Butter—creamery	.40
Butter—dairy	.30
Eggs—fresh	.30
Eggs—packed	.32

Notice of Hearing on Petition to Detach Land.

To the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, and to whom it may concern:

You Are Hereby Notified that the petition of Frank Mudi, Arthur Lackore and Albert Friday, praying that the following described, has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court within and for Red Lake County, Minnesota, praying that the Northwest quarter of the Northeast quarter (NW¼ of NE¼) and Lot Two, (2) in Section Fifteen (15), in Township One Hundred and Fifty one (151) Range Forty four (44) West of the Fifth Principal meridian, and in Red Lake County, Minnesota, be detached and separated from the city of Red Lake Falls.

That said petition will be heard and determined by the District Court at the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, on the 24th day of March, 1913 at 10 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, pursuant to the order of the Court which is on file in the office of said Clerk of Court.

Dated, January 27th 1913.

FRANK MUDI,
ARTHUR LACKORE and
ALBERT FRIDAY
Petitioners.

FRED L. FARLEY,
Attorney for Petitioners.
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

THREE SPEAKERS FOR FARMERS' INSTITUTE

TWO BIG DAYS IN THIS CITY WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY FEB. 12 AND 13.

There will be three speakers for the farmer's institute to be held in Red Lake Falls for two days—Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 12 and 13. The speakers will be C. O. Carlson of Erskine, E. W. Smith of Parkers Prairie and L. H. Hughes of Carlton. These men are verywell informed on the subjects they will handle and their addresses will be worth hearing. Every farmer for miles around should plan to attend the meeting.

RATHER EXPENSIVE FUEL.

Crookston Boys Charged With Burning $125 Manure Spreader.

Warrants were issued at Crookston this week for about a dozen boys, who it is alleged, are guilty of a Hallowe'en prank that may prove expensive—the stealing of a $125 manure spreader from L. W. Larson's machine shed, dragging it down to the river bank near the foot of Ash street, where later they smashed it to pieces and burned the wooden portions in a fire to warm their river bank shack, and attempted to dump the wheels and tongue into the river, where they were found frozen in the ice.

BUY IT NOW
RIGHT-CUT CHEWING TOBACCO
GUARANTEED

"Right-Cut" Chewing Tobacco—a New Cut—The Real Tobacco Chew

"RIGHT-CUT" is ripe old leaf—mellow, smooth and sappy—age-ripened and blended to bring out the full, round flavor. Its flavor is cool, crisp, clean—not over-sweetened, but seasoned just right.

It is cut short and fine, so you get all the virtue out of the tobacco.

A small chew of "Right-Cut" lasts longer and gives you more solid comfort than twice the quantity of any other chewing tobacco.

Get a 5 cent can of "Right-Cut." You'll get the flavor without chewing—a finer flavor than you ever tasted before.

Ask your dealer for "Right-Cut" today.

We guarantee it to be pure chewing tobacco

WEYMAN-BRUTON CO.

5% INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS

CHARACTER

Regardless of national or state banking laws and regulations, the persons who own and conduct a banking business are, in fact, THE BANK.

The Merchants State Bank is owned and operated by your neighbors and fellow townsmen, people of known character, integrity, ability and long business experience.

A competent board of directors devote their time and attention to the bank's affairs and give it the benefit of their business knowlege.

The Stockholders and the Directors are the Merchants State Bank and your affairs in this bank's care has, in short, the care and attention of the men who are the Bank.

Merchants State Bank

Capital, Surplus and Deposits $500,000.00

RED LAKE FALLS, . . MINN.

Farm Loans at Low Rates

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY

INVENTORY SALE

For One Week

BEGINNING FRIDAY

Hdkfs, fine barred, 3 for	10c
Toile Du Nord Gingham Remnants per yard	10c
Necktie clean-up, choice	25c
Daisy Muslin, the best in the city, per yard	10c
Lace Curtains	1-3 off
Girls fleece goods Dresses	69c
Boys' 85c Knee Pants	39c
Boys' $1.25 Knee Pants	69c
Ladies' $2.25 finest kid, flannel lined Shoe, 6, 7 & 8	$1.49
Boys Mocha Mittens	39c
4 Oneita $2.00 Ladies' Union Suits	$1.29
50 new pieces Percales	9, 12½, 15c
10 new pieces Galatea at	19c
10 new pieces Serpentine Crepe
Ladies' $1.25 fleece-lined Rubbers, jersey top, button Serviceable; nobbiest rubber made	89c
Waisting Silks, one lot	1-3 off
Macaroni	7c
Good Cheese per lb.	15c
Fine Candies per lb.	12c
Whitley Tomatoes per can	11c
Pineapples, each	10c
Grape Fruit, each	10c
Oranges, per doz.	30-40-50c
Fine red Apples, lb.	5 & 6c
Pure Sorgbum, per pail	45c
Log Cabin and Newells Xtra Maple Syrup
Fine Buckwheat Flour, lb.	5c
Peanut Butter	15c
5 lb. box Starch	25c
Fancy Codfish, frozen Herring, 4 K Norway Herring 10c, Trout—Everything for Lent.

Remember it costs little for postage on merchandise these days. We can mail you a pair of shoes, a dress pattern or 2 lbs. of coffee for 6c.

Send for samples of anything you need. No waiting; you can get your goods in two days, beats sending away all to pieces

Remember it pays to trade at

THE BIG STORE,
Theo. LaBissoniere, Prop.

Order Limiting Time to File Claims Within Three Months, and for Hearing Thereon.

Estate of John Wellenstein, Decedent. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of John Wellenstein, Deceased.

Letters of Administration with the Will annexed, this day having been granted to Armond Welenstein of Worth County, State of Iowa, and it appearing by the affidavit of said representative that there are no debts of said decedent;

It is Ordered, That the time within which all creditors of the above named decedent may present claims against his estate in this Court, be, and the same hereby is, limited to three months from and after the date hereof; and that Monday, the 5th day of May, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., in the Probate Court Rooms at the Court House at Red Lake Falls, in said County, be, and the same hereby is, fixed and appointed as the time and place for hearing upon and the examination, adjustment and allowance of such claims as shall be presented within the time aforesaid.

Let notice hereof be given by the publication of this order in Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly and legal newspaper of said Red Lake County, as provided by law.for three successive weeks.

Dated January 28th, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate.

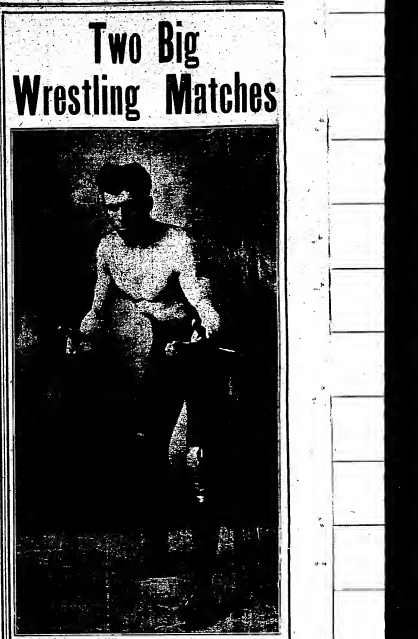
(Probate Court Seal) 2t-P28-F18

DR. G. B. FAIRCHILD
DENTIST
Graduate University of Minnesota
Office over LaBissoniere's store
Office hours:
9 a. m. to 12 m. 1 p. m. to 5 p. m

JOHN W. PETERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office over Robertus' store
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

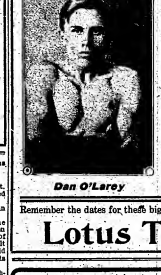
THEO. ALTENDORF
Watches—High-wheelers
Successor to Wm. Zaiser
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Two Big Wrestling Matches



CURTIS, the Halstad Grappler

Curtis and Dunn Tuesday, Feb. 5



Dan O'Larey

Sorrels and O'Larey

Friday, Jan. 31

Remember the dates for these big athletic events and the place

Lotus Theatre

HORSES

From now on I will always have on hand a large number of native broke mares, ranging in weight from 1200 to 1500 pounds. Can fit you out with any horses that you may need for your spring work. You can always buy them RIGHT from me.

LOUIS SIEFF, SR.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Attend the Farmers' Institute at Red Lake Falls

FEBRUARY 12 and 13, 1913

MinnesotaHistoricalSociety

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1883
RED LAKE COURIER—ESTABLISHED 1898.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1913. VOL. XXX—NO. 30

ELEVATOR PLAN MEETS WITH FAVOR

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT SATURDAYS MEETING—STOCK NOW BEING SOLD.

Fifty or more farmers met at the court house Saturday afternoon to consider the proposition for the construction of a farmers' elevator in Red Lake Falls. Those attending the meeting enthusiastically favored the proposition and there is no doubt that a house will be constructed in Red Lake Falls the coming season.

It is proposed to capitalize the company at ten thousand dollars and it was the general belief that the stock could be sold without any difficulty. Considerable stock was subscribed for Saturday afternoon.

Thos. Whaley of who was chosen chairman of the meeting, appointed a committee of nine to solicit for the sale of stock and to determine what sites on the Great Northern railway right of way are available. The committee will report at a meeting to be held at the court house Saturday afternoon, Feb. 15. All people interested in the undertaking are invited to attend the meeting.

TELEPHONE EXTENSION.

Clearwater Company May Run Line Into Red Lake Falls.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Clearwater Telephone company last Friday afternoon it was concluded to appoint a committee to canvass the county tributary to where the lines are now running with a view of extending the lines if a sufficient number of subscribers are secured. The committee appointed and the territory assigned to them to canvass are: Chas. Sell, Gurney; Sam Lovaas, north of Clearwater; P. S. Medchill, west of Plummer, and Fritz Anderson, southwest of Plummer. The company now has 84 phones but Manager Medchill feels confident that to case a sufficient number of phones are subscribed for to merit extending the lines that this number would be doubled inside of a year. Another proposed change is to run a wire for long distance purposes along from here to Red Lake Falls. Quite a number of farmers along the line have expressed a desire to install phones but owing to the congested condition of this line already no more phone holders could be taken on. Another desired change which is being investigated is that of installing a switch at Oklee. In case this is done a special wire will also be run to that place for commercial purposes alone. These proposed changes speak well of the company's success in the past and a bright future can easily be predicted for it.—Plummer Pioneer.

Dollars' Worth of Information.

If it should be announced that the state would next week send a group of men to the town to distribute bags of gold dollars among the farmers—the amount to be apportioned according to the number of intelligent questions asked by him—how many of them would stay away; and how many would fail to prime themselves in advance with interrogations? But the reservoirs of useful information which the farmers institute workers will have on tap during their stay here will be worth more than bags of gold; and they will be employed for the benefit of questioners every day. Sought for and applied to the work of the farm, the information thus distributed will increase production, multiply the satisfaction of agriculture and brighten the life of the farm home.

URGED TO ATTEND THE MEETING

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT URGES TEACHERS TO GO TO THIEF RIVER FALLS.

There will be held at Thief River Falls onFeb. 18-14-15 educational meetings of much importance. Some of the leading educators of the country will be there and it is worth while to make an effort to hear men of such national fame. I urge all teachers and school officers to make such arrangements as will enable the teachers to attend the meetings. Feb. 12 is a legal holiday. Let the schools be opened on that day and then close the schools for the rest of the week. If necessary, the school could well be opened on a Saturday or the term extended a day later in the spring to make up the one day lost. But I feel that every school district can well afford to like a school day to let their instructors go to these meetings, for whatever the teachers learn—and there will be opportunities to learn much—will sreotuely be to the benefit of the schools. I would be pleased to see a large number of our teachers attend.—Albany DeForge, Co. Supt.

Farmers' Institute Next Week

Two Days Session at the Court House Next Wednesday and Thursday---Able Men Will Talk on Subjects of Interest to Farmers.

WRESTLING MATCHES GOOD EXHIBITIONS

O'LAREY GOT SORRELS—CURTIS OF HALSTAD IS FOUR ARMED WONDER.

The wrestling matches pulled of at the Lotus theatre Friday night and Tuesday night delighted the mat fans fans. They were fast and clean exhibitions.

Dan O'Leary, who is making a tour of the northwest, and Sorrels of Grand Forks, who has made a local reputation, were billed on Friday night. Though Sorrels got the first fall, it was evident to the crowd that O'Leary was the better man. The fall was accomplished by a toe hold that could not be broken. O'Leary got the second and third falls, though it required an exhibition of fast and clever work to get the Grand Forks man.

During the excitement of the contest County Commissioner Jos. Plowe made the crack that he could throw Dan Llooiian two out of three falls. Llealhan jumped at the chance. Considerable time was taken in arranging for the bout and before they got to it they decided to endorse and call it off.

The match Tuesday night between Curtis of Halstad and Axel Juan, a Canadian wrestler, was a contest of considerable class, though the Canadian was unable to hold the Halstad boy. Curtis got the first fall in ten minutes and the second fall in a little less than three minutes. Curtis might appropriately be called the four-armed wonder, for he uses his legs and feet just about as effectively as his arms, and handles them a lot of scientific maneuvers to the other fellow with "all four." he has him so tied up that he cannot do more than wiggle his toes in surrender. At the close of the contest it was announced that Curtis had accepted challenges from Doran of North Lake to and "Jimmie Platts" of St. Paul, hoots to be pulled off in the Lotus theatre in the near future.

Next Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 5 and 6, here the days on which the farmers' institute will be held in Red Lake Falls and every farmer in the county should come to the meetings.

The speakers will be C. O. Carlson of Hamline, H. B. Smith of Park Rapids and L. E. Rapiee of Carlton. Those men are very well informed on the subjects they will handle and their addresses will be well worth hearing.

Farm Home Conveniences.

We frequently hear it said that the farmer is often behind what they may have the ease of the conveniences of the city home. This is a mistake in the truth, but there are many farm homes today that have as many conveniences as the average city home. Other farm homes should have these same conveniences and will have them when the farmer once knows that it is not necessary to move to town to get them. Many of the young farmers' institute and if the question is not discussed, ask for information.

Questions and Pocket Books.

What crop will pay the best on my land? And having determined the crop, what kind of seed will be the best for me to plant? Should I go it alone in growing a new variety of wheat or corn, or should the other farmers in raising the same variety, and so save to exhibits in various localities? Should I fatten my hogs for pork or sell them at the best advantage? Should I fatten the bull of my neighbors to the block, or turn him over to the local butcher? These are a few of the questions are daily coming up for discussion at the various institutes, and Wednesday and Thursday, and the facts and figures that will be given in response after of many a pocket book a few months hence.

Why is a Hog?

If a hog does not, in his daily growth, give due consideration to the fact that the role end of his existence is the making of pork, what does he live for? The Farmers' Institute to be held Wednesday and Thursday will discuss this. The Ills Maiden of the Prairie will and the ills the farmers as to the methods by which the largest amount of pork may be secured from the least work or the hog in return for the feed given him. Also as to the methods of slaughtering and caring for farm use, or of so preparing the animal for market as to fetch the high est price. It will be shown how a slight variation may have a large influence on determining the figure at which the hog, when sold, shall "tip the scales."

Farmers' Institutes and their Results

The history of the Farmers' Institutes has been a history of agricultural progress wherever the beneficent purpose of the state in providing for them has been adopted. Where the farmers have attended in sufficient numbers to give play to the spirit of emulation in the adoption of new plans and processes, and then, later on, to allow a comparisons of results. The full value of the teachings of the Institute workers is never known until they have been given practical application and results are seen. The combined use of such practical tests, plus satisfactory results, has induced a steady increase of confidence in farmers methods; of the more so, because the teachers, in order to the benefit of confidence, have seldom gone beyond the bounds of safe conservatism, and never advised the farmer to expensive risks.

What the Institute Offers.

The Farmers' Institutes bring to the assistance of our local farmers, in the work of improving crop production and bettering the life of the farmstead, all the specialized learning of the Experts in the School of Agriculture, all the results of the work done at the State Experiment Station, and all the information gathered from wide observation and comparison of processes so many farms. The opportunity of the Institute is offered at a season of the year when it is most practicable for farmers to avail themselves thereof and by hundreds of men who can afford to lose the opportunity by a failure to attend the meetings.

PREPARED FOR WHAT HAPPENED

WOMEN EXPECTED DEFEAT OF SUFFRAGE IN SENATE—DEAD FOR TWO YEARS.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, Feb. 3.—Unless it be the defeat of woman suffrage the fifty-eighth session of the Minnesota legislature has done nothing as yet that will be remembered a month hence or the ordinary, still it has much in the making and another week may see history written. The defeat of the suffrage amendment is an old story now as news runs, but it might not be amiss to say that the women it is charge of the campaign were prepared for what happened. They knew the outcome three days in advance, when a careful poll of the senate, which gave the bill its quietus, showed two votes shy of the necessary number to pass it. There was no hysteria when the vote was announced; the women in charge knew what was coming and they simply accepted the findings. Yarrington has have been assigned as the cause of the defeat of the bill. One excited individual on the taking of the vote dramatically declared that the liquor interests were responsible and he vigorously assailed the dissimilarity senators at the close of adjournment for which he was taken to task by Senator McGrath of Winona, who used the word "liar" in resenting the insinuation. Then an hour hence edge of the whole thing I would handily like to charge the defeat up to the brewers alone. There were any number of the senators honestly opposed to the movement and in casting their votes to the negative they had to go against a hostile city press and a hostile element in the part of woman suffrage that would have daunted many. At the same time the brewers did not favor the movement and they had all the "anti" sentiment they needed to that a doubling of the franchise would meant trouble for them. However, if they conducted any campaign against the movement it was outside the legislative halls for it has to be said that as far as professional lobbyists and representatives of the interests are concerned they are less in evidence this time than in years.

+ + +

The question of whether the women of Minnesota want the ballot or not is the male voters of state favor letting them have it is something that yours truly can not see him clear to even hazard a guess. The Twin City press was almost a unit in favor of the women but the views count for nothing when it is known that better day ideas daily figure with it from the standpoint of circulation. Right or wrong has no consideration with it. What will boom the circulation counts first. Recently one managing editor was approached on the question of an endeavor cutting down the price of the "Ho h—l with the gas company; how many subscribers will it get us if we put it that?" Putting it cold two-thirds of the housewives and women of Minnesota would not use the ballot if they had it—certainly it is the least of their troubles now —but the other third constitutes a considerable number and they are on the job twenty-four hours a day. What they have to say in favor of the movement makes readable stuff; it brings subscribers to the Twin City press and when they run out of readable stuff some enterprising reporter can always be counted upon to fill the gap, and so there you are. It is the same with every movement. What is there in it for us?" is the cry, and so it goes. If it looks good the live ones beck it and if it does not it fails.

+ + +

Some of the friends of the suffragist movement are hanging their hopes on the house bill, known as the Carlson act, which has been favorably reseded to pass. It will go to the senate where it pass the house, which has caused some in think that there is yet a chance, but for their benefit I will say there is not the ghost of a show. Woman suffrage is dead as far as 1913 is concerned and that is all there is to it. With this knowledge many house members will likely climb aboard when the bill comes before them. Under ordinary circumstances they would be against the measure—that is a majority of them would—but the fact that the senate is due to kill it anyway changes matters materially.

+ + +

What changes a few years bring as far as legislation is concerned. Four and two years ago it was county option. The fate of many a lawmaker hinged on the outcome. The proposition failed both times and it is again up with a like fate in sight. J. T. Lee of annandale is the author this time and he has hopes for the passage of the measure, but the best posted figure that it will lose out by about eight votes. It is no longer even a good medina annexation. The one trouble with county option is that it is not on the square. In its palmy days it furnished a meal ticket for a hungry horde who besieged the legislature from all sides and made life a burden for the opposition. Money poured into the coffers of those backing the bill and there were fat salaries for everybody. This slush fund is absent now. The bill is up in its mortis only and for that reason it will fail. Still there are many who honestly believe in county option and it will receive a good vote when it comes up for consideration. The house temperance committee has reported the bill out to pass.

+ + +

The one uncertain thing this session is tonnage tax. Whether or not it will pass the house is a question. If it does those interested are confident that it will get by the senate. The agitation for a tonnage tax on iron ore began in 1905. Those behind the bill forced it through both houses then. Former Governor Johnson, however, failed to agree with the majority and he vetoed the measure. The proposition is up again, with Representative Thomas Frankson of Spring Valley at the helm and Senator Pahl as the sponsorm. Under ordinary circumstances it should fail because of the little demand for it, but it has a chance and if it does pass no one will be surprised. This time tonnage tax, instead of being a real issue, has taken on relativity features. When the house and senate was organized the opposite members were the first to climb aboard the Rinse and Burquist bandwagons. This gave the two mentioned leaders an undoubted lead and ever since those members who opposed out have been threatening vengeance. Tonnage tax, it is said, is the weapon the minority has decided upon. Some say the liquor crowd is secretly backing the tonnage bill for purposes of retaliation. Whether

(Continued on Page Four)

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE GARDENER

In the Winter a Man's Fancy Turns to Thoughts of Seeds and Hoe.

Most everybody is a good gardener in the winter time and the reading of seed catalogs and perusing the (pictures of) watermelons and other tempting things is a most enjoyable pastime. It does that a man is filled with enthusiasm and works out plans for the finest garden you ever saw.

It is fitting, therefore, that the following suggestions for the gardener, supplied by Kathy Cady of the University Farm, should be given publicity:

Get hotbeds ready for use the latter part of the month or early in March.

Lucullus is one of the best varieties of Swiss chard. This is the leaf beet excellent for greens.

Prepare a standard of size and order the seed needed for a good succession of vegetables during the summer.

Begin to test the vegetable and farm seeds this month. Look for impurities in the seed as well as seed of low germinating quality.

The reason Europeans get such large returns from a small area is that they apply immense quantities of manure and then thoroughly cultivate the crops.

It has been proved many times that the large, plump, well-formed seed will give the best and quickest crop returns. Maral: plant only large well developed seeds.

Spinach is one of the earliest and quickest maturing of vegetable crops. It is excellent used as "greens." Triumph and Bloomdale are two good varieties. Plant early as it runs to seed quickly when sown in hot weather.

Early peas may be planted between rows of currant or raspberries or blackberries the first year. As soon as the peas are gone plow the vines under and plant beans. This will pay for taking care of the land until the raspberries fruit.

If snow has drifted over the small evergreens and currants and there is danger of breaking the branches, shatter some coarse sacks or cinders over the snow on a bright day. This will help melt it and as the cinders settle they will cut the drifts and allow the branches to break through.

Now is a good time to study the matter of buying a small hand canning outfit for saving the surplus vegetables for neat winter's use. There are some good makes on the market, costing from a few dollars up. They will save many crops for winter use at comparatively small cost. A gardener told me the other day that he canned peas, beans, corn, etc., in quantity for use during the winter and so far had experienced no trouble. He used a canning outfit costing about twelve dollars and put the material in glass jars.

SCORING CONTEST AT CROOKSTON

ENTRIES MUST BE AT FARM SCHOOL NOT LATER THAN NEXT TUESDAY.

In the Grain, Corn and Potato contest to be held ot the Agricultural school, Crookston, Minn., during the Short Course Feb. 10-21, 1913, nearly $350 in cash prizes, furnished by countless t the Ninth congressional District, will be given for the best wheat, oats, flax, rye, barley, corn and potatoes raised during 1912 in the counties that are co-operating in the contest. The farmers will compete for the cash premiums in their counties. The first prize winners of each class af grain from each county entered in the contest will compete for the$weepstakes prizes.

The sweepstakes prizes are valuable. They are donated by well known manufacturers who wish to encourage these contests. The following list shows what you may get if you send your grain, etc., to the school contest. In the counties where no contest is provided cash prizes for the entries from their own county, the farmers will be eligible for sweepstakes premiums.

Best 10 lbs. wheat—2d hp. Gasoline engine, value $100.

Best 10 lbs. rye—1 3-4 hp. Gasoline engine, value $80.

Best 10 lbs. potatoes—Sulky plow, value $50.

Best 5 lbs. oats—Machinery on $20 in gold.

Best 5 lbs. barley—Cream seperator, value $75.

Best 5 lbs. flax—$10 in gold.

Best 10 ears corn, northern section. —Six steel ranges, named above, prizes for the entries from this county will be awarded as follows: First prize, $3.00; second prize, $1.50; third prize, 50 cents. Entries from this county will be entered for the special cash prizes and then scored in the general contest for the Northern Minnesota District in which the valuable sweepstake prizes are offered.

Entries may be sent by parcels post and should reach the agricultural school, Crookston not later than next Tuesday, Feb. 11. Packages should be sent direct to Crookston, for they will be scored for bothcontests by the experts who will be at the agricultural school for the Short Course.

MINNESOTA ALFALFA

Believe It Will Seed More Heavily in Northern Section of State.

Up to the present time what little alfalfa seed has been raised in Minnesota has been grown mainly in Carver county. There are, undoubtedly, other counties in the state just as well if not better suited to alfalfa hay and seed production as Carver county. The time is probably coming in the very near future when alfalfa seed will be purchased in every county in the state. Up to the present time alfalfa has not been an sure a seeder as bsa medium red clover. However, it will probably be found that in some localities in the state it will produce seed in paying amounts.The indications are that it will seed more heavily in the northern half of the state, particularly on soils leaning toward a sandy character, says A. C. Arney of the University Farm.

It is always well to go into any new crop slowly, first planting experience most of the details necessary to successfully handle it. A great many trials of alfalfa are being made in Minnesota, some on a small scale and others an quite extensive scales. A report of success is always encouraging. In the spring of 1911, three acres were sown to alfalfa in the eastern part of Polk county. In 1912 the first crop was cut for hay and the second crop for seed. The grower cut the first crop for hay just at the right time, which is one of the essentials to getting a good yield of seed in the second crop. The second crop was cut in October and produced 250 pounds of a good grade of seed. This is better than 80 pounds of seed per acre. A yield of two bushels per acre is a good yield. Yields are on record in the state of Minnesota of ten bushels per acre, but such yields are exceptional.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE Feb. 12-13, 1913

The State Department of Farmers' Institutes will hold a Two Days' Session in the Court House at Red Lake Falls

Subjects of interest to farmers and persons interested in farming will be discussed in a practical manner. The men to be sent here are experts in their respective lines and the lectures will be of exceptionable value.

Arrange now to attend all of the sessions and learn of the newest and best ideas on farm management. This institute may give you just the help you need.

The "Institute Annuals" will be distributed at the morning sessions.

Don't Forget the Date

DEFECTIVE PAGE

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1881
RED LAKE COURIER—ESTABLISHED 1898.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1913. VOL. XXX—NO. 20

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ELEVATOR PLAN MEETS WITH FAVOR

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT SATURDAY'S MEETING—STOCK NOW BEING SOLD.

Fifty or more farmers met at the court house Saturday afternoon to consider the proposition for the construction of a farmers' elevator in Red Lake Falls. Those attending the meeting enthusiastically favored the proposition and there is no doubt that a house will be constructed in Red Lake Falls the coming season.

It is proposed to capitalize the company at ten thousand dollars and it was the general belief that the stock could be sold without any difficulty. Considerable stock was subscribed for Saturday afternoon.

Thos. Whalen of Huot was chosen chairman of the meeting, appointed a committee of nine to solicit for the sale of stock and to determine where sites on the Great Northern railway right of way are available. The committee will report at a meeting to be held at the court house Saturday afternoon, Feb. 15. All people interested in the undertaking are invited to attend the meeting.

TELEPHONE EXTENSION.

Clearwater Company May Run Line into Red Lake Falls.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Clearwater Telephone company last Friday afternoon it was concluded to appoint a committee to canvass the country tributary to where the lines are now running with a view of extending the lines if a sufficient number of subscribers are secured. The committee appointed and the territory assigned to them to canvass are: Chas. Ball, Garnet Sam Lovaas, north of Clearwater; F. S. Medehll, west of Plummer, and Fritz Anderson, southwest of Plummer. The company now have 85 phones but Manager Medehll feels confident that in case a sufficient number of phones are subscribed for to merit extending the lines that this number would be doubled inside of a year. Another proposed change is to run a wire for long distance purposes along from here to Red Lake Falls. Quite a number of farmers along the line have expressed a desire to install phones but owing to the congested condition of this line already no more phone holders could be taken on. Another desired change which is being investigated is that of installing a switch at Oklee. In case this is done a special wire will also be run to that place for commercial purposes along. These proposed changes speak well of the company's success in the past and a bright future can easily be predicted for it.—Plummer Pioneer.

Dollars' Worth of Information.

If it should be announced that the state would next week send a group of men to this town, to distribute bags of gold dollars among the farmers—the amount to be apportioned according to the number of intelligent questions asked by him—how many of them would stay away—and how many would fail to prime themselves in advance with interrogations? But the reservoirs of useful information which the farmers institute workers will have "on tap" during their stay here will be worth more than bags of gold; and they will be employed for the benefit of questioners every day. Sought for and applied in the work of the farm, the information thus distributed will increase production, multiply satisfaction of agriculture and brighten the life of the farm home.

URGED TO ATTEND THE MEETING

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT URGES TEACHERS TO GO TO THIEF RIVER FALLS.

There will be held at Thief River Falls onFeb. 13-14-15 educational meetings of much importance. Some of the leading educators of the country will be there and it is worth while to make an effort to hear men of such national fame. A large list of teachers and school officers to make such arrangements as will enable the teachers to attend the meetings. Feb. 12 is a legal holiday. Let the schools be opened on that day and then close the schools for the rest of the week. If necessary, the school could well be opened on a Saturday or the term extended a day later in the spring to make up the one day lost. Let the live teachers and school officers get busy and boost for a big meeting. Let their instructors go to three meetings for whatever life teachers have—but there will be opportunities to learn much—will eventually be to the benefit of the schools. I want to be able to see a large number of our teachers attend.—Albany DeForge, Co. Supt.

Farmers' Institute Next Week

Two Days Session at the Court House Next Wednesday and Thursday---Able Men Will Talk on Subjects of Interest to Farmers.

Next Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 12-13, are the days on which the annual farmers' institute will be held in Red Lake Falls and every farmer should come to the meetings.

The speakers will be C. G. Carlson, of Bemidji; Prof. Shepherd, of Fairfax and Prof. Hughes of Carlton. These men are very well informed on the topics they will handle and their addresses will be worth hearing.

Farm Home Conveniences.

It is frequently said and that there is no truth in it—that they only have speakers of the conveniences of the home. This may have been the case in the past but it is not the case at present. Farm home today is the center of interest and the average city man envies the average city farmer. Other farm homes should have these same conveniences and the farmer who knows that it is not necessary to move to town to get them, should attend the institutes and if suggestions are made to him he should not be slow to follow any lead. As co-operative breeding associations have been organized with a profit in it, by the use of individual men make co-operating associations for the purchase of new purebred sires, so should farmers co-operate with other farmers in raising the same variety, with a view of improving the quality of their stock. What should be the type to be aimed at? Should it be low-down and blocky or angular in build? How to follow any breed to co-operative breeding associations, getting a crop of the other animals with which he has to deal and to get the most out of the stock he raises that might be lost or his care or lack of care.

At the close of the institutes it was announced that Curtis had accepted challenges from Doran of North Dakota, and "Jimmie Fats" of St. Paul, Minn. to be pulled off in the Lotus theatre in the near future.

WRESTLING MATCHES GOOD EXHIBITIONS

O'LAREY GOT SORRELS—CURTIS OF HALSTAD IS FOUR ARMED WONDER.

The wrestling matches pulled off at the Lotus theatre Friday night and Tuesday night delighted the mat game fans. They were fast and clean exhibitions.

Dan O'Leary, who is making a tour of the northwest, met Sorrels of Grand Forks, who has made a local reputation, were billed for Friday night. Though Sorrels got the first fall, it was evident to the crowd that O'Leary was the faster man. The fall was accomplished by a toe hold that could not be broken. O'Leary got the second and third falls, though it required an exhibition of fast and clever work to get the Grand Forks man.

During the excitement of the contest County Commissioner Jos. Pigeon made the crack that he could throw Dan Linnihan two out of three falls. Linnihan jumped at the chance. Considerable time was taken in arranging for the bout and before they got to it they decided to compromise and call it off.

The match Tuesday night between Curtis of Halstad and Jack Dunn, a Canadian wrestler, was a contest of considerable class, though the Canadian was unable to hold the Halstad boy. Curtis got the first fall in ten minutes and the second fall in 2 minutes less than thirty minutes. Curtis might appropriately be called the four-armed wonder, for he uses his legs and feet fast about as effectively as his arms, and, judging from his performance, getting a grip of the other fellow with his feet he has a hold almost as bad as a strait jacket. After receiving his toes or his ears for whatever life teachers have—but there will be opportunities to learn much—will eventually be to the benefit of the schools. I want to be able to see a large number of our teachers attend.—Albany DeForge, Co. Supt.

PREPARED FOR WHAT HAPPENED

WOMEN EXPECTED DEFEAT OF SUFFRAGE IN SENATE—DEAD FOR TWO YEARS.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, Feb. 5.—Unless it be the defeat of woman suffrage the thirty-eighth session of the Minnesota legislature has done nothing as yet that could astonish the unsuspecting out of the ordinary, still it has much in the way of sensations. The defeat of the suffrage amendment is an old story now as news runs, for it might not be amiss to say that the women in charge of the campaign were well prepared for what happened. They knew the outcome three days in advance, when a "scroll poll of the senate which gave the bill its quietus was taken two days after the senate had had its say. The vote of the senate was announced, the women in charge knew what was coming, and they had accepted the finding. Various items have been circulated as the cause for defeat of the bill. One individual on the taking of the vote declared himself "sick" that the women interests were responsible for the measure's defeat—one of the senators at the close of adjournment declared he was sick and tired of hearing about woman suffrage, and he was not the worst "sick" in the senate, and the world "sick" is mentioned in connection with the defeat of the suffrage bill more than any other word in the dictionary since the senate adjourned. There are several other items connected with the defeat of the bill, but the individual on the taking of the vote declared himself "sick" that the women interests were responsible for the measure's defeat—one of the senators at the close of adjournment declared he was sick and tired of hearing about woman suffrage, and he was not the worst "sick" in the senate, and the world "sick" is mentioned in connection with the defeat of the suffrage bill more than any other word in the dictionary since the senate adjourned. There are several other items connected with the defeat of the bill, but the senate's decision is the only one that counts.

(Continued on Page Four)

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE GARDENER

Is the Minnesota Seed Potato Crop Threatened?

Is a question that is of much concern and deserving the attention of agriculturists and other people who are interested in the plant industries. If it be that a man is filled with enthusiasm and works on the fences for the finest garden you ever saw.

It is fitting, therefore, that the following suggestions for the gardener of school, Crookston, not later than next Tuesday, Feb. 11. Packages should be sent direct to Crookston, so that it will be received by the tests by the experts who will be at the agricultural school for the Short Course.

Entries may be sent by parcels post and should reach the agricultural school, Crookston not later than next Tuesday, Feb. 11. Packages should be sent direct to Crookston, so that it will be received by the tests by the experts who will be at the agricultural school for the Short Course.

Prepare a garden plan and order the seeds today. Use a garden plan chart. This is the time of year to get inspiration for the garden.

Begin to test the vegetable at once, using the germinator. Look for impurities in the seed as well as good or low germinating quality.

Don't forget to inoculate the soil each year. Many failures result from a small area in that they apply immense quantities of manure and thoroughly enrich the area.

It has been proved many times that a good plowing will produce the seed will give the best and quickest crop returns. Moral: plant only large developed seeds.

Spinach is one of the earliest and thickest maturing of vegetable crops. It is usually used as a "cooked" vegetable, but as a salad it is fine. Triumph and Bloomsdale are two good varieties. Plant early as it runs to seed in hot weather.

Have you any way to prevent cutworms? Poisoned bran mash is one of the best remedies. Use a teaspoonful to a plant. Scatter the poison bran mash over the ground after the sun goes down. Use plenty of it and do not be afraid of using too much. Cutworms are night feeders and will be attracted to the poisoned bran mash. Use plenty of it and do not be afraid of using too much. Cutworms are night feeders and will be attracted to the poisoned bran mash.

Is there any way to prevent cutworms? Poisoned bran mash is one of the best remedies. Use a teaspoonful to a plant. Scatter the poison bran mash over the ground after the sun goes down. Use plenty of it and do not be afraid of using too much. Cutworms are night feeders and will be attracted to the poisoned bran mash. Use plenty of it and do not be afraid of using too much. Cutworms are night feeders and will be attracted to the poisoned bran mash.

SCORING CONTEST AT CROOKSTON

ENTRIES MUST BE AT FARM SCHOOL NOT LATER THAN NEXT TUESDAY.

In the Grain, Corn and Potato contest to be held at the Agricultural school, Crookston, Minn., during the Short Course Feb. 10-21, 1913, nearly $250 in cash prizes, furnished by committees from the Ninth congressional district, will be given for the best wheat, oats, flax, rye, barley, corn and potatoes raised during 1912 in the counties that are co-operating in the contest. The farmers will compete for the cash premiums in their counties. The first prize winners of each class of grain from each county entered in the contest will compete for the sweepstakes prizes.

The sweepstakes prizes are valuable. They are donated by well known manufacturers of seed with to encourage these contests. The following list shows what you may get if you send your grain, etc., to the school contest. In the counties where there have been local cash prizes for the entries from their own county, the farmers will be eligible for a sweepstakes prize also.

Best 10 lbs. wheat—2¼ hp. Gasoline engine, value $100.

Best 10 lbs. oats—Machinery on $20 in gold.

Best 5 lbs. barley—Cream separator, value $75.

Best 5 lbs. flax—$10 in gold.

Best 10 ears corn, northern section, corn shovel corn cultivator, value $32.50.

Best 10 ears corn, southern section—Corn planter, value $50.

The business men of Red Lake Falls have contributed liberally and to provide for special cash prizes so that the best sample of each class of grain, potatoes, seeds and corn in the seven classes named above, from each county in the Ninth Congressional District in which the valuable sweepstake prizes are offered.

Entries may be sent by parcels post and should reach the agricultural school, Crookston not later than next Tuesday, Feb. 11. Packages should be sent direct to Crookston, so that it will be received by the tests by the experts who will be at the agricultural school for the Short Course.

MINNESOTA ALFALFA

Believe It Will Seed Most Heavily in Northern Section of State.

Up to the present time what little alfalfa seed has been raised in Minnesota has been largely grown in Carver county. There are, undoubtedly, other sections in the state that as well or better suited to alfalfa seed production as Carver county, and seed production as Carver county, and probably will be developed in the very near future, when alfalfa seed will be purchased in each county in the state. Up to the present time Alfalfa has not been as sure a seeder as timothy or clover, but with a good stand it will probably be found that in some localities in the state it will be more productive of paying amounts. The indications are that it will seed more heavily in the northern half of the state than further south, and the trend toward a sandy character, and a clay of the University Farm.

It is always well to test for germination before sowing any seed, but in the case of the alfalfa necessary more than in that of timothy or clover, and others on quite extensive areas. Last year the writer had a number of samples tested for germination in the seed laboratory at the University Farm, and found that the germination ranged from 10 to 90 per cent. Those samples that showed the low germination were from the southern part of the state, while those showing the high germination were from the northern part of the state. The seed from the northern part of the state is also much heavier than that from the southern part of the state. The seed from the northern part of the state is also much heavier than that from the southern part of the state.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE
Feb. 12-13, 1913

The State Department of Farmers' Institutes will hold a Two Days' Session in the

Court House at Red Lake Falls

Subjects of interest to farmers and persons interested in farming will be discussed in a practical manner. The men to be sent here are experts in their respective lines and the lectures will be of exceptionable value.

Arrange now to attend all of the sessions and learn of the newest and best ideas on farm management. This institute may give you just the help you need.

The "Institute Annuals" will be distributed at the morning sessions.

Don't Forget the Date

INTENTIONAL DURLICATE EXPOSURE

DEFECTIVE PAGE

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

C. R. C. BAKER, Publisher.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

It is up to the police to make safe blowing ozone.

One way to avoid cholera seems to be to avoid water.

What excellent fuel some fireproof structures appear to be!

If New York can't find a new sensation it stirs up an old one.

Some young women want a vote, but some prefer a husband with a vote.

Husband killing episodes may be necessary, but they are awfully messy.

As between dollars and hoboes the must say we'd choose dollars every time.

A New York woman lost $440 which she carried in her stocking. How is not explained.

The French Poets' society plans pensions for aged members. Who will furnish the funds.

The lobster has just dedicated a motion picture house of his own. Well, there's money to moving pictures.

One way to stay young, says Admiral Dewey, is to avoid banquets. Yes, they are deadlier than battles.

There are 1,000 males to 900 females in the world. And still there are those who would tax the bachelors.

A Kansas woman has a pet colt collecting pitchers. No, gentle fan, she is not the proprietress of a baseball team.

New York man died the other day and his heart was found to be on the right side. It was in the right place all right.

A Brooklyn bride has advertised that she will not be responsible for her husband's debts. Yes to one she's an actress.

Norway is now starting to manufacture shrapnel from the air. In the midst of peace we are surrounded by dangers.

One woman in every 10 is a suffragette, says Mrs. Pankhurst. Probably she should have used a club and have been given a fine for assault and battery.

Snakes escaped and caused all sorts of trouble in a Parisian railroad station. Trouble coming from snakes should not worry Paris at this late day.

A New York woman is said to have found $200 in a newspaper. It is believed, however, that the story was started by the paper in question as a circulation booster.

An easterner committed suicide because he had lost his appetite. The jury probably found that he died of his death through his own careless ness.

Now it has been discovered that laughing gas may be self-administered. There are lots of grouches who may profit by the discovery.

A self-illumination car paint has been devised whereby an automobile may be spotted a mile away. At least, it's possible to say "There she goes" under such circumstances.

A soiled preacher is restored to its original pristine glory by washing and ironing at the cost of 1-10 cent. But the average man worries not at all whether his greenbacks be dirty.

A professional baseball umpire has brought suit for divorce because his wife called him names. Probably his defense will be that she was training him preparatory to the coming season.

A Germantown university janitor passed an examination on the twenty-four books of the Iliad, to the great surprise of his instructors. About a year after graduation he will be decided competent to balance a set of books.

Whatever else may be said of him, the strange man deserves the credit of putting the old in cold.

A Chicago women advocates kissing being taught as a fine art. If it isn't a fine art, it is not due to lack of practice among the younger generation.

The supreme court of Oregon thinks that 700 years is too long a sentence for any crime. Still, it might have been the proper thing in the time of Methuselah.

That man who wants to know whether the years 2000, 4000, 8000 and 12000 will be leap years, should wait and see.

Mexican federal soldiers made a mistake and fought themselves. They ought to change their brand of refreshment.

Ida Tarbell says married women ought not to work for wages. Most of them work for what they can get skimming through the pockets of husby's trousers.

URGE WOOL DUTIES

MANUFACTURERS, ALMOST TO A MAN, FIGHT A REDUC- TION.

DEMOCRATS STAND FIRM.

Show No Signs During the Hearing of Changing Plans—One Scored For Predicting Cut in Wages.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Protectionists and tariff revisionist had a running fire in the ways and means committee Noodoy which was continued at night. The wool tariff was the issue and the manufacturers presented an almost unbroken alignment against reduction of duty on woolen cloth and ready made clothing, though favoring reduction of the duty on raw wool.

Most Strenuous' Fight.

It was the most strenuous fight made at this session of congress against the Democratic plan for revision of the duties in the coming extra session.

"Your schedule has never been cut in the memory of living man," suggested Representative Palmer of Pennsylvania, to A. H. Stafford, president of a Cleveland enterprise. Mr. Stafford contended that the tariff could be reduced in the event the Democratic party chose to take the responsibility for a possible reduction in wages of the woolen mill employes.

Eight Per Cent Dividends.

The witness testified to eight per cent dividends from his mill last year and Representative Harrison of New York suggested that it was rather unbecoming for him, in view of the big profits of the industry, to hold out a threat of wage reduction.

Through William Goldman of New York, its president, the National Association of Clothiers declared that the wool tax was desirable it was too revolutionary and it endorsed the proposed Democratic rate of 20 per cent ad valorem on raw wool.

National Association of Manufacturers, comprising 100 of the woolen mills of the country, through its president, John P. Wood, of Philadelphia, presented a schedule of rates as a suggestive proposition, but Mr. Wood admitted that the schedule was approximately the same as the present tariff.

The committee showed no signs during the examination of changing its tentative plan for a revised woolen schedule along the line of the democratic bills of the two previous sessions, and the suggestion which provided for 20 per cent ad valorem on raw wool and from 35 to 50 per cent on cloths, ready made clothing and other articles.

To Enlarge Postoffices.

Washington, Jan. 28.—To provide adequate space for handling parcel post business, it will be necessary to revise plans of money public buildings to which postoffices are located and application to this end already have been instituted by Postmaster General Hitchcock. Yesterday the postmaster general invited the supervising architect of the treasury and his assistants to co-operate to the matter with the buildings committees of the house and senate and the special parcel post committees.

Nine Americans Killed.

Menilla, Jan. 29.—The captain of a transport sends a report by wireless that Secor Captain McNally, two lieutenants and 44 privates have been killed and fourteen men wounded in a fight with the Ignorites in Jolo. Thirty has been several rows with these people in the last few weeks and forces of constabulary and rurolars have been sent against them. This is the most serious affair that has yet been reported.

Excursions to Inauguration.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Railroads in all parts of the country are preparing for the heavy travel to the nation's capital of the inauguration of the first democratic president in the last seventy years. Several railway companies have filed their excursion rate tariffs with the interstate commerce commission for approval.

Franchise Measure Advanced.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 29.—The senate republican caucus on a constitutional amendment for the enfranchisement of women has just passed the assembly. By a vote of 29 to 23 the caucus of 1915 the question will so submitted to the voters of the state for approval at the general election that year.

Tillman Succeeds Himself.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 29.—United States Senator Benjamin Tillman was re-elected to succeed himself at session of both houses of the general assembly. This is his fourth consecutive term.

Two Soldiers Frozen to Death.

Billings, Mont., Jan. 29.—The bodies of two soldiers of the company stationed at Fort Yellowstone National Park were found frozen to death 21 miles from the fort. They left the fort on duty Jan. 23, during a blizzard.

Juris Marlowe Resting.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—That Juris Marlowe, the actress, is not suffering from poisons poisoning, but is merely resting from the effects of overwork, was explained here.

Train Service Through Cascades.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 28.—Train service on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road on the Northern Pacific overland lines has been resumed on a nearly normal basis. The Great Northern, the only road not in receipts to resume normal traffic within a week.

Michigan Judge Dies Suddenly.

Manistee, Mich., Jan. 28.—Judge John H. Gordon, member of and secretary of the University of Michigan was found dead in his bed.

PLANNING THE SUFFRAGIST PAGEANT.

Our illustration shows Mrs. Patricia M. Street (left) and Miss Alice Paul (right); two internationally known suffragists, at work in the Washington headquarters planning the great pageant of March 3. Mrs. Street is a daughter of Sir Paul Milot, former chief justice of the Australian supreme court, and she will lead a division of Australian suffragists in the parade. Miss Paul is a Philadelphian.

MANY ARRESTS MADE

ADHERENTS OF DEPOSED GRAND VIZIER ARE JAILED BY ORDER OF ENVER BEY.

A MILITARY TRIBUNAL

Young Turks Establish Dne—Allies Start Drafting Note Breaking Off the Peace Negotiations At Once.

Constantinople, Jan. 29.—Wholesale arrests have been made in Constantinople among adherents of Kiamil Pasha, the deposed grand vizier, at the behest of Enver Bey, Turkey's "man of the hour."

More than 200 influential men, suspected of forsaking the constitutional party, have been jailed and among them were the minister of the interior and the minister of instruction of the Kiamil Pasha cabinet.

Zekki Bey President.

A military tribunal was declared by the Young Turks, with Zekki Bey as provisional president, and Turkey was placed under military dictatorship. The action was practically powerful as Kiamil Pasha himself is under the strictest surveillance by henchmen of Enver Bey. The revolutionists feared to arrest him in view of the indignant protest that went up from all quarters when Nazim Pasha was assassinated. Constantinople is now convinced that the aged commander-in-chief of the army was brutally murdered in accordance with a well-organized plot.

That the day would see bloody war and strife in Constantinople was confidently expected. Three regiments were reported to be on their way to Stamboul from the Tchatalja lines to reinstate Kiamil Pasha and his cabinet. "The highest army officers dictate Enver Bey and are not in sympathy with the committee on union and progress cabinet. The military men resented the murder of Nazim Pasha and it is said that they have determined to overthrow the new self-styled 'government.'"

The ambassadors of the powers have refused to recognize the revolutionary "government" and will have nothing to do with Enver Bey. They openly snubbed Mahmud Shefket when the Enver Bey grand vizier, at the reception in his new house and declined to discuss the Balkan situation either formally or informally. They have demanded that the Porte immediately answer the joint note from the powers.

Delivery of Note Begins.

London.—The drafting of the note concerning peace negotiations has been begun by the allies.

STATE SUPERVISION.

Governor Sulzer Would Inquire into Stock Exchange Evil of New York.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 29.—State supervision and regulation of the New York Stock Exchange and other stock exchanges are advocated by Governor Sulzer in a message sent by him to the legislature. The time is ripe, in the governor's opinion, for the state to step in and end "flagrant abuses, shifty schemes and clever combinations to catch the unwary and to mislead the public. To effect this, he recommends the enactment of a group of laws, at least one of which shall provide imprisonment as a penalty for its violation. These laws, the governor says, would apply to certain practices which have been shown to exist by the Pujo committee and other investigators.

Three Murdered in Riot.

Gary, Ind., Jan. 29.—In a crime wave just broken out in this city, Adem Ojiner, 30; Adle Fair, 35, colored, skull crushed, and Peter Juras, 24, shot, were all murdered. Twenty-five persons, mostly negroes and Russians, were arrested for the deaths of Ojiner and Fair. No clue to Juras' murderer was found. Also a telegraph operator, who was slightly wounded by bullets fired mysteriously and four men broke into a house and tried to kidnap a young girl while her parents were away.

Archduke Rainer Oying.

Vienna, Jan. 28.—Archduke Rainer of the house of Hapsburg and thereby related to Emperor Francis Joseph, is dying. The last sacrament has been administered. Archduke Rainer is in his 91th year.

Corn "Expo" Opens.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 28.—The Fifth National corn exposition opened here with exhibits from 27 states, the federal department of agriculture, and other sources dealing with practically every phase of agriculture.

WAITERS TO CONTINUE STRIKE

MEETING CALLED TO URGE END OF WALKOUT.

Contrary Action Taken, However, and Men Resume Rioting Tactics.

New York, Jan. 29.—Although hotel managers declared that the waiters' strike had been broken and that members of the 2,500 who originally joined the movement had signified by resignation, 6 crowd of 1,500 waiters, in mass meeting, voted unanimously to continue the strike until their demands had been granted.

Hardly had the result of the vote been announced before the strikers left the hall and began a demonstration in the hotel district. In front of the Hotel Imperial the strikers halted for a moment and several windows were broken with stones before police dispersed the crowd.

The mass-meeting, at which it was voted to continue the strike, it was reported had been called by the executive committee of the International Hotel Workers' union to urge the waiters to call the strike off, but the vote was taken before such an action could be brought). A statement was issued from union headquarters ordering all striking waiters to report there for strike duty assignment. The order stated that all who failed to report "would be under suspicion."

TO FORCE DEMOCRATS.

Republicans May Hold Continuous Secret Session Until Appoint. ments Are Confirmed.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The Republican fight for the confirmation of President Taft's 1,300 appointments, now pending in the senate, will come to a head when a Republican caucus will be called by Republican leaders to bind its members to a continuous session behind closed doors. The caucus decided on long ago, and Premier Aldrich announced it.

"The answer to this treachery," she declares, "is military."

The damage to property last night would have been much greater had not the Women's Social and Political Union to board up their windows.

Power Combine Alleged.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Charges that a "combination of power companies" controls electric power generated at Niagara Falls and that the present water law placing Niagara power under the authority of the secretary of war would perpetuate that combination, were made before the foreign affairs committee by Representative C. B. Smith, of New York. Representatives Smith, Mann and others appeared to oppose the bill. The measure would give the secretary of war power to issue permits.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

Twin City Markets.

Minneapolis, Jan. 29.—Wheat, May, $1.01 1-8; July, 98c. Corn, May, 57 1-4c; July, 58 1-4c. Oats, May, 37 1-4c; July, 37 1-8c. Flour, unchanged. No. 1 hard, $1.03 1-8@1.05 1-8. Bran, $24@24.50. Flax, $1.39 1-2@1.40 1-2. Receipts, No. 1 flax, $1.39 1-2.

Duluth, Jan. 29.—Wheat, May, $1.01 1-8; July, 98c. Corn, May, 57 1-4c; July, 58 1-4c. Oats, May, 37 1-4c; July, 37 1-8c. Flax, spot, $1.39 1-2@1.40 1-2. Receipts, No. 1 flax, $1.39 1-2.

South St. Paul, Jan. 29.—Cattle—Receipts, 12,000; steady to 10c higher; $5.50@9.10; steers, $5.75@7.40; cows and heifers, $4.25@7.75; calves, $7.50@9.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 18,000; market, 5@10c higher; light, $7.70@7.85; mixed, $7.75@7.90; heavy, $7.75@7.90; rough, $7.75@7.90; pigs, $7.70@7.85; bulk, $7.75@7.90.

Sheep—Receipts, 15,000; market, 10@15c higher; native, $6.25@7.25; western, $6.25@7.25; yearlings, $6.50@7.75; native, lambs, $7.25@8.25; western, $8.15@8.45.

SUFFRAGETTES RIOT

LONDON WOMEN SMASH WINDOWS AND POUR LIQUID IN MAIL BOXES.

21 ARRESTS ARE MADE.

Try to Break Into Lloyd-George's Office—Crowd Fails in Attempt to Duck Four Women in Fountain.

London, Jan. 30.—As a protest against the withdrawal of the franchise bill by the government the militant suffragettes resumed their militant tactics.

Try to Force Way.

While a deputation, which the chancellor of the exchequer, David Lloyd-George, had refused to see was trying to force its way into parliament against an overwhelming force of police and the members were being placed under guard for assisting the officers, other bands of women went through Whitehall breaking windows of the government offices and through Cockspur street, where plate glass windows to the establishments of shipping companies were ruthlessly smashed.

The women also visited Oxford, Regent and other streets in the shopping district, where similar demage was done. Later, mail boxes were attacked, quantities of fluid being poured into them.

Property Damaged.

In the outlying suburbs, too, the suffragettes took steps to bring the cause before the public by damaging property.

Twenty-one women were arrested in the vicinity of the parliament buildings but were released on bail. Many of the police stations had one or more prisoners charged with destroying property.

The demonstration in Whitechapel was on a large scale. Some of the shops previously held, the force of police and a drenching rain militating against any great turnout. The wildest excitement prevailed, however, and hundreds of property were damaged by the women smashing windows. As they refused to give an undertaking not to do the greatest difficulty in protecting the women from an unruly crowd of youths who attacked every woman wearing the suffragette colors. Several cases the women were roughly handled.

Attempt to Duck Women.

An attempt to duck four of them in the fountain in Trafalger Square was frustrated by the police.

The entire deputation of 21 women who attempted to make their way into the house of commons to interview Chancellor Lloyd-George, was arrested. The prisoners included Mrs. Drummond and Sylvia Pankhurst, who headed the deputation. Previous to their mission the delegates listened to addresses by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and other leaders.

Calls it a Plot.

Mrs. Pankhurst said that the withdrawal of the franchise bill, including the reform feature, "was a deliberately planned plot between Premier Asquith and Premier Lloyd-George.

"The answer to this treachery," she declares, "is military."

The damage to property last night would have been much greater had not the Women's Social and Political Union to board up their windows.

Power Combine Alleged.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Charges that a "combination of power companies" controls electric power generated at Niagara Falls and that the present water law placing Niagara power under the authority of the secretary of war would perpetuate that combination, were made before the foreign affairs committee by Representative C. B. Smith, of New York. Representatives Smith, Mann and others appeared to oppose the bill. The measure would give the secretary of war power to issue permits.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

Twin City Markets.

Minneapolis, Jan. 29.—Wheat, May, $1.01 1-8; July, 98c. Corn, May, 57 1-4c; July, 58 1-4c. Oats, May, 37 1-4c; July, 37 1-8c. Flour, unchanged. No. 2 hard, $1.03 1-8@1.05 1-8. Bran, $24@24.50. Flax, $1.39 1-2@1.40 1-2. Receipts, No. 1 flax, $1.39 1-2.

Duluth, Jan. 29.—Wheat, May, $1.01 1-8; July, 98c. Corn, May, 57 1-4c; July, 58 1-4c. Oats, May, 37 1-4c; July, 37 1-8c. Flax, spot, $1.39 1-2@1.40 1-2. Receipts, No. 1 flax, $1.39 1-2.

South St. Paul, Jan. 29.—Cattle—Receipts, 12,000; steady to 10c higher; $5.50@9.10; steers, $5.75@7.40; cows and heifers, $4.25@7.75; calves, $7.50@9.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 18,000; market, 5@10c higher; light, $7.70@7.85; mixed, $7.75@7.90; heavy, $7.75@7.90; rough, $7.75@7.90; pigs, $7.70@7.85; bulk, $7.75@7.90.

Sheep—Receipts, 15,000; market, 10@15c higher; native, $6.25@7.25; western, $6.25@7.25; yearlings, $6.50@7.75; native, lambs, $7.25@8.25; western, $8.15@8.45.

STUDIES A GREAT PROBLEM

BUREAU OF SOCIAL HYGIENE IS EXPLAINED.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Tells of Its Origin, Work and Plans for the Investigation of Vice Conditions.

New York, Jan. 27.—In order that the public might better understand the Bureau of Social Hygiene, John D. Rock-feller, Jr., today gave out a statement explaining the origin, work and plans of that institution. The bureau, he said, came into existence about two years ago as a result of the work of a special grand jury appointed to investigate the white slave traffic in New York City. This jury recommended that a public commission be appointed to study the social evil.

Mr. Rockefeller was foreman of that grand jury and he thereafter gave the subject deep thought and conferred with a large number of leading men and women. "These conferences," says Mr. Rockefeller, "developed the feeling that a public commission would labor under a number of disadvantages, such as the fact that it would be short lived; that its work would be done publicly; that at best it could hardly do more than present recommendations. So the conviction grew that in order to make a real and lasting improvement in conditions, a permanent organization should be created with the kept public observation would not be dependent upon a temporary wave of reform, nor upon the life of any men or group of men, but which would go on, generation after generation, continually making warfare against the forces of evil. It was proposed that a private organization would have, among other advantages, a certain freedom from publicity and from political bias, which a publicly appointed commission could not so easily avoid.

"Therefore, as the initial step, in February, 1911, the Bureau of Social Hygiene was formed. The present members are Miss Katherine Bement Davis, superintendent of the New York State Reformatory for Women at Bedford Hills, N. Y.; Paul M. Warburg, of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; Frederick P. Keppel, of the New York bar, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. As the work develops new members may be added.

"One of the first things undertaken by the bureau was the establishment at Bedford Hills, adjacent to the reformatory, of a laboratory of social hygiene, under Miss Davis' direction. This laboratory it is proposed to endow from the psychiatric, mental, social and moral side each person committed to the reformatory. This study will be carried on by experts and each case will be kept under observation for from three weeks to three months, as may be required. When the diagnosis is completed, it is hoped that the laboratory will be in position to recommend the treatment most likely to reform the individual, or, if reformation is impossible, to recommend permanent custodial care. Furthermore, research not beyond the individual is involved, it is hoped that thus important contributions may be made to the knowledge of the conditions ultimately responsible for much of the social unrest and especially the principle may prove applicable to other forms of unrest as well as the pestilence precedent to crime, and lead to fines of action not only more selective and humane but also less wasteful than those at present followed."

That the bureau will not be limited to the lines employed George J. Kneeland in making a comprehensive survey of vice conditions in New York, and Abraham Flexner to study the model cell in Europe, and their reports are now being prepared. These studies, however, are typical of the various American cities, and it is the hope of the bureau that, based upon all of them, may be devised a practical plan for dealing with the social evil.

In conclusion Mr. Rockefeller's statement says: "It should be kept strongly emphasized that the spirit which dominates the work of the bureau is not sensational or sentimental or hysterical; that it is not a spirit of criticism of public officials, but that it is essentially a spirit of constructive suggestion and of deep sympathy as well as humane interest in a great world problem."

Frisco Ferry Boats Collide.

San Francisco, Jan. 27.—Roughing along at half speed through a dense fog that settled over the bay, two Southern Pacific ferry steamers, the Bay City and the Melrose, collided and considerable damage resulted. More than 100 passengers and members of the crew were aboard the vessels. The force of the impact carried away large sections of the upper frame work of both ferries.

Archduke's Life is Attempted.

Paris, Jan. 27.—A Barcelonia dispatch to the Petit Parisien, reports an attempt to assassinate Archduke Louis Salvator of Tuscany.

Swept Away On Ice Floe.

Little Rapids, Mich., Jan. 24.—Fifty fishermen, more than half the male population of this village, were swept out in Lake Michigan when a large section of the ice on Lake Huron broke away, two Southern Pacific ferry steamers, the Bay City and the Melrose, collided and considerable damage resulted. More than 100 passengers and members of the crew were aboard the vessels. The force of the impact carried away large sections of the upper frame work of both ferries.

Archduke's Life is Attempted.

Paris, Jan. 27.—A Barcelonia dispatch to the Petit Parisien, reports an attempt to assassinate Archduke Louis Salvator of Tuscany.

Gates Resigns as Director.

New York, Jan. 30.—Various reports recently made of the corporate of the Republic iron & Steel company, one of the largest of the independent companies, have been denied. Charles.G. Gates, son of the late John W. Gates, Dekalgh Thorne, ex president of the. Trust Company of America, Harry Bronner, a private banking bonse of Hallgarten & Co., resigned, to be succeeded by W. F. Kinler, a 14-carat gold tablet inviting him to a state assembly of California Commandery, No. 1, Knights Templar. It is now held by a Broadway pawnbroker and until today was displayed in his window in a conglomerate setting of odds and ends of jewelry. The pawnbroker demands $1,000 for the relic.

Logus Murder Suspect Held.

Davenport, Ia., Jan. 28. — George Kramer, said to be wanted in Chicago, charged with the murder of the disappearing merchant Logus, has been arrested in Davenport.

ODD CEREMONY IN TURKEY

Picturesque Occasion Occurs Weekly in Constantinople When the Sultan Goes to Pray.

Constantinople.—One of the most picturesque sights in Constantinople is a Selamlik, or sultan's levee, a ceremony which takes place weekly. Those invited under the ex-sultan's reign had seats in a pavilion which faced the mosque and thus saw the arrival and departure of his majesty when he went to pray on Friday, the Mohammedan Sabbath.

Nowadays out of Constantinople do more nationalities jostle each other, and the color and variety of dress is amazing. The road leading to the mosque where I attended a Selamlik was a blaze of color; writes Lady Jephson in the Queen. Cavalry and marines, foot soldiers and sailors lined the road, and behind these stood Turks, Serbs, Bulgars, Greeks, Levantines, English, Americans, Germans and Russians.

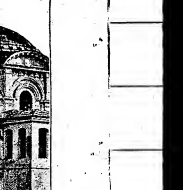
Many were the curious tales which reached us of Abdul Hamid. He lived chiefly at night, and all, except a few in Cog, because it would require the skill of a Borgia to poison them. His fear of assassination was so great that he never left the Yildiz palace except to see his princes safely home at his mosque, and he employed a "tester" like any mediaeval monarch.

The ex-sultan, as all the world knows, was and is a man of many progress and reform and excessively nervous in his views. The young Turks had a bad time of it under his sway, and women e worse one. He enforced strict seclusion for Turkish women, forbade them even to leave the country after they were old enough to be veiled, and obliged all respectable women to be indoors by sunset.

Even now, under e more enlightened rule, whenever they g out and about the streets disciined in yashmak and feredjeh, the Turkish lady is lucky if s eye does not follow in her wake reproof or the frown of a jealous husband the slightest indiscretion. One of our party passed a high wall on his way to the Sweet Waters, and his dragoman informed him was that of the harem. "Effendi must be highly cultured the Turks—since women are so bad."

We waited long in our pavilion for the sultan, and were relieved when at last his carriage appeared escorted by a swift-scattered gravel before him on the left. Behind came a troop of the same old man with refined features, a prominent nose and a good carriage. He looked neat and simply and he wore no decorations. As he drove past the troops presented arms in a strange way, low, unlike any other hurrah I have ever heard. It is a pity that not all eyes should be cast down as the mighty sultan goes by.

Behind Abdul Hamid the ladies of his harem drove in closed carriages, but they did not enter the mosque, women in Turks yhaving no souls!



Mosque of the Sultan at Sweet Water, Constantinople.

FIREMEN MAY FORM UNION

Boston Hose and Ladder Men to Talk Over Plan to Have an Organization.

Boston.—Boston's firemen are considering the question whether to form the distinction of being the first of any city in the land to affiliate themselves with organized labor. The members of the department—the hosemen and hook and ladder men—have agreed to meet to decide definitely whether or not they want to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor. It is believed the bulk of the firemen favor such a step. The promoters of the movement explain that, while the proposed organization will be a regular labor union there will be no danger of its members striking arbitrary demands upon the city for increased pay or shorter hours, much less of a "walkout" when called to fight a fire.

PENCIL CHEWING IS FATAL

Springfield Boy Who Swallowed Piece of Wood at School Four Years Ago Is Dead.

Springfield, Ill.—Myron H. Chapman, aged fifteen years, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Chapman of this city, a student in the public schools, chewed the end of his pencil four years ago while in school. He put the pencil between his teeth, broke off a splinter and swallowed it. He complained of pain in his throat and stomach and physicians were unable to aid him.

Fined for Killing Rat.

New York.—It is against the law on the sovereign state of New York to set fire to a rat, and Henry Franklin has had to pay a fine. The docket for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals proceedings of a

Fined for Killing Rat.

New York.—It is against the law on the sovereign state of New York to set fire to a rat, and Henry Franklin has had to pay a fine. The docket for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals proceedings of a

Fined for Killing Rat.

New York.—It is against the law on the sovereign state of New York to set fire to a rat, and Henry Franklin has had to pay a fine. The docket for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals proceedings of a

WHEN MEN PLAYED FOR BIG STAKES

by FRANK J. ARKINS

© BY MCCLURE CO.

GAMBLING for big stakes was a common thing in the west a few years ago. In nearly all sections the evil has been suppressed by law. In the few portions where it is still followed it is carried on under cover and in constant dread of police interference.

Not so long ago, however, the cry of the roulette man and the click of the ball could be heard in the lobbies of many of the principal hotels. This was particularly true of El Paso, Cripple Creek, Leadville, Gold Bold, Butte, the Coeur d'Alene, and many other sections. The practice prevailed to a greater or less extent in the larger towns. Everybody has money in the early days of a mining camp.

It was on era of speculation. The country had not "been proven," and hence a "find" in a new section resulted in a great rush to that locality. Property changed hands at fabulous prices overnight. Every ragged prospector of today might be rolling in wealth tomorrow. It has happened so many times.

When there is money to throw at the birds, the gamblers, like so many vultures, assemble at the point to which it is being cast by the thoughtless and improvident possessors.

Games were played where the stakes ran into the millions. A man wealthy in the morning sometimes had to borrow money to avoid going to bed hungry at night.

A storkman in Colorado "set into" a poker game in Denver, and by midnight had not only lost all the cash he had with him, but had exhausted a large bank balance.

He owned, on the range in Colorado, the seventeenth strip ("Cherokee Strip" in the Cherokee Nation, western Oklahoma), and in Texas ten thousand head of cattle, worth twenty dollars a head, or a total of $200,000.

He possessed land in three states and a handsome residence in Denver. He made a bet of a thousand steers—worth twenty thousand dollars —and lost. He continued play until the herd of ten thousand head of stock belonged to another man. Day dawned, and he was still playing. Breakfast was sent in from a restaurant maintained at the end of the gambling hall for just such people.

"Now," he said to the man who had won his cattle, "you have the critters, but no place to keep them. I will play you my Texas ranch."

He lost that. Then followed the Colorado ranch, finally the residence in Denver, together with the furniture, his horses, his watch and chain. At eight o'clock at night—twenty-four hours later—he was penniless, and started for the Rio Grande country of Texas, where he found employment hauling logs to a sawmill. He had lost more than a quarter of a million dollars in twenty-four hours!

"Will you oblige me by taking off your shoes?" asked a road agent politely, while he held a revolver menacingly in the face of a passenger who stood up in a line with others.

The hold-up man had stopped the stage going into Leadville to "collect toll." He had just purchased the road, he said, and needed the money.

He passed down the line and, by means of a passenger whom he forced into service, gathered up all the money and jewelry, until he came to the last man in the line. Then he asked the man to take off his shoes. He found four thousand dollars under the inner soles!

Several nights later the man who had been outwitted by the hold-up man was sitting in the dealer's chair of a faro game in the "Chapparal City," as Leadville is called. Before him sat a man who lost money steadily. The gambler "raked in" the money carelessly and with the utmost unconcern. The player lost something like five thousand dollars and then pushed back his chair.

"All in!" asked the gambler, arching his brows.

"Yep—you've cleaned me out."

Then we even for that little incident the other night, when you collected your road tax from me."

"I——"

"Yes, you!"

The hold-up man knocked down half a dozen loiterers in his rush to reach the door and escape.

A well-known mining man, who was called for his judgment in "knowing a hole in the ground" when he looked into it, had just made a purchase in Cripple Creek. He had money, and he was looking to spend it for anything that looked good. After having tramped over the hills all of one day, he "sat into" a poker game in the lobby of the principal hotel that night, and engaged in a friendly game with a number of acquaintances.

They were playing for twenty-five cents a corner. While the game was in progress a ragged prospector appeared and attempted to inject himself into the company. The mining man replied that it was simply a private game between friends—outsiders, and particularly strangers were not wanted.

"I have money that has never been spent."

"We don't know you."

"Oh, that's it! Then let me introduce myself."

There was no way to get rid of him apparently. Then, like an inspiration, and in an annoyed manner, the operator said:

"How many dollars have you?"

"Eight hundred dollars."

"Sit down, and I'll show you how to play poker."

In less than fifteen minutes the prospector withdrew.

Shortly after he returned with a thousand dollars more. This was interesting. He lost it. Then he left a diamond pin, following it with a watch and his "canvas."

When he came back his chair the operator asked:

"Are you broke now?"

"I have a claim over on the hill."

"What do you value it at?"

"One hundred thousand dollars."

This staggered the mining man for a moment.

"You have been a good loser, I'll put in with you and play a hundred thousand against your claim."

The prospector lost the claim.

"Now I will play you for your services tomorrow to show me where the claim is and where to open the ore. For that I will consider that you have five thousand on the table."

The prospector lost that.

The next day he traced out the lines of the claim for the winner, who organized a company, with a block of one million shares of which went for sixteen dollars each!

Millions were taken from the mine within a few years. It became one of the most famous in the entire Rocky Mountain country.

In the early days of the Comstock Lode, in Virginia, Nevada, some men made money so fast that they did not know what to do with it. Those who were not making it spent their time devising ways and means to talk the others out of a portion of their wealth. Gamblers were in full evidence, and there were some big stakes; but it remained for a bunch of Mexicans to play for the largest stake on record in the United States—without the use of cards.

One of the many claims, located in the midst of the diggings, had not shown any ore. Even the men who had millions hesitated to sink a shaft on it. The people were in a fever of excitement. The Mexicans owned practically nothing. In fact, the "greasers" could not get a "look in." Altogether it was very discouraging—to them.

Then it occurred to some bright genius to outflank the lehor of the Mexicans. Gathering a bunch of them together, it was proposed that they sink a shaft on one of the well-known claims. Each was twelve hundred feet in length.

"For each foot you sink, we will give you a certain number of dollars in the claim," they were told, "provided you sink to ore."

In other words, if they abandoned the work at any time before reaching ore they would get nothing, and the owners would have the shaft. It looked like a very poor prospect.

The Mexicans pow-powed and jabbered at one another for half a night and then started to work.

Everybody laughed. They were comparatively poor men. They could ill afford the expense they were undergoing. They drilled by hand, fought the hard granite and gradually lowered that shaft.. They bailed water that flowed in so fast that it threatened to drown them, but they stuck to the work with desperation.

At three hundred feet they uncovered the richest portion of the world-famous silver deposit, and, from the vein they opened, more wealth was taken out than from any other portion of that richest single mile of ground in the world.

The Mexicans' share was one-quarter. Nearly one hundred million dollars came out of the hole they sank! It was a gamble pure and simple. They had played for high stakes—and won.

In the Coeur d'Alene, of Idaho, when that mining region was the center of the earth, there were some big games. Nothing is told of one man who conceived the idea that he could make money in gambling faster than he could take it out of the ground. It was so much easier. With three cards, a box, and selling his game, he could count up to one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

He had evolved a wonderful system.

"I simply can't lose," he told his friends.

His plan was to play steadily for sixteen hours each day, and, by a complicated series of bets, to retire when he lost.

Everything went along swimingly for the first few days. At times he was as much as twenty-five thousand to the good.

Nine days after he started top lay he suddenly found that he was just where he had started—he had one hundred and fifty thousand dollars when the cards came his way, which would involve, according to his system, betting the entire amount on a single "turn." He played the seventh day, and his luck overturned played false to him.

"Women are the cause of all trouble, anyway," he muttered, as he rose from the table. "I ought to have known better than that, for that was the queen of spades, and I should not have made that bet except when all the queens except the queen of hearts was out."

It was the irony of fate, that, when the queen of hearts came out of the box, it was happened that it won.

In the days when Cheyenne, Wyoming, was the headquarters for the cattlemen of the northwest, gambling ran wide open. When the cowboys came to town they made things look like a grew on trees. The gaming spirit was in the air.

A dealer standing behind a roulette table one night suddenly motioned the proprietor. A few moments later he was paid off. It is customary to pay a gambler his salary at the end of each day. Many of them have the fixed idea of losing it back over the very tables where they have the odds to win against the player.

A roulette there is a distinct percentage in favor of "the house." Everybody knows that. This dealer took a seat in front of the table and in the course of a few hours had won fifty dollars. Then he stopped. He would pass to and out a dozen times a day, play a little here and some there, but always he would bring up in front of the roulette table, and more often than otherwise it is where he left off. His luck seemed to be with him. He started a bank account. He was saving his money to get into business with, he said.

He won so steadily that it made the proprietor of the place sither every time he come in.

One day, while the ex-dealer was playing, an old man dropped in and, glancing around the room for a moment, asked:

"Who runs this place?"

"I do," answered a bewhiskered individual who was watching his former employe rake in the cash.

"Will you do me the favor to tell me where you got that wheel?" he asked, pointing to the one that proved such a hoodoo.

"I know it's a Jonah. That fellow over there wins all the time."

"No!" said the stranger.

He walked over and watched the men lay his bets.

Returning to the proprietor, he said, as he passed out a card:

"I represent this house, which, as you see, deals in gambling devices. I take it that the men sitting at the wheel makes a winning every day?"

"He does, stranger, to the tune of fifty or a hundred."

"For a thousand I can tell you how to bust his luck and make him look the living picture of remorse. You would have to agree to purchase a new wheel from me, also."

"If you show me, I'm game."

"It's a bargain," said the drummer.

Walking over to the wheel, he welted until the ball dropped, stopped it, and turning to the proprietor asked:

"See anything strange with that wheel?"

"No."

Well, see, there are two nineteens and two twenty-threes on that wheel. They are unlucky numbers—so that the fellow who plays them has about the same percentage in his favor, on those numbers, that you have when a man plays on a regular wheel. We made this wheel more than thirty years ago. It was sold to a house by a couple of 'cute thing' men, who almost broke the Czech. Then we took it back."

The ex-dealer had noticed the double numbers, and there in was the secret of his "luck." How the numbers got there, and why they were unlucky years is one of those mysteries of gambling that can never be explained.

When Seattle was the big noise in the Northwest gambling world, and the primeval forests were closer to her doors, some big games were played.

One night a stranger stepped into one of the principal houses and took a seat at a faro table. An hour later he had won about fifty thousand dollars. The proprietor sent him a fifty-cent cigar. A few moments afterward the stranger had won another hundred dollars, and within an hour had regained his five thousand. Then continued a streak of luck that has seldom been witnessed in any gambling house. The "rool" had been raised to the limit" and Mr. Stranger "coppered" the king and doubled a set of five thousand. He tried it again for a repeat, with ten thousand, and drew back twenty yellow chips, worth one thousand each.

After that he made bets of a thousand each, and before he had smoked the cigar he was twenty-eight thousand to the good! Then he quit.

Who he was, where he came from, became his went, no one ever knew. His coming and going were as mysterious as his winnings were astonishing.

Probably one of the greatest stakes ever bunched up was raked down on a bet in Seattle. A man owned a "hole in the ground." He was satisfied that it was worth a fortune. His friends thought he was crazy. He refused to go to other "diggings" where the prospects were better. He was more than twenty-five miles from water, which had to be carried in on the hurricane deck of a horse. He was looked upon as a monomaniac but his claim against the crowd by a prospector from another section that his mine was the richest on the globe" [illegible].

He had the privilege of piloting the winner to the "mine" and saw him take more than seventy thousand dollars' worth of silver, out, out of a pocket, almost on the surface of the ground! Since then the property has produced millions. It all came about because one mula could not run so fast as another.

LIVES HERMIT'S LIFE

Degas, Greatest Living French Artist, Becomes a Recluse.

Well Known Painter Calls Pictures "Murmured Prayers" and Rarely Opens His Doors for Visits of Strangers.

Paris.—Degas, who has suddenly become famous to the larger public at the age of sixty-nine, through the sale of one of his paintings for $56,000, is very much of a hermit.

Failing eyesight has prevented him from painting for some years now, and his door is rarely open to strangers. Art discussions do not interest him.

"No, sir," he once said, "I cannot talk painting; no one does who is a real painter. It is discussed in emmbusses, in cafes, in drawing rooms. But not here. Painting is like a murmured prayer."

After the sale in which his picture, "Les Danseuses a la Barre," for which he originally received only $100, sold for $56,000, he went to Deauville, on the outskirts of Paris. From the window of a friend's house he looked in astonishment at the peopled avenues. "In my time," he said, "there was nothing here."

As a rule he stays in Montmartre, and knows nothing of the newer parts of the city. Though he is the greatest living French painter, he never has been decorated. His life is solely occupying the pictures of ingres. Every scrap of drawing of the great academic artist he treasures, which practice is an example of his contradictions, for he is one of the founders of the opposite school.

Nor is he kind to contemporaries, labeling one "The Little Steam Wet Paint" and another "The Man Who Sells Raphael."

Some residents of the aristocratic Faubourg quarter and other Royalist partisans who do not like the republic are shocked by Caillaux's policy in government by issuing stamps—like the French colonists and Austrian catholic league—inscribed with more or less anonymous sentiments.

The government, however, does not allow them much chance to have political effect on the citizen; letters so decorated will in future not be delivered. It is not considered a proper position for Royalists to adorn their letters, especially soldiers in the army, with seditious labels.

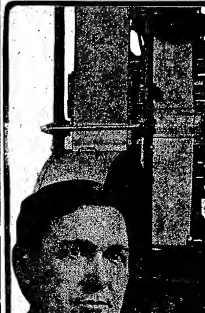
Sometimes the Duc d'Orleans figured on the stamp; sometimes an unflattering caricature of President Falieres, or an ugly-looking female to represent the republic. The propaganda had become so active that the government decided to take action.

The biology of the lanthypsilegic animals or creatures who live in the lowest depths of the ocean is little known and mostly hypothetic. In a recent communication to the Academy of Sciences, M. Bouree, who accompanies all the oceanographic expeditions of the Prince of Monaco, has given the results of his observations on the migrations of these animals.

He has observed that many species, notably the fish whose normal lair is during the day at a depth varying from 6,000 to 8,000 yards, rise during the night to a short distance from the surface.

Similar migrations had already been observed among the smaller species known as plankton, but had never been noticed in the case of creatures of a larger order.

NEW ROTARY POSTAGE STAMP PRESS



This is the new rotary postage stamp press of the United States bureau of engraving and printing, and its inventor, Benjamin R. Stuckney. Heretofore stamps have been printed by hand on flat-bed presses. This machine does the work better than the old method and at a saving of 60 per cent.

HAD FIRST WIRELESS

African Tribes Used Drums, Etc., to Convey Messages.

News of Important Events in Heart of Sudan Sent to Trading Posts on the Ground-Trade Own Telegraph Code.

Paris.—The principle of telegraphy would appear to have been anticipated by the savages tribes in the heart of Africa. This barbaric system of communication, at once practical and effective, survives in the Sudan, and its value has been tested many times.

The communication is made by means of various instruments, the most common of which are the tom-toms and whistles. The horns are made of solid ivory, hollowed out of elephants' tusks. The mouthpiece is at the side. Those trumpets are of great antiquity, but the mouthpieces are very long and give seven distinct notes, produced by placing the mouthpiece with corks of different sizes. The ordinary tom-tom is a hollow bit of wood, with a goatskin over one end.

The following instance illustrates the manner in which the native telegraph is worked. A party of hunters under commander at Stanley Falls was once informed by a native that a neighboring village that a provision train had been attacked two days before at a point on the further down the Congo. A week later the party arrived and continued the story in part.

They had reached the scene of the alleged attack and the chief reported that the shots that the natives had taken as indications of a conflict with white men had been fired at a herd of antelope.

At a later period, when an officer of the French Kongo came to grief in the rapids, the accident was reported the next morning at a village 186 miles distant.

Among the Bengali tribe a sort of xylophone is used with four notes, by means of which the natives communicate over great distances in a kind of telegraphic language.

An American missionary working among the Ibantus discovered that the villages had means of conveying messages from one chief to another by drum beating, indicating war or defeat or victory.

The drum is hollow out a large gourd and thoroughly dry it. Then a skin is hard and as thin as parch, ment is stretched across the hollow of the gourd. When beaten with a padded drumstick this gives forth a sound that may be distinctly heard at a distance of more free to eight miles.

SO BRAVE WAS THIS SLEUTH

Wielded Mace, Mop Deputy, Muguin, Made Peace a Rule That "Touched" Him.

New York—Louis Mouglin, the redoubtable, who for forty years lived at 64 8th avenue, boarded a Broadway car about 7:30 the other night. The heart of Louis beat high, the cheek of Louis expanded with pride, for on said cheek there reposed a brand new, glittering silver badge.

That very day had the sheriff of New York, the justly famous Julius Harbinger, called Louis into his office with mystic rite and scholarly cerremony indicted him into the ranks of his deputies. The brief but impressive episode had a profound effect on Louis, and he burned with zeal and devotion.

"Now," said the new deputy to himself. "Would that some so daring breaker of the law would venture to show his head here! Ah, but I would show my valiant chief that I was not unworthy of honored his trust! Perhaps it would be better if I had a shield. Iself a Scanaille become alarmed and escape me."

But such a sacrifice was too much to expect of a newly sworn deputy. The shield remained where it was.

Just then a small riot broke forth in the upper end of the car. A man arose from his seat and dived headlong into the forest of legs that covered the car floor. Attacking by clubs! I have lost a dime!"

When some of the passengers ob-

BELL STIRS A BALKY TEAM

Minnesota Man Gets Out of a Deep Rut by Fooling His Horses With Fire Alarm.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Columbia Heights is a suburb of Minneapolis and for fire protection depends principally upon a volunteer organization, with Mande and Dick, a team owned by Phil Steck, to pull the department's wagon to the few fires. Both horses have come to know the tone of the fire bell and—but it remains for them.

Recently Steck was hauling stone and the wagon, dropped into a deep rut. Mande and Dick refused to move the load. Then Steck tried a new plan and sent a boy to ring the fire bell. The horses thought it was the instantaneous. Mande and Dick pranced it to the next block on the gallop.

HELPS PEDDLER; GETS $8,000

Pennsylvania Woman Well Rewarded by Aged Man for a Deed of Kindness.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Margaretta Jane Brewer, a widow of four years ago in helping an old peddler on a trying car here has now her a reward of $8,000. The young woman, who resides with Mrs. Ray Mason Kinzel, received in her mail a check for this amount and a note addressed "To the little girl who helped me on a trying car four years ago. She and she must forgotten the incident. The reward was from Valentine R. Cortias and was mailed from California.

NEW BRAND OF SLANG

Minnesota Man Gets Out of a Deep Rut by Fooling His Horses With Fire Alarm.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Columbia Heights is a suburb of Minneapolis and for fire protection depends principally upon a volunteer organization, with Mande and Dick, a team owned by Phil Steck, to pull the department's wagon to the few fires. Both horses have come to know the tone of the fire bell and—but it remains for them.

Recently Steck was hauling stone and the wagon, dropped into a deep rut. Mande and Dicks refused to move the load. Then Steck tried a new plan and sent a boy to ring the fire bell. The horses thought it was instantaneous. Mande and Dick pranced it to the next block on the gallop.

ANCIENT AND MODERN FEET

No Doubt That the Pedal Extremities of Our Ancestors Were Larger Than Are Those of Today.

Artists assure us that no Greek sculptor would have ever dreamed of putting a size-inch foot on a Greek-ideal foot woman. The types for the most perfect forms were taken from nature. Unquestionably the human foot, as represented by the ancient sculptors, was larger than the modern one; and, in fact, the primitive feet of all peoples wherever we have any record, either of statuary or otherwise, was considerably larger than the restricted foot of later times.

The masculine foot, forming an approximate average of four different countries, was about 12 inches long. This would require at least a No. 10 shoe to cover it comfortably. The average masculine foot today is easily fitted with a No. 8½ shoe, and is therefore not above 10 7/12 inches long. Now, by the old sculptural rule of proportion, a man five feet nine inches in height should have a foot 11⅛ inches long, or one-sixth his height. It was of no great consequence what size sandal he wore, but he would have required a modern shoe of at least a No. 10½ for a minimum fit or a No. 11 for real comfort.

For women, allowing for the difference in the relative size of the sexes, the feet should be proportionately as long as now, a woman of five feet three inches in height would therefore had a foot ten inches long, requiring a modern shoe of the size of No. 6 as the most comfortable, or a No. 5½ as the limit of comfort.—Harper's Weekly.

PAINTER IS GAY SUICIDE

Artist Clinked Glasses With Guests, Borrowed Revolver Bullets and Shot Himself.

Paris.—After threatening suicide so many times that his friends only took it as a joke, Marcelle Adler, a young painter of Bordeaux, has carried out his threat in a highly sketchy and manner. It is learned that when he invited his friends to a banquet he warned them that it would be a suicidal affair, and that his friends would witness his self-destruction.

Believing this another of his jests, his circle of friends spent a merry evening. They were horrified when, after dinner, Adler produced a revolver. When he said he had no cartridges, the diners laughed, however, and one of his friends, still thinking that he was joking, furnished the ammunition. The young artist loaded the revolver, clinked glasses with his guests, and, putting the weapon to his forehead, killed himself.

HAD FIRST WIRELESS

African Tribes Used Drums, Etc., to Convey Messages.

News of Important Events in Heart of Sudan Sent to Trading Posts on the Ground-Trade Own Telegraph Code.

Paris.—The principle of telegraphy would appear to have been anticipated by the savages tribes in the heart of Africa. This barbaric system of communication, at once practical and effective, survives in the Sudan, and its value has been tested many times.

The communication is made by means of various instruments, the most common of which are the tom-toms and whistles. The horns are made of solid ivory, hollowed out of elephants' tusks. The mouthpiece is at the side. Those trumpets are of great antiquity, but the mouthpieces are very long and give seven distinct notes, produced by placing the mouthpiece with corks of different sizes. The ordinary tom-tom is a hollow bit of wood, with a goatskin over one end.

The following instance illustrates the manner in which the native telegraph is worked. A party of hunters under commander at Stanley Falls was once informed by a native that a neighboring village that a provision train had been attacked two days before at a point on the further down the Congo. A week later the party arrived and continued the story in part.

They had reached the scene of the alleged attack and the chief reported that the shots that the natives had taken as indications of a conflict with white men had been fired at a herd of antelope.

At a later period, when an officer of the French Kongo came to grief in the rapids, the accident was reported the next morning at a village 186 miles distant.

Among the Bengali tribe a sort of xylophone is used with four notes, by means of which the natives communicate over great distances in a kind of telegraphic language.

An American missionary working among the Ibantus discovered that the villages had means of conveying messages from one chief to another by drum beating, indicating war or defeat or victory.

The drum is hollow out a large gourd and thoroughly dry it. Then a skin is hard and as thin as parch, ment is stretched across the hollow of the gourd. When beaten with a padded drumstick this gives forth a sound that may be distinctly heard at a distance of more free to eight miles.

SO BRAVE WAS THIS SLEUTH

Wielded Mace, Mop Deputy, Muguin, Made Peace a Rule That "Touched" Him.

New York—Louis Mouglin, the redoubtable, who for forty years lived at 64 8th avenue, boarded a Broadway car about 7:30 the other night. The heart of Louis beat high, the cheek of Louis expanded with pride, for on said cheek there reposed a brand new, glittering silver badge.

That very day had the sheriff of New York, the justly famous Julius Harbinger, called Louis into his office with mystic rite and scholarly cerremony indicted him into the ranks of his deputies. The brief but impressive episode had a profound effect on Louis, and he burned with zeal and devotion.

"Now," said the new deputy to himself. "Would that some so daring breaker of the law would venture to show his head here! Ah, but I would show my valiant chief that I was not unworthy of honored his trust! Perhaps it would be better if I had a shield. Iself a Scanaille become alarmed and escape me."

But such a sacrifice was too much to expect of a newly sworn deputy. The shield remained where it was.

Just then a small riot broke forth in the upper end of the car. A man arose from his seat and dived headlong into the forest of legs that covered the car floor. Attacking by clubs! I have lost a dime!"

When some of the passengers ob-

BELL STIRS A BALKY TEAM

Minnesota Man Gets Out of a Deep Rut by Fooling His Horses With Fire Alarm.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Columbia Heights is a suburb of Minneapolis and for fire protection depends principally upon a volunteer organization, with Mande and Dick, a team owned by Phil Steck, to pull the department's wagon to the few fires. Both horses have come to know the tone of the fire bell and—but it remains for them.

Recently Steck was hauling stone and the wagon, dropped into a deep rut. Mande and Dicks refused to move the load. Then Steck tried a new plan and sent a boy to ring the fire bell. The horses thought it was instantaneous. Mande and Dick pranced it to the next block on the gallop.

HELPS PEDDLER; GETS $8,000

Pennsylvania Woman Well Rewarded by Aged Man for a Deed of Kindness.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Margaretta Jane Brewer, a widow of four years ago in helping an old peddler on a trying car here has now her a reward of $8,000. The young woman, who resides with Mrs. Ray Mason Kinzel, received in her mail a check for this amount and a note addressed "To the little girl who helped me on a trying car four years ago. She and she must forgotten the incident. The reward was from Valentine R. Cortias and was mailed from California.

NEW BRAND OF SLANG

Finds $90,000 in Rubbish Pile.

Winsted, Conn.—Nearly $90,000 in bills was found in an old suitcase that was about to be thrown into a rubbish pile and which was the property of Mrs. Emiline C. Mills, who died a few days ago.

Opie Read Opposed to Suffrage.

Pittsburg, Pa.—"I am opposed to women suffrage. The world leaders have always been masculine in all lines—government, arts and letters," said Opie Read, the Chicago novelist.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

PUBLISHED BY
W. C. R. T. BAKER

[illegible] Gazette of Red Lake Falls [illegible]

[illegible] TWICE EVERY LAKE COUNTY [illegible] RED LAKE FALLS [illegible]

$1.50 Per Year in Advance

[illegible] ...ssion against the rug ... is not to be by giving ... a little more so as ...

[illegible] ...Hadley of the Lambik Review ... remarks that "these ... a large share of voter ... Either the clock has ... Colonel Roosevelt needs ... up."

[illegible] ...e hickey may not be next ... pest and the postal authori... debating what to do with ... from the mails. The best ... to bother if rare is talk ... breaking.

[illegible] ...ound this time of year one ... the remark, frequently ... night: "It won't be long ... until the ice goes out of ... and the ice won't go out ... until it gets warmer.

[illegible] ...ome suffragists now ... that conditions have change... every young man about ... to keep from his teeth ... change all right ... as the old poli... everybody "woke ... and at the ship.

[illegible] ...Daily Times is now ... property of the McGrath-Bell ... company and is issued ... printing company's fine new ... building. Simultaneously with ... change in the ownership of ... paper, the Crookston Press, that ... has issued weekly as an alleged ... paper, ceased to be, and ... now the only local newspa... Crookston.

[illegible] ...needs shorten the distance to ... by building the land and ... the hauling capacity of the ... team. They make possible an ... and an employment for the ... earth. Consequently and in ... road bills loads are worth more ... roads are good. By a change ... the method of doing road work ... the township system there is ... of confidence will be possible ... the immediate the tax for roads ... to last, at an annual reduction in ... to a booster for good roads ... will work for a change to the town... system in your township at the ... election.

[illegible] ...It has been said that there is nothing ... can do that a man can not do better and it is a notable fact that a farmer ... winning prizes ... exhibition at the state fair ... have made specific pieces of ... work. But in this age of pro... and equal suffrage agitation ... can never tell when there will ... a man-cook. Mrs. McLaughlin, ... in creamery butter at Elgin, ... ois, has been getting calls ... for rich scores and the most ... the city men of late. If shown ... Scottish chef made the finest ... of a junior general look lasting ...

[illegible] ...The new reapportionment bill that ... been reported out by the legislature ... Ninth Congressional district ... Red Lake, Pennington and Clearwater counties in ... Minnesota district, entitled to ... one member and one representative ... the Ninth congressional district ... would have two members that ... under the present apportionment. The ... bill of course, for the district ... including the city of Minneapolis ... would be increased from seven ... to nine. This would give Minneapolis ... two more senators than the county ... be increased to two congressional ... These combined. The congressional district ... now has five senators and ... the number would be increased ... to nine. The house membership would ... be increased from thirteen to ... Ramsey people's house membership ... be increased from sixteen to eighteen ... These figures also assume introduction ... the present number there is an agitation ... to unify the state senate a body ... is limited representation somewhat ... the United States senate so ... they may never be possible for one ... county or two or three counties to ... a combination to control both houses ... the legislature.

Future of Agriculture.

Agricultural Schools and Experiment Stations have accomplished much under existing laws. Statesmen, farmhold headsmen men and educators are awake to the fact that an extension of their work is needed. Congress has accordingly been making liberal appropriations for federal schools for permanent agriculture on a co-operative basis," says Dean A. A. Woods of the College of Agriculture.

"The results of station investigation and the advantages offered by the colleges must be made available to the great majority of farmers and their sons who are unable to leave their farms. Much has been and is being accomplished in this direction through the press, but the work needs to be organized on a more definite and permanent basis with a view to keeping in touch with those not reached by present methods.

"The provisions of the Page or the Lever bill would do much to bring this to pass. Every important manufacturing enterprise has a corps of experts in constant touch with every phase of the work, endeavoring to make improvements in methods and solve difficulties as they arise. The farmer conducting the most complicated series of manufacturing and business enterprises requiring the assistance of nearly every science known to man, under the constant, ever-changing conditions, must be in close touch with an organized system of research, demonstration and education that will enable him to get advice and help needed at the time he needs it.

"The prosperity of our nation depends upon the permanency and efficiency of our agriculture. From now on it must receive constant and correct attention. The agricultural colleges, experiment stations and extension departments must be made more efficient in all of these directions and must come into close and vital touch with the work on the farms."

The Attic Tank.

If a soft water system is to be established on a farm with no power pump and no cistern, a tank can be placed in the loft of a kitchen, laundry, woodshed, or any room built in on an ell and attached to but not in the body of the house. The water can be run from the eave troughs or roof gutters into the tank instead of into the cistern, arrangement being made for turning the water on and off as desired in just the same way as with the outside cistern. Such a system, when once installed, is not liable to give much trouble. Sometimes the inlet and the pipes will covered, there is not great danger of freezing and the equipment is good in the first place, all should last a long time. The writer knows ofone such system that has been in service for twenty-five years and is still in use.—J. L. Sheppard, Domestic Science, University Farm, St. Paul.

PREPARED FOR WHAT HAPPENED

(Continued from Page 1.)

this is true or not I cannot say, but the fact remains that members of both houses admit the tax two years ago and known to be friendly with the brewers are telling tonnage tax now.

✣ ✣ ✣

The initiative and referendum bill reported out by the house committee on elections will probably be made a special order and advocates of the measure are looking forward to a spirited fight. The bill which will be considered is a redraft of five bills covering the subject and framed by as many members. For the initiative a 5 per cent petition is provided and for the referendum a 5 per cent petition. Fee amendments to the constitution a 10 per cent petition is required. Two years ago the bill met defeat on the question of percentages and it will again figure this time. It is hardly probable that either house will stand for the low percentage provided for in the present bill.

✣ ✣ ✣

The house is now engaged in a probe of the state grain inspection service and the work has developed some facts of more than ordinary interest. The inquiry began last Friday with an old time country shipper on the stand and he has to be said that his testimony was anything but encouraging as far as state inspection is concerned. Two exhibits of grain were shown which had been passed upon by two state inspectors and each gave the lot a different grade. The state warehouse commission, which is in charge of the state inspection of grain, says that the grades are always in favor of the shipper when there is any doubt, but the evidence so far would call in question the impartiality of the house. At any rate they have developed that if there is anything to the charges of discrimination and the probe now on is for the purpose of getting the desired information.

✣ ✣ ✣

Representative F. L. Kiemer of Faribault has introduced two bills in the house directed against the brewers' owned saloons and the chances are good for their approval by the temperance forces. The bills prohibit ownership of a saloon by any brewery or wholesale dealer and the other compels all applicants for a saloon license to show affidavit that they are not the agent or owner of a brewery or wholesale liquor house or in any way financially in such. Whether the bills will pass or not is a question and if it does it will not be because the brewing interests are not on the job for it is one bit of legislation they have to fear.

✣ ✣ ✣

Governor Eberhart has announced the reappointment of O. M. Hall as a member of the state tax commission and his prompt action removes from the list one job that threatened to be a political stinker. Mr. Hall, it is said will probably resign later on. He did not want to be retired and the appointment was made because of the fact that The one fat plum remaining in that of the governor's control, P. M. Hinghaw time will be out April 1 and Governor Eberhart will have the naming of his successor. All concerned are silent as to who this successor will be.

✣ ✣ ✣

If the two branches of the legislature pass all the bills now before it failing for the location and establishment of the new state normal schools it will swamp the state treasury. No less than six towns have come forward with demands for such an institution and there are more on the way. The same is the case in the matter of new fish hatcheries. Requests have been made so far by four Minnesota towns that they be favored in this respect. Free sites are promised in each case.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

NEW MEMBER'S HUMAN INTEREST STORY

The Old Members Laughed at Its Simplicity but There Was Another Joke in the Story.

Knud Wellfold, a lumber dealer at Hawley, was elected a member of the legislature from Clay county. When he was about to go to St. Paul his editor of thatHawley paper asked a favor. He wanted to write some letters for the paper. After he had been in St. Paul a week he received about the promised letter, but the legislators had done nothing to write about. Then he remembered that the editor had asked for his own interest stories, so he sent his first letter.

Copies of the Howley Herald containing the letter come into the hands of members of the legislature and We fold became the joke of the session for a brief time. He was no doubt homesick and lonesome—and very green.

But a few people after reading the letter read it a second time. They appreciated the rich humor of the story and the philosophy of a man who he more than an ordinary understanding of the impulses that control human activities. Big city papers featured the story and commented on the ill-concealed merit. About that time Wefald's colleagues in the legislature quit laughing. That is when they really appreciated the joke.

Representative Wefald's letter was as follows:

"It is quite a change. This thing of leading a whole day at a time is something new to me. This noise, hum and clotner almost drives a person crazy to begin with. The hotel and rooming house air chokes every the behere bread poisons me, and this, looking only against hills and dirty stone walls makes a fellow sick pid. It is a dreary contrast to the fore-part view of snow-covered hills white and beautiful Clay county rolling prairie, with its invigorating air and where one knows he can trust the selves down to live in the city, even with all the modern conveniences as we have and we in villages and on the farm do not have. A steady stream of human beings goes surging and seething up and down the main streets, in and out of the doors of the dirty black and brown buildings. It confuses me and ant keeps. I can no more understand the commotion here then when a child I can understand why the ants were so awfully busy.

"It means a steady, wearing grind. cannot see that any one of the whole mass is doing anything thatis useful, for there is no joy and pleasure in any face. They all seem to be under a strain of something that is on their mind, something that they have to do or else hasteing here and there to accomplish.

"Civilization is after all more tragic than comedy. How we farmers are a lot of uncivilized savages compared to the city people. No matter how dress and tog up when we come to the cities, they see no duet about being there. We are as carefree as theIndians of half a century ago compared to these people from the bigger cet to the lowest. We stop and half break every necktie we see the tops of the high buildings. They just how they

A Flight

By CARROL H. PIERCE.

In all my experiences as locomotive engineer my most interesting episode was when I was driving an express on the R. L. and O. railroad. I was sitting on the cab seat one day waiting for a signal to pull out when I saw a young couple come running down through an alley that led straight to the engine. The man was a long one and rided a suit case and the woman a hand bag. On reaching the platform he dort ed a glance back where persons were getting into the train, then, looking up at me, said hurriedly:

"Say, engineer, will you let us ride with you awhile?"

"Couldn't," I said contrary to positive orders."

"Would a hundred dollars repay you for the risk you would run?"

"No, nor a thousand."

He looked mighty crestfallen, cast ing glances back among the crowds of people who were getting on two trains on their journeys. He didn't seem to know what to do. Then the young woman took the matter.

"Oh, do please let us ride on your engine. My uncle is down there dead for me. He's my guardian, and, in order to get our property, is trying to shut me up on a cramped up chorge. We're just been married, and Henry is trying to get me out of the old villain's clutches. He will not suppose us to be in the locomotive and so we can escape."

She sobbed so passionately that she quite upset me. In order to gain time I told them to go round to the other side of the engine, where they were much less likely to be seen: They did so, and the fellow said:

"If you'll take us le we'll get off at the first stop you make. If we are captured my wife's guardian will have her arrested. If we can get beyond the state line he'll have to get requisition papers, and that will give me time to get a lawyer."

Meanwhile the pretty young wife was looking up at me appealingly

[illegible] ...y back and gave me a kiss. Then she let go and I ... mounted by her husband and within ten seconds they were out of sight.

Just as I was about to start I got a hand to hold on, and in a few minutes a conductor came forward with a constable and asked if I had seen a young man and woman leave the train, adding that they were a pair of crooks, with a suit case full of stolen jewels. I replied that I saw a young man and girl, but I kept mum. Besides, I knew that if it was known I had harbored them the bottom of the universe would drop out for me.

I heard afterward that the pair had escaped, but the plunder was recovered.

Order Limiting Time to File Claims Within Three Months, and for Hearing Thereon.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Jens Bastian Tengle, deceased.

Letters of Administration with will annexed, this day having been granted to John A. Duffy, and it appearing to the Court that [illegible] representative that there are no debts at said time outstanding.

It is Ordered, that the time within which all creditors of the above named decedent may present their claims against said estate be limited to three months from and after the date hereof; and that [illegible] 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the Probate Court Room in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, in the Probate Court District of said County, be and is hereby appointed for the examination and allowance of such claims as shall be presented within said time limited.

And it is further ordered that notice thereof be given by publication of this order in Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper of said County, as provided by law for three successive weeks.

Dated January 27th, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
(Probate Court Seal.) Judge of Probate.
1t-30

Order for Hearing on Final Account of Guardian.

State of Minnesota, } ss. In Probate Court.
County of Red Lake, }

In the Matter of the Guardianship of Vitol LaPlante, Minor Heir of Joseph Patnode, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Ida Chapeau, having made and filed in this court her petition praying that Ida Chapeau, the guardian of said minor heir of said deceased, be allowed to settle her account as such guardian and that said guardian be discharged.

It is Ordered, that said petition be heard and considered by this court at the Probate Court room in this court in the Court House at Red Lake Falls, in the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of February, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., and that notice thereof be given by publication of this order in Red Lake Falls Gazette, for three successive weeks, prior to said time.

Dated February 3rd, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Probate Court Seal.) Judge of Probate.
3t-6 Probate Judge.

Citation for Hearing on Final Account and for Distribution.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Joseph Patnode, deceased.

Vitol LaPlante, Minor Heir of said Deceased, Alex Patnode, Bernedas Patnode, Joseph Patnode, Jr., Frank Patnode, Charlie Patnode, Adeline Coy, Frankie Hennessey, and Minnie Auger, Heirs of said Deceased, and Ida Chapeau, Guardian of said Minor Heir of said Deceased, Nora Kennedy, Nora Normandeau, Peter Normandeau, Blanch Normandeau, Ida Normandeau, and Ida Chapeau, Heirs of said deceased, and Ida Chapeau, Administratrix of the estate of said deceased, Respondents.

The petition of Ida Chapeau, Administratrix of the estate of said deceased, and Guardian of said minor heir of said deceased having filed in this court its petition praying for the final settlement of its account as such administratrix and guardian, and for distribution of the residue of said estate among the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of said administratrix and guardian, and for the allowance of its fees for services rendered in the administration of said estate, and for the allowance of its fees for services rendered in the administration of said estate, and for the allowance of its fees for services rendered in the administration of said estate

Men!

Take a chew of "Right-Cut" the real tobacco chew—5 cents

5% INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS

Beginning Next Week

We will publish in this space a series of instructive and interesting details relating to banking. They will be short and free of Extravagant claims and will be of interest to every person having dealings with a bank.

This particular location in the Gazette belongs to us. We occupy it constantly and our advertising in the Gazette is one of its steadiest features as a newspaper. In the talks on banking to appear hereafter, we have taken into consideration the prosperous class of people this paper reaches and their relation to the business interests of this community.

Your Business Transactions Here Will Have Our Personal Attention.

Merchants State Bank

Capital, Surplus and Deposits $500,000.00

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Farm Loans at Low Rates

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY

S. S. S. S.

The above four S's are the four corner stones upon which our bank stands, and they stand for

STRENGTH STABILITY SOLIDITY SECURITY

The bank that has these corner stones should have your account. If you are not doing business with us, why not begin today?

First State Bank

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

United States, County and City Depository

Safety Deposit Boxes for Rent.
We Pay 5 per cent on Time Deposits

Attend the Farmers' Institute at Red Lake Falls

FEBRUARY 12 and 13, 1913

TERREBONNE

Alf. Berry is home after a two weeks visit at Tracy, Minn., and et points in Wisconsin. This with the exception of two days at Fargo a couple months ago, was the first lay off Alf. has had from the mail service in two years.

The suddenese of the advent of the ground-hog and with it the announcement that no less than seven people here, namely, Ernest Snuve; Edward Genereux, Pete Laundry, Louis Barry, Wm. Shane, Herman Morran and Chas. McGinty saw his majesty crawl out of his den viewing his shadow over his left shoulder and return, causes not only the serious but the frivolous and skeptical to pause for a moment and with the index finger scratch the pate a bit, not entirely on account of the prophetic weather to follow but more of the flight of time since winter ushered in, nothing coming to make plain or define the mystery save the little mental notes jotted down in the memory of the pleasantly spent winter by all, young and old, in the social gatherings, the reunions of families and acquaintances, the candy-pulls, the whip hees, what and birthday parties, weddings, sleighing parties and upsets, the proposals, the terrible suspense, then the rejection or acceptance filling the cup of joy for one suiter and the bowl of sadness for another, the lucky ones keeping the old paths smooth, the unlucky ones daring to blaze a new trail, paralleling paths where even pioneers were astray in the wilderness. East, west, north and south, Terrebonne, N. W. Poplar River and Poplar River proper, suburban county seat and even ocma daring chaps venturing to the skirts of Plummer, Okies and Lambert, just a little strip, but containing, according to etch authority as Chas. Barrow, Ell St.Yves, T. T. Kennefick, Dona Varin, Alf Berry, Curt Noyes, Harry Connors, Joe Supreman, Fred Bernier, Wm. Hart, Mike Nash, Ell Snuve and Mike Walech, more comely blondes and charming brunettes than nodding hollyhocks in a red season of Jack London's flower garden.

A few sleigh loads of young people very genuinely surprised Anna Gerry Sunday evening at the Connor home, the date being her 21 birthday anniversary. Soon the meaning of the number 21 artistically arranged over the door in as many different colors dawned upon her and reverted her memory to her 19th and 20th birthdays spent with relatives in Milwaukee and Denver, respectively. At twelve o'clock coffee and lunch was served, and a right jolly time was enjoyed.

Philemon Gagner intertained a whole housefull Wednesday evening, a kind of reunion of old acquaintances.

Frederick-Neuman of Edwardsville, Ind., who died in St. Paul last week, holds the record of the latest way of beating the rail roads honorably. Arranging before death for his cremation, he went traveling home to his sorrowing with by parcels post.

J. C. Slydam and Rena Ocistre were county seat callers Saturday of last week.

The ice harvest is about gathered here. Several in and about the village putting up a goodly supply.

A large crowd of the neighbors gathered at the Vail Rock home to welcome back the bust who had been in Michigan on a visit. A good time is reported.

The Pigeon home was surprised by a houseful of youngsters Monday evening. Dancing, games and cards were indulged in till the small hours began to grow large. Coffee and lunch put all in the spirit to make the time longer. A jolly good time was reported.

Dr. Spofford will be in Red Lake Falls, March 7. At the Grand View Hotel. —Adv.

The Local Field

Napoleon Cyr of Brooks has been in town this week.

James Bedell of Dorothy is visiting with his parents in Red Lake Falls.

J. D. Houston was in the cities last week attending to some business matters.

Geo. F. Hennings was in the twin cities attending to some business matters last week.

Frank Jeffers went to St. Paul last night to attend a meeting of the register of deeds of the state.

Miss Alice LaCrosse, after a visit with her parents here, returned to Crookston Tuesday evening.

There was a good attendance at the dance given by Brand's orchestra at M. B. A. hall Tuesday evening.

A number of young people enjoyed a dancing party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dondoneau last Saturday night.

T. A. Crumpe attended the funeral of Rev. Fr. Roy at Crookston Tuesday and visited with his daughter, Mrs. B. Jiell.

Friend's orchestra went to Brooks Friday night to furnish music for a dance given for the benefit of the Brooks base ball team.

Miss Malan, a teacher in the public schools of Crookston, who formerly taught here, visited with friends in town Saturday.

Miss Orilla Henschmith left Saturday to go to Valley City, N. Dak., where she will remain permanently, having accepted a position as nurse in a Valley City hospital.

Messrs. and Mesdames Simeon Vaudrin and L. J. DeRoux left for Red Lake Falls this morning from where they will drive to Terrebonne to be present at the Lafram-Joseph-Perrault nuptials. . . .Miss Laura Laframboise, who is attending St. Joseph's convent, left this morning for Red Lake Falls, from where she will go to Terrebonne to be present at her sister's wedding which takes place this morning.—Crookston Times, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sieff, sr. entertained a number of friends at their home Sunday evening. The evening was spent playing cards and at midnight an elaborate lunch was served. Misses Irene Beair, Eva Johnson and Sadie Sieff assisted with the serving. The guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Jos. Beair, W. H. Krueger, J. H. Lasha, A. L. Brunelle, Oliver Belair, L. A. Dusterhoft, Frank Jeffers, Jr., Joe Zeiser, Frank Breuillet, . Fred . Grye Otto Zeiser, Thomas Crompe, Charles Fellman, Wm. Beair and H. G. Rice, Mrs. George Brunelle and E. J. Dusterhoft.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The juniors, because of their small class, intend to give a short sketch or comedy for the purpose of raising money for the senior banquet. The have not decided yet which one it will be.

The seniors intend to give their class play soon. They have been looking over some books but have not found one that will serve their purpose.

One of our reporters has waked up to the fact that we need more news—the editors need it.

It was only 20 below zero Friday morning but the way the girls put on coats the appearance of the school room would make an outsider think it was 60 below.

A teachers' convention will be held at Thief River Falls Feb. 13-15-14. Since Feb. 12 is a holiday we are all expecting that some of the teachers will go and enjoy themselves for one day at least.

There was no music Friday morning because of the absence of the piano player.

A masquerade ball was given at St. Hilaire Friday evening and a few of our members took occasion of the occasion to enjoy themselves.

Mr. Carpenter made us wonder Thursday morning when he told us that his small snowplow engine developed 20 horse power.

We all wonder where Jack keeps himself during the vacant periods.

Our next program is Feb. 7. Of course the most interesting part is the debate. The subject has not been announced yet but it is worth hearing, anyway. The struggle for the championship is getting on the nerves of the debaters and what we have to say about the subjects about bring a crowd to the programs, especially the evening ones.

Some new books have been added to the book review lists.

Though Sadie takes 11l year English she isn't perfect, for example: Miss Thomas: Who was Sir Francis Drake? Sadie: He was the guy that went around the world.

The junior class in physics under the leadership of Mr. Smith went down to the train last Thursday to make a hasty examination of the engine and see the wheels go round.

Mr. Carpenter is hearing the completion of a flavelport. The back and cushion are to be upholstered and the frame is quartered oak. During the year he has made several other articles of furniture.

The seniors had a taffy pull at the high school Friday evening. Everybody had a good time.

Harry Anderson has come back to school, taking up the short course.

The Freshmen must be very quiet since we haven't much news from them.

Mr. Chamberlain, a representative of "fire prevention," gave us a short talk last Thursday on how to prevent some of the destruction by fire. This was intended for last week but as we did not get full particulars it was impossible to get it in.

Miss Smith: Moses, did you make an audible noise?

Moses: I don't know what an audible noise is.

PLUMMER

O. H. Peterson and family officity are expected to arrive here today and on Saturday will take over the management of the Scotland Hotel, which Mr. Peterson has leased, Mr. J. E. Lee who has had charge of the hotel since last March, will retire from the hotel business and will reside with his family in rooms over the Carlson feed store until spring opens up, when he expects to move out on his farm.

George Brocket, who resides northwest of town, had a sad accident Tuesday morning. The accident happening while Mr. Brocket, in company with several others, were engaged in cutting wood on the Priebe place with a sawing outfit. With the saw still going the men tried to lift the sleigh still closer to the wood pile when in some manner young Brocket got his right hand caught in the blade, cutting a gash right across the hand, almost severing it entirely. He was brought into town with all speed and taken before Dr. Hanson for medical treatment. An operation was found necessary which was performed in the afternoon by Drs. Hanson and Swedenborg or Thief River Falls. At first it was feared that the hand would have to be amputated immediately, but on examination this was not found necessary, and it is thought that he may save the hand.

About ten o'clock Friday evening fire was discovered in the roof of the Soo pump house and the fire department was called out, and thereby hangs a tale. After the fire bell had clanged a few clangs something went suddenly wrong, radically wrong, and all endeavors to make the old bell ring s'more were fruitless and hopeless. Lickity, however, the few short peals proved effective, enough so as to reach the ears of the volunteer fire department who were not already snoring, and before long the run was being made with the chemical fire truck to the fire. Reaching there there was more trouble to follow. After a few strokes of the strong-arm it was found that one of the pumps refused to work, and an investigation discovered that it was frozen. With the assistance of the other one the fire was extinguished in no due time and without difficulty. The fire is thought to have originated from the stove, and a slight damage done to the roof was the only result.—Pioneer.

BROOKS

Mr. and Mrs. Narcisse Robidoux gave a dancing party at their home last Saturday evening.

Gregory Carr is visiting with relatives and friends in Red Lake Falls this week.

Ernest Desoutelet of Badger attended the dance at N. Robidoux's Saturday night.

Followed Directions.

It would be a sin and a shame to tell the real name of the gentleman about whom this plaguing little anecdote is related, but it is the truth and that is as merely observe that he really isn't such a dub as he appears in this. He was invited to a big wedding. At the appointed time he appeared at the church, bearing an immense bundle in his arms. On the church steps he was accosted by a friend.

"What have you got there?" asked the friend.

"The wedding present."

"Why, you chump. You oughtn't to bring the wedding present to the church!"

"That's all you know about it. I got a card that reads 'no gifts,' and the card says 'Present at church.'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Pirate Ship Sea Horse

By ALBERT KENYON

During the reign of Queen Eliza beth of England the British navy was not all a government institution, as now. The greater part consisted of merchant vessels, armed and licensed by the government to prey on the commerce of foreign nations. Consequently some very rich prizes fell into the hands of the English privateersmen. To capture a ship containing a million dollars in gold and appropriate the plunder, though legitimated, was akin to piracy.

When the war ended the business of these masters of privateers was ended also—that is, its legitimacy ended really it was continued on piracy. Among the British sea captains who passed through such a transition was Edward Gregory, in command of the Sea Horse. She sported a wooden horse's head at her prow, and a dozen guns bristled on either side. But this was only when she had thrown off the mask of a merchantman. When supposed to be peaceful she was the most innocent looking vessel afloat. Not a gun was to be seen, still she presented none of the rakish appearance of a pirate.

Captain Gregory for a time after the war between Spain and England had ended confined his attention to his old enemies, but since he had turned pirate, considering that he might as well hang for a sheep as a lamb, he preyed upon the ships of all nations, including his own. Some of his crew whose consciences were too tender for this kind of warfare he had got rid of, except one young man, his second officer, whom he had brutally punished. This person, Jack Cassland, resolved to remain with the captain with a view to bringing him to the gallows.

One day off the banks of Newfoundland the Sea Horse fell in with the Fetgulu, a vessel bound for the new colony of Virginia, as the coast from North Carolina to Canada was then called. It contained persons going to settle on Chesapeake bay. Suddenly the Sea Horse's sides were opened and the guns were run out. The captain of the Penguin hoisted the British flag, taking the Sea Horse for an English ship, but it did not protect him. He was captured and he and all his crew and passengers except a gentleman and his family were made to walk the plank. The reason for his spoiling these was that Jack Cassland told him that he had known the family, that they were very rich and could be made to pay a large ransom.

Captain Gregory interviewed Ernest Wharton, the man reserved for ransom, and demanded a hundred thousand pounds ransom. Wharton replied that he was a poor country squire going to settle in the wilds of America. He was, however, a younger son of an earl who would doubtless pay largely for his ransom, but he did not believe his father could raise nearly half the sum. Cassland told Gregory that he knew all about the earl's affairs, and he was one of the richest men in England. He advised the captain to double his demand.

The great obstacle in the way of negotiating for a ransom was a messenger. Cassland agreed for half the plunder to take the risk of going to the earl and presenting the situation. If the latter caused his arrest his son and his son's family would die. Consequently he would not likely be informed upon. The captain had only one cause for objection to the plan—that was, Could he trust his emissary? Cassland had been permitted to leave the Sea Horse with others of the crew when she went into piracy regularly, but he had chosen to remain and was therefore, as much subject to the gibbet as any of them. After much deliberation Gregory resolved to trust him.

The crew of the Sea Horse was turned toward England, and after a few weeks' sail came in sight of land. Being a peaceful looking craft she excited no suspicion, and, speaking a vessel bound in, Jack Cassland was put aboard of her. He had with him information as to the Sea Horse's exact position each day and sight for a month.

Captain Gregory did not like such near proximity to the admiralty courts of his native land, but he had no suspicion whatever of treachery on the part of Jack Cassland. But so long as he was unrecognized he feared nothing, and those who might have recognized him had all walked the plank.

But one dark night he was awakened by sounds on deck and, springing from his berth, ran up the companionway to find his ship in possession of British sailors, led by naval officers, and, strange to say, there among them was Jack Cassland. He saw at once that he had been betrayed, fired a shot at his emissary, missing him, and surrendered.

This ended the career of Captain Gregory and his ship the Sea Horse. Cassland had kept his resolution to hang his captain and was present when he was swung off. Cassland had no difficulty in establishing his own innocence. Indeed, his giving up his share of a large ransom to bring the pirate to justice was sufficient to establish the fact. When the Whartons sailed again for Virginia he sailed with them and afterward married a daughter of Mr. Wharton in Maryland. Indeed, it was said that the origin of his mission which resulted so disastrously for Gregory and his crew was this young lady.

5% INTEREST PAID ON TIME DEPOSITS

5% INTEREST PAID ON TIME DEPOSITS

We offer you a strong and well equipped bank in which to deposit your money.

We are under the supervision and control of the United States Government. This should also be an inducement for you to Deposit your Money with the Farmers National Bank.

All business entrusted to us is treated strictly confidentially.

We want you to feel free to come in and talk over business matters at all times.

FARMERS NATIONAL BANK

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Farm Loans Closed Promptly.

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY

HORSES

From now on I will always have on hand a large number of native horses, ranging in weight from 1200 to 1500 pounds. Can fit you out with any horses that you may need for your spring work. You can always buy them RIGHT from me.

LOUIS SIEFF, SR.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

ODE TO A FURNACE.

THOU art a fake!
I flee not for its claims
Thy makers make.
I tell the various assorted names,
For true that ways
That art the calmest temperament shines.

On sunny days of fall
Thou assist at roast in all,
Although we close the flue tight
From morn till night.
Yet when the chill winds roar
Thou art still more
Though all thy drafts be wide,
Thou'rt useless, indeed,
The clickers out and shake thee down inside.

Then only fitest up the house with smoke,
And soon thy fire is out.

We bet thee for the night
With gentle care,
The morn finds ashes there
And think that thou will stay till more slight.

But, alas, then day hath come
The house is chill and glum.
That fire of thine hath gone upon the bum!

Tis then that maknet us dwell
In fathoms and hotel:
Thou modest housewives sad;
Thou makest husbands mad.
Thou silent sad when we are wair cheerful,
Thou art a burning and a maddening thing.
Thus do I also!
—Burton Braley in Wisconsin State Journal

KEZIAH COFFIN

by

Joseph C. Lincoln

Author of "Cy Whittaker's Place" "Capn Eri," Etc.

Illustrations by Ellsworth Young

Copyright, 1917, by D. Appleton & Company

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is rescued to money from Trumet in Hole Cove, following the death of her brother, for whom she had kept house. Evelyn Snow, her niece, refuses marriage, and is disowned by her aunt. Dr. Parker, Trumet's leader of the Brooklyn church, offers Keziah a place as housekeeper for the Reverend Mr. Eldredge, who is ailing. Nathaniel Kendrick, a wealthy neighbor of Keziah's, the new minister and Elvira Allen, adviser to the parish. Ellery causes a disturbance in church by whistling during Eldredge's sermon. He is obliged to attend church by Uncle Nathaniel, leader of the singing. Evelyn apologizes for her guardian and Ellery accepts her home in his car. Keziah, on her return home, finds Nathaniel has been burglarized, and the pocket-book containing $1,000 stolen. Ellery and Evelyn have taken a shine to each other, and Keziah suspects Ellery of the robbery. Evelyn's fiancé, Alfred Bassett, arrives unexpectedly at Trumet. Nat calls on Keziah, and it develops that they have been lovers since youth. Keziah remonstrates with Ellery for his attentions to Evelyn, and he tells her he is caught by the ebb and is rescued by her. They become friends. Ellery overhears a plot involving Keziah's fortune that they will marry. Keziah tells the news to Ellery and Ellery receives a note from Evelyn asking him to meet her at the Orleans station. Keziah to see her leave, and in addition to the story of her own meetings with a man who turned out to be a good-for-nothing, and who was reported to have been lost at sea, and for her love for Nat, whom she cannot marry because the husband is not dead. Ellery tells her that Evelyn is in good hands, and that Alfred and Grace have decided not to marry until he returns. But in overhearing, he has feared that he has been lost at sea. Keziah gets a letter from her husband saying he is coming back. Grace goes on a visit to relatives of the Hammonds. A vessel flying distress signals is discovered off the coast. Ellery goes to the beach to see the wreck. Keziah is horrified at seeing Ferris from southpier, the rest of the crew having deserted.

CHAPTER XV—(Continued.)

The sick man was raving in delirium when he reached him, but the sound of the water lapping the sides of the saucepan brought him to himself. He seized Ellery by the arm and drank and drank. When at last he desisted, the pan was half empty.

The minister laid him gently back in the bunk and stepped to the foot of the ladder for breath. This made him think of the necessity for air in the cabin and he remembered the little window. It was tightly closed and tasted fast. He went up to the deck, found a marlin spike, sad, returning, broke the glass. A sharp, cold draught swept through the forecastle, stirring the garments hanging on the nails.

An hour later, two dories bumped against the side of the Sea Rose Maru, talking to low tones, climbed over the rail. Burgess was one of them; ashamed of his panic, he had returned to assist the others in bringing the brigantine into a safer anchorage up the inlet.

Dr. Parker, very grave but business-like, reached the deck among the first. "Mr. Ellery," he shouted, "where are you?"

The minister's head and shoulders appeared at the forecastle companion. "Here I am, doctor," he said. "Will you come down?"

The doctor made no answer in words, but he hurried briskly across the deck. One man, Ebenezer Capen, an old fisherman and ex-whaler from East Trumet, started to follow him, but he was the only one. The others waited, with scared faces, by the rail.

"Get her under way and inshore as soon as you can," ordered Dr. Parker. "Ebenezer, you can help. If I need you below, I'll call."

The minister backed down the ladder and the doctor followed him. Parker bent over the bunk. "Hello, there, a den! Who broke that window?"

"I did," replied Ellery. "The air down here was dreadful."

The doctor nodded approvingly. "I guess so," he said. "It's bad enough now. We've got to get this poor fellow out of here as soon as we can. Help me into before tomorrow. Mr. Ellery," he added sharply, "what made you do this? Don't you realize the risk you're run?"

"Some one had to do it. You are needing the medicine."

"Not just the same, and, besides, it's my business. Why didn't you let some one else, some one we could spare— Humph! Confound it, man! didn't you know any better? Weren't you afraid?"

His tone rasped Ellery's shaken nerves.

"Of course I was," he snapped irritably. "I'm not a fool."

"Humph! Well, all right; I beg your pardon. But you oughtn't to have done it. Now you'll have to be quarantined. And who is there of us left to stay with with me in this case is more than I know. Just say smallpox to this town hand it goes to places like a smallpox egg. Old Eb Capen will help, for he's had it, but it needs more than one."

"Where are you going to take him?" pointing to the moaning occupant of the bunk.

"To one of the empty fish shanties on the beach. There are beds there, such as they are, and the place is secluded. We can burn it down when the fuss is over."

"Then why can't I stay? I shall have to be quarantined. I know that, for me be the other nurse. Why should anyone else run the risk? I have run it. I'll stay."

Dr. Parker looked at him. "Well!" he exclaimed. "Well I must say, young man, that you've got— Humph! All right, Mr. Ellery! I'm much obliged."

CHAPTER XVI.

In Which Ebenezer Capen is Surprised.

Before sunset that afternoon the Sea Rose was anchored behind the point in Hole Cove, her sails furled, her moorings and moved farther up, for not a single one of their owners would trust himself within a hundred yards of the stricken brigantine.

The largest of the beach shanties, one which stood by itself a quarter of a mile from the light, was hurriedly prepared for use as a pesthouse and the sick sailor was carried there on an improvised stretcher. Dr. Parker and Ellery lifted him from his berth and, assisted by old Ebenezer Capen, got him to shore. Then with a cart they took him into the dory. Ebenezer rowed the tide to the head and the rest of the journey was comparatively easy.

Nathaniel Snow had come with one of which was given up to the patient, once used as a living room, and, in the little bedroom off the kitchen were two sleep. Mattresses were procured, kindling wood from the piles of drift-fuel tables and chairs, and the building was made as habitable as circumstances would be, under the circumstances. Sign boards, warning strangers to keep away, were erected, and in addition to them, the Trumet selectmen ordered ropes stretched between the pesthouse and both sides of the sheets. But ropes and signs were superfluous. Trumet is not a gregarious town. A blue funk and had no desire to approach within a mile of the loathly place. And it, in front of the grocery cart, when he left the packages under the ropes, yelled a hurried "Here you be!" and, whipping up his horse, made off as fast as the law would allow.

The village sat up nights to discuss the affair and every day brought a new sensation. The survivors of the Sea Rose's crew, a wretched, panic-stricken quartette of mulattos and Portuguese, were apprehended on the outskirts of Denboro, the town below Trumet on the bay side, and were promptly sequestered and fumigated, pending shipment to the hospital at Chatham. Their story was short but gruesome. The brigantine was not a Yankee liner, but a coaster from Jamaica. She had sailed with a small crew for Savannah, the little vessel and the smallpox made its appearance on board. The officers, a negro boy and most hand, died. Then another sailor was seized and also died. The skipper, who was the owner, was the next victim, and the vessel was in a state of demoralization which the mate, an Englishman named Bradford, could not overcome. Then followed days and nights of calm and terrible heat, of pestilence and all but mutiny. The darkness drifted the Sea Rose out of her course and, at last, the minister, being younger, went on watch. The doctor came frequently, but said there was hope. A question of time only, and the sick sailor was better.

Capen occupied his mind with speculations concerning the patient.

"Do you know, parson," he said, "seem's if I'd seen the feller somewheres afore. 'Course I never have, but when I see ye vitalize the yarns I cruised from one end of creation to t'other, pretty ugly, and I might have met him."

That night the sick man was much worse. His ravings were incessant. The wooden clock, loaned by Mrs. Parker, the doctor's wife, ticked standfully, although a belt hour slow. Ellery, glancing at it to see if the time had come for giving medicine, suddenly noticed how loud its ticking sounded. Wondering at this, he was aware there was no other sound in the house. He rose and looked in at the door of the adjoining room. The patient had ceased to rave and was lying quiet on the bed.

The minister tiptoed over to look at him. And, as he did so, the man opened his eyes.

"Hallo!" he said faintly. "Who are you?"

Ellery, startled, made no answer.

"Who are you?" demanded the man again. Then, with an oath, he repeated the question, adding: "What place is this? This ain't no 'tween-decker. Where am I?"

You're ashore. On Cape Cod. At Trumet."

Trumet! Trumet!"

He was struggling to raise himself on his elbow. Ellery was obliged to use force to hold him down. The struggled again. Then his strength and his reason seem to return simultaneously and the delirium returned. He sat up, shouting a name, a name that caused Ellery to start upright and step back from the bed, scarcely believing his ears.

And at the next sight the man on the bed raved and muttered, but of people and places and happenings that the poor parson knew not. Then his voice sank to a whisper, listening intently to the words caught himself wondering if he also was not losing his mind.

The whisper ceased and Ebenezer Capen was awakened by a shake to and John Ellery standing over him.

The whisper was the minister, "Capen, get up. I must talk with you. Hush! Not a word to a soul. Come! Ware you acquainted in New Bedford?"

"Sartin. Was a time when I could have located every stick in it, pretty near, by the smell, if you'd turned me down side of 'em blindfolded."

"Did you ever know anyone named—" He finished the sentence.

"Wells I wanted to. Pretty decent fellow, mate, but a fast goer, and I went downhill like a young one's sled, when he got started. His folks had money, that was the trouble with him. Why, 'course I know him. He married—"

"I know. Now, listen."

What he said then, Ellery rapidly and with great earnestness. Ebenezer listened, his old eyes blinking, then breaking in with ejaculations and grunts of assent. He sat up on the edge of the bed.

"Ashiah!" he cried at last. "Why, 'tain't possible! Then feller's dead as Methusalem's grandmarm. I remember when it happened and—"

"It wasn't true. That much I know. Listen, I tell you."

He went on to explain why he knew. Capen's astonishment grew.

"Judas priest!" he exclaimed again. "That would explain why I thought I'd seen him afore. Two to one you've got to see. But it's a mistake. I don't believe it."

The pair entered the sick room. The sailor lay in a stupor. His breathing was rapid, but faint. Capen bent over him and gently moved the bandage on his face. For a full minute he gazed steadily. Then he stood erect, drew a big red hand across his forehead, and moved slowly back to the living room.

"Yup," he said, "it's him. Mr. Ellery, what are you goin' in do about it?"

"I don't know. I don't know. I must go somewhere by myself and think. I don't know what to do."

The minister declined to wait for breakfast. He said he was not hungry. Leaving Ebenezer to put on the coffee-pot and make up his duties as day nurse, Ellery walked off along the beach, fly and by to heard Capen calling his name.

"Mr. Ellery!" shouted Ebenezer. "Mr. Ellery, where be you?"

"Here!" replied the minister.

The old man came scrambling over the sand. He was panting and much excited.

"Mr. Ellery!" he cried, "Mr. Ellery! It's settled for us—one part of it, anyhow. He's slipped his cable. You, I must have died fast a little while after you left and after I gave him the medicine. I thought he looked kind of queer then. And when the doctor came over and I went in together and he was dead. Yes, sir, dead."

"Dead!"

"Um-hm. No doubt of it; it's for good this time, Mr. Ellery, what shall we do? Shall I tell Dr. Parker?"

Ellery considered for a moment. "No," he said slowly. "No, Capen, don't tell anyone. I can't see why they need ever know that he hasn't been dead for years, as they supposed. I'm going to keep it a secret, I will tell—her—myself, later on. Now promise me, I trust you."

"Land sakes, yes! I'll promise, if you want me to."

The next day the body of "Murphy," foremast hand on the San Jose, was buried in the corner of the Baptist graveyard, near those who were drowned in the wreck of that winter. Capen remained at the shanty another week. Then, as the minister showed no symptoms of having contracted the disease and insisted that he needed no companion, Ebenezer departed to take up his fishing once more.

Ellery himself was most urgent in the decision that he should not go back to the parsonage and his church just yet. Better to wait until he was sure, he said, and Dr. Parker agreed. Dr. Parker told him of Grace Hammond's return to the village. She had come back, as the doctor said, the day before, and was to live at the eastern end of the village, with Mrs. Hammond and Nathaniel Snow.

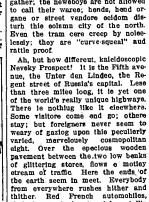
"And say," went on Parker, "what I want to know is whether you think I could leave you for a couple of days? The Oakdale County Medical Society meets at Hyannis tomorrow and I had promised myself to take it in this year. But I don't want to leave you if you need me."

Ellery insisted that he did not need, anyone, was getting along finely, and would not bear to his friend's missing the medical society's meeting. So the physician went. John Ellery did not feel cheerful that afternoon. He tried reading he had spoken of on flight- ly was worse than he had described it, and he was decidedly out of sorts. Another reason. That night he slept miserably and awoke with a chill in the early cold, pouring rain beating against the windows of the shanty.

He lay down on his bed and tried to sleep, but thought he dozed a bit, woke always in the same way and either a chill or fever fit. His head began to ache violently. And then, in the afternoon (when Parkerquay wakes up!), is a semi-Oriental sight. Save on carnival holidays, when each house is required to hang out its national flag, there is no color in the streets, the houses are dun colored and monotonously alike. Over here are no silk amoll domes, no large once—just huge, hu- man hives with courts in the rears, and lions constantly lit by tiny oil lamps in the doors.

There is little noise. No crowds gather; the newsboys are not allowed to call their wares; bands, lend organs or street vendors seldom disturb the silent city of the north. Even the tram cars creep by noiselessly; they are "curve-squeal" and rails proof.

Ah, but how different, kaleidoscopic Nevsky Prospect! It is the Fifth Avenue, the Under den Lindeo, the Regent street of Russia's capital. Less than a century ago it was the pet lane of the world's really unique highways. There is nothing like it elsewhere. Some visitors come and go; others stay; but few are never under the enchantment of the room, and none ere more splendid than those made over night. Over the asphalt pavement between the two low banks of glittering stores, down a motley stream of traffic. Here the ends of the east-west streets, the Sadovaya Linitiles, swerve and dodge about ragged peasants bearing bartered with wooden shoulder yokes or driving private- lines, none-made sets. Royally appointed equipages, flaunting purple plumes and golden braid, prance so- lately by, while continually up and down side and down the other ponre a



The Old Man Came Scrambling Over

A rope, apparently, but why should there be ropes in that house? There never had been any before. He climbed over it and it was a climb of hundreds of feet and the height made him giddy. That was a house, another house, not the one he had been in. And there were lights all about. Perhaps one of them was the light of the passenger. And a big bell was booming. That was his school bell and he would be late for the meeting.

Some one was speaking to him. He knew the voice, had heard it in always and would know it forever. It was the voice he wanted to hear. It was "Grace!" he called. "Grace! I want you. Don't go! Don't go! Grace! Oh, my dear! don't go!"

Then the voice had gone. No, it had not gone. It was still there and he heard it speaking to him, begging him to come, pleading with him to go somewhere, go back, back to something or other. And there was an- other voice, a voice he knew, one that was leading him, helping him. He broke down and cried pitifully and some one cried with him.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Raw Recruit.

F. M. King enlisted in the Spanish-American war and was sent to Jefferson barracks, Mo., for training. When the company streets smoking a cigar was given him by one of the men he joined.

"Look here," said the officer, "don't you know better than to salute an officer when you have a cigar in your mouth? I'll have you put in the guard- here!"

"Three days," replied King.

"You are excused this time," said the officer, "but don't let me catch you doing that again."

In a short time King met the same officer and saluted by without saluting.

"Why didn't you salute?" demanded the officer, stopping him.

"Well, at last you've got me out in saloute when I had a cigar in my mouth," replied the raw recruit.

But he spent three days in the kitchen peeling potatoes for this offense.—Kansas City Journal.

"A Mighty Man Was He."

At a concert for charity in a country town Miss Carter rendered the well-worn ballad, "Mighty Blacksmith." At the conclusion of her recital the rural encored over and over again. "Encore!" cried Miss Carter when about to repeat the request when, in hurly fellow, very much out of breath, tapped her on the shoulder and, as she turned, came around in front, whispered this man, excitedly: "Well, what's it to you?" she asked. "Why, it's mine!" gasped the man. "I'll have to be the fellow you've been talkin' about, and I want you to put a stop to that song saying how I let out bi cycles."

Long-Distance Justice.

H. W. Smith was arrested yesterday by Detective Sergeants Cashel and Armstrong and booked at the city prison as a fugitive from justice. Advices from Perlee, Preemo county, to the local police state that Smith is wanted in that town for passing a fictitious check for $5 on John Gird. Detective Cashel notified the authorities at Perlee of the arrest of Smith and two hours later received the following telegram from J. D. Sayre, the constable at Perlee: "Dear Chief— Collect $8 of Smith and send it to me. Collect your own expenses and bring Smith loose. (Signed) J. D. Sayre, Constable."—San Francisco Chronicle.

IN RUSSIA'S CAPITAL

Streets of St. Petersburg Are a Semi-Oriental Sight.

Houses Like Huge Human Hives—Book Censorship Confined to Congregate and Newsboys Are Prohibited From Calling Their Wares.

St. Petersburg—As one moves about the streets, he is struck most of all by the wasteful use of space. It is at once apparent that Petersburg never asked counsel from embryonic beginnings. But it would be unwise to proceed further in describing Petersburg's streets without noting the fact that she has two kinds of streets, namely, the Nevsky Prospect and others. An ordinary "outlitue" or street except two in the afternoon (when Petersburg wakes up!), is a semi-Oriental sight. Save on carnival holidays, when each house is required to hang out its national flag, there is no color in the streets, the houses are dun colored and monotonously alike. Over here are no silk amoll domes, no large once—just huge, human hives with courts in the rears, and lions constantly lit by tiny oil lamps in the doors.

There is little noise. No crowds gather; the newsboys are not allowed to call their wares; bands, lend organs or street vendors seldom disturb the silent city of the north. Even the tram cars creep by noiselessly; they are "curve-squeal" and rails proof.

Ah, but how different, kaleidoscopic Nevsky Prospect! It is the Fifth Avenue, the Under den Lindeo, the Regent street of Russia's capital. Less than a century ago it was the pet lane of the world's really unique highways. There is nothing like it elsewhere. Some visitors come and go; others stay; but few are never under the enchantment of the room, and none ere more splendid than those made over night. Over the asphalt pavement between the two low banks of glittering stores, down a motley stream of traffic. Here the ends of the east-west streets, the Sadovaya Linitiles, swerve and dodge about ragged peasants bearing bartered with wooden shoulder yokes or driving private- lines, none-made sets. Royally appointed equipages, flaunting purple plumes and golden braid, prance so- lately by, while continually up and down side and down the other ponre a steady torrent of cabs. Perhaps a thousand in sweeping sight (quite as much in Petersburg); the golden, tinseled casket in the shabby, boat-like sledge; the splendid fur coat and hat; and peasants stride proudly by it as though they are escorting a prize pumpkin to market. Inexhaustible is the fascination of the animated thoroughfare.

Palace Drawing Room of the Empress at St. Petersburg.

And the people! How varied and picturesque! Gaudy Asiatic garments are the uniforms, the Parisian gowns, the flashing of tasteful jewels! Soldiers armed cap-a-pie seem to make up half the parading multitude. Their uniforms are beautiful. Every true male Russian presents a stately in whiskers. It is the land of the beard, indeed, and the Russian, the Nevsky Prospect there is time for everything. Here are Frenchmen, Germans, Dutchmen, Finns, Tartars, Persians, Turks, and all parts of the world. Here the Russian presents a study in character. What a human catalogue! Here the sleek, complacent tube and lace, the draperies and the linings of furs and diamonds and pearls are required ornamentation to these beautiful toilets.

Hat of Unique Design That Is Featured at Palm Beach

(Photos, by Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.)

Small Worth form made of material that is both demp and water proof. The garniture consists of wi de ribbon and algrettes.

SOMETHING NEW IN CUSHIONS

Well, Not to Pile Them Up in Too Much Profusion, but Some Are Indispensable.

The fad for having divans piled up with cushions of miscellaneous hues is fortunately out of vogue, but an occasional cushion in the more formal drawing room, when it is really beautiful and artistic, is still a possession to be prized and is indeed a thing of beauty, and makes a most acceptable gift. Such a cushion, instead of being conspicuous and startling, should rather be in keeping with the general color scheme of the room, and none are more splendid than those made over night. Over the asphalt pavement between the two low banks of glittering stores, down a motley stream of traffic. Here the ends of the east-west streets, the Sadovaya Linitiles, swerve and dodge about ragged peasants bearing bartered with wooden shoulder yokes or driving private- lines, none-made sets. Royally appointed equipages, flaunting purple plumes and golden braid, prance so- lately by, while continually up and down side and down the other ponre a to any sensitive nostril. Satchets of all sorts are very much used, from the padded linger mail, flower vase or wardrobe, to smaller and more personal satchets that are tucked into the bodice or hidden in the leaf of the parish coresge flower so generally worn.

HATS CATCH POPULAR FANCY

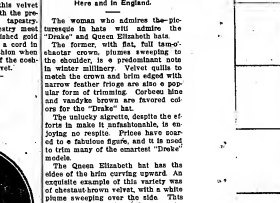
The "Drake" and the "Queen Elizabeth" Have Won Much Favor Here and in England.

The woman who admires the picturesque in hats will admire the "Drake" and Queen Elizabeth hats.

The former, with flat, full tam-o'-shanter crown, pinches sweeping to the shoulder, is a most becoming one in winter millinery. Velvet quills to match the crown and trim edged with narrow feather fringe are also a popular one of the season. Curbean lace and vandyke brown are favored colors for the "Drake" hat.

The unbelievable, despite the effects in make it unfashionable, is enjoying no respite. Prove have scored to e fabulous figure, and it is need to trim many of the smartest "Drake" models.

The Queen Elizabeth hat has the sides of the brim curving upward. An exquisite example of this variety was of chestnut-brown velvet, with a white plume sweeping over the side. This was caught with a jeweled ornament.



"BRYDA"

Pegtop Coat.

One of the most graceful forms taken by the fur coat of the season is that in which the garment is made even and right length all round. The extra length is then caught up in a series of tucks or pleats, or what you seem. This is distinctly due to the pouner idea. It has the advantages of not showing the longer waist line of the fashionable pegtop.

A typical coat at the moment in tailless ermine has a Watteau pleat of the back and the back held down in pleats between the shoulders. The fullness is again caught in at the level of the waist by a broad band of lace fringed with ermine tails, which crosses the Watteau pleat out to its fullest and holds it tightly in to the figure.

Waist Pattern Help.

A waist pattern should be fitted right side out—as it is to be worn. Almost everyone has some variation in the form of figure. One shoulder will be a trifle higher than the other and the hip on the opposite side a trifle lower than its mate, resulting in a slightly longer waist line underarm seam on that side than on the other. Now, if you fit the waist wrong side out, you will have to stitched the seams and put it on right side out, the fitting will be exactly reversed. The high shoulder will be low and the low waist that was fitted to the low shoulder.

Evening Sheen.

Among the accessories of dress on which time and money are being lavished by fashionable women are evening shoes and buckles. For the former the most costly brocades and damasks are employed and in colors to match the gowns, white and gold being much favored. Jeweled buckles of great price as well as those of paste are utilized for their adornment mounted on a semi-circle of plated or gilt metal, and the wearer of the velvet ribbon are seen coming from the latter beneath the buckle. Satin flowers amply a touch of color.

Taups Trying Color to Many Women.

Taupe, or mole color, literally translated, is very much in vogue, causes many women whom it does not suit to commit the error of adopting it. It is a trying shade to those who do not possess considerable color.

BUT ONE SCENT PERMITTED

Fastidious Woman Knows Better Than to Overdo This Essential of the Toilet Table.

There is a value in perfumes as a safeguard against contagion, but most women of refinement never overdo its use, but confine it to a delicate fragrance that never offends, as do those common scents. The dainty woman selects a special perfume and uses this only in all her toilet articles, and it is a fad to extend the fragrance of some flower that corresponds with her favorite color. She also has her satchels, perfume, toilet water, powder and soaps of the same scent.

If any change is made it includes everything on the dressing table, for good taste decrees that only one favored scent is permissible for each individual. While a little really fine essence is delightful, a thimbleful of coarse alcoholic mixture is disgusting to any sensitive nostril. Satchets of all sorts are very much used, from the padded linger mail, flower vase or wardrobe, to smaller and more personal satchets that are tucked into the bodice or hidden in the leaf of the parish coresge flower so generally worn.

HATS CATCH POPULAR FANCY

The "Drake" and the "Queen Elizabeth" Have Won Much Favor Here and in England.

The woman who admires the picturesque in hats will admire the "Drake" and Queen Elizabeth hats.

The former, with flat, full tam-o'-shanter crown, pinches sweeping to the shoulder, is a most becoming one in winter millinery. Velvet quills to match the crown and trim edged with narrow feather fringe are also a popular one of the season. Curbean lace and vandyke brown are favored colors for the "Drake" hat.

The unbelievable, despite the effects in make it unfashionable, is enjoying no respite. Prove have scored to e fabulous figure, and it is need to trim many of the smartest "Drake" models.

The Queen Elizabeth hat has the sides of the brim curving upward. An exquisite example of this variety was of chestnut-brown velvet, with a white plume sweeping over the side. This was caught with a jeweled ornament.

Waist Pattern Help.

A waist pattern should be fitted right side out—as it is to be worn. Almost everyone has some variation in the form of figure. One shoulder will be a trifle higher than the other and the hip on the opposite side a trifle lower than its mate, resulting in a slightly longer waist line underarm seam on that side than on the other. Now, if you fit the waist wrong side out, you will have to stitched the seams and put it on right side out, the fitting will be exactly reversed. The high shoulder will be low and the low waist that was fitted to the low shoulder.

Evening Sheen.

Among the accessories of dress on which time and money are being lavished by fashionable women are evening shoes and buckles. For the former the most costly brocades and damasks are employed and in colors to match the gowns, white and gold being much favored. Jeweled buckles of great price as well as those of paste are utilized for their adornment mounted on a semi-circle of plated or gilt metal, and the wearer of the velvet ribbon are seen coming from the latter beneath the buckle. Satin flowers amply a touch of color.

Taups Trying Color to Many Women.

Taupe, or mole color, literally translated, is very much in vogue, causes many women whom it does not suit to commit the error of adopting it. It is a trying shade to those who do not possess considerable color.

Fashionable Poise.

It is certainly how the dress of today reflects the fashionable poise of the moment. The fashionable poise for the feminine figure is that which tends to be called the Roman bend—we have had it before, though it was long since discarded for the Grecian bend, which was the antithesis of the first. For the Roman bend we have the oblique line of upbearing in the skirts, and the opening in front over the,took, correspondingly with the dragging downward at the back of the figure.

Dainty Lunch Blouse in a Combination of Ivory and Yellow Chiffon and Lace Silk. Five Lace Collars.

New Fashion.

A charming fashion recently revived for the Paris opera consists in trailing a couple of flowers upon the bodice of the simply draped gowns in white or black chiffonesse. These floral trimmings do not adapt themselves to the magnificent models in velvet-draped velvets, brocaded satins and heavy moires recently launched upon the stage, nor do they figure on beaded creations. In the latter case the velvet sheen of the opaque pale silk lace, the draperies and the linings of fur and diamonds and pearls are required ornamentation to these beautiful toilets.

Waist for a Velvet Suit.

Another blouse designed to wear with a brown velvet skirt has in the back and front of the yoke a piece of velvet, which also forms the epaulettes. The back of the waist is of a soft, subdued bine chiffon, tucked in clusters. The front portion of the velvet is cut low to display a yoke embroidered in shades of browns and blues, and the inevitable touch of fur appears in the form of a collar and cuffs of skunk, which sets the shoulder lines and finish the tucked chiffon sleeves, which barely reach over the elbow.

Fashionable Poise.

It is certainly how the dress of today reflects the fashionable poise of the moment. The fashionable poise for the feminine figure is that which tends to be called the Roman bend—we have had it before, though it was long since discarded for the Grecian bend, which was the antithesis of the first. For the Roman bend we have the oblique line of upbearing in the skirts, and the opening in front over the,took, correspondingly with the dragging downward at the back of the figure.

Dainty Lunch Blouse in a Combination of Ivory and Yellow Chiffon and Lace Silk. Five Lace Collars.

New Fashion.

A charming fashion recently revived for the Paris opera consists in trailing a couple of flowers upon the bodice of the simply draped gowns in white or black chiffonesse. These floral trimmings do not adapt themselves to the magnificent models in velvet-draped velvets, brocaded satins and heavy moires recently launched upon the stage, nor do they figure on beaded creations. In the latter case the velvet sheen of the opaque pale silk lace, the draperies and the linings of fur and diamonds and pearls are required ornamentation to these beautiful toilets.

Waist for a Velvet Suit.

Another blouse designed to wear with a brown velvet skirt has in the back and front of the yoke a piece of velvet, which also forms the epaulettes. The back of the waist is of a soft, subdued bine chiffon, tucked in clusters. The front portion of the velvet is cut low to display a yoke embroidered in shades of browns and blues, and the inevitable touch of fur appears in the form of a collar and cuffs of skunk, which sets the shoulder lines and finish the tucked chiffon sleeves, which barely reach over the elbow.

$1,354,886 FOR YEAR

FISCAL YEAR ENDING JULY 31 IS CLOSED FOR SECOND TIME WITHOUT A DEFICIT.

UPKEEP OF UNIVERSITY.

Is Made Public—Total Expense for Maintenance and Improvements, Two Years, Is $4,208,170 —Future Plans.

Minneapolis—The total cost of maintenance in all divisions of the University of Minnesota for the year ending July 31, 1912, was $1,354,886 or an increase of $100,027 over the previous year. Both years were closed without a deficit and according to the seventeenth report of the board of regents issued yesterday the fiscal year which ends July 31, 1913, will close without a deficit from the appropriations made by the legislature two years ago. The maintenance fund for 1911-12 was $1,254,859 making the total appropriations for the two years for maintenance $2,609,745. The total appropriation of the legislature in 1911 for maintenance and permanent improvements was $4,298,170 compared with an estimate submitted by the board for the next two years' expense of $3,598,50.

The annual report just filed with Governor A. O. Eberhart, besides the annual report of President Cyrus Northrop, covering the work of the university during the last biennial period and plans for the next two years contains the fiscal reports of Controller George H. Hayes itemizing the expenses of every department of the university, with the increase in maintenance during the last year, according to the report, is due to several increases made in salaries of members of the faculty and activities in the extension department and improvements in apparatus of various departments, especially engineering and medicine, which item has been placed in the maintenance accounts.

$193,325 for Buildings.

During the last year there was $1,417,562 in the university building fund, of which $875,000 was expended on the various improvements leaving a balance of $568,562 at the close of the year July 31, 1912. Since that time a large part of the amount has been consumed in completion of building and in campus improvement. Among the important completions of buildings had been the chemistry, medical science, engineering building, the anatomy building, general medical building. The report also gives a summary of the appropriations made by the legislature two years ago and an itemized statement of the budget recently submitted to the legislature for an appropriation for the next biennium.

REALTY TRANSFERRED.

Cuyuna Iron Mines Striking Good Ore —New Son Branch Rumored.

Brainerd.—Last week on the Cuyuna Iron range was remarkable for the numerous transfers of properties recorded.

There have been reports of contemplated railway building and credence is attached to the report that the Soo line is to build west through a region drilled in part and on the Glenwood. This would give Duluth another outlet to the west.

In the Bay Lake district to the south of Deerwood, C. W. Potts of Deerwood, has two drills at work. The Stowell Exploration company of Deerwood has three drills in this district. The Wickham land, drilled on option by Will S. Pitt of Crosby, and F. L. Pratt of Deerwood, has been purchased by the Pitt Brothers.

That important deals are pending on the range is evidenced by the visit of a private car at Crosby, Friday, containing officials of the Inland Steel company and George H. Crosby.

The E. J. Longyear company of Minneapolis, has a drill at work near Cuyuna. Gaylord A. Smith of Crosby, have all their drills at work. A drill is working for the Mangan company north of the Armour No. 1 mine. The Cuyuna Duluth mine which is sinking a shaft in the north end of the location towards struck the capping of the ore body at 125 feet depth.

Full crews are working at all the Cuyuna-Chippewa ore company properties and each shaft is daily hoisting between five hundred and six hundred tons. Electric haulage underground will soon be instituted. At the Pennington pit nine west of Crosby and Ironton 130 men are now employed with a certainty of big additions being made to the crews. At Foley of Aitkin, recently sold 1,200 acres in the northern part of Crow Wing county to E. C. Sage of Brainerd. The Brainerd-Cuyuna Mining company is striking good ore in its lands on the south side of Brainerd.

Mother and Children Escape.

Minneapolis.—Awaking to find their home filled with smoke so dense and stifling that their escape for a time appeared to be cut off, Mrs T. B. Kidwell, 3401 Bryant avenue south, and her six children, keeping close together and groping their way through the smoke, escaped from the house just before the flames burned through the stairway. They carried part of their clothes with them. The fire had started in the basement and the smoke had filled the house before any member of the family was awakened.

Great Northern Will Help.

Bemidji. — Assurances that the Great Northern railway will back Beltrami county in its efforts to establish sheep raising here as an industry came to J. J. Opsahl in a letter from W. P. Kinney, vice president of the railway company. "Personally I think," wrote Mr. Kinney, "that the small farmer and settler in your vicinity should be assisted in secure sheep for the purpose of not only clearing the land, but getting him interested in livestock raising."

FARMERS' GRAIN MEE

Convention Beginning Tuesday Brings Many Delegates to Minneapolis.

Minneapolis.—Farmers from every part of the state, members of the Minnesota Farmers' Grain Dealers' organization, met Tuesday at the assembly hall in the courthouse for the sixth annual convention, and President F. B. Wells of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, mayor W. G. Ovrum and Dr. Andrew Gillies of Hennepin Avenue M. E. church participating in the program of the opening day. The convention will be in session until Thurs day.

The chamber of commerce was visited Tuesday, and there will be visits during the period of the convention to the state grain inspection department, where F. W. Eva, state inspector, will show the workings of the department, and members will also visit the flour mills and other points of interest.

An attendance that will exceed that of any former annual convention is believed by many present to indicate the co-operative compahies are being discussed.

The complete program follows:

Tuesday, Jan. 28.

Morning Session, 10 a. M.

10 a. m. to 12 n. m. Visit to the Chamber of Commerce.

Afternoon Session, 1:30 P. M.

1:30 p. m. Call to order of President L. A. Smith, Trumbo, Minn. Invocation by Rev. Andrew Gillies of Hennepin Avenue M. E. church.

Report of secretary, I. L. Demeray of Plantsboro.

Report of treasurer, Adam Brion of Stewartville.

Welcome to city by Mayor Wallace G. Nye.

Welcome from the Chamber of Commerce by F. B. Wells, president.

Response by L. A. Smith, president of the association.

"How a Farmers' Elevator Should Be Financed," by W. Johnson, manager at Rushford.

Address by L. L. Jones, assistant attorney general.

Storing and Hedging, and Should a Farmers' Company Be Incorporated," by L. Chapin of Luverne.

Address—"Rural Credit," by M. R. Smith of Chicago.

Annual message and announcements by President L. A. Smith.

Evening Session, 7:30 P. M.

Overtures, Minnesota and Texas Work," by W. L. Byerly of Minneapolis.

"How Best to Divide the Profits of a Farmers' Elevator Company," by J. Hoffman, manager at Hoffman, and C. Murdock, A. L. Johnson of Dawson, and A. Ostenberg of Keostogton, John Hagen of Dawson.

Music by the Chamber of Commerce quartet.

Address by E. O. Dunn of Mason City, Iowa.

Wednesday, Jan. 29.

Morning Session, 9:30 A. M.

Review of work done by the association in the past year, by I. L. Demeray of Plantsboro.

Suggestion and discussion on the future development of the association, led by President H. J. Farmer of Airlie.

"How the Association Can Best Serve Its Members," by M. R. Metsch of Argyle.

Suggestions in regard to amendment of by laws.

Nomination and election of officers.

Afternoon Session, 1:30 P. M.

"Cleaning and Grading of Grain. Does It Pay?" Speaker to be selected.

Music by the Chamber of Commerce quartet.

"Side Lines for the Farmers' Elevator," by John A. Jahnke of Woodstock.

4:00 p. m. Address by James J. Hill.

No evening session.

Thursday, Jan. 30.

Morning Session, 9:30 A. M.

Address, "How Elevators and Directors Can Best Co-operate," by Charles S. Barrett of Chicago.

10:30 a. m. Visits to the inspection department in the Floor Exchange, where different grades of oil kinds of grain will be on display and a demonstration of the manner in which it is graded.

Although the convention sessions will be held in the Commercial club building, delegates' headquarters will be at the west hall. The Western Passenger association has promised a free and a free and a third for the round trip, on the certificate plan, and it is believed that the attendance at the convention will be the largest in the history of the association.

Woman's Burns Prove Fatal.

Perham.—Mrs. Minnie Sandberg died here yesterday after six days of suffering, nine years a lamp on the morning of Nov. 1, 1906, she attempted her clothing and took fire. She was frightfully burned before the flames could be subdued. Since then she has had another treatment, and much skin grafting has been done, but the grafts generally proved ineffective. She was formerly Miss Hattie Drayton, of Northfield.

Sick Woman Hurled From Bed.

Minneapolis.—Awaking to find the home filled with smoke so dense and stifling that their escape for a time appeared to be cut off, Mrs T. B. Kidwell, 3401 Bryant avenue south, and her six children, keeping close together and groping their way through the smoke, escaped from the house just before the flames burned through the stairway. They carried part of their clothes with them. The fire had started in the basement and the smoke had filled the house before any member of the family was awakened.

Great Northern Will Help.

Bemidji. — Assurances that the Great Northern railway will back Beltrami county in its efforts to establish sheep raising here as an industry came to J. J. Opsahl in a letter from W. P. Kinney, vice president of the railway company. "Personally I think," wrote Mr. Kinney, "that the small farmer and settler in your vicinity should be assisted in secure sheep for the purpose of not only clearing the land, but getting him interested in livestock raising."

FRENCH IS RETAINED.

President and Other Officers of State Association Re-elected at Northfield.

Northfield.—The next annual convention of the Minnesota Dairymen's association will be held in Minneapolis. Definite action cannot be taken until the next meeting of the executive committee in September, but a the session late Friday the delegates voted favorably on a resolution instructing the committee to consider the Minneapolis suggestion. The resolution was introduced by J. B. Irvin of Minneapolis, and supported in a brief talk by E. C. Hellwig, assistant secretary of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association.

Friday's Session.

At the session Friday the following resolutions were adopted: An indorsement of the Haugen bill in the national congress designed to protect the producer and consumer of pure butter from fraud and deceit on the part of oleomargarin products, a recommendation to the state legislature of the passing of a law prohibiting the sale of colored oleomargarin in Minnesota; recommendation of the passing of a law designed to prevent the sale of condemned and unfairly decomposed cream in creameries by determining the amount of acidity which cream is believed to contain; urging the rigid enforcement of the pure foods law; a law designed to prevent unfair competition by manipulation of prices; recommendation of a law changing the maximum test for pure butter to a butter fat test, providing for a butter fat percentage of 81 in pure butter; recommendation of the passage of a stringent pure seed and stock food law for Minnesota; commending the work of the state dairy and food department; recommendation of increasing the dairy fund at the state agricultural school.

Stock Is Judged.

The early session Saturday was given over to judging the stock on exhibition in the rooms and in connection with the convention, a feature of which was the demonstration lecture on the dairy cow by F. H Scribner of Rosendale, Wis.

The convention closed with the afternoon session. There were two addresses—"Rural Credits," by Professor Thomas Cooper of the Better Farm ing association of North Dakota, who spoke on the "Organization of the Farm for Dairying," and J. P. Mason of Elgin, Ill., who spoke on "Profitable Dairy Farming."

According to the officers the convention just closed has been the best attended and in all ways the most successful of any ever held by the association.

French President Again.

Andrew French of St. Paul, former state dairy and food commissioner, was re-elected president of the Minnesota Dairymen's association at the afternoon session Friday morning. A. J. Vye of St. Paul opposed Mr. French's election, but could not muster sufficient support to defeat him. Other officers re-elected were F. D. Tyler, Hinckley, secretary; J. M. Jack, Stanton, treasurer; George P. Hamm, Fairfax, auditor. Secretary Heon of Osakis was elected first vice president to succeed Charles Nelson of Litchfield and Ed Ulrich of Blaine, second vice president, to succeed Mr. Argyle.

The principal feature of the forenoon session Thursday was an address by H. H. Wing, professor of animal husbandry in Cornell university, New York. He spoke on "Scientific Modern Methods of Feeding." Colonel R. A. Williams of Lake Elmo, spoke on "Co-operation" and Professor H. C. Hoffer of Morris, on "Agricultural Education in the Common Schools."

The address of Dean A. R. Woods of the state agricultural college in the afternoon attracted one of the largest audiences of the session. His subject was: "Dairying and the Future Development of Minnesota." On the program this afternoon will also appear F. H. Gerlaugh of Rosendale, Wis., and Joel G. Winkler, state dairy and food commissioner.

Had Threatened Governor.

Mankato, Minn.—Alole Shutte, who killed Policeman Joseph Budde on a train while he was being taken from here to Milwaukee to place him in a private sanitarium, had made threats against the life of Governor Eberhart. Budde had reported this at the police station. Schutte had also threatened suicide. Budde thought he had full control of Schutte and did not bend to the shackings to be careful on this trip and did not even search Schutte, who was known to have gone about the streets armed with a revolver and dagger.

Schutte was single and 26 years old.

Farmer Dies From Burns.

Pipestone.—Charles Freeman a farmer residing near Derlin, is dead as the result of burns received a few days ago. Freeman attempted to thaw out the pump on his farm with gasoline. The can exploded, throwing the burning oil over his head and body.

$52,500 Minneapolis Fire.

Minneapolis—Three firemen were injured, one very seriously and probably valued at $52,500, including six automobiles and a large stock of furniture which swept the quarters of many businesses from a two-story building at Third street and Third avenue south, Wednesday morning.

Lieutenant Frank Louis of Engine Truck Company No. 1, was crushed by fall when ladder slipped; taken to St. Barnabas hospital, he was found to be suffering from internal injuries, wrenched back and severe bruises. His will recover.

Asks $3,000,000 for Drives.

St. Paul.—St. Paul is asking for $3,000,000 for boulevards and driveways. A. B. Stickney has prepared a bill to be introduced in the legislature this week providing for the raising of funds through the taking over of certificates of indebtedness by investors. The city acting as trustee and the certificates to be payable by the owners of property benefited in 15 annual installments. The intention is to relieve the taxpayers of the city of the necessity of paying for the boulevards.

DOINGS OF THE SOLONS

Minnesota Legislative Affairs of the Past Week—Law Makers Hard at Work.

St. Paul, Jan. 25.—Without a dissenting vote Senator Nelson was elected United States senator by both branches of the legislature, and his re-election ratified by the two legislative branches in joint session.

After 24 years of service, the veteran senator was given the additional honor in the 63th year, of being the first senator elected by the popular choice of the people of Minnesota.

A taxation reapportionment scheme has been worked out by the house committee. The number of senators and house members to be allowed each congressional district has been calculated. The sub-committeemen from the various districts were notified yesterday of the number that would be permitted given to their districts and were instructed to confer with the secretary from their districts. Under the tentative plan there are to be 63 senators and 126 representatives. The apportionment as figured out by the committee follows:

First district—6 senators, 12 representatives.

Second district—5 senators, 10 representatives.

Third district—5 senators, 11 representatives.

Fourth district—8 senators, 15 representatives.

Fifth district—10 senators, 20 representatives.

Sixth district—6 senators, 12 representatives.

Seventh district—6 senators, 11 representatives.

Eighth district—8 senators, 17 representatives.

Ninth district—6 senators, 13 representatives.

Grain Department Investigation.

The lower house of the state legislature Friday ordered an investigation of the methods of every company engaged in buying and selling grain and live stock in Minnesota; and of the state grain inspection department.

The resolution was that of C. M. Beadlieze, was forecast last week.

Friday's action was not a provision in the resolution for an appropriation of $10 a day for the investigating committee.

L. C. Spooner replied that if the committee was to be paid a salary he established which would establish a precedent. He said the legislature could afford to spend $20,000 for such an investigation.

In both houses and senate bills were introduced designed for the protection of workers. In the house a concurring according to the nature of injury. Bills prohibiting child labor branches for a minimum wage scale for women and children.

St. Paul, Jan. 22.—The house committee on public grounds and buildings introduced a resolution today to provide that state employes shall not an account of every dollar appropriations exceeding by the state legislature two years ago.

The action is a forerunner of a sweeping investigation of the affairs of the state is be carried on through the session, and of the members of the house committee, and reduced appropriations for the next two years.

"The committee action was taken at the instance of Rep. L. C. Spooner of Morris, who charged that there was criminal extravagance on the part of state officials and employes.

The move is in line with the recommendation of Governor Eberhart in his message to the legislature.

Bill Opposed by Millers.

Whether a sneaking frog or a grasshopper is the least dearfeed by the people of Minnesota is the issue which is decided by the lower house of the legislature.

P. H. Fyre has introduced a bill forbidding the catching of frogs which has been a menace to the farmer, and that the state has spent thousands of dollars in its efforts to destroy it. The bill makes the frog, which is said agents for destroying the grasshopper, and that because of the sale of frogs for eating purposes they are rapidly becoming extinct in Minnesota. He wants the legislature to prohibit the catching of frogs that they may assist in the extermination of the grasshopper.

2-Cent Fare Bill Presented.

A 2-cent fare bill for the carriage of the railroads, has been introdiced into the lower house of the Minnesota legislature by C. M. Bondixan of Wells. The bill provides that when railroads earn $1,200 or more a mile they shall not charge more than 2 cents. The measure has taken the roads' earnings for 1911 as a basis and as all Minnesota railroads earn more than $1,200 a mile, the bill, if passed, will practically establish a uniform rate of 2 cents a mile.

St. Paul, Jan. 31.—In a report in which the first recommendation is the increase of the number of state supreme court judges rather than reform in judicial procedure, the commission of attorneys appointed by Governor A. O. Eberhart to suggest reforms in court methods, has just made its report to the governor. Changes in legal procedure are recommended, but the commission does not go in the extent requested by Governor Eberhart, who asserted that all appeals to the supreme court except on final judgments should be abolished.

The report of the commission will be sent to the legislature together with a message from Governor Eberhart.

Bills Introduced Monday.

The following changes in Minnesota legal machinery are proposed in the report:

Increase of the number of supreme court judges from five to seven.

Making the district court, instead of the supreme court, the court of appeals for the municipal court.

Five-sixths of the jury in any civil action, after the jury has deliberated not less than four hours, may render a verdict. This present law requires all jurors to agree.

Appeals may be taken from an order refusing a new trial or from an order granting a new trial except an order granting a new trial or denying a motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, however, that when an order granting a new trial is based exclusively on an issue of law, an appeal from such order may be taken, and also providing that when a new trial is granted and based on the ground the evidence is not sufficient instead of the state having ten end the defenses twenty, as at present. In other criminal cases the state shall have the same rights as the peremptory challenges instead of three as the state now has and five for defendants at present.

During examination of jurors the court may exclude from the courtroom all other jurors on the panel.

St Paul, Jan. 20.—Early action in to be taken by the Cushman dirigible tariff bill. Chairman B. E. Sundberg of the senate railroad committee announced that the committee will give a hearing on the bill Tuesday afternoon.

Would Provide Pure Seed.

A pure seed bill was introduced by Senator A. C. Oleon of Windom. It requires all agricultural seed except grass seed to be sold by weight instead of the usual 60 pounds to a bushel. Exceptions are made in the case of noxious weed seeds contained as well as the total percentage of weed seeds. The state commissioner at St. Anthony Park is directed to make rules and to prosecute violations of the law.

Under the so-called "bushel tax" adopted by the 1909 legislature and prescribing a small tax upon all grain handled in elevators during the year instead of the usual ad valorem tax upon the grain in the elevator, the tax is to be pashed in a bill offered by Senator C. H. Richardson of Faribault. The tax commission recommended that the tax be repealed or, amended to make the tax larger.

Declaring that speedy action by the state is necessary to prevent the Des Inds & Iron Range railroad from abandoning a branch line recently built from Iron lande to the unfilled portion of its land grant, H. H. Dunn of Albert Lea, former member of the house, secured the advancement to general orders of his bill measuring to the state all mineral rights in lands granted railroads to aid land grants. The bill forbids the leasing of state lands by the state without such a reservation.

Simplifying of the process of amending the state constitution is the subject of a bill introduced by Senator Hall of Minneapolis. It would provide that a majority of all the votes cast, wherever it appears, and this is regarded as a very large degree for the rapid curtailment of the industry in the eastern states.

The hope of the turkey-raising industry appears at present to lie in the west, and those portions of the south which have not be ravaged the dreaded disease. Breeders have now learned, at least in a preliminary way, how to prevent the disease, and in the west, where it has not prevailed to any considerable extent, farmers have taken up turkey breeding, encouraged by the tremendously high prices that have prevailed during the past few years and by the hope that they will be able to escape the losses suffered by the eastern growers who did not know how to cope with the disease.

As farmers receive about 65 per cent, of what the consumer pays for the there is good profit in the business, provided the birds escape disease. Turkey-raising is no more difficult than the raising of any other kind of poultry. It requires just as much, but no more trouble then should be devoted to the raising of chickens—fowls, well-bred chickens, or squabs. In fact, when proper precautions can be secured, the rearing of turkeys is less trouble than that of other poultry.

Turkeys are great rangers, but as they quickly become attached to their attendant, it is not difficult to control them. They should be fed and cared for in the morning, then turned from the they are hatched until they are ready for the market. In this way they will learn to return at the call of the attendant, and follow him for long distances from the fields to the farm yard.

If young turkeys are carefully handled by the same person they can be easily driven from one place to another, and when storms come on they can be quickly housed. In foreign countries turkeys are driven to market in flocks, and we once saw a flock of nearly 300 birds being driven along the highway to the railroad station there to be shipped to the farm where they were to be cooped and fattened for the city market.

Texas is, perhaps, today the greatest turkey state in the Union. Breeders of this state have taken the record premiums at many of the national shows during the last few years, and the industry has thrived wonderfully in the mild climate of the state.

Turkeys in the southern states, where range is ample and the wheiner they are kept on an exceptionally large size, twenty-five to thirty-five pounds being a common weight for the prize birds.

Buff Turkeys.

White Holland Turkeys.

TOOL CHEST VERY HANDY FOR FARMER

List of Implements Given That Are Quite Indispensable—Reduce Repair Bills.

Pleasure and profit meet in the farm tool chest. The farmer who owns even a just pride in bright, well kept tools. They cut down repair bills, they avoid the delay and cost of sending for a carpenter. They are especially useful at this time of the year in repairing buildings for the winter.

The exact tools to be provided vary with the nature of the work to be done, the ability to get them and the means and personal tastes of the farmer. The following should have at least the following tools:

Hammer, claw head saw, jack plane, square, ratchet, brace, expansive bit, bits ¼, ⅜, ½, ⅝ and ¾ in.; screw bit, ½ in.; nailset, gimlet, screw driver, rule, marking gauge, wood and stone.

Buy good tools. Cheap materials even at a little lower first cost, do not mean economy here. Have a place for every tool and every tool in its place. It does not take long to lose quite a bit of money if tools are left lying around where they will be in danger of losing their voice.

Prosecution of Combination.

Washington, Jan. 24.—A joint combination practically controlling American construction trade on the Atlantic and operating under an agreement with the railroads by which prevailing rate is refused to independent steamship lines, except on full cargoes, was described to the house shipping trust committee yesterday by A. H. Bull, general counsel of the A. Bull Steamship company of New York. Mr. Bull described efforts of the combine to drive his company out of the New York-Porto Rican trade.

European Milkman.

In many parts of Europe the watering of milk is impossible because the cows or goats are driven through the streets to the door of the customer and milked in his presence. The milkman has different canaries, ranging in size from an eighth of a pint to a quart, and one can buy one cent's worth of milk if desired.

Sank Young Trees.

The young trees should be banked with earth, which will keep water from settling about them.

EXERCISE HELPFUL TO HOGS' HEALTH

Successful Kansas Swine Breeder Permits His Animals to Have Full Sway.

One of the most successful hog breeders in Kansas uses no pens of all, but permits the animals the range. He scatters the soaked corn from a tank wagon out upon the ground, never feeding twice in the same place. He believes that exercise is beneficial to the hogs' health, but says that it takes more corn and larger feeding to make the animals fat.

This feeder buys his shoats, never feeding more than 40 head in one drove on the place, and the hogs he buys for fattening begin to arrive by late fall, when they are turned out on alfalfa in the pasture and later on stubble fields and corn fields. This is cured very green. His hogs go on the market when they are about five of July—sometimes earlier. He takes his hogs to the shoats for breeder feeding, working up to a full feeding quite gradually.

Sod for Sewage.

Experiments in France show that ordinary sod makes an efficient filter for sewage.

Poultry in Ireland.

Ireland is the greatest poultry growing country in the world. It is far ahead of France, though we have always considered the latter as the leading country in this industry. Ireland, with a population of not quite 5,000,000, has 14,000,000 fowls, while France, with a population of 39,000,000, is greater, has only 40,000,000.

Hogs ought to have all the corn they can properly digest if they are to be pushed along and put quickly upon the market.

That's the Place

SPILLANES

The Store of Quality

Groceries, Confectionery, Stationery, Cigars, Pipes and Tobacco, Soft Drinks, Fruits, Coffee and Lunch.

A complete line in each department

The Local Field

Tim Lally-Sinnott was at Crookston for part of the week.

Jim Markel returned this morning from a business trip to Fargo.

Mr. C. F. Baker entertained the Card E. B. Tuesday evening.

Miss Laura Zaiser visited with friends at Grand Forks last week.

A vehicle made a business trip to Red River Falls this morning.

Andrew Lang was to be down by Fertile, that Mrs. Celes—on business.

Fred Schwanke made a business trip to Red River Falls this morning.

Guy Richards of Grand Forks was a visitor at the Elk Lasha home last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Marpe returned this morning from a visit in North Dakota.

Mrs. O. Gaarden returned Monday from a visit with friends and relatives at Grand Forks.

Dr. N. M. Watson went to Minneapolis Saturday evening, returning Monday night.

There was a large attendance at the dance given at Wochnan hall Monday evening.

Members of the M. B. A. lodge and guests enjoyed a dancing party Monday evening.

Dr. Spafford will be in Red River Lake Falls, March 4. At the Grand View Hotel.

The people who board with Mrs. Mallard enjoyed an informal party Tuesday evening.

A few Red Lake Falls young people attended the firemen's ball at St. Hilaire Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Savard enter tained a number of friends at a seven o'clock dinner Sunday evening.

Geo. W. Eastman of Hazel, who was in town last week, sold an eighty-acre farm near Hazel to J. D. Houston.

Hans Engel and John and Albert Gustafson of Thief River Falls attended the wrestling match Tuesday evening.

Charley Bourque has gone to Strathcona and will remain for an indefinite period for residence on his claim near that place.

L. C. Simons came up from St. Paul, Saturday morning, and is looking after business matters here and at points on the line.

Friends in this city of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Markison of Grand Forks will be pleased to learn that they are the parents of a baby boy born Jan. 27.

Wanted to Trade—Small grocery store in Barkmere, S. D., for house in Red Lake Falls's dress particulars address M. N. Markham, Barkmere, S. D. —Adv.

Oscar Hellen, who is a patient in a Grand Forks hospital recovering from an operation from hernia, is getting along nicely. He expects to be able to come home next week.

Charley Kunkel, Chas. Wakefield and L. D. Wakefield of Fertile and George Hutchinson of Thief River Falls were at C. O. Ranlet Tuesday and took in the wrestling match Tuesday evening.

We pay 2c No 1 good dairy butter in exchange for good fresh eggs per doz. 25 cents. Bring your produce to us and get your goods cheaper than any other place to trade.—Max Ingber, Adv.

Mrs. J. A. Bray and daughter left last evening to go to Crookston. After a brief visit there they will go to Fisher, where Mrs. Bray has extensive business matters requiring her attention.

Grand Scenic at LaBissoniere's. Valentines such as you never saw. Dishes worth up to 25c, which solid bowls, handkerchiefs for 5c, notions, etc.—You can double your money on some things.

An enjoyable social affair was a party given for Rebeccas and Odd Fellows at I. O. O. F. hall last Friday evening. A card party and evening was spent with cards and dancing.

Mrs. Jos. Miller returned Tuesday from Grand Forks, where she had been for surgical treatment. Mrs. Miller submitted to an operation last week for the removal of a small tumor on her neck.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Krueger entertained a few friends at their home last Thursday evening, the guests being invited to assist Mr. and Mrs. Krueger in the celebration of the tenth anniversary of their marriage.

You cannot afford to take any hazardous risk with your hard-earned savings. In times of prosperity there is great temptation toward speculation. There is absolute security for both interest and principal in the Certificates of deposit issued by the Merchants State Bank.—Adv.

Mrs. A. Prudhomme entertained Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Laurent of this city, Mr. Thomas Crompe and Messrs. Leon, Adelard and Peter Laurent of Red Lake Falls, at 6 o'clock dinner last evening.—Crookston Times, Wednesday.

There will be no sermon for the Sunday night services at the Presbyterian church. The service will be in charge of the young people of the Christian Endeavor society. Dr. Fairchild will sing a solo. All are invited to attend the service.

The marriage of two well known local young people took place Monday. The parties to the happy event were Miss Laura Clement and Mr. Homer Houle. The ceremony was performed at St. Anne's church, Crookston, Rev. Fr. Tapin officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Houle have gone to housekeeping on a farm south of Red Lake Falls.

Miss Zola Noel, who has spent the past three months with relatives and friends in Red Lake Falls left Tuesday and will visit with relatives and friends in Minneapolis and Fargo, N. D., before returning to her home in North Yakima, Wash. She was accompanied by her cousins, Miss Dorothy Patnode and the Misses La Crosse.

The subject for Rev. David V. Richardson's sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning will be, "Loyalty to Parents." In the evening there will be special services. The members of the Christian Endeavor Society will have an illustrated lecture of this service. Dr. Fairchild will sing. All are invited to come and enjoy this service.

Special bargains for next week only—Men's 4-buckle rolled edge No. 1 overshoes, value $3.25 now $2.48; Men's 2-buckle rolled edge No. 1 overshoes, regular $2.00, for next week $1.38; Men's rubber boots for one week $2.98; 4-inch leather tops, regular $3.25, now $2.68; Men's rubbers with 16 and 18 inch tops, regular $1.50 and $2.00, now $0.98 and $1.98.—Max Ingber. Adv.

Attorney John W. Peterson, who has been practicing law in Red Lake Falls for the past few months, has closed his office in this city and leaves this evening to go to Montevideo. He has arranged to enter into partnership with a practicing attorney, Fred L. McGarger in that city. Both Mr. and Mrs. Peterson formerly resided in Montevideo and have many friends there who in their old home town congenial and enjoyable.

A wedding of much interest to Tarrehonne and Red Lake Falls people took place Monday, when Miss Dora LaPrandoie, daughter of Mrs. L. C. Ouellette, became the bride of Mr. Ludauge Perrault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Perrault. The ceremony was performed at the Catholic church in Tarrehonne, at 10 o'clock in the morning, Rev. Fr. LeFloch officiating. After the ceremony an elaborate wedding dinner was served at the bride's home and in the evening there was a reception, attended by a large number of the friends of the young people, at the groom's home. Mr. and Mrs. Perrault have gone to housekeeping on a farm owned by Mr. Perrault in Tarrehonne township.

Mr. and Mrs. John Powers have suffered a serious bereavement in the death of their daughter, Mrs. Jorgen Powers, which passed away at her home in Langdon, N. Dak., at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Powers are in Langdon this afternoon. Besides her parents, the deceased is survived by three sisters and three brothers. The sisters are Mrs. Allen McKinnon of Minneapolis, Mrs. Henry Snyder of Wylie; the brothers James and Albert Powers of Crookston and John Powers of Moland, N. D.

Friends of Gilbert Westphal a former Red Lake Falls young man, will be pained to earn of his death which occurred at Los Angeles, Cal., about three weeks ago. Te was a brother of L. A. and F. C. Westphal of this city and resided in Red Lake Falls for several years. He graduated from the Red Lake Falls high school with the class of 1903. Seven or eight years ago he went west and had since resided there. He was married in the west and is survived by his widow and a little boy.

LAMBERT (OKLEE)

DEATH OF GEORGE DOUCET.

Passed Away at His Okles Home Last Friday.

Friday, Jan. 31, 1913, George Doucet died at the family home in Oklee. As announced last week, George was making a hard fight for his life and friends hoped for the best, but Friday he suddenly wavered and the angel of death decended at 4 o'clock. George was the second son of Louis Doucet and wife and came to Lambert a little boy of 3 years old, being now 4 years 9 months old. This is the second death in the Doucet family since Mr. Doucet moved to Oklee, they having lost their baby girl, Viola, years of age, about 18 months ago. A large concourse of friends and relatives gathered about the grave in the Lombert church yard Sunday afternoon to later the earthly remains beside his little sister. This is a and blow to the entire Doucet family but the double hes a silver lining, that is truly expressed by the poet who said

"My body will be out of pain,
My soul be out of prison."

As he had never been well and could never have been, as he oft expressed it, "like other boys" owing to curvature of the spine, Mr. Doucet took the boy to the cities to a specialist last September, only to learn there was no hope for him. The sympathy of the people old and young goes out to the Doucets in this great bereavement.

FARMER FOUND DEAD.

Unknown Cause of Death of Ole G. Lee of Chester.

Ole G. Lee was found dead in his house one mile east of Oklee in Chester township, Monday, by his neighbors. The body was found face downward and had been dead for some time, how long could not be determined. Mr. Lee was practically a stranger here, having bought an 80 acre farm and settled there last year. He was about 55 years of age and had no daughters or work near Fargo, who cannot be located at this writing, but friends will care for the dead until she is located. No fooling in thought to exist as he was a quiet man and at peace with his neighbors.

Profound grief is felt over the death, at Black Duck, of our former priest, Father Roy. Owing to the extreme cold weather none from here could liked to have gone to the funeral at Crookston, were detained at home.

Small pox at Brooks is said to be spreading and changes are made that the proper quarantine is not maintained. Lagrippe bee many people harking in our town and people fear an epidemic of small pox is imminent.

THE PETIT JURY LIST

Citizens Summoned for the March General Term of District Court.

The following citizens of Red Lake county have been drawn for jury service for the March general term of the district court and have been summoned to report for service on the 25th day of March at 10 o'clock a. m.:

J. P. Harren, Red Lake Falls.
Alex Patnode, Gervais.
Oliver Beirle, Red Lake Falls.
Louis Perrault, Tarrehonne.
Leon Hnot, Wylie.
Jos. Schmitt, Brawn's Creek.
Louis Fauntean, Tarrehonne.
A. A. Rolandson, Equality.
Chas. Hallas, Poplar River.
Daniel Lindberg, Equality.
Geo. Orr, Gervais.
John Rice, Emardville.
Henry Dion, Poplar River.
E. E. Fletcher, Red Lake Falls.
Ingvald Husby, Garnes.
F. E. Gleason, Lambert.
Ole Stelnson, Equality.
Ernest Hilles, Louisville.
Frank Rogers, Gervais.
Frank E. Glass, Lake Pleasant.
Alphonse Durvain, Louisville.
Louis Promo, Poplar River.
Edward Johnson, Emardville.
Albert Meyer, Red Lake Falls Twp.

Why the Farmers' Institute?

The production of one additional car of wheat for each hill means the addition of many bushels per acre to the crop. The experts who've been conducting the Farmers' Institute in Red Lake Falls next week will show farmers how they can get that additional car. And they will further show the farmer how much more advantageous it will be for him, after he has once produced that larger corn crop, to feed it to the stock and thus enrich his soil, rather than to sell it to the impoverishment of the land. The institute men are on hand not only to make such showings as these, but to aid the individual farmer in solving his industriel problems of whatever nature. And the more farmers there are present with questions to ask, the better will the conductors be pleased.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the City Council held January 13th, 1913, all members being present.

Meeting called to order by President Crompe.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

On motion carried the following resolution offered by Aldermen Fortier was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that an allowance of $6.00 for the month of January, 1913, and thereafter a monthly allowance of $6 be granted to Mrs. Pierre Schneider as aid out of the Poor Fund of the City and the Mayor and the City Clerk are hereby authorized to issue orders monthly on said fund in payment of same.

The report of the Auditing Committee was read and on motion duly carried it was approved and ordered placed on file.

On motion meeting adjourned.

P. A. CROMPE,
President.

Approved this 22nd day of January, 1913.

L. LEMIEUX, Mayor.

Attest:—
JOSEPH PERRAULT,
City Clerk.

DEATH OF AGED PRIEST

Rev. Fr. Roy, Formerly of Tarrehonne and Lambert, Died Saturday.

Friends and former parishioners of Rev. Fr. Roy will be pained to learn of his death which occurred at Black duck Saturday. He had suffered like in Red Lake county for many years. Several years ago he had St. Anthony's attack at Tarrehonne and later and for many years he had the Lambert charge. He gave up the work at Lambert last fall because of failing health. He was assigned to the charge at Blackduck, the change not being so large as at Lambert. He had been in failing health for some time and his death was due to the infirmaties of age.

The funeral was held at the cathedral in Crookston, Tuesday at 10 o'clock.

A more complete obituary will be published next week.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	.70
Durum	.70
Rye	.50
Oats	.24
Flax	1.52
Barley	.35
Potatoes—new	.25
Butter—creamery	.40
Butter—dairy	.30
Eggs—fresh	.25
Eggs—packed	.25

BOWSER BEHAVES

But His Wife Worries Until He Starts In Again.

SHE KEEPS TRACK OF HIM.

And Is Hounded by a Premonition of Coming Disaster, but the Cloude Are Dispelled When He Shows Up With the Usual Excuse.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.]

MR. BOWSER'S ways are not always just as I could wish for, but I don't worry over the loss him.

He has his troubles, but he meanwell.

He's got an idea that if he shouts "Wonnup!" at me and waves his arms about he'll make me cuddle down.

He comes home with this scheme and that, and everything looks rosy to him until I bring figures to bear, but I am glad he is so pessimist.

I can generally catch on to his moods almost at once, but there are times when he is unreadable and worries me—that is, Mr. Bowser at 6 a. m. When he got up last Sunday morning he didn't speak to me until mail grunt and growl. On the contrary, he was unusually silent, and, though his socks, collar, tie and shirt bosom were selected about the room as usual, he reflected them without once declaring that this was the worst run house in America. He usually growls about his Sunday breakfast, but on this occasion he hadn't a word of fault to find. I made no suggestion about his scowl, pausing me to church and was utterly amazed when he announced his intention. I looked for a row when he came to dress, but there was none. He seldom or never pats on a fresh collar without blowing the lamplymans eyes, but on this occasion he even broke off the name of another dog. He didn't find the church too cold or too hot, the singing too loud or too low, the sermon too short or too long. He seemed well pleased, and he did not make an unkind remark before the day dinner. He read aloud to me in the evening, and there was nothing in his pronunciation a few times he did not lose his temper. I am somewhat worried over the change in him.

HE WASN'T EVEN THREATENED.

Mrs. B. is Worried.

Monday—No kick as Mr. Bowser got up this morning. His collar wasn't half rolled under the bureau, and he got down on his hands and knees and hunted it up without a swear word. Found no fault with breakfast, although I thought the oatmeal was overdone; left the house in what seemed a happy frame of mind, and when he returned to dinner he brought no new fad in his hat. He only glanced and read a book nearly all the evening, and when I showed him the pan list that had been handed in during the day he remarked that it was very unscientific for the time of year. I looked at him in consternation, but he smiled in return. Two politicians called to ask him to run for mayor, but he quietly refused. I would not even go to the nearest saloon to talk matters over. He complimented me on the way I manage the house and laughed if my pin money was sufficient to carry me along. I wonder if anything is going to happen?

Tuesday—No kicks in the morning; no hike at breakfast. The coffee was surely a little off, but Mr. Bowser said nothing about firing the cook through the window. He wore the old hat away by mistake, but he did not order me to throw it on the dump about it. I was rather expecting to see him bring home a fire escape, a hurglar alarm or a new lamp in the parlor chum, but he brought me a box of candy instead. The cook has observed his singular change and is getting nervous over it. She says she had no meals who made just such a sudden change and died within a week. No kicks during the evening. We played euchre, and I beat him eight games out of ten; but he did not call me a scoundrel and cheat. Indeed, he frankly acknowledged that I was too much for him. A faker called at a late hour to try to sell me a needle a smile watch, but he wasn't even threatened. I have almost a mind to consult the family doctor about it.

A Premonition.

Wednesday—Still no kicks on he got out of bed. As he come down to breakfast I saw the cat look at him in a strange way, and the cook was really frightened. No kicks over breakfast. As he went away he said he would bring home tickets for the theater, and he left me there with astonishment. I felt a premonition of coming disaster all day, and when a street boy threw a banana peel in my way I got ready to face the inevitable. There was no inevitable, however. When Mr. Bowser came home he said that such accidents were liable to happen at any time, and that I mustn't worry over it. He going to the theater we had to stand in the pit or the cat would be shouted and hustled and the conductor beat us out of it 6 cents in making change, but Mr. Bowser made no kick. He was much interested in the play, and when he returned home he said he didn't know when he had spent such a pleasant evening. I was delighted, of course, but yet I felt a chill at my heart. Something awful is surely going to happen.

Thursday Morning.—I got up before Mr. Bowser was awake and deliberately hit his soshe in order to hear that old familiar kick from him, but it didn't come. He kept on sleeping until he found them, and laughingly remarked that he must have been frisking with them. I thought the cook would overdo his breakfast egg, but he did not seem to notice it. I scalped the top or six clothespins in the front roll, expecting him to break out with several less extravagance and the poorhouse, but he smiled blandly as he welsted over them. I sent for the family doctor during the afternoon, but he could not clear up the mystery. He had known such endless changes to mean death within a few days, and he advised me to be watchful. When Mr. Bowser came home from the office I met him at the door with fear, and he informed him that the cook was out with a sweet grip looking for the nearest smile never left his face. During the evening he said that he had made a deal of himself a hundred times over since our marriage, but that he had seemingly determined to keep me in all fads in the future. The cook called me downstairs and wanted to know if Mr. Bowser wasn't going to croak in any more, and when I said it was doubtful she gave me a week's notice. Things had become too lonesome for her.

A Dream of Tragedy.

Friday.—Some peaceful getting out of bed and lovely breakfast. I noticed at that he couldn't be well, but he refused to let his health woe never better. He had hardly left the house before I telephoned his symptoms to mother and asked her opinion. She replied that he would probably try suicide within a week, and that I must not lock up all the poison in the house. When he came home at night I was lying on the floor pretending that I have a terrible headache. Instead of saying that it served me right for overeating or going around barefoot and then whistling and stamping around to add to my misery, he got down and told me how sorry he was and did all he could to comfort me. I had to send to get up and set dinner with him and pretend to be cured. We had a little spelling bee after dinner, and though I spelled him down a dozen times, I was not smiled over. I told him the cook had broken two plates that day, but he replied that all crockery was made to be broken. I asked for a new hat and he gave me the money without a word about the poorhouse. I tried to get him to go to church, but he said he preferred to stay at home. The cook went upstairs very much puzzled, and I went to bed to dream of tragedies.

Saturday.—Still no more morning sickness. Mr. Bowser has evidently had only left the house when the cook packed up and followed. She said there were ghosts about. I telegraphed for mother to come, but she answered that it was high water and she could not doctor again, but he said we could do nothing. I never worried over a man in my life, and I was really ill when Mr. Bowser came home and kissed me. My heart bounded as I heard him through the fete. I thrilled as he banged the door open. I jumped up with a laugh as he flung down his hat in the hall. I understood that he was Mr. Bowser again. He stood there in the hall glaring around, and as I stepped into view he said:

"Woman, by the horn spoon, I want to know what's the matter with you or a cooper shop?"

Mr. B. Restivious.

Then I fell down in the boulder and wept. He had returned to himself. He had been unconscious some one, like the real, genuine Bowser, and I sang a song of glad thanksgiving as he consoled me.

"You have driven me to the dead house," he said, "and I suggest that my lawyer see your lawyer and have the papers arranged for us as quietly as possible."

"Oh, I'm so glad to hear you say that!" I replied as I banged him the tighter.

"You are, are you? Then you are ready for a divorce?"

"Those who've like old times to hear you bluffing."

"Bluffing! I'll show you!"

"Please do. Find fault with the cook."

"Hang her!"

"And the coal."

"You want it to spite me."

"And the gas bill."

"You—you—you!" he gasped, "you are a mere fraction of human."

"I have been," I said.

"Have been over a hundred times! Have been a fool! Have been a chump! Have been a jackass! Have been a—a—a—"

"Until now," I said.

"Look here, woman! What the deuce has struck you? Is there a gas leak and the cook out or a mouse at me—"

"Why, why you have been so quiet for a week that I thought something was wrong, and I was afraid you would have to go to what they call the insolvency!"

"Oh, Lord!" he answered, and after a hearty laugh he kissed me right before the cook and the rat. I am a happy woman. Mr. Bowser is—is Mr. Bowser again.

An Ingenuous Critic

By HARRY VAN AMBERG

At college my essays were always selected to be read before the class, and I was made editor of the university magazine. Tales led me to choose literature for my profession. I naturally looked to the author whose works were of the time considered the acme of literary method as my guide, and nothing less than the field he occupied would satisfy me. There must be no plot. Plots were for dime novels. There must be nothing demonstrative, for I had the school I proposed to enter considered that its types to-be took and fit only for those who could appreciate what is high bred. What I liked at was delineation of character, proposing to take my heroes and heroines apart, examine them through a microscope and put them together again, stamping them with my own imprint, just as an eminent chemist will give a certificate for a brand of soap.

I had written several novels in this vein and attracted the attention of the critics and persons of refined literary taste. Unfortunately I had no fortune, and I found it unprofitable to write for the few. But I would not have changed my style to suit the many, for I must needs be high bred persons, for I met no others. But one day I met in society would any one say feeling, and I found myself depicting them in the street cars, upon the life's stage, not as human beings, but as social automotons. Nevertheless the critics and my clientele stood by me, and I was pleased, though thoughtfully it didn't pay.

One day while traveling on a railroad train I noticed a young girl in the seat before me. She could not have been more than seventeen years old, was plainly dressed and appeared to be a model of simplicity. What was my astonishment to see her take from her satchel a copy of my last novel and begin to read it. I wondered how a person so low in the human scale could be interested in the philosophic delicacies she would find in my work. I leaned forward and asked:

"Can you recommend the book you are reading?"

"If I Recommend it? It's everything to me."

"How is that?"

"It's in the story."

"You?"

"Yes. I don't know how the author got hold of my case, but he did somehow or other. He's given it perfectly. Only he drew a great many names in for my doing things that I never had in it at all. I suppose he thought it would help to skip them."

"Oh, you do? What causes you to think that the author gives your own story?"

"Why, it's so plain as day. There's Mrs. Jervis. She's my stepmother. She does what he can for me to make it hard for me. But she won't, and saying that it served me right for overeating or going around barefoot and then whistling and stamping around to add to my misery. I was right for once, when she snaps at me—just like Mr. Jervis in the story—that I put my arms about him and kiss him and call him Marjory in the book, 'Never mind papa, poor, dear, I'll help me she don't scold you.'"

I was interested. Of all my stories this one was the most human. I had been told by my admirers that in it I had done myself justice.

"Have you read any of the author's other novels?" I asked.

"I've tried to. After I read my own story in the novel I was so much in love of the library, one after another, but they were all Greek to me. I suppose I like this one because it is my own story."

"What else is there about you in the book?"

"Well, for one thing I know Edith Effingham. She's just like Edith in the book. A lovely girl—always going about with her nose in the air. She talks just such intolerlithige things as Edith—damn. She's never going to marry, she says, but devote herself to some high and noble purpose—you know the girl in the book is going to do that when she's old enough and a purpose high enough for her, so she can't be bothered with young men of a superior type. That's like Miss Effingham to a T."

"Who is your favorite author?" I asked the girl.

"Mr. Dickens."

I remembered that Mr. Dickens had not in all his books drawn the character of more than two or three persons in high life. I had reversed the order. I had not drawn but one character out of high life, the one that the girl had examined to be herself. I thought that I would have become of my literary fault when my handsome birthday would come round.

"Do you find something my station, and so I gathered my belongings and to the author of my story."

"Thank you very much for telling me all about it. I know the author intimately. I shall tell him all you've said about it, advise him in future to draw the people in high life from persons, to leave out the parts you skipped and not to spend his time on the last month's riot."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

DR. G. B. FAIRCHILD DENTIST

Graduate University of Minnesota

Office over LaBissoniere's store

Office hours:
8 a. m. to 12 m. | 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

THEO. ALTENDORF

Watkins' Representative
Successor to Wm. Zaiser
Mail Orders receive prompt attention
Phone 107
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

THE SPECIAL SALE AT The Big Store will continue for ANOTHER WEEK

Many complain of the high cost of living. Watch our ads, and if you take advantage of them it won't cost you so much. You can save money the whole year around with us, for we advertise special values all the time.

Dress Goods - 20 per cent off
Men's Clothing 20 per cent off
Boys' Clothing 20 per cent off

This is the last week of special prices on clothing. You had better take advantage of them; it is like finding money.

Child's $1.00 heavy fleeced Dresses for - - 69c
$1.25 36 inch Pean de Soie at per yard - - 98c
The famous Suskana Silk, washes like linen, yard 49c
$3.50 black silk Petticoats $2.49
5.00 colored silk " 3.69

A new line of Corsets—200 new Worcesters just opened up. You can't get a perfect fitting gown without a perfect fitting corset. The Royal Worcester will give the desired effect. $1.00 to 3.00 for the Bon Ton.

Our supply of Ladies' Gloves is immense—over 500 pairs in stock. You can get what you want.

For Linens of all kinds—whether for the table, casings or bed sheets, art linens, or dresses, we have them and a big line of them. The nicest line we ever carried.

To our patrons on the mail routes: Remember that this Big Store is at your door thru the parcels post. Don't be afraid to send us your orders—they will receive more attention than if you were here yourself. AND WE WILL PAY THE POSTAGE ON ALL GOODS EXCEPT GROCERIES. Remember we are the first store to make this offer. Send for samples of anything you need and in two days time you have the goods—no long waiting, no delay, no express, satisfaction guaranteed. Our Big Store is right at your door. We hope you will show your appreciation of this by sending us an order this day.

The Big Store, Theo. LaBissoniere, Prop.

Minnesota Historical Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1887
RED LAKE COURIER—ESTABLISHED 1910.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1913. VOL. XXX—NO. 21

FARMERS WILL MEET SATURDAY

ADJOURNED MEETING AT COURT HOUSE TO CONSIDER ELEVATOR PROPOSITION.

The adjourned meeting of the farmers interested in the proposition for the construction of a farmers elevator in Red Lake Falls will be held at the court house Saturday afternoon, Feb. 15. The first meeting held Saturday, Feb. 1, was attended by many farmers who were enthusiastically in favor of the construction of a house in Red Lake Falls. At that time a committee was appointed to ascertain what building site on the Great Northern right of way might be secured and to solicit for the sale of the stock. The members of the committee have been making good progress and will report at Saturday's meeting. All farmers interested in the undertaking are invited to attend the meeting.

CURTIS CHALLENGES WINNER.

Wants to Meet Victor of Miller—Yokel Match.

According to the Duluth Herald Loren Curtis of Halstad, who is the popular wrestling idol of this city, has challenged the winner of the coming Miller-Yokel wrestle' down to plonship match. The sport writers of Duluth have made much favorable comment concerning the Halstad boy since his victory over Al Pressley here and appear to be of the opinion that he is in championship class.—Thief River News-Press.

OBITUARY, FATHER ROY

Pioneer Had Been Priest of his Church for Forty-five Years.

Father W. T. Roy was born in Quebec, Canada, in 1842. At the age of eleven years he started to study in Quebec's Seminary. When a young man he graduated from the University of Laval.

He was ordained priest in 1867 and was parish priest in Quebec for five years. In1872 he was called to the Chisholm of Lake Superior, in upper Michigan. This was his first visit to the States. He remained there until 1876, when he came to Minnesota and worked as missionary. In 1887 he was appointed pastor of St. John the Baptist's church in Duluth by Bishop Seidenbush. By his tact and ability he put this parish in good condition. When in 1890, Bishop McGolrick was nominated to the episcopal see of Duluth, Father Roy was appointed first pastor and founder the new parish of St. James, West Duluth. Father Roy stayed in Duluth until 1892. Then he came to Terrebonne, where he stayed for ten years. During his stay in Terrebonne he built a new church. From Terrebonne he went to Lambert, where he remained until last fall. At that time he resigned on account of failing health. After some time spent in a Crookston hospital he was appointed to the pastorate of St. Anne's church in Blackduck, where he died after a few hours of illness.

He was buried at Crookston. The funeral was a tribute to the zealous priest who for forty-five years had worked for the glory of God and was attended by the following named priests: Father Thellian of Gentilly, Fathers Tapin, Worms and Dufoutil of Crookston,Father Deschain of Park Rapids, Father Bouchard of Stephens, Father Phillippe of Bemidji, Father Berthier of Lambert, Father Kilker, banner of East Grand Forks and Father Boyne of Red Lake Falls.

Right Rev. Bishop Corbett gave a very impressive sermon. Red Lake Falls people attending the funeral were Thomas Crongs, Leon Laurent and Adelard Laurent.

WILL BUILD GARAGE

Heims Purchase Corner Lot Now Occupied by Kettenheim's Harness Shop.

The corner lot now occupied by Kettenheim's harness shop has been sold by Frank E. Hunt to Helm Bros. In the transaction the title passes to fifty feet facing the west and extending to the alley.

Helm's will move their garage to this lot and enlarge it to be a building about 60x75 feet in dimensions. The harness shop building will be moved to the east end of the lot and turned to face the north.

HOME GROWN WARBLERS.

Owl Double Quartet at the Lotus Theatre.

The Owl double quartet, made up of a bunch of fellows who have been doing much singing after dark, will be the feature at the Lotus theatre Saturday night. The quartet is made up of John Richards and John Hennemuth,first tenors; Robert Poirier and Adolph Schutt, second tenors; Marcus Marshall and Alton Jockson, first bass; Paul Brunelle and Maurice Brunelle, second bass. They will sing "Until the Dawn" and "Don't You Cry, Ma Honey". Louis Philton and John Hennemuth will play duet, "Serenade." Such these much features there will be motion pictures.

NOTICE BY THE BOARD OF HEALTH

People are warned against taking ice or water form the Clearwater river below the Steinert dam or from the Red Lake river below the dam near the power house. This warning is given by direction of the state board of health because of the probability that the water below the dams has become contaminated.

N. M. WATSON,
Health Officer.

LIKELY TO HAVE GOOD RESULTS

LEGISLATIVE PROBE INTO GRAIN INSPECTION—DISTANCE TARIFF BILL UP.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, Feb. 11.—One of the interesting things of the present session of the legislature is the house inquiry into the methods of state inspection of grain and the charge that the state are manipulated in favor of the line elevators and members of the Minneapolis and Duluth boards of grain. Of course the inference is that farmers get the worst of state inspection and the entire inquiry, which is being made by a special committee, is directed at clinching such. An intensive inquiries on the present probe will in all probability not result in any reforms as far as the present session is concerned—they never do—but it will throw much light on a state department that has been much under suspicion of late. At the same time it will open the eyes of grain growers of the state and force a closer inspection of state grades as now made. The state grain inspection department will no doubt take countenance of some of the alleged abuses and compel stricter attention on the part of its employees. One of the things that has stumped the farmer members of the legislature and those engaged in the inquiry has been the large amount of rejections, with the grain immediately in favor of the elevator and mill men. How millions of bushels of No. 2 and No. 3 can be rejected in which the producer received a price as such, later came out of the elevators as No. 1 has been more than the committee could figure out.

✣ ✣ ✣

James A. Monahan, Republican cogressman at large elect, is conducting the inquiry and, to those who daily throng the room where the probe is being conducted the one certetaining and interesting feature has been his merciless grilling of witnesses. This grilling he carried to an extent last week that called for interference on the part of members of the railroad and warehouse commission, who demanded of the committee that he let loose his fair. Take Jan O'Neil, representative from Thief River Falls, threatened to break up the meeting if Mr. Monahan did not desist in his insinuating questions and it looked for a while as if there would be a personal encounter. Mr. Monahan's efforts to date have been to read into the records question which practically answer themselves and the while getting some good reading when completed. The probe so far has brought out the fact that the Minneapolis chamber is by no means a philanthropic institution; that it is a mercy motch for its members and that it has price fixing rules which dominate the market.

✣ ✣ ✣

The Cashman railroad distance tariff bill now has the boards in the senate, with the house much interested. The cities and many manufacturing coacerns over the state are vigorously opposing it. Taking a long distance view of the whole thing I would not be surprised if the bill passed both houses. Who country members in the senate are for it and so are they in the house. That it will ever get by Governor Eberhart, however, should it pass the two houses, is doubted by many, as the probabilities are that it would be deluged with telegrams and delegations demanding his veto. It was such a bombardment that gained Governor Johnson to veto a bill imposing a cooneys tax on iron ore. Opposition then was that the nation would hurt him, but if anything it make him stronger as a vote getter. Last year St. Paul business men invested nearly $1,500 in newspaper space opposing the distance tariff bill and it is said the publicity is to be continued.

✣ ✣ ✣

At the banquet tendered Senator Nelson in St. Paul Governor Eberhart came out flat for the immediate abolition of the "Shall Noose," or third party, and voiced quite a few cutsiders in their beliefs in an effort to figure out what is back of it all. Is it a bid for another era of the governorship two years hence or is it the United States senatorship? That aspiration for the Republican gubernatorial nominee from the Governor Eberhart to reckon with is generally accepted among the king makers. That he has his eye on the senatorship is also a well known. That his endorsement of the "Shall Noose" will be useful in giving the party immediate official recognition of the anti-third term ambitious can be readily seen. It will take out of the party two years from improved. There is no denying that in case of the governor's senatorial ambitions the action of the convention will no doubt be to the saddle when the next gubernatorial election rolls around.

✣ ✣ ✣

The house went on record for the initiative and referendum by a vote on the submission to the voters of a constitutional amendment making the same, and now the senate is expected to fall in line. One feature was the defeat of the 1 1/2 tax on gasoline and another the passage of the bill without an aberrating amendment being permitted. Many were offered, but they were all turned down. The members in the house were determined that the bill should go through as drafted and it did so easy and they were successful in their fight.

✣ ✣ ✣

Perhaps a good broadsheet, and yet one that is debatable, was that offered by Senator Hall, of Minneapolis, consisting of a bill to abolish the present petition pushers. He wanted the state divided at convention places and voters allowed to sign petitions without coercion. It was the most warmly contested of the lot of amendments offered and the vote at the finish was close to a last call, however. The professional petition pusher is a thing of the states and the petition is a medium of ranching for personal favors or accomplishing anything pertaining to the ballot. He works for so much a name or makes a contract for so much per thousand of signers for a certain sum and he generally succeeds. The only method to sign is a picnic for the average professional. If the pest reaches Minnesota he will be unwelcome and undoubtedly earn his activities and it should.

COMPETITIVE EXAMINATIONS.

Under Rules Of Civil Service Held in the Spring.

Notices have been issued informing the public that on various dates from March 1st to May 1, 1913, competitive examinations will be held for unmarried government positions under the rules of the civil service.

The examinations are for applicants for appointment to the next succeeding vacancies of the government service—teaching, clerical, printing, mechanical, clerical, etc.

Any one interested may get information by addressing United Srtes Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or the secretary of the board of examiners of the service at the convention, St. Paul. The notices contain a long list of the positions for which examinations will be held.

BIG MATCH BILLED

Loren Curtis Will Take on Jimmie Potts at Lotus Next Thursday.

Loren Curtis, the undefeated middle weight wrestler of Halstad, is to go against Jimmie Potts, a Minneapolis wrestler of more than local renown. The match will be pulled off at the Lotus theatre in Red Lake Falls on Thursday evening, Feb. 20.

Curtis, though comparatively new in the game, has defeated all comers, and some of them men of reputed skill, among them Francis and Lewis of Minneapolis, and the Halstad boy seems to be wrestling in championship style. His manager has challenged the winner of the Miller-Yocket match for the world's championship, pulled off at Duluth Monday night. If Curtis continues his whirling he will soon have earned the right to a match with Champion Yocket who took the championship from Miller in straight falls Monday night.

Potts has been in the wrestling game for some time and claims the championship of the northwest and Canada.

CUSTOMARY FINE SHOWING BY BANKS

BETWEEN SIX AND SEVEN HUNDRED THOUSAND ON DEPOSIT.

In the quarterly reports published in this issue the three banks of the city make the customary fine showing of business, indicating the prosperous condition of the people of Red Lake county.

The deposits in the three banks aggregate between six and seven hundred thousand dollars. For report for the year 1912 the increase over the showing is very satisfactory.

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL.

L. C. Simons Has Purchased the Abell Farm in Terrebonne.

A big real estate deal of last week was reported by Mrs. A. E. Abell of her 400-acre farm in Terrebonne township to L. C. Simons. The sale was made through J. D. Hourand and the consideration was $20,000, $50 an acre.

The farm, known as the old Laurent farm, is one of the finest single pieces of farm property in the county. It is beautifully situated on a lake, and oak seas. Richard. Their first born, Joseph, Jr., is dead. Besides excellent house, grain elevator and other farm improvements.

Mr. Simons has leased the farm to Ellis Abell, son of the present owner.

Notice to Tax Payers.

Please remember that your personalproperty taxes must be paid before March 1st in order to save the 10 pct cent penalty added that date.

G. G. KENNETH,
County Treasurer.

COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, RED LAKE COUNTY.

Red Lake Falls, Minn.,
January 31st 1913.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County, Minnesota, met in regular session at the County Commissioners' office in the City of Red Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, at 10 o'clock A. M. Friday the 31st day of January A. D. 1913.

Members present: Hunt Pigeon, Cadieur, Hanson.

Members absent: Schultz.

Meeting called to order by the Chairman at 10 o'clock A. M.

The petition, signed A. D. Roepelle and others, for vacation of that part of the "Colony Road" in Sec. 25, Township 151 North of Range 43 West, as the same is described in said petition, was presented to the Board, and upon motion duly seconded and carried, the petition was received and ordered placed on file; and upon further motion, duly seconded and carried unanimously, a committee of three, consisting of Commissioners Cadieux, Schultz and Pigeon, was appointed to investigate the merits of said petition and fixing a time and place of meeting for said committee March 6th, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M. at the residence of A. D. Roepelle in said town; and, further, that said committee report to the Board of County Commissioners at their next meeting to be held in the courthouse in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls on Saturday, the 15th day of March, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M.

The petition, signed by L. Duchare and others, for vacation of that part of "Colony Road" in Sec. 35, Township 151 North of Range 43 West, as the same is described in said petition, was presented to the Board, and, upon motion duly seconded and carried, the petition was received and ordered placed on file; and upon further motion, duly seconded and carried unanimously, a committee of three, consisting of Commissioners Cadieux, Schultz and Pigeon was appointed to investigate the merits of said petition and fixing a time and place of meeting for said committee March 6th, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M. at the residence of A. D. Roepelle in said town; and, further, that said committee report to the Board of County Commissioners at their next meeting to be held in the courthouse in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls on Saturday, the 15th day of March, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M.

Resolved that the application of Napoleon Generaux for abatement of taxes against certain moneys and credits in the town of Terrebonne for the year 1912 be granted subject to the approval of the Minnesota State Tax Commission.

Resolution carried unanimously.

On motion duly seconded and carried the Board adjourned until 1:00 o'clock P. M.

At 1:00 o'clock P. M. the Board reconvened, all present except Schultz.

Motion made, duly seconded and unanimously carried, that in the matter of the abatement of certain real estate taxes against the S. W. 1/4 of the N. E. 1/4 Sec. 14, and S. 1/2 of N. E. 1/4 and N. W. 1/4 of N. E. 1/4 Sec. 19-150-39, being in the Town of Hickory, the Auditor was instructed to have the party interested apply in the usual way of abatement to the County Board.

Motion made by Commissioner Cadieux and seconded by Commissioner Hanson that Frank Jeffers' bond be

(Continued on Page Four)

MRS. JOSEPH POWER.

Death of Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Power.

The following regarding the death of Mrs. Joseph Power of Langdon, N. Dak., announcement of whose death was made in the last issue of the Gazette, is taken from the Langdon Courjar-Democrat:

Again this week the shadow of death falls over another Langdon home when at a quarter past two o'clock Annie Power, wife of John Power, breathed her last, no longer able to withstand the ravages of that dread disease,pneumonia,from which she has been quite seriously ill for nearly e month. Two weeks ago there were indications that medical skill and devoted nursing had obtained mastery overthe grim reaper, but a relapse that set in later left the case of the patient's recovery practically beyond hope.

The deceased, Annie Power, was born May 17th, 1870, at Slanstead, Province of Quebec, and in company with her parents came to Minnesota when a little girl only ten yearsold when she remained until 1891 when she came to Langdon to take charge as teacher of the primary department of the city schools, which position she continued to hold for four years. On January 10th, 1894, deceased became the wife of Mr.Joseph Power of this city,their home having been here ever since. Thisinvaluable lady left to mourn the passing away of a faithful and affectionate wife and son, the mother ere the sorrowing husband and son. Her brother, Charles Flanagan of Iashell, and one son, Richard. Their first born, Joseph, Jr., has also preceded among the victims of the cy clone that visited Langdon with death and disaster on May 25, 1909. She also leaves a father and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Power, of Red Lake Falls, Minn., the latter having been here to attend the funeral; three brothers, James and Albert of Crookston, and John S., of Mcbeall, N. D., the first named two arriving here on Tuesday; three sisters, Mrs. Mckinnon, of Crookston, Mrs. Collins of Werrood and Mrs. Schneiden of Wylie, all who attended the funeral of the named being here.

The people of Langdon and vicinity have for long years known Mrs. Power as being a kind and indulgent mother and an effectionate wife. One who will be sadly missed by all in the bereaved stricken family circle of the lonley home and the community. Join in extending heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved husband and motherless little ones.

The funeral is being held this forenoon from St. Alphonsus church.

CURTIS GOT LARKIN.

Won Match at Thief River Falls Monday Night.

In the wrestling" match at Thief River Falls Monday night between Loren Curtis of Halstad and Larkin of Minneapolis, Curtis clearly demonstrated his superiority in the mat medium by the match in straight falls in 32 and 36 minutes.

NOTICE!

Now is the time to yet your Horse Blanket supply for next year. Am now selling them at $1.00 each for 15 per cent for Cash.

Also large size Fur Auto Robes and Wool Auto Robes at $7 discount for 10 per cent for Cash.

Harness Oiling

Have your Harness oiled now with Neatfoot's Oil and repaired for the spring work. Prices for oiling—two dips:

Double Working Horness - -	$1.00
Double Driving Horness - -	1.00
Single Driving Harness - -	.50
Dressing Double Horness - -	1.00
Dressing Single Horness - -	.50
Washing - - - -	.50

UP-TO-DATE
HAND MADE HARNESS

Don't buy your Spring Work Harness until you have seen our line—which are made up on the old reliable stitching horse. Selling for the least money, with the best of workmanship and leather.

Absolute Guarantee

We guarantee every part of our harness to be made from first-class material. We guarantee the stitching to be done in the old reliable way. We guarantee workmanship to be perfect in every particular. If within one year, any defect appears, return and we will replace it. No harness will stand abuse and we do not guarantee against carelessness or misuse.

COLLARS

We have good collars ranging in price from $1.25 to $5.00 each. Come and tell us your horse collars and fit them on, and then we will guarantee them not to cause collar sores. We have the Scotch Hair Faced which you all want.

KEIFENHEIM'S HARNESS SHOP,
ED. KEIFENHEIM, Proprietor
RED LAKE FALLS, - - MINNESOTA

FARMERS ARE IN TOWN TODAY

MANY HERE TO ATTEND THE MEETINGS OF THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Many farmers are in town today to attend the meetings of the farmers' institute and the meetings are meetings are interesting and enjoyable. The institute speakers are C. O. Carlson of Erskine, E. W. Smith of Parkers Prairie and L. H. Hughes of Caritas.

The last meeting of the institute is being held this afternoon.

FOSSTON SCHOOLS BURN.

Loss of $40000 Partly Covered by Insurance.

At 7:00 Wednesday evening fire was discovered burning in the rear of the first floor hallway of the Fosston high school and before the o'clock both the high school building and the adjoining graded school build ing were in ruins. only the skeleton walls of the high school remaining...

...The financial loss is considerable. While as insurance amounting to $20,000 is in force upon the buildings and the contents—all that the property would warrant—it would require $25,000 to $40,000 to replace the buildings and their equipment. The high school was insured for $12,000, and contents for $2,500. The old building for $5,000, contents $1,700.—Fosston Thirteen Twins.

FIGHT FIRE AND WIND

Blaze in Philion House Monday Gave Firemen Lively Fight.

The ringing of the fire bell Monday afternoon when the near-blizzard was raging caused much excitement. The alarm was sent in from the west end of town, the fire being in the roof of Wm. Philion's home.

The two firemen had a hard fight because of the high wind they succeeded in getting out the fire before much damage was done, the chemical doing the business. It is being demonstrated repeatedly that the chemical is the best thing for such work and a close fight.

It is possible that without the chemical the firemen could not have saved the building.

The loss, which is not heavy, is covered by insurance.

JOHN DEERE SPREADER

The Spreader with the Beater on the Axle

The Simplest Spreader Made

No Clutches — No Chains — No Adjustments

Easy to Load — Roller Bearings — Light Draft

Entirely New .. Nothing Else Like It

THE JOHN DEERE SPREADER—The Spreader with the Beater on the Axle—is as much of an improvement in spreader manufacturing as the self-binder was over the old reaper. It is made along entirely new and different lines from the ordinary spreader.

The first manure spreader ever made was built in 1878 by the Kemp & Burpee Manufacturing Company. Up to the time of the John Deere Spreader every spreader has been made along the same general lines as this first machine. Power was taken from one end of the main axle and transmitted, either through chains or gears, to the beater, mounted above and in the rear of the axle. Therefore the only improvement in manure spreaders since the first one was made in 1878 has been in the refinement of details.

The John Deere Spreader is a radical departure from the old method of construction. It is made along entirely new lines and is a great improvement over the old style spreader. Come in and examine the machine and you will readily see why the John Deere Spreader is so far superior to any spreader heretofore constructed.

Even if You Don't Need a New Spreader Now come in and get one of our spreader books. They contain a number of articles on why farm manure should be used on the land, how it should be applied, how it should be stored, the value and effect of using it in various ways. In addition there is a detail description of the John Deere Spreader with illustrations in colors of this spreader starting in the field.

Better Investigate .. It's Worth Your While

FINDEISEN IMPLEMENT CO.

We have just received a Carload of these Spreaders and have a special proposition to make on the first half dozen sold.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

G. R. C. BAKER, Publisher.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

California may have to take to its orchards ever sight.

The latest dancing cure is called "erythmy." Sounds like a cure for cutarh.

Even though the orange crop be destroyed, there is still the unfailing banana.

New York men had a finger grafted on his nose. An extra cost now in keeping it manicured.

In spite of the annual New Year's resolutions men hasn't improved in 1,000 years, says Dr. Alfred Russell Wallace

A New York hen lays seventy-two eggs in its icehouse. Everything seems to be coming the way of the cold storage men.

The inventor who perfected a sulfide box and tried it on himself didn't live long enough to realize that he had succeeded.

The great national game now consists in guessing whether the star pitcher of the home team will get $9,000 or $11,000.

A Philadelphia wife has found a husband who has been missing for twenty-five years. Some men are mighty unlucky

"Life is just one real hill after an other," remarks an exchange; which is the same exactly as the proverb in the profane form

The month of September once consisted of thirteen days. It must have been a cinch for the man who was paid by the month

While reading the sporting page the philosophers will have to call philosophy to console him for not being a high priced baseball player

There are some on the police force of some western cities. But not many of them, so far, has been induced to go on the plain clothes squad.

A tuning fork is to be applied to a boy's enlarged throat so that he can sing at it is well, for future effect, that tuning is not done with knives.

There was once a chauffeur who was compelled to ride horseback. The horse trotted. "Ah," said the chauffeur, "this shock absorber is working bad ly."

A Buffalo clergyman couldn't draw a congregation until he started a series of fifteen-minute sermons. Now he has all the other ministers boiled.

London women now feed their dogs at the table. On the street, probably, that if they are doubtful of any dish presented to them, they can try it on the dog.

A New York woman wants a divorce because her husband always took the larger portion of the steak. What of it? No reason why she should beat about it.

From Washington comes the information that a prune war may be expected. Which brings to mind the well established adage: "Its not always bullets that kill

A Chicago packer has for his correspondent Soumen Osuuskauppojen Keskuskunta in Helsingfors, Finland, says an exchange. Probably meaning that he has some coly for the writing of that one name.

A French process has been invented to lengthen the time eggs may be stored. What the public desires is some way to hasten the time in which fresh eggs may be acquired.

Adrianople, the besieged, is reported to have cheese enough to last its people for several years, but who would undergo the horrors of war for the sake of living on cheese?

Query: Is the man in the smoking car who, having a box of matches in his pocket, reaches across two fat men and a newsboy to borrow a light, guilty of economy or parsimony?

A canning plant is being installed in one of the eastern universities. All of the universities do a deal of canning, but most of them are enabled to get along without a plant for the purpose.

An eminent scientist has increased his eminence by discovering that the best way to reduce weight is to refrain from eating. Stringent professional ethics prevent him from putting the idea into Another exponent of the simple life rears his head. He writes to the Passenger Star: "I would rather be a lawn mower sharpener in beautiful Pass Christian than be a banker any place on earth."

By the use of cables to divert the Labrador current, an inventor proposes to abolish icebergs in the north Atlantic, and so to ameliorate the climate of Ireland that oranges would grow there. No slump in the price of oranges is yet reported as a result of this anticipation.

A schlumarger has been educated to smoke and drink. That shows the superiority of man over the lower animals. He doesn't have to be educated to it.

Just to dispel any suspicion of outside discrimination the United States public health service has put the finger bowl in the same class with the common drinking cup and the roller towel. When we think of the perils that environ our daily life we have less admiration for the heroes of the Light Brigade.

WORKS BILL PASSES

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT SECURES ONE VOTE MORE THAN IS NECESSARY.

SIX YEAR PRESIDENTIAL TERM

House and Thirty-six States Must Ratify It First, However—Bill May Affect Wilson—Attempts to Alter.

Washington, Feb. 2.—By a vote of forty-seven to twenty-three, just one more than the required two-thirds majority, the senate late Saturday passed the resolution introduced by Senator John D. Works of California, which would so amend the constitution as to fix the presidential tenure of office at six years instead of four. The constitutional amendment, however, must be ratified by the boxes of representatives and three-fourths of the states, also provides that any person elected to the office is ineligible for re-election.

May Extend Wilson's Term.

If the measure is approved in the lower legislative chamber and ratified by the states within the next four years, it is possible that it will automatically extend the four-year term to which Governor Wilson was elected last November to March 4, 1919.

Works' resolution contains no substitution of the following to lieu of the first paragraph of section 1, article II, of the constitution:

"The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. The term of the office of the president shall be six years and no person who has held the office by election or discharged its powers or duties, or acted as president under the constitution and has served in that capacity more thereof, shall be eligible to again hold the office by election.

"The president, together with a vice president, chosen for the same term, shall be elected as follows:

Here the language of the constitution is resumed.

The Vice Presidency.

The proposed constitutional amendment would not affect the vice presidency except to fix the term of office at six years. There would be no prohibition against re-election of the president's running mate. Several senators were uncertain, however, whether, in case a vice president succeeds to the chief magistracy, he could again be elected to the presidency. Senator Cummins of Iowa, who reported the Works' resolution, however, held it was plain that if a vice president held the presidential office even for a short time, it would make him eligible, under the proposed amendment, to assume the presidency for another term.

Probably never before in the history of the senate did a single measure provide such a fertile field for argument. Saturday's discussion ranged from the rise and fall of the Roman empire, through the reign of the Napoleons of France and the revolution ary days in America up to and including the days of the nationalism of today.

It precipitated a lengthy wrangle between Senators Cummins of Iowa and Poindexter of Washington, wherein the latter predicted the ultimate dissolution of the republican and democratic parties, and the forming of two new political organizations—progressive and conservative—as a result of the present agitation against the reactionaries of both old parties. Cummins could not agree.

The debate between these two led Senator Williams of Mississippi, bitterly to denounce progressivism and new nationalism. He characterized the latter movement as the "last straw" of the twentieth century with the political theories of Alexander Hamilton," but nevertheless he favored any amendment to the Works resolution which might speedily bring about a change in re-election, declaring that the six-year term would certainly be accepted by the states, if such a provision were included.

Following Williams' speech, the senate rejected Senator Hitchcock's amendment fixing the term of office at this time when the six-year term and no re-election should become effective.

Senator Sutherland's plan to fix the term for president in office at the time of final ratification of the constitutional amendment of four years was then rejected, 27 to 38.

BOMB PACKAGE KILLS WOMAN.

Mrs. Herredo Dies When Husband Is Arrested.

New York, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Magdalen Herredo was instantly killed when she opened a package containing a bomb in her husband, Gerardo Herredo's, home in the hall of their apartment in the Bronx. Herredo, who is a Cuban, and Sarah Puffinmann, a boarder, were badly injured by the explosion. Miss Puffinmann's condition is dangerous. Pieces of the iron and lead pipe with which the bomb was loaded flew in every direction.

Milk Prices Will Be Raised.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Dairy farmers will charge $1.50 the hundred pounds for milk or three cents a quart after April 1, it was decided here at the annual meeting of the Milk Producers' association. The wholesale price of milk to bottlers and retailers has been 2½ cents the quart or $1.25 a hundred weight. The determination increases in price to retailers and middlemen was reached after an all-day discussion by more than 1,600 members of the association from Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Solicitor Resigns.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Resignation of George P. McCabe as solicitor of the department of agriculture to take effect on March 4, is announced by Secretary Wilson. McCabe was one of the storm centers in the controversy over administration of the pure food law, which finally culminated in Dr. Harvey Wiley's resignation as chief chemist. Secretary Wilson said that he accepted McCabe's resignation with regret. The solicitor announced that he would open a law office.

TURKS STILL ON OFFENSIVE

BULGARS KEEP UP SHELLING ADRIANOPLE.

Turks Hard Pressed at Tchataija—Constantinople Hopeful.

London, Feb. 5.—The Turks remain on the defensive at Tchataija and Adrianople. The Adrianople fortress repulses only feebly to the Bulgarian bombardments, and apparently as to tempt has been made to the way of e sortie.

The Turkish newspaper Tanin asserts that Adrianople has sufficient provisions for four months, and other Turkish reports declare that the fortress certainly will be able to hold out for several weeks.

Official quarters in Constantinople breathe a spirit of great confidence of the oow regime and declare that the condition of the country and the military weather precludes serious operations along the Tchataija lines for the present.

There is no confirmation of the reported occupation of Scutrai by the Montenegrins. A Bulgarian aeroplane dropped proclamations into Adrianople, inviting the surrender of the town.

HOLLOW HORN BEAR MAY GO

South Dakota Chief Would Attend Inauguration of Woodrow Wilson.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Hollow Horn Bear of South Dakota, an Indian chief, and the original of the picture of the Indian on the five-dollar treasury certificates, has written to the inaugural committee, through Senator Gamble of South Dakota, expressing a desire to attend the inauguration.

The chief desires to present to the new president a great peace pipe, which he declares is the highest honor in the Indians of South Dakota can confer on the "Great White Father." If President-elect Wilson is unable to do the plan, Hollow Horn Bear will bring with him a group of Indian chiefs, who will there will be presented with tribal ceremony. The pipe which Hollow Horn Bear would present is similar to those presented by the Indians to their own chieftaos.

For the first time in history, women will participate in the inaugural parade. These women, 200 strong, wearing uniforms and representing the National Peace congress, will form a division of their own and march in the inaugural parade.

WATER OWNER QUESTION

Right of Government Control and Tax Will Be Settled This Session.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The question of federal control of water powers and power sites, upon which conservationists have centered much of their fight during the last few years will be settled during the present session, it is when efforts will be made to pass the bill establishing the government's right to license, control and tax water power constructed in a navigable stream.

While the bill in question involves only the rights of a power company at Windsor Mills, Conn., the controversy over the measure has become so keen that conservation forces are lining up behind it and will endeavor to force its passage through the senate.

Colonel Roosevelt, near the end of his term, had two bills which did not contain this recognition of federal control and the pending measure is the first in which such a provision has been incorporated.

President Taft's administration, and Secretary of War Stimson, are behind the bill for federal control as now embodied in the bill.

TAFTS ENO SOCIAL REGIME

Entertain Thousands at Army and Navy Reception in White House.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The president and Mrs. Taft were hosts in the evening easy at a reception which marked the close of the Taft social regime in the White House.

To their last reception the president and Mrs. Taft had invited practically every one of the 2,300 officers stationed in the capital. Seventeen thousand of the house and civilians invited numbered nearly a thousand.

Hundreds of applications for tickets had been refused during the last few weaks and the doorkeepers were unusually cautious in scanning cards of admission. The president and Mrs. Taft and members of the cabinet with their wives, stood in the receiving line for more than two hours. The ceremony of allowing the guests to dance in the East room after the reception was adhered to and the president and Mrs. Taft watch the dancers before he retired.

Connaught Expects to Return.

Montreal, Feb. 5.—What is considered a contradiction of rumors that when he returns to England in the near future, where the Duchess of Connaught is to receive medical treatment, he would not return to Canada to finish his term as governor general, was made in a speech by the Duke of Connaught at a luncheon at the Canadian club. "I hope my leave of absence may not keep me long in England, as I desire to be with you again in the summer," he said.

Pass Homestead Bill.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The senate has passed the bill already acted on by the house making the admitted handwriting of any person competent evidence in a court of law with which to compare handwriting which might be questioned. The so-called "second homestead bill" previously passed by the house also was passed by the senate. This bill establishes the right of a homesteader on western dry lands to secure a 320-acre farm through a residence of five years.

PERFECT BABY FOR SUFFRAGE PARADE

Harvey W. Wiley, Jr., son of the famous pure food expert, is to be a feature of the suffrage parade on March 3 to Washington, if the weather permits. Mrs. Wiley is an ardent suffragette and has announced that her son will be brought up with the same views.

INCOME TAX ADOPTED

DELAWARE, WYOMING AND NEW MEXICO MAKE MORE THAN MAJORITY.

HUNDRED MILLION REVENUE

Incomes Under $4,000 at $5,000 May Be Exempted—Believed New Law Will Raise That Amount.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Direct taxes upon the incomes of residents of the United States, whether received from their capital or from the conduct of business, were made possible by the ratification of the sixteenth amendment to the federal constitution.

Three States Indorse It.

Delaware, Wyoming and New Mexico, indorsing the income tax amendment then before their respective legislatures, completed a list of 38 states that have approved it, more than the three-fourths necessary for the final adoption.

Leaders in congress predict that through this authorization the law to be passed to levy the tax upon American incomes will be introduced at as soon as the extra session opens.

Its terms have not been decided upon, but it is believed they will exempt all incomes below $4,000 or $5,000 and will provide a tax of one per cent upon the majority of incomes that do not run to an excessive figure.

Hull May Draft It.

The drafting of the bill to put the tax into effect, it is said, will fall to the lot of Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee, a member of the house ways and means committee, who drew the excise tax bill proposed last year by the Democratic house of representatives, but which did not become a law.

The income tax will be designed to supplant the present corporation tax and will apply to the incomes of individuals, firms and corporations. In the senate last night, Representative Hull declared he favored making the new law an integral part of the new federal system of the United States, to remain in force without regard to the character of tariff bills that congress may enact from time to time.

Collect at Source.

One feature, which, it is believed, will be included in the bill is the provision for "collecting at the source" of the income. This feature, now in operation in England, would require firms to certify amounts to be paid individuals and would relieve many and pay the tax direct to the government. It is believed it would remove much complaint that might be made if the government had to investigate every individual citizen's income and would prevent evasion of the law.

The annual amount that the government may realize under the income tax is estimated by Democratic leaders at from eighty to one hundred million dollars. This would include the $20,000,000 now collected under the present corporation tax.

Menelik Again Reported Dead.

London, Feb. 5.—King Menelik, of Abyssinia, is dead, according to a dispatch received here from Addis-Abeba. His successor, Prince Lidj Jeasus, one of his grandsons, entered the capital Sunday with great pomp.

Bath Tub Trust Case Opened.

Detroit, Feb. 4.—The drawing of a jury to retry the government's criminal suit against the so-called bath tub trust has been begun in United States district court here. Under a new fondant examined were manufacturers who charged with violation of the sherain trade and fix prices in violation of the Sherman act. The prosecutions trial of the case which resulted in a disagreement occupied several days and it is expected the present trial will last fully as long.

Supreme Justice McCall Accepts.

New York, Feb. 5.—Governor Court Justice Edward E. McCall announces that Gov. Sulzer had offered to appoint him public service commissioner to succeed William R. Wilcox and that he has accepted the appointment.

Turnsitity to White House, Too.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 4.—Joseph Patrick Tumnulty, at present private secretary to Governor Wilson, will be secretary to the president after March 4, according to an announcement by President-Elect Wilson.

SHOE MACHINERY TRUST WINS

U. S. LOSES POINT IN THE CASE AGAINST ALLEGED COMBINE.

Court Declares Combination of Non-Competitors Not Violation of Law.

Washington, Feb. 5.—For the first time the supreme court of the United States held in effect in the "shoe machinery trust" case that the Sherman anti-trust law does not forbid the mere combining of non-competitors in business. Solicitor General Bullitt, for the government, had contended that if the combination brought into one hand "undue prosperity" of the trade it was forbidden by the anti-trust law.

"The disintegration aimed at by the statute does not extend to reducing the business to isolated units or of the lowest degree," declared Justice Holmes in announcing the unanimous decision of the court that the mere organization of the United Shoe Machinery company by the heads of several non-competing groups of shoe manufacturers had not been a violation of the law.

The justice continued to say that it is as lawful for one corporation to make "every part" of a steam engine and to put the machine together as it would be for one to make the boilers and another to make the wheels.

In explanation of this concise statement of law, he referred to the court's recent Minnesota creamery decision, and the older Swift and company decision in which it was held that an "intent" is necessary as an element of offense in monopoly. The bringing of non-competing branch of a trade into lock step action along by means of a corporation, he said, is unobjectionable, did not furnish sufficient "intent" to raise the conduct to the dignity of an attempt to monopolize.

Despite the decision officials of the department of justice declare that the United States Shoe Machinery company will be prosecuted for the alleged violation of the Sherman act under the one remaining count of the indictment returned against the company, the validity of which was sustained by the lower court.

That count, which was not before the supreme court, charged that the company was monopolizing the industry by combination, by trying the United States Shoe Machinery company to prosecute for the destruction of competition and by the acquisition of competitors' business. Officials vigorously maintained that the decision does not affect the government's case on this count.

Pennsylvania Women Seek Ballot.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 5.—Woman suffragists visited the state capitol in force, during the session of the house of representatives Tuesday, and spent the eight working morning the legislature in behalf of the bill proposing a constitutional amendment granting women to vote. The bill passed second reading Tuesday and will be up for third reading today. Anti-suffragists are circulating petitions against the measure and memorials to members urging them to vote against the bill.

Court Takes Recess.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The supreme court has taken a recess until Monday, Feb. 24, without announcing any decisions in the state rate cases or the intermountain case.

Frank M. Ryan Released.

Leavenworth, Kan., Feb. 4.—Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Ironworkers' union, serving a sentence of imprisonment in the federal penitentiary here for conspiracy in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, was released on parole by the board of pardons. Ryan was met by E. N. Nockels, secretary of the Chicago branch of the American Labor league, and they took on express-way train for Chicago. Ryan is the seventh of the 39 men convicted to be released. President Ryan is cheerful and appeared in good health.

$100,000 Bank Fraud Alleged.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 4.—A banking swindle that may amount to $500,000 is claimed by several hundred Italian workmen who have discovered that money sent to Italy Christmas through a local banking concern, known variously as the Italian financiers and the Banca Bresai, never arrived there. On Saturday a great crowd of them assembled with their pass books before the bank's officials and found that the bank's proprietor, Annibal Bresai, had apparently fled.

REVEALS HIS CRIMES

NEW YORK JANITOR TELLS OF SENDING INFERNAL MACHINES BROADCAST.

ATTEMPTED JUDGES LIFE

Also Sent Explosive That Killed Woman Sunday—Admits Murdering His Daughter and Her Betrayer.

New York, Feb. 5.—John Paul Farrell, a janitor, has confessed after an all-night grilling that he sent to Bernard Herrera last Sunday the bomb which resulted in the death of Mrs. Herrera and serious injury to Herrera and Miss Fogltman, a boarder.

Killed Daughter.

Then Farrell astonished the police by reciting that he sent the bomb which killed Mrs. Helen Taylor a year ago, adding that Mrs. Taylor was his daughter and that he killed her "because she had gone wrong." He also admitted sending a bomb last year to Judge Otto Rosalsky, and he explained the death of "Kid" Walker, also in 1913.

"Kid" Walker was killed, he declared, by a man named Lestrange because Walker had caused Mrs. Taylor's downfall.

The attempt on Judge Rolzalsky's life, Farrell said, was made because the judge had contenced a criminal, unnamed, to 30 years' imprisonment. The bomb was sent to the judge by a man known to Farrell only as "Tony."

Why Judge Was Threatened.

Herrera's life was sought, Farrell said, because he had insulted him, and he would discharge him from his job as janitor. Farrell was employed at the apartment house where Herrera is superintendent.

Before the astonished detectives the maker of deadly bombs constructed a box of infernal machines, explaining how he made, what he put into it, how it operated and what the damage would be to the person who should open it. The Taylor and Rosalsky bombs, he said, were entrusted to the mails.

In the case of Herrera, Farrell said he had crept upstairs when Herrera was away and placed the bomb, wrapped in a pasteboard box on the landing outside the door. He insisted, however, that he intended only to scare the family.

Warned in the police he began to make the Herrera bomb last Thursday night, completed it on Friday and kept it in his room till Sunday. Unmoved by the knowledge that his recital might send him to the electric chair, the bombmaker took pencil and paper and explicitly drew numerous diagrams, explaining how he had planned the mechanism.

He began work on the bomb after Mrs. Herrera had notified him that a carpe had been engaged to take his place. In a short bit of pipe, picked up by the janitor in the rear of the house, he placed a bottle of nitro-glycerine, bolting it in position by nails and paper. In the mouth of the bottle he placed a cork in which a hole had been bored with a red hot hairpin. A percussion cap, a small spring, a bit of rubber tubing to insulate the end twine completed the makeup of the infernal machine.

The spring was so arranged as to snap the button sharply against the percussion cap when the box was opened.

Republicans Lose Fight.

Washington, Feb. 4.—After another ineffectual effort to force action on President Taft's nominations pending in the senate the Republicans decided to make no further move for the present. The senate will recall cases before beginning the fight again. Some Republicans argued that a caucus called by caucus would be meaningless. "It has been demonstrated that the Democrats can block all confirmations," said Senator Gallinger, discussing the situation, "and there is no occasion for a party waste of time to make further attempt at confirmation. We are liable to decide to do nothing more."

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

Twin City Markets.

Minneapolis, Feb. 5.—Wheat, May, 88@88; July, 89@89; No. 1 northern, 86@87; No. 2 northern, 84@85; No. 3 wheat, 82@83; No. 2 yellow corn, 51@52; No. 3 yellow, 50@51; barley, malting, 56c; No. 3 rye, 76@77c.

Duluth, Feb. 5.—Wheat, May, 86c; July, 87c; No. 1 northern, 86c; No. 2 northern, 84c.

South St. Paul, Feb. 5.—Cattle—Steers, $6.50@8.25; cows and heifers, $4.50@7.50; calves, $6.50@7.50; sheep and lambs, $3.50@5.60.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Cattle—Beeves, $4.50@8.50; Texas steers, $4.50@6.75; western steers, $5.50@7.50; stockers and feeders, $4.75@7.40; cows and heifers, $3.40@7.80; calves, $7.50@9.50.

Hogs—Light, $6.60@6.90; mixed and strong to 10c higher; light, $7.55@7.90; mixed, $7.50@7.90; heavy, $7.45@7.90; rough, $7.45@7.60; pigs, $6.15@7.50; bulk of sales, $7.60@7.85.

Sheep—Native, $4.50@6.50; yearlings, $6.50@7.60; lambs, $7.50@8.60; western sheep, $4.50@6.50; yearlings, $6.50@7.60; lambs, $7.50@8.60; western, $4.85@8.25.

Standard Oil Stock of Southbank.

New York, Feb. 5.—Leonard Bobo, southbank, who sliders about the Standard Oil building at 26 Broadway, offered seven shares of Standard Oil stock as bail for a friend arraigned in police court Tuesday on a charge of larceny. When Magistrate Corrigan was mustered to refuse to accept such slender Zalsnd real-estate as security, Bobo stopped forward. "I have a few shares of Standard Oil stock, your honor, if you care to accept them for bail," he said as he produced the seven certificates.

Dr. Anna Shaw to Argue for Women.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 5.—Dr. Anna Shaw and other suffragettes will appear Thursday night at the meeting of the joint committee on constitutional amendments to argue for an amendment giving women the vote.

Suffragettes Use Red Pepper.

London, Feb. 5.—The Express says that the whole cabinet was set sneezing Tuesday by the simultaneous receipt by each minister at the house of commons of suffragette letters containing red pepper.

HANOBAGS FOR LONDON MEN

Paris Gandies Hear Leather Creation Contained Cigarette Case and Golfing Skirt.

Paris, France—The world of Parisian dandies, whose existence is occupied with caricaturing the English dandy's extravagances, perhaps, has been greatly agitated by the news that a few days ago a most known "elegant" was seen in Piccadilly, not with a purse or a bag, but a leather handbag hanging from his arm, and was further seen to enter a store and leave very like a purchaser in his reticule, which contained, as per usual fashion, cigarette case, matches, a purse, a knife and an Ordnance Map.

The latest whim of feminine eccentricity, as a counterpoise to the mannishness of the hat, is the adoption of diamond studded shoe heels. A well known dancer is responsible for this idea. Her dream, it appears, is to have diamonds on her sandals, so that she may be able to adorn her feet with rings in the classical manner, but this scheme is unattainable in the muddy Paris streets she is considered a compromise in the shape of bedizened heels. Her suggestion, which is believed to have a truly Parisian inspiration, has been welcomed with a chorus of approval in theatrical circles.

MEN WHO FACE MANY PERILS

Surveyors for the U. S. Are Often Called Upon to Endanger Their Lives.

Washington.—Government surveyors who make maps out in the regions where rock-wells go straight up and sometimes overhang, often have to get into positions of requiring steady nerves. Once in a while some one in the party gets a photograph which illustrates the idea, although usually the performance is recorded briefly in the surveyor's notebook. In one instance the present chief geographer of the United States geological survey had to be tied on to the extreme apex of a sharp mountain peak in northern California, together with his instruments, in order to obtain a long sight in establishing a triangulation station.

In another case R. B. Chapman, now the superintendent of the New Glacier National park, had to do some plane-table mapping from the top of Mount Baptiste, sitting on a bank of snow and ice which overhung the mountain and which it had slid off would have precipitated him down ward half a mile or so. In another case a topographer was let climbed out on a guarded tree in order to get a right cast sighting over the end of up his plane-table on its forked limbs.

Robert B. Chapman Map Making From Summit of Mt. Baptiste.

Still all the dangers have not been taken by the men of the geological survey during the past 20 years in their state in the United States—in mountains, in canyons and in swamps, as many of the names on our new maps bear witness. Indeed, there has been some narrow escape.

BANNER YEAR FOR BABIES

Statistics Show That While Number of Births Increased 4,000, Deaths Were 894 Lower in New York.

New York.—Whatever other vicissitudes it may have passed through during the last year, New York found 1912 a banner year for babies. Not only were more infants born during the last twelve months, but a smaller percentage of them died than ever before. Indeed, the figures covering infant mortality constitute the most remarkable feature of the city's record health year.

Not since the general death rate was reduced during the year from 18.13 per cent to 14.11 per cent, or a little more than two points, has the rate for infants under one year was reduced 5 per cent.

There were during the year 14,288 deaths of babies under one year of age from all causes as the result of New York, as compared with 15,013 deaths during 1911. At the same time the number of births in the city increased by 4,000 over 1911. The figures show a saving of 894 babies and an actual saving of 5 per cent.

An analysis of the report containing these figures indicates that the improvement in the health of baby life was not due to luck or weather conditions, but to the intelligence which has been carried on against baby diseases.

AGED CRIPPLE IS HELPLESS

Found Hungry and Starving in Home After Visit to Downstairs to Her Death.

Washington—His wife lying dead at the foot of the stairs down which she had fallen, Robert Simpson, 83 years old and helpless with a broken leg, was found in a starving condition with two great dogs eyeing him hungrily.

Physicians at the hospital whither he was removed have slight hope of his recovery. The aged couple, who were in comfortable circumstances, lived alone.

Mrs. Simpson, who was 65 years old, is believed to have plunged to her death on Sunday, and since then the aged man had been without food or attention. When found by his physician, Dr. James W. Hart, and two policemen who broke down the doors, Simpson was speechless from exhaustion and starvation.

GREAT CORN EXHIBIT

FARMERS' INSTITUTE, POULTRY EXHIBIT AND DOMESTIC SCIENCE COURSE ADDED ATTRACTIONS.

HOMEMAKING DISCUSSED

Miss Dixon Says Women Should be Taught that Housekeeping is No Longer a Drudgery to Be Shunned.

Onatonna.—The big corn show opened in splendid style early Thursday, and before noon the armory was crowded with visitors. The exhibits of corn were the finest ever seen in this section and more than 200 entries were made. All the corn shown was Minnesota-grown and good evidence of the great strides made in corn culture in this state the past decade.

Silver King, white dent, yellow dent and Uncle Sam were predominant in the varieties shown. In the farmers' class Friday an hour was devoted to picking out the best ears of corn of eight and diving the reasons. "Select Enemies of Corn and How to Prevent Them," was the subject of a lecture by Theodore Scamen. An interesting discussion on the best modes of harvesting and storing seed corn followed.

Five hundred farmers crowded the court house to support the state farmers' institute and convention held in connection with the corn show. Professor C. S. Cathcart delivered a lecture on agriculture, George Flynn, the celebrated raiser of fancy stock gave an interesting address. He has offered prizes amounting to $25 for the best exhibits at the corn show.

Miss Mabel Dixon said the vocation of homemaking should be made an art to teach women of the community that housekeeping is no longer drudgery, but science, to awaken their interests in wider questions of municipal laws, sanitary, artistic dwellings, pure food and kindred subjects. Homemaking is no longer a matter of instinct, but of trained minds and hands. The practical value of life must be given time, study and thought. Home care of the sick, cookery and nutrition were subjects considered in the women's department of the show, and 200 women attended. Farmers' wives and city society matrons studied side by side.

R. H. Naylor, H. W. Steer, W. F. St. Clair, J. C. Jahnke, A. H. Schmidt, G. F. Barby and F. A. Bunham prepared the poultry department and had all in readiness for the opening of the show at noon Thursday. There were scores of entries and some fine birds were shown. Pet stock rabbits and dogs were exhibited in a separate section of the show, and a lively interest was manifested in these by visitors.

Bagley Creamery Prospers.

Bagley.—The Bagley Creamery association held its annual meeting on Monday. The secretary's and treasurer's reports showed that the creamery had made good advancements the past year for the year 1912 and paid the patrons $1,560 more than during any previous year. The year 1911 paid 28 miles to be still better. Officers were elected as follows: C. E. Ide, president; W. E. Buy, secretary and treasurer; Gust Cabral, vice president; H. J. Holst, M. E. Wilhoit, Theodore Welte, Emvald Stangeland, directors. The average test for butter fat for the past year was 28 cents a pound. After the meeting a farmers' institute was held at which Professor A. B. Nelson, instructor of the agricultural department of the Bemidji high school, Mr. Lidenberg, state creamery inspector of Detroit, and Professor Lee Smith, of the agricultural department of the Bagley high school, spoke on co-operation and dairying.

Organize for Pure Seed.

Rochester.—A pure seed association of Olmsted county was organized in Rochester Wednesday at the afternoon session of the farmers' short course. Professor J. L. Hay, instructor of agriculture in the high school, being named chairman, and W. J. Hackody secretary of the temporary organization. A committee on constitution was appointed, and a permanent organization will be perfected. About twenty farmers joined.

Dynamite Kills Man.

Hibbing.—The sad news was received here of the death, near Fair Pramers, Ont., of Al Goodspeed, a structural engineer, well known over the Mesabi range and in mines near Duluth. Minn. Goodspeed was nursing a shovel in a mine when the shovel struck an old charge of dynamite which had been partly carbonized. The shovel was wrecked, Goodspeed being instantly killed. Several others were injured.

Opposed to Cashman Bill.

Moorhead.—The annual banquet and meeting of business men of Moorhead was held Thursday night at Hotel Comstock. Over 100 were in attendance. Benjamine F. Shekall, vice president of the club for three years, was unanimously promoted to the presidency, R. E. Sharp was elected vice president, A. C. Wright secretary and E. L. Fisten treasurer. The principal address was made by former Congressman S. G. Cashman. A protest was made against the passage of the Cashman long distance tariff bill.

SAYS HELP PARENTS.

System of Credits, for Pupils Also, Proposed by Federal Education Envelops.

Albert Lea.—Harold Shallen, county superintendent of schools, has decided to act upon a suggestion made by the United States commissioner of education for P. P. Claxton, and start a system of credits to encourage pupils to help their parents by performing duties at home. The plan has been successfully used by Superintendent Alderman of Oregon, and the United States bureau of education has sent out 10,000 copies of the report on the work to county superintendents throughout the country.

The idea is to give so much credit to a pupil who assists with the work and chores about his home. The time thus spent will go toward a holiday, not more than one of which will be given a month. The time credits are as follows:

Feeding the chickens, 5' minutes; gathering eggs, 15 minutes; setting the table, 5 minutes; going to bed before 9 o'clock, 10 minutes; getting cows, 20 minutes; milking cows, 8 minutes.

The credits were taken from specific cases and are given as a guide to the most different schools. In o booklet to feed the superintendent also sends are ten cards are contained testimonials from parents, which speak in the highest terms of the trials given their children. Parents say that the system works a revolution in children and that home tasks were made pleasant to the boys and girls.

Mr. Shallen will begin the plan in only part of the county schools of the county at first, as additional help will be adopted throughout the county.

CLASH AT ROCHESTER.

Former President of the City Council About to Bring Charges.

Rochester.—City Treasurer Thomas F. Hall, Street Commissioner and City Engineer Henry Gebeler and Alderman William Dunn, members of the street and alley committee, are to be named defendants in a suit charging them with a misappropriation of city funds, by Charles Jostyn, former president of the city council.

The action is prompted by the fact that instead of the $1,000 voted by the city fire department was paid by the city for cleaning its paved streets Rochester has the means, standing idle the greater part of the time, and it was the belief that a saving of money to use the city teams for the purpose instead of hiring others. The money was then paid to the fire department for the work.

The contention is that under the charter the officials had no right to pay the department for the labor when it is paid by the city for fire protection purposes, and that under the charter the city treasurer had no right to pay the bills or to transfer money from the general fund to the fire protection fund. The case will be heard at the June term of the district court.

TRIES MIXED FARMING.

Story of the Successful Innovations of Mr. H. T. Buckler.

Crookston.—R. T. Buckler has been here eight years and owns 960 acres of land. He has raised several fine cattle out of livestock from his farm. He winters cattle, and has also had cattle and six of sheep, for a little over $2,000. Eight years ago, when Mr. Buckler took possession of his farm, his wheat yield averaged 10 bushels an acre, oats 15 and barley 15. In 1911 his wheat yielded averaged 19 bushels an acre, oats 38 and barley 35. In 1912 his average was: wheat 27½; barley, 45, and oats, 40 to 50. Mr. Buckler says that Red River valley land is easily worth $100 an acre, as demonstrated by what has been properly farmed, it will produce more than any land in the world. Up to 1912 the privet is held. Its rakes at least 75 acres of corn each year and a good acreage of potatoes. He also figures that a potato crop, in the increased grain yields for the two succeeding years, is worth $10 an acre. Every year more farmers are following the farming methods adopted by Mr. Buckler.

Albert Lea Woman Hangs Self.

Albert Lea.—Mrs. Hans Mortenson of this city hanged herself early Friday morning at her home on Ellis street. She had left her room at night, but when not found suspected the worst and made a search. She had been sick four weeks and temporary insanity caused the act. She leaves a baby and four other children, all under 12 years of age.

Faribault Mystery Cleared.

Faribault.—The mystery of the finding of the body of a dead child on the river bank over a week ago has been cleared apparently. Wesley Wesley has been arrested charged with placing the body where it was found.

Hinckley Debaters Win Again.

Hinckley. — The Hinckley high school debating team defeated Sandstone in the debate with the Two Harbors high school at Two Harbors, on the question, "Resolved, that the national government should own and operate all railroads doing a combined number of miles." The firmative was supported by Ruth Cowan, Charles Bloomfield and Ralph Pryor.

AGED WOMAN LOSES ALL.

Hosiery Dealer Drops Savings in Street—Later Finds Emptied Envelops.

Minneapolis.—The lifetime savings of an aged woman, who supports herself by selling hosiery, were wiped out when Miss Julia M. Southall, 75 years old, living at the Landour hotel, 8804 Nicollet avenue, lost an envelope containing $360 in cash and shares of stock in a magazine company of the face value of $200. Miss Southall, who sold that she kept the money in her room to avoid the inconvenience of frequent trips to the bank, placed the envelop in a fold of her dress when she left the hotel Monday the envelope half an hour afterward, she retraced her steps and on Ninth street south between Nicollet avenue and Mary place, picked up the torn and empty envelop.

"It was all the money I had," said Miss Southall, "and represented my earnings from selling hosiery to a number of regular customers, for I have never asked or received a penny as a gift from anyone. My actual loss I consider $423, for the magazine shares were worth not more than $70. My name and address were in the envelope with the money."

Miss Southall said she would pay a liberal reward for the return of the money.

ASKS TO BE KILLED.

Lad Whose Mother Was Burned to Death is Also Fire Victim.

Bemidji.—Screaming with agony and pleading with o doctor to kill him Samuel Cherbeck, age 12, was taken to o hospital Tuesday after having his clothes and the body severely burned by a fire which destroyed the kitchen and dining room of Matt Heffner's home. His head, face, chest and arms were burned.

Cherbeck is a nephew of Mrs. Heffner and i. mother was burned to death in a fire in Virginia three years ago and he suffered with the shock to his bill him so he would go to her.

He tried to end his suffering Sunday night by drinking carbolic acid from a bottle found in the kitchen after the fire. He was screaming into his aunt's bedroom and she hard ar her hands while trying to smother the flames. Insurance on the house held goods expired on Monday.

Marriage Bill Opposed.

Winona.—Sentiment in Winona is largely against the passage by the legislature of the bill to require five days' notice before the application for and issuance of a marriage license. Judge D. A. Gilmore, Winona marrying judge, who in twelve years, has married nearly a thousand couples, calls attention to the fact that this bill was introduced by an old bachelor, Mr. Sandwick of Wells. Judge Vance says that in his opinion a bill to require all old maids to be get married in 1 : days would be n much better measure than this bill.

Stokley Saved from Noose.

Fergus Falls.—News has been received from Calgary, Alta., that Ed Stokley, who was sentenced to be hanged on Jan. 24 for killing his brother Fred, had his sentence commuted by the Canadian government and the date before he was to be executed, and will now go to prison for life. The Stokley family were residents of Deer Creek, this county, up to a few years ago, when they moved to Calgary. Ed Stokley engaged in the cattle business with his brother Fred, but the latter quarreled and decided to divide their holdings.

Swiss Urge Professor.

Minneapolis—Presidential Woodrow Wilson has been asked to exert Professor Thomas C. Anderson of the University of Minnesota as minister to Switzerland. The movement here Mr. Anderson's name as favorite Switzerland's representative at Berne is being pushed by the National Federation of Swiss Unions, of which there are branches in twenty-two states. The Petitions have already been sent to President-elect Wilson from some of the unions. Mr. Andrist was a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket at the primaries last fall.

Arrested in Court Room.

Stillwater.—Charles U. Bracney of Spokane, Wash., was arrested in the district court room here, by Sheriff Schiebner of Stearns county and taken to St. Cloud. He is wanted on the complaint of Mrs. Nellie McGregor, who alleges that she paid $1,500 for worthless mining stock in a mine in Washington. Bigsway and his brother, W. J. Bigsway, were here as defendants in a civil suit.

Manual Training Instructor Needed.

Worthington.—The board of education is making a diligent search for a manual training instructor. The duties of the position have increased by the resignation of Claude Welch, the instructor of that department, on the grounds that he had used unbecoming language. Since then the department has not been in operation.

Rochester to Buy Power.

Rochester.—The city of Rochester has accepted the proposition of the Zumbro Power company, as a result of which a 50-foot dam and power house will be constructed at Zumbro Falls, which will harness the Zumbro falls and furnish another of Mayo Resorts's waterways, and Rochester will receive its electrical energy from that source. The city will discontinue the manufacture of its current and the plant, which is in the heart of the business section and has long been an eyesore, will cease to exist.

Letters Written on Skins.

Sikiu were perhaps the most ancient substances used for writing paper, and they are even now not out of date. The Jews and other Asiatics sewed one to another, skin after skin, of the calf or goat, tanned soit, and sometimes dyed, until a roll, perhaps 100 feet long, was formed. Parchment, too, is an ancient material, first used in the same part of the country, and called Pergamans, after the Mysian city where its preparation was largely carried on.

DOINGS OF THE SOLONS

Minnesota Legislative Affairs of the Past Week—Law Makers Hard at Work.

St. Paul, Feb. 2—Effort to make the house reapportionment bill a special order for next Monday, to allow its early consideration by the senate, failed in the house reapportionment committee Tuesday.

After two hours of wrangling the committee decided to adopt the Townsend bill printed, placed in the hands of the members so that they could consider it, and then take it up at the other meeting to be called next Thursday.

A bill increasing the salary of the mayor of city of the first class from $5,000 to $6,000 will be presented to the state legislature this week by Representative E. J. Wenthke. The bill does not apply in cities that have home rule charters.

Anti-Trust Bill is Favored.

The house legislation committee reported favorably on the Lee anti-trust bill. It is taken from the laws of several other states and greatly strengthens the present state anti-trust provisions. Its principal feature is that it absolves civil liability if it can be shown that the concern publishing the offer to sell at cut rates low trade damages to any one injured by a rival.

The house temperance committee reported favorably on the county option bill. The vote was 9 to 6.

Tonnage Tax Figures.

The state auditor has just filed with the governor detailed figures showing assessments made on the iron mines of the state giving 1912 values. Accompanying it were also figures showing what these values would be if the levy should the legislature pass a ton wage tax law.

The figures were asked for by Governor Eberhart in order that he might be informed should the tonnage tax bill now before the house pass the legislature and become a law by the approval.

Should the tonnage tax system be adopted the tax paid by mine owners would be more than doubled. According to the commission, the total assessment on the basis of the assessment placed for 1912 is $18,208,807.40. Should the tonnage tax bill now before the house become a law the levy would be $2,106,909.26. This would mean an increase of $1,182,248.86 over the present levy, the amount assessed which is now the basis of taxation for ore and ore lands.

The total assessed value of all shipping mines for 1912 as fixed by the commission is $101,494,617. On nonshipping mines the present assessment is $18,208,807.

St. Paul, Feb. 4.—In anticipation of the report of the special house committee named to investigate state it is announced that Representative A. J. Teigen has introduced in the house a bill authorizing the payment of business all grain concerns dealing in margins or options. The committee met over seven strikes at corporations and boards of trade permitting such dealings.

Such contracts are held to be gambling and void in law as far as enforcement is concerned.

Dunn Road Bill Ready.

The good roads bill providing as important a measure as will come before the legislature. It was completed last night and will be introduced in the house by Representative Robert C. Dunn shortly.

Mr. Dunn has worked for weeks on this measure and has made a study of road laws, calls for controlled responsibility for the expenditure of construction, sets aside a percentage for maintenance, and on the whole, is declared by its author to be a measure of goods which will stand up. Every effort is made to avoid the appointment of the fund for political purposes and to keep a large portion of the fund in the weaker counties.

Counties of the lowest assessed valuation, under the terms of the bill, are allowed 80 per cent state aid. Counties of higher assessed valuation come in for a smaller percentage of state aid. The maximum is 50 per cent.

One important feature of the new bill is the provision for the employment of an engineer in each county. The present appropriation for the purpose is $125,000 and its limitations necessitate a supervisor taking in several counties. The new bill would increase this to $200,000, which would allow for personnel supervision by counties.

Another Highway Measure.

Hardships of the settlers in the pines in the north woods because of the lack of roads and proper fire breaks, led Miss Anna Dickie, state librarian and resident of schools in Koochiching county, to draft a measure for the improvement of highways in that part of the state. After the bill had been referenced for herself in her many drives and walks from school to school, the same hardships which her neighbors, the settlers, were continually undergoing.

Her bill provides that there be an appropriation of $225,000 for the building of roads and fire breaks. A sum equal to 10 cents per acre of the state lands selected is to be appropriated whenever necessary. In the way the stots will be paying its due share for improvements. It is so provided that the 10 cents per acre can be added to the purchase price of the state land when it is sold.

St. Paul, Feb. 3.—Saturday was pay day for the members of the legislature, but up to noon only about 20 of the members of the two houses had called for their checks. Each received $250.

Reapportionment Up Today.

Owing to the illness of many members of the various congressional districts to be represented, consideration of the reapportionment bill by the house committee went over until today.

The sub-committee, composed of one member from each congressional district and attempted to reach some agreement. House members of the several of whose districts are heavily divided because many of them favor reapportionment according to population, as required by the constitution.

The reapportionment according to population, the representation from the first district would be decreased from ten senators to six, and from 16 representatives up 13. In this third district the representation would be decreased from nine senators to five, and from 24 representatives to 11. .

For Capital Punishment.

Two years ago Representative Conroy, in McCrossan's absence, obtained the passage of a law abolishing capital punishment in this state. A protest immediately was heard in his district.

At the September primaries Ernest C. Pless became a candidate and his platform was the repeal of McCrossan's law and re-establish capital punishment. He was elected by a large majority.

Saturday Representative Pless introduced his bill in the legislature. Although it repeals the MacKenzie law, it differs from the latter in that it allows capital punishment in the case of rape, which the latter law does not, making a total of 21 eggs in 114 days.

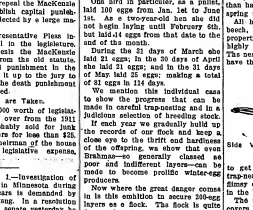
We mention this individual case to show the progress that can be made in careful trap-nesting and in a measure the value of the R. I. Reds.

If each year we gradually build up a record of one flock and keep a close eye to the thrift and hardiness of the offspring, we show that even Brahmas—so generally classed as poor and indifferent layers—can be made to become profitable winter-egg producers.

Now when the great danger comes in in the exhibition of these 200-egg layers as a flock. The flock is quite frequently forced by considerable ment and other highly stimulating methods of feed.

While it will, in many cases, produce the eggs, it will at the same time lay a heavy handicap on each hen, overworking for a strong winter crop we put on the top of our eggs as a certain season and the hen has the rest of the year to recuperate.

Another method adopted by some of those ambitions for great results



Trap Nest Closed—One Side Removed to Show Method of Operation.

is to hatch the eggs from one or more pullets and compare the records of the offspring, brothers and sisters, that are pouting for two or three years.

We do not know of a surer way to

BEETS THRIVE IN ENRICHED SOILS

Good Fibrous, Well-Drained Garden Loam, With Compost, Grows Best Roots.

Beets are comparatively hardy plants. They may be planted early without much danger of injury. They need be maintained in condition on, 32.6 pounds of alfalfa hay, 2.6 pounds and when at rest, 20 pounds was sufficient for the same horses. Secretary F. D. Coburn of Kansas says: "We find that alfalfa hay is not suitable for horses has been proved erroneous by thousands of farmers. have a bolted, short the young plants are thare and gain several weeks in maturity. Then, too, they have been thing fibrous roots the young plants bear ing thinning well, and they may be lifted and reset either from the hotbed or from the open ground.

Bring growing beets clean and thorough cultivation, and thin the plants to stand four to six inches in a row. The thinning may be delayed in the life work. We tried the experiment with Brahmas, and as a result have a strain that is doing remarkable work.

Trap Nest Closed—View From Above.

In 1911 we selected 200 pullets and laid 100 eggs from Jan. 1st to June 1st—the two-pound hen also did not begin laying until February 6th, but laid 44 eggs from that date to the end of the month.

During the 31 days of March she laid 26 eggs; and in the 31 days of April, 29 eggs, making a total of 21 eggs in 114 days.

We mention this individual case to show the progress that can be made in careful trap-nesting and in a measure the value of the R. I. Reds.

If each year we gradually build up a record of one flock and keep a close eye to the thrift and hardiness of the offspring, we show that even Brahmas—so generally classed as poor and indifferent layers—can be made to become profitable winter-egg producers.

Now when the great danger comes in in the exhibition of these 200-egg layers as a flock. The flock is quite frequently forced by considerable ment and other highly stimulating methods of feed.

While it will, in many cases, produce the eggs, it will at the same time lay a heavy handicap on each hen, overworking for a strong winter crop we put on the top of our eggs as a certain season and the hen has the rest of the year to recuperate.

Another method adopted by some of those ambitions for great results

Trap Nest Closed—One Side Removed to Show Method of Operation.

is to hatch the eggs from one or more pullets and compare the records of the offspring, brothers and sisters, that are pouting for two or three years.

We do not know of a surer way to

TRAP NEST HAS DEVELOPED PROLIFIC EGG-LAYER AND BARRED LOW PRODUCER

By Carefully Selecting the Best Breeding From Them Winter Eggs Is Materially Increased—Experiment Tried With Brahmas.

Cold Weather Performers and Supply of Eggs Is Materially

(By M. HOFER.)

For years the plan of the writer has been to each year pick out the best hens to breed from. These are birds that not only show good characteristics of the breed, but also have done good laying as pullets.

Trap-nests have been the guide, and these are used as a rule from January 1st to June 1st. And again from October 1st to the end of the year. Occasionally they are used in some parts the entire year, but that is done only where a special test is made of a new selection or a new breed.

What we mostly wish to know is not how many eggs a hen will lay in a year, but how many she will lay in the winter when the prices of eggs are the highest. For that time her stock we breed. During the summer months the traps are discarded, and only the open nests used.

Now, by selecting our best cold-weather layers and breeding from them, we each year increase our winter egg supply. There is more work in it and it is a fact that our hens have, in consequence of our careful selection of winter layers, become poor summer layers, a condition we rather have than to have a strain that is more concerned with the production.

By the use of traps and careful selection of the breeding stock any breed can be brought up to precisely the same standard as the dark beak of the nest. When she passes the point where the door is hinged to the treadle, the door-front is to drop, and at the same time pulls the door backward. It is then impossible for the hen to get out of the nest till the attendant lifts door and treadle and resets it.

Trap Nest Closed—View From Above.

The nest is extremely simple. In her is a slat which runs in and out of order. Yet, by proper balancing of door and treadle, it is so delicately adjusted that a weight of less than half a pound on the treadle will spring the trap.

All hearing surfaces are made of beech, because it is the only hardwood property of this wood to take on a high polished surface with use.

The nests in use at the Maine station have the doors of hardwood, in order to get greater durability. Where trap-nests are constantly in use, hardwood doors are economical in the long run.

Side View, Showing How Treadle Operates.

The trap nests are not made with covers because they are used in there and slide in and out the drawers, which are made to open for the cleaning when necessary. Four nests in a section are considered enough for the attendant going through the pens once an hour. Any time longer, during that part of the day when the hens are busiest. Earlier and later in the day the hens are not so frequent.

The hens must all have leg bands, in order to identify them, as we have laid an egg and desires to leave the nest, she must not fail to find a space and remains there until she is released. Only in one section she would be likely to crush her egg by stepping on it, and those learn the persistence of the first day.

To remove a hen, the nest is pulled part way out, and once she is sure she is readily caught, the number on the leg band is noted and the proper entry made on the record sheet. After having been taken off a few times, the hens not only learn to be handled, most of them remaining quiet, apparently expectant to be picked up.

Alfalfa Fine for Horses.

The idea that alfalfa hay is not suitable for horses has been proved erroneous by thousands of farmers. have a bolted, short the young plants are thare and gain several weeks in maturity. Then, too, they have been thinning well, and they may be lifted and reset either from the hotbed or from the open ground.

Bring growing beets clean and thorough cultivation, and thin the plants to stand four to six inches in a row. The thinning may be delayed in the Chinese Loan Is Agreed To.

Pekin, Feb. 6.—The loan agreement between the Chinese government and the six power groups of bankers has been completed and the signing of it today. The agreement provides for "the Chinese government five and a half per cent gold bonds" to the amount of $125,000,000. The bonds are to be underwritten at the value $10,000,000 immediately, another $15,000,000 later in February and $15,000,000 in March. The loan is for 50 years.

Baynard Assistant Dead.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 7.—James J. Gallagher, the man who shot Mayor Gaynor of New York nearly two years ago at Hoboken, N. J., is dead of pneumonia at the New Jersey state hospital for the insane in this city. He had been at the state hospital since Jan. 18, 1913, having been transferred there from the New Jersey state prison, where he had been sentenced to serve 18 years on a charge of assault upon Street Commissioner William Edwards of New York city who was with Mayor Gaynor at the time.

Exercise Sheep.

My experience with sheep is that they are not any more difficult to winter than any other stock, says a writer in an exchange. I feed clover, hay and bran. In fact, I think any good good kind of hay with plenty of corn makes a very satisfactory ration. I keep them in a shed that is dry and warm. In the winter I scatter hay on the ground and sometimes grain. What they leave is always picked up by the hens. The sheep are given free access to the hayrack. To insure a good lamb crop, the sheep must have the best care and plenty of exercise. I have experimented and find that I get the best lambs from this strong, fat ewes that had been exercised a great deal.

Apple Orchards.

Last year my 10-acre orchard yielded 2,500 barrels of apples, which sold for $4,500 net, the buyer packing and furnishing barrels. The land is a thin, gravelly soil not worth $15 an acre for farming crops.

Long Pastorates Best.

This controversy only emphasizes the argument in favor of long pastorates. After all the church has got to go back to the long pastorate if it is going to accomplish its work in the world. See what a great work Chalmers Jones is doing to-day at the Flowing Bathed, and notwithstanding the fact that he is now in his fortysixth year of service he accomplishes more good to-day than ever before.

The minister who serves his people a long term of years comes to be one of the family. He baptizes, confirms and officiates at the wedding ceremonies of the same people. He maintains a hold on the community that of data. The Jews and other Asiatics sewed one to another, skin after skin, of the calf or goat, tanned soit, and sometimes dyed, until a roll, perhaps 100 feet long, was formed. Parchment, too, is an ancient material, first used in the same part of the country, and called Pergamans, after the Mysian city where its preparation was largely carried on.

Assault Charged Millionaire.

Alton, S. C., Feb. 4.—Frederick O. Beach of New York will be placed on trial here in the court of general sessions tomorrow, charged with assaulting his wife with a knife. The trial and hearing will be the sequel to a serious attack on Mrs. Beach on the lawn of the Beach residence here in 1912. In the affidavit filed in the case the millionaire's wife suffered e serious cut on the throat. It was announced that Mrs. Beach had been assisted by a negro.

Chemical Schedule Unchanged.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The chemical schedule of the tariff law, producing 4 per cent nf the total government from customs, was considered in executive session by the Democrats of the house committee on ways and means. The schedule will not be materially altered from the Democratic bill which passed the house and the Senate. The revenue of $12,000,000 gained from the chemical schedule last year will not be substantially disturbed.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

By C. K. L. BAILEY.

Postal Laws Consider it Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS SCHOOL

$1.50 Per Year in Advance

It is a good time to pull off a little Mexican revolution on the quiet when public attention is centered on the base ball rubbing exams in the south.

Frank N. Day is said to be selected for some good appointment under the Wilson administration. That is as it should be, for Frank out of a job is out of place.

Some of the state editors say let the women decide the suffrage question themselves. That's very fine if you can explain how they may be able to amend the state constitution.

The Crookston Press refuses to stay dead. Its obituary was published in the Crookston Times recently, but the Press appeared as usual and makes the boast that it is still good for a few kicks.

Patten, the speculator, who plead guilty to taking manipulated a cotton corner, paid his fine of $4000 without a protest. At that he probably considered that there was a good deal of justice in the sentence.

The Washington Post says that Tom Pendergast purchases mailed in Yankton twice a month; half one and a piece of meat, both of which were finally delivered in one bundle. The meat is probably objecting to the quality of the service.

Captain Roald Amundsen, who is lecturing in America, tells his wholestory about the discovery of the south pole without the use of the pronoun "I". The bull moosers ought to capture that man and make him

A LITTLE HISTORY

There isn't a person in the territory served by this bank who isn't fairly well posted concerning the Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls.

It opened for business in 1899 when business conditions in this locality demanded the organization of another sound financial institution.

The volume of its business has increased steadily,—not by leaps and bounds, but showing a healthy increase each year, giving evidence of stability and secure banking methods.

Not a single dollar has ever been lost to its customers and its Capital of $25,000.00, together with Surplus of $3,000.00 and Stockholder's Liability is assurance of ample security and protection to its depositors.

Merchants State Bank

Capital, Surplus and Deposits $500,000.00

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Farm Loans at Low Rates

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY

their candidate for president.

The people of the iron range are getting stirred over what they seem to believe would be the calamitous effect of a tax of a few cents a ton on iron ore. One might think there is danger that the mine owners may consider their property valueless and that the steel trust may go out of business.

No one should entertain the opinion that President-elect Wilson was guilty of partiality when he said "I am doing what I believe to be the best for my country and myself. I am not doing it for anything else". He was simply saying what is literally true. He will be damned and several other things, no matter what he does —and especially by the disappointed office seeker.

The senators who voted down the woman suffrage proposition by a small majority last week, will have another opportunity to show that they are not so lacking in gallantry as some contend. By a vote of 40 to 27 the woman's suffrage proposition got through the house Tuesday. The proposition is very much like the one rejected by the senators and probably will be passed up to them to give them another "chance".

Editor Cutter of the Thief River Falls News-Press, says he scooped the official paper by publishing the complete financial statement before the official paper. Editor Smith of the Thief River Times applies the "short and ugly word" to Editor Cutter and likens him to a frog croaking in a mud puddle. Some mutual friend should offer to "buy one" in order to change the subject so that valuable space will not be wasted in a whiny war that subscribers care little about. —Crookston Times.

A good suggestion. Come on down and we'll make it a little lemon so ice.

The bill for a law to provide for the employment of a county assessor to take the place of the several township assessors in each county has passed the house. In spite of the fact that the change has been urged by the state tax commission for the past three years and it is necessary, if the state's business is to be conducted with anywhere near the accuracy of an ordinary private venture, the bill met with much opposition. This demonstrates the difficulty encountered in any attempt to improve the taxation system, in spite of the fact that there could scarcely be anything more crude than the present method of assessing at the value of property in assessing for taxation purposes.

CO-ADJUTORS' REMARKS.

Crookston Times: While arrdugeal said-trust Iowa will soon be enacted, it is hoped it won't be undo illegal for the governors to dismiss the editor of the crops.

Bethany Interprise: "Mr. Taft has "novely father," remarks a foreign critic. He has, and to show you that we are right there with the French language, we submit that Mr. Taft also has "reverglass."

Plan River Sentinel: Woman's suffrage has lost to the state senate, but a dip to the women that are the most active for this measure in their own behalf. We might say it would be a good plan to get better acquainted with the senator's wives.

Battle Lake Review: Attorney General Smith has declared to a legislative committee that the state of Minnesota has lost $7,000,000 through that officials. The loss incurred chiefly by letting valuable timber lands get away as "swamp lands" and by dissipation of the state's interest in timber tracts.

Eden Valley Journal: The majority of the Texas senators do not consider the voters of Minnesota intelligent enough to vote on the question of woman suffrage. The voters of Minnesota might themselves defeat the measure, but the senate senators lacks the intelligence to give them a chance to express themselves.

DOLBY IN DUTCH.

His Better Half Fully Intends to End It All, But—

FINALLY CHANGES HER MIND.

The Unexpected Advent of Ten Small and Dreary Additions to the Deacon's Family Necessitates Postponing That Interesting Event.

By M. QUAD.

(Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.)

As Deacon Dolby worked with saw and hammer at the barn, he heard Mrs. Dolby in the house singing "Hosts of Ages."

He smiled and he sighed.

After singing the hymn seven times over Mrs. Dolby dropped it for "I Shall Watch For Thee."

"Still waiting ready?" whispered the deacon.

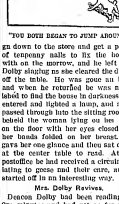
After "watching" for a quarter of an hour, Mrs. Dolby took up the strains of "I've Got a Home Over There."

"It'll be her night for it!" whispered the deacon as he shook his head.

And by and by there came doubting on the air the words of the good old hymn, "With the Angels Up Above."

"—H" announced the good man as the harm as he threw down some hay to his hungry cow.

After supper that evening, Deacon Dolby casually observed that he must



"YOU BOTH BEGAN TO JUMP AROUND."

go down to the store and get a pound of tobacco, and as Mrs. Dolby agreed with on the mormow, and he left Mrs. Dolby singing as she cleared the dishes off the table. He was gone an hour, and when he returned he was astonished to find the house in darkness. He entered and lighted a lamp, and as he passed through into the sitting room he beheld the woman lying on her back on the floor with her eyes closed and her hands folded on her breast. He gave her one glance and then sat down at the center table to read. At the postoffice he had received a circular relating to gone mad thier cure, and it started off in an interesting way.

Mrs. Dolby Revives.

Deacon Dolby had been reading for five minutes and had got as far as to be told that a goose was capable of affection when there was a stir on the floor and Mrs. Dolby sat up. She coughed three coughs to hint to Mr. Dolby that she was not dead, but the circular held all his interest. Two minutes passed, and then Mrs. Dolby rose up and took a seat on the lounge and said:

"Samuel, I didn't want to frighten you, but I couldn't help fainting away."

The deacon read from the circular that a goose had been known to go into a rage at the mere sight of a red headed woman, and just then Mrs. Dolby said:

"You had just gone out when Mrs. Lamphere came in. She hadn't been over for a week, and she wanted to borrow a darning needle and not me. If I was going to put up any pieces of peaches this season. She had talked for about five minutes when all at once she broke down and sobbed like a child. Samuel, do you want to know what she sobbed about?"

He didn't. He wanted in stick right on that circular until the hild devoured every line of it. He was finding out that he had lived for forty-five years without knowing the goose as she was.

The Cat Is Out.

"I at first thought that mebbe her sheep in North Dakota was dead, but when she got over her sobbing she's could speak she said it was because she felt such pity for me. 'Poor thing, Samuel, I broke down and sobbed with her sympathy.'

And she sobbed and sniffled and sobbed again, and the deacon sat there and read that if a farmer could have a sparrow with a goose he could teach her to jump through a hoop the same as a circus performer.

"But the cat is out now, as my aunt, Samuel. The time for crying has passed. I am going to tell you what Mrs. Lamphere said and then end this life of turmoil and trouble. I have known Mrs. Lamphere ever since she was a little girl, and I have never known her to tell a lie, for she was a good mother either. What she told me was from a sense of duty. She said it made her heart ache to know that I was living with a fiend and never suspecting it."

The deacon propped himself up for worst, but gave no outward sign, and presently Mrs. Dolby ceased sniffling and continued:

"One morning six weeks ago the cow kicked while you were milking her. You went over backward off the stool with a yell, and when you got you pounded her with the milkstool and swore. Don't deny it, Samuel. Mrs. Gentry heard you, she told Mrs. Lamphere. Mrs. Carter also heard it, and she almost fainted. Mrs. Gentry knows what swearing is, and she never heard the like. It made her blood run cold. She didn't care one silvering for hours. You whacked and pounded and swore and cursed and raved, and the poor woman flew into the house for her life. I noticed how pale you looked when you came in, and when I asked you what was the matter you said you had fallings. Denied Samuel Dolby, you pounded the cow, need swearing language and lied to me! What have you got to say to it?"

The Deacon Is Dutch.

But a word that circular said that if a goose was always addressed in a kind and courteous manner she would reciprocate by extra work in laying eggs and catching caterpillars and grasshoppers, and the information was highly interesting. It beat pounding a kicking cow all hollow.

"Just three or four days later, Samuel, you went over to see Farmer Jones about buying a cow. He had half a barrel of old cider in the house, and when he invited you to take a drink you pitched right in. You knew what old cider was, and yet you drank half a gallon of it. My heart sank the same, and then you both began to jump around and have fun. You took each other's hats off, you wrestled; you danced. And then both of you began to lie, and it wasn't long before you were calling each other liars. 'If Mrs. Jones hadn't interfered between you there would have been a fight. Think of it, Samuel! You, a deacon, coming home lies and saying that you would fetch them out of their boots with one hand tied behind you! Mr. Lamphere was going past and heard it all. Don't lie to me and say that you didn't do this!"

The deacon didn't lie. He didn't come within forty miles of it. He didn't even try to page two of the circular and continued the history of the goose.

She Laughed Herself Sick.

"And one more thing, Samuel," continued Mrs. Dolby, through her tears. "Only two weeks ago you were down town one day and got into a talk with old Mr. Crossover about Japan. You said that if we had a war with Japan we feared no navy, because we have such fighters and would soon have the larger navy. You replied that we could lick the whole world if Japan is five minutes and that anybody who doubted it was a liar. Then, when Deacon old man still insisted, you offered to slap his chops and called him a trutter. Think of it! It was wonder you didn't bring on an earthquake or something! I believe I did feel the ground trembling that day, but I thought it was a saving rolling down hill somewhere. Are you going to deny what you did, Samuel?"

Samuel could not. He would neither deny nor affirm. He was following that goose and thinking that she would be made to act as the playmate of a young child if properly trained while put a gosling.

"Well, this ends it, Samuel! I fainted away when I heard the news, but I'm going to do something besides faint this time. You know there is a rope on the ceiling out to the henhouse, and hang myself. I couldn't live with you another single day and keep my self respect. I can simply say goodby to my home, for I am not to be driven in that latter land you will have got over being a pirate. I'm going, Samuel. Don't disturb your supper. Don't but come out to the morning to eat my body down and bury me decently."

Mrs. Dolby picked her way into the house and lighted a candle, and the next moment the deacon heard the outer door close. He did not get out of his chair. He did not stir at all. He simply read that the bite of an old gander was equal to that of a year old dog and that instances had been known where it resulted fatally. Five minutes went by, then ten. Often Then the door opened and Mrs. Dolby put her nose out and appeared. She was smiling. She put the candle and rope down and crept close to him and whispered:

"Samuel, do you know why I didn't commit suicide?"

He didn't know, but he didn't say so.

"Because when I got out to the henhouse I found that old setting hen had hatched out ten chicks, Samuel, so I didn't want to be so mean as to disturb them—yes, ten little chicks, and they have come four days ahead of time!"

Then the deacon laid down the circular, yawned, stretched, looked at the clock and said:

"It's half past 9, and I'm going to bed!"

Scandal.

Scandal sheddies so loudly that truth can't make itself heard.—New York Mail.

COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

(Continued From Page 1.)

$1000.00 as Registrar of Titles.

Motion carried unanimously.

The following resolution was offered by Councilmember Pigeon and seconded by Councilman:

"WHEREAS, It has been brought to our attention that a bill has been introduced in congress to provide for giving national protection to migratory and insect and weed devouring birds, and we believe that such bill should become a law.

Therefore, Be it Resolved, That we earnestly request the members of congress from this District and the United States Senators from Minnesota, to do all in their power to forward such legislation in the interests of the people.

Resolution was carried unanimous-ly.

Moved by Councilmember Caldwell and seconded by Councilmember Pigeon that there be and hereby is transferred the sum of $2000.00 from the County Bond and Interest fund to the County Revenue fund.

Motion carried unanimously.

On motion duly carried the following bills were allowed:

Miller-Davis Printing Co., Mtg. record	$ 24.00
Miller-Davis Printing Co., supplies for court house	16.60
Miller-Davis Printing Co., supplies for court house	.80
Leslie W. Doe Co., supplies for court house	20.00
Gentry Bros. Book and Printing Co., supplies for court house	28.00
William Hiebert, carrying geodetic survey benchmarks	1.20
A. Lauzel, procuring general information	1.20
Frzt-Cross Co., supplies for court house	5.31
Frank Mfg. Co., supplies for court house	3.00
Frank Jeffers, services rendered to County as Reg. of Deeds	47.75
A. L. Roy, coal for court house	114.35
Red Lake Falls Power Co., light and supplies	30.28
Frank Jeffers, postage stamps and express	18.45
Charles Hollum, livery hire one of William Pepin	9.50
Ira W. Porter of River, ½ expenses of contagious dis eases	43.00
Albany DeForge, livery hire, postage, express and car fare	21.80
Frank Gagnon, shoveling snow in court house stair-way	2.62
Red Lake Falls Gazette, publications and supplies	24.75
Red Lake Falls Gazette, publications of Jan. proceedings, Auditor and Treasurer's report and Financial statement	435.50
W. A. Schreiber, telephone rent to Jan. 1st, 1913	40.00
W. A. Schreiber, telephone bill by County Auditor	2.20
W. A. Schreiber, telephone bill by County Supt. Schoo s	2.00
W. A. Schreiber, telephone bill by County Sheriff	2.50
W. A. Schreiber, telephone bill by County Attorney	1.25
W. A. Schreiber, telephone bill by County Clerk of Court	.60
Thos. Dalton, janitor attending County Board	2.20
Thos. Dalton, janitor attending County Board	2.20

On motion duly carried the Board adjourned to the 25th day of March 1913, at 10:00 A. M.

SAM E. HUNT,
Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners.

Attest: GEORGE DUPONT,
County Auditor and Ex-Officio Clerk of the Board.
(Seal.)

Order Limiting Time to File Claims Within Three Months, and for Hearing Thereon.

Estate of John Welenetch, deceased. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of John Welenetch, deceased.

Letters of Administration with the Will annexed, this day having been granted to Armond Welenetch of Wirth County, State of Iowa, and it appearing by the affidavit or said representative that there are no debts of said decedent:

It is Ordered, That the time within which all creditors of the above named decedent may present claims against the estate in this Court, be, and the same hereby is, limited to three months from and after the date hereof; and that Monday, the 5th day of May, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., in the Probate Court Rooms at the Court House at Red Lake Falls, in said County, be, and the same hereby is, fixed and appointed as the time and place for hearing upon and examination, adjustment and allowance of such claims as shall be presented within said limited time.

Let notice hereof be given by the publication of this order in Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly and legal newspaper of said County, as provided by law for three successive weeks.

Dated January 28th, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate.
(Probate Court Seal.) J30-F13

Order Limiting Time to File Claims Within Three Months, and for Hearing Thereon.

Estate of Ivar Peterson Engels, deceased.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Ivar Peterson Engels, deceased.

Letters of Administration with the will annexed on said estate having this day been granted to John A. Duffy, it appearing by the affidavit of representative that there are no debts of said decedent:

It is Ordered, That the time within which all creditors of the above named decedent may present claims against the estate in this Court, be, and the same hereby is limited to three months from and after the date hereof; and that Monday, the 5th day of May, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., in the Probate Court Rooms at the Court House at Red Lake Falls, in said County, be, and the same hereby is, fixed and appointed as the time and place for hearing upon and examination, adjustment and allowance of such claims as shall be presented within said limited time.

Let notice hereof be given by the publication of this order in Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly and legal newspaper of said County, as provided by law for three successive weeks.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
(Probate Court Seal.) Judge of Probate.
F13-27

An Absolutely Pure Flour

It's all the wheat that's fit to eat

Always Unifor

MASCOT!

For Sale by Gr

NUF SED

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.

Stickney Gasoline Engines ARE THE BEST

No. M 2

Go Deeper than the Surface

A box scratches business instinct and experience has taught her to get below the surface and look over everything she eats very carefully. If your instinct indicates you to scratch the gas engine question we know that your experience in machinery will convince you that the Stickney is the engine you want.

EXCLUSIVE AGENT

Joseph Helm Estate — Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage or Lease Land.

Estate of Cyprien Caseyan deceased. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Cyprien Caseyan, deceased.

On the petition of Mary Ann Caseyan, Howard Caseyan, Madlon Caseyan and Ruth Caseyan, heirs at law of said deceased, to Hon. Joseph Perrault, Judge of Probate Court, Elden Coleman, Willard Caseyan, and all persons interested in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent. The petitioners pray for a license to sell the interest of the above named decedent, described, filed in the court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate that such sale be made, that the certain lands of said decedent described in the petition on file herein, and that the petitioners be authorized to sell the same, proceed to sell the same.

It is Ordered, That said petition and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Room, in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of May, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

And it is Further Ordered, That said petition and this order to show cause be published in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published in said County, for three successive weeks, prior to said hearing.

Dated March 1st, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
(Seal.) Judge of Probate.
PRENTICE FARLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner.

Citation for Hearing on Final Account and for Distribution.

Estate of Louis Hince, deceased.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Louis Hince, Deceased.

On reading and considering the petition, duly verified, of Joseph Pigeon, praying that the instrument filed herein on the 25th day of January, 1913, and purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, may be admitted to probate and that petitioner be appointed executor thereof, without giving bond, and that said instrument and each and every thereof may be allowed as the last will and testament of said deceased, and that petitioner be appointed executor thereof, without giving bond, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to petitioner, and that said petition be heard on the 25th day of March, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the Probate Court Room in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, in said County, and that notice thereof be given by publication of this order in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published in said County, for three successive weeks, prior to said day of hearing.

Dated this 25th day of January, 1913.

SAM E. HUNT,
Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners.

Attest: GEORGE DUPONT,
County Auditor and Ex-Officio Clerk of the Board.
(Seal.)

Order for Hearing on Final Account of Gnardian.

State of Minnesota, } ss In Probate Court.
County of Red Lake, }

In the Matter of the Estate of Vital LaFleute, Incompetent Ward.

The guardian of the above named ward, viz: Uias Champoux, having made and filed in said Court his petition praying for the allowance of his account as such guardian and for the settlement and allowance of the same, and praying that said account be examined and passed by the Court, and the estate herein described be finally settled and closed.

It is Ordered, That said petition be heard and said account examined and allowed by said Court, at the Probate Court Room, in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, in said County, on the 5th day of March, A. D. 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., and that this order be published in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper, for three successive weeks, previous to said time of hearing.

Dated February 28th, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Probate Judge.
Probate Court Seal.

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will.

Estate of Vital LaFleute, deceased.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Vital LaFleute, Decedent.

On petition of Minnesota to Cause Certain Trust Lands, Alphonse Lemieux, Executor, filed in this Court, representing that Vital LaFleute died at Pembina, County of Pembina, State of Minnesota, and all persons interested in the allowance of the last will and testament of said deceased, and the grant of certain lands belonging to said deceased. The petitioner prays for a license to sell the interest of the above named decedent, described, filed in the court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate that such sale be made, that the certain lands of said decedent described in the petition on file herein, and that the petitioner be authorized to sell the same, proceed to sell the same.

It is Ordered, That said petition and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Room, in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 5th day of May, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

And it is Further Ordered, That said petition and this order to show cause be published in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published in said County, for three successive weeks, prior to said hearing.

Dated March 1st, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
(Seal.) Judge of Probate.
PRENTICE FARLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner.

Citation for Hearing on Final Account and for Distribution.

Estate of Louis Hince, deceased.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Louis Hince, Deceased.

On reading and considering the petition, duly verified, of Joseph Pigeon, praying that the instrument filed herein on the 25th day of January, 1913, and purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, may be admitted to probate and that petitioner be appointed executor thereof, without giving bond, and that said instrument and each and every thereof may be allowed as the last will and testament of said deceased, and that petitioner be appointed executor thereof, without giving bond, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to petitioner, and that said petition be heard on the 25th day of March, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the Probate Court Room in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, in said County, and that notice thereof be given by publication of this order in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed and published in said County, for three successive weeks, prior to said day of hearing.

Dated this 25th day of January, 1913.

SAM E. HUNT,
Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners.

Attest: GEORGE DUPONT,
County Auditor and Ex-Officio Clerk of the Board.
(Seal.)

N. M. WATSON, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA
Office over First State Bank

J. C. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN KAUS BLOCK, RED LAKE FALLS
Telephone Resident's Drug Store

F. T. BENOIT, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office over Brooks Mercantile Co.
Brooks, - Minn.

FRED L. FARLEY
ATTORNEY
LAW, LOANS, COLLECTIONS, INSURANCE
Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls
Red Lake Falls, Minn

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city
Collections, real estate, loans and insurance, City attorney.
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota

LODGE DIRECTORY

Ulysses Lodge No. 181,
INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS
Meets every Thursday evening.
A. L. REICHERT, N. G. FRED L. FARLEY, R. S.

Good Fait Lodge No. 60
MODERN BROTHERHOOD OF AMERICA
FRANK BROUILLET, Pres. SAMUEL GIBEAU, Sec.
Meets every Friday evening in Odd Fellows' Hall.
Visiting sisters and brothers cordially invited.

Red Lake Falls Camp No. 7458
MODERN WOODMEN OF AMERICA
JAMES HANCE, Consul REUBEN POSNER, Clerk
Meet Wednesday evenings each week.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking will not cure children of wetting the bed, because it is not a habit but a dangerous disease. The C. H. Rowan Drug Co., Dept. B 520, Chicago, Ill., have discovered a strictly harmless remedy for this distressing disease and to make known its merits they will send a 50c package securely wrapped and prepaid Absolutely Free to any reader of the Gazette. This remedy also cures frequent desire to urinate and inability to control urine during the night or day in old or young. The C. H. Rowan Drug Co. is an Old Reliable House; write them today for the free medicine. Cure the afflicted members of your family, then tell your neighbors and friends about this remedy.

S. S. S.

The above four S's are the four corner stones upon which our bank stands, and they stand for

STRENGTH STABILITY
SOLIDITY SECURITY

The bank that has these corner stones should have your account. If you are not doing business with us, why not begin today?

First State Bank

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

United States, County and City Depository

Safety Deposit Boxes for Rent.
We Pay 5 per cent on Time Deposits

The Local Field

Farmers' elevator meeting at the court house Saturday afternoon.

Wanted, plain sewing to be done by the day. Call at Mrs. Cote's. —adv 1t3

Rev. Fr. Ambrose visited with friends at Thief River Falls Monday.

Mrs. Peter Stuhr of Euclid was the guest of Mrs. I. Lemieux last week.

Country customers, send for samples of anything you need, we will pay the postage.—Tjden, LaBlissoniere —adv.

Earl W. Goss, who will sell his personal property at public auction Friday, Feb. 21, will leave about the first of March to go to Hunter, N. D., where he will be employed with a telephone company.

Wm. Schutt has bought of Louis Sieff the house south of W. A. Schreiter's. Mr. Schutt will later occupy the house.

H. H. Hemsmith came from Crookston Monday, where he has been employed by the Red Lake Falls Milling company.

Mrs. A. E. Abell, who has disposed of her farm in Terrebonne township, has gone to Ellsworth, Iowa, where she will reside in the future. Her daughter accompanied her.

Electric lamps not only give light but also heat, when they are lighted, and probably give more of the latter commodity than most people are aware of. One night recently a Warren man put a small electric lamp in his bed to warm his feet. It warmed them all right, but it did some more. It set fire to some of the bed clothes, and but for prompt action might have caused even more serious damage.—Crookston Times.

J. C. Wonday, who was formerly engaged in the furniture business in Red Lake Falls, was a passenger on Monday morning's north bound passenger train.

Earl W. Goss will sell his personal property at public auction Friday, Feb. 21, at his farm, the Adolard Laurent farm, six miles southeast of Red Lake Falls. Twelve horses, other live stock and a lot of machinery and other personal property will be offered for sale.

Boys' pants, 89c, worth up to 85c. The largest line of embroideries, flouncings, all overs, ever shown in the city, $500 worth of new embroideries alone. 19-inch corset covers 19c up to $1.00, 50 pieces of percale, 25 pieces shirtings, loads of serpentine crepes, galateas, kimono plisse, auto linens, dress linens, art linens, by far the best stock in town.—The Big Store.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Wagner of West Dalton, Iowa, arrived here Monday and will spend a few weeks at the home of Mr. Wagner's brother, J. H. Wagner.

John Helm, Alex Grondhole and "Shorty" Normandeau spent Sunday at Grand Forks with Oscar Helm, who is a patient in a Grand Forks hospital. Oscar is recovering nicely from the operation he underwent and will be able to return Friday or Saturday.

PLUMBER

A meeting has been called for 8 o'clock next Tuesday evening at the band hall at which time efforts will be made to reorganize the local band, which disbanded last fall. Everyone of the old members and all those interested and would like to join are requested to be present at the meeting. The enrollment of the band last summer amounted to fourteen members and the boys intend to put in some hard work to try to swell this number to twenty, which we think can be easily done. Any previous experience in band work is not necessary in order to join. Anyone with an ear for music and a willingness to learn is eligible for membership. Just who will be selected as leader is not known but it is believed that an effort will be made to secure Ben Lanson, of Thief River whose excellent work as director of the band last year, is spoken very highly of among the band boys.

Wilbert E. Reese, who has been visiting relatives at Osceola, Wisconsin, for the past month, returned to his home here Wednesday evening, and was very much elated over the fact that he had a bit of good fortune during his absence. Andrew Latvig, who had been engaged in digging a well on Mr. Reese's place four miles north of town struck an excellent "flow" on Tuesday of last week, at a depth of 123 feet. This good fortune was hardly looked for and is a convenience few farmers of this section can boast of, and is one that Mr. Reese said he would not part with for hundreds of dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer F. Munsey were passengers on the southbound Soo flyer last Friday evening, being en route to Minneapolis where they expect to make their home. Mr. Munsey won up to last week editor and publisher of the Thief River Falls Times.—Pioneer.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

A supposed mouse caused a good laugh Wednesday during Ancient History when Miss Thomas saw it coming across the floor towards her. When it was picked up it proved to be only the tassel from a cap. If a counterfeit mouse will cause a laugh what will a real one do?

We didn't expect music Friday morning, but Mr. Smith got hold of the business and of the singing and we learned enough songs for literary purposes.

Our High School history tells us that the Juniors have never given a class play before. Nevertheless they seem intent on doing so this year. Good luck to the Juniors, if they can complete their plans.

In the monthly spelling contest the Juniors won from the Sophomores by a very small margin.

The Juniors have found a way out of their puzzle. They were troubled for a while on account of there being too many girls and not enough boys. They have worked out their puzzle and have sent for "Cupid at Vassar." They intend this play to be their masterpiece and expect to make themselves famous.

The "Piano Fund" committee have reached the limit of the thermometer and seem to have stopped there. We ought to have had a longer thermometer.

The Spartans were given 38.6 points at their program Friday afternoon.

The Seniors are having a hard time to select a play. The cause of so much trouble seems to be that they want to compete with the Juniors. Better hurry up, Seniors.

Mr. Cook has been in charge of Miss Smith's work during her illness.

The Spartans are still a few points ahead of the Athenians. The two evening programs are to decide who the championship belongs to. Extra hard work will be done by both societies to win the cup.

Our next evening program in two weeks. If you don't come your's missing something.

The next debate is to be given in two weeks on "Resolved that the United States Should Have a System of Ship Subsidies."

The following joke was handed in by a reporter:

Pilot of aeroplane about 200 feet from term firm: "Have you ever rode in a flying machine before?"

Passenger: "N-n-o-ever."

Pilot: "Neither have I."

Laura: On which side of the stove shall I put this wood?

Miss McLaine: Inside.

Miss Thomas: Spell knead.

Pupil: Which knead, to knead bread?

Miss Thomas: No, to knead dough.

The fire bell Monday caused excitement for a time. When the teacher's class book appeared we quieted down.

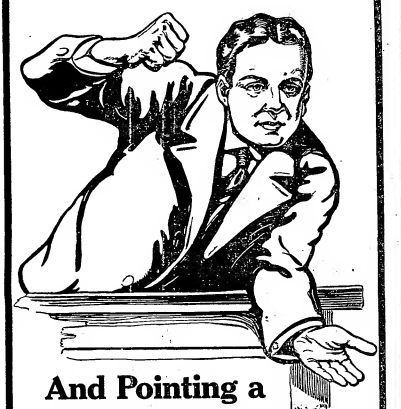
Miss Brown: Harry, your's nearly twenty years of age, ain't you?

Harry: Naw, I'm only 16.

Miss Smith was out of school Thursday and Friday. She went to her home at Ada, Minn., for an indefinite time.

A teacher's convention will be held at Thief River Falls Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The public schools will be closed on Thursday and Friday but on Wednesday, which is Lincoln's birthday, they will remain open. The most of us are planning for the short vacation.

Speaking Up For the Farm



And Pointing a New Route to BIGGER PROFITS!

That's what James H. Collins, business expert and writer, and himself a farmer, does in his new series of practical and common-sense articles, showing how the sale of all kinds of farm products can be increased. You will find the first of these articles of this week's issue of

ON PAGE 4

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

ON SALE TODAY

Corn Breeding for Every Farm
Another important article, by Arthur D. Cromwell, explains why it is just as necessary for a farmer to breed his seed corn as it is for him to mate his animals.

Two Other Valuable Features Are

Worth-While Ideas for the Farm. Short, pointed articles—you can read all of them in fifteen minutes—telling of new methods that make the day's work easier and more profitable; and,

Blue-Ribbon Men. The first of a number of brief, personal sketches of the leading agricultural men of the country. This week it's Henry Jackson Waters, president of the Kansas Agricultural College and talked of as the next Secretary of Agriculture in President-elect Wilson's cabinet.

And All These Articles in Addition:

The Cost of Beef We Eat, by F. P. Trowbridge, showing how the cheaper and tougher cuts can be made very palatable by proper cooking.

The Farm That Won't Wear Out, by Cyril G. Hopkins, explaining the necessity of supplying the soil with phosphorus.

Interesting Pages for Women. The Country Gentlewoman's views on Sunday as a day of rest; a page of attractive and serviceable dress designs; The Contents, Care and Use of the Medicine Chest; Making Your Own Bookcases.

Four Valuable Poultry Articles. A House for 500 Hens, A Chaps Disinfectant, Hunting the Best Hen, and How I Made My Hens Lay When Eggs Were Money.

The Congressional Calendar. Discussing the fruit growers' trust problem. Crops and the Market —a forecast of business conditions and the effect on agriculture.

For the Suburbanite. Everyman's Garden (a weekly department) and a timely article on Planning the Garden.

For Sale at Any News-Stand or Boy of Any SATURDAY EVENING POST Boy
5c. a Copy. Yearly Subscription $1.50. The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia

More Than 200,000 Copies Weekly Net Paid Circulation

TRACY JEFFERS
Red Lake Falls, - Minn.

AUCTION!

The undersigned will sell at public auction on the old Adlord Laurant farm, 6 miles southeast of Red Lake Falls, 5 miles west of Terrebonne and 3 miles east of Perrault Station, on Badger Creek, commencing at ten o'clock a. m., on

Friday, Feb. 21, '13

THE FOLLOWING DESCRIBED PROPERTY:

1 bay mare, 4 yrs. old, 1200 lbs., in foal
1 bay mare, 7 " " 1300 " "
1 bay mare, 6 " " 1200 " "
1 black mare, 10 " " 1250 " "
1 black mare, 10 " " 1200 " "
A good ladies' driver
1 sarrel horse, 6 yrs. old, 1000 lbs.
A good genle driver
1 sarrel horse, 8 yrs. old, 1050 lbs.
1 roan mare, 3 yrs. old, 1100 lbs., unbroken
1 black gelding, 1 year old
1 sarrel gelding, 1 year old
1 gelding, ten months old
1 filly, ten-months old
2 milch cows, one fresh and one fresh in June, both giving milk
3 broad sows, due to pig in May; are of a good type—Duroc Jersey
1 Deering 7 ft. binder with tangue trucks
1 Deering corn binder
1 Dawagiac drill, 8 ft. single disc
1 Liberty gang plow 1 lever drag, 15 foot
1 disc harrow, eighteen wheeler
1 Tower's pulverizer, 8 foot
1 Tower's corn planter 1 Hayse corn planter
1 Success manure spreader 80 rods wire
1 McCormick mower 1 Deering hay rake
1 John Deere 16 inch breaking plow
1 truck wagon 1 lumber wagon with box
1 hay rack 1 pair bob sleds
1 driving bob sleigh 1 surrey, nearly new
3 sets double harness 1 single harness
1 DeLaval cream separator, nearly new
1 one-horse power gas engine
1400 bu. oats, good for feed or seed
15 tons of good hay in stack
50 bu. Early Ohio potatoes, good for seed
1 Majestic range 1 heating stove
Numerous other articles

FREE LUNCH AT NOON

TERMS: All sums of Ten Dollars and under cash; on sums over that amount time will be given until Nov. 1, 1913, on bankable paper bearing 10 per cent interest. No goods to be removed until settled for.

EARL W. GOSS, Owner

JOSEPH BELAIR, Auctioneer NOEL DELORME, Clerk

AUCTION!

The undersigned will sell at public auction on the L. E. Jones farm, one mile north of Red Lake Falls, commencing at 1 o'clock sharp, on

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 25

THE FOLLOWING DESCRIBED PROPERTY:

1 chestnut mare, 10 yrs. old, 1500 lbs.
1 bay mare, 5 yrs. old, 1500 lbs.
1 bay mare, 5 yrs. old, 1600 lbs.
10 milch cows, from registered stock, well graded. Will all be fresh before May 1
THIS IS GOOD STUFF.
1 bull, 3-4 Durham
7 yearling calves
8 hogs—6 sows with pig
1 boar and 1 barrow
80 chickens
3 geese
1 Deering binder
1 Minnesota mower, nearly new
2 wagons
1 pair bob sleds
1 disc harrow
1 2-section steel drag
1 2-horse cultivator
1 1-horse cultivator
1 gang plow
2 walking plows
1 hay rake
1 hay rack
1 hay stacker
1 set hay slings, rope and tackle
2 sets work harness
1 cream separator
1 grind stone
About 150 bu. excellent seed barley
About 100 bu. fine seed oats
200 bu. of potatoes.
All tools and chains used on a farm
Household goods too numerous to mention

Hot Coffee and Lunch at Noon

TERMS: Sums under $10 cash; on sums over that amount time will be given to Nov. 1, 1913, on bankable paper at 10 per cent interest

L. E. JONES & A. SANDERS
PROPRIETORS

JOSEPH BELAIR, Auctioneer J. A. DUFFY, Clerk

A Woman of Her Word.

A woman was in a low court when she was asked her age and answered, "Thirty-five."

"But," objected the judge, "you were that you were thirty-five."

"Your honor," she loftily replied, "I am not one who would say one thing at one time and another thing at another time."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Disconsolate.

Mrs. Highbee—I feel so miserable. Mr. Highbee—What is the matter? Mrs. Highbee—Mrs. Shaw told me a secret and I've forgotten what it was. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Unprofessional.

Paragrapher — The sporting editor stole my paste pot and scissors.

City Editor—I'll speak to him. This plagiarizing must stop.—Judge.

EPITAPHS.

BILL BOOZER'S taken his last drink. He had his share on earth, we think. His end was sad, as, think you not? The stove he swallowed was a tack. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

Serl Snook has passed from earthly scenes—
No doubt devils on some distant star,
While he was staring at two queens
He stepped before a trolley car.
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

KEZIAH COFFIN

By

Joseph C. Lincoln

Author of
Cy Whittaker's Place
Cap'n Eri, Etc.

Illustrations by
Ellsworth Young

Copyright, 1919, by D Appleton & Company

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is returning to make from Brechtel to Boston, following the death of her brother, Sir whom she had kept house. Lyman Peeper, widower, after marriage, and is the leader of the Republic church. Alfred Hewitt, a player, an adventurer, and Keziah's place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to return to Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Elmer Ellery, a boy who has been left by his father who deserted as he considered himself a member of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by attending a "Union" service meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly opposed by Deacon Peeper, who is one of the founding Ellery daughters for Caroline and Ellery escorts her home in his auto. Capt. Nat Hammond, who has not honored his home for many years, is induced by Keziah to go through for and storm. Capt. Nath Keziah's invitation for to some one, including money, to, and as far as a demand. She is greatly startled when Hammond arrives on arrival of his daughter, Elizabeth, and it develops that they have been separated by youth. Danielle remonstrates with Ellery for attending the Union meeting, and Ellery is threatened by the title and is rescued by Nat. They become friends. Ellery meets Grace Sullivan walking in the fields, but learns that she walks there every day. Keziah is visited by Danielle Adams, a neighbor, Grace's mother, every herself to go to the church. Danielle tells Keziah that Ellery was with Grace in order to get away from Danielle. Keziah advises Danielle to forget Ellery and to encourage Keziah to marry him. He says he has had a quarrel with Grace's father, who wants her to marry Grace Holmes. Ellery tells Keziah that Grace confesses that she loves him, but refuses to disobey her parents. Keziah forbids Ellery to see Grace. Ellery leaves between Ellery and Grace, and Keziah tells Ellery that Grace is engaged to Danielle, and the romance. Grace comes to him in a faint, following the excitement of Danielle's attempt to kill Ellery. Ellery is now living with Keziah and tells her of Grace that they will marry. Keziah thinks he is a good for nothing, and when they proceed to have been lost at sea. Keziah tells Ellery that she is sure that Ellery is dead. Captain Nat sails for Manila to find and bring home Elizabeth. He says he will have decided to marry Ellery if he finds that he has been lost at sea. Keziah tells Ellery that she is sure that Keziah gets a letter from her husband Ellery, and Keziah tells Ellery that she has abandoned her husband and Ellery helps Keziah. Before he dies it is discovered that he is Keziah's husband. Elizabeth is married to Ellery, and Keziah has decided to become a confirmed bachelor. She takes him back to the church and sends for help

CHAPTER XVI.—(Continued.)

Early the next morning, just as day was breaking, Cap'n Zeb's horse, which drew it galloping, rocked and bumped down the lighthouse lane. Dr. Parker, his brows together and his lips set with anxiety, was driving. He had been roused from sleep in the hotel at Hyannis by a boy with a telegram. "Come quick," it read. "Mr. Ellery sick." The sender was Noah Hills, the light keeper. At the ropes, early as it was, he found a small group waiting and gazing at the shanty. The neighbors were there and two or three other men. They were talking earnestly.

"How is he, Noah?" demanded the doctor, jumping to the ground.

"I don't know, doc," replied Ellis "I ain't heard sence last night when I telegraphed you."

"No?" Noah hesitated once more. "Nope, he ain't alone. She's there."

"She? Who? Keziah Coffin?"

"I don't callate Keziah's heard it yet. We was waitin' for you fore we said much to anybody. But she's there —she—no one that found him. You see, he was out of his head and wanderin' up the lane 'most to the main road and she'd been callin' on Keziah and when she come away from the parsonage she heard him hollerin' and goin' on and—"

"Who did?"

"Why"—the lightkeeper glanced at his companions—"why, doc, I mean Grace Van Horne. And she fetched him back to the shanty and then come and got me to telegraph you."

But Parker did not wait to hear the rest. He ran at full speed to the door of the shanty. Grace herself opened it.

"How is he?" demanded the doctor.

"I think he seems a little easier; at any rate, he's not delirious. He's in there. Oh, I'm so thankful you've come."

"Is that the doctor?" called Ellery weakly from the next room. "It's it!"

"Yes," replied Parker, throwing off his coat and hat. "Coming, Mr. Ellery."

"For God's sake, doctor, send her away. Don't let her stay. Make her go! I've got the smallpox and if she stays she will die. Don't you understand? she must go!"

"Hush, John," said Grace soothing ly. "Hush, dear."

Dr. Parker stopped short and looked at her. However, he waited no longer, but hurried in to his new patient.

CHAPTER XVII.

In Which Keziah Decides to Fight.

The news was flying from house to house along the main road. Breakfasts were interrupted as some neighbor hurried in to tell the story which another neighbor had brought to him or her. Mr. Ellery was very sick and it was feared he had the smallpox. Grace Van Horne was with him, had taken him back to the shanty, and insisted upon staying there until the doctor came.

At the Daniels's house the servant girl rushed into the dining room to serve the toast and the story at one swoop. Captain Elkanah's dignity deserted him for an instant and his egg spoon jingled to the floor. Amelia's face turned a dull red. Her eyes flashed sparks.

"Pa!" she cried, "I—I—if you don't do something now I'll never—"

Her father shook his head warningly. "Debby," he said to the maid, "you needn't wait."

Debby departed reluctantly. After the kitchen door had closed, Captain Elkanah said: "My dear, we mustn't be too hasty in this matter. Remember, Mr. Ellery is very sick. As for—for the—the—Grace girl, we haven't heard the whole truth yet. She may not be there at all, or it may be just an accident—"

"Accident! Pa, you make me boil. Accident! Accidents like that don't happen. If you let her stay there, or I—Oh, to think of it! And we were calling him a hero and—and everything! Here! be moved there this day a big!"

"Hush! hush, child!"

"I shan't hush. Pa, are you going to let him disgrace himself with her?"

"No, no. Amelia, please! I get no idea of his marrying her. If there is—"

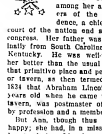
"If there is you put her out of the church and out of town. And so for her. Gosh! And we've been that girl's guests, eaten at her table, had her to our house, and—and—Oh, I shall die! I wish I was dead!"

Then followed hysterics and agony, greedily listened to by Debby, whose ear was glued to the kitchen door. Captain Elkanah soothed and pleaded and cried in vain. It ended by his promising to investigate and, if necessary, to stop Grace's visits.

Lavinia Pepper sprung the mine on her brother. Kran was horrified. He knew Grace to be a friend of Keziah's and devoted worshipers.

One of the very first to hear of the misfortune which had befallen Keziah Coffin, Mrs. Parker told her and Keziah started for the house. Grace met them at the door. Mrs. Parker told her and Keziah started for the house. Grace met them at the door. Mrs. Parker told her and Keziah started for the house. Grace met them at the door.

LINCOLN'S LOVE AFFAIRS



SN RUTLEDGE was comely, of agreeable disposition, likewise bright—as to all these facts the accounts are one. She was, moreover, of excellent stock, could boast of the very best southern blood, and could count among her ancestors one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, a chief justice of the Supreme court of the nation and a leader in the American congress. Her father was an Illinois pioneer, originally from South Carolina, and long a resident of Kentucky. He was well-to-do and able to afford her better than the usual schooling of the west in that primitive place and period. It was at his hotel, or tavern, as then termed, in New Salem, ill., in 1834 that Abraham Lincoln met her. He was 25 years old when he came to board at the Rutledge tavern, was postmaster of the village, e surveyor by profession and a member of the state legislature.

But Ann, though thus circumstanced, was unhappy; she had, in a missing lover, an ache of the heart. Before Lincoln appeared on the scene one James McNeill, a prosperous young merchant and farmer of the place, had won her affections. She was only 17 when this occurred, and the family council therefore agreed that, for a time at least, the marriage could wait. This was the state of affairs when Lincoln came to the Rutledge house as boarder.

McNeill had accumulated $12,000 in New Salem and his prospects were still bright; but in 1833 he began to display a strong desire for a change. He wanted to go back east, he said, to New York state, to visit his people there and bring his parents back with him. And then they would marry. So the following spring he sold out his store and departed. The journey to that day was a long and slow one, but it was months, far beyond the usual, before they heard from him. He had been down, he wrote, with chills and fever. He wrote again a few times after, but at length the short the correspondence altogether.

Mary Owen

Mother of Ann Rutledge

It was through Lincoln, as postmaster of the little western village, that the girl received her letters. An absent sweetheart and no letters—we can judge how her state of mind. It was not long until every one knew it. The girl then confided in friends a confession of her lover's, namely, that his true name was not McNeill, but McNamar; that he had come west to retrieve a fortune lost by his father in business, and had changed his name to be rid, for a time, of his people and thus be the freer to do so. When this story was made public, as it speedily was, the hard common sense of New Salem promptly rejected it. There were reasons, good ones, public opinion said; criminal, perhaps—who knows?—some ovee blotted. The girl was nigh heartbroken.

Meanwhile blossomed in the heart of Lincoln sympathy first and then affection for her. It was long, however, ere he revealed his feelings to her, and longer still ere she would listen to him. At length, however, convinced that McNeill was gone for good, she consented in 1835 to take the Lincoln name. But first she was to go away for a while and finish at an academy, during which time he was to continue his law studies, and when she had added her course and he had been admitted to the bar, the next spring they would be married.

All very good; this plan was followed; but the girl, it seems, though she loved Lincoln, could not dismiss so easily remembrance of her old lover. "A torturing conflict," we are told, "of memory, love, conscience, doubt and remorse" lay like a shadow across her happiness and wore upon her until she fell seriously ill. Eventually her condition became dangerous and Lincoln was sent for, they passed an hour of anguish together, and soon after this death occurred, August 25, 1835, she died.

Lincoln took it hard. That melancholy which was of his fiber and which marked his face took full possession of him. He was found by a friend, a certain Bowling Green, wandering about muttering to himself, as if his mind had been affected. Green took him to his home and kept him there until once more he was himself. Ann Rutledge was buried in Concord cemetery, near New Salem. "My heart is buried there," her sorrowing lover said after the funeral. Curiously enough, McNeill, or McNamar, did likewise. New Salem soon after Ann's death. And his story proved true. His made no explanation for his long silence. And he did not survive long. Within a year he married.

The Second Affair.

This in the fall of the year 1836. Lincoln was 29, a woman of Lincoln's acquaintance who was going to Kentucky on a visit, proposed, in a spirit of fun, to bring back a sister of hers. Miss Mary Owens, for him to marry. Lincoln laughingly accepted the proposal. Time passed; the lady duly returned, the sister in tow. Lincoln made the journey and duly renewed the acquaintance, sure enough! Lincoln was astonished. He had been pictured appeared to him a trifle too willing, but he gave her the benefit of the doubt.

There were other objections to her; for one thing, they, while her face was attractive, she had no figure—she was enormously stout. For another, his own financial condition. He had settled at Springfield, capital of the state, and began there the practice of law, without, however, substantial result as yet. But he had told her sister, in says in letters quoted by Miss Tarbell, that he would take the lady for better or worse, and this he chose to stand. It was a point of honor with him to stick to his word, particularly where, as in this case, others had been induced to act upon it.

He corresponded with this lady, and once firm in his resolution to marry her, set even planned how he might get along after the marriage. His took the precaution to write her from Springfield and gave her a strong hint of the poverty of its resources, asking her at the same time to "deliberate maturely." As this, however, drew from her no decision, after waiting three months he wrote again, putting the matter between them squarely up to her. "What is wish," said he, "is that our further acquaintance should depend upon yourself."

Miss Owens had the disinclination to parallel the feelings. She answered, declining his offer of marriage. She found him, she said, "deficient in those little links which go to make up the chain of a woman's happiness." Lincoln was "mortified" on having been a friend; his "vanity wounded" by the reflection that he had been too stupid to understand her, while, at the same time, never doubting that he understood her perfectly.

The Third Affair.

It was in 1839 or 1840 that Lincoln met Miss Mary Todd of Lexington, Ky., whom he afterward married. Their courtship was interesting and rather animated. One of its incidents was a serious engagement, and, according to one authority, on the very day set for the wedding.

Lincoln was thirty or thirty-one when Miss Todd came to Springfield, and had been practicing law in that place for some three or four years. The lady was the daughter of Robert S. Todd, a prominent Kentuckian, and was living, when Lincoln made her acquaintance, with her sister, Mrs. Nicolas W. Edwards, the wife of one of the notables of Springfield. She was handsome, stylish, witty and spirited, and soon after her arrival in the Illinois capital began to cut a figure in its society and to draw in her train the more prominent beaux of the town, among others two aforesaid were to distinction, besides Lincoln, Stephen A. Douglas, the "Little Giant" later of the stump and senate, and Shields, hero of the Mexican war, and one of the most picturesque figures in American life.

Ere long it began to be apparent that among these suitors and frequenters of the Edwards mansion Lincoln was her favorite. As the intimacy with him grew her relatives protested; he was not of their level, they were wealthy and well-bred, and looked on him as of the plebeian class, as one socially inferior. He was of the humblest origin, crude and unpolished in manner and, worst of all, was poor. Miss Todd, however, was accustomed to her own way and loved him, believed in him, seems to have direct on his future path in the law. Before, in 1840 they engaged to marry.

But, as the proverb has it, "the course of true love never did run smooth." So, at least, it turned out in their case. It is not perhaps strange, considering the difference in their tastes, their ideals and breeding, that they did soon fall out. Miss Todd was an exacting sweetheart, Mr. Lincoln careless.

Mrs. Mary Todd Lincoln

His was melancholic, constitutionally so; inclined, in matter, to silence, to the most morbid view. The upshot was, at all events, that on New Year's day, 1841, the very day, as one account has it, which had been set for the wedding, he broke the engagement. According to Herndon, one of his biographers, who was also his law partner, he broke it es publicly as possible by failing to be at the appointed wedding day. The ceremony was broken, no doubt of that; but Herndon's account of its breaking is not well authenticated.

Lincoln took this trouble deeply to heart. He abandoned his business and went away to forget it if the following summer, making a visit with that purpose to his old friend Speed in Louisville, Ky. From this trip he returned in both body and mind. This, perhaps, because he had been called back there to consult with and resolve certain doubts of Speed regarding his own approaching marriage. Lincoln and Miss Todd reunited in reconciled for a year and a half. In the summer of 1842 they were brought together unexpectedly by mutual friends, and for several informal times later at the house of Mr. Simeon Francis. At length the engagement was renewed. This came about through a circumstance of serio-comic features in which both had part.

This circumstance is a story in itself. It involves, besides the two principles, James Shields —the same afore referred to as one of Miss Todd's admirers. He was an Irishman of ability and courage, as he afterward proved on the battlefield in the Mexican war, when, to cleanse a wound through the lungs, a silk handkerchief was drawn through his body.

At the time of the Lincoln affair Shields was a leading Democrat of Illinois and held the office of auditor of state. He was a quick, impulsive man, when displeased put him on the defensive with the Whig leaders, for the Republican party was then unborn. Of these Whig leaders that state Lincoln was one. Now, it was the custom at that time to carry on much political controversy through the press by means of personal communications, such as we know now as "Letters from the People." Great space and attention were given these in the newspapers in that day.

Just about that date Lincoln furnished such a letter to a Springfield paper; it was signed "Aunt Rebecca," and in it Shields, whose vanity and gallantry often made him a mark, was most unmercifully ridiculed. It made a hit, this letter, and the Whig party friends of Shields and the other way, followed it up with another and with some fingered rhyme, which reached the paper in the same manner as the first.

Springfield laughed loudly at these communications—not so much at the matter of them as at the anger displayed by Shields. He acted promptly, sent a friend at once to the editor of the paper to demand the name of the writer of the articles. Dueling then was still a common incident of public life, and the editor called upon Lincoln, who, unwilling to offer his ladies into the affair, gave his own name as the author.

While he was at Tremont, on the law circuit, fifteen days later, Mr. Edwards broke the news to him and advised him that Shields was on the way from Springfield to challenge. Shields was the friend arrived shortly, and Lincoln was soon in receipt of a written demand for the "satisfaction due a gentleman" at the hands of a political scoundrel. "This may prevent," the missive said further, "consequences which may be more painful more than myself."

Lincoln refused to apologize. Seconds were immediately named—Whitesides, editor of the paper in which the matter had appeared, for Shields; E. H. Merryman for Lincoln. The meeting, spirit of peace, but Whitesides refused to discuss such a settlement with the principal. "You," he said, "he'd challenge me next, and as soon cut my throat as not."

That night they all went back to Springfield, with Lincoln's preliminaries to follow, since he was the challenged party, in the hands.

Weapons, cavalry broadswords.

Time, Thursday evening at 5 o'clock.

Place, within three miles of Alton, on the opposite side of the river Mississippi.

On the 2nd of September, 1842, they were all upon the ground. The arrangements for the affair had been made in Missouri, as dueling was forbidden by the Illinois. Among them was Colonel John H. Hardin, a man who knew well. He had been warned of the fight by Eliza Lott, who had heard of it when the duelists stopped to breakfast going over. He had ridden post haste and managed to satisfy Shields that Lincoln was not at all the author of the articles, but was shielding another, and to aid the seconds in settling the trouble "with honor," as the phrase is, "to all concerned."

Less than two months later a marriage license for Abraham Lincoln and Mary Todd was issued. Miss Tarbell describes the event as "almost tragic-comic." The ceremony interrupted a meeting of the Episcopal Sewing society at the house of Miss Todd's sister, the Mrs. Edwards already mentioned.

"I expect to take him out again next New Year's night. At least, I hope so."

Gladiator in Armor.

During some important excavations undertaken at Mount Cavo, in the Roman Campagna, in the hope of tracing an ancient temple devoted to Jupiter, the diggers struck upon an extensive second century cemetery, which had evidently been planned out on the surface of a gigantic landslip on the side of the mountain, caused by earthquakes, which had buried the older existing buildings.

A giant warrior, or gladiator, clad in iron armor, was discovered in one of the tombs, which was covered with relics taken from the Temple of Tiberius. A number of bronze coins, bearing the effigy of Empress Faustina, in addition a quantity of rings, safety pins and brooches of a very early period, a terra cotta elephant's head, and a fragmentary vase, containing inscriptions, are among the latest finds.

SOFIA WAR SCENES

Streets of Bulgarian Capital Ring With Songs of Recruits.

People Remain Silent as Battalions of French Reserves Pass Through Town on Their Way to the Front.

Sofia, Bulgaria.—Above the regular tramp, tramp, tramp of soldier feet rises the hoarse chorus of soldier voices—like a sullen sea rolling on a short of rock. The armistices has been proclaimed, but the streets of Sofia are filled with reserves who, battalion after battalion, are being dispatched to the front, to fill the sickening gaps at roll call, and to mix new strength with the tired valor of the veterans. At the beginning of the war Bulgaria had expected to raise barely 300,000 men. On the establishment of truce there were already over 500,000 in the field. Now 100,000 new conscripts are gathering toward Adrianople and Tchataldja. And still this calm, fierce little nation is not exhausted. Many more remain. If Turkey shows the least sign of arrogance or of trickery the war will go on.

Tramp, tramp, tramp sound the feet. Four by four the recruits filed by—young men between 20 and 30. They are singing. Is it a song? It is more like the brute growl of some slow moving lumber roused to fury, says a correspondent for the Chicago News. The throats are deep and hoarse. The music breaks and pauses in odd, stern rhythm. "Slavsa Bulgaria!" Tramp, tramp, tramp. "Slavsa Bulgaria!" Tramp, tramp, tramp. The uniforms are old and ready and torn. They are slaging. Is it a song? It is more like the brute growl of some slow moving lumber roused to fury, says a correspondent for the Chicago News. The throats are deep and hoarse. The music breaks and pauses in odd, stern rhythm. "Slavsa Bulgaria!" Tramp, tramp, tramp. "Slavsa Bulgaria!" Tramp, tramp, tramp. The uniforms are old and ready and torn. They are slaging. Is it a song? It is more like the brute growl of some slow moving lumber roused to fury, says a correspondent for the Chicago News. The throats are deep and hoarse. The music breaks and pauses in odd, stern rhythm. "Slavsa Bulgaria!" Tramp, tramp, tramp. "Slavsa Bulgaria!" Tramp, tramp, tramp. "Slavsa Bulgaria!" Tramp, tramp, tramp

It's the Place

SPILLANES

The Store of Quality

Candies, Confectionery, Stationery, Cigars, Soft Drinks and Tobaccos, Soft Drinks, Fruits, Coffee and Lunch.

Quick service in each department

City Rural Field

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Kinkel very pleasantly entertained a party of young people at their home Saturday evening.

Wm. Schoo has gone to Hector, Minn., and will spend several weeks there with members of his family who are still living in the old home at Hector.

E. G. Buse, the new western man, has not yet received his equipment from the government,but we've got a little weather ourselves just the same.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fisher return to-day this morning from Forest City, Iowa. They had been visiting with Mr. Fisher's parents in Forest City since before the holidays.

Herman Potzedo is home from Grand Forks, where had been for several weeks for hospital treatment following an operation for appendicitis. Though not able to go to work he is gaining strength rapidly. He is now at the home of his parents east of the city.

The public schools of the city and the school of many rural districts are closed today and tomorrow to enable the teachers to attend the convention at Thief River Falls. Many teachers went to Thief River Falls on the Great Northern train this morning.

Miss Louise Twinam, former principal of the Red Lake Falls high schools, now having a similar position at Grand Rapids, went to Thief River Falls this morning to attend the teachers' convention. Miss Twinam will make a brief visit in Red Lake Falls before returning to Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Wm. Findelsen, who went south expecting to spend the winter in old Mexico, did not get farther than the border. There she encountered a typical Mexican revolution. All trains to the interior of Mexico were loaded with soldiers and munitions of war and she decided not to continue her journey under the condition encountered. She went west with her daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Gerald, and is now in Los Angeles, California, where she will remain for an indefinite time.

Peter S. Goeddker has gone to Prairie du chene, Wis., for medical treatment. Mr. Goeddker has suffered for a long time with what he believed to be rheumatism. A specialist tells him that has not been the trouble. A few years ago Mr. Goeddker fractured a bone in his foot. The fracture did not heal properly and all of his difficulty can be traced to that cause, it is said. The specialist says he can be fixed as good as new in a few weeks. Mr. Goeddker has suffered much and has experienced much difficulty in getting about. His friends will be glad to know that his difficulty is to be overcome.

F. J. Stebbins, the popular Main street druggist, has a location to rent the east side of the river Tuesday. And on account of the high water decided to cross on the ice rather than run the risk of getting blown off the bridge. When in mid-stream he encountered an air hole and stepped in, closing the door and floating he has out. He was just sinking for the third time when he was rescued by Mat Barzen, who rushed frantically to his assistance and threw him the old anchor formerly used on the Arpin house boat. With this and other timely assistance he was finally rescued, and outside of superficial bruises unitimely wetting and a severe cold he is none the worse for the plunge. Thief River News-Press.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	$ .75
Durum	.76
Oats	.46
Flax	.21
Barley	1.21
Potatoes—new	.35
Butter—creamery	.38
Butter—dairy	.30
Eggs—fresh	.32
Eggs,—packed	.22

The members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church enjoyed a social evening in the church parlors Saturday evening.

Chas. N. Bowdish was down from Winnipeg this week looking after his interests in northern Minnesota and spent Wednesday in Red Lake Falls.

The subject for Rev. David V. Hilchinson's Sunday morning sermon at the Presbyterian church will be "The Publican Pharisee"; for the evening, "Having Once put the Hand to the Plow."

There will be an auction on the L. E. Jones farm, occupied by A. Sanders, one mile north of town, on Tuesday, Feb. 25. A large amount of live stock, farm machinery and personal property will be offered for sale.

Miss Katherine Malan entertained a few friends Saturday evening at a quilting bee party at the home of P. J. Bell, her guests were Miss Mae McClusin and Messrs. Ed. Page and Jos. Tompkin.—Crookston Times, Monday.

Miss Bessie Johnson of Black River and Miss Selma Hoff, who teaches in Black River, have been absent this week at the home of Miss Johnson's brother, C. W. Johnson. Miss Hoff went to Thief River Falls this morning to attend the teachers' convention, but Miss Johnson will spend a few more days here.

Beets 1½ per ton, fancy lard 15c, best ham 16c, seedless raisins 9c, scoured flat raisins 10c, seeded 12c, prunes, can 10c, for the best on earth try Newells Vim peas, peaches, apricots, pine apples, sample syrup—try them and you will see for yourself, flat 4K herring, 6 lbs. each 10c, macaroni 5c, good cheese 15c, coffee 25c up, the best in town at 25c, 20c a lb. Sunshine cookies 25c, fancy emblem, fancy grahams, bonus.—Theo. La Bissonierre.—Adv.

DEAD COMES TO LIFE

Man Supposed to Possess Supernatural Power Is Poor Guesser.

The people of Thief River Falls have been very much excited over a supposed murder and the following instructions of a supposed "seer" had been searching for the remains of the murdered man when the object so much expected came to life. The Thief River News-Press prints the story, which he in part as follows:

"While the woods along the Red Lake river were being searched for the murdered remains of one of Pennington county's prominent farmers, per instructions received in a letter that had been received from John Gunderson, an alleged possessor of supernatural powers, a local clergyman quietly quarried a Minneapolis returned the next day with the object of his search and put an end to a great deal of excitement that has been running rife in this city for the past several days.

The trouble started during the mid dle of January when Albert Narum, a former living in section eleven of the township of Smiley came to town to have some dental work done and mysteriously disappeared. . . . Gunderson, who was written in Norwegian and was translated in part by the police department as follows: Narum was killed with an ax handle on the night of January 11 by a man who was supposed to take him home. He was driving a double team, his bay horse hitched on the right side and a white horse on the left side. The body will be found in a clump of poplar trees at the root of a windfall on the right hand side of the road near the Red Lake River. You look there and this information secret as the murderer is waiting for a chance to cut a hole in the ice to hide the body.'

"Sheriff Roeland received this from an insurance agent in the cities that Narum had been seen in Minneapolis there was no other description given. The clergyman left at once to look for him and found him with little difficulty. He had left town with a couple of strangers and had spent most of his money but decided to brace up and come back.

"His return has relieved the entire community of a great deal of anxiety but it has ruined the fortune telling business for Mr. Gunderson of Saskatchewan."

BARON WAS SECTION HAND.

Railroad Laborer at Grand Forks Is Found Dead.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 7.—Baron Max Von Falkenstein, the German nobleman who had worked as a section hand on the Great Northern railroad for some 12 years, has reached home safely, according to a letter received by Mrs. Thomas Manley from her husband, who accompanied the unfortunate man home, according to the letter, the baron's home in Germany is such as to show conclusively that he is of noble birth and that his people are wealthy. He will suffer little from want as he will receive a pension of approximately $4000 per year from the government.

Mr. Manley and his charge sailed from New York on January 10 and reached Plau, Germany, on January 31, in his letter Mr. Manley declares that the voyage was very rough and one but does not tell of any difficulty with the baron. Mr. Manley will return shortlyinddle of this month.

Baron Von Falkenstein was picked up near Anoch a couple of months ago, as he was acting in a peculiar manner. As relatives in Germany were willing to care for him he was sent there,beingaccompanied by Mr. Monley, under whom he had worked for years.

TERREBONNE

Many from here attended the Farmers' Institute this week.

Some few here are participating in the prize contest at Crookston in the best ten pounds of wheat, oats, corn, potatoes, etc.

A few from here are leaving this spring to take homesteads in Montana where they can file on 320 acres and as we understand only required only three years in perfect title under the homestead.

On Monday morning of last week occurred the marriage of Mr. Edouard Pelle Perrault to Miss Doria Latremouille, the very pretty maiden of fifteen summers of ten. While the bridal party had repaired to the late Ernest Prenevost played the nuptial march and sang the bridal chorus, the Rev. Fr. LePioch singing the mass and pronouncing the words that made the two young lives as one, in the presence of many of their relatives and acquaintences. The bride was attired in a fine satin gown and decked an arm bouquet of brides roses. The bridesmaid,Miss Emma St. Yves, was gowned in white and carried for her post-nuptials and lillies. Napoleon Perrault, brother of the groom, was best man.

After the ceremony all repaired to the home of the groom's parents, where a sumptuous dinner awaited. In the evening the bridal train with several sleigh loads of friends drove to the bride's home where they ate supper and made merry for the coming and night.

It will be worth while for anyone wishing to make the flax crop a part of his farm rotation to read Press Bulletin No. 67, North Dakota tells howwith very little trouble to grow the flax wilt resistant seed that will be humane to the wilt if sown on flax-sick soil.

First State Bank

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF THE FIRST STATE BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS, Minn., at close of business on Feb. 4th 1913. State of report by bank Feb. 7th, 1913.

Loans and discounts	$ 98,520.13
Overdrafts	345.17
U. S. Bonds and Securities	8,000.00
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	6,800.00
Due from banks	3,640.21
Due from reserve agents	25,266.92
Cash on hand, items below	1,393.67
Gold	$ 400.00
Silver	25.00
Nickels	14.00
Currency	954.67
Total cash assets	132,274.67
Checks and Cash Items	1,133.00
Total	$265,106.17
Capital stock	$ 25,000.00
Surplus fund	5,000.00
Undivided profits net	1,232.64
Individual deposits subject to check	233,873.53
Demand certificates	45.00
Time certificates	1,000.00
Cashier's checks outstanding	954.00
Time certificates	855.00-23
Total deposits	236,727.53
Total	$265,106.17

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss:

I, Wm. W. Shearer, President, and Paul Anderson, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

WM. W. SHEARER, President.
PAUL ANDERSON, Cashier.

Correct Attest: (Two) Directors
JOS. T. HELM
A. W. WATSON

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of Feb. 1913.

C. E. DARGIEN,
Notary Public.
My commission expires April 11th, 1916.

Farmers National Bank

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE FARMERS NATIONAL BANK, at Red Lake Falls, in the State of Minnesota, at the close of business, February 4th, 1913.

Loans and Discounts	$130,768.91
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	1,000.00
U. S. Bonds to secure Circulation	25,000.00
Other Bonds to secure Postal Savings	2,000.00
Premiums on U. S. Bonds	1,000.00
Banking House, Furniture, and Fixtures	7,744.88
Due from National Banks (not reserve agents)	5,658.65
Due from State Banks	4,575.69
Checks and other cash items	1,000.00
Notes of other National Banks	1,600.00
Fractional Paper Currency, Nickels, and Cents	80.11
LAWFUL MONEY RESERVE IN BANK, viz:
Specie	9,611.85
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer (5 per cent of circulation)	1,250.00
Total	190,311.06

Capital stock paid in	$ 50,000.00
Undivided Profits, less Expenses and Taxes paid	3,000.00
National Bank Notes outstanding	25,000.00
Due to other National Banks	1,000.00
Individual deposits subject to check	74,311.39
Time certificates of deposit	36,000.00
Certified checks outstanding	1,000.00
Postal Savings Deposits	300.67
Total	190,311.06

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss:

I, GEO. F. HENNINGS, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

GEO. F. HENNINGS, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of February, 1913.

E. C. HUNT, Notary Public.
(Seal)
My Commission Expires Feb. 9th, 1914.

Correct Attest:
Wm. Shearer—Directors.
Paul Anderson—Directors.

BUY IT NOW
RIGHT-CUT CHEWING TOBACCO
GUARANTEED

Get a can of "Right-Cut"
—the Real Tobacco Chew
—New and Better
—5 Cents

MEN who chew "Right-Cut" like it better than any other tobacco. Fine blend of mellow, sappy leaf—not filled with licorice or sweetening.

New Cut—you get the flavor.

More satisfying than old-style tobaccos—and lasts longer. 5-cent can of "Right-Cut" goes further than a dime's worth of the old kind.

Ask your dealer today.

We guarantee it to be pure chewing tobacco

WEYMAN-BRUTON CO.

Merchants State Bank

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF MERCHANTS STATE BANK, at close of business on February 4th, 1913.
State of report by bank, Feb. 7, 1913.
Date of report to Bank, Feb. 7, 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$161,155.21
Overdrafts secured and unsecured	1,695.23
Other bonds, stocks and securities	10,764.10
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	1,161.18
Other real estate owned	1,189.13
Due from banks	24,366.12
Cash on hand, items below	7,611.59
Currency	2,600.00
Gold coin	1,000.00
Silver	2,000.00
Other	49.59
Total cash assets	32,337.71
Checks and Cash Items	1,078.15
Total	$213,450.69

LIABILITIES:

Capital stock	$ 15,000.00
Surplus fund	3,000.00
Undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid	4,048.59
Individual deposits subject to check	78,861.91
Demand certificates	1,008.88
Time certificates	1,000.00
Due to banks	1,031.15
Total investable liabilities	$ 50,950.53
Savings deposits	162.30
Time certificates	150,000.00
Total deposits	213,450.48
Total	$213,450.48

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss:

We, Thos. Lundeen, as vice president, and J. A. Duffy, cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

THEO. LARSSONEMBT, Vice President.
Attest: (Two) Directors
J. A. DUFFY, Cashier.
ANDREW PETERSON.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of Feb. 1913.
PETER E. PORTER, Notary Public
My commission expires March 23, 1916.

First State Bank of Oklee.

Statement of the condition of The First State Bank of Oklee, Minn., at the close of business on Feb. 4, 1913.
State of report by bank, Feb. 4th, 1913.
Date of report to Bank, Feb. 7th, 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$ 58,172.14
Overdrafts secured and unsecured	1,000.00
Banking House, Furniture and Fixtures	4,830.16
Due from banks	1,868.11
Cash on hand, items below	1,141.67
Gold	2,500.00
Silver	1,000.00
Other	174.75
Total cash assets	10,621.53
Checks and cash items	3,374.31
	761.22
Total	14,757.05

LIABILITIES:

Capital stock	$ 10,000.00
Surplus fund	1,000.00
Undivided Profits, less Expenses and Taxes paid	952.39
Deposits Subject to Check	2,804.66
Total	14,757.05

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss:

We, Samuel Gibeau, Vice President and Oscar Lundeen, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

S. GIBEAU, Vice President.
J. A. DUFFY, Cashier.
Correct Attest: (Two) Directors
THEO. LARSSONEMBT.
ANDREW PETERSON.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of February, 1913.

E. C. ERICSON, Notary Public.
(SEAL) My commission expires March 23, 1916.

FIRST STATE BANK OF BROOKS

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF FIRST STATE BANK OF BROOKS
Minn., at close of business Feb. 4th, 1913.
State of report by Bank, Feb. 4, 1913.
Date of report to Bank, Feb. 7, 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$ 61,283.13
Overdrafts secured and unsecured	1,000.00
Other bonds, stocks and securities	1,500.00
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	1,500.00
Due from banks (including certificates)	8,501.49
Cash on hand (items below)	3,000.00
Currency	1,000.00
Gold	500.00
Silver	500.00
Other	500.00
Total cash assets	6,750.01
Checks and Cash Items	1,000.00
Total	$ 84,534.63

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$ 10,000.00
Undivided Profits, Net	2,000.00
Individual deposits subject to check	6,501.63
Time deposits (including certificates for money borrowed)	4,000.00
Total deposits	10,501.63
Cashier's checks outstanding	32.63
Total investable Liabilities	16,534.26
Time Certificates	44,000.00
Total deposits	60,534.26
Total	$ 84,534.63

State of Minnesota
County of Red Lake, ss

We, Thos. Lundeen, President, and S. M. Scrimb, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

THOS. LUNDEEN, President.
S. M. STRAND, Cashier.

Attest: (Two) Directors
LEAR S. BOURDON.
S. SIMONS.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of Feb. 1913.

F. DEYERMOND,
Notary Public, Red Lake County, Minn.
My commission expires Sept. 13th, 1916

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage on Lease Land.

Estate of Josephat Corbell, decedent. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, in Probate Court:

In the Matter of the Estate of Josephat Corbell, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Victorin Corbell; Leo Corbell; Omer Corbell; Virginia Corbell; Cecilia Corbell; and all persons interested in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent: The petition of Victoria Corbell, as representative of the above named decedent, being duly filed in this court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and of all interested therein that certain lands of said decedent described therein be sold and praying that a license be to Victoria Corbell granted to sell the same:

Now, Therefore, You and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of March, 1913, at 5 o'clock P. M. why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said court, this 7th day of February, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.
(Probate Court Seal.)
FRED L. FARLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner.

When You Have Saved

$5.00
$50.00
$100.00
$1,000.00
$10,000.00

the first question enjoins is
"HOW SHALL I INVEST IT?"

There is no better way than in a Certificate of Deposit in The Farmers National Bank.

Our Certificates of Deposit are issued in sums of $1.00 and upwards. They bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent, payable every six or twelve months as desired.

The Certificates of Deposit of the Farmers National Bank, as far as security is concerned,are practically on par with United States Government Bonds and are about three times as profitable.

Farmers National Bank
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Farm Loans Closed Promptly.

HORSES

From now on I will always have on hand a large number of native broke mares, ranging in weight from 1200 to 1500 pounds. Can fit you out with any horses that you may need for your spring work. You can always buy them RIGHT from me.

LOUIS SIEFF, SR.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

THEO. ALTENDORF
Watkins' Representative
Successor to Wm. Zaiser
Mail Orders receive prompt attention
Phone 107
Red Lake Falls, - Minn.

DR. G. B. FAIRCHILD
DENTIST
Graduate University of Minnesota
Offices over LaBissonire's store
Office hours:
8 a. m. to 12 m. , 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

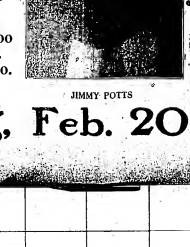
Another Wrestling Match

Doran Curtis of Halstad vs. Jimmy Potts of Minneapolis

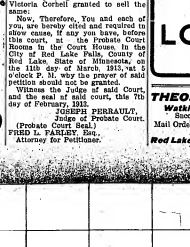
Lotus Theatre, Red Lake Falls

Preliminaries will start at 8:00 o'clock; main match at 9:00. Admission 50c; ringside $1.00. Ladies free.

Thursday Evening, Feb. 20



DORAN CURTIS



JIMMY POTTS

DEFECTIVE PAGE

That's the Place

SPILLANES

The Store of Quality

Groceries, Confectionery, Stationery, Cigars, Pipes and Tobacco, Soft Drinks, Fruits, Coffee and Lunch.

A complete line in each department

The Local Field

Bous, Saturday, to Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Benoit, a son.

E. A. Nelson spent a part of the week at Grand Forks.

Napoleon Cyr of Brooks is visiting for with relatives intown.

Miss Maud Bigelsen entertained the U. and D. H. Tuesday evening.

Henry Cyr of Brooks was attending to business matterain town Monday.

Chas. Miller made a trip to Devils Lake, North Dakota, this week, returning today.

Mrs. Lasty Demarais and children are visiting with Mrs. Demarais' parents in Gentilly.

Mrs. Fairchild of Grand Forks is spending the week here with her son Dr. E. Fitchild.

A. M. Higinbotham is in Minneapolis this week in attendance at the automobile show.

Alma Benoit entertained a party of young people at a candy pull in a Thursday evening.

Miss Celina Hance of Thief River Falls visited at the home of her sister Mrs. Jerom Hance, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Treffle Robidoux entertained a party of young people at a candy pull Sunday evening.

Charles Reardon, who is living on the Chas. Stricklhouse, came over Wednesday for a brief visit.

Miss D. Spofford will be in Red Lake Falls, March 1. At the Grand View Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson and little Vivienne Nault of Crookston were guests at the Sieff home this week.

P. H. Gagen has returned after an absence of seven weeks. He visited at his old home in Iowa and at other points.

Louis Demarais has gone to Crookston and has entered a hospital in that city for an operation for appendicitis.

Horace Klepper of Minneapolis spent a part of the week here with his brother, Mrs. Klepper, and his sister, Mrs. E. F. Marshall.

Louis Sieffje, went to Fargo Tuesday evening. He returned this morning accompanied by Mrs. Sieff, who had been visiting in Fargo.

The quarterly report of the First State Bank of Brooks, showing that institution to be in a flourishing condition, is published in this issue.

The list of real estate on which taxes remain delinquent is now in the hands of the printer and the official publication will be made next week.

The quarterly report of the First State Bank of Oklee, showing that institution to be in a prosperous condition, is published in this issue.

Our canon squash, rapetugas, peas go good these days. Pile candies, all 10 cts per lb. The only place to get apples in town. Minesake, Newtons, Red Cheeks, Bone Beauties, $1.50 per box up. Oranges, not frozen, 20c, 40c, 50c. Fish of all kinds.—Laliberdrire.—Adv.

A defective chimney in the First National Bank block caused a blaze which might have resulted disastrously had it not been for the expeditious work of the fire department last Friday evening. The large chimney which runs through the center of the building became overheated setting fire to the creosote with which it was coated. The fire department responded to the alarm at once and by the use of the chemical apparatus extinguished the flames that had started among the rafters of the building next to the roof. The apartments of Kid Ashley were also damaged to the extent of $50.00. Fred Dubay owns the building and the loss is reported to be covered by insurance.—Thief River News-Press.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Kaskel very pleasantly entertained a party of young people at their home Saturday evening.

Wm. Schuft has gone to Hector, Minn., and will spend several weeks there with members of his family who are still living in the old home in Hector.

E. G. Buse, the new weather man, has not yet received his equipment from the government but we're getting a little weather occasionally just the same.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fisher returned this morning from Forest City, Iowa. They had been visiting with Mr. Fisher's parents in Forest City since before the holidays.

Herman Petsalos is home from Grand Forks, where he has been for several weeks for hospital treatment following an operation for appendicitis. Though not able to go to work he is getting around rapidly. He is now at the home of his parents east of the city.

The public schools of the city and the schools of many rural districts are closed today and tomorrow to enable the teachers to attend the convention at Thief River Falls. Many teachers went to Thief River Falls on the Great Northern train this morning.

Miss Louise Twisam, former principal of the Red Lake Falls high schools, now having a similar position at Grand Rapids, went to Thief River Falls this morning to attend the teachers' convention. Miss Twisam will make a brief visit in Red Lake Falls before returning to Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Wm. Findelson, who went to Mexico expecting to spend the winter in old Mexico, did not get farther than Laredo, Texas. There she encountered a full-sized Mexican revolution. All trains to the interior of Mexico were loaded with soldiers and munitions of war and she decided not to continue her journey under the conditions encountered. She went west with her daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Quinn, and is now in Los Angeles, California, where she will remain for an indefinite time.

Peter S. Goedker has gone to Prairie du chens, Wis., for medical treatment. Mr. Goedker has suffered for a long time with what he believed to be rheumatism. A specialist tells him that he has not been the trouble. A few days ago Mr. Goedker fractured a bone in his thigh. The fracture did not heal readily and all of his difficulty can be traced to that cause, it is said. The specialist says he can be fixed as good as new in a few months. Mr. Goedker has suffered much and has experienced much difficulty in getting about. His friends will be glad to know that his days of misery are overcome.

P. J. Stebbins, the popular Main street druggist, had occasion to visit the east side of the river Tuesday, and on account of the high wind decided to cross on the timber that runs the risk of getting blown off the bridge. When in mid-stream he encountered an air hole and stepped in, clinging to the timber with his hot off. He was just shaking for the third time when he was afraid he'd overcome.

The members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church entered a social evening in the church parlors Saturday evening.

Chas. St. Dorjhier was down from Winnipeg this week looking after his interests in northern Minnesota and spent Wednesday in Red Lake Falls.

The subject for Rev. David V. Richardson's Sunday morning sermon at the Presbyterian church will be "The Pullman Pharisee", for the evening, "Having Once put the Hand to the Plow."

There will be an auction on the L. R. Jones farm, occupied by A. Sanders, six mile north of town, on Tuesday, Feb. 25. A large amount of live stock, farm machinery and personal property will be offered for sale.

Miss Katherine Malan entertained a few friends Saturday evening at a crafting dish party at the home of P. D. Bell, her guests were Miss Alice McCanna and Messrs. Ed. Pope and Joe Tousin.—Crookston Times, Monday.

Miss Bedelia Johnson of Black River and Miss Selma Hoff, who lunch in Black River, have been guests this week at the home of Miss John son's brother, C. W. Johnson. Miss Hoff went to Thief River Falls this morning to attend the teachers' convention, but Miss Johnson will spend a few more days here.

Beete 10c per can, fancy lard 15c, best ham 15c, seedless raisins 8c, large fat raisins 10c, seeded 10c, plum apples, can 10c, for the best we carry Nowells Xtra peas, peaches, apricots, plus apples, maple syrup, corn beef, and you will see for yourself, fat 4c herring, 3c, each fish, macaroni 7c, good cheese 15c, coffee 30c up, the best in town at 35c, 50c a lb. Sunshine cookies 10c, fancy cabbage, carrots, parsnips, 'nagas.—Theo. Laliberdrire.—Adv.

DEAD COME TO LIFE

Man Supposed to Possess Supernatural Power is a Poor Guesser.

The people of Thief River Falls have been very much excited over a supposed murder and following the instructions of a supposed "seer" had been searching for the remains of the murdered men when the object of their search came to life. The Thief River News-Press prints the story, which is in part as follows:

"While the weeds along the Red Lake river were being searched for the mangled remains of one of Pennington county's prominent farmers as per instructions received in a letter that had been received from John Gunderson, an alleged possessor of supernatural powers, a local clergyman quietly journied to Minneapolis, returned the next day with the object of his search and put an end to a great deal of excitement that has been running rife in this city for the past several days.

"The trouble started during the mild die of January when Albert Narud, a farmer living in section eleven of the township of Smiley came to town to have some dental work done and unfortunately disappeared. Gunderson's letter was written in Norwegian and was translated in part by the police department as follows: 'Narud was killed and his body was hidden the night of January 17 by a man who was supposed to take him home. Man was driving a double team, hay box kitchen and he is right tall and a white horse on the left side. The body will be found in a clump of red lar trees at the root of a windfall on the right hand side of the road near Red Lake River. You had better keep this information secret as the murderer is walking for a chance to cut a hole in the ice to hide the body.'

"Rev. Roseland received word from an insurance agent in the city that Narud had been seen in Minneapolis the five days preceding his disappearance this city. The clergyman left at once to look for him and found him with little difficulty. He had left town with a couple of strangers and had spent most of his money but decided to brace up and come back.

"His return has relieved the anxiety of a great deal of needless anxiety but it has ruined the fortune telling business for Mr. Gunderson of Saskatchewan."

BARON WAS SECTION HAND.

Railroad Laborer at Grand Forks is of Royal Blood.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 7.—Baron Max Von Falkenstein, the German nobleman, who had worked as a section hand on the Great Northern railroad for some 13 years, has received home safely, according to a letter received by Mrs. Thomas Stanley from Falkenstein, who accompanied the nobleman on the return trip. According to the letter, the baron's home in Germany is said to be also conclusively proved he is of noble birth and that his people are wealthy.

It is said that he will receive a pension of approximately $4000 per year from the government.

Mr. Stanley and his charge sailed from New York on January 30 and reached Bion, Germany, on January 31. In his letter Mr. Stanley declares that the voyage had a very rough one but does not tell of any difficulty with the baron. Mr. Stanley will remain aboutwhile as the nobleman's guest.

Baron Von Falkenstein was picked up here by Stanley, a couple of months ago, as he was sleeping in a pecuilar manner. His relatives in Germany were willing to care for him he was found. Some infirmness caused by Mr. Stanley, under whom he had worked for years.

TERRERONNE

Many farmers have attended the Farmers' Institute this week.

Some few here are participating in the farm contest at Crookston. He has sent ten bushels of wheat, oats, corn, potatoes, etc.

A few from here are leaving this spring to take homesteads in Montana where they can file on 320 acres and as we understand only requireing only three years to perfect title under the late ruling.

On Monday morning of last week occurred the marriage of Mr. Eldred Gagnon and Miss Doris Larson Nolan, a very pretty nuptial affair, at 8 o'clock a. m. The bridal party (a quartet marched up the isle Elizabeth) Brunswick played the nuptial march and sang the bridal chorus, the Rev. Father Nolan singing the mass and pronouncing the words that made

First State Bank

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF THE FIRST STATE BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS, MINN., at the close of business on Dec. 31, 1912. Date of call by State Bank, Feb. 4th, 1913. Published by Feb. 7th, 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$ 65,000.00
Overdrafts	1,000.00
Bonds, stocks and securities	5,000.00
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	1,000.00
Due from banks	3,547.91
Cash on hand	1,000.00
Checks and cash items	1,000.00
Total	$ 77,547.91

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$ 25,000.00
Surplus fund	2,500.00
Undivided profits, net	1,000.00
Deposits subject to check	44,532.91
Time certificates	4,515.00
Total	$ 77,547.91

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, ss.

I, A. M. Higinbotham, President, and Ole Hanson, Cashier, of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

A. M. HIGINBOTHAM, President.
OLE HANSON, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of February, 1913.

(Seal) NOEL DELORME, Notary Public.

Correct Attest: (Two) Directors
A. M. HIGINBOTHAM
OLE HANSON

My commission expires March 15, 1915.

Farmers National Bank

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE FARMERS NATIONAL BANK, at Red Lake Falls, in the State of Minnesota, at the close of business on Dec. 31, 1912.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$120,262.94
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	1,000.00
U.S. Bonds to secure circulation	25,000.00
U.S. Bonds to secure postal savings	2,000.00
Premium on U.S Bonds	2,500.00
Stocks, Securities, judgments, claims, etc.	1,000.00
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	2,000.00
Due from approved reserve agents	4,562.95
Due from State Banks and Bankers	1,000.00
Due from approved reserve agents	71,191.91
Checks and other cash items	1,000.00
Notes of other National Banks
Fractional paper currency, nickels and cents	85.11
Lawful Money Reserve in Bank, viz:
Specie	6,615.00
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer (5 per cent of circulation)	1,250.00
Total	$ 266,547.91

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$ 25,000.00
Surplus fund	2,500.00
Undivided profits less current expenses and taxes paid	5,444.02
National Bank notes outstanding	25,000.00
Individual deposits subject to check	168,603.89
Demand certificates of deposit	1,000.00
Cashier's checks outstanding	350.00
Certified checks outstanding
Total	$ 266,547.91

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, ss.

I, GEO. F. HENNINGS, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

GEO. F. HENNINGS, Cashier.

Correct Attest:
L. Lessinger
Thos. H. Hunt
Directors

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of January, 1913.

E. G. BUSE, Notary Public.

My Commission Expires Feb. 9th, 1914.

First State Bank

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF THE FIRST STATE BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS, MINN., at the close of business on Dec. 31, 1912. Date of call by State Bank, Feb. 4th, 1913. Published by Feb. 7th, 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$ 65,000.00
Overdrafts	1,000.00
Bonds, Stocks and Securities	5,000.00
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	1,000.00
Due from Banks	3,547.91
Cash on hand	1,000.00
Checks and cash items	1,000.00
Total	$ 77,547.91

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$ 25,000.00
Surplus fund	2,500.00
Undivided Profits, net	1,000.00
Deposits subject to check	$44,532.91
Time certificates	4,515.00
Total deposits	49,047.91
Total	$ 77,547.91

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, ss.

I, A. M. Higinbotham, President, and Noel Delorme, Cashier, of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

A. M. HIGINBOTHAM, President.
NOEL DELORME, Cashier.

Correct Attest: (Two) Directors
A. M. HIGINBOTHAM
OLE HANSON

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of February, 1913.

(Seal) NOEL DELORME, Notary Public.

My commission expires March 15, 1915.

First State Bank of Oklee.

Statement of the condition of the First State Bank of Oklee, at business on Dec. 31, 1912.

Date of call by Supt. Feb. 4th, 1913.

Date of report to Supt. Feb. 7th, 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$ 95,172.14
Overdrafts	1,154.39
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	4,000.00
Due from banks	3,547.91
Cash on hand (items below)
Gold	1,000.00
Silver	15.00
Nickels	85.11
Total	$ 104,974.55

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$ 25,000.00
Surplus fund	2,500.00
Undivided Profits, net	1,000.00
Deposits subject to check	$ 74,474.55
Total	104,974.55

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, ss.

I, A. Duby, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

A. DUBY, Cashier.

Correct Attest: (Two) Directors
A. M. HIGINBOTHAM
OLE HANSON

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of February, 1913.

(Seal) PETER F. POULIOT, Notary Public.

My commission expires March 15, 1915.

First State Bank of Oklee.

Statement of the condition of the First State Bank of Oklee, at business on Dec. 31, 1912.

Date of call by Supt. Feb. 4th, 1913.

Date of report to Supt. Feb. 7th, 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	$ 95,172.14
Overdrafts	1,154.39
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	4,000.00
Due from banks	3,547.91
Cash on hand (items below)
Gold	1,000.00
Silver	15.00
Nickels	85.11
Total	$ 104,974.55

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$ 25,000.00
Surplus fund	2,500.00
Undivided Profits, net	1,000.00
Deposits subject to check	$ 74,474.55
Total	104,974.55

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, ss.

I, A. Duby, Cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

A. DUBY, Cashier.

Correct Attest: (Two) Directors
A. M. HIGINBOTHAM
OLE HANSON

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of February, 1913.

(Seal) PETER F. POULIOT, Notary Public.

My commission expires March 15, 1915.

FIRST STATE BANK OF BROOKS

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF THE FIRST STATE BANK OF BROOKS, at the close of business on Dec. 31, 1912.

Date of call by Supt. Feb. 4, 1913.

Date of report to Supt. Feb. 7, 1913.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$ 87,000.00
Overdrafts	1,000.00
Other bonds, stocks and securities	1,000.00
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	2,000.00
Due from banks	4,000.00
Cash on hand (items below)
Gold	500.00
Silver	100.00
Other	115.00
Total	$ 95,715.00

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$ 25,000.00
Surplus fund	2,500.00
Undivided profits, net	1,000.00
Deposits subject to check	$ 67,215.00
Total	$ 95,715.00

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, ss.

We, A. L. Gibson, President, and S. L. Gibson, Cashier, of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

A. L. GIBSON, President.
S. L. GIBSON, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of February, 1913.

(Seal) ALBERT PUDIL, Notary Public.

My commission expires Sept. 15, 1913.

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage on Lease Land.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, in Probate Court:

In the Matter of the Estate of Josephat Corbeil, deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Victoria Corbeil, Leo Corbeil; Ginne Corbeil; Virginia Corbeil; Cornelia Corbeil; and all persons interested in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent: The petition of Victoria Corbeil, as representative of the above named decedent, being duly filed in this court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and of all the interested parties that certain lands of said decedent described therein be sold and praying that a license be to Victoria Corbeil granted to sell the same:

Now, therefore, it is ordered that you be hereby cited and required to appear before this court, in the probate court room in the Probate Court House in said County, Red Lake City, on Red Lake Falls, State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of March, 1913, at 10 o'clock P. M. you the proper person interested should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, with the seal thereof affixed, this 7th day of February, 1913.

(Seal) A. L. GIBSON, Judge of Probate.

Attest: A. L. GIBSON, Clerk of Court.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	$ .76
Durum	.75
Rye	.46
Oats	.32
Flax	1.21
Barley	.40
Potatoes—new	.25
Butter—creamery	.33
Butter—dairy	.30
Eggs—fresh	.26
Eggs—packed	.22

BUY IT NOW
RIGHT-CUT
CHEWING TOBACCO
GUARANTEED

Get a can of "Right-Cut"—the Real Tobacco Chew—New and Better—5 Cents

MEN who chew "Right-Cut" like it better than any other tobacco. Fine blend of mellow, sappy leaf—not filled with licorice or sweetening.

New Cut—you get the flavor.

More satisfying than old-style tobaccos—and lasts longer. 5-cent can of "Right-Cut" goes further than a dime's worth of the old kind.

Ask your dealer today.

We guarantee it to be pure chewing tobacco

WEYMAN-BRUTON CO.

When You Have Saved

$5.00
$50.00
$100.00
$1,000.00
$10,000.00

the first question arising is "HOW SHALL I INVEST IT"

There is no better way than in a Certificate of Deposit in The Farmers National Bank.

Our Certificates of Deposit are issued in sums of $1.00 and upwards. They bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent, payable every six or twelve months as desired.

The Certificates of Deposit of the Farmers National Bank, as far as security is concerned,are practically on par with United States Government Bonds and are about three times as profitable.

Farmers National Bank
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Farm Loans Closed Promptly.

Another Wrestling Match

DORAN CURTIS

Doran Curtis of Halstad vs. Jimmy Potts of Minneapolis

Lotus Theatre, Red Lake Falls

Preliminaries will start at 8:00 o'clock; main match at 9:00. Admission 50c; ringside $1.00. Ladies free.

JIMMY POTTS

Thursday Evening, Feb. 20

HORSES

From now on I will always have on hand a large number of native broke mares, ranging in weight from 1200 to 1500 pounds. Can fit you out with any horses that you may need for your spring work. You can always buy them RIGHT from me.

LOUIS SIEFF, SR.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

THEO. ALTENDORF Dr. S. S. FAUSCHUG
Physician and Surgeon
Office in Sieff Building
Office Hours 10 to 12 a. m. 2 to 4 p. m.
Phone 24

DEFECTIVE PAGE INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

MinnesotaHistoricalSociety MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1903
RED LAKE COUNTIES—ESTABLISHED 1896

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1913. VOL. XXX—NO. 22

WILL VOTE ON THE PROPOSITION

VOTERS OF RED LAKE COUNTY TOWNS TO CONSIDER TOWNSHIP SYSTEM.

The proposition to change the manner of handling the road work to the township system will be voted on by the people of all or nearly all of the townships of Red Lake county in the spring election to be held March31. This is an important move and the Gazette will be pleased to announce after election that a majority of the people in each township favored the change.

The difference between the poll tax system and the township system is the difference between doing the work systematically and economically and doing it by guess and at a large expense of labor for comparatively little in the way of results.

Under the township system all work, road construction and road repair is done by contract. Road taxes are paid in cash and the man who does the work gets the cash. Every man who does road work is working on his own time and he gets his pay when his work is done according to contract.

The towns of Gurnee and Equality have been on the township system for several years and the farmers out there will tell you, probably without a single exception, that they are getting several times the amount of road work done at about half the amount of their taxes under the old system.

Any intelligent man is capable of understanding the advantages of the one system over the other and the proposition should carry in every township if the farmers take time to give it serious consideration.

Even the man who likes the job of "working out" road taxes can have no consistent reason for opposing the change, for those who desire to do road work can do enough contract work to pay their taxes for several years.

In the work of the new system there is no red tape that may cause any inconvenience or unnecessary expense. Contracts are awarded by the town board and when the work is completed and approved it is paid for. The time of the town board costs less than the time of the path master. Often all of the work done in a township by a dozen can be inspected and approved in a single day.

These statements are based upon the results in the townships of Gurnee and Equality and other localities where the system is in operation. Aside from these evidences of successful operation, the business like method of handling the work ought to appeal to the intelligent man as a big improvement over the old system.

The Gazette wishes to urge every farmer to give this proposition thoughtful consideration between now and the time of the spring election. And if it looks like good business to you work and vote for good roads. The successful farmer is a good business man and he should consider this proposition as a business man.

CURTIS AND SAILOR JACK.

Big Wrestling Match at Thief River Falls Next Tuesday.

Thief River Falls, Minn., February 17th, 1913.—What will unquestionably be the greatest wrestling match ever witnessed in this section of the country is the match-bout to take place at the Auditorium here on Tuesday evening, February 25, 1913, between Jerry Curtis of Hatfield and Sailor Jack of Duluth. Curtis is in the very best of shape which he has proven by his continuous victories over the Twin Cities best materials.

Sailor Jack is already here and will finish his training at the local gymnasium. In the event that Curtis should defeat the wonderful tar from Duluth, the way stands open for him for a chance at the world's title.

FAVORS COUNTY EXPERT.

Dean Woods Explains Purpose of the Experimental Farms.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 18.—Addressing audiences of nearly 1,800 persons in the morning and afternoon sessions at the short course at the Crookston School of Agriculture, Dean Woods, Prof. Andrew Rose and Prof. Charles Nelson of the state college of Agriculture, discussed farming topics yesterday.

Dean Woods answered broadly some of the criticisms that had been made of the experiment farms. He corrected the impression that the experiment stations were for the sole purpose of seeing how much greater the crop yields on these farms could be made than the yields on surrounding farms, but were rather to solve in a practical manner the problems confronted by the farmer; to discover, for example, the remedy for an unsatisfactory crop that had been planted on the experiment farm under ordinary conditions, in an intelligent manner.

Dean Woods said the best results were to be obtained from the farms of the farmers, with the work done by the farmers under the supervision of the trained expert, under the county expert system.

Soap Powders.

Soap powders or washing powders are not desirable as a general rule, because so liable to be adulterated with caustic soda which injures the clothes washed with it. There are said to be a few good washing powders, however, but the only way to judge of their merits is by trial. Since there are many poor and so few good ones, it is better for housekeepers to buy soap for washing and soda ash for water softening purposes as they are both cheaper and better for the latter can than soap powders of unknown quality. Either sal sod soda or washing soda are good softening agents for borax is caustic soda, while the latter a carbonate of soda. Borax and lime harmful, when properly used.—Juniata L. Sheppard, University Farm, St. Paul.

SOMETHING NEW FOR MINNESOTA

LEGISLATURE HAS APPROVED SEVERAL SO-CALLED RADICAL BILLS.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—Unless an overloaded bill hopper interferes a one hundred and one blocking schemes incident to the closing features of the house legislature's work accordingly the output of the fifty-eighth session of the Minnesota legislature will be the most radical of any lawmaking body in the history of the state. Laws will glut the statute books that Minnesota never dreamed of before. The senate has endorsed Senator John Noonan's bill providing for the recall. The members would not even stand to have it amended to the extent of removing the judiciary from its provisions. The week provides the house put the initiative and referendum across by an overwhelming vote and it followed that measure by adopting woman's suffrage. The latter body killed county option by a big vote, but still has the tonsage tax and the revocation of the "Red Mosse" party on tap and there is no telling what they will do with them. The feature to date has been that every radical bill—so regarded by the conservative element of the two bodies—has gone through almost intact and by a vote that is surprising there has not been any dodging. Even the conservative element at times has fallen in with the majority. What the end will be no one can tell. It is certain that the senate will have the last call on most of the radical measures and from present indications body do not relish it. They fear for their political future.

Speaking of some of the radical legislation proposed—many possible would not call it radical, progressive is probably the right word—and the action of the committees in charge is invariably sending it to the floor of the two houses with recommendations to pass, I attended a meeting of the house temperance committee the other day. Everything under the sun calculated to swat the demon rum was in its hands and there were a number present to protest. The principal bill under consideration was one calculated to discourage treating. While willing to have it made a law those opposed to certain sections stated out that if they were not eliminated any real good that the bill might have would be offset by unlawful blackmail. The sections in dispute, they said, permitted such. They felt it could not be enforced.

"True," one member admitted, "this law can be evaded. A dozen subterfuges can be resorted to in getting around it, but then it might help some poor devil out in the country. You city chaps will get around it anyway." It was pointed out that the bill would prevent a man taking his family into a restaurant and including in the meal's drink for himself and wife. This also was admitted, but astounding features remained just the same. The anti-treating bill will be reported out and I would not be surprised if it passed.

The rumor and revocation for the past month that Ralph W. Wheelock, private secretary to Governor Eberhart, would succeed C. H. Ringdal on the board of control was given confirmation this week when Mr. Wheelock admitted that his appointment had been agreed upon. He will take up his new duties April 1. Who will succeed Wheelock as private secretary to the governor is not definitely known. Mr. Ringdal, who is a Democrat, had to go has been known right along. To allow him to resign would have kept the board in Democratic hands and this the administration will not stand for. All admit that Mr. Ringdal has made a good official, but politics is politics and there are lots of hungry mouths.

The Coates-Gilman election contest is out of the way and the bouza is breathing easier. As reported Coates won, though the vote 70 for him to 68 for C. A. Gilman, the contestant, was a surprise. The general feeling was that it would be close. Coates won practically on the face of the certificate and the fact that he was among the first to join the house organization forces. Sympathies aside, Gilman undoubtedly had the best of the disputed votes, which would have given him two majority, but Coates and his friends played the best game.

Last week the Hennepin grand jury refused to indict Dr. Frank E. Bunker former coroner of the state university, who a year ago nearly contributed the university officials with the startling announcement that he had been robbed of $15,000 in the university vaults while crossing the campus. He was indicted on the charge of embezzlement and his bondsmen made good. With $15,000 missing for five times and now passes into history a mystery which will likely never be fathomed or explained. Some think there is something the university officials do not like to talk about. Bunkerites are discouraged, yet the fact remains that like Hamlet, ghost it may yet stalk forth and frighten.

Continued on the Eighth Page.

Notice to Tax Payers.

Please remember that your personal property taxes are due by March 1st March 1st in order to save the 10 per cent penalty added on that date.

G. G. KINDBTH,
County Treasurer

WHAT OPINION HAVE YOU TO EXPRESS?

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE DESIRES INFORMATION ABOUT ROAD AID.

There is now much agitation for the granting by the federal government aid in the construction of public highways and the members of a joint committee are preparing a report to be submitted to congress with recommendations regarding the work to be undertaken.

Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., chairman of the committee, has sent out a letter asking for the expression of public opinion.

If you will express your opinions in answer to any of the following questions the Gazette will be glad to see that the information gets to the congressional committee:

"1. Should the Government make appropriations in aid of public roads?

"2. On what roads should the first Government appropriation be made: (a) all roads; (b) post roads (r. f. d. and star routes); (c) main travelled highways connecting important cities and towns in state; (d) trunk line interstate highways connecting state capitals and large cities?

"2. Should the Government appropriation be expended on construction, on maintenance, on general improvement, or on any or all of these, or should the allotment by the government be conditional, or paid as a reward after local authorities have constructed or maintained a highway in good condition?

"4. What proportion of cost of construction, improvement, or maintenance should be borne by National government, state, county, or road district, and abutting property owners respectively, or what amounts should be allotted to the states on an unconditional plan, or what amounts per mile should be paid as rewards?

"5. Should the federal appropriation be apportioned among the states on basis of population, area, mileage of roads, mileage of star routes, taxable valuation, or a combination of these?

"6. Should the supervision of construction or maintenance of government aided roads be by the federal government, the state and local authorities, or jointly?"

Today the Gazette received a communication from the National Highway association urging the endorsement of a plan to secure the establishment of a system of fifty thousand miles of national highways connecting the principal cities of the United States. Since this agitation is going on, it will be well for those who have opinions as to how the proposed appropriation should be expended, to tell the congressional committee what they think.

REGISTER OF DEEDS HAS NEW TITLE

IS NOW ALSO REGISTRAR OF TITLES—LANDS MAY BE REGISTERED.

Owners of Red Lake county lands may have them registered under the provisions of the Torrance act. Frank Jaffers, register of deeds, has been made registrar of titles and his bond has been approved and filed. Already some Red Lake county lands have been registered.

The purpose of the law is to clear up the title to lands and to simplify the making of transfers. The man who would register his land goes before the district court and proves his title and gets a decree from the court. He files the decree with the register of titles and gets a certificate of ownership. When future transfers of the land are made the new owner gets a certificate of ownership upon the filing of the deed.

The privilege of registering land is of particular advantage when the title to land has come to the owner through various sources or the land is made up of many lots. When the owner has established his title by the decree of court the state becomes the guarantor of the title. The transfers of title will in many cases greatly simplify the records.

LOSES HANDS AND FEET.

Man Who Was Badly Frozen Loses All Limbs.

A letter story sent out from Fosston last week is as follows:

R. N. Peacock, the Mallard Hotel keeper, who was terribly frozen two weeks ago, and afterwards brought to the Fosston hospital for treatment, had a second amputation a few days ago, Dr. Sather removing the fore part of both of the victim's feet. Previously his arms had been amputated above the wrists. The unfortunate, though on the road to recovery, is left in a pitifully helpless condition.

FOR LOW LANDS.

Government Will Supply Basket Willow Cuttings.

The Department of Agriculture is getting ready to fill requests for the basket willow cuttings grown last year on its experimental farm at Arlington, Va. Distribution of these cuttings takes place early in March each spring, and farmers and others who wish to make trials of basket willow on land not yet in cultivation. From 50 to 100 cuttings are given each person.

The distribution is not a mere giving away of experimental material to persons who desire to get something free; because it is required that each recipient of cuttings shall make a report of the treatment given and results obtained. Several select varieties are listed in each set that is distributed, and the aim is to secure information as to the best variety for each locality, since no one kind can be relied upon to yield the maximum results over a wide range of territory.

In basket willow investigations carried on at the Arlington farm, Arlington, Va., and at Ames, Iowa, by the Forest Service, particular attention has been given to the development of American species for basket-making purposes. The European species now commonly used have never proved themselves entirely adapted to American conditions and are as a rule less thrifty than the native species. At present there is at Arlington a willow garden containing nearly 500 lots gathered from all parts of the country and representing practically every species and variety found in the United States and Canada.

A system of selection which has been carried on for several years is already indicating which strains show the best basket willow characteristics for American conditions.

CREAMERY FINANCES.

Annual Report Prepared by Secretary Gusserell.

Total cream received ...	219286 lbs.
Average test ...	25.10
Total Butter fat ...	51530.99 lbs
Overrun ...	9268.12 lbs.
Overrun per cent ...	16.69
Total butter made ...	64901.25 lbs.

Receipts:

Balance on hand Dec. 20, 1911 ...	$ 257.60
Received for butter shipped and sold elsewhere ...	16548.76
Cash sales at factory ...	2.65
Charges to patrons ...	756.42
Total ...	$17078.93

Disbursements:

Paid patrons by checks ...	$14150.09
Paid patrons by butter and buttermilk ...	756.42
Supplies and running expenses ...	2046.87
Balance on hand Dec. 31st, 1912 ...	625.60
Total ...	$17078.93

W. J. GUSSERELL, Secretary.

Disposing of Ringdahl.

A rumor comes from St. Paul to the effect that Hon. C. H. Ringdahl is slated for the appointment of Interstate Insurance collector to succeed Martha Johnson. There was also a rumor that Mr. Ringdal would return to Crookston and might even be put on a candidate for the local post master.

Just how much foundation there is in the reports can be judged only by comparing Dame Rumor, who is a particularly good job in connection with possible Democratic appointments.—Crookston Times.

For Sale.

I am owner of the following land that I have within the next thirty days will sell for $14 per acre: 120 acres in Pennington county, namely, the E½ NE¼ Sec. 24-152-43. This is all fine laying land and most all can be cultivated and I will sell for a cheap for a snap address me, W. NILLES, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 1512 6 ave. East. F20-27

FARMERS ELEVATOR WILL BE BUILT

NO DOUBT HOUSE WILL BE PUT UP THIS COMING SEASON.

There is no doubt that a farmers' elevator will be constructed in Red Lake Falls this coming season. That was the concensus of opinion of the large number of farmers who attended the meeting held at the court house last Saturday afternoon.

A company with $10000 in capital, $5000 paid in, will be organized. The farmers who had been appointed to solicit of the sale of stock reported that they had made very satisfactory progress and they will report at a meeting to be held a little later. It is believed that all of the stock will be sold in a short time and the organization of the company completed.

Thomas Whalen, who was chairman of the meeting, appointed a committee to draft by-laws to be submitted for consideration at a meeting to be called a little later.

The proposition to tax at a potato warehouse in connection with the elevator was discussed and the chairman appointed a committee to look into the matter and report at the later meeting.

The elevator will be constructed on the Great Northern depot ground or on a site not definitely decided upon.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the City Council held at the office of the City Clerk, January 20th 1913.

Meeting called to order by President Cromme.

Members all present except Hunt.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

On motion carried the following bills were allowed:

Red River Power Co., street lighting for Dec. 1912 ...	$73.50
Sam E. Hunt, services as member Auditing Board ...	6.00
Joseph Perrault, services as member Auditing Board ...	6.00
Simon Paul, services as member Auditing board ...	6.00
M. Skala, merchandise ...	1.70
Geo. P. Hennings, services as member Auditing board ...	6.00
W. A. Schenkler, formaldehyde fumigators ...	6.40
L. Lemieux, services as city physician ...	2.00
L. Roy, coal for city hall and fire hall ...	66.40
On motion carried the following bills were laid on the table:
L. Roy, charges ...	2.00
Red River Power Co., lamp rental to Dec. 1912 ...	3.50

A communication from the City Physician relative to the relief of certain poor of the town was read and on motion carried was ordered placed on file.

On motion meetnig adjourned.

ATTEST: A. CHOATE, Mayor.
Approved this 6th day of February, 1913.

I. LEMIEUX,
City Clerk.

The Flying Dutchman
LINE OF Farm Machinery

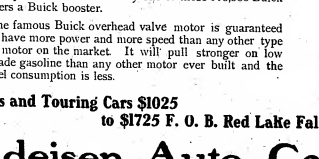
We have a Complete Line of
MONITOR double and single disc drills
BEST EVER gang and sulky plows
GRETCHEN disc and shoe corn planters
MICHIGAN cultivators
O. K. CHAMPION potato planters
Genuine T. G. MANDT wagons
HENNEY buggies

Just got in Two Carloads of Machinery and can supply you with anything you need in this line.

M. SKALA & SON
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
NORTH SIDE

110,000 BUICK USERS
Every One a Buick Booster



There is a certain prestige that owning your own motor car gives you in your community.

There is a certain satisfaction in knowing you own a car that will take you anywhere and bring you back. It is this quality of dependability which has put 110,000 Buicks on the road, and it is this same quality of dependability which has made every one of those 110,000 Buick users a Buick booster.

The famous Buick overhead valve motor is guaranteed to have more power and more speed than any other type of motor on the market. It will pull stronger on low grade gasoline than any other motor ever built and the fuel consumption is less.

Roadsters and Touring Cars $1025 to $1725 F. O. B. Red Lake Falls

Findeisen Auto. Co.
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
County Agents--Buick and Ford Automobiles
Indian Motorcycles

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

C. R. C. BAKER, Publisher.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

Grip takes to the low-necked, low-shoed girl.

Many a bachelor will breathe easier, for leap year has gone.

This should be a good year, for there is luck to odd numbers.

Love is the one game that has no code of rules, and wants none.

How is it that fudge can be sent by parcel post, though dynamite is refused?

The girl rich quick rarebit always has a girl rich quick victim. They go together.

Mules are no joke, at least not Missouri mules, for they now command $212 a head.

Make Courtship a Science is the motto of the Fathers and Mothers' club of Boston.

Sir Thomas Lipton says liquor drinking is ruining the nations. And tea is so cheap, too!

"If society women smoke," remarks one of them, "that's their business." Also, the tobacconists.

A car borne in New York committed suicide. Another instance of human intelligence in animals.

Dr. Wendy Hutchinson, as champion of pie and the hard-boiled egg, talks like a railroad lunch counter.

Going down to the sea in ships seems to be about as perilous to the enlightened age as ever it was.

Curing all available microbes in one's living room is about as bright as warming a serpent in one's bosom.

The world's aluminum industry is said to be under control, but the spelling of it has never been regulated.

A disagreeing pair were likened to kittens by a magistrate. Then, again, they are sometimes called simply cats.

Owners of automobiles must carry pocs who exercise their own sweet will about taking out poetic licenses.

Germany's federal council refuses to block duelling in the army. Its members may have feared being challenged.

The seed catalogs are coming in and all your resolutions against garden making this year will be met and overcome.

France complains that the automobile has destroying her good roads—the famous routes nationales of the Napoleonic era.

Surely the title of meanest man must be passed over to that fellow who said the man who took him fishing in his auto because he was burt in an accident.

A college professor declares it is not always easy to tell the difference between genius and idiocy. One great difference is that the idiots generally escape consciousness.

Somebody has invented a cowcatcher for automobiles, which may or may not relieve the anxiety with which this kine have been afflicted ever since the advent of the petrol cart.

It is said in a New York college that more city boys are studying farming than country boys. This, however, may be only the natural reaction of wanting something different.

Titled mules are renting them selves out an afternoon tea attractions in London for from $7.50 to $15 a tea. The impoverished aristocracy is learning methods of modern finance.

A baby girl in Boston is being trained so to become a perfect woman. If her ideal destiny is fulfilled, she is going to be so lonely that she will wonder if perfection pays.

In Denver a bill has been introduced threatening dire punishment for physicians who remove healthy appendices. Which causes the question: "Is a removed appendix a healthy one?"

The society to abolish useless gift-giving is to be extended to take in a crusade against useless tipping. But the trouble about the latter is the gigantic difficulty of telling in advance when tipping is useless.

A New Jersey judge rules that $20 is enough for any woman to pay for a suit. But wait until New Jersey is annexed by New York city, and see how completely he will reverse himself.

The fingerbowl of the restaurants to go. It is now classed with the roller towel and the common drinking cup. In even high class restaurants only a few finger bowls are kept, and these do service for many patrons.

The message caught at Arlington, Va., from the Eiffel tower, in Paris, shows that the possibilities of the wireless are practically limitless. The girdling of the earth by the power of man will soon be more than a poetic fiction.

Girls who seek beauty are advised by an expert to wash and iron clothes. It is safe to say that is the only indispensable that would prevail upon them to undertake so important, if unpopular, a household task.

Since wireless communication is to be established between this government's station in Arlington, Va., and that of the French government on the Eiffel tower, it may be possible for our women to change the styles daily in accordance with the dictates of Paris fashion makers.

CAPT. SCOTT AND FOUR OF PARTY PERISH IN SOUTH

WERE OVERCOME BY BLIZZARD ON WAY BACK FROM FOOT OF THE POLE AND KILLED BY A FALL.

RELIEF STEAMER BRINGS NEWS OF THE DISASTER

King George and the Royal Geographical Society Mourn Loss—Reached Pole Jan. 18, 1912, Month After Amundsen.

London, Feb. 12.—At a meeting of the Royal Geographical society last night announcement was made of the disaster which has overtaken Capt. Robert F. Scott's Antarctic expedition, resulting in the death of Captain Scott, Dr. E. A. Wilson, Lieut. H. E. Bowers, Capt. L. E. G. Oates and Petty Officer E. Evans.

Found Amundsen Records.

"Captain Scott's party," said Dougla W. Freshfield, vice president of the society, in making the announcement, "found Capt. Raold Amundsen's tents and records at the South pole.

"On the return trip, about March 29, 1912, 11 miles from One Ton Depot, a blizzard overwhelmed them. They had suffered greatly from hunger and exposure, from which the death of Scott, Bowers and Wilson virtually was due. Capt. Oates died on the blizzard swept down on the party.

How They Died.

"Oates died from exposure a few days before the death of Evans overtook from a fall. The other members of the expedition are reported to be in good health. The survivors buried and cared their bodies and records soma distance.

A searching' expedition recovered the bodies and records of the party.

"Capt. Scott was the first man a native of high courage, endurance and sacrifice given in Thomas F. Scott's farewell message to the world to the future competitors for dominance by the feelings of the British public to day.

Last Words of Diary.

The closing words of Captain Scott's epic were:

"Had we lived I should have had a tale to tell of the hardihood, the endurance and the courage of my companions which would have stirred the heart of every Englishman. These rough notes and our dead bodies must tell the tale. But surely, surely, a great and rich country like ours will see that those who are dependent upon us are properly provided for."

Last Words Have Effect.

These words have had an electric effect. Steps already are being taken to respond in his appeal to the nation by assuring a comfortable future for those dependents of the men who, while meeting certain death, still could write that they did not regret their journey.

King George Grieves.

A meeting of sympathy in the geographical society from the king was read last evening in which his majesty said:

"I am deeply grieved to hear the very sad news that the whole party of Captain Scott and four of his party, but when we were hoping shortly to welcome them home on their return from the great and arduous undertaking, I sympathize with the whole Royal Geographical society in the loss of science and discovery and also in the death of these brilliant explorers."

A message from the king was in reply to a note transmitted to his majesty by Lord Curzon of Kedleston, president of the society.

The regular program of the meeting was abandoned and the Royal Geographical society listened sadly to tributes to the explorers. After giving what details he had received, Vice President Freshfield reviewed the plans of the expedition.

Reached Goal Jan. 18.

They reached their goal Jan. 18, 1912, about a month after Captain Amundsen, the Norwegian, had planted the flag of his country there. They then turned back toward the base they had formed on their outward journey, but were overwhelmed by a blizzard.

The news of the death of the explorers came in a cablegram to Sir Clements Markham, president of the society, from the captain of the Terra Nova, the vessel which had taken Scott's expedition to the south and which had gone again to fetch them back after the necessary supplies of their task. A searching expedition recovered the bodies and records with particular care.

Only a few brief bulletins were sent from the New Zealand port of Oamaru by the captain of the Terra Nova, who related simply the fate of the party

24,402 Tons More Tonnage.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Shipbuilding during January added 24,402 tons to the world's steel vessel tonnage. Seventy-nine vessels were constructed, 67 of steel and 12 of steel. Thirty-seven vessels, aggregating 18,156 tons, were built on the Atlantic and gulf, and 27, aggregating 50,532 tons, on the Pacific coast. The largest steel vessels were the Santa Cruz, 6,021 tons, built at Philadelphia; the Norfolk, 3,521 tons, at Camden, N. J.; Oliver Ames, 3,881 tons, at Wilmington, Del.

Navy Paymaster Is Dismissed.

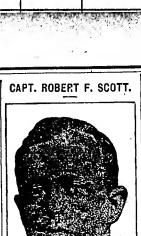
Washington, Feb. 11.—Assistant Paymaster Harry H. Palmer of the navy, who recently was tried and convicted by general court martial at Philadelphia, has been dismissed from the service. He was found guilty of financial irregularities, reuffering false returns, and making false statements in a navy examining board for promotion, negligence and inefficient performance of duty and failure to pay his debts. Assistant Paymaster Palmer's last duty was on the Transport Prairie.

Congress Swamped with Work.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Congress has reached the "scrimmage" stage of the session. Important legislation which has accumulated in the last two years is to be crowded into the work of the next three weeks. It is not an unusual situation at the end of a short session, but experience of former years apparently has had little influence on the handling of the big supply measures, there remaining to be considered appropriations for nearly $1,000,000,000 worth of public expenditures.

Dr. Mary Walker Very Ill.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Dr. Mary Walker, noted suffragist leader, first woman army surgeon in the world and famous for her adoption of male attire, lies at a hospital in a critical condition result from shock caused by a fall a week ago. Dr. Walker is 81 years old. The fall came as a result of the aged women's arrest Saturday, Feb. 1. If she recovers she asserts that she will make her first duty the bringing of a damaga suit against the city for false arrest because she was on the street dressed in men's clothing.



CAPT. ROBERT F. SCOTT.

and then proceeded with his vessel for the port of Lyttleton, where he should arrive Thursday.

Gloom Over London.

The news of the disaster cast a gloom over London which has been unequalled since the death of King Edward.

The Terra Nova sailed on June 1, 1910, for New Zealand and the south pole. It was joined by Captain Robert F. Scott a few days later at Cardiff. The expedition consisted of twenty-two officers and scientists in addition to a crew of twenty-three picked men from the British royal navy.

The date of Captain Scott's attainment of the south pole, Jan. 18, 1912, appears to have reached the goal of the expedition almost exactly one month after Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, planted Amundsen's report sent to King Haakon of Norway read:

"Pole attained 14th-17th December, 1911. All well."

News of Success After Death.

The report of Captain Scott was believed not to be received by the waiting world until after his death. Details had come to hand this morning as to how the records of Captain Scott were found, but only the barest facts of the pole on that data mas loned was definitely known.

The expedition under Captain Scott was the best equipped that ever had been gathered together.

Amundsen Is Shocked.

Madison, Wis.—"Horrible, horrible! I can hardly believe it," said Captain Roald Amundsen when he received from the Associated Press news of the disaster to Captain Scott and his party.

Captain Amundsen reached here from La Crosse. The captain said he was too dazed to speak but finally said: "It is hard to believe this. There must be some horrible mistake. It seems incredible that such a large party should perish in this way. They have been well near to their base of supplies and it is also hard to understand how the weather could have been so severe as to cause the death of all of them."

"Correct, correct," was Amundsen's comment, when he was told of Scott's discovery of the Norwegian flag left by Amundsen. He gave full credit to the report that Scott had found the pole. He said he was not personally acquainted with Scott—had never seen him, but referred to him as a fine, brave man.

Cable to Notify Mrs. Scott.

San Francisco.—Repeated efforts of the wireless stations in and around San Francisco, to communicate to Mrs. Scott word of her husband's death have been without success. Mrs. Scott is a passenger of the steamer Asarangi, bound for New Zealand. She departed May 1 from here to greet her husband and when he arrived from the antarctic zone.

The Asarangi is approximately 1,000 miles from the coast. Her wireless has a radius of only about 300 miles, so the messages sent from shore to her decoded nor no answer has been obtained.

Three Slayers Executed.

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Three murderers were put to death in the electric chair at the Sing Sing prison Monday. Two of them murdered women. All three went to the chair with firm steps, and each as he passed from the cell house to the death chamber called back a cheerful farewell to those who remained awaiting their end. The first murder in the row was Joseph Gorfida, a huge Italian who killed his wife because she threatened to divorce him.

Campaign Fund Probe On.

Washington, Feb. 12.—An investigation into the campaign activities of the last congressional campaign and reference to alleged assessments upon officeholders was started today by the committee committee investigating campaign expenditures.

LIQUOR BILL PASSED

BILL PUT THROUGH BY HOUSE SUBSTITUTED FOR KENYON-SHEPPARD.

STOPS TRADE IN DRY STATES

Passage of Measure Comes After a Prolonged Debate—Friends of Measure Want House to Concur, Now.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The senate passed the Webb liquor bill, already passed by the house, as a substitute for the Kenyon-Sheppard bill.

The Webb bill would prohibit shipments of liquors from one state to another when intended to be received or sold in violation of the law of the state to which the shipment is made.

Friends of the legislation now will seek to have the house concur in the senate bill, which differs from the bill passed by the house only in number. Should that be done, the bill will be considered in conference, but the bill passed by the senate will go to the president for his signature.

Debate Is Prolonged.

The substitution of the Webb bill for the Kenyon-Sheppard bill came at the close of prolonged debate.

Senator Sheppard, during the day, had failed to get unanimous consent for the substitution of the Webb bill for the bill of which he was a joint author. Senator Kenyon, in charge of the senate bill, closed the debate by asking that the Webb bill be substituted as the text of the bill but not permit the voting on the Webb bill as an independent measure.

The voting was first upon the perfection of the Kenyon-Sheppard bill. By a vote of 61 to 23 the senate agreed to the committee amendment adding a section to the bill prohibiting, in terms that interdicting liquors should receive consent of the state upon crossing state boundaries.

Webb Bill Amended.

Senator Hitchcock's amendment to except liquor intended for personal use was defeated, then a roll call was taken by Senator O'Gorman excepting from the amendment persons who in sacramentol use was likewise defeated 31 to 59.

Senator Kenyon succeeded in having his measure amended to become operative July 1, 1913. Thereupon Senator Gallinger asked for the substitution of the Webb bill for the senate measure. He likewise succeeded in having the bills amended so as to bring the liquors in export except as to the number of the bills.

TRY TO AVERT RAIL STRIKE

Believed Both Sides in East Mogs to Reach Some Agree-

New York, Feb. 12.—The action of President Carter of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, in withdrawing the notice of the strike ballot of the 30,000 firemen employed by eastern railroads until the meeting of representatives of the men and the conference committee of railroad managers is taken as indication that both sides hope an agreement may be reached and a strike averted. The committee of managers have issued a statement in which it was stated that the crisis in the situation will be reached today.

The statement also says the demands of the firemen provide for an increase in wages which would cost the 54 eastern railroads $8,000,000, or about 10 per cent. The railroads have taken the position that such increases in wages are neither warranted by conditions nor within their power to pay, having regard to all of their obligations.

SALVIDOR PRESIDENT DEAD

Dr. Manuel Araujo Dies of Bullet Wound Received in Assassin. February 4.

San Salvador, Feb. 11.—Dr. Manuel E. Araujo, president of the republic of Salvador, who was wounded by the bullets of an assassin on Feb. 4, is dead. Dr. Araujo died without recovered to the office of chief executive.

President Araujo was attacked and fatally wounded by a political rival, Meutillo, in a confession, declared that he was in no way concerned. President Araujo had been connected in Guatemala City.

New York Banker Indicted.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Henry G. Henry of New York, member of Saloman & Co., was indicted by the federal grand jury for contempt of a congress committee investigating the money trust investigators the names of 74 bank officers who participated with profit in the Lorimer election in California petroleum stock.

PRESIDENT MADERO

President Madero is confident that the government forces will restore order immediately. He maintains that the rebellious forces are weakening.

JAPANESE PREMIER STONED

SIX KILLED AND 65 INJURED WHEN MOBS CLASH.

Newspaper Plants and the Homes of Ministers Objects of Attack.

Tokio, Feb. 12.—The Jiji Shimpo publishes the announcement that at an extraordinary meeting the cabinet decided to resign, but this was not confirmed, and later it was announced that the resignation of the ministry is expected to be tendered any time.

Six persons were killed and 65 seriously injured in the political rioting the situation is serious.

The premier of Japan, Prince Katsura, was stoned by a mob in the streets. His resignation has been demanded by the people. Stones rained on the offices of the bureaucratic newspapers and the residences of members of the ministers. They burned and wrecked several stations, tram cars and private buildings.

Detachments of troops patrol the streets. Each newspaper office is protected by 50 soldiers, to whom half hourly reports have been received. They have their bayonets fixed for instant use.

The minister of the imperiel household announced that martial law will be proclaimed if there are any further attempts at incendiarism.

A mass meeting was held in Hanya park in the center of the city. The mob started from there to attack the minister's dwelling. Police with drawn swords drove them back. In order to accomplish this the police charged several times, wounding many of the demonstrators.

The crowds reassembled around the building of the newspaper Kokumin Shimbun, with the intention of burning it. The staff of the newspaper offered strenuous resistance with firearms, swords and knives. One of the rioters was killed by a bullet fired from the building. This only served to infuriate the mob which then footed on the building and attacked the offices of other newspapers.

In a second attack on the Kokumin Shimbun building, bundles of straw, were set on fire and thrown within. The fighting became desperate. Two persons were killed and more than a score wounded.

Earlier in the day great crowds col lected in the park, where police were drawn up to protect the members.

The disorders began with the throwing of missiles at the police. Several times they charged the mobs causing bloody collisions ensued. Three persons were killed and many injured, the latter hospitalized. Many police were injured by the stone throwing.

Mrs. Cleveland Is Wed.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 11.—Mrs. Grover Cleveland and Thomas Jex Preston, Jr., of Wells college, were married at 10:30 a. m. yesterday by Rev. Henry Van Dyke Hibben of Princeton university in Prospect, the executive residence of the university. No preliminary announcement had been made of the marriage and the ultimate simplicity was observed in the ceremony. Because of the recent illness of Mr. Preston, the wedding was private, there were few other guests in addition to the members of the two immediate families.

Nine Jurors Chosen for Sneed Trial.

Vernon, Tex., Feb. 12.—Nine jurors have been obtained for the trial of J. B. Sneed, charged with killing Al G. Boyce, jr., at Amarillo, Sept. 14, 1911. Fifteen talesmen in all have been were examined. An additional venire of 50 men was ordered.

Miners Take Strike Fields.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 10.—No truce has been made by Governor Glasscock into the Kanawha coal miners district. Armed miners have taken possession of the strike territory and a pitched battle in the afternoon railroad crews refused to take trains into the coal fields. The last telegraph wire to the strike territory has been cut. Unestimated fatalities at Eskdale, Stockton and Peard. A large number of persons are leaving the district.

Wife Assailor Paroled.

Appleton, Wis., Feb. 10.—Ban H. Bissing, arrested Jan. 16, after attempting to shoot his wife and son as the former was on the way to get a divorce, pleaded guilty Saturday, but not until after he had signed a quitclaim deed of his property in his wife's favor, evidently causing her to withdraw opposition to his being paroled. Bissing was sentenced two years in Waupun and was immediately paroled. His attorney said his downfall was due partially to financial advantages given him by his father, who was wealthy.

Three Aviators Killed.

Lisbon, Feb. 11.—Advices from Mozambique, Africa, say the notorious native chief Nganna recently raided the Nampala district of Mozambique, killed three white officers and settlers. The governor immediately dispatched a punitive expedition. Advices from Lisbon say that the expedition came upon the band and routed them after the loss of fifty killed and 200 captured. The Portuguese had only 600. The Portuguese lost four men killed and 22 wounded. The victory is considered very important

Nevada Divorce Law Amended.

Carson City, Nev., Feb. 10.—After several hours struggle the divorce law amendment, requiring 12 months residence in the state instead of six months, passed the assembly by a vote of 35 to 22. It goes next to the senate where another hard fight is expected.

Four Warships to Central America.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Storm clouds over Central America with the single exception of Costa Rica, has caused the United States to order four warships there.

REPORT 1000 KILLED

BATTLE RAGES IN THE VERY HEART OF THE MEXICAN CAPITAL.

REBEL AND FEDERAL ARMIES

Fight for Seven Hours and Honors are Even—Taft Calls Special Conference to Consider.

Washington, Feb. 12.—As a result of an early morning conference at the White House, three additional battleships were sent to the east coast of Mexico and orders will be issued for the immediate placing in commission of two army transports for the transportation of troops to Mexico City for the protection of the lives of American and foreigners should the situation there grow worse.

Taft Calls Conference.

President Taft shortly after midnight summoned Secretary of State Knox, Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Meyer, together with a number of army and navy officers. At 1:30 o'clock this morning the conference was begun.

The officers in the conference were Major General Wood, chief of staff of the army; Brigadier General Crozier, president of the war college; Brigadier General James B. Aleshire, chief of the quartermaster's corps of the army.

Mexico City.—The federals and rebels fought seven hour drawn battle in the heart of the city Tuesday. When darkness put an end to the fighting neither side appeared to have gained any material advantage.

Estimates of Casualties.

Foreign residents for the most part remained under cover but three Americans suffered injuries from stray bullets. They are Lieutenant Hamilton the author, who was shot in the thigh; Dr. R. H. McCrosson, of Lincoln, Neb., and Mark Hanson, a negro of Madison, Ill.

Artillery played the chief part in the fighting, but rifle fire was kept up continously, though more or less effectively. President Madero and his ministers expressed satisfaction with the day's work and ventured the opinion that today would see the overpowering of the enemy.

Gen. Felix Diaz, in his arsenal stronghold, appeared as defiant as at any time since he was released from prison by the insurrectionists and promises a repetition of the terrific bombardment, the forenoon of which is attested by the many partially destroyed structures within a radius of half a mile.

Men and Horses Mowed.

The greatest loss of life resulted in the charge of rurales who with daring assaulting to force themselves against a rebel battery which mowed down men and horses almost to extinction.

A mass meeting was held in theaya park in the center of the city. The mob started from there to attack the minister's dwelling. Police with drawn swords drove them back. In order to accomplish this the police charged several times, wounding many of the demonstrators.

The crowds reassembled around the building of the newspaper Kokumin Shimbun, with the intention of burning it. The staff of the newspaper offered strenuous resistance with firearms, swords and knives. One of the rioters was killed by a bullet fired from the building. This only served to infuriate the mob which then footed on the building and attacked the offices of other newspapers.

In a second attack on the Kokumin Shimbun building, bundles of straw, were set on fire and thrown within. The fighting became desperate. Two persons were killed and more than a score wounded.

Earlier in the day great crowds col lected in the park, where police were drawn up to protect the members.

The disorders began with the throwing of missiles at the police. Several times they charged the mobs causing bloody collisions ensued. Three persons were killed and many injured, the latter hospitalized. Many police were injured by the stone throwing.

Mrs. Cleveland Is Wed.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 11.—Mrs. Grover Cleveland and Thomas Jex Preston, Jr., of Wells college, were married at 10:30 a. m. yesterday by Rev. Henry Van Dyke Hibben of Princeton university in Prospect, the executive residence of the university. No preliminary announcement had been made of the marriage and the ultimate simplicity was observed in the ceremony. Because of the recent illness of Mr. Preston, the wedding was private, there were few other guests in addition to the members of the two immediate families.

Nine Jurors Chosen for Sneed Trial.

Vernon, Tex., Feb. 12.—Nine jurors have been obtained for the trial of J. B. Sneed, charged with killing Al G. Boyce, jr., at Amarillo, Sept. 14, 1911. Fifteen talesmen in all have been were examined. An additional venire of 50 men was ordered.

Miners Take Strike Fields.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 10.—No truce has been made by Governor Glasscock into the Kanawha coal miners district. Armed miners have taken possession of the strike territory and a pitched battle in the afternoon railroad crews refused to take trains into the coal fields. The last telegraph wire to the strike territory has been cut. Unestimated fatalities at Eskdale, Stockton and Peard. A large number of persons are leaving the district.

Wife Assailor Paroled.

Appleton, Wis., Feb. 10.—Ban H. Bissing, arrested Jan. 16, after attempting to shoot his wife and son as the former was on the way to get a divorce, pleaded guilty Saturday, but not until after he had signed a quitclaim deed of his property in his wife's favor, evidently causing her to withdraw opposition to his being paroled. Bissing was sentenced two years in Waupun and was immediately paroled. His attorney said his downfall was due partially to financial advantages given him by his father, who was wealthy.

INDIAN DEVIL'S WAR CLUB

Rocks in the Black Hills of South Dakota Said to Have Been Made by His Satanic Majesty.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—In the Black Hills of South Dakota, the region included in the hunting grounds of the great and warlike Sioux Indian nation, two huge columnar stones of very hard pegmatite are apparently stuck in the rocky spez of a low mountain, 1,000 feet or so above the Dakota plains. An old Indian legend has it that these columns were originally a single rock, the club of the devil's club or tomahawk. He Satanic majesty, in crossing over one day from the blue mountains (Rocky mountains) to the Father of Waters (the Mississippi river), to get a drink, rested for a moment with one foot on this mountain and the other on an adjoining mountain, and feeling particularly hot and thirsty he reflexionally drove his stone tomahawk point down into the top of the mountain, where it has since been. The tomahawk split a great rock apart, but being a part of the mountain it stood together when the devil drew his tomahawk and when the devil started to pull out the weapon, even if he would, he could not get it loose. In his angry efforts he broke off the handle, which was taken from an immense mountain fir tree, and further succeeded only in splitting the head of the tomahawk itself. At this he left in disgust, and strode on to the plains beyond.

Devil's War Club.

Since then the split tomahawk has stood as it is today, and the top of the mountain has ever since been a place of awe to almost all but the most daredevil of Indian warriors. However, it is told that at various times Indians have come across men themselves taking much stock in the terrors of the region, during periods when their prestige in the tribes was at a low ebb due to their lack of progressiveness concerning the outcome of certain battles, have found a safe refuge in the impressive shadows of the Devil's War Club.

DIVORCE COSTS HIM POST

Confirmation of Appointment as Coadjutor of Kansas Diocese Defeated When Marital Tangle Is Revealed.

St. Louis, Mo.—Rev. H. Percy Silver blocked the bishopric which he sought to confirm his appointment as bishop coadjutor of Kansas was announced by Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church of America, when the diocese of Kansas may now call the election but will proceed to a new one.

The objection of the bishops to Dr. Silver is based on the fact that he was connected with the cathedral at Omaha as secretary during the seventeen intermonary district, with headquarters at Topeka, Kan.

The Kansas diocese elected him bishop coadjutor of Kansas, see of Salina, but his election was confirmed by the standing committee, but when the successful election of the bishop was asked, the story that he had been legally separated from his wife in Nebraska some years ago provoked opposition.

The two months allowed for the gathering of votes expired recently.

MEN MAY END OWN LIVES

Utah Judge Shows Advantages of Custom of Allowing Doomed Criminals to Commit Suicide.

Salt Lake City, Utah.—The method to be used hereafter in executing criminals in the state of Utah has become a judicial question discussed since the legislature convened.

The latest idea expressed is that the condemned man be allowed to take their own lives, after they have exhausted every means to have the death sentence set aside.

This same law provides that condemned criminals be executed either by shooting or hanging, the choice to be made by the person to be executed.

Judge Ogden Marioneaux has issued a statement in which he sets forth the advantages of the Chinese custom permitting a condemned criminal to commit suicide.

Sparks a Cowfish.

New York.—The big herd of cowfish which grazed in the Bay of Fish off the coast of Florida, lost one of its finest members on Jan. 19, when the steamer Saratoga came along on her way north. The steamer ran into the fish and held it fast on her stem.

George Dolbe, the chief officer, was lowered over the side to dislodge its victim, but he did not succeed. Finally the Saratoga's engines were reversed and she backed clear of the fish.

The captain noted the incident in his log and told his agents about it when he arrived here.

Wrecks to Save.

Arlington, N. J.—Bill Martin, engineer, rammed a runaway freight car with his engine, derailed it and saved the lives of many on an incoming passenger.

EX-GOVERNOR DEAD

HOW HE GREW PRIZE CORN

FUND FOR BUYING SHEEP.

DOINGS OF THE SOLONS

EX-GOVERNOR L. F. HUBBARD EXPIRES SUDDENLY. LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS.

Winner From Southern Minnesota in State Contest Had 118½ Bushels to Acre.

Movement to Clear Cutover Lands in Beltrami Forwarded by Meeting.

Minnesota Legislative Affairs of the Past Week—Law Makers Hard at Work.

FUNERAL SERVICES SATURDAY

Honored for Gallant Conduct in Civil War—Pioneer Newspaper Publisher at Red Wing.

Minneapolis — General Luchus Frederick Hubbard, for five years governor of Minnesota, died suddenly late Wednesday of last week, at the home of his son, Charles F. Hubbard, 2619 First avenue, S. About 3 p. m. he complained of not feeling well and went to his room. Death came at 5:40 p. m. Interment was private.

The funeral services took place at St. Mark's Episcopal church Saturday at 2:30 p. m. The interment at Lakewood cemetery was private.

General Hubbard observed his seventy-seventh birthday anniversary Sunday, Jan. 26. Since that day he had not been in his usual good health but his condition at no time had been considered alarming.

Both houses of the Minnesota legislature adjourned on the day of General Hubbard's funeral, a joint resolution to that effect, offered by Representative Fred Seebach, having been adopted. This action followed a special message from Governor A. O. Eberhart, calling attention to General Hubbard's death. The governor also directed that the painting of the battle of Corinth in the governor's room be draped. The picture shows General Hubbard leading the charge of Minnesota troops.

Aided State's Development.

General Hubbard was one of the most prominent figures in the development of the state of Minnesota. As editor, miller, railroad builder, legislator and governor he has been a leading citizen of the state since 1857, when he came to Minnesota and established the Red Wing Republican in Red Wing, Goodhue county. His service in the civil war, where he rose from the ranks of a private in the Fifth Minnesota to the rank of a brevet brigadier general, are an important chapter in the state's military history.

General Hubbard was the ninth governor of Minnesota. He was born Jan. 26, 1836, at Troy, N. Y. His father, Charles F. Hubbard, was sheriff of Rensselar county, New York. His mother was Margaret Van Valkenburg. On both sides of the family General Hubbard was of old colonial ancestry. His father died when he was three years old and his mother when he was seven. He went to live with an aunt in Chester, Vt., where he attended the district school for three years. In 1846 he removed to and an academy at Granville, Vt. At the age of fifteen he was apprenticed to a tinsmith and worked at that trade in Vermont until he was eighteen when he went to Chicago. He worked at his trade in Chicago from 1854 to 1857. He then decided to come west. Arriving at Red Wing, Minn., in July, 1857, he established the Red Wing Republican, the first number of which was printed Sept. 4, 1857. The press on which the paper was printed was taken to Red Wing from Chicago by him.

Enlisted for War.

General Hubbard formed the Red Wing Republican until the war. On Dec. 10, 1861, he enlisted in Company A, Fifth Minnesota. He was elected captain of his company, Feb. 8, 1862. His promotion was rapid. He was made lieutenant colonel March 24, 1862; colonel Jan. 31, 1863, and brigadier general Dec. 16, 1864, for "conspicuous gallantry" in the battle of Nashville, Dec. 15 and 16, 1864. Among the campaigns in which General Hubbard served were the campaigns around Corinth, siege of Vicksburg, Jackson, Mississippi; Fort Donelson, Nashville, Spanish Fort and Mobile. He was wounded at Corinth and Nashville and at Nashville had three horses shot from under him. In all General Hubbard participated in thirteen campaigns, five sieges and thirty-four battles.

General Hubbard was mustered out of service Sept. 6, 1865. He returned to Red Wing. In 1856 he entered the grain business, subsequently adding the milling industry. In 1871 and 1872 he was elected as a republican to the state senate. In 1874 he was appointed by the legislature one of the state trustees to settle the trouble between the state and prison contractors. He was one of the commissioners appointed by Governor Marshall to investigate the old state railroad bond transaction.

General Hubbard served as governor for five years, from Jan. 10, 1882 to Jan. 5, 1887. His second term was extended to three years in connection with charges from around to blending sessions of the legislature.

Pennington Bidden to Feast.

Grand Rapids—Business men of Itasca county, at a meeting held here, decided to invite Edmund Pennington, president of the Soo road, to be their guest at a banquet to be held in March, when it is expected he will make a statement as to the building of that line into this village. The road touches at Remer, sixteen miles to the south, and the opening of mines here, it is thought, will induce this to build in. This territory is now served exclusively by the Great Northern.

Man With Small Pox at Ball.

Duluth. — Seven young women danced with a young man who attended the policemen's ball Monday night with smallpox so far advanced that it had broken out on his face and hands. Innumerable other people came into contact with him. The young man says he knew that there was something the matter with him, but he didn't know what it was. Two thousand Duluth citizens danced at the ball. The young man picked up seven of the best looking girls present.

Pipestone.—Four things are necessary in order to get a large yield of corn from an acre, and it will apply just as well to a hundred acres, namely: good seed, good preparation, good seed and good cultivation," says Thomas Adams, the only prize winner from the southern part of the state in the recent state corn contest.

Young Adams raised 118½ bushels of corn on one acre on his father's farm. The soil which he cultivated was a deep black loam over a clay subsoil, like nearly every foot of the farm land in the southern part of the state. The land was well drained. It had been cropped continuously nearly forty years without pasturing or having clover on it and had been fertilized for four times. Part of the ground was potato ground and part corn ground from the past season. The first ground was plowed May 1, eight inches deep. Adams believes deep plowing had more to do with the success than any other one thing he did.

"I used Golden Beauty seed corn," Adams, "and it was selected from the stalk, picked early and stored in the attic. It germinated perfectly and I think there were ears in the latter section of the seed than in the variety planted. The seed was selected with great care.

"It was a cold, wet spring and the corn was slow in getting a start, but as soon as the blades began to show through the ground I began to harrow it each way and then followed with the corn plow in a few days, plowing deep and close to the corn. I cultivated it four times, a little shallower each time, and after that only ran the plow a out of it, which would not have been necessary on a fine corn.

"I kept a careful record of all of the expense of raising the prize corn and it cost a few cents over $15 to raise the acre. I don't see any reason why the yield could not be made nearly as large on a big field."

LIGHTING FRANCHISE VOID

Village Council of Cohasset Looks Horns With Power Company.

Cohasset.—The village board has declared void the franchise of the local lighting company, and has ordered its poles removed from the streets.

The wrath of the council was aroused because the company has not been supplying lights except when it suited its convenience. The franchise is under the Minnesota Power company, and the electric current is a by-product of the plant. While the engines were running it was turned on in abundance, but when the demand was a lull in the demand for paids and prkins, and it was found necessary to shut down, the town was allowed to go dark.

It is the intention of the village to get its electric current from the plant at Grand Rapids. Mr. Thompson, of Port Dodge, Iowa, is head of the disfranchised company. He is here and says he will take the matter up.

Will War On Poolrooms.

Mankato.—Poolrooms that harbor students are to be closed in case Wesley has been started by the owners of a business college that have made the discovery that a few of the boys spend their time over the tables when they ought to be in school. Under one of the school proprietors visited some of the pool halls to school hours to find covered five of his students there and suspended them for the remainder of the year and caused the arrest of the proprietors of the place, Mike Raney and Tom Jerry, who pleaded guilty and a violation of the law and paid a fine of $25. Another hall was visited by the law. Both are Syrians, and learned that they could not sell liquor to students.

Land Seekers Start Early.

Cass Lake.—Indications are the movement seems to be a month earlier than last year in this vicinity. Already the immigrants are coming in. Miller, an Iowa man, has purchased forty acres of land of Mrs. Bell and his family in a week. Manfred Peterson of Big Stone county has opened a home in Cass Lake. Frank A. Stromberg, an Illinois man, will be here with his family before March 1. J. F. Hammond, a northwestern Iowa man, is looking for land for himself and two brothers.

Farm Institute Successful.

Lake Crystal.—Union hall was filled to overflowing for the two days' farmers who attended the better farming institute Tuesday and Wednesday. The gospel of better farming was disseminated by several able lectures and addresses by agriculturists, including Messrs. Marsh, Andrews and Hale. While these meetings were in charge of the Workman's hall, where a domestic science course was presented by Miss Evelyn Brown of the extension department, was crowded with farmers' wives.

City's Plant a Money Maker.

Rochester—A reduction amounting to about 15 per cent has been made in the lighting and power rates of Rochester, to take effect the first of April, according to an announcement made at the public board meeting. The reduction will make a saving of $12,000 a year to consumers. The new rates will be for lighting, 10 cents for the first twenty kilowatt hours, 7 cents for the next 100, and 6 cents for all above 120 kilowatt hours with a minimum rate of $1 per month, 50 cents.

Duluth's Oldest Man Dead.

Duluth, Feb. 7.—John Flynn, the first white man to push a trail through the wilderness from St. Paul to the Indian trading posts on the shores of Lake Vermillion, and who visited Duluth when it was a struggling village of a few souls, is dead at the home of his daughter in this city. He was the oldest citizen and has lived until June 24 next he would have been 100 years old. He was born in Ireland, June 24, 1813, and in 1835 came to America.

Bemidji.—Four hundred dollars of a $1,000 revolving fund for the purchase of livestock was raised here in ten minutes at a meeting of farmers and business men last week. The money is to be used in buying cattle and sheep in carlots and selling to farmers in small lots. Arrangements have been made with banks to take the farmers' paper and the revolving fund plan was decided on at a conference of farmers, who want more stock and more diversified farming and those who want to see the country well stocked.

Sessions held in the afternoon and evening were attended by about 200 practical farmers. Addresses were made by A. E. Chamberlain, development agent of the Great Northern; H. J. Maxfield, immigration commissioner; William Magivay of South St. Paul; A. Kaiser and Thomas Keefe of Bagley; Charles Anzar of Hines, and D. Theriault of Akeley.

Mr. Maxfield declared that many farmers were holding land in this part of the country for speculation purposes only and that there were about 1,000,000 acres lying idle that ought to be utilized.

He sought to impress upon the settlers that this is an all-around country and that around development, dairying and stock-raising was a topic which he dwelt upon in particular, and which he urged farmers to take an interest in especially.

Mr. Chamberlain spoke on "How to clear land for 67 cents an acre." He said in part: "Take five cows and a few chickens to a five-acre lot in these pine woods, and you can make a much better living than most men who have to pay the rent and rent cows from their land. Northern Minnesota has wonderful facilities for grass growing.

Johnson Proposes Change.

Rochester.—A sweeping change in the administration of the high school schools is advocated by Professor Herman A. Johnson, superintendent of the city schools. In a long recommendation to the Rochester board of education, Professor Johnson advocates doing away with the present high school organization of four years, including the freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior classes, and in its stead to organize the present eight grades of the school, the junior to be composed of the present graded system and the ninth and tenth grades, which is now the freshmen year of the high school, and the senior high school to be the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, instead of the three thicker classes of the present system. Superintendent Johnson backs his idea with the theory that the larger percentage of school children not completing the high school course leave when they finish the ninth grade, the present high school course is not a convenient because of retardation in a large number for deficiency in grades of subject, thereby being held back by old studies to complete the required one.

Bridegroom Is Slain.

Brainerd.—William D. Murphy, of Brainerd, brother of Jack and Tom Murphy, also of this city, was instantly killed at Gallup, New Mexico where he had been employed as a boilermaker on the Santa Fe railway. He was married Dec. 25, 1912 and had just returned from his wedding trip. The telegram of his death was sent by Fred Crone, his brother-in-law, and was brought back to Tuscon, Arizona. A letter from Murphy received the day before the telegram, voiced the happiness of the newly married couple.

Freshers To Have Expert.

Albert Lea—Negotiations are in progress for securing an agricultural expert for this county. Efforts are to be made to finance the proposition. The first cow-testing associations in the state were organized in this county and many farmers are anxious to secure the advice and help of an expert agriculturist and desire him to do the missionary work so badly needed. It is the opinion of many farmers that as far as products are concerned not to exceed half the crop possible has been raised in the past.

Industrial Survey Planned.

Winona.—Miss Clara I. Taylor, industrial secretary of the Winona central field committee of the Y. W. C. A., is in Winona to make an industrial survey, as a result of which it is possible that later on a Young Women's Christian association building may be erected in Winona. The matter of a building, to provide a home and recreation for young women, whether erected by the Y. W. C. A. or some other agency is being agitated here.

Luverne's New Station Opened.

Luverne.—The new passenger station of the Luverne Northern was opened for traffic. It cost approximately $25,000 and is thoroughly modern and up-to-date.

Mute Finds Invisible.

Faribault.—Martha Radtke, a student of the Minnesota school for the deaf in this city, has discovered traces of relatives of whom she has not heard since infancy. She was the youngest of the family and her father died when she was born. The other day a man visited the school and told her she had a married sister at Brainerd and several brothers in Canada. Her sister has since written her and the young woman is looking forward to vacation time when she will meet her long-lost relatives.

Todd County Will Exhibit.

Long Prairie.—Todd county will have an exhibit at the Minnesota state fair. The county commissioners have appropriated $500 to defray the expenses of the exhibit, and the Todd County Agricultural society under whose direction the exhibit will be secured and placed, will meet the remainder of the expense. A general superintendent will be appointed who will devote his entire time to securing samples of the county's products and arranging all details incident to installing the exhibition.

St. Paul, Feb. 12.—Woman's suffrage won in the House Saturday by a vote of 80 to 37. By this vote the House passed the bill introduced by A. S. Larson of Polk county, providing for the submitting at the next election of a constitutional amendment giving women the ballot. It will now go to the Senate where a similar bill was defeated two weeks ago.

Up to Senate Now.

Senator Ole Bagnig, sponsor for the woman suffrage bill in the house, said that he hoped that the senate will reconsider its action and pass the bill.

Recall Bill Passed.

The Senate today, by a vote of 52 to 2, passed Senator John Monson's bill proposing a constitutional amendment permitting the recall of all officials in the state, district as well as appointive, including Judges. The principal fight was over an amendment proposed by Senator O. H. Wilson of Minneapolis, eliminating Judges, but this was defeated by a vote of 33 to 23.

The bill as passed permits an election on the question of recalling any official, upon the petition of 25 per cent of the voters of the territory the official serves. The bill is to be put on the question of recalling the official and not on his successor, and the vacancy is to be filled in the usual manner provided by law. It does not supersede whether by appointment or a special election. Petitions are not to be circulated before the last 90 days of the term of office. No limit is specified as to the number of times a recall petition may be circulated within office. The bill is to be circulated within office. The bill is to be circulated within office. The bill is to

Red Lake Falls Gazette

BY C. K. C. DALE

Issued Every Thursday at Red Lake Falls Minnesota.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.50 Per Year in Advance

Retain the Zone Feature.

The parcel post law with the zone system in vogue is a splendid thing for the country as a whole, but efforts are already under way to mutilate the law so that the zone system will be wiped out. Bills have been introduced in congress to buy the stock of the several express companies. What's the news in no doubt the bees scheme hatched by the express companies themselves, who would like to unload a dropdux business on the government at a big price. This accomplished and the large catalogue houses of the eastern cities will ask congress to wipe out the zone system of the parcel post and send packages regardless of distance to any part of the country. The Farmers' National Congress has sounded a note of warning that these schemes are working. The zone system of the parcel post is a protection to the merchant and retailers of the small cities and towns, and it should not be abolished. If the rural sections of the country are to improve and prosper we must not only retain our business institutions but increase their number as the population increases. The small city and the village are essential to the welfare of the rural communities, and congress should take no step that would tend to cripple them and bring about a condition whereby the only source of supply for rural communities would be centered in the large cities of the country.

If the express companies cannot succeed in selling their fast depreciating stock to the government at a big profit they will nevertheless work hand in glove with the big mail order houses to have the zone feature of the parcel post removed and by retaining the feature themselves they will be able to beat Uncle Sam at his own parcel post game. With the zone feature removed the government would be obliged to raise the rates for short distances which in new charges. As a result the express companies could gobble all the short haul business and force the government to take the long haul business.

The new parcel post law is not perfect, but whatever changes are made looking to its improvement the zone feature should remain intact.

The foregoing editorial from the Brewer Valley Tribune suggests the difference between the parcels post as it now exists and how it might be converted into a system in order the service of little value to the public and an instrument in aid in the destruction of many competitive business. The express companies are being hard hit and there is no doubt that they seek to escape as far as possible the serious consequences to their business. The opportunity is now, while the service is being adjusted to suit what seem to be the needs of the public.

There is no doubt that congress will be importuned to cut out the zone feature of the service. There will be no doubt an attempt to convince the national legislators that for public convenience the rate ought to be equalize packages of equal weight without regard to distance to be carried. The successful carrying of first class matter of a uniform rate of postage will no doubt be pointed to as an example of the completeness and public convenience of the uniform rate service.

However, it is not probable that a majority of the members of any congress will fall for such an ingraciatical, unbusinesslike proposition. No one doubts the convenience of the uniform rate of postage for the handling of first class matter. It is necessary for the handling of business correspondence, but it offers no excuse for extending that feature to the new service.

It will probably be suggested that the rate per pound be increased in order to secure the uniform rate. This, as the Tribune suggests, would permit the express companies to handle the short hauls and, of course, get the profits, and would result in making the government service unpopular at the outset as well as unprofitable. This is no doubt the result sought.

In this situation it is not a matter only of protecting the smaller business enterprises against the larger. It is a straight business proposition. It costs the government more to carry a package from New York or Chicago to Red Lake Falls than from Red Lake Falls to Brooks. The service is worth more and should cost more. The larger number of packages, except those sent by the large distributing concerns, are carried comparatively short distances and consequently the service will be the greater to the public with the low rate for the short haul.

Not long ago the post office department issued it bargain to carry magazines from New York to San Francisco at the low pound postage rates for the country mail. Periodicals, and magazine publishers now ship their publications by freight to principal distributing points from which they are sent comparatively short distances by mail. The publishers, almost without exception commented on the fairness of the new rate. This experience should establish a precedent for the zone feature in the new service.

To cut out the zone feature would not only lead to stiffer competition in business, but would amount to granting an actual subsidy to monopolistic business enterprises and we have not reached the point making it necessary to subsidize the mail order houses.

Though it may seem improbable that there will be any official action tending to do away with the zone feature of the service. Should the effort to secure such action. And when self-ish interests seek favors it is time for public abstinence.

A garden expert says, "test all vegetable seeds as soon as they are received." He did not make an exception of those you receive from your congressman.

The women who are marching to Washington will no doubt have tickets for the observation car when returning to their homes.

The suffrage parade will no doubt compensate for the loss of the inaugural half and the will be much more room on the side lines.

The suffragettes should meditate on the thought that the only army of the discontented that ever marched to Washington didn't get much for the effort.

The criticism that there have been no extraordinary reforms in those states in which women have gained suffrage isn't very sound. Man was on the job first and for a very long time.

One should not get the idea from the graft prosecutions that the country is going to the dogs. Conditions are improving and consequently the grafter is being driven out of public places.

It is hoped that American capitalists who have holdings in Mexico won't exert an influence that will cause the government to become mixed up in that Mexican revolution unnecessarily.

There is no reason why a man should be puffed up because he is said to look like Lincoln. Lincoln had something best les beauty and the compliment may go no farther than as to personal appearance.

The makers of valentines adorned with cupids and arrows and darts are suspected of being responsible for the complaint that St. Valentine's day comes too early in the spring to catch the young man in the right mood to appreciate the true significance of the occasion.

That butcher story is about to be spread again. Every one of any kidd knows that its too thin to support the pointing of a morral. Aax most any boy and he'll tell you that George Washington's dad had it on him and he decided that he might sell him starke's weekly to visit himself and play up the strong talk.

The farmers of Red Lake county have the opportunity to help themselves in good roads by just saying that they want that kind of roads. The proposition to go to the township system will be voted on in several townships of the county in the spring election. The township system means good, honest and efficient road work and that is just what the people want roads. Vote for the change and be a booster for good roads, too. Talk with your neighbors about it.

CO-ADJUTORS' REMARKS.

Lo Sueur News: In a Duluth law suit, entitled Hundells vs. Mundells, the judge was named "Dancer".

Stillwater Gazette: Hight you are. The Duluth Herald opposes making Oct. 12, "Columbus Day," a legal holiday in Minnesota. "We have legal holidays enough now," says. Or, if we must have another, why not schedule it for some time of the year when the baseball season will be in full swing?"

Warren Register: The Minneapolis Journal asks: "When are the people given a mandate for the Cushman bill?" That's easy. When did the people ever give endorsement to the existing system? Although the clamoring in favor of certain elites and certain industries—from every member of the legislature received at least an implied mandate from his constituency to pass such laws as he believes to be for its best interests and for the best interests of the state at large? That is a primary class question—and a harder one.

Let us have a reapportionment by all means. A reapportionment is due and needed but to be fair and just to the entire state it should be on the 2to seven senator basis. Any overwhelming majority of the voters have declared for it and their decision and wishes should be respected.—Albert Lea Standard.

If the twin cities are so all fired worried about the bigness the proposed Cashman distance freight tariff law is going to do to the smaller cities and towns oftebate why are they fighting it so vigorously? Don't any its dishterested desire to see the smaller towns grow. We all know better.—Luverne Journal.

The hearings on the distance tariff bill are now on at the state capitol and the fervent appeals of the people every day with their arguments to a greater or less degree convince all he eternally aspect if the discrimination they are vigorously Don't any its dishterested desire to see the smaller towns grow. We all know better.—Luverne Journal.

The failure of the Minnesota state senate to pass a woman's suffrage amendment bill gives the women cause to the people at the next election, is without question the most ill timed and graceful antidote of the militant suffragists in England, and the most timid to any other one thing. The digni-fied campaign being waged by women of Minnesota is to their credit and has made friends and converts. Militancy has room element in England is not in the same class with the women of Minnesota, regardless of the attitude of any one of the women's suffrage.—Crookston Times.

FAVOR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Roseau People Will Vote on Light and Water Propositions.

Roseau, Minn., —The commercial Club has endorsed the proposition of voting bonds for the building of a municipal electric light plant and the Roseau and the question will be brough before the voters at the coming spring election. The township has applied to the council for the privilege of building an electric light plant and waterworks, but the first council is in favor of a municipally owned plant.

ST. HILAIRE

John Knickeson is rejoicing over the safe arrival of a baby boy at his home Wednesday, the 12th inst.

A number of boy met at the home of Rev. P. N. Palmer Wednesday evening to explain the benefits of organising a patrol of boy scouts.

One of the prettiest parties of the season was that given Wednesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Wilson very delightfully entertained four-ty guests at Norwegian whist.

Carl Krueger came yesterday from Crookston to spend a couple of days at home looking after his business matters. Mrs. Krueger is gaining rapidly and expects to leave the hospital some time next week.

Mrs. B. J. Swanson very charmingly entertained at a 8 p. M. Valentine party last Saturday afternoon. The color scheme throughout was red, pink and white, the decorations being hearts, cupids, and red and white festooning and the tally cards were in keeping with the occasion. The amusement was Norwegian whist.

The boys met in the village hall last Friday and organized a club to be known as the St. Hilaire band. A constitution providing for the government management of the band was drawn up and the necessary officers were elected. There are already four more members, and any one wishing to join may do so at any time. Before over, it will be heat for any business to attend a meeting and get their instruments, and begin with the rest. The boys agreed to practice every Tuesday and Friday evening at 7:30 unless otherwise stated at the previous meeting.—Spectator.

SHORT COURSE PRIZE WINNERS

RESULT OF SCORING CONTEST AT AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL SHORT COURSE.

Results in the scoring contest conducted in connection with the short course at the Crookston school of agriculture have been announced. Red Lake county farmers did not get any of the sweepstake prizes. The sweepstakes were awarded as follows:

Grand champion in corn—For 5th Congressional District, won by Norman Serum Representative by A. D. Van Sickle, Warren, 10 ears Minnesota No. 13.

Sweepstakes for Northern Section—(counties north of Polk Co.) A. D. Van Sickle, Warren. Premium—A clover corn cultivator.

Sweepstakes for southern section—(counties south of Polk Co.) J. E. C. Volland, Ada, White Dent. Premium—corn planter.

Sweepstakes for Potatoes—Nels Hultquist, Stephen. Premium—Bulley plow.

Sweepstakes for Wheat, Ole Elden, Alvarado, Minn. Premium—2½ h. p. gasoline engine.

Sweepstakes for Oats—A. D. Van Sickle, Warren. Premium—$20 cash.

Sweepstakes for Barley—A. D. Van Sickle, Warren. Premium—Deldrum cream separator.

Sweepstakes for Rye—Gilbert Peterson, Fertile. Premium 1 3-4 h. p. gasoline engine.

Sweepstakes for flax—J. S. Brown, Thief River Falls. Premium—$10 cash.

Sweepstakes for Timothy and Clover—Special prizes were awarded as follows:

Corn—1st, Jos. W. Wagner, Red Lake Falls; 2nd, L. A. Westphal, Red Lake Falls.

Potatoes—F. F. Connors, Brooks. Wheat—1st, Andrew Lehrer, Red Lake Falls; 2nd, S. O. Flage, Red Lake Falls; 3rd, Ole Gerlach, Red Lake Falls.

Oats—1st, Henry Gerlach, Red Lake Falls; 2nd, T. C. Grandbois, Red Lake Falls; 3rd, Jr. Medcalf, Brooks.

Rye—1st Nelson Bros., St. Hilaire; 2nd Nelson Bros., Red Lake Falls.

Mrs. Gustav Johnson.

The angel of death visited the home of Gustav Johnson, living three miles south of town, in River township, Monday of last week, re-moving from their midst a noble woman, in the person of Mrs. Gustav Johnson. Mrs. Johnson suffered an attack of pneumonia about six weeks ago, from which she never steadily worse and despite a hard fight for recovery she died on last Monday.

Mrs. Johnson is one of the pioneers of this section of the county and moved here with her husband 30 years ago. She was 48 years of age at the time of her death.

Besides her husband she leaves nine children to mourn th loss of a kind and affectionate wife and mother, and the sympathy of the entire community goes out to the stricken family in their sad bereavement.

The funeral services took place Tuesday afternoon at the Swedish Lutheran church north of town of which deceased was a member. Interment was the oldest member.

The many beautiful floral offerings marked the high esteem in which the deceased was held by a large circle of friends.—Pioneer Pioneer.

BRADKS.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lusdby Thursday, Feb. 13.

Joe Hebert is visiting friends here.

Mrs. Lawrence Hebert is ill at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Beaudry's last Sunday.

Misses Annie Fallman, Clara Tollefson and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pigeon and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cartier visited at Mr. Leon Bourgois'.

Wm. Perrault and wife called at Arthur Lussier's last Sunday.

Davide Desaret and Ritie Reindeau called at Brooks Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hebert and children, Mrs. Clara Barnetch, called in town Saturday.

Miss Chamond Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Preno's, is on the sick list.

Joe Fournier was in town here last Monday.

Delore Demers called at the F. X. Demers home Sunday.

Farmers & Merchants State Bank of Oklee.

Statement at the condition of The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Oklee, Minn., at the close of business to Feb. 4, 1913.

Date of call by State Bank Com'r, Feb. 3rd, 1913.

Date of report to State Bank Com'r, Feb. 6th, 1913.

RESOURCES:

Loans and Discounts	$76,013.34
Overdrafts	1,253.39
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	4,798.25
Due from banks	3,505.67
Checks and items of exchange	1,000.00
Currency	2,240.00
Gold	175.00
Silver	175.00
Other	71.70
Total cash items	24,536.81
Checks and cash items	24.77
Due from approved reserve agents	6,714.39
Interest and exchange earned, but not collected	1,000.00
Total	$114,307.32

LIABILITIES:

Capital stock	$10,000.00
Surplus fund	1,500.00
Undivided profits, less current expenses, interest and taxes paid	1,307.32
Notes Redeposited	14,777.17
Individual deposits subject to Check	71,345.61
Cashier's Checks	1,000.00
Certificates of deposit	15,376.22
Total Deposits	87,721.83
Total	$114,307.32

State of Minnesota, } ss.
County of Red Lake }

I, Andrew Anderson, President and W. B. Torgerson, Cashier of the above named Bank do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of our knowledge and belief.

ANDREW ANDERSON, President.
W. B. TORGERSON, Cashier.

Correct—Attest: (Directors)
C. A. ANDERSON,
O. E. ANDERSON,
JOS. A. DAHL.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of February 1913.

JOS. A. DAHL, Notary Public,
Red Lake County, Minn.

(SEAL) My com'n expires Sept. 26, 1916

Order Limiting Time to File Claims and for Hearing Thereon.

Estate of Theodore Gunnes, deceased. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Theodore Gunnes, deceased.

Letters Testamentary this day having been granted to H. H. Gunnes, of Crosby, Crow Wing County, Minnesota.

It Is Ordered, that the time within which all creditors of the above named deceased may present claims against his estate in this court, be, and the same hereby is, limited to Six (6) months from and after the date hereof; and that Monday, the 25th day of August, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., in the Probate Court Rooms at the Court House in the City of Red Lake Falls in said county, be, and the same hereby is, fixed and designated as the time and place for hearing upon the petition for the allowance of said claims and the examination, adjustment and allowance of such claims as shall be presented within the time aforesaid.

Let notice hereof be given by the publication of this order in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper of said Red Lake County, as provided by law for three successive weeks.

Dated February 17th, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate.

(SEAL.) F20-3t

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage on Lease Land.

State of Josephat Corbell, decedent. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Josephat Corbell, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Victoria Corbell; Leo Corbell; Omer Corbell; Virginia Corbell; Cecelia Corbell; and all persons interested in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent: The petition of Victoria Corbell, as guardian of the estate above named decedent, being duly filed in this court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and of all interested therein that certain lands of said decedent described therein be sold and praying that a license he to Victoria Corbell granted to sell the same.

Now, Therefore, You and each of you are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of March, at 10 o'clock P. M. why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said court, this 7th day of February, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.
(Probate Court Seal.)

FRED L. FARLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner.

Order Limiting Time to File Claims Within Three Months, and for Hearing Thereon.

Estate of Jean Baptiste Tropela, deceased. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Jean Baptiste Tropela, Deceased.

Letters of administration will will accrued, and the same hereby is granted to John Tropela as administrator of the estate of said deceased.

It Is Ordered, that the time within which all creditors of the above named decedent may present claims against his estate in this court, be, and the same hereby is limited to three months from and after the date hereof; and that Monday, the 25th day of August, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., in the Probate Court Rooms at the Court House at Red Lake Falls, in said County, and the same hereby is, fixed and designated as the time and place for hearing upon the petition for the allowance of said claims and examination, adjustment and allowance of such claims as shall be presented within the time aforesaid.

Let notice hereof be given by the publication of this order in the Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper of said County, as provided by law for three successive weeks.

Dated February 17th, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate.

(SEAL.) F20-3t

Citation for Hearing on Final Account and for Distribution.

Estate of Joseph Petrode, Decedent. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss. In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Joseph Petrode, Deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Dolphis Petrode, Alex Petrode, Hermedas Petrode, Joseph Petrode, Leonard Petrode, Joseph Petrode, Adolfine Uy, Eugene Normandeau, Adelard Normandeau, Joseph Normandeau, Albert Normandeau, Joseph Normandeau, Clara Normandeau, Arthur Normandeau, Joseph Normandeau, Adelard Normandeau, Joseph Normandeau, Alfred Normandeau, Joseph Normandeau, Alfred Normandeau, Joseph Normandeau, Alfred

The Local Field

Published Every Thursday

The sale Tuesday of cedar and fence built cattle... Wm. Hooper.

Max Becher left last Thursday evening for a business trip to New York City.

Mrs. L. Lemieux was the guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shafer at Duluth.

Miss Alice Lathrop of Pendleton spent Sunday with relatives in Red Lake Falls.

Born, Friday, Feb. 11, to Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Ulrich, who live north of the city, a son.

Miss Ella Poulter of Thief River Falls spent Sunday with relatives in and near Crookston.

Mrs. Frederic Parmele has returned to her home in Crookston, after spending two weeks with friends.

Mrs. Ives Hilliker is recovering nicely from the effects of the operation for appendicitis two weeks ago.

After a visit at home Charles Hunter has returned to Minneapolis, where he has taken up his residence on his former claim.

Mrs. Louis Stein, jr., has returned from Phillips, where she had been visiting with relatives since the first of the year.

The people of the village of Warren had been asked to hold the village tax for purposes of installing municipal electric light and water works.

Cash donations of $6, 1% donations of 12½c and the best 200 canned goods at the big food entertainment Friday, Feb. 18th. 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. Auditorium.

The official publication of the Bemidji property on which taxes remained delinquent the first of the year is made in this issue of the Pioneer.

The quarterly report of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank, of Red Lake Falls, is in this issue, showing a fine institution to be in a flourishing condition.

H. T. Cable, who disposed of his farm some time ago, is now living in the city. He and his family occupy the Dailey house, formerly occupied by L. A. Dunkelberg and family.

Mrs. Thos. Garrison of Red Lake Falls who has been here on a few days, went to Grand Forks yesterday afternoon where she will stay some time.—Crookston Times.

Thief River rival shooters have organized with Ed Ashley as president of their association. In the Red Lake Falls organization are some that will go into Hallock to take the measure of Ashley and his crowd.

Oscar Berge returned Monday from Grand Forks, where he had been a hospital patient for three weeks recovering from an operation for appendicitis. His condition is very satisfactory and walking up the street he looked as good as ever.

Wm. Zauer returned Saturday from the Rivers where he had been for several weeks employed with his son, Frederick, in taking timber from the latter's claim. He will not return for their home until the middle of April, as all his property at Bay River, disposing of the land, trees, and complete equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller and son, Rupert and Wilbert, of Seven Lakes, Colorado, arrived here on the Great Northern Saturday and are the guests at Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pertzsch of this city. The Millers have been prosperous residents of Red Lake Falls. Mr. Miller has been a section foreman on the Great Northern for many years. They many friends here are glad to welcome them back.

The fellows who said that Saturday night would be a dull night at the Lotus Theatre missed his guess. The rest of the cool quarters was just as pleasing as that of a musical comedy theatre—and the fellows look on almost as charitably, too. The fellow who didn't like the "feel the book" would have been ejected if he had appeared. Royal Weaver and Co. played to John Bloomsmith and Louis Phillips was very well rendered and warmly applauded.

All winter goods sold at a Big Discount, we don't want to carry any of these goods over and are filling up collections on them rather than keep them until next winter.—A. Ruberntus —Ads.

During the fire which destroyed the Montreal Manor, at Grand Rapids, a six-year-old daughter of Sam Hall, the landlord, was found wandering around barefooted in the flames carrying an almost naked infant. Neither of the children was seriously injured, however.—Warroad Pioneer.

Mrs. W. F. O'Brien and little son of Devils Lake, North Dakota, are visiting with relatives in the city. Mrs. O'Brien formerly resided here, when Mr. O'Brien in company with his brother conducted a hardware store in Red Lake Falls, and her many friends are enjoying her visit here.

She was a bright girl and her ex-court, who was also her husband, was delighted to find how quickly she escaped the points of the game. She got on so well that he inserted a right witticism on the subject. "Scholar" reminds me of household," he remarked, "there's the plate, the knife, the fork and the flask." "And it reminds me of marriage," she retorted. "First the diamond, where they are engaged, then the wedding and the bliss, then the mess going out and finally, the difficulty they have in getting home." And he sat and thought and thought—Ex.

Wm. Schaper and Frank Wagner, on their return from Lambert where they had gone to attend to some business matters with "Governor" Pazolt, discovered a fox that had apparently committed suicide by hanging itself to a wire fence. The fox evidently attempted to jump the fence and got caught in the wires and lost its life. After an investigation they decided that death was due to an accident and not to any premeditation on the part of the fox. "But," said Mr. Schaper, "you needn't say that we did not think about the pelt until we had left it behind. Later we learned that a poor fox skin sells for at least $5. This was probably a good one."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

It seems almost like a vacation to come back to school after being away a few days, and the pupils think that it would have been better if it had been a week instead.

The Juniors' class play, "Cupid at Vassar", has arrived and they are busy at work on it. The college girls in four acts, Mr. O. Hall is superintending the play and Miss Ruth Hyde is prompter.

An Athenian program will be given Friday, Feb. 21. The subject for debate is: "Resolved, that the United States should have a system of ship subsidies." We predict for this program the best part of the programs and debates heard so far. Everybody come, as this program and the next will decide our championship.

The Sophomores enjoyed a "taffy pull" on Wednesday night.

Miss Mabel has returned from Ada Minn., to her school work after a few days' illness.

The members of the faculty and a few of the Normal training girls were up at the convention at Thief River Falls.

Agnes, because of her greediness for cheese, tasted some from a red pepper spoon.

Emily planted some squash seeds in a flower pot, and although the squash was to mature there, said in dismay, "Pretty hard for a squash to be raised in a pot."

Mr. Cook gave us a few good points on Abraham Lincoln's life Wednesday morning.

Next sight program Friday, Feb. 21. Everybody come. Interesting debate, good newspaper. One of the best programs of the year. Admission 10c.

WHY NOT
YOU?

People realize more and more that a Bank Account, maintained systematically, is the greatest aid to financial progress.

YOU

can enjoy many privileges by becoming a depositor in our bank.

THIS BANK

offers its service to responsible people who desire to build up a surplus and enjoy the benefits of an association with a strong financial institution.

First State Bank
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
United States, County and City Depository

WE HAVE MONEY TO LOAN ON FARMS

DELINQUENT TAX LIST

LIST OF REAL PROPERTY ON WHICH TAXES REMAIN DELINQUENT.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Red Lake, ss. District Court, Twenty-ninth Judicial District.

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA, To all persons, companies, or corporations who have or claim any estate, right, title, or interest in, claim to, or lien upon, any of the several parcels of land described in the lists hereto attached;

The list of taxes and penalties on real property for the County of RED LAKE, remaining delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913, has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of said Red Lake County, of which due notice has been given.

THEREFORE, you, and each of you, are hereby required to file in the office of said Clerk, on or before the 20th day of March, after the publication of this notice and list, your answer in writing, setting forth any objection or defense you may have to said taxes, or any part thereof, upon any parcel of land described in said list, lien, or an which you have or claim any estate, right, title, interest, claim, or lien, and in default thereof, judgment will be entered against each parcel of land for the taxes on said list appearing against it, and for all penalties, interest and costs.

Dated this 20th day of January, 1913.

Clerk of District Court of Red Lake, County, Minnesota.

(SEAL)

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Equality.
Township One hundred fifty-one (151), Range Forty (40).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
George B. Pearly, S½ of NW¼ Lots 1 and 2	1911	76.35
J. F. Sanderson, S½ of SW¼	1911	13.29
Mrs. Henderson, Lot 1	1911	37.23
Chas. D. Jorg, S½ of SW¼	1911	32.23
G. A. Underhill, SW¼	1911	48.30
Chas. D. Jorg, NW¼ of SW¼	1911	32.23
Clara A. Bennet, E½ of NW¼	1911	30.60
Gunder Hegness, SW¼ of NE¼ and NW¼ of SW¼	1911	61.43
Gunder Hegness, NW¼ of NE¼	1911	78.26
Mrs. Anderson, NW¼ of SW¼	1911	15.56
Chas. D. Jorg, SW¼ of NE¼	1911	64.86
Otto A. and Esther A. Schaper, NE¼ of NW¼	1911	67.34
Olof Brenvold, S½ of NW¼	1911	66.02
Ole O. Holum, NW¼ of SW¼	1911	32.23
Gunnild Holum, NW¼ of NE¼	1911	15.23
Armund Nelson, W½ of NW¼ of NE¼ Lot 2	1911	44.02
Mrs. Anderson, Lot 1	1911	24.53
Mrs. Anderson, Lot 2	1911	26.46
Mrs. Robson, S½ of NW¼	1911	24.53
Mrs. Anderson, Lot 3	1911	11.79
Mrs. Kroness, NE¼ of NW¼	1911	32.23
Ole Sorenson, NW¼ of NE¼	1911	62.61

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Equality.
Township One hundred fifty-one (151), Range Forty (40).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Ormond S. Lunden, Assessment Lot 1	26	1911	24.67
G. E. Boe, Lot 10 in SW¼	23	1911	6.54
Sam Gunderson, NW¼	36	1911	30.15
Ole Berge, S½ of NE¼	26	1911	32.23
Ole Berge, NW¼ of NW¼	26	1911	24.67

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Assessment District No. 1.
Township One hundred fifty-two (152), Range Forty (40).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Pt. of SW¼ of SW¼ Lots 1 and 2 in SW¼	1911		30.16
Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Lot 3 in SW¼	1911		30.16
Magnus Johnson, SE¼	28	1911	24.67

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Township One hundred fifty (150), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Jesse J. Hill, W½ of SE¼ & SW¼ of NE¼	1911		36.23
Jesse J. Hill, Lot 3 in SW¼	1911		8.65
C. H. Swan,	6	1911	24.67
E. H. Halvorson, NE¼	11	1911	32.23
Thomas Lambert, S½ of NW¼	15	1911	32.23
Louis Fairbanks, E½ of NW¼	15	1911	1.83
Louis Fairbanks, Lot 1 in NW¼	15	1911	.73
Louis Fairbanks, NW¼	15	1911	30.60
D. J. Hickson, SW¼	20	1911	32.23
John Parsley, SW¼	34	1911	32.23
C. P. Anderson, NE¼	34	1911	32.23

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Township of Oklee,
Township One hundred fifty (150), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Tri State Land Co. Lot 1	1911		4.35
Roy Ry. Co. Lot 2	1911		4.35
Tri State Land Co. Lot 2	1911		4.35
Tri State Land Co. Lot 3	1911		4.35
Tri State Land Co. Lot 4	1911		4.35
Tri State Land Co. Lots 5 & 6	1911		8.54
Ole Stattegrand, W½ of NW¼	1911		16.16
Tri State Land Co. Lots 7 & 8	1911		11.38
Tri State Land Co. Lots 9 & 10	1911		19.27

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Garnes.
Township One hundred fifty-one (151), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Nels P. Johnson, Lot 6 in NW¼ of SW¼	1	1911	1.17
Nels P. Johnson, Lot 7 in NW¼ of SW¼	1	1911	17.17
Sortedahl Land, Lots 1 and 2 in NE¼	14	1911	3.86
Sortedahl Land, Lots 3 and 4 in NE¼	14	1911	8.12
Sortedahl Land, Lots 1 and 2 in NW¼	14	1911	7.46
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of NW¼	14	1911	59.70
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of SW¼	14	1911	17.91
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of SW¼	14	1911	45.62
Sortedahl Land, Lots 1 and 2 in SW¼	15	1911	6.15
John A. Larson, NW¼ of NE¼	22	1911	24.06
Sortedahl Land, Lots 3 and 4 in SW¼	22	1911	6.58
Sortedahl Land, Lots 1 and 2 in NW¼	22	1911	6.58
Sortedahl Land, Lots 3 and 4 in NW¼	22	1911	6.58
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	23	1911	9.59
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of NW¼	23	1911	8.83
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of SW¼	23	1911	5.18
Chas. Mathieu, SW¼ of SW¼	23	1911	6.54
Chas. Mathieu, Lots 5 and 6 in SW¼	30	1911	24.31
Sortedahl Land, Lots 1 and 2 in NW¼	30	1911	37.16
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of NW¼	30	1911	19.38
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of SW¼	30	1911	12.90
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of SW¼	30	1911	12.91
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	31	1911	17.71
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of NW¼	31	1911	12.72
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of SW¼	31	1911	26.12
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of SW¼	31	1911	27.10
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NE¼ of NW¼	31	1911	20.64
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	31	1911	14.83
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NE¼	31	1911	11.60
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of NE¼	31	1911	13.68

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Garnes.
Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Anna Mikelson, Lot 4 in NW¼ of NW¼	1	1911	3.62

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Township of Poplar River.
Township One Hundred Fifty (150), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Joseph Lamont, S½ of NW¼ of NW¼ & W½ of SW¼ of NW¼ & E½ of NW¼ of SW¼	6	1911	6.38
Joseph Lamont, Lot 1 in NW¼ of SW¼	6	1911	1.46
Octave Gagne, NW¼ of NW¼	18	1911	9.36
Octave Gagne, SW¼ of NW¼	18	1911	8.77
Peter L. Lefalvre, NW¼ of NE¼	19	1911	11.27
Peter L. Lefalvre, Lot 1 in NE¼	19	1911	39.68
A. Knaus, E½ of NW¼ & NW¼ of NW¼	20	1911	19.31
Roy Ry. Right of Way	23	1911	12.63
J. J. Reilly, SW¼ of SW¼	23	1911	35.84
Roy Ry. Co. Lot 1 in SW¼	23	1911	14.87
Art Johnson, NW¼ of SW¼	31	1911	32.23

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Poplar River.
Township of Brooks.

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Frank Herr,	6	1913	2.00
Frank Herr,	6	1911	26.28
X Bray	10	1911	28.28

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Emardville.
Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty (42).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
J. H. Silkenson, S½ of NW¼	2	1911	16.43
Northern Land Co. Lot 1 in NW¼	2	1911	18.13
Alta Gentle, N½ of NE¼	6	1911	28.72
Alta Gentle, SW¼ of NE¼ & Lot 2 in NE¼	6	1911	25.76
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	13	1911	64.56
Thos. T. Gulbrandsen, SE¼	13	1911	22.56
James McPeak, SW¼ of NW¼	18	1911	4.87
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. S½ of NW¼	24	1911	29.75
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of SW¼	24	1911	32.23
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of SW¼	24	1911	32.23
Levi Mason, W½ of NW¼	25	1911	29.01
Levi Mason, E½ of NW¼	25	1911	17.57
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	25	1911	30.40
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of NW¼	25	1911	16.16
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. E½ of NW¼	25	1911	15.09

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
J. A. Duffy, NW¼	1	1911	14.61
Hubert Driessen, NE¼	21	1911	6.93
Gillis Hendrickson, NW¼	31	1911	32.23

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Terrebonne.
Township One Hundred Fifty (150), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, 120.160 ft. out of NW cor. of NE¼ of SW¼	1	1911	1.46
First State Bank, Red Lake Falls, Com. 120.160 ft. out of NW cor. of NE¼ of SW¼	1	1911	1.89
Louis St. Yves, NW¼	2	1911	2.66
Louis St. Yves, NE¼	2	1911	2.19
Louis St. Yves, NW¼	2	1911	56.25
Catholic Bishopric, NW¼ of NW¼	9	1911	10.66
Catholic Bishopric, S½ of NW¼	9	1911	4.65
Catherine Mahaulty, Lot 1 in NW¼	21	1911	12.97
Fishermen and Sloiers' Gangor, NE¼ of SW¼	21	1911	52.29
Fishermen and Sloiers' Gangor, NE¼ of NW¼	26	1911	2.48
Fishermen and Sloiers' Gangor, NW¼ of NW¼	35	1911	76.56
L. E. Jones, NW¼	36	1911	32.23
L. E. Jones, SW¼	36	1911	32.23

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Terrebonne.
Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Malando Bopin	23	1911	24.31

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Gervais.
Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-three (43).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Charles or Walters, S½ of NW¼ & Lot 1 in NW¼	3	1911	37.16
Charles or Walters, Lot 2 in NW¼	3	1911	14.75
De Witt H. Batten, S½ of NW¼	3	1911	19.38
De Witt H. Batten, NW¼ of SW¼	3	1911	12.90
Henry Zimmerson, SE¼	3	1911	32.23
Ernest Kesserman, SW¼	5	1911	32.23
Ernest Kesserman, NW¼	8	1911	32.23
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	10	1911	9.33
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of NW¼	10	1911	14.83
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of SW¼	10	1911	27.54
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of SW¼	10	1911	8.10
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NE¼ of NW¼	14	1911	9.02
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	15	1911	29.29
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of NW¼	15	1911	26.37
John Sharp, SW¼ of SW¼	22	1911	32.23
John Sharp, SW¼ of NW¼	22	1911	9.33
John Sharp, NW¼ of SW¼	22	1911	1.31
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of SW¼	26	1911	12.17
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	26	1911	12.17
M. O. Sortedahl, NW¼ of NW¼	26	1911	23.57
M. O. Sortedahl, SW¼ of NW¼	27	1911	30.10
M. O. Sortedahl, SW¼ of SW¼	27	1911	32.23
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	34	1911	32.82

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of River.
Township One Hundred Fifty-three (153), Range Forty-three (43).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Charles W. Robinson, NW¼ of NW¼	28	1911	21.54
Charles H. Fox, NW¼ of SW¼	28	1911	16.13
Charles H. Fox, SW¼ of SW¼	28	1911	32.23

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Township of Lake Pleasant.
Township One Hundred Fifty (150), Range Forty (40).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	1	1911	19.40
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of SW¼	1	1911	.26

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-four (44).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Roretto Rod. NW¼	11	1911	16.59
Roretto Rod. E½ of NW¼ & E½ of SW¼	17	1911	16.66

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Browns Creek.
Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-four (44).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Phillip Lee NE¼ of NE¼	24	1911	13.26
Phillip Lee SE¼ of NE¼	24	1911	32.23

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-four (44).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Rev. Hy. H. of W¼ & E½ of NW¼ Sec. Hy. H.	6	1911	16.63
Jesse Carpenter, NW¼ of NW¼ Rec. Hy. H.	6	1911	24.38
Jesse Carpenter, SW¼ of NW¼	6	1911	19.38
Jesse Carpenter, NW¼ of SW¼	6	1911	12.90
Jesse Carpenter, SW¼ of SW¼	6	1911	12.91
John Grove, NW¼ of NW¼	18	1911	40.81
John Grove, SW¼ of NW¼	18	1911	36.23
John Grove, NW¼ of SW¼	18	1911	49.43
John Grove, SW¼ of SW¼	18	1911	29.75
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. NW¼ of NW¼	19	1911	49.81
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. SW¼ of NW¼	19	1911	36.23
Bruno Rose, Lot 4 in SW¼	29	1911	33.16
Wm. Sime, & Pacific Ry. Co. E½ of NW¼ & Lots 2 & 3 in SW¼	30	1911	33.16

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Wylie.
Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-five (45).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Lot 1 of NW¼ of NW¼	1	1911	14.78
Lot 2 of NW¼ of NW¼	1	1911	.12
Martin O. Johnson, SW¼ of NW¼	29	1911	14.61
Martin O. Johnson, SE¼ of NW¼	29	1911	14.61
Charles Londe, E½ of SW¼ & Lots 1 & 2 in SW¼	30	1911	24.61
City of Grand Forks, Pt. of SE¼ of NE¼	32	1911	.91

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Town of Wylie.
Township of Wylie.

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Henry Lengquist,	2	1911	.05
Henry Lengquist,	2	1911	.12

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

Village of Plummer,
Township of Knuteville.

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
James J. Alrick,	10	1911	1.31
James J. Alrick,	10	1911	1.31
A. B. Johnson			.26
Lot 1,	4	1911	2.77
Lot 2,	4	1911	2.77
Frank Beehre	19	1911	8.00

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

City of Red Lake Falls.
Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-four (44).

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent	Subdivision Sec. Delin- quent
Joseph Judge, 2 acres in North end of NE¼	22	1911	3.84
Joseph Judge, 1 acre in SW¼ & SW¼ & SW¼ of SE¼	23	1911	68.31
Jerry Carlson, 3 acres in SW¼ of SW¼	23	1911	1.73
Lot 1, Lindahl's Addition	27	1911	2.84

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

City of Red Lake Falls.
Original Townsite.

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Lot Block	Lot Block
Victoria Peets, Lot	15	1911	.94
Lot 1,	2	1911	2.84
M. C. Sortedahl,	6	1911	12.34
Ry. Rt. of Way	29	1911	82.93
M. O. Sortedahl,	29	1911	2.46
M. O. Sortedahl,	6	1911	2.46
M. O. Sortedahl,	7	1911	2.46
Dennies Violett	4	1911	9.99

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

City of Red Lake Falls
Rettenbacher's Addition.

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Lot Block	Lot Block
A. M. Miller	21	12	1911
Helen Stein	12	22	1911
Belle Hess	13	22	1911
Joseph Hess	13	22	1911
Joseph H. Graham	24	20	1911
Joseph H. Graham	24	19	1911
The Selle	14	47	1911
H. A. Helden	10	47	1911
H. A. Helden	10	43	1911
H. A. Helden	10	43	1911
Orin Elmas	1	65	1911
Orin Elmas	1	65	1911
Joseph Corbell	15	66	1911
Joseph Corbell	15	66	1911
Joseph Corbell	16	66	1911
Joseph Corbell	16	66	1911

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

City of Red Lake Falls
Lake Falls Addition.

Name of Owner	Description	Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax	Total same are Tax
Lot Block	Lot Block
Annella Hatcher	21	71	1911
Annella Hatcher	21	71	1911
A. M. Miller	21	71	1911
A. M. Miller	21	71	1911
Walter H. Griffen	6	72	1911
Walter H. Griffen	6	72	1911
First State Bank	1	82	1911
First State Bank	1	82	1911
First State Bank, Red Lake Falls	2	82	1911
First State Bank, Red Lake Falls	2	82	1911
First State Bank, Red Lake Falls	13	82	1911
First State Bank, Red Lake Falls	13	82	1911
Mrs. Stat. Bank, Red Lake Falls	14	82	1911
Annella Hatcher	21	71	1911
Annella Hatcher	21	71	1911
A. M. Miller	21	71	1911
A. M. Miller	21	71	1911
Walter H. Griffen	6	72	1911
Walter H. Griffen	6	72	1911
First State Bank	1	82	1911
First State Bank	1	82	1911
First State Bank, Red Lake Falls	2	82	1911
First State Bank, Red Lake Falls	2	82	1911
First State Bank, Red Lake Falls	13	82	1911
First State Bank, Red Lake Falls	13	82	1911
Mrs. Stat. Bank, Red Lake Falls	14	82	1911

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1913.

City of Red Lake Falls
Champagne & Dore's Addition

| Name of Owner | Description | Year or Years for which the Total same are Tax

KEZIAH COFFIN

by

Joseph C. Lincoln

Author of "Cy Whittaker's Place" "Capt. Eri," Etc.

Illustrations by Ellsworth Young

Copyright, 1915, by D. Appleton & Company

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow of Edward Coffin, who was lost at sea years ago, following the death of her husband, for whom she had kept house, Ryan Bangert, widower, offers marriage, and is indignantly refused. Capt. Elkanah Dexter, Keziah's brother, who has been trying to find a place as housekeeper for the new minister, and she decides to remain in Trumet. Keziah takes charge of Rev. Edery, the new minister, and gives him advice. Mrs. Hammond, leader of the gossips of the parish, Edery causes a sensation by attending a "dime-social" meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly resented by Mrs. Hammond, leader of the gossips of the parish. Edery causes a sensation by attending a "dime-social" meeting. Ellery's presence is bitterly resented by Mrs. Hammond, leader of the gossips, and Ellery escorts her home in his stead. Capt. Nat Hammond, Elkanah's old friend, is dying, believing the story of Keziah's desertion by her husband. Ellery finds Keziah visiting a lot for a home site. Learning rumor of her engagement to a hermit. She is curiously questioned by Mrs. Hammond, and tells Nat Nat refuses to believe the gossip, and that they have been lovers ever since. Dismisses reminiscing with Ellery for attending "Dime-social" meeting. Elkanah tells Keziah that Ellery is in love with her. Mrs. Hammond spreads Ellery's call on Keziah's sister while walking in the fields, and learns that she walks there every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner with Keziah and Elkanah, and Keziah's cousin, Josephus Hammond, "butts in" and insists on supporting Mr. Edery, so that he will not have to do extra preaching. Keziah is angered at his attitude. She goes to church and hears Ellery preach a sermon that is considered unorthodox by the congregation. Nat Nat refuses to see Keziah, but tells her that he is sorry. Nat, and nothing like not to pry into the affairs of others, but he cannot help hearing. Capt. Nat tells Mr. Edery that he hopes to live to see Keziah and Nat married. Ellery is saddened when he learns that Keziah has been deserted by her husband. Keziah tells Elkanah about the meeting between Ellery and Nat. Keziah tells Nat that she walks there every Sunday. The clergyman takes dinner with Keziah and Elkanah, and Keziah's cousin, Josephus Hammond, "butts in" and insists on supporting Mr. Edery, so that he will not have to do extra preaching. Keziah is angered at his attitude. She goes to church and hears Ellery preach a sermon that is considered unorthodox by the congregation. Nat Nat refuses to see Keziah, but tells her that he is sorry. Nat, and nothing like not to pry into the affairs of others, but he cannot help hearing. Capt. Nat tells Mr. Edery that he hopes to live to see Keziah and Nat married. Ellery is saddened when he learns that Keziah has been deserted by her husband. Keziah tells Elkanah about the meeting between Ellery and Nat. Keziah tells Nat that she walks there every Sunday. He is horrified

BILLY THE KID

THE MOST FAMOUS OF THE BAD-MEN OF THE WEST

By Frank J. Arkins

© BY THE RIDGWAY CO.

HOWLING mob of fortune-hunters crowded into Silver City, New Mexico, in the seventies. The discovering of mineral wealth was beset with great danger. The Apaches were on the war-path. It was hazardous to travel in the country without an escort, but the magnet of wealth in the mines drew men to the scene notwithstanding. In the citizenship of the community there were rough men, for the early days were typical of those of other mining camps isolated in the mountains and distant from civilization.

In that community there lived a boy of seven teen years of age, respected and loved by all. He was a favorite among the young men and considered a model youth by the old. He was gentle as a child. His face was delicately molded; his skin as fair as a girl's, his hands small and his arm tapering. Lithe, graceful, self-reliant, he gave every promise of an honorable career.

This boy—William H. Bonney—was employed in a local store and was considered a most accommodating clerk. The gruff community was convulsed with horror and dumfounded with astonishment one afternoon when the news was spread like wildfire that Bonney had backed a man to death with a butcher-knife and was fleeing for his life on the back of a broncho pony.

The murder was particularly atrocious. It was the result of an altercation in which young Bonney was crossed. Prior to this the boy had never been quick-tempered. In an instant he was transformed into a demon, within a few minutes he had added theft to murder, and in seeking a place of safety left behind him a trail as black as though he were following a macadam road.

At the point of a revolver he compelled strangers to exchange horses with him, seized the best mounts at the various ranches on his way and spread consternation wherever he went. He followed the Mimbres River toward Deming, pursued by a posse from Silver City. Closely pressed, he escaped eastward over the Oregon mountains, when it was thought he was headed for Mexico.

The Start of a Bad Man's Trail.

A western town was never more surprised. The majority of the people still defended him; there was reason, in their estimation, for his strange act. But as news came of the way he was striking terror in the Valley of the Pecos where the roughest men in the southwest lived, the mind of the public was changed. From that time on his murderous exploits filled the hearts of men with fear. The boy's name in western history became forever after Billy the Kid. His name of Bonney is all but forgotten. As the Kid, he stands as one of the great historical figures of the new country, one of the most talked of men ever lived, prince of bad men, the youngest bad man of all.

His appearance among the prospectors and amid the mining camps of the Oregon mountains was electrical. Here he conceived the idea that to evade arrest he must fight his way to the front single-handed. He boldly traded horses, obtained credit, bought supplies, because he could shoot straight with a revolver and had threatened the lives of a number of men. Then with all dispatch he pushed on to the Valley of the Pecos. This was the scene of the boy's exploits in the taking of human life.

The Pecos Valley was filled with men who had been driven out of Texas by the Rangers, and Billy the Kid's association with these men developed his mania for shedding blood. In his first altercation he realized that it was his life or the other man's. The fact that he was quick with a gun made him feared. He became accustomed against one of the stockmen immediately upon his arrival in the valley.

"I'll make this valley too hot for him and dangerous to his punchers," said the boy.

At once he commenced to use the man's cowboys as targets to practise on. He began a campaign that drew upon him the enmity of the whole body. The murder of these innocent men, purely to gratify a spite against their employer, made Billy a leader among the bad men of the valley of the recion. He had at a bound become a celebrity, and every group of bad men wanted to claim him. But the Kid would have none of that. By degrees he gathered a band of his own.

How Many Men Did He Kill?

The Kid killed more men, wantonly and for sheer love of murder, than any other man of whom there is a record in the west. It will never be known just how many he assassinated. He was a brother who took delight in slaying the defenseless. He knew no pangs of conscience. He had yet one single redeeming trait. He would murder a friend as quickly as an enemy.

He thought nothing of appearing before a cook in charge of a "chuck" wagon, on a lonely desert range, ask for something to eat, complimented the man upon the quality of the food he had prepared, with apparent gratitude. He would ask him, as if the idea had suddenly popped into his head, whether he was an officer—or had been. Then, as though in doubt, he would shoot him at his tracks. This is no exaggeration. A man whom he left for dead, and who survived long enough to tell the story, was authority for the statement, shortly after his arrival on the Pecos river.

The boy was a terror before whom everybody fled. He rode the best horses, he had the best pistol to the best there was in every community he visited, wiggled out of any number of tight places, and shot his way out of them many times.

Shortly after his arrival in the valley, he was persuaded, because of his reputation as a bad man, to assist in the arrest of three men charged with murder. They were captured without the firing of a shot, placed on horses, ironed and started inland. To the deputy sheriff, who left with him followed the prisoners across a long, dusty sand plain, he turned suddenly and said, "Let's kill those fellows."

"Why? They haven't done anything to us."

"They're guilty anyway, and we'll just save the county expense."

"No, Billy, they have not given us a chance to shoot at them—they have not tried to escape."

The deputy tried to argue with him, for he could see the light of murder deceling in the fellow's eyes.

Billy the Kid rode forward, compelling the officer to do likewise, and, according to the story told, shot all three men. The deputy spurred his pony, the Kid after him. They exchanged shots, and the officer escaped with a few wounds.

From that time on it was dangerous for the Kid to enter a community. He rallied north through Lincoln county, which was larger than many eastern states. There was not a line of railway or telegraph in it, and no telephones. It was easy to get away.

At that time there was rivalry between the two political parties. The country was filled with bad men, and they were about evenly divided among the parties. Cattle stealing was a common thing. The Kid became involved in a number of rows, and his took sides. His reputation as a "killer" grew.

Undoubtedly a number of these men were killed at a time when feeling among themselves, and the killing laid to the door of the Kid. It was easy. He could not deny it. No one would have believed him if he had. Besides, the more murders credited to him, the greater the fear in which he would be held.

Thus it was that it finally became impossible to get a jury, for any reason, the position of sheriff of Lincoln county, for it was only a question of time when he would run across the youthful demon.

The Kid knew that he had terrorized the country. He knew that the hostility he let down his guard he would be killed. His safety lay in continuing.

The Turn of the Tide.

Then, one day, seven those hard characters who professed to be his friends were amazed by a report that the Lincoln county incident he had killed a member of his own band. The outlaws were now at sword's point, and his career was the law-abiding people of the village. His friends commenced to murmur. The Kid was now reported to a dozen places at the same time, and these stories he turned to his advantage by appearing at intervals, for his friends declared he widely separated cow camps for more than a hundred and fifty miles north and south of the Pecos river.

Pat Garrett, a lanky Alabaman, who had helped organize the Texas Rangers and had assisted in driving the bad men out of Texas to the first water west of the Pecos river, came in the fall to the cattlemen to locate in New Mexico. They wanted him to restore order. The only way that could be done was either to arrest or to kill the Kid.

Garrett's record in Texas as a man-hunter and bad man tamer was known all over the southwest. In addition to being quick with a gun, he was absolutely without fear.

He was elected without opposition and took hold with no iron hand. He was an organizer. He soon became hooked to his standard. They felt, instinctively, that at last a man had arrived who could cope with the situation.

The Capture of the Kid.

In November, 1880, Garrett came upon the Kid suddenly and captured him, with several others, after killing one man.

Word had reached Garrett that the Kid and his gang of thieves and murderers had dined around which the road curved for a distance of about five miles. The boy could be tracked to the saddle on the horse, and waiting for his deputies to come up from behind, he, in the even voice for which he was noted, said:

"I am going to ride ahead. All attention will be centered on me. That will give you a chance to surround the house. I am going to take my chances and kill the Kid. They may get me, but if they do I want you to make certain that you get him."

The deputies withdrew to right and left, advancing under cover of the sand hills in an oversweeping movement, and surrounded the house. Then Garrett rode forward. From his position he could see his deputies, who had dismounted, advancing cautiously through the sagebrush. He permitted his horse to walk slowly, his own pistol ready, conscious of the presence of the gang. At the door he called loudly.

Some one replied. A shot followed, and, firing a shot at the sheriff, dodged back. It was done in an instant, but in that fraction of a second the man who had fired dropped dead in his tracks! Garrett had dismounted, and with his deputies opened a fusillade of bullets through the sides of the thinly boarded shack. A white handkerchief at the door was waved, and the surrender of Billy the Kid and his gang.

"You Got Me, Pat."

When Garrett reached the railroad with his prisoner he was menaced by a crowd that sought to lynch the Kid.

"It looks as though they are going to get me, Pat," the Kid remarked.

It was an ugly crowd, bent on dealing to the boy the fate he was certain to meet sooner or later.

"Not if I can help it, Billy. You are under my care, and I intend to protect you."

"You give me a 'stag-gun,' Pat, and stand aside a few moments, and I will clean out the whole crowd. You'll see that I accomplish the mission you give me a gun."

"You could help—if you played square."

"I'd have to, old man. I'm in the tightest place I ever was in in my life. I'm'll 'get' us both, if you try it alone. They may get me, anyway. But you are up against it, if you try to defend me alone."

"I'll trust you once, Billy; but understand, no foolishness. I'll 'drop' you if you try it."

The crowd grew more menacing. The demand for the life of the Kid became more insistent.

"Listen!" shouted the tall sheriff during a slight lull. "The man is my prisoner. You did me to arrest him. I have. He must have a fair trial. I know he is guilty. But it is for a jury to pronounce him so. You can not take him while I have a breath of life left, or while Billy the Kid has, either!"

Saying which he passed a revolver to the boy who had struck terror into the Pecos Valley.

"You must get two of us now."

Back to back the sheriff of Lincoln county and the most noted murderer in the southwest stood.

"Now, Billy," cautioned Garret, "don't shoot unless I tell you to. Remember that without me your life is not worth two bits today."

It was impossible to tell what was working in the mind concealed behind the childish face of the Kid. It was equally as impossible to read the thoughts of the determined sheriff who walked with apparent unconcern. The crowd knew and feared the Kid. With only Garrett to fire at, the members might have risked it. With a revolver in the Kid's hand, they hesitated.

Garrett was quick to see the advantage he had gained.

"Now you will all move quietly away," he announced decisively.

Sullenly the crowd obeyed.

Held at bay, Garrett placed the Kid aboard the train which carried the prisoner eastward.

The Keeper and the "Makings."

The Kid was tried in another county. He had no friends and no defense. There were plenty of witnesses against him now that he was a prisoner. He was convicted by an attorney who made a brave fight. But he was sentenced to be hanged at Lincoln in July, 1881. He was brought back and confined in a jail built after the manner of Mexican houses, of adobe brick, with thick walls around a court or patio.

The day before he was to be hanged, half a dozen horses stood in the street, lines thrown over their heads—all that is necessary to make a cow pony remain in one place.

The Kid called from the interior to the warden: "Hi, there, Bell! I'm going to swing tomorrow. Give me the 'makings,' will you?"

"Sapers, Mignel," replied the warden, laughing. (Translated into English, the answer meant "Sure, Mike.")

The Kid stepped to the stairs. His hands were manacled in such manner that he had the use of them. The warden reached in his vest pocket for the cigarette paper, which he placed in his left hand and then gave the Kid a pinch of pocket for a sack of tobacco.

Like a flash the Kid raised his manacled hands and struck Bell square in the temple. The warden staggered. As he did so the Kid jerked Bell's revolver from its holster, and dealt the latter a blow on the head that crushed his skull.

"Defenter, Jo, Mignel," he cried. "I'm away!"

He shouted these words to another prisoner standing inside a cell. The Kid had been allowed the freedom of the gallery. The prisoner took keys taken from the prostrate warden to the man in the cell, who unlocked his handcuffs. Then, tossing the warden's revolver at the prisoner, he leaped:

"Give me back the keys!"

It was the work of but a moment to reach the barred gate that led into the street where the horses stood. A shot rang out from the Kid. From where he stood he could see the form of the warden. Lewding, the prisoner, who had the shot that ended his life, had then shot the man back. He permitted his horse to walk slowly, with a thought of the presence of the prisoner of the gang. At the door he called loudly.

Some one replied. A shot followed, and, firing a shot at the sheriff, dodged back. It was done in an instant, but in that fraction of a second the man who had fired dropped dead in his tracks! Garrett had dismounted, and with his deputies opened a fusillade of bullets through the sides of the thinly boarded shack. A white handkerchief at the door was waved, and the surrender of Billy the Kid and his gang.

"You Got Me, Pat."

When Garrett reached the railroad with his prisoner he was menaced by a crowd that sought to lynch the Kid.

"It looks as though they are going to get me, Pat," the Kid remarked.

It was an ugly crowd, bent on dealing to the boy the fate he was certain to meet sooner or later.

"Not if I can help it, Billy. You are under my care, and I intend to protect you."

"You give me a 'stag-gun,' Pat, and stand aside a few moments, and I will clean out the whole crowd. You'll see that I accomplish the mission you give me a gun."

"You could help—if you played square."

"I'd have to, old man. I'm in the tightest place I ever was in in my life. I'm'll 'get' us both, if you try it alone. They may get me, anyway. But you are up against it, if you try to defend me alone."

"I'll trust you once, Billy; but understand, no foolishness. I'll 'drop' you if you try it."

The crowd grew more menacing. The demand for the life of the Kid became more insistent.

LOT AS BIG AS A HAT

Tabulation in New York Discloses Odd Corner.

Has a Frontage on One Street of One Foot Four Inches, on Another of One Foot Two Inches and Back of One Foot.

New York—As a result of the tabulations of the city's most unusual pieces of property, what is probably the most freakish bit of real estate in the world has just been discovered here in the shape of a corner plot in the lower part of the city where corners are generally sold at hundreds of thousands, if not millions, of dollars.

The corner in question, however, is valued at only $99. The low valuation is in part explained by its size, or, rather, lack of size, since it is believed to be the smallest corner lot in the world, and on this to a great extent depends its claim to freakishness.

A derby hat would almost cover the property in question, which is so small that a baby could not stand on it without encroaching on city property. It would be impossible to erect any sort of a structure on it, and yet it is a corner and is taxed by the city as such.

According to the records of the tax department, the tiny property has a frontage on one street of one foot and four inches, on the other of one foot and two inches and a rear line of just one foot.

The site of land, which is within half a mile of the center of the world's greatest financial district, is what was at the result of street extensions put through by the city.

A search of the records of the tax department has revealed the fact that it is another, on which he located what is probably the smallest building in the city, built on a lot by 4 feet and capable of holding only two persons. The smallest house in the city, as revealed by recent research, is three feet six inches wide, and twenty-two feet long and two stories high, while the narrowest frontage is that of a downtown jewelry store, while it is 24 feet deep, is only two inches wide.

DEER THAT WEIGHS SIXTY OUNCES

In a miniature crate there arrived at the Bronx Zoo, New York, the other day, a mouse deer that weighs just 60 ounces and is eight and three-quarters inches high. The mouse deer is a rare member of the deer family and is known to the natives of India, where it hails, as "chevrotain." These creatures are very shy. They never venture into open spaces but keep in the densest portions of the jungle. They have a peculiar way of walking on the extreme tips of the hoofs, which gives one the impression that the mouse deer is stiff-legged. The specimen at the Zoo is the gift of M. Taylor Pyne, who got him from a Hindoo. It is almost pure white, save for a slight reddish tinge to the sides. It has no antlers, but two sharp tusks grow from the upper jaw and hang below the under lip.

MAN IN ICED CAR

Exists on Apples From New York to Iowa.

When Refrigerator Is Finally Opened Passenger Is Unable to Stand Up, and Says First Words Are Frozen.

Sioux City, Ia.—Almost dead on account of his sufferings, Andy Gorchitz, a Hungarian, was rescued from a refrigerator car in the Sioux City yards. He had been in the car thirteen days, and had traveled from Spencerport, N. Y. He said he had made the trip at Newburg, N. Y.

The car was filled with apples, packed in barrels. During the long trip Gorchitz lived on apples, consuming one barrel of the fruit.

The man's feet were frightfully frozen and swollen. The discolored flesh extended high up on his knees. The restraining hands of his shoes left deep marks in the frozen flesh. Every effort being made to restore circulation.

Gorchitz was removed to St. Vincent's hospital, where he was attended by Dr. J. P. Dougherty, police surgeon. He revived under the treatment given him. The latest report indicated that his life will be saved, although it probably will be necessary to amputate the feet. He is fifty-two years old.

The case is an exceedingly strange one and is made more remarkable because the man is unable to speak English. The word "sick" comprises his entire English vocabulary.

The car was filled with apples in New York and consigned to Sioux City. When employes opened the car to unload it they were startled to see across two barrels. Ha was too weak to arise. He mumbled continually the word "sick." Dr. Dougherty and Capt. Herman Schmalts, special agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound, Schmalts removed the man to the police station. Later he was transferred him to the hospital as soon as he made an examination.

Officer Schmalts found an interpreter in a German who appeared at the station and translated the statements of the man's name. He said he was a Russian. He had stretched himself across two barrels. He had concealed under his coat from the corner in another which a policeman had opened smelled and cheapest in the city. This chip of land is barely noticeable to the passer-by, but it is valued for tax purposes at $100, and has the distinction of being the only corner at that price in the city.

A search of the records of the tax department has revealed the fact that it is another, on which he located what is probably the smallest building in the city, built on a lot by 4 feet and capable of holding only two persons. The smallest house in the city, as revealed by recent research, is three feet six inches wide, and twenty-two feet long and two stories high, while the narrowest frontage is that of a downtown jewelry store, while it is 24 feet deep, is only two inches wide.

LONG SHIRTS FOR TRAMPS

Winchester (England) Woman Fears "Weary Willies" May Take Cold in Jail.

London—Night shirts provided for cadets at the Winchester college reformatory, by order of the guardians, to be made a little longer, the change was advocated by a lady member of the board on the ground that the wearers were likely to take cold through her efforts also straw-stuffed pillows for the unfortunates who swallow blocks in the tramps' sleeping ward.

GOLD SHOWERS ON WORKMEN

Coins Dated to the Fifteenth Century Are Found in Wall of Old House at Schellaheed.

Rome—While workmen were demolishing a fourteenth century house a shower of gold coins fell from a wall. The workmen tried to get the spoil to us outraged, but the police have confiscated the coins, which are of various dates back to the fifteenth century and bear the names of various Popes and European sovereigns.

BABY FORTUNE CASE TANGLED

Witnesses at Hearing Offer Astonishing Contradictions in Testimony.

San Francisco.—Conflicting testimony was given here before the district attorney described the mystery in the Slingsby baby fortune case, which hinges on the question of whether Mrs. Dorothy Slingsby, wife of Lieutenant Charles Slingsby of the British navy, substituted the illegitimate child of Estelle Anderson for her own son, which died at birth.

So varied are the statements of witnesses that it would have been difficult to gather, from the testimony, whether the person on the witness stand bore relationship to his putative mother, or even whether he was born by ever gave birth to a son.

Mrs. Amanda Koch, who was living with Mrs. Slingsby in the fall of 1910, swore that no child was born to Mrs. Slingsby on Sept. 1, the date of the announced birth. On the other hand, Dr. Charles Rodman appeared to be the state, board of health, testified that he had attended Mrs. Slingsby just prior to that date, and that no birth was expected.

Still another witness, Mrs. O. H. Bain, declared Mrs. Slingsby had given birth to a still-born babe to her place on Aug. 16, two weeks earlier.

Word came to the officials later that the Slingsby baby had died, but the disposition of property valued at almost a half million dollars, left to their supposed son, depends upon the outcome of the attempt to establish his legitimacy.

MAN 62 WANTS BRIDE OF 18

Writes to English Home Saying That He Needs a Young Wife to Share His Evening of Life.

London.—Stating that up to the present he had been a rover, and so "had not required a wife," a letter from a sixty-two-year-old seaman, Richerd McAdoy, was read the other day at a meeting of the Woolwich board of guardians. "But now I do," the letter continued, "and I am willing to pay to get me home over the school." McAdoy was formerly an inmate of the Sutton poo-law schools.

"DEAD" MAN OBJECTS TO COLD

When About to Be Placed in Coffin in Morgue He Speaks—Mourners Are Terrified.

Brussels.—An old man was found recently dead in a cellar occupied as an almshouse at Aalire, Flanders, and there he was laid and taken to the morgue. While preparations were being made to put the man into a coffin, he suddenly exclaimed, "How cold it is here!" The people round him were at first terrified.

SEA COW BREAKS FROM CAGE

Monster of 1,500 Pounds Smashes Way Out of Exhibition Tank—Is Recaptured.

Chicago.—The sea-cow—a strange animal on exhibition in a "loop" store—broke loose from its moorings and escaped to the river. The immediate neighborhood of State and Van Buren streets, Wednesday night, according to the best authorities on the subject, was the first visited by a beast from its tank past the attendants and proceeded to stroll toward the State street door.

Sunday it was decided to feed the animal salt, and on Tuesday the diet was changed to Florida oranges, spinach, and cabbage. Wednesday night the one-cow fell into a deep sleep.

It was some time when there was a sudden upheaval of the water in the tank. Attendants fled. The indignant sea-cow arose in its wrath. One thousand five hundred pounds of stupor shook enlisted with the steel supports of the tank, and many gallons of water flooded the building. A general stampede was made from the place.

Efforts to corral the animal were of no avail. With one sweep of its tail it demolished the rest of the tank and the kitchen fixtures that surrounded it. All was chaos, and the exhibitors were at their wits' end.

Finally a cowboy, by name Frank Leonard, procured a rope and lassoing the animal with some telephone cable that had been left in the back of the building. Now it took one flex peacefully in a newly-made mouth emergency tank.

Finds Warm Water Current.

Sydney, N. S. W.—The discovery of a warm current that is 100 miles wide and flows at a seven miles an hour rate from its origin in the equatorial region to the eastern Australian coast remains has been made by M. Dannevig, head of the Australian fisheries department.

NERO'S FISH POND IS FOUND

In Water Reservoir He Bred Delicacies for Use on the Imperial Table.

Rome.—The most important archaeological discovery yet made was brought out by Professor Boni the other day in his excavations on the Palatine. Beneath the basilica of the Flavian palace he found two narrow stairways leading to the "Piscina," a water reservoir consisting of five large compartments. It is still intact and is covered and well preserved by water-tight cement. It was especially constructed on different levels, and in this way the water was enabled to deposit sediment.

The reservoir dates from the time of Nero, when it was used as a salt water fish pond with the object of the artificial breeding of exotic fish for Roman table. The artificial rearing and hatching of fish in ancient Rome is attested by Pliny, who alludes to a special fish called the scarus, which was found between Rhodes and Cnt "was loved by women."

Rome deplores the gluttony which has caused delicacies by sowing the seas and giving them new inmates.

Plans to Deceive Trees.

Washington.—Because he fears the balmy weather will delude his apple and peach trees into blooming ahead of time, William Thomas, who grows apples in Maryland, has sent for 100 tons of ice which will be cracked and placed about the roots.

TO PROVE THE EARTH TURNS

Not a Hard Thing to Make Sure of an Assertion That is Universally Accepted.

It has puzzled the heads of a good many people to know how the earth turns round. A German educational journal, published in Frankfort, gives the following directions for proving that the earth "does move:"

Take a good sized bowl, fill it nearly full of water and place it upon the floor of a room which is not exposed to shaking or jarring from the street. Sprinkla pulverized chalk over the water.

Then upon the surface of this coating make, with powdered charcoal, a straight, black line, say an inch or two in length. Having made this little black mark with the charcoal powder on the surface of the contents of the bowl, lay down upon the floor, close to the bowl, a stick or other straight object so that it will be exactly parallel with the mark. If the line happens to be parallel with a crack in the floor or with any stationary object in the room, this will serve as well.

Leave the bowl undisturbed for a few hours and then observe the position of the black mark with reference to the object that it was parallel with. It will be found to have moved about, and to have moved from east to west—that is to say, in the direction opposite to that of the movement of the earth on its axis. The earth, in simply revolving, has carried the water and everything else in the bowl around with it, but the powder has been left behind a little. The line will always be found to have moved from east to west, which proves that everything else has moved the other way.

If you have a shadow of a suspicion keep it dark.

That's the Place—

SPILLANES

The Sure of Quality

Groceries, Confectionery, Stationery, Cigars, Pipes and Tobacco, Soft Drinks, Fruits, Coffee and Lunch.

A complete line in each department

The Local Field

Ina Pumpin spent Sunday at Crookston.

Fred Sole, Brady land office, Fargo, today on business.

Send coin for sale—Alma Carriere, Gentile Addition. 11

Mary Brunelle visited with friends at Crookston the first of the week.

Mr. George F. Brundige entertained Thursday evening at cards.

Ed. Hedquist attended to business matters at Crookston the first of the week.

Local competition wrecks a Gordon auto—it will need company.—Little Falls Herald.

Grain and hay land, also improved farm for rent, in Lake Pleasant.—P. Lee. tf

Miss Ida Jacobson of Brooks, was a visitor attending to some business matters.

Miss Margaret Rose is spending the week at Thief River Falls, assisting in the office of the Pennington County Abstract company.

The ladies aid society of the Presbyterian church will conduct a food sale at the Brady Land company's store Saturday afternoon, Feb. 22.

James R. Jackobson will leave Friday evening to go to Brainerd and will remain there indefinitely, having secured employment in that city.

Mrs. Agnes Ripin of Crookston arrived in the city Tuesday morning to spend several days. She bought direct from Switzerland and saved customers about 25 per cent, 15c pieces of 27-inch flouncing at 50c, 10c pieces of flouncing at 15c to select from, 10c to $1.50. Remember in Little line. We are giving you the choice, give us the business.—Lillis Ladies'—Adv.

E. G. Bisse, the weather man, has received his official thermometer from the government which may account for the excellent weather we are enjoying. The rest of the equipment has not arrived and until it does it is not certain that the weather man can be restrained from "setting up" correctly.

Carl Gerlach, who has decided to retire from farming, will sell his personal property at public auction Wednesday, March 12. Mr. Gerlach is to become a resident of Red Lake Falls and will construct a house on lots on the north side recently purchased.

When thinking of muslin underwear, think of Lansing Cloth, the best cloth for the purpose. A full line of long cloths, nainsooks, muslins, from 10c to 25c.—The Big Store.—Adv.

Apples, fairly good stock, $1.50 per box. Candy Saturday. We like variety choice of all candies. Fancy blood red salmon, Skokovvis, 4½ fat herring, little red heets 10c, spinach, tomatoes over posh salmon 25c, lobsters and men's felt shoes 89c, boys' pants 39c, warth 85c, flat salmon 10c can.—Lallissonlere.—Adv.

A Talk on Banking

The Merchants State Bank is conducted under the state banking laws of Minnesota.

This law is very similar to the National Banking Act passed by Congress in 1863 except that our legislature made certain changes with a view to improvement in order that the banks of our state could better serve the banking requirements of the commonwealth.

Under the law we are required to make four reports an the bank's condition during the year to the State Banking Department.

At intervals the condition of the bank is examined by State Bank Examiners who verify the cash, notes, books and records in detail.

Members of the Board of Directors representing the stockholders, also make periodical examinations.

All these safeguards are in the interests of the people who transact their business through the bank.

Merchants State Bank

Capital, Surplus and Deposits $500,000.00

RED LAKE FALLS, , , MINN.

Farm Loans at Low Rates

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY

Laces Laces Laces

I have decided to give the ladies some big bargains in Laces of all kinds. Get busy at once and take advantage of this sale beginning at once and

Continuing for Ten Days

Come early to get a good selection for your spring sewing. Also a fine lot of Irish Crocheted Handmade Medallions and Yokes. Will sell you goods at almost One-Half price.

Mrs. Louis Sieff

Red Lake Falls

There is little if any change in the condition of Frank Hovald, who has been critically ill for some time.

P. H. Gaines on his recent trip to Iowa met M. Vaughn, the former Red Lake Falls newspaper man. Mr. Vaughn is a very busy man, publishing a newspaper at Iowa Rapids, Iowa, and delivering impromptu lectures on occasion.

Many Red Lake county public school teachers and several public school officers attended the teacher's convention at Thief River Falls last Thursday and Friday. Several hundred teachers were in attendance and the meeting was a big success.

Muslin sale at the Big Store. 19 per cent off this week only on Persian muslin underwear, America's finest underwear. All new goods, just opened up. Specials, combination suits, lace trimmed, $1.00 values, etc. slightly soiled corsets and corset covers 29c, worth up to $1.—Adv.

Joe Kiss, the local well driller, who has lived in the Nick Mojeras house since last May, purchased the John Johannek residence this week. Mr. Johannek has bought part of the Jones farm north of town and will move on the farm in the near future.

Regardless of the advance in all cotton goods, we are selling our goods at the same old prices, fancy dress percales at 10c, 12½c and 15c. Imported French ginghams, the same as the big city stores get 35c for, our price 25c. Domestic ginghams, ranging in prices from 10c to 20c.—A. Robertus.—Adv.

Mrs. Cress was tendered a surprise party yesterday afternoon by a number of the ladies of the city who called at 3 o'clock to assist her in the celebration of her birthday anniversary. A very pleasant afternoon was spent and at six o'clock lunch was served.

Saturday, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday, being a legal holiday, the banks will be closed. The post office will be open from 10 to 12 o'clock and the lobby at the post office will be open in the afternoon. However, no mail is to be delivered on the rural routes, for the carriers are also a holiday.

We never showed such values in embroideries as we are showing this year, every piece we have bought direct from Switzerland and saved our customers about 25 per cent, 15c pieces of 27-inch flouncing at 50c, 10c pieces of flouncing all tide to select from, 10c to $1.50. Remember in Little line. We are giving you the choice, give us the business.—Lillis Ladies'—Adv.

W. G. Brownell, accountant for the Red River Power company, was over from Grand Forks Tuesday looking after some business matters for the company.

The condition of Mrs. Carl Krueger of St. Hilaire, who was critically ill and who underwent an operation at St. Vincent's hospital at Crookston, is reported to be much improved.

We have our novelty summer goods in, such as ratine at 48c, 60c, $1.00, silk ratine for $1.00 per yard, silk marquisette 49c, fancy cotton serge 35c, cotton whipcord 20c, linen suiting 25c. An inspection of these goods will convince of their values.—A. Robertus.—Adv.

Miss Mary Robideau, who has been attending school in Red Lake Falls has come to her home in Brooks.

Cress Brunelle is in Calgary, Alberta, attending to some business matters for his sister, Mrs. Bray.

There will be a clothes-pin doll social at the Presbyterian church parlors, Friday, Feb. 28th. All are invited. P27

County Attorney Chas. E. Boughton has been in St. Paul this week attending to some legal business matters.

Several Red Lake county people are attending the farmers' short course at the Crookston school of agriculture.

Four patients at the Fergus Falls hospital for the insane are being vaccinated for the prevention of typhoid.

Just opening the finest line of Valle du Nord gingliams we ever had, very dainty patterns.—Lallissonere. —Adv.

Miss Mary Bunker is spending the week at Crookston attending to some business matters.

Mrs. Ole Hanson of Crookston arrived in the city Tuesday morning to visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ingvald Ellefson.

Mrs. Agnes Ripin of Crookston arrived in the city Tuesday morning to spend several days. She bought direct from Switzerland and saved customers about 25 per cent, 15c pieces of 27-inch flouncing at 50c, 10c pieces of flouncing all tide to select from, 10c to $1.50. Remember in little line. We are giving you the choice, give us the business.—Lillis Ladies'—Adv.

Mrs. Ole Hanson of Crookston arrived in the city Tuesday morning to visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ingvald Ellefson.

Mrs. Agnes Ripin of Crookston arrived in the city Tuesday morning to spend several days. She bought direct from Switzerland and saved customers about 25 per cent, 15c pieces of 27-inch flouncing at 50c, 10c pieces of flouncing all tide to select from, 10c to $1.50. Remember in little line. We are giving you the choice, give us the business.—Lillis Ladies'—Adv.

Mrs. Ole Hanson of Crookston arrived in the city Tuesday morning to visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ingvald Ellefson.

Mrs. Agnes Ripin of Crookston arrived in the city Tuesday morning to spend several days. She bought direct from Switzerland and saved customers about 25 per cent, 15c pieces of 27-inch flouncing at 50c, 10c pieces of flouncing all tide to select from, 10c to $1.50. Remember in little line. We are giving you the choice, give us the business.—Lillis Ladies'—Adv.

PIONEER DIED THIS MORNING

FRANCIS PINSONNEAULT PASSED AWAY AT HOME IN LAKE PLEASANT.

Francis Pinsonneault, one of the pioneers of Red Lake county, died at his home in Lake Pleasant town ship at five o'clock this morning. For many years Mr. Pinsonneault had been in feeble health, though until a short time before his death he had been able to be about.

Mr. Pinsonneault was born in Canada and was 71 years old on the 6th of last month. Thirty years ago he came to this country and he had been a resident of Red Lake county ever since. He is survived by his widow and eight children, five daughters and three sons. The daughters are Mrs. F. Page, Mrs. Alfred Delorme, Mrs. Rock Valley of Oneille, Mrs. N. Snave of North Yakima, Wash., and Miss Eva Pinsonneault, who lives at home; the sons are Joseph, Medrick and Albert. Besides the members of his family he leaves numerous other relatives and many friends who will be pained to learn of his death.

Funeral services will be held at the Gentilly church at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, Feb. 22.

BIG MATCH TONIGHT

Curtis Will Take on Jimmie Potts at the Lotus Theatre.

A big feature for tonight will be the wrestling match at the Lotus theatre between Loren Curtis of Halstad and Jimmie Potts of Minneapolis. Both were fast performers in the middleweight class and the match promises to be a thriller.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTMENTS.

Authier, Secretary, Wheelock to Board of Control.

Governor Eberhart yesterday announced two appointments of much public interest. George F. Authier, the well-known political writer, succeeds Ralph W. Wheelock as private secretary to the governor. Wheelock goes to the board of control, succeeding P. F. Bisgaard, democratic candidate for governor last fall, who withdrew from the board the first of March.

Dr. Spafford will be in Red Lake Falls, March 4. At the Grand View Hotel. —Adv.

SHEERAN & MICHEL SELL BUSINESS

NEW FIRM TO TAKE POSSESSION SOON AS INVENTORY IS COMPLETED.

Sheeran & Michel have closed a deal for the sale of their hardware business to P. L. Partington and S. C. Schockley, who come to Red Lake Falls from Woodcroft, N. Dak. Inventory is now being taken and as soon as that is completed the new firm will take possession.

Messrs. Sheeran and Michel are not to leave Red Lake Falls at once for they have not made definite plans for the future.

RAILROADS RESIST ORDER.

Great Northern and Soo Officials Object to Wye at Thief River.

The hearing before the district court was finished last Friday afternoon, concluding a session of nearly two weeks.

The witnesses for the state railroad and warehouse commission and those for the Great Northern and Soo line in the hearing on the appeal from the commission's order establishing the wye between the two railroads through the Thief River Falls Lumber Company's yards, included giving their testimony last Thursday afternoon. Attorney Taylor and Countryman moved the court for the second time to dismiss the order on the grounds that the evidence was not sufficient to warrant the order and for several other statutory reasons, but the court denied the motion. The court room was crowded with people who anticipated that the final arguments by the assistant attorney general and the railroad attorneys for the railroad company would be oral. The judge however, ordered the attorneys to submit briefs in support of their sides of the case which will be placed before the commission during the first part of March. It is believed that neither side will abide by the decision of the district court but will appeal to the state supreme court.—Thief River Falls News-Press.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES

If it is not a bitter blustery cold day Sunday the Presbyterian church will celebrate the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. If weather is bad it will be put off till the following Sunday.

On Saturday at 2:30, in the basement of the church, will be held the preparatory class for communion service. This service will last one half hour. At this service no one but those the Communion service candidates for membership will meet the session of the church in the study of the church and then be publicly received at the Communion service.

Persons received into the church on the following separate conditions:

By a letter from another church.

By confession of faith.

By confession of faith in Christ and baptism.

Infants will be baptized at this service. All Christians are urged and invited to participate in this feast.

The evening service at 7:30 will be in connection with the Christian Endeavor in the basement of the church. Mr. Richardson will give a talk from notes taken on "Religion of the Indians," lectured by Mr. Stefanson, the Arctic explorer.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	$ .76
Durum	.74
Rye	.45
Oats	.32½
Flax	1.20
Barley	.37
Potatoes	.35
Butter—creamery	.28
Butter—dairy	.20
Eggs—fresh	.20

(Bankrupt's Petition for Discharge.)

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE DISTRICT OF MINNESOTA.

In the Matter of ABRAHAM HOFFMAN) Bankruptcy

In the Matter of ABRAHAM HOFFMAN) Bankruptcy

To the Honorable PAGE MORRIS, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of Minnesota.

Abraham Hoffman of Red Lake Falls in the County of Lake and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 27th day of July last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the Acts of Congress relating to Bankruptcy; that he has duly delivered all his property and rights of property and has fully complied with all the requirements of said Acts and of the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy.

WHEREFORE he prays that he may be decreed by the Court to have a full discharge from all debts, provable against his estate under said Bankrupt Acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 4th day of February, A. D. 1913.

ABRAHAM HOFFMAN, Bankrupt.

(Order of Notice Thereon.)

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT DISTRICT OF MINNESOTA, SIXTH DIVISION, ss.

On this 8th day of February A. D. 1913; on reading the foregoing petition, it is Ordered by the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 7th day of April A. D. 1913, before said Court at St. Paul in said District, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Red Lake Falls Gazette a newspaper printed in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the Court, that the Clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order addressed to them at their places of residences as stated.

Witness the Honorable PAGE MORRIS, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, at Fergus Falls, in said District, on the 8th day of February A. D. 1913.

CHARLES L. SPENCER, Clerk. By L. A. LEVORSEN, Deputy Clerk. (Seal of the Court.)

SOMETHING NEW FOR MINN.

(Continued from Page 1.)

If any member of the legislature has in mind any legislation calculated to affect the university or in any way to confuse some of its activities he wants to forget it. It can never get by. The strongest political organization in the state today is the university and all persons politically unfriendly to it do so at their peril. One senator, speaking of his experience the other day in the matter of an attempted investigation of the institution, said: "Never again for me. I got enough of it. Two years ago I had 'em all on my shoulders and they never let up until I agreed to quit. And I could not get any one to help me. They were all afraid of the cars."

❖ ❖ ❖

That there will be a general clean up of the hundreds of employes who some directly under the board is hardly likely. Though the administration will be in full charge in another month Governor Eberhart is too good a politician to allow any wholesale changes in the working force of the board. When Governor Eberhart first took up the reins of government the salary list in the several state departments was largely Democratic in sympathies. He did not begin an indiscriminate slaughter. The heads fell one by one and the axe was studied in a way to attract no attention, in some instances a year or more was used in cleaning out a department. Those who did remain climbed aboard the Eberhart bandwagon and they have been there ever since.

❖ ❖ ❖

George Authier, political writer on the Minneapolis Tribune, is spoken of as a probable successor to Secretary Wheelock and there are some who claim to be on the inside who say that his appointment has in a way been agreed upon. E. E. Smith, the present Republican state chairman, has been mentioned in connection with the place, but he is hardly likely to accept. As one of his henchmen remarked the other day he would not take it if it was worth double what it pays now. Wheelock's job is said to be worth $6,000 a year, though Mr. Wheelock denies it. It is known, though, that his fees, together with his salary, have probably netted him an even $1,600. This, however, does not take into account the many and unmentionable possibility for the job is Guy Eaton of Duluth.

❖ ❖ ❖

R. G. Dunn, house member from Pennington, was presented with a handsome silver coffee set by his colleagues Friday, the occasion being his forty-eighth birthday and the eleventh anniversary of his marriage. The presentation were characteristic of the "Old Roman." Fully prepared to make the presentation the house waited for Dunn's arrival and hearing that he was out in one of the corridors sent for him. Bob, when located, was arguing heatedly with a member who did not send for the Princess man's good road bill. "Bob, you're wanted," said the messenger. "Get out," was Bob's answer. "I'm not to convert this fellow and the house will have to wait." When the old warrior did reach his seat it was the surprise of his life that awaited him.

❖ ❖ ❖

Mr. Dunn has introduced his good roads bill and its draft represents about the biggest task tackled by any one men this session. It is a codification of all the present road laws brought down to date and the size of the bill can be imagined when it is known that the subject matter covers fifty closely typewritten pages. In the absence of a competent stenographer Mr. Dunn paid for the draft out of his own pocket. The bill has been made a special order for next week.

❖ ❖ ❖

Bob Smith, the oldest officeholder in the state and prominent in civic and social life in St. Paul for over half a century, died last week. He was eighty-five years of age and was county auditor at the time of his death. "Honest Bob," as he was generally known, was entrusted over $1,000,000 in his prosperous days. He died comparatively poor.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

BUTTERICK FASHIONS

Just Out

"Butterick Fashions"

Illustrating Spring's Newest Styles

OVER 600 new, smart, practical Spring styles! Over 2,000 distinct illustrations! An absolutely complete assortment of designs for everything for family wear. A superb issue!

Any Butterick Pattern FREE WITH EVERY COPY—25c

Call at the pattern counter and buy a copy to-day

THE BIG STORE,

THEO. LA BISSONIERE, Prop.

BUY IT NOW

RIGHT-CUT CHEWING TOBACCO

GUARANTEED

You Never Saw a Chewing Tobacco like "Right-Cut"—The Real Tobacco Chew

"RIGHT-CUT" is a new blend of ripe, mellow, sappy leaf, full and rich in flavor—cut short and fine so you get all the good of it.

We believe every man who chews will like its cool, crisp flavor. It is seasoned just right—not over-sweetened. It is satisfying and economical.

A 5-cent box of "Right-Cut" will go further and give you more real contentment than 10 cents' worth of the old kind. A small chew lasts longer than a big chew of old-style tobacco.

Get a can of "Right-Cut." Try it. Ask your dealer today.

We guarantee it to be pure chewing tobacco

WEYMAN-BRUTON CO.

When You Have Saved

$5.00
$50.00
$100.00
$1,000.00
$10,000.00

the first question arising is "HOW SHALL I INVEST IT?"

There is no better way than in a Certificate of Deposit in The Farmers National Bank.

Our Certificates of Deposit are issued in sums of $1.00 and upwards. They bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent, payable every six or twelve months as desired.

The Certificates of Deposit of the Farmers National Bank, as far as security is concerned, are practically on par with United States Government Bonds and are about three times as profitable.

Farmers National Bank

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Farm Loans Closed Promptly.

HORSES

From now on I will always have on hand a large number of native broke mares, ranging in weight from 1200 to 1500 pounds. Can fit you out with any horses that you may need for your spring work. You can always buy them RIGHT from me.

LOUIS SIEFF, SR.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

THEO. ALTENDORF
Watkins' Representative
Successor to Wm. Zaiser
Mail Orders receive prompt attention
Phone 107
Red Lake Falls, - Minn.

DR. G. B. FAIRCHILD
DENTIST
Graduate University of Minnesota
Offices over LaBissoniere's store
Office hours:
8 a. m. to 12 m. 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

MinnesotaHistoricalSociety

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1913
RED LAKE COURIER—ESTABLISHED 1910.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1913. VOL. XXX—NO. 23

BE A BOOSTER FOR GOOD ROADS

OPPORTUNITY FOR EVERYBODY TO CONTRIBUTE TO CAUSE OF BETTER HIGHWAYS.

It's a booster for good roads. Now is the time. And the opportunity is everybody's. The spring elections will be held Tuesday, March 11, and in most, if not all, of the townships of Red Lake county the proposition to change to the township system or handling road work will be voted upon. The proposition simply means that in those townships in which the change is made, poll taxes will not be "worked out" but all road taxes will be paid in cash and all work, road construction and road repair, will be done by contract. The man who works on the roads will be working on his own time and he will be paid for his work according to contract.

Some advantages of this method of handling road work are these:

There is system in the handling of the work and no waste of energy.

Good roads are made and poor roads are made good instead of road work being done by guess.

Because of the system and because all work must count on its own value under contract, much more work can be accomplished for the same expense or less expense to the taxpayers.

The township system is proving most successful wherever in operation. The reasons far that ought to be apparent to anybody who has the least idea of what constitutes good business methods.

Work in two Red Lake county townships, Gareen and Equality, has been done under the township system for the past several years and the people out there have every reason to be satisfied. They will tell you that they are doing several times as much work each year as under the old system and at a reduction in road taxes of about one-half.

The Gazette wishes to urge every farmer in the county to consider this as a business proposition and if it looks like good business to him to lend his efforts to secure the adoption of the plan in his township by a majority vote in the spring election.

Work for your own interests. Be a booster for good roads.

HAVE YOU SEEN FRANK H. DUNHAM?

MISSING MAN WHEN SEEN LAST WAS HEADED FOR RED LAKE FALLS.

The following about the disappearance of Frank H. Dunham is taken from the Sunday Duluth News-Tribune:

Mystery surrounds the disappearance of Frank H. Dunham, 30 years old, installer and repairer for the local gas machine company.

He has not been seen or heard from since Feb. 9. At that time his wife received a letter from him bearing a Big Falls, Minn., postmark. The letter contained the information that Dunham was bonded for $5000 and Red Lake Falls.

Communications addressed to him at both places remained unclaimed.

efforts to obtain trace of him have been unavailing.

Dunham is described as being about 5 feet 11 inches in height and weighing about 150 pounds. When he was seen here he wore a brown hat and a sweater of the same color.

His wife declares that his habits were of the best. She can not suggest no reason for his leaving home.

The Duluth police have started a systematic search for the man.

Notice.

Having disposed of our hardware business in Red Lake Falls we wish to thank the customers who have given us their generous patronage during the time that we have been in business here, and we wish to express the hope that they will continue the business relations with our successors, Messrs. P. L. Purrington and S. C. Stockley.

Naturally we are anxious to close all accounts without delay and request that all owing us will call and make settlement at once.

—Sheeran & Michel.

Auction Sale.

The following is an auction sale advertisement without delay and request that all owing us will call and make settlement at once.

—Sheeran & Michel.

Having decided to move, we will sell at public auction at the east front door of the White House, 9 O. on March 4, 1913, at 1 o'clock a. m., the following described property, to-wit:

One elephant, smooth mouthed, age uncertain, well fed, but looks thin after a strenuous campaign, small scar on right side, having been gored by a bull moose.

One set of golf sticks, slightly worn. One Ajax rubber, scarcely new, only used one year. One job lot of office furniture.

There will be offered at Oyster Bay, at the same time, the following described personal property, to-wit:

One bull moose, calved in June, Africa. One big stick, slightly worn. Also three Socialist planks, good as new.

Free lunch at noon. Bull moose sandwiches will be served.

Terms of sale—Four years time on approved notes bearing three per cent interest from date of sale.

Twenty per cent discount for cash. All sums under thirty cents, cash in hand.

There will be nothing reserved as we positively have to move.

Taft and Roosevelt,
Owners.

Col. W. J. Bryan, Auctioneer.
Woodrow Wilson, Clerk.

WON ONE AND LOST ONE MATCH?

FANS WHO SAW CURTIS AND SAILOR JACK MATCH YELL "FAKE".

The wrestling match at Thief River Falls Tuesday night between Leroy Curtis of Karlstad and Sailor Jack of Duluth attracted a crowd that filled the auditorium. All of the spectators when they went to the match were enthusiastic wrestling fans and many of them are now yelling "fake". After an hour and fifteen minutes of work Sailor Jack pinned Curtis' shoulders in the mat for the first fall. At this point the referee announced that the match was a "two-in-three" affair. The announcement created no little excitement, for there is said to have been much money staked on the match and the referee's statement gave those who had been unfortunate in the placing of their money a chance to get out from under.

Immediately after this rather exciting part of the proceedings the men went to the mat for the second fall and Curtis was down in five minutes. In the opinion of some supports the chance of "fake", while the supporters of Curtis say that he refused to put up more fight because unjustly accused and wished to be rid of the foul situation in which he had been placed.

The match at the Lotus theatre last Thursday night, between Curtis and Jimmie Potts, was a fake exhibition, though at no time did Potts have chance to take a fall. He did excellent work on defensive and made the match an interesting one. Curtis took the first fall in 15 minutes and the second in 35 minutes.

For Sale.

I am owner of the following land and if taken within the next thirty days will sell for $14 per acre: 120 acres in Pennington county, sonely, the E½ SE¼ Sec. 33 and SW¼ SW¼ Sec 34-152-41; 160 acres in Red Lake county, namely, the NE¼ Sec. 1-152-42. This is all fine tilling land and must all can be cultivated and If you are looking for a snap address W. W. MILLER, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. 1512 6 Ave. East. P20-27

Notice to Tax Payers.

Please remember that your personal property taxes must be paid before March 1st in order to save the 10 per cent penalty added that date.

O. G. KENNETH,
County Treasurer.

W. O. Hunt of the Hunt-Kankel Hardware company has just passed the state board examination for embalmers. He has spent the past few weeks in Minneapolis taking a special course in embalming. He will not return to Red Lake Falls at once but will spend some time with the Davies undertaking establishment gaining some practical experience.

(From Editorial in New York Evening Journal.)

We favor newspaper advertising in country newspapers, properly utilized, is the most valuable advertising in the world for its cost. We urge merchants to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the country newspapers. We odd incidentally, that we don't ever see any one expect to own any country newspaper or to have any interest in a country newspaper.

A country editor with five hundred circulation or more far his daily or weekly can talk to five hundred good, typical American families, oil purchasers, all desirable purchasers.

Every publisher of a country newspaper should be glad to have advertising columns the trusted and valued part of the business of at least ten great industrial or commercial houses.

The country publisher alone is able through his columns to sell everything. His readers buy everything that is for sale—from cattle to pianos, from pills to automobiles. They buy paint and roofing and stoves and lamps—hundreds of commodities that the city dwellers never hear of.

There is not a community in the United States in which one which ten or even fifty great American manufacturers and manufacturers would not gladly hire at high pay a competent, earnest representative able to talk to five hundred or a thousand people.

And every business-like, hard-working country editor is such an agent, able every day to reach the consumers whom he wants to can reach.

The country newspaper is the best of all advertising mediums.

AT WORK ON THE IMMENSE DAM

BIG POWER ENTERPRISE ON RED LAKE RIVER ABOVE CROOKSTON.

"During the past few months," says the Crookston Times, "thousands of yards of work have been done, 600 feet of lumber saved and a half million feet will be saved before the work is done, and over 3,000 piling are yet to be driven by the Red River Farm and Land Co., which is developing the biggest power proposition in the Red River Valley in the construction of an immense power dam in the Red Lake river—Grand Forks, miles above Crookston, which will develop an expenditure of $300,000 before a wheel turns."

The power dam already has the appearance of a small village, says the Times story and in the immense construction work will be carried on during the 1913 season and before the close of the season the big power plant will be completed. Commenting on the effect of that big enterprise, the Times makes the following statement:

"The completion of the great power plant early in the summer, will be the beginning of a new era. The power will be carried to all surrounding towns that desire it, and several have already opened negotiations. The farmers who wish electric lighted homes, electric power for feed grinding, cream separators, pumping water etc., will be provided for and practically unlimited power will be available for industries of all sorts.

"Another result of the dam will be the creation of a lake a half mile wide and wider in places, and four miles long, with running water. It will be supplied with an abundance of fish, and many people are already planning on building summer homes.

"An electric car line will be one of the results in the very near future, running directly past the fair grounds. The possibilities are unlimited and the immense plant will be one of Crookston's greatest assets, and the entire surrounding country enjoying all the privileges of electric light and power.

There is no doubt that electricity is the power at the future and the Gazetteis firmly of the opinion there will be wanderful developments in the Red River Valley in the course of a few years.

Propositions are now being made to the cities and villages and farmers in all directions from Minneapolis and St. Paul for the running of cables for the supplying of electrical energy for light and power purposes. During the past few weeks many southern Minnesota exchanges have been talking of very favorable propositions that are being considered by local authorities and citizens.

The Red River Valley conditions are more favorable for the development of power to be offered for sale at comparatively low cost than in southern Minnesota territory referred to. There is no doubt that at future dates other large power plants will be constructed an Red Lake river by the Bylandy people—and other holders at water power sites—that the Louisville site, the power that may be developed by the dams in the city of Red Lake Falls and at sites above the city will all eventually be utilized.

There is no doubt that in future years the power that will be developed in a few big power stations on the Red Lake river will supply all of the cities and villages of the Red River Valley and many of the farmers with electrical energy and that the important towns will be connected with electric railway lines.

Presbyterian Church.

Owing to the sickness of Elder George Walker we did not have our Communion Service last Sunday. Therefore we will have this service Sunday morning, and the service on Saturday at 2:30, as announced last week. The subject for the evening service will be "Causes of the Crisis in Mexico."

WILT AND RUST RESISTANT FLAX

INFORMATION REGARDING THE SEED DEVELOPED BY PROF. BALLEY.

Much interest has been taken in the work of Prof. H. L. Bolley of the North Dakota agricultural experiment station who has been developing a wilt and rust resistant flax seed and it is said, has met with most gratifying success. A flax crop, it is now known, does not take more from the soil than other grains, it is, however, subject to disease and this must be provided against.

The success at Prof. Bailey's work is explained in Press Bulletin No. 37 of the North Dakota experiment station. This should be of so much interest in every grower of flax that the Gazette quotes at length from the bulletin as follows:

"The experiments and co-operative work conducted by the Department of Botany during the past five years have proved conclusively that one way for the Northwestern farmer to succeed in raising flax on his farm

(Continued on Page 7.)

LOCAL NEWS.

See our big stock of farm machinery.—M. Skala & Son.—Adv.

A. H. Cowles visited with relatives at Thief River Falls Monday and Tuesday.

Rudalph Helm, who has spent the greater part of the winter in Minnesota, returned Wednesday morning.

Louis Sieff, jr. returned Wednesday from Montana, where he had been to buy some horses for shipment to the local market.

R. L. Knobel, superintendent of this division of the Great Northern road, went north Wednesday in his private car on a tour of inspection.

Wm. Schatt returned Saturday from Hector, where he had been for a few weeks for a visit with the members of his family still living in the southern Minnesota town.

We can sell you any farm machinery you may need for the operation of your farm—we will sell you the best machinery and the price will be right.—M. Skala & Son.—Adv.

Attorney Chas. E. Boughton returned Tuesday morning from a business trip to the twin cities, but confined to Thief River Falls, where he had some legal business matters to attend to, returning from Thief River Wednesday evening.

A. H. Cawles returned Saturday from a five weeks visit with relatives at Loyal nd Oilfield, Wis. While away he also looked after his real estate located near Bertha, Minn. He will return to wark the first of March.

While walking home from church Sunday, Mrs. D. Lacombe fell and suffered the fracture of one of the bones of her arm. As she is past eighty years of age it is possible that it will be some time before she will have completely recovered from the effects of the injury.

Vennie Lemieux had a narrow escape from serious injury this week. While working around a circle saw he got his hand mixed up with the saw, but got it out just in time to avoid unnecessary and unwelcome amputation of the fingres. One finger was quite badly lacerated, but the injury is not a serious one.

PROBE PROVES INTERESTING

STRANGE FACTS BROUGHT OUT BY GAME AND FISH INQUIRY.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, Feb. 24.—Legislative investigations as a rule are not worth the paper on which the resolution directing them is written, but the house committee on accounts and appendtures is engaged in an inquiry at the present time that promises interesting developments. The committee has started out on the task of finding whether or not the various state boards and departments are worth the cost. The inquiry so far has only covered the state game and fish commission, and believe me this one department devoted to the conservation of the game resources of the state has been shown up in anything but a favorable light. Some people after hearing the testimony covering the various things touched upon by the committee would have said "rotten," I will not go that far. "Politics" is a better word. Getting down to the

(Continued on Page Four)

Our line of Gardon hats this spring is a little better than we ever had before, everything has been perfected over practically no hats. Shawing all the latest Landon accepted shapes at the Gordon quality.—LaBissoniere. —Adv.

Our Complete Line of Farm Machinery includes the following goods of known merit:

Monitor double and single disc Harrows
Best Ever gang and sulky Plows
Michigan and Single Dutchman Cultivators
Flying Dutchman and Gretchen disc and shoe Corn Planters
O. K. Champion Potato Planters
Genuine T. G. Mandt Wagons and Crescent Farm Trucks
Henney Buggies
Economy Disc Harrows
Northern Queen Breaking Plows
Success Harrow Carts
Flying Dutchman Manure Spreaders

M. SKALA & SON

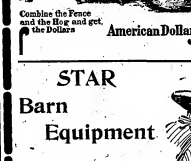
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
NORTH SIDE

Let Us Prove We Can Serve You Best

With a larger and better stock of Hardware than ever before—A new and up-to-date Furniture and Rug Department, full of reliable goods at very reasonable prices—A Sales Force that knows its business and gives you best service and courteous treatment always—It seems to us that we should supply your needs in our lines better that any other store in this locality.

This business, established in 1878, has steadild grown as a result of our open, four-square methods, our service and best values. Our record of 35 Years of Square Dealing is your guarantee of satisfactory service.

American Fence



Combine the Fence and the Dog and get the Dollars

A Car of American Fence is on the way

You all know the AMERICAN—the standard by which all other fences are judged. Buying in large quantities makes possible a low price of 25c per rod

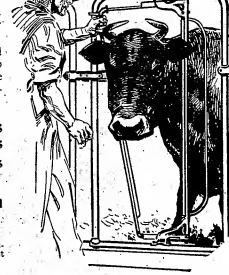
on a 26 inch fence.

STAR Barn Equipment



If you are going to build a barn this year we want to talk to you. We believe we can interest you in the following—

Star Steel Stalls and Stanchions
Star Hay Carriers
Star Litter Carriers
Star Adjustable Barn Door Hangers

Every article guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. Let us quote you prices.

A large stock of Maxwell's Wall Paper in exclusive designs will be ready for your inspection in a few days.

WE SELL THE Monarch RANGE

Hunt-Kankel Hdwe. Co.

HARDWARE -- -- FURNITURE

WE SELL THE Monarch RANGE

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

C. R. C. BAKER, Publisher.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

Mexico's revolution seems to be a victim of the bookworm.

Miss Sembrich says that wiggle dances are terrible for young folks. Also fat folks.

A Chicago girl almost wedded the wrong twin. Those hasty marriages should be discouraged

A Chicago waiter died leaving $1,- 000,000. To paraphrase: "He gets his too, who stands and waits."

New York man sent a live lobster through the mail by parcel post. Must have done it in a pinch, though.

Chicago chef found a $500 pearl in an oyster, says exports. Press dope to advertise the house, quite likely

The English language is employed by 150,000,000 people. Of that number, a few speak it. The rest mangle it.

A vast amount of circumgarcine was manufactured in this country last year, and some of it was eaten by unlucky fat hunter

New York movine pictures are being exhibited showing brain disease. A brain storm must be equal to the task thing

British babies are now worth $7.50 a head, but you would seem to trade your American baby for the whole British empire

California woman divorced her husband because he smoked her by frequent gunning. Too much of a good thing, no doubt.

Burglars first dreadnaught which recently raided the navies of the world. Is only six yards old and yet it is already celebrated

The New York waiters who struck before the dinner had dined did not seem to care about the slip between the cup and the lip

St Louis physicians are employing a tuning fork to cure a disordered throat. It will be a bit of singers we wish they'd practice on.

Man is at his best at 40, according to a symposium of Berlin scientists. There's hope for the woman, if she only boosts that 20 mark now.

There will soon be a million automobiles in this country. This will provide one for every 96 inhabitants, which still crowds the joyriders.

A woman injured in getting off a train has lost the power of speech. However, her lawyer will probably get all the talking that is necessary.

It is said that the railroad ties of the future will be of cement, which will come nearer suggesting the sidewalks of Broadway than the wooden ones.

Some one might make a bit and a great deal of money by phiteing lobsters for the New York market to crawl to the table under their own power.

Dr. Vaughn of the University of Michigan declines against the "shaking vine" girl as a wife, but does not specifically suggest any twisting substitute.

A French physician says that walking on all fours still cure indigestion. Here's another excuse for the man who has to adopt this mode of locomotion when he reaches home at 3 a m

An advertisement recently appeared in a German paper offering a reward for a watch lost four years ago. Just suppose it had been a monkey wrench!

A steerage passenger with $50,000 in his pocket has been admitted to New York. If he is there yet it isn't necessary to ask whether or not he still has it.

The pigeon, says a Harvard professor, leads an intellectual life. Our observation is that the father pigeon's chief intellectual diversion is grumbling and swearing.

After April 12 whistling sod cans swinging will be barred on the streets of Berlin, and not more than three persons can walk abreast on the sidewalks of that thoroughly governed city.

A Kansas editor says that when he was a young man about all the boys had to do to dress for a party was to mull their trousers out of their bosoms but Kansas has greatly ch...ged since then.

Arnold Bennett says it is no sign of ability to accumulate a fortune. True, the ability is displayed to keeping it.

A Virginia editor recently died owing $32,831. And yet there is a standing joke regarding the impecuniosity of the profession.

An index system of taxes that will help popular song writers with defective memories is announced as the latest. Judging from popular tunes, we always were of the opinion that writers had wonderful memorizing ability.

A scientist asserts that the early man could not talk. However, he is peculiarly silent concerning the early woman.

Walking the floor with baby when it howls at night may unsettle the mind, says a specialist. We know it unsettled dad's mind.

Ellen Glasgow remarks that woman ever has been man's companion, sharing his exile, espousing his cause, and buckling his armor. Ah, yes, but she never had to look him up the back.

MADERO IS OUSTED

PRESIDENT, HIS BROTHER, AND CABINET ARE ALL ARRESTED.

ENDING OF STRUGGLE URGED

General Blanquet Delivers Peace Speech to Army—Diaz and Huerta Come to an Agreement and Battle Ends.

Mexico City, Feb. 20.—Francisco I. Madero has been forced out of the presidency. He was arrested at the national palace by General Blanquet, leader of Victoriana Huerta, commander of the federal troops, was proclaimed provisional president.

Francisco Madero later signed his resignation.

Others Arrested.

About the time Madero was seized by Blanquet, his brother, Gustavo Madero, the former minister of finance, was arrested by General Huerta, who was dining with him in a public restaurant. All members of the cabinet were also promptly placed under arrest, with the exception of Ernesto Madero, the uncle of the president, who held the portfolio of finance. He was notified of the intentions against the government and escaped.

Notwithstanding the fact that some definite action was expected, the coup d'etat at the palace caused a sensation and the exact nature of affairs could not be ascertained for several hours.

Plot Brewing Some Time.

The first movement against Madero was the result of a plot which had been brewing since Monday and which possibly existed with Blanquet for a much greater length of time.

From the first it had been known that General Blanquet was unwilling to fight. His own ware of the same kind. He had therefore remained over them and it was not decided that they should follow him in any adventure, which they did at the national palace yesterday.

The forces, numbering 1,000 men, which arrived late Monday, were sent immediately to the palace ostensibly to relieve the reserves there. The reserves went into the field.

An agreement between Generals Blanquet and Huerta was reached Monday night, but the first intimation that Blanquet's men had of the new role they were to play was shortly before the successful stroke was made. Blanquet drew his men up in order and delivered a stirring speech.

Blanquet's Speech.

"This inhuman war must end," he said. "The time has come when some drastic means must be taken to stop a conflict to which father is killing son and brother is fighting against brother; when non-combatants are sharing the fate of war—and all this because of the caprice of one man."

Blanquet then issued orders for the arrest of the president and assigned a detachment to that duty. Madero was soon a prisoner in his own room.

One reason given for the arrests of General Blanquet, from the beginning was the presence of his son in the room's of Diaz.

The arrest of the president and his ministers became known, crowds gathered in the streets, through which they paraded, shouting "viva" for Huerta and Diaz. A conference was held between the chief of police of Stoctcon, Cal., cautioning a deputation which visited a stranger who had attracted attention in Lodi, and was known there as Willis A. Dow. About the time of Monde's death, Dow disappeared.

Investigation developed that Mardi was the trustee of a fund of $100,000 left by a brother, James Mersh, for the benefit of his adopted daughter, Miss Orpha Marsh, of Stockton, Cal. She was to receive the money at the death of George E. Mersh or in 1914, if the trustee survived in that year.

The real name of Miss Mersh used made his home with her. The state will attempt to prove that Dow or Dow are identical and that the defendent left Stockton a short time before Mersh was killed and was by Lynn merseguedlog when the murder was committed. It was asserted he returned to California, stopping in Los Angeles, where he mailed a diary in which the demise of Mersh was set down.

Dorr was arrested in Stockton on April 18, last, brought east and indict- ed for murder in the first degree.

Cuba Will Land Troops.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The orders to Cuba, dispatched to Charge Beaupre, reached Vera Cruz, according to a dispatch received at the Cuban legation. It was said at the legation that a special messenger had been dispatched to Madero governmeent under which infantry and artillery would be landed from the Cuban ports.

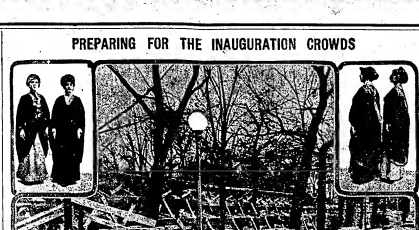
Pannikins; Lives Like Animals.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—George Palmer, a penniless man, who at the time suffered under the added disadvantage of a broken glass eye, represented himself as a "bond broker" at a leading hotel here. Palmer was confined to an expensive suite of rooms and opened costly meals during the day, drinking champagne and smoking 50- cent cigars. A bond waiter woke up to Palmer's financial condition by soliciting the man's toes stekling out at a hole in his shoe.

Origin of Cancer Found.

Berlin, Feb. 18.—The result of experiments to find the origin of cancer are published here by Prof. Johnsmer 2d" liger, director of the pathological institute of Copenhagen. His researches show that "cancerous growths in the oesophagus and stomachs of rodents were due to the presence in the alimentary tract of minute worms, an intestinalnate parasite of which are from the common kitchen cockroach. Professor Pfluger succeeded in producing cancer by feeding the parasites' "eggs of cockroaches to rats."

PREPARING FOR THE INAUGURATION CROWDS



Washington is getting ready to entertain the great crowds that are expected there for the inauguration o Woodrow Wilson. The picture shows grandstands in process of erection in front of the White House grounds The laserts are two views af leaders of the suffrcists in their specially designed costumes for the woman's parade Thay are Mrs. C. T. Cowen, wife of Lieutenant Commander Owens, U. S. N., and Mrs. Caro G. Moore, wife of Com mander Moore, U. S. N. "

BAY STATE MURDER CASE UP

DEFENDANT CHARGED WITH SLAYING RICH MANUFACTURER.

Believed Deed Was Done to Secure $100,000 Legacy for an Aunt.

Salem, Mass., Feb. 18.—A diary, alleged to contain a record of the death of George E. Marsh, written some hours before the body of the wealthy soap manufacturer of Lynn was found on the West Lynn marshes, April 12, 1912, will figure in the trial of William A. Dorr, charged with murder. The case was opened in the superior court here today.

The state will attempt to show that Dorr mailed this diary to California, and that through this action the police first obtained the clue to the alleged perpetrator of the crime. Other circumstances, including a legacy of $100,000 which was to go to his aunt in 1914 or earlier, in event of Marsh's death, lead a peculiar interest to the mysterious affair.

More than 100 witnesses have been summoned and the prosecution, which is built largely upon circumstantial evidence, will be stoutly contested. Dorr's mother, Mrs. L. C. Dorr, will attend the trial, although she is advanced in years and in feeble health.

Marsh was 76 years of age and a widower. His only immediate relatives were a brother, Caleb, and a son, James M. Marsh. He was not known to have an enemy and when his body, bearing four bullet wounds, was discovered, the police were at a loss for a motive of the crime.

A reward of $5,000 was offered for the detection of the murderer and a wide search was begun. For several days this was without result. Then came a message from the chief of police at Stoctcon, Cal., cautioning a detective, which visited a stranger who had attracted attention in Lynn, and was known there as Willis A. Dow. About the time of Marsh's death, Dow disappeared.

PASSED OVER VETO

TAFT'S OBJECTION DISREGARDED BY SENATE AND LITERACY TEST BECOMES LAW THROUGH 72 TO 18.

HOUSE LIKELY TO PASS IT

Believed That Lower Body Will Also Concur—Debate Short—Taft Severely Criticised.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The Burnett-Dillingham immigration bill, vetoed by President Taft because it imposed a literacy test upon immigrants, was passed over the president's veto in the senate by a vote of 72 to 18. The overwhelming majority given at the end of a short debate, in which President Taft's attitude was vigorously criticised, has strengthened the probability that the bill will be passed over the veto in the house.

Few Support Taft.

Support of the president's position was voiced by only few senators during the debate.

Senators Lodge and Dillingham, leading the fight to override the president, declared the measure to meet important provisions for the exclusion of criminal, diseased and insane aliens that great harm would result to the United States if it did not become law.

Senators voting to pass the bill over the veto were: Bacon, Borah, Bankhead, Borah, Bourne, Bradley, Brandegee, Bristow, Brown, Bryan, Burnham, Burton, Chamberlain, Clark (Wyoming), Crane, Crawford, Culberson, Cullom, Cummins, Dillingham, Dixon, Fall, Fletcher, Foster, Gallinger, Gamble, Gardner, Gore, Jackson, Johnson, (Maine); Johnston, (Alabama); Jones, Kavanaugh, Kenyan, Kern, La Follette, Lea, Lippitt, Lodge, Martin, Myers, Nelson, Newlands, Overman, Owen, Page, Pearcse, Percy, Perkins, Pittman, Poindexter, Reed, Richardson, Root, Sheppard, Simmons, Smith, (Arizona); Smith, (Georgia); Smith, (South Carolina); Smoot, Southerland, Swanson, Thomas, Thornton, Tillman, Townsend, Webb, Wetmore, Williams and Works.

Those Favorable to Veto.

Senators voting to sustain the veto: Clegg, Citrus, Clarke, (Arkansas); Curtis, Du Pont, Gronna, Guggenheim, McCumber, Martine, O'Gorman, Oliver, Perkins, Shively, Smith, (Maryland); Smith, (Michigan); Stephenson, Stone and Warren.

A full list showing why it is that the United States alone among nations is not thought to have the right that all nations have to say who shall come within its borders," said Senator Lodge. "It is the only country in the world where it is argued that people have no other country. We never have seen the United States, are entitled to have them. We do not allow a man to become a part of our body politic unless he can read and write his name.

Experts Arrive for Hyde Trial.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 18.—Dr. Ludwig Hektoen, of Rush Medical college, Chicago; Dr. Walter S. Haines, Chicago university and Dr. Victor C. Vaughan, professor of physiological chemistry at the University of Michigan, have arrived in Kansas City to state in the third trial at Dr. B. Clarke Hyde, charged with the murder of Colonel Thomas P. Swope. These three specialists performed the autopsy on the body of Colonel Swope and his nephew, Chrisman Swope.

Alderman Had Long Record.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Alderman John J. Brennan died here, 63 years of age, and 32 years a member of the council. Mr. Brennan was serving his eleventh consecutive term. Attacks from various organizations and even a sentence to the house of correction on the charge of election frauds failed to shake his hold on the Eighteenth ward. Brennan was sentenced to serve two years by Judge Gary, but the appellate court reversed the decision after the alderman had served two and a half months.

5,500 MEN REPORTED KILLED

MONTENEGRINS LOSE 5,000 AND SERVIANS 500.

Allies Capture Position, but Suffer Serious Losses—Withstands 50,000 Soldiers.

London, Feb. 20.—A Cettinje dispatch to the Times says that the allies suffered seriously in the three days' fighting which ended in the capture of Bardanjoli. The Montenegrins lost 1,500 killed and wounded on the Tarabosch side and nearly 4,000 at Bardanjoli. The Servians lost 500 at Berdica.

Scutari has proved itself able to withstand the attack of 50,000 troops. The Servians were handicapped by a lack of heavy artillery.

A bullet passed through the lungs of Francis Fitzgerald, a 16-year-old boy. He probably will die. A. B. Moss was grazed by a bullet that passed through his breast Sunday. Both men received a bullet through his hat, but was unhurted.

Starts to Run.

His horse very nearly Leeper started to run. With a shout, the crowd followed him. Two blocks away Leeper flashed forward a speed storm. He was the watering, S. S. Whitcomb, the properties knocked the pistol from his grasp. Into the store the pursuing crowd poured, and fell upon the hapless.

"Mob him!" crted several as toward the entrance Leeper was dragged, ruffled and bicked.

Two patrolmen rescued Leeper from his angry captors and took him to the police station. Leeper is 23 years old and until recently was employed as a driver for an express company. He lives with his father, near Leeper for a cement manufacturing company.

"BATH TUB TRUST" IS GUILTY

Penalty is Imprisonment for a Year or a Fine of $5,000, or Both.

Detroit, Mich, Feb. 17.—The so-called bath tub trust was found guilty of criminal conspiracy to restrain trade by a jury in United States district court. The case was charged, by a misdemeanor and the penalty provides imprisonment not exceeding one year, or a fine of $5,000 or both.

Last November the so-called trust was disolved by the supreme court in a civil suit instituted at Baltimore. Attorney General Wickersham in the first trial having resulted in a disagreement. The jury required four hours to reach a verdict.

Report of Influx of Japs.

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—The Asiatic Exclusion league has adopted a report on the influx of Japanese into the United States within the last six months of the year 1912, which it will send to every member of the state legislature and every member of congress. According to the report, the arrivals in this period were 5,616 and the departures 2,796. There have been many phases of proposed alien land and Japanese exclusion legislation.

Heads League Elects.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Frank S. Carr, of Indianapolis was elected president at the executive board of the National League of Democratic Clubs here.

Admits Killing Policeman.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Robert Webb, highwayman and leader of the notorious bandits, Chicago's most dangerous criminals, according to the police, has confessed he killed Policeman Peter Hert. Webb was captured Friday.

Score Hurt in Gas Explosion.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 18.—Twenty members of the congregation of the First Methodist church, South, at Oak Grove, 25 miles east of here, were injured when a gas tank blew up in the basement.

Oldest Jesuit in U. S. Dies.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 18.—Rev. Father Benedict J. Masselin, S. J., the oldest Jesuit in the United States, and believed to be the oldest in the world, is dead at the University of Detroit. He was born in Belgium in 1820.

Coal Oil on Fire Kills Two.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Feb. 18.—A wire from Eyebrow tells of a fatal coal oil explosion 20 miles southwest of that town in which Gladys Hall, aged 16 years, and her sister, Tootsie, aged five, lost their lives.

ATTEMPTS TO ROB 16

IS NEARLY LYNCHED WHEN LINE BREAKS FROM HIS CONTROL.

EMPTIES GUN ON THE CROWD

Probably Fatally Wounds Boy—Two Others Have Narrow Escapes —Police Save Robber From Death.

Kansas City, Feb. 18.—Sixteen men, lined up in the street at the point of his revolver, proved more than a bold highwaymen could control here, and when they began to break away at the ends of the line, the bandit commenced shooting.

After probably fatally wounding a boy and barely missing several men with his bullets, the bandit fled with his intended victims at his becls. He was almost lynched when overtaken, two blocks away, and probably his life was saved by the arrival of the police.

The attempted hold-up occurred at Twenty-third and Penn streets, not far from the new union station. Eight men were standing on the corner when the bandit came around the corner. "Get in line there, kids, and don't fool about it!" shouted the bandit! As the boys took their places two men came up from the opposite direction. They, too, were ordered into the line, with hands up, as were others who come upon the scene.

Finally Leeper had sixteen victims ranged along the wall. Off came his hat and over the line he started, with a command for everybody to "shell out all you got." Leeper had passed part way down the line, had collected 60 cents in his hat, and then two or three men at the other end began coming from the line and ran. Leeper whirled about, turned his back to the bandit and wounded on the Tenbosch side and nearly 4,000 at Bardanjoli. The Servians lost 500 at Berdica. Scutari has proved itself able to withstand the attack of 50,000 troops. The Servians were handicapped by a lack of heavy artillery.

A bullet passed through the lungs of Francis Fitzgerald, a 16-year-old boy. He probably will die. A. B. Moss was grazed by a bullet that passed through his breast Sunday. Both men received a bullet through his hat, but was unhurted.

Starts to Run.

His horse very nearly Leeper started to run. With a shout, the crowd followed him. Two blocks away Leeper flashed forward a speed storm. He was the watering, S. S. Whitcomb, the properties knocked the pistol from his grasp. Into the store the pursuing crowd poured, and fell upon the hapless.

"Mob him!" crted several as toward the entrance Leeper was dragged, ruffled and bicked.

Two patrolmen rescued Leeper from his angry captors and took him to the police station. Leeper is 23 years old and until recently was employed as a driver for an express company. He lives with his father, near Leeper for a cement manufacturing company.

WORK IN CONGRESS HINDERED

Possibility of Mexican Intervention Brings Activity Practically to a Standstill.

Washington, Feb. 18.—With the shadow of possible Mexican intervention hovering over congress, legislative activity in both houses has come practically to a standstill. No immediate need to take up the matters of the Mexican problem is apparent.

The senate in both houses is waiting the "literacy test" immigration bill over President Taft's veto will open the week.

Disastrous Timber Fire.

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 18.—A disastrous fire swept the timber belt south of Hollister, in Taney county, as the result of a blaze that started in the yards of the American Pencil company there late Saturday night. Over 200 carloads of pencil cedar were destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown. Hundreds of men fought the fire and tried to confine the fire to the timber belt, but the flames spread to the timber on the mountain side and soon the little valley was a seething furnace.

Religious Convention in March.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 17.—The decennial convention of the Religious Education association will be held in Cleveland March 10, 11, 12 and 13. Under the general theme, "Religious Education and Civic Progress," more than 50 meetings will be held at which prominent civic and religious leaders will address. Most of the meetings of the convention will be open to the public.

Funds Offered Stefansson.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The National Geographic society and the American Museum of New York have jointly subscribed and offered $45,000 to Vilhelmar Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, to defray the expenses of another exploring expedition to the north polar regions, according to an announcement made by the National Geographic society here. The Canadian government has also made a tentative offer of $70,000 to Stefansson if he will make the expedition under the British flag.

TO AUCTION NOTED ESTATE

Lady Henry Grosvenor Orders Sale of Well Known Property in a Leicestershire.

London.—Quenby hall, in Leicestershire, one of the few remaining perfect specimens of old Jecobean architecture in the kingdom, with the estate of 2,036 acres on which it stands, is to be put for euction by order of Lady Henry Grosvenor at Messrs, Knight, Frank & Rutley's room in Hanover square next month. All through its history the character of the mansion, both interior and exterior, has never been altered. Nower at any period, fram 1616, when the building was begun, right up to the present day, have any so-called "modern" improvements been introduced, except, perhaps, in the matter of sanitation, introduction of bathrooms, electric light, and so forth.

Old Quenby Hall.

But otherwise, nothing, not even to the extent of displacing a leaden pane.

Quenby hall belongs to the time when the classic influence was making a strong hold on England. It remained from its erection till the death of the eighteenth century in possession of the ancient family of Ashby, though it was on the lands of Quenby that the ancestor of St. Mery de Pratis was founded in the early twelfth century.

The hall is approached by a long drive through a natural park of about one hundred acres of timber, and from its windows there is an unbroken view of the surrounding country. In the stately reception room is an old massive oak carved and paneled screen, and a grand old stone chimneypiece. The dining room is all oak and has a fine, massive sideboard, the gray bedroom, the saloon, or "great" drawing room, contains many bits of artistic or historic interest. It is full of valuable old furniture and tapestries, which may be sold with the house.

The gardens are well kept, the stabling is ample and there are a number of fine old cedars, which bring in good annual rentals.

FIRE PLAY MAY BE FATAL

Cripple Shoots Matches at Christmas Tree and Burns Home Wife Tried Rescue May Die.

Atoon, Pa.—Amusing himself by shooting matches from an air gun at ornaments suspended from a Christmas tree, Ralph Vandevander, eighteen years old, a helpless cripple, was burned probably fatally when the matches set fire to the tree.

Mrs. Sarah Hopkins, at whose home in Bellwood, near here, Vandevander was visiting, was so severely burned in an effort to save the young man, a daughter and out of the burning room Mrs. Hopkins' clothing was ignited, her hair burned off and she was burned in the hands, face and body.

Both are in a critical condition.

CANS-SAVE LIVES OF U. S. MEN

Tin Vessels Rattle and American Soldiers Awaken and Repel Attack.

Washington.—The rattle of tin cans which had been hung on strips to deter advances of Filipinos around the night camp of a detachment of soldiers on the trail of Filipino leaders, recently prevented a massacre of the Americans by the fierce Moro tribesmen of Mindanao. The complete rout of the natives, according to war department reports received, was the idea of the American commander. Sentries had been stationed 200 yards inside the entanglements, and when the Moros attempted a night attack they rattled the cans to call the soldiers, aroused the American soldiers in time to check the attack.

MAD DOG BY PARCEL POST

California Postmaster Sends Order Barring Them Hereafter From the Mails.

Berkeley, Cal.—Dons up in a neat brown package, a mad dog arrived here by parcel post. "Mail" it was labeled and so it turned out after the bundle had been examined by Dr. W. A. Sawyer of the state health laboratory. Although the dog was dead, Postmaster Mail said the animal overstepped even the wide bounds of the parcel post and he has sent out an order barring mad dogs, dead or alive, from the mails. The package was sent from Fruitvale, Cal., where the dog had been shot.

TRAVELS FAST OVER SNOW

North Dakota Aerobest Expected to Cover Ground at Speed of 100 Miles an Hour.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The snow-snowboat is the latest method of getting over the ground in North Dakota. It was constructed by a Grand Forks boy. An aeroplane motor, with a seven-foot six-inch propeller furnishes the motive power for the unique ground-covering machine. The boat has been speeded over the snow at a rate of sixty miles an hour and on a level, unobstructed stretch, the inventor thinks he can cover 100 miles an hour. The boat is 14 feet long, with a torpedo hood over the front, and has room for three passengers.

ROBT. A. SMITH DIES

FORMER ST. PAUL MAYOR, WAS 48 YEARS IN PUBLIC OFFICE.

MET WITH DEFEAT ONLY ONCE

That Was in 1892—Succumbs to Exhaustion at Age of 85, After Severe Attack of Pneumonia.

St. Paul—Robert A. Smith, former mayor of St. Paul, for nearly half years a resident of Minnesota and a holder of public office for the greater part of that time, died at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday in his apartments at the Marlborough, Summit avenue and Nort Smith street, St. Paul. His daughter, Mrs. C. W. Copley, was the only person at his bedside at the time the end coming suddenly from exhaustion, following an attack of pneumonia, from which he had begun to recover. He was 85 years old and had been in failing health for two years but the mild and fatal attack came Sunday, February 2.

Came From Indiana.

Mr. Smith was for three years county auditor of Wabash county, Indiana, beginning in 1849, and came to Minnesota in 1853 as private secretary to Willis A. Gorman, the territorial governor, his brother-in-law, which office he held for three years. He was appointed by Governor Gorman as county treasurer of Ramsey county in 1856 and held that office by subsequent election till 1865. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1872, more by of the St. Paul city council from 1877 to 1887, state senator from 1887 to 1891, mayor of St. Paul from 1891 to 1892, and from 1934 to 1896, postmaster of St. Paul from 1894 to 1898, mayor again from 1900 to 1908, county treasurer from 1911 till his death. Counting twice the four years that he was state senator and mayor of St. Paul at the same time, he was in office forty-six years, between the ages of 22 and 68. During thirty years of that time he was also in the banking business.

His only defeat for any public office was in 1892 when Colonel Frederick P. Welch obtained a majority of 3,000 over his vote for mayor of St. Paul. This total was completely reversed when Mr. Smith defeated Colonel Wright in 1901 for mayor by 4,200 majority.

Endeared to All.

Mr. Smith endeared himself to all who knew him, not only by kindly disposition but by his voluntary sacrifice of all his property when the bank of Minnesota, of which he was vice president, failed in 1856. Mr. Smith not only turned over all the amount for which he was liable under the law but every bit of property he possessed and thereafter lived on the salary he received as postmaster and later as mayor and county commissioner.

It is believed that so man in Minnesota has as long a record as a public official. In politics he was a democrat, but when he ran for office his support was largely nonpartisan.

Mr. Smith was born in Boonville, Ind., in 1817. His father, Wm. Smith, was a native of England, and his mother, Elizabeth (Graham) Smith, was a member of an old Virginia family.

Mr. Smith was graduated from the law department of the University of Indiana in 1840.

He was married in 1851 to Miss Mary F. Stone of Bloomington, Ind.

The body of Mr. Smith will lie in state in the St. Paul Public Library Saturday from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m., when Masonic funeral services will be conducted. Mayor H. P. Keller today called a special meeting of the city council and county commissioners for tomorrow for oral tribute and resolutions. Assemblyman Thos. E. Randall and C. D. O'Brien, former mayor, will speak.

Flans and Indians Fall Out.

Grand Rapids.—Pylanders and Indians are at loggerheads over a country school in the Dora Lake country, thirty miles north. The trouble is said to be methods of teaching necessary to impart a working knowledge of English to the young immigrants, and want straight English, or as they call it, "the American language," taught in its purity. They say the proper plan would be to give them a separate school.

Dryest Winter Known.

Pipestone.—Pipestone county is passing through the driest winter it has known. Country roads are hard and smooth and in some places deep as they are large cracks, caused by the dryness. There is plenty of moisture, however, a short distance below the surface and no apprehension is felt by farmers, as a fair amount of spring rain will put the ground in excellent condition for seeding.

Farmers Organize.

Lakefield.—The farmers' short course here is giving a great impetus to the interest in corn and livestock, especially dairy cows and hogs. Professor Washburn of the agricultural school addressed the classes on the subject and also pointed out the way in which more profitable work can be done. Corn silage as a profitable feed received attention and many silos will be built the coming year. At the close of the afternoon session a permanent organization was completed.

Winona.—Charles Siebrecht, a well known farmer who has made his home in Winona for the past twenty-eight years, in a fit of despondency supposed to be due to failing health, took his life by hanging in the barn adjoining his greenhouses. His committed the rash act immediately after eating dinner with his family, when he appeared to be about as usual, there being nothing in his actions to indicate that he contemplated committing suicide. He was 54 years old and is survived by his wife, a daughter and four sons, all grown.

Miss Vincent of Minneapolis, a classmate of Miss Helen Taft at Bryn Mawr, who has been extolled by the White House and has been extensively entertained. She is the daughter of President Vincent of the University of Minnesota and granddaughter of the famous Bishop Vincent.

FARMING IN NORTHERN MINN.

Industrious Swede Points Out Way to Success to New Settlers.

Black Duck.—H. J. Maxfield, Minnesota's commissioner of immigration predicts a large influx of settlers for northern Minnesota in the spring. He has been receiving an exceptionally large number of letters of inquiry from farmers south and east, showing the intension of many to avail themselves of Minnesota's opportunities. Those who come can learn things from those already in the field, who have met and overcome the obstacles peculiar to the region. Black Duck has a farmer whose experiences may be conned with profit.

This man is Alfred Gustafson, a Swede, who lives about four miles northeast of town. Gustafson came to the United States at the age of 11. His youth was spent in Illinois as a common laborer, part of the time as a bodcarrier. Then for a time he worked on a Wisconsin farm. He resolved to go him a desire to have a farm of his own, and he and his wife made straight for northern Minnesota.

At Bemidji they came to the end of the railroad, but got to the country and was a yellow grade line indicating the direction the railroad was to take northward. Along this the farm hunter and his wife tramped on foot—thirty-six miles. Then they turned aside into the primeval forest to a homing camp.

"You'd be surprised," said Gustafson to the home of many when he found him, "to see a harvester in this country some day, wouldn't you?"

"Huh!" grunted the bee, casting an eye at the surrounding jungle of trees and undergrowth, "that's something you'll never live to see."

That was almost twelve years ago. Today, if that bees were to visit Gustafson, he would find him a herd of 300 acres, including 160 improved. He is stocked and the half of an eighty which he has cleared of timber. Thirty acres were cleared, some of which last summer were in oats, some in corn, some, mind you, in the northernmost potatoes and other garden crops, and some in open pasture for the hogs and a score of sleek and promising cattle.

He would also find, furthermore, a snug little farmhouse, a log barn, two cattle sheds, and well-stored granaries. And if he looked into Gustafson's machine shed, he would see not only a gasoline engine and a threshing outfit, operated by a five-horsepower gasoline engine mounted on a platform in front, detachable for use in driving other farm machinery. Yet, by way of contrast, scarcely a stone's throw from the house, is a stretch of primeval forest, showing the kind of thing Gustafson had to tame in order to create a farm.

Freeborn Committed to Good Roads.

Albert Lea.—Freeborn county will have a special attention in Freeborn county this year; the interest shown is much greater than ever before. The county is working for a trunk line east and west and another north and south, the one to the south to connect with the Des Moines-Owatonna road, the one north with the Owatonna-Twin city project.

Campaign Against Game Hogs.

Hutchinson.—The Gopher Campfire club of Hutchinson will carry on a vigorous campaign against "game hogs." The club has recently started a drive to extend the open season for geese will be introduced in the legislature and it will co-operate with the Minneapolis club to prevent the passage of such measure. Over a hundred local men attended the club's banquet. C. E. Kenner acted as toastmaster. George J. Bradley, president of the game and fish commission commended the work.

Silent Shooting of Murderers.

Rosso, Nev., Feb. 17.—Warden George Cowling of the Nevada state penitentiary has solved the problem of executing murderers by shooting without requiring men to shoot down the condemned man in cold blood. Cowing has just received three maxim silencers, three specially constructed rifles and equipment for three men. The condemned murderer will sit inside the cage on which are trained the rifles to which have been attached the maxim silencers.

HILL SAYS WE'RE SPENDINGMAD

EMPIRE BUILDER DEPLORES LACK OF ECONOMY.

Asserts There Is Need of Less Politics and More Statesmanship at Washington.

St. Paul.—The constant watering of stock, the bonding of cities for public improvements and the undue inflation of credit were attacked by James J. Hill, in an address before the Credit Men's association at a dinner at the Saint Paul hotel. President Vincent of the University of Minnesota, who made an address, was honored for this accordance by two speakers, who looked to him to hold the role of "scholar in politics."

Mr. Hill urged legislation limiting the floating of notes as securities. He assailed the financing of public improvements through bond issues as impracticable and unwarranted.

"The American public is money-spending mad, with no thought of economy," said Mr. Hill.

He urged common sense in the business of credits and in legislation, asserting that undue contraction or expansion of credit will work much harm.

"Where is need of less politics at Washington, and at least a glimmer of statesmanship. Shall the railroad maintain. The inflation of credit was pointed out as one of the causes of high prices. Mr. Hill's subject was "The Use and Abuse of Credit."

"Stocks and bonds are put out which represent little or nothing in the shape of actual value," said Mr. Hill. "In the last five years more than $8,600,803,000 in stocks and bonds issued by private corporations, either good or bad or indifferent, came into existence.

"Neither do the performances of combinations, corporations and syndicates organized to sell bits of lithographs paper, tell the whole story.

"The rapid rise in prices since the increase in the public indebtedness. Everywhere the issue of state, city or county bonds affects the credit volume more powerfully and more promptly and more directly all the effects of an increase in the money value because it is accepted as collateral for money for, nearly or quite its face value in credit issue."

FARMERS BUY SHEEP AT COST

Revolving Fund Subscribed at Bemidji to Start Stock Experiment.

Bemidji.—Not only the banks, but numerous business men here are supplying the money with which to bring sheep into this county, according to the plan suggested at the meeting of the Commercial club, which met with A. L. Chamberlain, development commissioner, and other Great Northern officials.

At that meeting, Major Malcahn and R. H. Winter were appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions to a Commercial club revolving fund of $1,000, to be used to bring sheep and thirty-six months. The money was carload lots. Practically all of this amount was secured at once.

When this information is compiled in full, sheep will be bought and distributed among the farmers on the revolving fund, and they will be sold at cost to the farmers.

Large tracts of northern Minnesota land are to be opened to workers sheep ranchers, who will keep their flocks here in the summer and ship them to Chicago in the fall. There is no question as to whether or not the railroads will remove the only obstacle which presents itself in connection with the plan by allowing the shipment from Montana to Chicago by way of northern Minnesota, but through rate, plus a $5 transit fee. This is the present practice of Great Northern officials to aid this enterprise, it seems almost certain that this privilege will be granted.

Co-operation Said to Be a Success.

Caledonia.—At their annual meeting here the stockholders of the Farmers' co-operative store elected the following officers: Manager, D. W. Stewart; president, H. W. Chen; secretary, James Driscoll; treasurer, G. A. Sawyer; directors, Frank Kempton and W. J. Daley. The capital was increased from $12,000 to $20,000. The business done the past year amounted to $46,000. A dividend of $1,500 was distributed among the shareholders. The company was organized under the Rochdale Relationship league of this state. The farmers are working on plans for a large co-operative cold storage warehouse.

Actress and Author Reconciled.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 14.—The marriage of Mrs. Mary Hall and Dr. Patrick Scheff have been squared and the ramarriage of the actress and author means may be expected soon. Fox was at the theatre where she played here. After the show they had a long talk and he took her to her car.

Typhoid Tests for Insane.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Feb. 15.—The Fergus Falls state hospital for the insane has adopted a precaution typhoid fever vaccination on a scale that has never before been attempted in any institution in the United States. The 1,700 patients and as many of the attendants as desire will be inoculated after January 1.

The hospital will make what is known as the Widal test, which shows by means of reactions whether the patient is immune.

Prices Made on Twine.

Stillwater.—The prices of prison binding twine for the season of 1913 have been made by the board of control and the warden as follows: Standard, 600 feet to the pound, 8½c; sisal, 600 feet to the pound, 8½c; standard manila, 600 feet to the pound, 9c; manila, 600 feet to the pound, 10c; pure manila, 650 feet to the pound, 11c. The prices are somewhat higher than last year's, but not so much as the rates in raw material.

DOINGS OF THE SOLONS

Minnesota Legislative Affairs of the Past Week—Law Makers Hard at Work.

St. Paul, Feb. 18.—Election bills, reapportionment, distance tariff, the Woodrose bill and tonsage tax are some of the matters that will claim the attention of the legislature this week.

It was conceded when the Minnesota primary law was passed at the special session that it probably would not work perfectly, but it was thought that the general complexion of it would prove a benefit and that the primary and general elections would show up the weak points, which would then be remedied.

Yesterday was the first day set aside for the doctoring of the new law and the senators made an all-day session of it and left other business for the future.

Would Drop Class Feature.

The one definite change decided upon was the abolishing of the class feature as connected with non-partisan offices.

The three vacancies on the district court bench in Hennepin furnished a good example of the application of the class feature last fall. The judges whose terms were to expire elected to succeed themselves. The law required that candidates file by class. So Judge Waite filed in one class, Judge Bruce Jones in another and Jelley in another. Others who filed were obliged to pick. The class in which they chose to run was determined by the number of votes cast in a class and the men he might have thought to be the best lost out because they were not in the classes might all have been in the one class. In that event the vote for the one in the class and must pick his other two from the other two classes. Also it was found that many voters cast a ballot for only one man of the entire number. Many of the votes cast a ballot for only one man of the entire number. Many of the votes cast for one candidate was more powerful in that if cast at the same time bolster up two others.

Senator George Sullivan of Stillwater moved that the class feature be stricken out as applied to non-partisan offices, carrying the vote by 26 to 20 vote.

Then adopting the house also acts favorably on this section, means that all candidates will file in one class, that the high six will be the nominees and the high three of the six at the general election will win.

Second Choice Attacked.

Senator Stebbins of Rochester asked the senate to knock out in its entirety the second choice feature which was applied to partisan offices last fall. He said that it had only resulted in confusion. He also said that it was apparently that they did not care to utilize it, that it made impossible the use of voting machines in Hennepin county and that it had delayed primary returns most unnecessarily. His speech was met by senators this this over until Friday, when the entire question will be passed be made the subject of special business.

Reapportionment Up Thursday.

In the house the reapportionment bill will be considered at 11 a. m. Thursday. The bill had the unanimous approval of the reapportionment committee, but it is said that some material change is predicted. The Woodrose bill, providing for a tax introduced by Representative D. P. O'Neill of the Twin Cities, is a special order in the house at 11 a. m. Wednesday.

St. Paul, Feb. 15.—Woman suffrage and county option were the two men to defeat in the legislature yesterday. The former was killed in the senate and the latter in the house

Red Lake Falls Gazette

BY C. B. C. BAKER

Official Every Thursday at Red Lake Falls Minnesota.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.50 Per Year in Advance

Another evidence of prosperity of the people of Red Lake county is found in the length—or lack of length—of the list of real property on which takes are delinquent, published in today's Gazette. The list contains only three hundred and fifty-two descriptions.

The Pine River Sentinel remarks that: "There are two notable birthdays in February. That of Washington, who told the truth, and Lincoln, who told stories."

DAY OF THE COUNTRY WEEKLY.

Wheelock's (Fergus Falls) weekly contains a two-column editorial commenting on the fact that the national advertisers are coming to realize that the country newspaper is the best advertising medium; that it offers more for the dollar spent than any other medium.

Commenting on the publicity campaign of the Curtis Publishing company, publishers of the Saturday Evening Post and Ladies' Home Journal and now exploiting the Country Gentleman, Wheelock's says:

"They are advertising it in the country weeklies. Their bait pamphlet appear in hundreds of the best newspapers in this and other northern states. They who go 'get' the farmer, and to order to get him they are inserting their ads in the little country sheets which already have 'got' him. Their knowledge of the field, their sagacity and their resources are very great. They know what they are doing. They could have filled the great monthly magazines and the widely circulated weeklies with their ads and thus 'covered' the country, but instead are putting their thousands of dollars every week into hundreds of little papers, each with its thousand or two of subscribers. The Curtis people are among the first to see that the day of the country week ly is here."

The reasons for the change of sentiment toward the country paper are such that they should have been apparent to the big advertisers long ago. Loads and loads of advertising appear in the monthly and weekly magazines for which enormous sums of money are paid. The advertiser can and does hope that of the mass of matter his advertisement will catch the eye of the interested reader. He knows that a very large percentage of the readers will not see it.

Readers of the country paper are directly interested in the matter contained in its columns. Practically all of it is matter about which they seek information or are informed and in which they are interested. It has few pages, all containing matter of local interest and there is little chance that an advertisement of gorgeous size will escape the eye of the reader.

A very large percentage of the readers of the country paper are property owners and householders and the mass of them constitute a large part of what might be termed the "buying public."

The question is common with many of the larger country papers of the state, how during the past few months responded to many requests for rates and has since the first of the year closed more contracts for "foreign advertising" and for more than during any like period of time before.

In this recognition of the value of the local paper as an advertising medium the local business man should be able to see the advantages of his situation. Being on the ground, he, better than all others, is able to profit by means of a systematic publicity campaign.

Commenting on D. P. O'Neill's bill to penalize school boys who are over sixty years old, the Ada Index says: "The bill is all right, but who ever heard of a school teacher over 60 years old."

WHY THE AGITATION?

Whether or not the Cashman distance tariff bill now before the legislature offers the proper remedy for freight discriminations, there can be no doubt that there are such discriminations and that remedial legislation is necessary. Those discriminations effect particularly the smaller cities of the state which may have two or three struggling manufacturing enterprises that are compelled not only to compete with the large enterprises of the large commercial centers and terminal points, but must go up against a stone-wall opposition in the form of freight rates, a condition that cannot be described as having any connection with open competition, but amounts to a plain case of freeze-out.

These discriminations effect practically every small city in the state that enters into competition with the enterprises of the large centers. This method of stifling competition is so manifestly unfair that it is a surprising that the people of enterprising small cities are offering a vigorous protest.

Many examples of the discriminations are being cited the following letter, which the Minneapolis Journal was fair enough to give space in the contributors' column, offers a clear explanation of how the discriminations effect the smaller manufacturers of the state:

While the Journal seems decidedly opposed to the Cashman distance tariff bill, now before the state legislature, I have no doubt that this opposition is because it honestly thinks the bill, if enacted into law, would operate to the disadvantage of the people of the state in general. There is no doubt that the operation would be detrimental to the interests of the larger cities of the state that now enjoy the-benefits of the "terminal" rates, but it is not so self-evident that it would not benefit the smaller towns in the interior.

For thirty years I operated a 150 barrel flour mill in Alexandria, and during the most of that time (that portion of the year when we could ship to the eastern markets via Duluth and the lakes) we paid a rate from this city to Duluth at the rate of 25c per barrel, while at the same time the Minneapolis mills were able to ship at a rate of 16c per barrel to Duluth, the distance being practically the same. This was a discrimination against me of 18c per barrel, or $27 per day, and to the eastern markets I was compelled to meet the competition of the Minneapolis mills on their own quotations. For a distance tariff law to be operative in the state during those thirty years, I might be wearing diamonds and riding in automobiles now as many of my competitors in Minneapolis are doing.

I recently had occasion to ship flour from this city to Ogema, Minn., a distance of ninty-seven miles and was informed by the local agent that the rate was 11c per cwt. The same agent quoted me the rate from Minneapolis, (through Alexandria) to Ogema, a distance of 234 miles at 11c. I took the matter up with the State Railway and Warehouse Commission and was informed by Commissioner Mills that I would be entitled to the 11c rate, and he added that he did not consider this any discrimination against Alexandria.

I think you will acknowledge that there is something radically wrong with the freight rates in this state, and that the smaller towns in the interior are discriminated against, very much to their injury, and very largely to the benefit of the larger cities and terminal points. I don't imagine the Cashman bill is a perfect remedy, but I do think there is a way to put every town and city on an equal footing with the larger cities, that will enable the smaller towns to enter in a larger way into manufacturing enterprises.

—George G. G. Campbell.

Alexandria, Minn., Feb. 14.

From the way they are doing things down in the U. S. Senate, it might be admitted that the legislature now in session is progressive—or something.

SUGGESTED SOLUTION.

A statement made by Admiral Dewey on his seventy-fifth birthday may offer a solution to the high cost of living problem. The admiral attributes the very satisfactory condition of his health to simple fare, fight eating and little banqueting. "Most people could five on one third of what they eat," said the admiral. "Of what use is the other two-thirds, then?" he was asked. "Oh, the doctors live on that," was the response.

Perhaps that is what J. J. Hill meant when he said, "It isn't the high cost of living, but the cost of high living."

Might not the problem be solved, then, by everybody eating his third and omitting to take the ordinary disposed of the two-thirds that goes to the support of the doctor?

Cut out the owl lunch, the lobster, the oobrimp, and it might be well to omit a few of the after dinner speeches.

Here is something for the W. C. T. U., and the anti-saloon leagues to become agitated about, if in their efforts to abstain from the use of drinkables they have not acquired the habit of over-indulgence in eatables.

But there will always be those to contend with who prefer to die young.

Girls away at school have made a perfectly lovely discovery; they can send their washing home by parcels post. It's very fine but a little hard on mother, who, when she gets the vote, will probably join in an agitation to bring about a discontinuation of the parcels post service.

Two carloads of prisoners from the federal prisons will assist with the harvesting of this year's crop. They will make binding twine at Stillwater, they having been brought to the Minnesota institution because of the crowded condition of the federal prisons.

"The man whose hobby is a garden, dairying or chicken raising, is a patriot who is assisting in the development of the country, even though his operations are limited," says the Riverside Times. That is true if he does not confine his efforts to a violent annoying cultivation of the seed catalogues.

New York is to have a tipless hotel, but you'll notice that the waiter is to get his tips just the same. Or not quite the same, for the house is to pay the tips in the form of rebates to the guests. But it is not certain that the "ultimate consumer," who happens to be the guest, is in any better position than before.

Mrs. Pankhurst declares that she assumes all responsibility for the dynamiting in England presumed to have been the work of suffragettes and if the authorities attempt to punish her she'll refuse to eat. They surely ought to give her a chance to get "most awfully" hungry.

CO-ADJUTORS' REMARKS.

Spring Valley Sun: The parents who believe every word the son or daughter tells them in regard to the conduct of the teacher, is very likely to think ill of the teacher and without just reason. It is natural for youth to be prejudiced and to resent punishment even if it is just. Many a good school is spoiled by the parents upholding the pupils when the proper treatment would be to up-end them and use the coal shovel.

Walker Pilot: Even the man who stutters has an excuse to hesitate about saying a good word for the town he lives in.

Hoot Northern Light: Get out of the old rut and start boosting for the adoption of the cash tax and contract road work systems in your home town. The old system never was any good.

Red Wing Republican: Faribault has reduced its tax rate 4.2 mills for the coming year and this in face of the fact that the city is making large public improvements. In passing, it is worthy of note that Faribault has adopted the commission form of government.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: "Your children's life is too narrow. They need a club to develop their social instincts and induce them to remain on the farm." Remarked the social reformer to the Goodlands farmer. "And they'll have it, by gosh," returned the agriculturist. Then he took out his jackknife and made for the nearby hickory sapling.

This Is What You Get In Your Copy of this week's issue of

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

Why the Little Red Schoolhouse Fails. A frank but helpful criticism of rural schools, written by Myra J. Hibbard after years of personal experience as a country school-teacher. He finds exactly what is wrong with rural schools and how that wrong can be remedied.

The Man Who Made Good. Here's J. E. Fitzgerald, and the big secret of his success is: "It pays to do more than you get paid for." Doesn't pay to raise things to suit your fancy altogether; raise things to suit the buyer's fancy." If you are a market gardener or in any way interested in this end of agriculture, Mr. Fitzgerald's article will help you to make more money.

An Ex-Slave's Miracle Crops. The United States Department of Agriculture has just issued a Bulletin telling of the marvelously large crops raised by a ex-slave on a two-acre farm. But Bulletins, like coins, have two sides; this article, by Horace W. Currie, shows the "other side" of this remarkable Bulletin.

Simple Accounts For Farm Business. "For want of a nail * * * * the kingdom was lost and for want of a sound system of keeping accounts many a once valuable farm has been lost. Nobody you avoid just such a pitfall, Morton G. Cowper, an expert farm accountant, has worked out a simple but practical system for keeping farm accounts.

Breeders Who Make New Breeds. Years of effort on the part of enterprising and progressive farmers and scientists in developing new and better breeds in plant and animal life were announced at the annual convention of the American Breeders' Association, held recently at Columbia, S. C., and this week Mr. Coburn makes a very interesting article of what these breeders have accomplished and how their achievements will benefit farmers and stockmen.

Correcting Concrete Silo Troubles. An important article showing why concrete should be used in building such permanent structures. Common dangers that should be avoided are also pointed out.

Mushrooms at Home. The market for mushrooms is always good, but the supply of mushrooms is never up to the demand. This article, by S. L. de Fabry, an expert mushroom grower, shows just how to grow and market mushrooms.

Dairying On Rough Land. If you have a rough, broken portion of land that seemingly is useless, you had better read what Charles S. Phelps says about using just such land for pasturing dairy cows.

The Farm That Won't Wear Out Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins' (of the Illinois Experiment Station) final summing up of his series of articles on the "how" of maintaining permanent, successful agriculture. You will get the whole gist of this important series in this one article.

Odd Jobs for the Automobile. A fifteen-minute article by Charles E. T. Schupp that shows how an automobile can be made to be used on the farm to save wood, thresh grain, churn butter and cut feed.

Concrete Corncribs. In one section of the country progressive farmers are building concrete corncribs. Why they have adopted this new form of construction and how the work is done is explained by William Walter Smith.

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR WOMEN

The Country Gentlewoman this week talks to the woman who is a victim of the "sagging" habit. It is critical, but helpful.

Economical Recipes are a number of good old-fashioned dishes that today are among the "best arts" of the kitchen.

The Country Woman's Clothes page gives a number of designs for suits that are attractive and yet practical and serviceable.

Keep Your Heirlooms, for old as they are, they are better than much of the "period" furniture, etc., fashioned today. A few directions for "keeping" will be worth money. The antique dealer knows the value of your old furniture and so should you.

FOR POULTRY FOLKS ONLY

A Real Cure for Roup that cost 98 per cent. is explained by F. J. Searle. This new treatment has been worked out by the Ohio State University.

Hen Breeding, by W. A. Sherman, discusses the advantages of natural breeding over the manufactured brooder—a subject that is especially interesting and timely at this season of the year.

Types of Wooden Hen is a timely article on the best style of coop, and the best way to use it. The author is A. G. Philips, a noted poultry authority.

The Congressional Calendar. This week THE OBSERVER discusses among a number of other things the new Democratic Committee on Public Lands of the House of Representatives, and the attitude of its members toward conservation.

The Crops and the Market. A weekly department written by one of the foremost financial authorities of the country, giving an agricultural financial forecast that will be of the utmost value to every farmer, and business man having dealings with farmers.

Everyman's Garden. To the farmer who has a small vegetable patch for "family use"—to the suburbanite—the question of good soil and how to take care of it is vital. This week EVERYMAN'S GARDEN takes up this important question of garden soils.

The R. F. D. Letter Box. No matter what you want to know about agriculture, stock raising or poultry, write to us. An expert (who knows what is practical) will answer you—which is better business than learning by stumbling.

FOR SALE THURSDAY

At Any News-Stand or Buy of
Any SATURDAY EVENING POST Boy

5c. a Copy Yearly Subscription $1.50

THE CURTIS PUBLISHING COMPANY, PHILADELPHIA

TRACY JEFFERS, Red Lake Falls

More Than 200,000 Copies Weekly Net Paid Circulation

John Deere Spreader

The Spreader with the Beater on the Axle

The Simplest Spreader Made

Easy to Load Roller Bearings Light Draft

Decided Improvement in Spreader Construction

Up to this time every spreader on the market has been constructed along the same general lines.

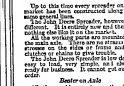
The John Deere Spreader, however, is entirely different. It is not an attempt at making the old thing do over again.

All the working parts are mounted on the main axle. There are no sprockets, chains or gears to get out of order, no clutches or chains to give trouble.

The John Deere Spreader is low down, easy to load, very simple, as I should really be looking. It cannot get out of order.

Beater on Axle

All the working parts on the John Deere Spreader are mounted on the main axle. There are no sprockets, chains or gears to get out of order, no clutches or chains to give trouble. The beater and load apron are not connected to the sides of the box or the frame of the spreader.



Beater on Axle

The power is taken from the rear axle and operates through a planetary transmission (similar to that used on automobiles) mounted on the rear axle within the beater.

Light Draft—Few Parts

There are at least two reasons why the John Deere Spreader is a light draft machine. One is the roller bearings with which it is equipped. The other is the few number of parts. The beater has four sets of roller bearings; two on the rear axle and two on the main axle. They reduce the draft materially.

Roller Bearing Axle and beater.

Another reason is that the John Deere Spreader has but few parts. There are but 150 less parts to a spreader than the other spreader manufactured. This is a very important feature. Every part is necessary to do its work and when the John Deere Spreader is out of repair it is simply a wreck.

Easy to Load

The first three feet unscrupulated with an ordinary spreader are useless of all. The real hard work is from this height to the top of the ordinary spreader.

The John Deere Spreader is low down, easy to load, in fact, easier than shoveling.

Even if You Don't Need a New Spreader Now, Come in and See It.

Out of Gear

Easy to Load

No Adjustments

On the John Deere Spreader no adjustments are necessary. On the simplest old-time spreader there are numerous adjustments necessary to make them run to work satisfactorily, especially before the machine has been used long.

John Deere Spreader is thrown in gear by pressing a lever and it runs until a engine is thrown out of gear by the same lever. No chain to break.

Positive Non-Slucking Apron

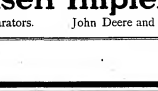
By the use of a very simple locking device (see the middle front wheel in the picture) the apron is driven through a positive gear with no over-running clutch. The result is that when spreading with the John Deere Spreader the apron will not slip back and forth, but will move steadily and under uniform feed spreader made.

Change of Feed

Change of feed is accomplished by a double chain which is moved from the axle. This also determines the number of teeth that will pass over the beater shaft. The John Deere Spreader has a variation of from five to twenty-five loads to the acre.

Substantial Steel Frame, Like the Modern Railway Bridge

Both the sides of the John Deere Spreader are of heavy steel angle with the channel turned to the inside. Into these inboard sills are bolted the steel cross sills. Being bolted, these parts can be easily replaced if necessary.



Built Like a Steel Bridge

We have only two spreaders left of the six that we can make you a special proposition on, so come in now on the proposition, os you can't afford to miss it.

Findeisen Implement Co.

DeLaval Cream Separators. John Deere and Deering Line of Implements.

Men!

Have you tried "Right-Cut"

the real tobacco chew?—5 cents

We will soon have two car loads of spring goods here with which to fill your every want in machinery for spring use. We will have a solid car of the LIGHT DRAFT KENTUCKY ROLLER BEARING DRILLS. The Drill that has more good points on it than all other drills put together. Be sure and comeand see this drill before you buy, because no matter what kind of soil you have this drill can be adjusted to meet the conditions of your land whether it be a wet spring or a dry.

We will also have the Van Brunt Drill for buyers who want a drill that is considerably cheaper in price.

JOHN DEERE PLOWS
JOHN DEERE HARROWS
JOHN DEERE DISC HARROWS
JOHN DEERE WAGONS

We also wish to call your attention to the Hero Fanning Mill and Smut machine. If you figure on buying either one of these machines bring in a sample of your grain. No matter how much wild oats there is in it we will clean and separate it for you and demonstrate that the Hero has them all beat for separating any kind of grain.

WILT AND RUST RESISTANT FLAX

(Continued from Page 1.)

as a part of his regular rotation is by means of growing Wilt and Rust Resistant Flax seed.

"Will Resistant seed an obtainable for this department is capable of growing a normal crop of flax or even better on soil which tends to be only fair in regard to flax. Such soil will keep this resistance against wilt and rust alone as the seed is properly handled.

"As a rotational increasing demand is expected for commercial use, with the fact that the other flax raising states are going out of the flax raising business through lack of knowledge regarding proper cropping and, together with natural factors and climatic conditions, leaves North Dakota's Farmer that he will have a good market, and due to the best of pay crops, providing he will continue to raise the normal yield or better.

"To the farmer who wishes to enter or continue in the flax raising business, it may be said that if he will remember the following facts and follow out the methods outlined he cannot fail to raise a pay yield under ordinary weather conditions, year after year.

"1 First in mind that the flax seed must ripen your land by taking out the essential chemicals that compose joint food and more than does wheat, barley, etc. In test it takes the rich plant food much less than any cereal or other small grain.

"2 The chief reason of flax being brought about by a fungus disease commonly spoken of as Wilt. This particular disease of flax does not seem to be able to harm wheat, barley or oats, etc. So also in the same sense, that the above crops do not appear to be able to attack flax.

"3 Set aside one acre of your land for a permanent flaxseed plot, if possible, select a plot that is generally flax-sick, or that has been cropped to flax two or more times. Crop this plot continuously year after year to flax alone.

"4 Select a good strain of seed preferably a strain that is already wilt resistant, such as N. D. R. 52, 78 or 111. There are other good strains of semi-flax, such as N. D. 114, or Minn. 25, but they are not very resistant to wilt.

"5 Sow the seed as early as possible and yet avoid the late spring frosts, preferably about May 1st to 10th. Sow 10 to 12 quarts per acre on a firm, clean seed-bed.

"6 Hand-pull all weeds, mustard, etc. from this flax plot.

"7 Harvest when fully mature. Harvest with binder if possible, bleach and cover shock with canvas covers to keep dry.

"8 Save the best, heaviest, brightest seed for the same plot the following year. It will always be wise to keep a second lot of seed in reserve in case of loss of first sowing by accident. Now sow the surplus seed from this plot in your regular farm rotation.

"The one acre plot should give you enough seed each year to sow from 10 to 40 acres on your farm proper. This one acre plot will develop seed that is more resistant to wilt each year and will be practically almost entirely resistant to wilt when planted on the less diseased infested soils of your regular rotation fields, for the disease accumulates more and more the one acre breeding plot due to the one crop system. All methods of plants which are not resistant die off then on this one acre plot there will be an actual survival of the fittest with reference to the diseases of flax.

"9 Follow this same procedure each year with this one acre and you will not worry about Wilt on the rest of your farm.

"10 Farm matures may be applied to this plot without injury to the grower's if free from weed seeds.

"We can direct you where to get more seed to get a start. Do not become discouraged by one failure. We have submitted this plan on a one acre basis that it may be carried out thoroughly, and so that too much time, land and labor may not be involved. If you expect to continue to farm, this experiment will pay you many times over."

WHY NOT YOU?

People realize more and more that a Bank Account, maintained systematically, is the greatest aid to financial progress.

YOU

can enjoy many privileges by becoming a depositor in our bank.

THIS BANK

offers its service to responsible peopls who desire to build up a surplus and enjoy the benefits of an association with a strong financial institution.

First State Bank

Red Lake Falls, Minn.

United States, County and City Depository

WE HAVE MONEY TO LOAN ON FARMS

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Miss Watts Fell While Boading Train for Red Lake Falls.

Last Friday's Crookston Times had the following to say regarding the rather thrilling experience of Miss Watts who has a music class in this city and makes weekly visits to Red Lake Falls:

"Ella Watts had a very narrow escape this morning while trying to board the Warroad train, which was moving. The car was filled with steam that was pouring from a poor connection of a steam hose of the passenger car, which caused her to miss her hold as she tried to get on.

"She fell to the ground but clung to the hand rail and was dragged for several feet before the train was stopped. If the train had not been stopped at once, she might have gone under the wheels.

"She was taken on the train, looking somewhat frightened over this mishap, but sustained aside from a few bruises of a minor character."

LAMBERT (OKLEE)

Otis Bernier reports a boy at his house that will soon help to run the place. Mother and child are doing nicely.

George Washington Tessier arrived at his father's home in Oklee Feb. 22, all named and weighed in at 8 pounds. O. J. is passing around the Havanas ever since. All are doing fine.

Mrs. George Bell was reported very ill last week but is better now, heart failure being the complaint.

Miss Albina Doucet is at Beaudette visiting her sister, Mrs. Arth Lambert property of Red Lake Falls. Miss Doucet will remain a month.

Last week death entered the home of Mr. Thatcher and Mrs. Ethel Reported with their 3-months old baby boy. Funeral services and interment the little one's suffering were mercifully short. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved parents.

Little Celia Hart is in the hospital at Bemidji where she was taken by her father Sunday morning. Tuesday Friday morning. She was operated on for appendicitis and at last reports was doing nicely.

Miss Mamie and Albert Reil have been at Crookston visiting relatives and friends a few days.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The Seniors have selected their play, "Collegetown," and expect the books in a week. Two one-act plays will be given by the High School. The first one, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," is to be given before Easter and the second one to be given in May. The rivalry between the classes will cause the two plays to be worth seeing.

The debate last Friday evening on "Resolved, That the U. S. Should Have a System of Ship Subsidies," was won by the Athenian debaters, Lucile Crompe and Orilla Belair.

Senior boys are scarce so they have to play basketball every from the lower classes for their play.

The Sophomore boys have quit taking their training for this year and are taking up mechanical drawing instead.

Among the papers on the reading table are the Grand Forks Daily Herald, The Crookston Daily Times Journal, The Outlook, The High School Visitor and the Domestic Cooking School Magazine. Many useful things are told about in these papers and it would do some of us good to spend our leisure time reading them.

The struggle for championship is close so that the Athenian must win the next debate to get more points than the Spartans. Our sight prophesies an affirmative victory.

The Short Course boys, even they have finished their work in carpentry, will take a course in blacksmithing.

We are all sorry for Erling but it does'n seem to help matters any.

Subject for debate next program, Resolved, That Emigration Should Be Further Restricted. The Athenian debaters will uphold the affirmative and the Spartans the negative. The debaters will affirmative, Leanore Lecou, Eva Johnson; negative, Pillila Peal, Rosalba Lemieux.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST

LIST OF REAL PROPERTY ON WHICH TAXES REMAIN DELINQUENT.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF Red Lake, ss. District Court, Tenth Judicial District.

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA, To all persons, companies, or corporations who have or claim any estate, right, title, or interest in, claim to, or lien upon, any of the several parcels of land described in the list hereto annexed:

The list of taxes and penalties on real property for the County of Red Lake, remaining delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912, has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court, of said Red Lake County, of which that herein attached is a copy; THEREFORE, you, and each of you, are hereby required to file in the office of the said Clerk, on or before the term, fixth day after the publication of this notice and order, your answer in writing, setting forth any objection or defense you may have to the taxes, or any part thereof, upon any parcel of land described in said list, his, or, or which you have or claim any estate, right, title, interest, claim, or lien, and, to defend thereof. Judgment will be entered against such parcel of land for the taxes on said list appearing against it, and for the penalties, interest and costs.

E. W. JOHNSON,
Clerk of District Court of Red Lake, County, Minnesota.

GEKAY.

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Township One hundred fifty-one (151), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Pacific R'y Co.
E ½ NE¼ & Lots 2 & 3	1	1911	24.35
Greene, Wm. of
NW¼	2	1911	13.29
Olof O. Jere, W½ of
SW¼	2	1911	13.29
Olof O. Jere, W½ of
SW¼	5	1911	24.58
O. Olof Jere, W½ of
NW¼	8	1911	40.38
Martin Peterson,
NW¼	8	1911	42.12
Ole C. Hanse, SW¼	8	1911	42.12
E. D. Keiper, S½	16	1911	36.29
Lot 1 in SW¼	16	1911	60.59
Lot 2 in SW¼	16	1911	61.42
Lot 3 in SW¼ and E½ of
SW¼ of SW¼	16	1911	61.42
Andrew Anderson, W½
of NW¼	17	1911	28.26
Andrew Anderson,
E½ of NW¼	17	1911	15.46
Walsted, Wm. of
NW¼	17	1911	64.97
Otto A. and Esther A.
Nyblade,
NW¼	20	1911	60.59
Nyblade,
NW¼	28	1911	62.34
Olof Brenvold, S½ of
SW¼	28	1911	66.82
Gunlig Holden, NW¼	30	1911	33.56
Gunlig Holden,
SW¼	30	1911	15.23
Ingeberg Sedoll, Lots
1, 2 & 3	31	1911	44.62
Ingeberg Sedoll, Lot 6
& E½ of Lot 7	30	1911	44.62
Ingeberg Sedoll, Lots
1, 2 & E½ of Lot 3	31	1911	26.45
Ole O. Lee, E½ of
NW¼ & NE¼	31	1911	34.58
Daniel Hetson, W½ of
NW¼ & Lot 2 in
Torkel O. Sordal, NW¼	1	1911	11.70
Knut O. Kraaen, NE¼	12	1911	32.41
Knut O. Kraaen, SE¼	12	1911	32.41

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Township One Hundred Fifty (150), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Jesse J. Hill, W½ of
NE¼ & SW¼ of SE¼	1	1911	26.33
Charles Lund,
NW¼	6	1911	8.62
C. H. Halverson, NE¼	11	1911	20.54
Francis Lacey, 2
acres in S½ of	15	1911	1.83
Lots 1
Carlson, 1
acre in NW¼ of	15	1911	.72
Lots 1
D. J. McMahan, NW¼	20	1911	34.42
John Parsko, NW¼	31	1911	32.12
C. P. Sanborn, SW¼	16	1911	32.39

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Township Seventy-nine (179), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Name of Owner	Blk	quent	Penalty
Tot. State Land Co.
Lot 1	1	1911	.81
Tot. State Land Co.
Lot 2	1	1911	.85
Tot. State Land Co.
Lot 15	4	1911	5.35
Tot. State Land Co.
Lot 16	4	1911	9.44
O. G. Hagen, Lot 1	5	1911	2.67
The State Land Co.
Lots 2 & 15	6	1911	11.38
The State Land Co.
Lots 3 & 4	7	1911	10.27

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Garnus.

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Nels O. Lee, E½ of
NW¼ & SW¼ of
NE¼ & E½ of	1	1911	17.17
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	1	1911	1.19
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	1	1911	37.46
Andrew Peters, SW¼
of SW¼	1	1911	4.50
Lot 1 in NW¼	1	1911	12.09
Northfield Land, Lot 1
& NW¼ of NE¼	2	1911	6.62
Northfield Land, Lots
2, 3 & 4 of	2	1911	2.66
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	3	1911	9.12
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	4	1911	7.46
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	5	1911	26.29
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	6	1911	12.51
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	7	1911	45.82
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	8	1911	6.15
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	9	1911	21.45
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	10	1911	6.68
Northfield Land, Lots
1, 2, 3 & 4 of	11	1911	8.04
Nils Olson, NE¼ of
NW¼ & W½ of
NE¼ & NW¼ of	11	1911	9.73
Nelse & Morrow, NW¼
of NW¼	12	1911	8.89
Peter Anderson, Lot 1
& SW¼ of NE¼	12	1911	2.35
Hans Hanson, E½ of
NW¼ & SW¼ of
NE¼ & E½ of	12	1911	24.31
Wilhelm Hanson, E½ of
NW¼ & SW¼ of
SW¼ & E½ of	12	1911	37.16
A. N. Stenehjem, E½ of
NW¼ & SW¼ of	13	1911	19.68
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	13	1911	12.99
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	13	1911	12.93
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	13	1911	12.71
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	13	1911	12.12
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	13	1911	14.59
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	13	1911	26.12
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	13	1911	27.10
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	13	1911	29.41
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	13	1911	11.85
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	13	1911	11.80
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	13	1911	13.63

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Garnus.

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (152), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	18	1911	28.37
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	18	1911	28.37
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	18	1911	8.76
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	18	1911	8.76
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	18	1911	12.17
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	18	1911	12.17
H. Hyterdahl, W½ of
NW¼ & W½ of
SW¼ & E½ of	26	1911	33.37
M. O. Sorbedahl, S½ of
NW¼ & S½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	26	1911	38.10
M. O. Sorbedahl, S½ of
NW¼ & S½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	26	1911	38.10

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Poplar River.

Township One Hundred Fifty (150), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Joseph Laurent, W½ of
NW¼ & W½ of
SW¼ & E½ of	4	1911	4.50
Frank Dahl, W½ of
NW¼ & E½ of
NW¼ & Lot 1	11	1911	8.47
Frank Dahl, W½ of
NW¼ & E½ of
NW¼ & Lot 2	18	1911	9.46
Joseph Gelinas, W½ of
NW¼ & E½ of
NW¼ & Lot 3	18	1911	9.46
Joseph Laurent, Lot 1
& E½ of NW¼ &
E½ of SW¼ &	18	1911	38.88
Frank Herr, SW¼ of
NW¼ & Lot 2	21	1911	19.24
Frank Herr, SW¼ of
NE¼ & Lot 1	21	1911	17.85
J. J. Reilly, SW¼ of
NW¼ & Lot 3	21	1911	25.51
J. J. Reilly, Lots 2 &
4 & E½ of	21	1911	14.87
Frank Herr, SW¼ of
SW¼ & Lot 4	21	1911	19.24

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Township of Brooks.

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Name of Owner	Blk	quent	Penalty
Frank Herr	1	1911	25.74
Lionel Gauthier....	1	1911	6.36
C. Beer	1	1911	26.74

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Emardeville

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
A. H. Ellingson, W½
NW¼ & Lots 3 &	1	1911	15.45
Northwestern Associated
Realty Co., Lot 1	2	1911	16.17
Alfa Gentle, N½ of
NW¼	2	1911	20.76
Alfa Gentle, N½ of
NE¼ & Lot 1	2	1911	25.74
Alfa Gentle, N½ of
NW¼ & Lot 2	2	1911	63.59
Alfa Gentle, N½ of
NE¼ & Lot 3	2	1911	22.56
James Matlock, S½ of
NW¼ & S½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	2	1911	29.75
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	23	1911	12.93
John Grove, NW¼	16	1911	12.64
John Grove, SW¼	16	1911	38.62
John Grove, SE¼	16	1911	38.62
John Grove, NE¼	16	1911	48.27
John Grove, NW¼	21	1911	48.27
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	26	1911	16.40
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	26	1911	16.40
John H. Lee, Lot 1
& E½ of NW¼ &
E½ of SW¼ &	35	1911	4.31
John H. Lee, Lots 2 &
3 & E½ of	35	1911	16.99

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Lambert.

Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Northern Pacific R'y
Co., W½ of NW¼	1	1911	8.47
Robert Driessell, NE¼
of NW¼	31	1911	20.23
Willis B. Lanier, NW¼	32	1911	20.18

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Terrelonne.

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (150), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
First State Bank, Red
Lake Falls, Lots 1
2, and E½ of NW¼
and E½ of SW¼ of	1	1911	6.31
Lot 1 in NW¼	1	1911	1.49
M. Tibert, 2.64/80 of
Lot 1 & 2.64/80 of
Lot 2 in NW¼	1	1911	2.66
Robert Primeau, 39/80
of Lot 1 & 39/80 of
Lot 2 in NW¼	1	1911	2.16
Louis St. Yves, NW¼	11	1911	58.76
Lot 1 in SW¼ &
Lot 1 in NW¼	11	1911	12.82
Lot 2 in SW¼	11	1911	4.62
Catherine
McAuliffy,
Lot 3 in SW¼	11	1911	13.91
Catherine
McAuliffy,
Lot 4 in SW¼	11	1911	62.76
Catherine
McAuliffy,
Lot 1 in NW¼	14	1911	3.48
H. E. Jones, NW¼	23	1911	26.58
H. E. Jones, NE¼	23	1911	17.71
H. E. Jones, SW¼	23	1911	17.71
H. E. Jones, SE¼	23	1911	26.58

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Terrelonne.

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Name of Owner	Blk	quent	Penalty
James J. Alrich	10	1911	2.11
Peter Anderson	10	1911	4.22
D. S. B. Johnson
Land Co., Lot 4	2	1911	2.11
P. A. Vetz	19	1911	15.81
Frank Ramey	19	1911	2.11

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Mahanla Enpin 23	2	1911	2.11

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Garnus.

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-three (43).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Jacob Jodge, 2 acres
in North end of NW¼	1	1911	1.14
Edward Langevin, S½
of NW¼ & N½ of	12	1911	68.31
Jerry Carlson, 2 acres
in NW¼ of	13	1911	1.14
J. J. Reilly, NW¼ of
NW¼ & Lot 1	21	1911	2.64

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-three (43).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Victoria Pepin, Lot
1 & E½ of	1	1911	9.02
Elbia Chase	2	1911	2.34
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	9	1911	29.36
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	9	1911	29.36
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	21	1911	8.76
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	21	1911	8.76
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	24	1911	12.17
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	24	1911	12.17
H. Hyterdahl, W½ of
NW¼ & W½ of
SW¼ & E½ of	26	1911	33.37
M. O. Sorbedahl, S½ of
NW¼ & S½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	26	1911	38.10
M. O. Sorbedahl, S½ of
NW¼ & S½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	26	1911	38.10

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Poplar River.

Township One Hundred Fifty (150), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Joseph Laurent, W½ of
NW¼ & W½ of
SW¼ & E½ of	4	1911	4.50
Frank Dahl, W½ of
NW¼ & E½ of
NW¼ & Lot 1	11	1911	8.47
Frank Dahl, W½ of
NW¼ & E½ of
NW¼ & Lot 2	18	1911	9.46
Joseph Gelinas, W½ of
NW¼ & E½ of
NW¼ & Lot 3	18	1911	9.46
Joseph Laurent, Lot 1
& E½ of NW¼ &
E½ of SW¼ &	18	1911	38.88
Frank Herr, SW¼ of
NW¼ & Lot 2	21	1911	19.24
Frank Herr, SW¼ of
NE¼ & Lot 1	21	1911	17.85
J. J. Reilly, SW¼ of
NW¼ & Lot 3	21	1911	25.51
J. J. Reilly, Lots 2 &
4 & E½ of	21	1911	14.87
Frank Herr, SW¼ of
SW¼ & Lot 4	21	1911	19.24

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Township of Brooks.

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Name of Owner	Blk	quent	Penalty
Frank Herr	1	1911	25.74
Lionel Gauthier....	1	1911	6.36
C. Beer	1	1911	26.74

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Emardeville

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (151), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
A. H. Ellingson, W½
NW¼ & Lots 3 &	1	1911	15.45
Northwestern Associated
Realty Co., Lot 1	2	1911	16.17
Alfa Gentle, N½ of
NW¼	2	1911	20.76
Alfa Gentle, N½ of
NE¼ & Lot 1	2	1911	25.74
Alfa Gentle, N½ of
NW¼ & Lot 2	2	1911	63.59
Alfa Gentle, N½ of
NE¼ & Lot 3	2	1911	22.56
James Matlock, S½ of
NW¼ & S½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	2	1911	29.75
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	23	1911	12.93
John Grove, NW¼	16	1911	12.64
John Grove, SW¼	16	1911	38.62
John Grove, SE¼	16	1911	38.62
John Grove, NE¼	16	1911	48.27
John Grove, NW¼	21	1911	48.27
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NW¼ & E½ of	26	1911	16.40
Wm. Miss. & Pacific
Ry. Co., E½ of
NE¼ & E½ of	26	1911	16.40
John H. Lee, Lot 1
& E½ of NW¼ &
E½ of SW¼ &	35	1911	4.31
John H. Lee, Lots 2 &
3 & E½ of	35	1911	16.99

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Lambert.

Township One Hundred Fifty (150), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Jesse J. Hill, W½ of
NE¼ & SW¼ of SE¼	1	1911	26.33
Charles Lund,
NW¼	6	1911	8.62
C. H. Halverson, NE¼	11	1911	20.54
Francis Lacey, 2
acres in S½ of	15	1911	1.83
Lots 1
Carlson, 1
acre in NW¼ of	15	1911	.72
Lots 1
D. J. McMahan, NW¼	20	1911	34.42
John Parsko, NW¼	31	1911	32.12
C. P. Sanborn, SW¼	16	1911	32.39

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Township of Oklee,

Township One Hundred Fifty (150), Range Forty-one (41).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Name of Owner	Blk	quent	Penalty
Tot. State Land Co.
Lot 1	1	1911	.81
Tot. State Land Co.
Lot 2	1	1911	.85
Tot. State Land Co.
Lot 15	4	1911	5.35
Tot. State Land Co.
Lot 16	4	1911	9.44
O. G. Hagen, Lot 1	5	1911	2.67
The State Land Co.
Lots 2 & 15	6	1911	11.38
The State Land Co.
Lots 3 & 4	7	1911	10.27

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
Northern Pacific R'y
Co., W½ of NW¼	1	1911	8.47
Robert Driessell, NE¼
of NW¼	31	1911	20.23
Willis B. Lanier, NW¼	32	1911	20.18

List of Real Property for the County of Red Lake, on which taxes remained delinquent on the first Monday in January, 1912.

Town of Terrelonne.

Township One Hundred Fifty-one (150), Range Forty-two (42).

Name of Subdivision	Sec.	Delin- quent	Total amount Tax and Penalty
Owner
First State Bank, Red
Lake Falls, Lots 1
2, and E½ of NW¼
and E½ of SW¼ of	1	1911	6.31
Lot 1 in NW¼	1	1911	1.49
M. Tibert, 2.64/80 of
Lot 1 & 2.64/80 of
Lot 2 in NW¼	1	1911	2.66
Robert Primeau, 39/80
of Lot 1 & 39/80 of
Lot 2 in NW¼	1	1911	2.16
Louis St. Yves, NW¼	11	1911	58.76
Lot 1 in SW¼ &
Lot 1 in NW¼	11	1911	12.82
Lot 2 in SW¼	11	1911	4.62
Catherine
McAuliffy,
Lot 3 in SW¼	11	1911	13.91
Catherine

KEZIAH COFFIN

by

Joseph C. Lincoln

Author of
Cy Whittaker's Place
Capt. Meridy, Etc.

Illustrations by
Ellsworth Young

Copyright, 1917, by D. Appleton & Company

16

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is summoned by notice from Trumet to Boston, following the death of her brother, Mr. Alonzo Hallett Atkins. She is met by solicitor, officer and friend, Mr. Elkanah Damon, and by Mr. Elkanah Damon's brother of the bogus calling, Mr. Keziah, a place as housekeeper for the new, elderly, and single occupant of the house on Trumet. Keziah is thought to be a widow, a member of the ministry and giving large advice as to how to conduct business of the parish. Ellery causes a sensation by his attitude in church and by his refusal to be interested in Keziah. Ezy Hammond, leader of the choir, Brewer, applicant for the organization and Ellery spends her hours in the Cape Cod hotel by listening to the gossip of the natives. Ellery is invited into pool safely through fog and meets Ellery Keziah, who takes a liking to her, to some one including money. Ellery is interested in Keziah's preliminary appearance when informed of the arrival of Mr. Nat Cole on Keziah, and in development that have been made. Keziah is interested in Ellery's meeting. Ellery is delighted by the visit in person of Mr. Ezy Hammond. Keziah, Ellery, Ezy and Mr. Nat Cole have a meeting at which Ezy's proposition takes disaster. Keziah and Ellery, Ezy, Nat Cole, Mr. Elkanah Damon, Mr. Keziah and Mr. Brewer are present. Ezy before, he dies Keziah a promise from Nat, and Ezy threatens that they will marry Keziah to Nat Cole. Ellery, Keziah and Mr. Keziah are reported to have been married, and of her love for Nat, whom she cannot marry because of a promise to Ellery. Captain Nat calls for Keziah and Ellery, and Ezy says he and Keziah have decided not to be married. Nat is overdue, and it is feared he has been lost. Keziah and Ezy go a search for Nat. Grace goes on a visit to relatives in the Hampton. A storm of rising distress signals is discovered off the coast. Ellery and Ezy go to the rescue of the ship. Nat is found safe and sound from smallpox, the rest of the crew having deserted. He is taken to the abandoned church on shore and Ellery, Ezy and Nat go to Keziah's home. Ellery, Ezy, Nat, Keziah's friends, Ezy, Ellery, left alone in quarantine, is found unconscious in a delirious condition. Grace. She takes him home to her mother's house. Ezy, Nat, Keziah and Grace return to Boston, where Ezy's health fever. The doctor and Keziah spread a report that Grace and Ellery are engaged. Ezy comes that Ezy's story of the wreck of Grace vessel comes out and a home-coming is arranged.

CHAPTER XVIII.—(Continued.)

"Here she comes!" shouted Ezra Simmons, the postmaster. "Right on time, too."

Sure enough! A cloud of dust in the distance, rising on the spring wind, and the rattle of rapidly turning wheels. The reception committee prepared for action. Captain Elkanah descended from the carriage and moved in stately dignity to the front of the post office platform.

The stage, its four horses at a trot, swung up to the platform.

"Hurrah!" shouted the committee. Its uninvited guests and the newcomers gathered of Harport men and boys which had gathered to assist in the welcome. "Hurrah!"

A passenger or two peered from the coach window. The stage driver ironically touched his cap.

"Thank ye," he said. "Thank ye very much."

Captain Elkanah frowned his disapproval.

"We are cheering Cap'n Nathaniel Hammond of Trumet," he explained haughtily. "We are here to meet him and escort him home. Where is he? Where's Cap'n Hammond?"

"Well, now, I'll tell ye; I don't know where he is."

"You don't? Isn't he with you?"

"No, he ain't. And he didn't come on the train, neither. He was on it. The conductor told me he see him and set stone with him between stations as far as Cohasset Narrows. But after that he never see hide nor hair of him. Oh, that's so! Here's the mail bag, Ezry."

Captain Zeb stepped beside the stage and put one foot on the wheel.

"Say, Thad," he whispered, "where did you know? Where did he go to?"

"Well," the driver's voice dropped lower this much. A chap I know was on the train and he see Cap'n Nat get off the cars at the Cohasset Narrows depot and there was a woman with him."

"A woman? A woman? What woman?"

"Blessed if I knew! And he didn't matter. So long! Git dap!"

The reception committee and its escort drove slowly back to Trumet. The Damon following was disappointed and disappointed.

Trumet spent the evening wondering what had become of Nat Hammond. Captain Zeb Mayo wondered most of all. How it had happened was accompanied by vague suspicions of the truth. And, at eleven o'clock, when the village was in bed, a horse and buggy moved down the Turnpike and stopped before the Hammond gate. A man alighted from the buggy and walked briskly up to the side door. There he knocked and then whistled softly.

A window overhead was opened.

"Who is it?" asked a feminine voice.

"Don't be frightened, Gracie," replied the man at the door. "It's me, Nat. I've come home again."

CHAPTER XIX.

In Which the Minister Receives a Letter.

John Ellery was uneasy. Physically he was very much better, so much better that he was permitted to sit up a while each day. But mentally he was disturbed and excited, exactly the condition which the doctor said he must not be in. Keziah and Grace had gone away and left him, and he could not understand why.

Mrs. Higgins, Ben's mother, was at the shanty and she did her best to soothe and quiet him. She was a kind soul and capable, in her way, but she could not answer his questions satisfactorily.

He rose from the chair and started toward the living room. He would not be put off again. He would be answered. His hand was on the latch of the door when that door was opened. Dr. Parker came in.

The doctor was smiling broadly. His ruddy face was actually beaming. He held out his hand and seized the minister's and shook it.

"Good morning, Mr. Ellery," he said. "It's a glorious day, isn't it? Fine, stimulating day. Hey? Isn't it?"

Ellery's answer was a question.

"Doctor," he said, "why have Mrs. Coffin and—and Miss Van Horne left me? Has anything happened? I know something has, and you must tell me what. Doctor, I am not a child. I am not going to get over it easily. I—I—"

"Sh, sh, sh! Not so excited, my dear sir, not so excited. Why, you're as nervous as a witch. Sit down, sit down. Now, now, now! Be calm, be calm. Keziah gone? Grace gone? Yes, yes, yes, yes, yes! Certainly, certainly. Quite natural you should be surprised. Quite natural you should be disturbed. But calm yourself, my dear sir, calm yourself. Keziah and Grace have gone to Boston. Yes, yes, yes! Certainly, certainly. Grace goes on a visit to relatives in the Hampton. A sad case, sad case. Nat Cole, you remember, Nat Cole, Keziah's cousin, Nat Cole, Nat Cole, Nat Cole

When You Have Saved

$5.00
$50.00
$100.00
$1,000.00
$10,000.00

the first question orising is
"HOW SHALL I INVEST IT!"

There is no better way than in a Certificate of Deposit in The Farmers National Bank.

Our Certificates of Deposit are issued in sums of $1.00 and upwards. They bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent, payable every six or twelve months as desired.

The Certificates of Deposit of the Farmers National Bank, as far as security is concerned,are practically on par with United States Government Bonds and are about three times as profitable.

Farmers National Bank
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Farm Loans Closed Promptly.

HORSES

From now on I will always have on hand a large number of native broke mares, ranging in weight from 1200 to 1500 pounds. Can fit you out with any horses that you may need for your spring work. You can always buy them RIGHT from me.

LOUIS SIEFF, SR.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

AUCTION

The undersigned will sell at public auction on his farm, Sec. 7, Louisville Township, 2 miles Southwest of Dorothy, 5 miles Northwest of Louisville and 12 miles west of Red Lake Falls, the old J. F. Mathews place, commencing at 12 o'clock sharp, on Friday, MARCH 7,

THE FOLLOWING DESCRIBED PROPERTY:

1 boy mare, 6 yrs. old, 1250 lbs., with foal
1 boy horse, 10 yrs. old, 1200 lbs.
1 boy horse, 12 yrs. old, 1150 lbs.
1 black horse, 12 yrs. old, 1000 lbs.
1 boy horse, 7 yrs. old, 1100 lbs.
1 brown mare, 7 yrs. old, 900 lbs.
1 boy mare colt, coming 3 yrs., 800 lbs.
1 boy horse colt, coming 3 yrs., 800 lbs.
1 brown colt, coming 2 yrs.
1 black colt, coming 2 yrs.
1 brown mare colt, 8 months old
7 milch cows, all fresh in spring
3 heifers, coming 2 years.
2 bulls, 2 years old
5 steers, 2 years old
5 yearling calves
1 McCormick 6 foot cut binder
1 light draft McCormick drill—18 single disc
2 McCormick 5 ft. cut mowers, 1 nearly new
1 McCormick 10-foot hoy rake
1 12-inch gong plow
1 14-inch walking plow
1 14-inch prairie-breaking plow
1 3-horse drag
1 1-horse cultivator, new
1 new 1000 lb. platform scales
1 wide tire wagon and rack
1 set bob sleds, nearly new
1 top buggy 1 cutter--jumper
1 No. 2 Empire cream separator, nearly new
20 chickens
1 set of heavy work harness, short tugs
1 set medium light harness
1 single buggy harness
40 bushels seed barley
40 bushels Early Ohio potatoes
250 bushels of oats
2 wooden pumps, nearly new
Household goods and many other articles too numerous to mention.

FREE LUNCH AT NOON

TERMS: Sums under $10 cash; on sums over that amount time will be given to Nov. 1, 1913, on bankable paper at 10 per cent interest

ZEPHERM MORRISETTE, PROP.
JOS. BELAIR, Auctioneer NOEL DELORME, Clerk

The Local Field

Mrs. L. E. Healy entertained the P. and P. In Tuesday evening.

Horse for Sale or Rent.—Inquire of E. H. Bourden or at the Gazette office.—Adv. tf

Mrs. Cox Sherard will be in Red Lake Falls, March 4. At the Grand View Hotel. —Adv.

There will be a clothes-pin doll social at the Presbyterian church parlors Friday, Feb. 28th. All are invited. 227

Peter Starken, jr., brought in a big wolf pelt last week and got a bounty of $10 from County Auditor George Dupuis.

Miss Pearl Gray returned Monday from Bathtchewan after having spent the past several weeks with relatives in the Canadian province.

Several Red Lake Falls wrestling enthusiasts went to Thief River Falls to witness the match between Loren Curtis and Sailor Jack Tuesday evening.

The German Lutheran church in this city is to be remodeled this spring. A new steeple is to be constructed and other improvements made.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Duffy left Tuesday evening to go to Washington, D. C., and will remain in the national capital until after the inauguration of President-elect Wilson.

A special weighing of the mails on star routes, as required by law in order to fix a basis for readjustment of compensation, of contractors by reason of the establishment of the parcel post system, will be conducted during the months of March and April.

A hearing on the petition of Abraham Hoffman, Bankrupt, the former Red Lake Falls merchant,will be held in the United States district court at Fergus Falls April 7, 1913. Representatives of the bankrupt complied with the provisions of the bankruptcy acts,Mr. Hoffman asks for a full discharge of his debts.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wagner returned Saturday from Bemidji, where they had been visiting for a few days. They were accompanied to Bemidji by Ed Wagner, Mr. Wagner's brother, and his bride who had been guests at the Wagner home. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wagner, after a brief visit at Bemidji, have gone to their home in Clarenmont, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Clina Heinrichs, who live northeast of Red Lake Falls, entertained relatives and many friends last Saturday afternoon, who assisted them in the celebration of their silver wedding anniversary. Relatives from away who were here for the happy occasion were John Heinrich, son of Mr. host and hostess, and his son from Crystal, S. Dak., and a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Politsky, of Garnes township. Many neighbors and friends were present and the occasion was a very happy one. Among the gifts received by Mr. and Mrs. Heinrichs was an organ, the gift of the sons of the host and hostess. Mr. and Mrs. Heinrichs received the hearty congratulations of many friends with the wishes that they might live to enjoy many similar happy celebrations.

Miss Hulda Kuehl visited with friends at Thief River Falls Saturday

Miss Florence Grigwold of Dodge Center, sister of Mrs. C. B. C. Baker, is a guest at the Baker home.

L. Morrisette of Louisville, will sell his personal property at public auction Friday, March 7. See add for list of property and particulars regarding the sale.

The Crookston Lumber company was the successful bidder yesterday for Pine located on the Red Lake Indian reservation. The bid calls for about 1,000,000 feet of "dead and down" timber, at $6.53 per thousand for white pine and $4.62 per thousand for Norway. The timber will be cut this winter, skidded into Island Lake, and brought to Bemidji in the spring over the Wilton and Northern.—Crookston Times.

PLUMMER

John Medchill is reported quite ill this week.

Shortiff Pellmen was over from Red Lok Falls Monday.

Miss Grace LaPierre has been quite seriously ill for the past week, but is now considerably improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson arrived Mon day morning from Hazel, the former to take charge of the store recently leased by the absence of Buttermaker Carl Scheldrup, who is absent from his duties by reason of illness.

Carl Worst, who had been visiting at the Julius Pleth home since his arrival from Germany a couple of months ago, left Sunday evening for St. Paul, where he expects to work in a wholesale house.

Thos. G. Norteman returned Tuesday evening from a three weeks visit at various points in southern Minnesota and Wisconsin. It is two years since Mr. Noterman has seen his many friends and relatives in that section and reports a most enjoyable time.—Plummer.

ST. HILAIRE

John Morgan has sold his saloon business at Thief River Falls to H. A. Brunny, proprietor of the new Hotel Brunnund.

Knut Kolstad and Ed. Peterson cut a car load of wild hay for Ole and Wylie, where they went Wednesday and packed it for Andrew Anderson.

Albert Keip bought the barn standing on the lot to the rear of Ole Mathew's store and moved it the week out onto the farm recently purchased by the latter gentleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ulmer were in Red Lake Falls Thursday night. Mr. Ulmer purchased a team of horses and drove them here yesterday.

Art Jacobson left last Saturday for the Meye hospital at Rochester, Minn., where he expected to undergo another operation for the removal of obstructions from his nose.

P. F. Pontius, of the Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, was in town Thursday evening in company with Chas. Bloom and Sheriff Tiny Grove on east yesterday to inspect some farm lands.

Dan McDonald of Crookston, an employe of the Minneapolis Brewing company, was in town Tuesday and circulated a petition to have the license issued to Sam Kelly at the coming village election.

The last issue of Farm, Stock and Home contains a beautiful resat of the Independent Harvester company. If we remember right, some of our former friends invested in stock of that concern about a year ago.—Registator.

PROBE PROVES INTERESTING

(Continued From Page 1.)

concrete the testimony given during an entire week's hearing is that the game and fish commissioner is more concerned with taking care of friends of the administration than it is on the conservation of game and fish. Putting it cold the fact is that the present game and fish law is the best friend the fish trust has. Along the "Great White Way" in New York city Minnesota fish are obtainable 365 days in each year. In Minnesota the period is limited. Sturgeon is common there; in Minnesota only the rich can get them.

✣ ✣ ✣

On the statute books at the present time is a law allowing the fish commission to grant licenses for the seining of lakes for what is known as rough fish. This is supposed to be in the interest of game fish. For the past week the house committee has been engaged in debate into this phase of the fish question and the truth compels the statement that the commissioners have not been a party of the inquiry. According to the admission of its own members charges were played in many instances where the granting of contracts was involved. There was even a resemblance of competition. In order to avoid open competition contracts were awarded on the quiet and those favored were invariably friends of the state administration In this connection Major Herbert P. Keller of St. Paul and a number of others with a political pull were named as among those interested in the contracts given.

✣ ✣ ✣

The conservation of game and fish in Minnesota is uppermost in the mind of every true sportsman. Numerous laws, sacrifices in themselves, have been permitted in the hope that they would minimize the operations of the poacher, but to give it to you straight, fellows, half of the game laws now on the books are more in the interest of this powerful individual than the sportsman. Under the guise of fish and game conservation any kind of a law can be passed and the opposition will be nil. A bill now before the house, introduced by no sports member, provides for a limited number of pound nets in international waters. The author is the Minnesota agent of a Canadian fish company and the passage of the bill, it is said, will give the Canadian concern and its American rival, the Booth Fisheries company, a monopoly of game fishing in international waters. Under the rough fishing law, which was ostensibly passed in the interest of game fish, it is said that thirty-six carloads of lieb, valued at $40,000, were taken out of one lake last year. And all the state got was $1,500. Residents in the vicinity of ths lake protested, but their kick fell on deaf ears. A large part of this catch was game fish and it was served to New York epicures at a fancy figure. Minnesota, householders patronized the boat trust while this rape of Minnesota lakes was on. In several instances favored contractors were mobbed by indignant lake residents and in one instance a shotgun brigade drove the workmen away from a lake which was being seined.

✣ ✣ ✣

On the admission of Executive Agent Rider of the game and fish commission and K. V. Ogilvie, its vice president, the state game and fish commission has no knowledge of whether the lakes and rivers under its jurisdiction contain rough or game fish. It just lets contracts for seining and its inquiry regarding the responsibility of the parties concerned was made in an "any way searching" manner. So many game and fish bills before the legislature it had no interest what ever. No effort was made to inform the legislature whether a bill was bad or good. All this and more came out at the hearing before the house committee and the end is not yet. Kind reader, there is room for improvement in this particular department and the investigation will likely bring it about.

✣ ✣ ✣

Speaking of legislative investigations, there is one here in this biographic probe, with committees from both the house and senate on the job. S. D. Works of Mankato is handling the probe in the senate and James A. Manahan and C. M. Bendtsen in the house. Such is trying to discredit the other. Now, there's a question as to whether either is really trying to find out if immersion inspection or those who control the grain terminals and markets of the state, and its answer. While the two in quiries are on the taxpayers are paying the bill and those really interested are getting nothing in the way of information. Both inquiries are marked by continual snarls, with attorneys for both sides putting questions that are almost impossible of answer and the members of each quarreling over who should testify or make cross-examination.

✣ ✣ ✣

The tonnage bill is dead for the present at least. It went down to defeat in the house last week by a vote of 61 to 54, but not before two hours during its deliberation when the proposition was in doubt. Four votes, it is said, were changed in that time. C. T. Knapp of St. Louis county was the man who offered the bill to the discard and he was deluged with telegrams of protestation from mine owners and residents of the iron country. Knapp's scrap on the subject of tonnage tax was a masterpiece. Representatives Bjorge of Lake Park and Thomas Frankson of Spring Valley led the fight for the bill, but they could not prevail against the Knapp organization. Not content with putting tonnage tax out of business Mr. Knapp put reapportionment across the next day. The opposition was strong but it was bitter, but Mr. Knapp prevailed.

✣ ✣ ✣

The Cashmen distance tariff bill, which up to a week ago was almost the only thing in evening session for the days. I would not be surprised if it failed to get by the house, where J. H. Dunn of Albert Lea is leading the measure. And Mr. Dunn, strange to relate, is credited with being the cause. For some unknown reason a lot of the house members have it in for the Albert Lea member and motions and bills offered by him are being defeated right and left. The night before the tonnage tax bill came up Mr. Dunn was credited as against the proposed act. The next day he voted for the bill and ever since the head of every upstate member has been raised against him. Mr. Dunn is easily the most brainy member of the house, but he has one fault—he cannot stand the pred. "Nip him and you have his goat," as one member put it. He is easily riled.

✣ ✣ ✣

George F. Authier, for several years political writer on the Minneapolis Tribune, will become private secretary, to Governor Eberhart April 1. At the same time Ralph Wheelock, the present secretary, will succeed P. H. Kelly as executive member of the state board of control. Selection of the two was announced by Governor Eberhart this latter part of last week. The passing of Wheelock is not expected to have any unusual bearing on the political future of the present executive. Ralph gave the office a dignity that his successor probably does not possess, but Mr. Authier is a better writer. He is nearer the Day Ideal Like Mr. Wheelock he is loyal and level counts for much in the political game. It is said Mr. Wheelock's job as private secretary paid him $250 in addition to his salary is usually rated $3 per, with a salary of $1,500 a year. Mr. Wheelock says his annual stipend is about $6,000 a year, but there are others who say it is nearer $7,500.

✣ ✣ ✣

The Rines organization in the house is regarded as the strongest that has ever dominated that body. To date its followers have prevailed in practically every measure backed by the majority.

✣ ✣ ✣

This week the house is concerning itself with liquor regulation bills. One putting rural locales out of business and another extending local option to cities of the second class are under consideration. The chances are that both will pass.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

An Absolutely Pure Flour

It's all the wheat that's fit to eat

Always Unifor

MASCOT!

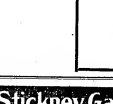
For Sale by Gr

NUF SED

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.

Stickney Gasoline Engines ARE THE BEST

No. 16 E



Quality

You can't keep a good man down. Neither can you down a Stickney Engine. Come in and we will show you.

Joseph Helm Estate

EXCLUSIVE AGENT

Joseph Helm Estate — Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Fire Extinguishes Itself.

A fire which started early last Monday morning in the Minnesota Candy Factory was the result of two wires of the pressure regulating machine on the soda tank becoming short circuited, but itself and before the place was open for business at 8 o'clock. The electrically charged wires burned a hole in the rubber hose connecting with the gas tank, liberating the gas and extinguishing the flames The damage to the electric wiring and stock is estimated at $50.—Thief River News-Press

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell Corrigal, Lot Lease Land.

Estate of Andre Lemieux, decedent. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, in Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Andre Lemieux, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Auguste Lemieux; Ernest Lemieux; Telis Lemieux; Prudelle Lemieux Cyr; Agnes Lemieux Blivin; Napoleon Lemieux, Albert Lemieux, Theodore Lemieux, Corbin Lemieux, Andre Lemieux, Alice Lemieux, Keogh Lemieux, Edward Lemieux, and all persons interest in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent:

The petition of I. Lemieux as representative of the above named decedent, being duly filed in this court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and of all interested therein that certain lands of said decedent described therein be sold and praying that a license be to said petitioner be granted to sell the same:

Now Therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Room in the Court House, in Red Lake Falls County of Red Lake,State of Minnesota, on the 31st day of March, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said court, this 24th day of February, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.
(Probate Court Seal.)
FRED L. FARLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner. f27-m13

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage on Lease Land.

Estate of Josephat Corbeil, decedent. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, in Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Josephat Corbeil, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Victoria Corbeil; Leo Corbeil; Omer Corbeil; Virginia Corbeil; Cornelia Corbeil; and all persons interested in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent: The petition of Victoria Corbeil, as representative of the above named decedent, being duly filed in this court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and of all interested therein that certain lands of said decedent described therein be sold and praying that a license be to Victoria Corbeil granted to sell the same:

Now, Therefore, you and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of March, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said court, this 7th day of February, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.
(Probate Court Seal.)
FRED L. FARLEY, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner.

Order Limiting Time to File Claims and for Hearing Thereon.

State of Theodore Garceau, deceased. State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, in Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Theodore Garceau, deceased.

Letters Testamentary this day having been granted to H. H. Garceau, of Crosby, Crow Wing County, Minnesota.

It is Ordered, that the time within which all creditors of the above named deceased may present claims against his estate in this court, be, and the same hereby is, limited to Six (6) months from and after the date hereof; and that Monday, the 28th day of August, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., in the Probate Court Rooms at the Court House at the City of Red Lake Falls,in said county, be, and the same hereby is, fixed and appointed as the time and place for hearing upon and the examination, adjustment and allowance of such claims as shall be presented within the time aforesaid.

And notice hereof be given by the publication of this order in Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper of said Red Lake County, as provided by law for three successive weeks.

Dated February 17th, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate.
(SEAL.)

f20-M6

N. M. WATSON, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA
Office over First State Bank

J. C. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN KAUS BLOCK, RED LAKE FALLS
Telephone Reichert's Drug Store

F. T. BENOIT, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office over Brooks Mercantile Co.
Brooks, - - Minn.

FRED L. FARLEY
ATTORNEY
LAW, LOANS, COLLECTIONS, INSURANC
Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls
Red Lake Falls, Minn

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON
Attorney at Law
Oldest established lawyer in the city
Collections, real estate, loans and insurance, City attorney.
Red-Lake Falls, Minnesota

LODGE DIRECTORY

Chrismon Lodge No. 191
INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS
Meets every Thursday evening.
A. L. REICHERT, N. G. A. FARLEY, R. S.

Good Faith Lodge No. 60
MODERN BROTHERHOOD OF AMERICA
Frank Bromley, C. C. Thomas Swan, Secy.
Meetings every Monday evening in the new hall.
Visiting brothers are cordially invited.

Red Lake Falls Camp No 7358
MODERN WOODMEN OF AMERICA
Jamie H. Hawes, Consul Commander. Noraan, Clerk
Meet Wednesday evening of each week

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking will not cure children of wetting the bed, because it is not a habit but a dangerous disease. The C. H. Rowan Drug Co., Dept. B 520, Chicago, Ill., have discovered a entirely harmless remedy for this distressing disease and to make known its merits they will send a 50c package securely wrapped and prepaid Absolutely Free to any reader of the Gazette. This remedy also cures frequent desire to urinate and inability to control urine during the night or day in old or young. The C. H. Rowan Drug Co. is an Old Reliable House; write them today for the free medicine. Cure the afflicted members of your family, then tell your neighbors and friends about this remedy.

Temper and Temperance

By CLARA INEZ DEACON

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

John Titus whiled away the first Sunday afternoon of his vacation on his porch in the little cottage where he was a paying guest. The greatest excitement of the still afternoon in the primitive Maloo village seemed to be the passing of country folk with their ponies in the family hack-board. For a time John Titus was interested, but presently, his handkerchief thrown across his face for protection from flies and other ills, he dropped off into a peaceful slumber.

Softly the strains of music began to issue from the windows of the house next door. An old-time organ was being played in accompaniment to a woman's voice. At first it seemed to the dozing man that he was dreaming, but as the strains became more familiar he removed the handkerchief from his face and sat up.

"No—it can't be," he said, almost audibly. Then he turned in the direction of the sound and listened attentively.

"Father, dear father, come home with me now," ran the song, "the clock to the steeple strikes three."

The young man clapped his knee vigorously. "Am I awake?" he asked himself. "Or can it be that some one really sings that song yet? It—it seems incredible."

But the voice ran on even to the finish of "poor brother Bunny." Then the sinner, evidently loving to hear her own voice, began again at the beginning and sang the old song over to its melancholy end.

After a while, though the voice that sang was unusually sweet, it began to get on John Titus's nerves and he paced the porch.

"I suppose she will sing 'Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight'" when Whiled Away the Afternoon.

she has had enough of this," he soliloquized.

And as if by a mental message received across the garden, the old organ began the very song he had dreaded.

"This is too much," he said, as he went indoors and sought quiet in the cottage parlor. His temper was rising.

"Mr. Titus," began a voice in the doorway when he was becoming interested in a magazine, "I wonder if you wouldn't like to escort me to-night. My brother unfortunately can not go and—well, I thought perhaps you would care that I got safely to church and back."

Miss Patience Parsons was the spinster of the household of which Titus was a temporary member, and he could not refuse so small a request from a woman whose boys to find had been so evidently kind.

"I'll be only too glad, Miss Parsons," he said, smiling bravely.

Miss Parsons stepped in and beamed down upon him. "I am sure you'll enjoy the meeting—it's the semi-annual temperance meeting of our church, and we have special speakers and stereopticon views for the evening," she said enthusiastically.

Titus groaned inwardly. Then—suddenly everything became clear to him and he knew that he must sit through all the verses of "Father, dear father," again. The screen next door had been preaching for the evening.

Too courteous to show his displeasure, Titus told the spinster that he would be glad to. It was a most interesting evening.

Then ensued a discertation by Miss Parsons on temperance. She exhibited proudly her white ribbon.

Too time out short Miss Parsons' remarks, and afterward she, escorted by her young friend, found her way to the pretty village church at the foot of the hill.

Every girls with their Sunday hours were strolling toward the vine-covered building from every direction, but Titus and Miss Parsons found themselves in the midst of a crowd of young people at the church doors.

Though far from interested, Titus listened attentively to the speakers not took part in the pretty service of the church. He even raised his spindle toner voice to its best pitch and joined in the hymns of the evening.

At last the organ struck up the tune he had been dreading, but when he looked up to see who was to sing the song—who it was that he had listened to that afternoon with such veritable patience—he was taken back. Standing on the platform by the side of the great sheet on which were being thrown the stereopticon views stood a beautiful girl. Titus rubbed his eyes and looked again. Yes—beautiful was hardly the word; she was far more than that. No wonder her voice had sounded sweet in the afternoon.

The girl stood there and sang until there was hardly a dry eye in the room, and when she had come mildly to sang Titus felt more deeply a slave to her charms. She was so simple—so good—so different from girls he knew back in the city.

The same thought came to him when she lived next door. Perhaps he might meet her there on the morrow.

The rest of the meeting was anything but long to him. He feasted his eyes on the girl and was sorry when his little minister had pronounced his benediction, and he had to thank Miss Parsons, was being elbowed about by the throngs of people.

On the way home he asked about the girl who had sung.

"That is Miss True," his companion told him. "She is at home for her vacation and we begged her to sing for us tonight. She is studying music in the city."

"She has a wonderful voice," Titus said, trying to keep his own tones from sounding too enthusiastic.

"I tell her you think so," Miss Parsons said, pleasantly.

Miss Parsons told everything she heard, so Titus had learned in his fere days' residence in the house.

When they reached home he heard voices on the porch next door. There was laughing, and Titus wished he might join the gay party. He heard the rippling notes of the girl's voice and all night he dreamed of them.

It was at breakfast the next morning that he again ventured to speak of her.

"Oh, here she comes now," cried Miss Parsons. "She's bringing over the eggs. I'll tell her what you said," the spinster giggled. Having been deprived of romance in her own life, she immediately scented the beginning of one here.

"I did enjoy your—voice," Titus found himself saying, after he had acknowledged the introduction.

The girl laughed. "You save yourself," she said, with a reproving finger raised toward him; "you say—my voice. Can you honestly say you enjoyed the song?" she asked.

Titus joined her laughter. "As you sang it—yes," he admitted. "Though I didn't think any one in the world ever sang it any more."

"Did you ever cry over it when you were little?" she asked.

"I did," John Titus confessed.

"Then we're even, aren't we? We have something in common with—he thought she was going to say "each other," but she continued—"the whole world."

After a half hour the girl asked Titus how long he intended to remain in the little village.

"For a month," he told her quickly, though only that afternoon he had decided that it was time to move on. It was interesting to spend even another week in.

When the month was up he took back with him the promise of Margery True to be his wife.

Population of Europe.

Census returns show that the density of population of European countries is as follows: Belgium, 642 inhabitants per square mile; England, 527; Holland, 485; Germany, 326; Italy, 266; Austria, 241; Switzerland, 239; France, 189; Russia in Europe, 104; Denmark, 171; Hungary, 163; Servia, 160; Roumania, 155; Servia, 104; Portugal, 148; Scotland and Ireland, 131; Greece, 133; Roumania, 177, and Spain, 104.

A Horrible Possibility.

"Suppose they were to start an investigation of a boarding-house trust."

"Suppose they did!" replied the dyspeptic. "I wouldn't dare get up early enough to find out what the probe would be like."

Get News from Druggist

Part of Occupation by He Means Popular With the Dispenser of Medicines.

The woman who walked in a drug store for a telephone message answered the call.

"Is Mrs. Smirnoff here?" coms one asked.

She spelled the name back to make sure she got it right, and was about to say, "No, she isn't here," when another woman, who had been waiting jumped up and said:

"That's me. Won't you find out what he has to say, ma'am?"

"Tell Mrs. Smirnoff," said the man, "that her son stood the operation pretty well, but is not yet out of danger."

Mrs. Smirnoff and two young girls evidently her daughters, went away weeping.

"My, ain that is nervo racking," said the woman. "Do you get many telephones messages like that?"

"Lots of them," said the druggist. "In this neighborhood only a few pa-ple have their own telephones. There are many hospital cases, and when anybody is about to be operated on the relatives depend upon the drug store 'phone for news. Sometimes the whole family waits here while the operation is performed. They are a hysterical lot. About the hardest thing a druggist does here has to do is to pacify them."

Made Him Lose His Vote.

Seymour—I notice that McGuffog, your Oregon friend, never speaks of his wife.

Ashby—No; last election day she went out to cast her vote, leaving him in charge of the children, and she didn't return till after the polls were closed.

Prolonged Farewell.

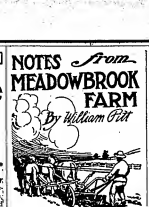
"Maybelle."

"Yes, mother."

"Please start saying good-by to your latest fiance at once. We start for home next week."

NOTES from MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Tell



Separate the lambs from the ewes.

It is said that hawks never attack ducklings.

—

Few horses can perfectly digest clear timothy hay.

—

Buying dairy feed is expensive. Oftentimes extravagant.

—

The coops and yard and houses should be cleaned daily.

—

Oats for the brood sows will produce better muscle for the pigs.

—

The long-headed farmer is the one who has hay to sell in the spring.

—

The lambs should have extra feed in a wide-bottomed trough in the pasture.

—

The sows thus fed during the breeding season will produce strong, vigorous pigs.

—

Even with hogs the value of good feed is wonderfully increased by these attentions.

—

There is always more or less loss of butter fat when the cream is overripe.

—

Allow them plenty of exercise, and give them a light feed of grain and plenty of pasture.

—

It takes a stockman's eye to detect the first symptoms of failing conditions of his stock.

—

The per cent of butter fat in a cow's milk is not a sure index to her capacity as a butter maker.

—

Sheep give on an average more pounds of meat per bushel of grain than either hogs or cattle.

—

It often takes a number of generations to thoroughly change the disposition from timidity to quietude.

—

If the stifling hen cannot get a good dust bath when she comes off her nest, trouble will result later sure.

—

While the chickens should be well supplied with food at this period, we must also guard against overfeeding.

—

Crops must be gathered in proper condition and sent to the market fresh and clean. Careful grading is essential.

—

No man is in a better position to build up his soil than a fairyman, if he uses wisely the forces at his command.

—

Never salt the horse's feed in the box. Place a big lump where he can reach it and he will take it when he needs it.

—

A very acceptable ration can be made by letting each animal have daily all the cut and vetch hay she will consume.

—

Do not put more than 50 chicks in one brooder, or one compartment, and better results will be secured with a smaller number.

—

If you have no green, growing feed for your ducks, alfalfa meal makes a fine substitute. Sproute barley is a good substitute.

—

A small silo to open up the in summer when the pasture becomes short, is the cheapest and best means of keeping up the milk flow.

—

Do not let any weed go to seed in the orchard or garden. It's easier to kill the one plant than the hundred coming from it next year.

—

Never pasture too closely. Leaves are essential to plant growth and enough should always be left to promote a good growth of plants.

—

If you have anything the matter with your hogs just put them on a diet of dry oats and water and see how quickly they will come around.

—

If any fruits or vegetables are marketed, see that they are put up in close, neat and well-graded packages. They will sell quicker and at a better price.

—

Keep the house well ventilated at nights so that the chickens are supplied with an unlimited amount of fresh air and are kept moderately cool.

—

No female can expect to transmit to her offspring better qualities than she possesses herself unless she is mated with a sire with greater propotency.

—

Keep all windfall apples and plums off the ground. They often have dropped because they are diseased or have insects in them. Feed to the pigs or burn.

—

Give the ewes a little grain if the pasture is short. About one-half pound each per day of wheat bran and oats will put them in good flesh for winter.

—

Every pasture should be provided with shade for the pigs in very hot weather. The small shed is always a necessity but this should be placed in very high ground where the air can have a good sweep.

—

It is best to fatten and sell hogs young.

—

Sell leaves have been smiled successfully.

—

The cheapest way to feed young pigs is through the sow.

—

Commence feeding the new corn crop by very slow degrees.

—

Any person can keep poultry, but every one cannot get poultry to keep him.

—

As a general thing fowls that have a good range do not lay this shelled eggs.

—

Dirty colliers are probably as responsible for sore shoulders as illfitting ones.

—

Plan your farm to reduce the necessity of buying additional feed to the lowest point.

—

The man who makes a success of poultry is the man who starts with the right aim.

—

The man who uses system is the one who accomplishes the most work with the least effort.

—

The hen that makes a good record for herself in eggs for the whole year is the hen to keep.

—

The butter fat in milk is very valuable, but is its most important and valuable constituent.

—

The long butter strap in the stall has been the cause of permanent injury to many animals.

—

The hog is pretty nearly off a bundle of money and he should not be neglected in any manner.

—

Ever know a mule to step in a hole or venture upon an unsound bridge of his own volition?

—

Success lies not in the number of cows that a man owns but rather the kind of cows that he keeps.

—

It is just as necessary to strengthen the thin spots in the soil as to repair the weak places in the fence.

—

It is well known that pigs under closely conditions thrive much better than those in filthy surroundings.

—

To squelch the bacteria and prevent it from souring the milk it must be cooled immediately after milking.

—

It is a good plan to soak shelled corn for the hogs and if it is ground before it is soaked so much the better for the hogs.

—

The breeding of high-class beckney stallions to high-class trotting mares has passed beyond the experimental stage.

—

A sow with a mean, cross temperament is always hard to deal with, and this disposition often causes the loss of pigs.

—

Before any new chicks come see that there are no scales on the hens' legs—no mites or lice in the poultry quarters.

—

Keep cut flowers or bright leaves and berried branches in the rooms. They add a charm and cheerfulness to any room.

—

Remember that separator skimmings are no liberal and as of good quality as the whole milk, but they have to be accessorily for lice.

—

At present, the most popular kind of silo is the rolid, cement wall, usually also inside and outside of the base and six inches at the top.

—

If you would have any sort of satisfaction out of ducks, teach them to be easy to catch and to love them, while you are raising them.

—

Overbreeding is to be avoided by continuing the practice of the careless and of working horses; with shade and water at intervals, if possible.

—

Ewes that are bread and long with some good mutton sheep should produce offspring. In this way lambs of a better type will be produced.

—

The vigor and health of the hog are to some extent involved in the strength and texture of his bones, influencing to some extent his exercise.

—

The rest that is kept to bread the flock should be pure bred and of good individuality. It is well to breed along definite lines and to a specific type.

—

Contrary to the general belief it does not help a horse to give him oats in quantities even when he is very hot, provided the water is not very cold.

—

Have you ever noticed that when you turn your horse out of the stable early in the morning the first thing he does is to go straight to the watering trough?

—

There is a marked shortage of celery plants in New York, Philadelphia and other eastern cities. It is almost impossible to obtain good plants even at high prices.

—

The recent discovery of the serum treatment as a preventive of hog cholera has greatly lessened the loss to the feeder in handling large numbers in one herd.

—

Those who cut corn or fodder this fall will do well to keep the blades going till they are sure they have enough to feed at their stock through a long, hard winter.

—

There is a steady decline in the number of sheep kept in this country and yet owners of small flocks find them profitable where dogs can be kept within due bounds.

—

What do you think of the man whom you see driving a horse with his tail docked to even inches, perfectly hairless against the attack of the flies during the hot days?

The Kitchen Cabinet

EVERY storm gives resistance to the universe and breaks!
Each rose-petal holds perfection angel
artists could not make.
Under every power and passion stirs the element divine.
If I grasp the moment's meaning, all eternity is mine.
—Theodore C. Williams.

HALLOWE'EN SUPPER.

A Hallowe'en supper in the time when one may let the taste for the unusual and striking run riot. The more bizarre, the more effective. The center piece may be a pumpkin or a squash hollowed out in basket form and heaped with peaches, grapes, pears and apples, with grape leaves for a background. The candles may be set in sticks made of the large end of a carrot and the salad dishes may be small cabbages, gourds or green peppers.

This is the season for nice hens and ducks. If they are obtainable, a most delightful dinner with these delicious birds for the place de resistance may be served.

For refreshments to be served later, apples, doughnuts, cake, cider, popcorn balls and roasted chestnuts will surely find appetites ready for all.

For a chafing dish supper one might have hot cheese sandwiches, olives, vanilla ice cream with maple and nut sauce and chocolate cake.

Another, a rarebit on toast, celery salad and fruits.

Another, tomato soup, corn oysters, bread and butter sandwiches, olives, pineapple sponge and tea.

Spanish Toast.—Peel as many good sized tomatoes as there are people to serve. Put six tomatoes and three green peppers cut in strips, one small onion chopped and a tablespoon of finely chopped parsley, a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of paprika. Simmer until smooth and thick. Have ready enough of toasted bread well spread with butter. Place on each a spoonful of the tomato and finish with a poached egg.

Mushrooms are an ideal supper dish served on toast or in ramekins. Before the fall frosts come too hard gather all that they may be found in abundance in pastures and boggy places.

THERE'S a divinity that shapes
our ends,
Rough-hew them how we may.

Opinions's but a fool, that makes us scan
The outward habit by the inward man.
—Shakespeare.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

When the season for the delicious venison opens be prepared to cook and serve a nice joint with the spicy wild grape jelly.

Venison steak with chestnut sauce is another favorite.

Chestnut Sauce—Fry one-half an onion and six slices of carrot, cut in small pieces, in two tablespoonfuls of butter five minutes. Add three tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until well browned; then add a cup and a half of soup stock, a sprig of parsley, a bit of bayleaf, eight peppercorns and a teaspoonful of salt. Let stand twenty minutes, strain and add a cup of boiled chestnuts, a tablespoonful of sugar and two of orange juice.

Squirrel Pie—After the squirrels are cleaned and singed, separate into pieces at the joints—nine in all. Put them into a casserole or earthen dish, add salt and pepper and a pint of well-seasoned chicken stock if at hand. Otherwise boiling water will do. Cook covered about two hours in a moderate oven. Stand in a warming place. Mix two tablespoonfuls of flour and a half teaspoon of salt and a generous sprinkling of pepper; mix with cold water and add to the gravy in the dish. Cover with a rich crust and bake about twenty minutes. Do not forget to leave a vent in the crust to allow the steam and gases to escape.

Chestnut Stuffing—Blanch and blanch a pint of chestnuts and cook until tender in chicken broth. Press through a sieve and add a little more season with salt, pepper and onion juice. Melt two ounces of butter in a cup and a fourth of a cup of flour when well blended add a cup of milk and a cup of cream. Stir until boiling; add the broth and serve at once.

Nellie Maxwell.

Longfellow's Tribute to Autumn.

Longfellow's tribute to autumn is like a pilgrim, clad in russet weeds, with a staff of oak, and a cloak of gray. But he comes like a warrior, with the stalk of barley in his iron mail. His crimson scarf is rent. His scarlet banner drips with gore. His step is like a fall upon the threshing floor.—Henry W. Longfellow.

Still Money in Whaling.

Whaling is still a profitable enterprise in some parts of the world, though a few years ago it was believed to be on the point of extinction. A Scotch whaler recently declared a dividend of 24½ per cent. Norwegian companies are also reaping enormous profits in southwest African waters.

Puzzled.

"Biggins can't get away from his mother-in-law," said the editor's wife. "Does he ask if it is hot enough for you?"

"No, but at dinner, when the waiter spilled a cup of tea down his back he only didn't know which was more objectionable, the heat or the humidity."

Proverbs and Phrases.

When a man is an image maketh to do better than well he is done for —B. R. Haydon.

INTEREST SHOWN IN BOX PACK FOR SHIPMENT OF APPLES

It is Commercial Proposition and Cannot be Made Successful Unless Grower Will See That Fruit is Well Sprayed, Grown, Picked at Right Time and Properly Assorted.

There is a woeful lack of realization of what the marketing of a good box pack are. Those seen on the market show an system of packing, or if grown are placed in the box in regular order the pack was so loose that the apples did not remain in position. Instead of a bulge when the boxes reached the commission house there was an open space underneath the lid. Nor has a single box ever reached the market without a bruised apple.

Grading Board.

been graded. Some were fairly uniform as to size—at least on top. The commission men said they were no better in the middle than the proverbial barrel pack, but others showed no uniformity whatever in size. The quality was usually "something awful." A fruit being, in most cases, third-grade stuff.

The first requisite in catering to the box trade is apples to be graded, the fruit as to size and quality. One of the illustrations shows a grading board which is used only in a small way because men and women soon train their eyes to recognize differences in sizes. The board is about 2 feet long, 18 inches wide and the holes vary in diameter from 2⅝ to 3⅜ inches. The apples must not be smell enough to drop through any one of these holes, in order to meet the size of the various grades.

Styles of Packing.

The packing table, found most useful, is shown herewith. It is about 3 feet high, 3 feet wide and 10 feet long. The bars are made of stretch material, and beveled off at their tops so as to leave no corners which would bruise the fruit. The sides are 5 inches high and 1 inch thick. The top is covered with canvas, which is allowed to sag rather loosely. In order to save bruising the fruit the rubber hose is nailed around the top of the table. A board is nailed across the end and another at the side to serve as supports for the boxes, which are placed at an angle, as shown. The tray shown at the left is for holding paper, which is wrapped around each individual apple.

Apples of only one size are brought to the packing table at one time, so as to facilitate packing. The packer begins by first lining the sides of the box with paper n trifle smaller than the length of the box. The ends are ready lined. Next a layering paper is placed on the bottom, and as layers of apples are packed other layers of paper are placed between them, and on the top, before the lid is nailed on. The apples are packed in three or four ways in the boxes. As the boxes are nailed, the fruit must be slightly bruised toward the middle, so that when the top is nailed on there will be a slight bulge.

Packing Table.

After the boxes have been filled, they are placed on the nailing table. This table has a central space in the middle over which the box is laid. An upright clamp is used to hold the top down by means of a lever operated with the foot. As soon as the nails are driven, the lever is released and the box removed. Details for the construction of this table, together with sizes of paper, boxes, etc., have been published in bulletin form by the New York State Agricultural college at Ithaca. These are for free distribution.

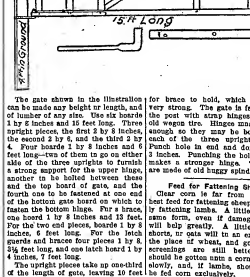
Deep Plowing Best.

Deep plowing fits the land to receive and retain in the subsoil more the moisture from rain and snow; putting the surface in readiness for the final disking and harrowing necessary for this object in the spring.

Fine-Worked Sheep Best.

The bars are made of stretch material, and beveled off at their tops so as to leave no corners which would bruise

ERECTION OF DURABLE GATE



The gate shown in the illustration can be made any height or length, and for lanes or fields. The six bars are 1 by 6 inches and 15 feet long. Three upright pieces, the first 2 by 8 inches, the second 2 by 6, and the third 2 by 4 inches. Four boards 1 by 6 inches and 6 feet long—two of them to go on either side of the three uprights to furnish a strong support for the upper hinge, another to be bolted between these and the first board of gate, and the fourth one to be fastened at one end on the bottom of the board on which to fasten the bottom hinge. For a brace, one board 1 by 6 inches and 12 feet. For the two end pieces, boards 1 by 8 inches, 6 feet long. For the latch pieces odd lumber four pieces 1 by 6, 2½ feet long, and one latch board 1 by 6 inches, 7 feet long.

The upright pieces take up one-third of the length of gate, leaving 10 feet for brace to hold, which makes it very strong. The gate is fastened to the end of the fence made of old wagon tire. Hinges must be long enough so they may be bolted each of the three upright pieces. Punch hole in end and double each 3 inches. Punching the hole through makes a stronger hinge. The bolts are made of old hinge pins.

Feed for Fattening Sheep.

Clear corn is far from being the best feed for fattening sheep, especially fattening lambs. A little wheat in the ration will be relished and will help greatly. A little bran or shorts, or oats will in an extent take the place of corn, but clover meal screenings are still better. Sheep should be gotten ready to eat corn very slowly, and, if lambs, should never be fed corn exclusively.

CONDITION OF LAYING HENS

Little Surplus Fat Indicates That Her Bodily Wants Have Been Well Taken Care of.

A hen in the best laying condition has some surplus fat on her body. This means that her bodily wants have been supplied and that she can turn food to spare. A very fat hen seldom lays well; a poor hen cannot lay well. The best part of the egg which is made is the yolk, which contains 29 per cent albumen and 64 per cent fat. New growth and egg production only come from the surplus food not needed to keep up the body. Corn is an excellent grain, but is so relished by the fowls that they are liable to overeat. Wheat, with its by-products, is the most useful grain to the poultryman.

Hens are naturally worm and insect hunters, and they must have meat in some form in order to do their best. Fresh meat is the best form, and hens prefer it cooked. Grass cut bone is excellent. The handiest forms are the commercial scraps and beef meat. Skimmed milk is also a valuable source of animal protein and should be liberal, if possible, but only in moisten the mash, but also as a drink.

When Feeding Millet.

When millet is used for feeding cows and horses, it should be cut before the seeds start to harden as otherwise the danger of injuring both classes of animals.

Making Cement Floor.

If you decide on a cement floor, don't have it worked down too smoothly. It better be left a little rough, as there is then less danger of the animal slipping.

Ram in Good Condition.

It is just as important to have the ram in good condition for the breeding season as the ewes. Feed him fresh grass, or roots and a grain ration also.

The WASHINGTON NATIONAL MONUMENT

To one of the world's heroes, probably, have more monuments, statues and other enduring tributes been erected than to him who was so aptly designated "First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen." Easily the most important and most imposing of all the memorials existing or projected is the Washington national monument, that simple and stately white shaft that rises on the banks of the Potomac river at Washington and affords from its top the most magnificent view of the beautiful capital city which Washington founded and which bears his name. Yet few of the persons who came in this twentieth century, upon what has been denominated a "poem in marble" cause to consider how long this monument was in building and by how narrow a margin of chance a national tribute missed being a national disgrace.

The towering shaft that so ably typifies Washington's simplicity and strength of character was in the making for nigh a quarter of a century. Not that work was continuous over that protracted interval, but that such a span of years intervened between the inception and completion of the work due to a long suspension of activities owing to lack of funds. The whole project of providing what is accounted the nation's monument to Washington was a long-drawn-out undertaking, but this seeming tardiness of action has been stoned for by the beauty of the structure, which has few rivals in height, save some of the newer skyscrapers in New York, and which is so jealously guarded by a proud people that congress not so very long ago felt compelled to refuse the request of the navy department that permission be granted to establish a wireless telegraph station at the top of the monument, as has been done on the Eiffel Tower in Paris.

The project to provide a tribute to George Washington at the seat of government dates from the year 1783, when the Continental congress voted to erect an equestrian statue and, oddly enough, selected for its site the very location that is now occupied by the national monument. However, the project progressed no further and there was no further action until Washington died at the end of the century, when congress passed another resolution for a monument—this bill providing for a testimonial in marble or granite beneath which should repose the remains of the nation's greatest hero. Here, however, the widow of General Washington interposed with her very natural preference that the body should rest at mount Vernon, and accordingly the whole project again lapsed until 1833, when a number of patriotic citizens of Washington formed an association known as the Washington monument association and undertook to revive interest in the undertaking.

The scheme was to provide funds by popular subscription for erecting a monument and this canvass was pursued more or less energetically, but it was not until 1848, when a total of $87,000 had been collected, that the official act of the capitulation considered that the funds in hand justified the commencement of actual work. The corner stone was laid with due ceremony and the work went forward for some years but additional subscriptions did not come in at a very lively rate and finally work had to be suspended for lack of funds. Thus the partially completed obelisk—a "stump" of a monument it was termed—stood during all the years intervening between 1858 and 1880 until congress finally took up the matter and appropriated funds to finish the gigantic shaft.

However, it was not merely a case of providing money to carry out the work already started. The United States army engineers who were put in charge when the national legislature took a hand in the matter speedily discovered that the original foundation provided for the monument was hopelessly inadequate, considering the height and weight of the mass which it was proposed to place on it. Thereupon they set about the mighty ticklish engineering project—nothing less than the provision of a new or rather an enlarged foundation for the monument. Of course, the perplexing part of it was that the new foundation had to be slipped under the great mass of stone as it stood and, naturally, there were many objections to committing time and money in tearing down the monument and re-erecting it.

The engineers dug out at the corners and sides of the monument as much as they dared of the old foundation, meanwhile supporting the partially undermined structure by means of beams and braces of various kinds. All the stone thus removed was replaced with concrete and the concrete foundation was also extended to every direction beyond the base lines of the monument and beyond the limitations of the original inadequate foundation. To what an extent the restlog place of the shaft was expanded may be surmised from the fact that the original foundation had an area of only 6,400 square feet, whereas the enlarged foundation covered 16,000 square feet, in addition to being of better material. Indeed, the new footing of monolithic concrete is in effect a single block of 4,000 stone.

With the new foundation to place the erection of the shaft went on apace and the task was finally completed in December, 1884, the dedication of the completed monument taking place in the following February on the month that holds the anniversary of Washington's birthday. The Washington national monument is, in horizontal section, a square within a square, wherefore the structure might be described as an iron tower within a marble tower, the former being securely fastened to the latter by means of iron, which takes the form of a staircase that may be used by visitors who do not prefer to patronize the elevator.

The walls of the monument, which are fifteen feet in thickness at the base and decrease to a thickness of only eighteen inches at the top, comprise a grand total of twenty-three thousand stones, many of these stones having been contributed by states of the Union, by foreign powers and by municipal, civic and other organizations. There are, all told, about one hundred and seventy-six carved memorials of stone and marble embedded in the walls, but such testimonials could not, from the very character of the structure, be effectually guarded after the monument was completed and more than one fourth of the total number have been more or less marred and damaged by vandals and relic hunters. An especial target for such souvenir hunting was found in the projecting pieces of carved stone such as originally appeared in the representations of state seals or coats-of-arms, and almost every one of these details is missing. The native's monument, which is so vast an idea that an army of twelve thousand men might be comfortably housed in its interior, weighs more than eighty thousand tons. Engineers declare that it is one of the very few actually and absolutely perpendicular shafts in the United States, and although cracks have from time to time appeared in the walls, it is the popular belief that nothing short of a severe earthquake could destroy the shaft. It has been repeatedly struck by lightning and such visitations have no terrors for the obelisk, thanks to the forethought of the builders in providing an ingenious system of electric conductors. The keynote of the scheme is found in a small pyramid of aluminum weighing about one hundred ounces, which crowns the capstone of the monument. This metal headpiece is exactly one inch square and it stands seven hundred feet to a well sunk to a considerable depth below the level of the earth. The monument has been visited by as many as five electric bolts within an interval of twenty minutes, but the worst damage ever done was the cracking of one of the stones near the top.

The shaft that rises from the gentle slope between the White House and the Potomac cost the nation about $1,200,000, nearly $100,000 having been expended upon the new foundation alone. The present upkeep of the monument involves no great expense. The elevator which carries to the top of the monument those visitors who do not care to climb the 900 steps makes a trip every half hour (although but seven minutes is required for the ascent of 500 feet), and will accommodate thirty persons. Looking out from the windows at the top of the monument 617 feet above ground, the visitors behold a wonderful panorama extending fifteen to twenty miles in every direction. On clear days it is sometimes possible to discern the Blue Ridge mountains, sixty miles away.

HOW TO TELL FORTUNES

One Formula Can Be Made to Fit Almost Everybody.

The way to tell people's fortunes is to have one list of characteristics and to use it for every one without the slightest variation. It is bound to succeed. For instance, supposing Falstaff and Hamlet had their fortunes told by the same fortuneteller. I imagine he would have told Hamlet's character as follows, Maurice Baring writes in the Metropolitan:

"You are not so fortunate as you seem. You have a great deal of sense, but more sense than knowledge. You are given admirable advice to other people. Your judgment is excellent as regards others, but bad as regards yourself. You never value your own good advice. You are fond of your friends. You prefer talk to action. You suffer from indecision. You are fond of the stage. You are susceptible to female beauty. You are witty, amiable and well educated, but you like coarse jokes. You are superstitious and believe in ghosts. You can make people laugh. You often pretend to be more foolish than you are. At other times you will surprise people by your power of apt repartee. Your base will be your inclination to fat, which will hamper you in fighting. You are unsuccessful as a soldier, but survived as a companion and philosopher. You will mix in high society, have friends at court. You will come off badly in personal encounter, and your final enemy will be a king."

Now imagine him saying exactly the same thing to Falstaff. Doesn't it fit him just as well? Can't you imagine Falstaff saying: "He has hit me off to a T," and Hamlet murmuring, "My prophetic soul!" In fact, I believe fortune telling, after that of medicine, to be the finest profession in the world and the easiest.

A Serious One.

"I understand our Mirawher friend had an operation performed. Was it serious?"

"Very serious. He had a prospective job cut out of his mind's eye."

HOUSES FOR SMALL FAMILIES

Apartments in One-Story Structure Built in Mission Style Is Something New.

Apartment houses only one story high have been evolved by an architect of Sierra Madre, Cal., after the Spanish mission style, says Popular Mechanics. The cottages or apartments are built on the north and west sides of a town block, leaving the south and east sides open for the sun to reach each cottage and allow the residents an outlook on a green terraced lawn. Designed for small families, each apartment consists of only three rooms with an entrance hoggia, which can be used for a sleeping porch or a sitting room. While they all join in one long, rambling structure the individual apartments are so cleverly constructed that they give to less privacy than a cottage in a well built up neighborhood. Each family has its own well defined bit of garden and walk, which merge harmoniously into the larger lawn.

Hopeful Youth.

Little Marjorie Louise leaned on her grandmamma's knee and gazed into space with a particularly soulful expression.

"Oh, grandmother," she burst out, suddenly, "I just long to grow up and be a big lady and have corsets!"

Gasoline Grammar.

To whet curiosity the automobile has invaded the preparatory school may be judged from the following oncrrrect—

Teacher (to beginners' class in Latin)—Can any of you boys give the rules for accentuation of Latin words?

Only one hand was raised.

"Well, Tenny, what are the rules?"

"Both of two cylinders accent the first cylinder, and words of three cylinders accent on the antepenult."—Life.

CARGO OF WIDOWS

Three Score in World Tour Due Soon at Frisco.

Amusement Is the Primary Object of the Present Voyage, in Which a Few Bachelors Are Participating.

Berlin.—In a few days the "Boot of Ye Merry Widows" will sail into the port of San Francisco and deposit upon American soil fifty-seven husbandless women of various ages and positions, together with thirty bachelors of happy tendencies who are touring around the world.

This astonishing globe-circling trip was started at New York, where the fifty-seven varieties of widows took ship and started eastward around the world last October, with only one object in view—amusement, in capital letters. And there is every indication that the purpose of the trip is being accomplished, judging by private letters which have just been published in the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger.

Flirting seems the principal occupation on board the Cleveland, which is the official name of the vessel carrying this strange cargo. The most of the "merry widows" are Americans, with only a sprinkling of Germans and French. The bachelors include every nationality.

According to the writer of a letter which is printed on board the Cleveland, the widows are having the gayest time of their lives. Of course the men of the party laid siege to the charms of the "merry widows" the moment the host pulled out of the little French port. First came the young ones.

All the way across to Egypt, young widows were kept busy warding off proposals and the heavy cannonade of experienced flirting, but when the Red Sea was reached, where the exuberant spirits of the bachelors became somewhat affected by the warm weather, the reserves had to be called on from among the "beautiful women of a certain age," whose more intellectual conversation and better appreciation seemed to revive the waning spirits of the men.

In tropical regions, finally even matrons with white hair resumed on active part in the marital drama. The younger widows, however, remained the queens of the voyage.

"Why?" asked the writer of the letter. "Why are there so many cozy corners on transatlantic liners fertile in tete-a-tetes and confidences, and why, why, above all things, are there such wonderful moonlight nights, such sublime seas that they inspire tender feelings?"

The letter says:

"On the 'widow ship' the Americans always are contented. They don't kick, as do Europeans, at every little thing. Furthermore, they drink enormous quantities of ice water, which is incompatible with the average European constitution. They wager from morning till night, and applaud energetically when the hand plays an American air. Young and old dance at all hours of the day or night in the gridiron or on deck; waltzes and two-steps, but mostly turkey trots and grizzly bears, while the Germans, sit in deck chairs and write in diaries.

"There are beautiful Californis women met with their peach complexions, the tall and graceful women from Chicago and the gay and vivacious women of New York and Philadelphia. The most interesting feature of it all is the chivalry of the American men and the high esteem of women which they show in every action."

ARKANSAS GIRL FARMER HONORED

For her ability in producing crops that paid her $63 from a patch of an acre of land, Miss Viola Lewis, a girl farmer of Arkansas, was presented with a diploma of merit by Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson. Miss Lewis raised a succession of crops of tomatoes, beans, beets and turnips. Some of her produce she sold fresh and canned the remainder.

CITY AIDS WIVES

Visiting Housekeepers Appointed at Madison, Wis.

Expects to Alleviate Domestic Woes in General—Untidiness, Bad Food All Stated for Cure if Plan Is Successful.

Madison, Wis.—No longer need the youthful bride weep over her pretty eyes over her charred dinner; no longer need the young husband suffer digestive disaster in vain attempts to assimilate four-pound cakes, for this thoughtful municipality has provided a remedy.

Said remedy is impersonated by visiting housekeepers whose business it is to go about solving household ills.

The capital city has embarked on learning from the Associated Charities how these tidiness and wasteful methods of housekeeping generally prevail and where lack of them is the cause of much domestic woe. It decided on this plan for teaching housekeeping.

The plan is working like a charm. The young housewife is taught to prepare dinner. Presently, her store of patience and her knowledge exert the art of cooking are ready. The meal is served and the "rules and regulations" of housekeeping.

A dignified matron from the harem responds. She comes accontored like a soldier—a trim blue suit, her nails clean, and a bag of tools at her side to the distressed housewife, her

Like a general surveying his field of battle she looks over the culinary department of the household. A few swift orders given, a helping hand here and there, and the young housekeeper sets running smoothly again the wheels of the household.

But the duties of the visiting housekeeper do not end with setting aright the feet of the young housewife on the path of domestic management. Also, no. Her duties irritatingly come with carrying out some of the minor provisions of the "rules and laws" down by the directors of the bureau.

She is a truant officer extraordinary on her rounds of duty. Recreation is often found at play when they should be in the schools. Occasionally with the three R's ere dispatched summarily to repose in the dungeons of neglect of fake household remedies are to be detected and exposed by the visiting housekeepers.

Guarded in Death by Dogs.

London.—Passing through a brickfield at Saw Mills, Croyford, a coroner's jury found the body of a drowned aged woman. Two terrier dogs were standing by the body, and before he could go near the constable had to beat off the animals with his truncheon.

FINDS JOHN D.'S GLOVES

Student's First Impulse Was to Keep Them for Souvenir, But Honesty Is Well Rewarded.

Heckenaux, N. J.—James Darling, a young student here, found a pair of gloves belonging to John D. Rockefeller.

The first impulse was to keep them as a souvenir, but his conscience finally triumphed and he sought out the owner of the gloves to their surprise. He did so by parcel post.

To return in him just received the following letter:

"My Dear James—I want to thank you very much for returning the gloves which you found after they had been run over by the machine.

"Your decision to return them is typical of the honesty of the average American boy.

"I trust that you will always be able to make right decisions where matters of honesty are concerned.

"Thanking you, I am, young man. Sincerely yours,

"JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER."

During figures that he has been more than unappreciated, but he is convinced that the letter is much more valuable as a souvenir than the gloves could possibly have been.

MOTHER KILLS SICK CHILD

After Tending Invalid Daughter for Thirteen Years Landen Woman Strangles Offspring.

London.—A mother's agonizing ordeal in tending an invalid daughter for thirteen years was revealed at the Clerkenwell police court.

Lapsing pale and weak, the mother, Mrs. Edith Wood, aged forty-five, wife of an electrogilder, appeared in the dock on the charge of murdering her daughter, Ethel Harriet, aged thirteen. Evidence was given that Mrs. Wood, when told that she would be charged with murder, said:

"Yes, I know. I don't know what made me do it. She had a fit and was so bad I took a cord and tied it around her neck to put her out of her misery. I have been much worried about her lately."

When asked in court if she had anything to say, the woman shook her head.

At about noon the distraught mother had called in Mrs. Caledonia, a road police station imploring the fupeator on duty to hurry to her home to attend to her daughter, whom, she said, she had strangled. Her daughter, she said, suffered from fits and the continued illness preyed so much upon her mind and caused her many sleepless nights that she had not known lately what she had been doing.

Neighbors who know Mrs. Wood described her as an "ideal mother." She

MILLIONS FOR MISSION WORK

Robert Arthington of England Bequeaths Bulk of Personal Property for Translations of Bible.

New York.—One of the largest bequests ever made for missionary work is disclosed in an appraisal of the estate of Robert Arthington of England, which has been filed with the surrogate's court. Although the value of the entire estate is not given, the personal property alone is appraised at $4,883,000, practically all of which is left to two London missionary societies—the Baptist Missionary society and the London Missionary society.

The will directs that the money be used for "giving to every tribe of mankind that has them not, and which speaks a language differing from all others, accurate and faithful copies of at least the Gospel of St. John and the Gospel of St. Luke, together with the Book of the Acts of the Apostles, printed in the language of that tribe."

COLD WIN IN OLD CABIN

Edibles Found on Table Just as Man Put Them There Before He Died Suddenly 12 Years Ago.

Oliver, Mich.—The discovery that a meal has stood on a table for twelve years without being touched was made by Royce Thorpe of Oliver, while hunting in Brookfield township, about four miles from Oliver.

He was attracted by a deserted old shack which used to shelter Charles Derby and which has been unoccupied since the sudden death of the latter about 1900. Peering into the old hut, Thorpe was surprised to see a table set with two plates, knives, forks, cups and older table ware. Thinking some one had taken possession of the building, and knowing it had been uninhabited for half a score of years, Thorpe pushed open the door and entered.

He found the table set for two. Enamiling a loaf of bread he discovered it to be hard as a rock and somewhat musty, but entirely undisturbed by mice or animals. The sugar in the great bowl in the center of the table was hardened and it, too, was unbreakable. Some cheese had shriveled and hardened. Quite a jar of mustard had dried and thickened in the twelve years.

Derby, who was the last person to live in the shack according to neighbors, always set the table for two.

MEAL FOUND IN OLD CABIN

Edibles Found on Table Just as Man Put Them There Before He Died Suddenly 12 Years Ago.

Oliver, Mich.—The discovery that a meal has stood on a table for twelve years without being touched was made by Royce Thorpe of Oliver, while hunting in Brookfield township, about four miles from Oliver.

He was attracted by a deserted old shack which used to shelter Charles Derby and which has been unoccupied since the sudden death of the latter about 1900. Peering into the old hut, Thorpe was surprised to see a table set with two plates, knives, forks, cups and older table ware. Thinking some one had taken possession of the building, and knowing it had been uninhabited for half a score of years, Thorpe pushed open the door and entered.

He found the table set for two. Enamiling a loaf of bread he discovered it to be hard as a rock and somewhat musty, but entirely undisturbed by mice or animals. The sugar in the great bowl in the center of the table was hardened and it, too, was unbreakable. Some cheese had shriveled and hardened. Quite a jar of mustard had dried and thickened in the twelve years.

Derby, who was the last person to live in the shack according to neighbors, always set the table for two.

WOLVES WIN ALASKAN DERBY

Race of Sixty-Five Miles From Nome to Solomon and Return Results in Close Finish.

Nome, Alaska.—The Solomon Derby for dog teams from Nome to Solomon and return, 65 miles over the snow trail, was won by John Johnson, driving a team of Siberian wolves, in 6 hours, 14½ minutes. Oliver Hitchford, driving a team of Missouri bird hounds, was second and Charles Swanson, driving a mixed team of Malemutes and Mackenzie river huskies, finished third, and Scotty Allen's team was fourth.

Only the four teams started and the gaps between them at the finish was the result of the kind of trail the race condition at the end. The temperature was 30 degrees below zero, and as there was no wind, conditions were ideal for dog team racing.

Johnson led at the turn, which he reached in 2 hours 55 minutes.

The winning dogs formerly were owned by Lord Fox Ramsay. They hold the record for the all-Alaska sweepstakes race.

The will further prescribes that at least one or twelve persons of each tribe be taught how to read.

A gift of $100,000 from John D. Rockefeller to the American Baptist Home Missionary society is announced, conditional as part of a $1,000,000 missionary campaign. Over half of the $1,000,000 was raised last year. Mr. Rockefeller's gift will be secured if by April 1 Baptist churches and individuals have given $850,000 more than they gave up to the same date last year.

That's the Place—

SPILLANES

The Store Of Quality

Groceries, Confectionery, Stationery, Cigars, Pipes and Tobacco, Soft Drinks, Fruits, Coffee and Lunch.

A complete line in each department

The Local Field

Jos. Toupin spent Sunday at Crookston.

Best nuts for sale—Alme Carrier, Grumble.—Adv. If

Dr. E. B. Fairchild spent Sunday with his parents in Grand Forks.

G. W. Eastman of Hazel was attending to business matters in town Friday.

Miss Ida LaCrosse has returned from Crookston where she had been visiting with relatives.

The firemen are making elaborate preparations for their ball to be given on the Monday after Easter.

We have the agency for the Globe-Wernicke Sectional Book Cases. Two different styles on display.—Hunt-Kankel Hardware Co.—Adv.

Frank Smallist will leave Saturday to go to St. Louis to look after the disposal of a shipment of two carloads of potatoes made by Theo. LaBlesonniere.

We invite your inspection of our rug and linoleum department. We believe you will be pleased with the goods and the prices.—Hunt-aKnkel Hardware Co.—Adv.

The Floreheim shoe for the man who owns. We have a complete line at prices that cannot be equaled. A few new styles out. Come in and see them.—J. P. Herren & Son.—Adv.

The ladies uid society of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. Carver Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock for the election of officers and the transaction of other business. All members are requested to attend.

Mrs. L. E. Ericson, who has been quite seriously ill for the past several weeks, was taken to Crookston this week and will remain there for some time for hospital treatment. She was accompanied to Crookston by her daughter, Miss Alice Ericson, and physician, Dr. J. C. Wilkinson.

For sorges of all kinds, to make dresses, waists, or ripping coats, we have them in all weights and colors, 60c to $2.00 per yard. Also a big line of Mesealines in all colors, the right quality at 89c.—LaBlesonniere.—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Schreiter returned Saturday. Mr. Schreiter was in Minneapolis attending the state convention of druggists and Mrs. Schreiter was in Crookston for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. J. J. Pelton.

The inventory of the Sheeran & Michel hardware stock has been completed and the business has been transferred to P. L. Purrington and S. C. Schockley, who are now in possession. They will do business under the firm name of the P. & S. Hardware Co.

The members of the Spartan literary society of the high school will give a program at the high school Friday evening, March 7. There will be a debate and other interesting numbers on the program. All are invited. The admission will be ten cents, as usual for the literary society programs.

For wide embroideries, flouncings, baby embroideries, laces, go to the Big Store. The largest, most complete line in every detail ever shown in town. You will find the prices interesting too, within the reach of everybody. 18 inch embroidery at 10c and up.—Adv.

The pie-supplin doll social to be given by the Christian Endeavor society at the Presbyterian church parlors Friday, Feb. 28th, will be postponed till the following evening, Saturday evening, March 1st. The girls are to bring two clothes-pin dolls dressed alike. The dolls will be auctioned off and lunch partners will be found by "matching" dolls. All are invited.

For dress making see Mrs. Joe Paquin, at Mrs. Gray's, one door north of Hein's machine shop.—Adv. tf20

The Reborcas have issued invitations for a card party to be given at 1. O. O. F. hall Friday evening.

We have a few ladies' suits left—$12.00 to $20.00. You can have your choice for $6.75. The material will cost double that. They can be easily remodeled.—La Blesonlere.—Adv.

We have received our new line of "Whaley" hats. You are offered an opportunity to select from the most exclusive and correct stock of hats. All the new spring shapes and colors. —J. P. Herren & Son.—Adv.

Mrs. S. L. Lewis and children, who have spent the winter in the west, are now at Minneapolis, visiting with the family of H. B. Healy and many former RedLakeFalls people in the Mountain city.

S. C. Shockley of the new hardware firm, purchasers of the Sheeran & Michel stock, has leased the Bourdon cottage in the south part of town and he and his family are now occupying the house.

See those Gordon hats in the Fendall finish, the latest. Easter is coming, so are nice balmy days, why not pick out that new hat today while your size is here?—LaBlesonniere.—Adv.

Carl Krueger was a passenger on the Great Northern train Tuesday, going from Crookston to his home in St. Hilaire. He stated that Mrs. Krueger left St. Vincent hospital Saturday and is now in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Krueger in Crookston. Though her condition was very serious, she is now getting along nicely and will be able to go to St. Hilaire next week.

On March 2 and 3, at Crookston, there will be a formal opening of the new $50,000 St. Joseph academy, and the first date there will be a solemn benediction of the new building and an address by Bishop Corbett of the diocese of Duluth. On March 3 there will be a reception and entertainment by the pupils. The building has a seating capacity of 200 and a stageroom with complete electrical equipment. The seating capacity for about three hundred.

Fairly good cheese 15c, cooking apples $1.50 box, candles 10c, seeds 10c, mixed nuts 15c, potato chips 10c, home ground buckwheat, pure be honey 10c. Grange sale, 100 dozen at 20c, cheaper than apples, broken crackers 5c.—The Big Store.—Adv.

C. O. Kankel and W. H. Fisher were initiated into the mysteries of the I. O. O. F. Lake at a special meeting last Friday evening. At the close of the meeting there was a social season. Friday night's meeting marked the thirty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the local lodge. Of the charter members Eli Lesko is the only one now residing here. The members of the lodge have prepared a little surprise for him in the form of a badge of the order, properly engraved. The gift was presented by Frank Jeffers who made some remarks appropriate to the anniversary occasion. This was followed by a little "feed" and a few games of cards.

The new Palmer spring coat will be here in a few days. Wait for the best made.—LaBlesonniere.—Adv.

TERREBONNE

Remlo O'Clair and Joe Laundry spent Sunday evening with the Remlos.

The Misses Dolin and Lea Pigeon accompanied by Mr. Schuneer spent a pleasant evening at the Berry home one evening of last week.

C. T. Kemetick, J. B. Slydam and Joe St. Marie were among those who witnessed the wrestling match at Thief River Tuesday evening, going from Plummer.

Rose Jolly is home again after a few weeks visit with friends in Gentilly and a little visit before leaving for White Swan, Washington, where she will visit with friends.

T. F. Connor, one of those who represented Poplar River in the Crookston shortcourse contest, we note, has been awarded the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd prizes in potatoes.

Lea Beaudin left the latter part of the week for Crookston, going by way of Red Lake Falls, to remain until Easter when she will return to fit and arrange the wedding trousseau of three or four to-be brides here and at Brooks.

Several of the farmers here are pencil farming now days, laying out the crop rotation plans, cleaning up the seed grain, some sowing it through three and four times. Many are going for clover and a few wishing for peas, but oats will be the main crop.

A jolly crowd spent last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Desautel.

A jolly crowd spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Beaudry.

Miss Eva Marcouette is now visiting in town.

Nels Lyngaas was in town last week on business.

The jolliest crowd of young people spent Thursday evening pulling taffy at the home of Florian Tugas and a good time is reported.

Wilfred Desautel was on the sick list last Wednesday but is getting better now.

Mr. Peterson is now moving on the farm near Brooks.

Miss Angeline Tugas is visiting at the home of her brother-in-law, Leonet Gauthier.

Wilfred Beaudry and Florian Tugas are still busy hauling flax straw around Brooks.

Louie Gerard went to mass at Terrebonne last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Robidoux went to Erskine last Tuesday on business.

Mr. Barber of Brooks is enjoying himself with the young people of Brooks.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	.76
Durum	.76
Rye	.43
Oats	.32
Flax	1.16
Barley	.30
Potatoes	.35
Butter—creamery	.28
Butter—dairy	.26
Eggs—fresh	.20

BROOKS

Napoleon Cyr was in Terrebonne Sunday.

Paul Lussier is back from the woods.

There was a surprisee comly pull at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Robidoux Sunday evening. All reported a good time.

Paul Cyr called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Beaudry Thursday evening.

Charley Deymonas and Charley Barrow called at the home of Louis Perreteau Sunday.

H. L. Premo went to Thief River Falls Monday.

Smallpox is getting spread all around Brooks.

Miss Anna Charest, who was on the sick list last week, is now on the road to recovery.

Miss Anna Pullman went to Erskine last Saturday.

A jolly crowd spent last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Desautel.

A jolly crowd spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Beaudry.

Miss Eva Marcouette is now visiting in town.

Nels Lyngaas was in town last week on business.

The jolliest crowd of young people spent Thursday evening pulling taffy at the home of Florian Tugas and a good time is reported.

Wilfred Desautel was on the sick list last Wednesday but is getting better now.

Mr. Peterson is now moving on the farm near Brooks.

Miss Angeline Tugas is visiting at the home of her brother-in-law, Leonet Gauthier.

Wilfred Beaudry and Florian Tugas are still busy hauling flax straw around Brooks.

Louie Gerard went to mass at Terrebonne last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Robidoux went to Erskine last Tuesday on business.

Mr. Barber of Brooks is enjoying himself with the young people of Brooks.

5% INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS

Our Responsibility to You

We have previously explained the safeguards provided by banking laws, by the bank's capital, surplus and stockholders' liability.

But this bank goes much farther than any law prescribes in the handling of its business and in its assumed responsibility to customers.

For instance, it is a part of our business to be familiar with the signatures of every person writing checks upon this bank. We keep each individual's signature on file for reference in case his check is presented by a stranger or irresponsible person known to us.

All checks paid by us are carefully preserved and returned and our records on past transactions are available any time when required.

We make it a point to see that every depositor and borrower is protected so far as lies in our power.

Merchants State Bank

Capital, Surplus and Deposits $500,000.00

RED LAKE FALLS, . . MINN.

Farm Loans at Low Rates

UNITED STATES DEPOSITORY

COMING

The Peerless Hypnotist and Mind Reader

NEWMANN

THE GREAT

Whose Marvelous Skill Has Made Thousands Laugh and Wonder.

..LOTUS THEATRE..

MONDAY and TUESDAY

MARCH 3 and 4

Prof. Newmann is so well known in this city that any comments on his performances would be superfluous. Prof. Newmann, who is the youngest and most famous mind reader and hypnotist in the world, has long occupied a place at the head of hypnotists, and he has a public of his own. His performances, besides their marvelous scientific value, have, through their clever arrangement, been made to yield amusement to thousands annually. Prof. Newmann has been for seven years before the public, as an exponent of occult mental phenomena, and as an entertainer he stands unrivaled, unequaled and unexcelled. This is Prof. Newmann's second engagement in our city, and the fact that he played to crowded houses during his last engagement, proves that his entertainment is highly meritorious.

Everything will be new throughout and his programs will be changed nightly, assuring all amusement patrons of two evenings of clean and delightful fun of a new kind.

POPULAR PRICES

Lotus Theatre

Monday & Tuesday Nights

March 4 and 5

DR. G. B. FAIRCHILD

DENTIST

Graduate University of Minnesota

Offices over LaBlesonniere's store

Office hours:

9 a. m. to 12 m. 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

STUDEBAKER CARS

THREE ENTIRELY NEW MODELS

STUDEBAKER "25" $940.00

STUDEBAKER "35" $1350.00

STUDEBAKER "SIX" $1615.00

Above cars, fully equipped, F. O. B., Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Specifications Studebaker "25"

Five passenger, four cylinders, long stroke.

3 1-2 inch bore x 5 inch stroke, 102 inch wheel-base.

30x3 1-2 inch Goodrich Tires.

Stewart & Clark Speedometer.

Acetylene Gas Primer.

Studebaker Jiffy Curtains.

Electric Horn.

Prest-O-Lite Tank.

Silk Mohair Top.

Full Elliptic Springs.

Rich Upholstery.

Ample Cushions.

Ventilating Windshield.

Demountable Rims.

Robe Rail, Tire Holders, Full Set of Tools, Tire Repair Kit, Tool Box and Extra Rim.

MORE, WE BELIEVE, THAN $940 HAS EVER BOUGHT BEFORE.

Specifications Studebaker "35"

Six Passenger, Four Cylinders, 4 1-8 inch bore x 5 in. stroke, 116 inch wheel-base.

34x4 inch Goodrich Tires.

Luxurious Upholstery.

Full Floating Rear Axle.

Clear Vision, Ventilating Windshield, Rain Vision Type.

Electric Self-Starter.

Electric Lights.

Electric Horn.

Deep Cushions.

Silk Mohair Top.

Studebaker Jiffy Curtains.

Detachable Demountable Rims.

Stewart & Clark Speedometer.

Extra Rim, Tire Holders, Full Set of Tools, Wide Tool Box.

Specifications Studebaker "Six"

Six cylinders; 3¾ inch bore x 5 inch stroke; 121 inch wheel base. Body and other specifications are the same as on the STUDEBAKER "35."

Electric Self-Cranking—Designed.—This instrument is designed by the well known Wagner Electric Mfg. Co., whose reputation is worldwide. The generator is located on the front right side of the motor and acts on the crank shaft through a silent chain drive; it will spin the motor at 80 R. P. M. for 30 minutes; a storage battery of twelve volts is charged continuously from this generator but because of an entirely new principle, which does not include any cut-off valve, the battery cannot become overcharged. The generator is automatic in action and fool-proof; it is practically independent of the motor, being connected with it only by a silent chain drive. To start the car, the driver simply pulls a handle on the steering column and the starter rotates the motor until the gas is sucked through the carburetor into the cylinders and the motor commences to run in the ordinary manner, when the handle is released the current is automatically switched to the storage battery. We believe that this starter is far and away the most perfect and satisfactory yet devised.

Electric Lights—Latest bullet type, our own design; lens glass on head lights; two head lights, two side lights, tail light and dash light, for which current is derived from the storage batteries; controlled by three separate push buttons on the dash, permitting the use of head lights, side lights or tail light, separately.

We are agents for all of Red Lake and Pennington Counties and Northeastern Polk County.

For Sub-Agency Proposition and further particulars, address

Helm Brothers Auto Co.,

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

MinnesotaHistoricalSociety

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1912
RED LAKE CURRIER—ESTABLISHED 1878.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, MARCH 6, 1913. VOL. XXX—NO. 24

TOWNSHIP ELECTIONS NEXT TUESDAY

VOTE ON GOOD ROADS PROPOSITION IN MANY TOWNSHIPS.

The date of the annual township election is next Tuesday, March 11, and at that timethe people of several townships will have the opportunity to vote for good roads as well as to participate in the election of local officials. In several of the Red Lake county townships the people will have the opportunity of saying whether or not they desire to go to the cash system of paying road taxes. The change will be made in those townships in which a majority of the citizens vote favorably.

In those townships in which the change is made there will be no more "working out" of road taxes. Instead the tax will be paid in cash and road work will be done by contract. The town board will let all contracts and the contractor will work on his own time and will not be paid until his work is completed according to contract. That surely is the businesslike way of doing road work. The result is that all work is systematically planned and there is no wasted labor. Every cent of road money will be spent for effective road work.

In the two Red Lake county townships in which the township, or cash, system has been in effect, the towns of Garnes and Equality, the people would not think of going back to the old system. Though there was some opposition at first they are all enthusiastic over the proposition now. There must be a reason or several reasons.

They find that they are doing more road work and building better roads and at about half of the cost of the tax under the old system. Even the people who desire to work on the roads are satisfied for they here do contract work instead of "working out" taxes. But the real advantage of the system is better roads for less money.

Be a booster for good roads. Vote for a change to the township system next Tuesday.

PEOPLE PAY TAXES.

Less Than Forty People in the County Delinquent.

County Treasurer Kindseth states that very few people in Red Lake county failed to pay their taxes before the time limit, March 1st, when the ten per cent penalty was added. Of the total tax-paying population of Red Lake county less than forty allowed their personal property taxes to become delinquent. There were only two Red Lake Falls property owners and both of these have been out of the city for some time. The record is certainly a gratifying one.

CREAMERY ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting Held Monday—Officers and Directors Elected.

The annual meeting of the Red Lake Falls Creamery association was held in this city Monday, March 3, at which time officers to serve for a year were elected. The new officers are:

President—George G. Orr.
Vice President—Frank Grenier.
Sec'y & Treas.—W. J. Quesnel.

The following were named to serve on the board of Drectors: «George Walker, F. A. Kellogg, Theo. Majerus, I. Bari, N. Delorme.

Notice of Application for Liquor License.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, City of Red Lake Falls, ss.

Notice is Hereby Given, That applications have been made in writing to the City Council of said City of Red Lake Falls, and filed in my office, praying for License to Sell intexicating Liquors for the term ceaumencing on March 25th 1913, and terminating on March 24th 1914, by the following persons, and at the following places, as stated in said applications, respectively, to-wit:

Krueger & Belair, co-partners.

On the floor of that certain frame building situate upon Lot 14 of Block 7, fronting on Main street, in Champagne & Dow's Addition to the City of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the City of Red Lake Falls, at the City Clerk's office, in the City of Red Lake Falls, in Red Lake County, and State of Minnesota on Thursday, the 27th day of March, 1913, at 8 o'clock P. M., of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 6th day of March, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
City Clerk.
City of Red Lake Falls, Minn.
(SEAL.)

Subscribe for the Gazette.

POSSIBLE SPLIT IN ORGANIZATION

RUMORS OF SPLIT IN THE ORGANIZATION OF MINNESOTA HOUSE.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, March 5.—Rumors of trouble in the ranks of the house organization are rife and it is said the differences existing may break out in an open row most any day. The radical element, headed by Frankson of Pine county, Lee of Wright and Wefald of Clay are said to be the belligerent crowd and their grievance to be the fact that Speaker Rines and his followers refuse to fall in with their demands for radical legislation. Mr. Rines, it is understood, has had a hard time keeping this crowd in line, but the break looks as if it was due to come. The defect of county option started the trouble. Lee, its author, was peeved because the vote which put it out of business was not reconsidered, he contending that if such had been done it might have been got back on the books again and the fight repeated. Rines, they say, told him and his crowd that the bill had been given every favorable vote possible and that another fight would only be what the standpat crowd wanted, and that was delay for other needed legislation. Lee was not satisfied and ever since it is said there has been a coldness, with threats of reprisals. Every committee dominated by these members has shoved out on the floor all kinds of bills and general orders in consequence have become glutted. A clash, if it should come, could only have one result and that is a clean, and it is hardly necessary to say that quite a few are praying for the break.

☆ ☆ ☆

If current rumor is to be accepted Speaker Rines has designs on State Auditor Iverson's job two years from now, which is neither here nor there as far as this comment is concerned. The fact is the Kandiyohi county man has made good and possibly it is reciprocable for the engineering he did against on the part of the radicals. Rines might be called the conservative end of the radical element which practically dominates the present house. He has steadily refused to tie himself up to any legislation of the extreme character and in the fight for clean and progressive legislation has

(Continued on Page Four)

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the City Council held at the City Clerk's office, February 13th, 1913.

Meeting called to order by President Crompe.
Members all present.
Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.
On motion carried the following bills were allowed:

Skeeras & Mintel, indse.	$11.86
A. L. Roy, drayage	2.00
Red River Power Co., lighting for January, 1913	72.60
Joseph Salley, services by fire department at W. Phillides, Feby. 10, 1913.	36.00

On motion meeting adjourned.

T. A. CROMPE, President.
Approved this 19th day of February, 1913.
I. LEMIEUX, Major.
Attest: JOSEPH PERRAULT, City Clerk.

SPARTAN PROGRAM.

To be Given at the High School Friday, March 7.

The Spartan literary society will give their last program Friday evening, March 7. The following will appear on the program:

Oration—Hans Alstadt.
Original Story—Myrtle Fellman.
Reading—Eva Miller.
Recitation—Susanna Nelsoa.
Parody—Antoinette Adler.
Newspaper—Clara Hilberg.
Quartette—Henry Lake,Jessen,Verzeh, Phillis Paul, John Hennemuth.
Piano Duet—Phillis Paul, Rosalia Lemieux.
Recitation—Armand Moreau.
Debate: Athenian—Ben Johnson, Lenora Grocean. Spartan—Rosalia Lemieux, Phillis Paul.

The debates are especially interesting, and are well worth hearing. Everybody is invited. Admission will be 10c.

BROKE QUARANTINE AND PAID FINES

BROOKS PEOPLE IGNORED QUARANTINE—ARRESTED BY STATE OFFICIALS.

A smallpox contagion at Brooks has been causing the people of the town considerable annoyance during the past few days. It would only be a breakfast to the quarantine rules for the patients but for other people also, who felt that quarantine regulations were being violated. It is said that little or no attention was paid to the instructions of the physician that precautions must be taken to prevent the spread of the disease and finally the state board of health sent officials to investigate. At their instance warrants were issued for the arrest of a half dozen of the patients, or former patients. All plead guilty to the charges brought against them and each paid a small fine and costs, amounting in each case of about eight dollars.

It is probable that quarantine regulations will be complied with more carefully and it is also probable that stiffer fines will be imposed if there are more arrests, since the state board of health has taken a hand in the situation.

FELL FROM LOAD.

William Bedard, Employed in Woods, Suffered Serious Injury.

William Bedard was brought to his home in this city this week suffering from a serious injury sustained while employed in the woods near Bigfalls. He fell from a load of logs in such a manner as to break the thigh bone. The break is a rather serious one,being just below the hip joint.

Bids Wanted.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received until April 1, 1913, for the construction of a public highway in the town of River along the line described as follows:

Beginning at the southwest corner of the SE¼ of Sec. 36-152-42, Red Lake Co., Minn., then running east 80 rods along the Section line, then South 80 rods, thence East 80 rods, then south twenty rods along the Section line between Sections 31 and 32 to the Township line between the Towns of Gervais and River.

Bids should be filed with the town clerk, Olaf Nelson, or mailed to him at St. Hilaire. Right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Dated Thursday, March 6, 1913.
OLAF NELSON,
m20 Town Clerk.

Finnigan Has Rival.

Finnigan, whose train was "off again, on again," has a rival in Donobbe, B. & O. S. W. freight conductor, whose train suffered a breakdown recently," said the old-time operator yesterday, "at which time he sent the following dispatch to the superintendent:

"Twenty-two has a busted flue. What will I do? Donobue."

"This awakened the slumbering muse in the telegraph office and the reply ran:

"Wait Twenty eight will take your freight. I. M. Straight."

And still there are people who think life on the rails is all hard pross. —Exchange.

PARENTS TO MEET AT HIGH SCHOOL

INVITED BY SUPERINTENDENT COOK FOR DISCUSSION OF SCHOOL PROBLEMS.

Supt. E. I. Cook of the city schools has arranged for a meeting in which he hopes to interest all parents of children attending the public schools. The meeting will be held at the high school buildiang next Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

The meeting is called for the purpose of discussing some public school problems. Mr. Cook has some especially good reasons for desiring that all parents attend this meeting and he hopes that every one will exert more than an ordinary effort, if necessary, to be in attendence.

SWAMPER GETS VERDICT.

Crookston Lumber Company Must Pay Injured Man $6300.

St. Paul, Feb. 28.—A verdict for $6300, awarded William Elenbee in the Hennepin County District court against the Crookston Lbr. Co., was upheld by the supreme court today. Elenbeck was a swamper employed by the lumber company in Beltrami county, and sued to recover $25,000 for the loss of his right leg, which was amputated when a tree fell upon him in a lumber camp.

The lumber company appealed to the supreme court with the defense that it was not liable for the acts of the foreman to notify Elenbeck to get out of the way of the falling tree.

The supreme court rules that it becomes an absolute obligation on the part of the employer to see that the foreman in a lumber camp takes every precaution to protect his fellow servants.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

Inaugural Address of President Wilson in This Issue.

The Inaugural address delivered by President Wilson at Washington, D. C., Tuesday, March 4, is published in this issue of the Gazette. It will be found on page seven. It is brief, so may be read without a very great tax on your time and it is worth reading.

PURE SEED.

Red River Valley Farmers Secure Seed from Crookston.

The farmers of the Red River Valley and northwestern Minnesota may secure pure-bred, pedigreed seed wheat, oats and barley from the Northwest Experiment Station at Crookston for starting pure-seed plots on their own farms. Send to the station for information regarding this pure seed work.

Nothing will repay the farmer so well as to use the best seed possible and to improve his seed by selection from a pure-seed plot. In three years' time it will be possible to have your farm sown to improved seed. The Northwest Experiment Station is ready to assist farmers in this part of the state to do this work.—C. G. Selvig, Superintendent, Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	.74
Durum	.76
Rye	.62
Oats	.23
Flax	1.15
Barley	.35
Potatoes	.35
Butter—creamery	.32
Butter—dairy	.30
Eggs—fresh	.26

FARM CLASS BOYS GO TO CROOKSTON

WILL PAY VISIT TO CROOKSTON SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE TOMORROW.

Paul Carpenter of the high school faculty and the members of his classes in agriculture will g., to Crookston this evening for a visit to the school of agriculture and experiment station. They will remain at Crookston until Saturday.

Quite a crowd of the boys are going on the excursion,the short course boys as well as the regular high school boys belag in the party. The visit to the farm school is made on invitation of Supt. C.G.Selvig, whose guests the boys will be. Besides the pleasure of the excursion,the visit to the school will have an educational value, for the boys are to spend tomorrow inspecting the school and "working up" information.

AUTO CLUB ELECTION.

Highbotham is New President of the Hook-Hookers.

At a meeting of the Red Lake Falls Automobile club held Tuesday evening officers to serve for a year were elected as follows:

President—V. M. Highbotham.
Vice President—C. O. Kankel.
Secy.-Treas.—Geo. F. Hennings.

The club begins the new year with the prospect of greatly increasing the membership before the close of the season, for not a few people who do not have cars have the "bug" which means that there will be more cars.

When You Think of Farm Machinery THINK OF US

Call and See

Our Complete Line

Harrows, Plows, Cultivators, Corn Planters, Potato Planters, Wagons, Farm Trucks, Buggies, Breaking Plows, Harrow Carts and Manue Spreaders.

Let us figure with you for anything you need in your farm equipment.

M. SKALA & SON

Red Lake Falls, Minn.
NORTH SIDE

What Do You Buy With Your Money?

If you trade with us there will be no question about your receiving the greatest value for for your dollar. When you invest your money in an article of merchandise you have a right to expect a certain return in service and satisfaction. We believe that we are able to select stocks for our different departments that will give you the most for your money and that service and satisfaction to which you are entitled.

We guarantee every article as represented or your money refunded. A record of 35 Years of Square Dealing is back of this guarantee

FURNITURE DEPARTMENT

We have added the Globe-Wernicke line of Sectional Book Cases *and have in stock two styles—The Standard and The Art Mission. *Standard style, 3-section case in Plain Oak, Antique Finish.—$11.00.

Art Mission Style 4-section Case in Quartered Oak. Fumed Finish, with Drawer in Base and Leaded Glass Top Section.

$25.50

PUMPS and WELL CASING

We have a very large and complete stock of everything in these lines. Our prices on 2 and 3 inch Plugged and Reamed Lap Weld Pipe are very reasonable. Our line of PUMPS and CYLINDERS is the best that money can buy and if there is one thing that you cannot afford to invest in it is a poor pump outfit. Every job we turn out is guaranteed absolutely right. We can save you money and trouble if you will come to us.

Pitcher Spout Cistern Pumps, Force Cistern Pumps, Cast Iron Sinks in four sizes, Sink Brackets, Pump Brackets, Sink Backs

Keen Kutter Quality

Means something. It means that every article bearing the stamp "Keen Kutter" is as fine as it is possible to produce.

Full line of TOOLS and CUTLERY

"The Recollection of Quality Remains Long After the Price is Forgotten."

WE SELL THE Monarch RANGE

Hunt-Kankel Hdwe. Co.

HARDWARE -- -- FURNITURE

WE SELL THE Monarch RANGE

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

C. R. E. BAKER, Publisher.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

Enclosed is in acute need of elastic window glass.

However, as for bobbie skirted women, how can else expect to "win in a walk?"

A Peruvian aviator proposes to fly over the Alps. In a Peruvian bark, probably.

"Hardheadedness" may fit the crime, but it's altogether too hard to pronounce.

A Vienna astronomer says 218,000,000 tons of cosmic dust falls on the earth every day.

A Pennsylvania man has contracted smallpox from a roll of bank notes. But who's afraid?

A professor of music says that there are 10,000,000 melodies. But of these, how many are original?

Man needs a few more soft spots in his heart, says a western preacher. And a few less in his head.

A Chicago thief was kicked senseless by a woman he robbed. She must have been a ballet dancer.

A New Jersey man claims to have invented a seamless coat as the result of a dream. It sounds like one.

A St. Louis newspaperman bought twelve consecutive flops in one year. Perhaps he believed in advertising.

Breakfast, when dinner is late, does not too quick to blame wife or cook. Perhaps it was the postman.

A French scientist says men get bald because they eat too much. Then why is it that a dyspeptic usually is bald?

Paris husband who suspected his wife of infidelity, cut off her nose. To keep her from scoling around, no doubt.

Pittsburg burglar fleeing with plunder escaped by a small boy with a toy pistol. It's the little things that count.

A Texas undertaker has contracted to bury the county paupers at ⅞ cent each. Doing the work at paupers' prices.

Inventing a "cure" for tuberculosis seems to be a leap easier than curing cholera other specialists you have gone it.

A naturalist says that lobsters are becoming extinct. But, then, of course, naturalists do not hang out along breakwater.

Chicago violinist attacked a burglar, rendered him unconscious, and turned him over to the police. Wonder what he played?

Moving picture theaters are proving immensely popular in Mexico. Probably those western and Mexican films manufactured on Long Island are shown to the surprise of the natives.

The Chinese have adopted our calendar. It would not be at all surprising to the oriental rush be occasional reforms to bear of the Celestials falling eager victims to the trading-stamp habit.

Le Duc de Mala-Merle, who is also Le Comte Curli di Mombercali, was hauled by federal operatives because of a swollen face. After he had disguised his names he was allowed to enter the country.

A $5,000 prize offered in England for the best mine lamp has been divided between nine inventors. Sounds like a joke.

A Mississippi man has named all his daughters after flowers. Be all right if they don't fade before they are married.

A Pittsburgh criminal got out of prison with no other old than a button hook. A woman could have done it with a hairpin.

A San Francisco doctor replaced a dog's knee joint with a silver, diamond studded hinge. Now watch the dog catchers get busy.

"Mme. Bernhardt is an artist," remarks one critic, "and one play say rob except Fatitah." It would be mighty interesting to see her doing little Eva, wouldn't it?

Automobiles killed 142 persons in New York during 1917, while wagons killed 172 people. Which only goes to show that New Yorkers are more expert dodging automobiles.

Danish professor says that tears are antiseptic and destroy microbes. An answer to: "Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean."

Kansas State college has a course to teach 1,000 girl students how to be good wives. Positions are not guaranteed graduates, however.

Gentlemen and ladies who acquire chilblains through exclusive devotion to semi-transparent silk hose have themselves to thank for subsequent discomforts.

An applicant for citizenship said he could not support both his wife and the Constitution. On the gallantry test he was denied his papers.

A Philadelphia woman has discovered that she has no trouble with insomnia while sleeping in a coffin. Most people would prefer innomnia.

New York diner thrashed a waiter after an altercation regarding the salad dressing. An instance where both disliked the dressing that was handed them.

EX-PRES. MADERO AND JOSE SUAREZ ARE ASSASSINATED

MYSTERY SURROUNDS SHOOTING OF FORMER HEADS OF MEXICAN REPUBLIC AT MIDNIGHT.

HURETA SAYS ATTEMPT WAS MADE TO ESCAPE

Official Inquiry Ordered and Guilty Persons Will Be Punished—Diplomats Are Shocked by Fearful Tragedy.

Mexico City, Feb. 23.—Francisco I. Madero and Jose Pino Suarez are dead. In a midnight ride under guard from the national palace to the penitentiary they were killed.

Accounts Do Not Conform.

The circumstances surrounding the death of the deposed president and vice president of the republic are unknown except as given in official accounts which do not conform in all cases. The only witnesses were those actually concerned in the killing.

The provisional president, General Victoriano Huerta, says the prisoners of the two men was incidental to a fight between their guard and a party attempting to liberate them. The minister of foreign relations, Francisco de la Barra, adds that the prisoners attempted to escape. Neither makes a definite statement as to which side fired the fatal shots. It is not impossible that neither knows.

An official investigation has been ordered to determine the responsibility, and solemn promises have been made that the guilty will be punished.

Huerta's Statement.

Not unnaturally a great part of the public regards the official versions with doubt, having in mind the use for centuries of the notorious "Ley fuga," the assertion law which is invoked when the death of a prisoner is desired. After its adoption there is written on the records, "Prisoner shot trying to escape."

Senora Madero, widow of the ex-president, received the first definite announcement of his death from the Spanish minister, Senor Cologany Cologan. She already had heard reports that something serious had happened, but friends had endeavored up to that time to prevent her from learning the truth.

Soon afterward, accompanied by her brother, Jose Perez, and Mercedes Madero, a sister of Francisco, Senora Madero drove to the penitentiary, but was refused permission to see the bodies, which were in charge of Senora Madero also was denied admittance to the mortuary with physicians who, in accordance with the law, were performing an autopsy.

Shocks Accustomed Diplomats.

In contrast to the widow, whose grief was of pitiable silent character, especially in view of Mexican belief in a beautiful young woman, educated in Paris, who has been a brilliant leader of society since the revolution of 1910, was the open and spiritual burst of sorrow from the diplomats. By the side of the two women whose husbands had been killed the gaily decorated representatives of the nations who barred the entrance.

Wilson Telegrams Washington.

Washington.—Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson telegraphed to the state department last night that Francisco de la Barra, minister for foreign affairs, had informed all foreign diplomats in Mexico City to take lunch with him.

The ambassador stated that none of the diplomats would attend the luncheon unless the family of the late former President Madero and former Vice President Suarez is cleared of mystery.

Indicates Gravity of Situation.

This decision on the part of the diplomatic corps in the Mexican capital indicates the gravity of the situation which will confront the Huerta government should it fail to clear the mystery in which the killing of Madero and Suarez still is enveloped.

Creates Painful Impression.

The killing of the deposed president and vice president of Mexico, Madero, Provisional President General Huerta had assured American Ambassador Wilson, creates a painful impression in official and diplomatic circles here.

When the first feeling of surprise had passed it was realized by officials that this last tragic event had added greatly to the gravity of the situation and undoubtedly had placed an additional strain upon the already tense relations between this government and that in the Mexican capital.

No Change of Policy.

Still, no President Taft himself declared, the event in itself was not sufficient to cause any departure from the policy of strict non-intervention which on the for has governed his administration.

Probably the immediate result will be to hasten the military end naval preparations in order to have the soldiers and sailors and marines ready to answer a call for instant embarkation for further developments in Mexico should demand their employment.

The one danger to be apprehended, which almost certainly would result in the appearance of an army of invasion, would be the commission of acts of excess in Mexico that would endanger the lives of foreign citizens and Americans, for, having assured the diplomatic representatives in Washington of the disposition and ability of this government to protect their nationals in Mexico in the same degree as the Americans, the government has assumed an obligation that cannot be ignored.

Huerta's Statement.

Mexico City.—The following official statement of President Huerta was issued at the palace:

"I called together the cabinet to report that Madero and Pino Suarez, who were detained at the palace at the disposition of the war department, were taken to the penitentiary in accordance with a previous decision, as the result of which that establishment was placed under the charge of an army officer for its better security.

"When the automobiles had traversed about two-thirds of the way to the penitentiary, however, they were attacked by an armed group, and the escort descended from the machines to offer resistance. Suddenly the prisoners were killed and the police and escort tried to escape.

Prisoners Were Shot.

"An exchange of shots then took place in which two of the attacking party were killed and two were wounded. Both prisoners were killed. Their responsibilities were badly damaged.

"The president and his cabinet have resolved that the affairs shall be consigned to the military judicial authorities, as they may make a strict investigation with the direct intervention of the military prosecutor general."

De La Barra Explains.

Francisco De La Barra, the foreign minister, sent an official statement to the foreign diplomatic representatives to which he said:

"The department of foreign relations desires to make known, as already announced in the embassies of the United States, the British minister and other members of the diplomatic corps on various occasions, that the government decided at a council of ministers that all acts relating to Madero and Pino Suarez should be addressed directly according to the law as was due, and that in consequence the execution proceed. If such had taken place, would not have departed one iota from the legal measures applicable to the case.

Sought Safety for Prisoners.

"That after making this decision, the government agreed to remove Madero and Suarez to the penitentiary, where they would have the necessary security, consideration and comforts.

"That the minister of foreign relations so informed Ambassador Wilson, saying that the Mexican government would proceed always in accord with the law and that the removal of the prisoners from the ex-vice president to the penitentiary would be for the reason indicated.

"I desire to give all the facts of which I am cognizant connected with the affair, which is deeply deplored both for sentiments of humanity and because of the present of the affair, which has surprised the government and the importance of which is not underestimated by the government.

FOR BUDGET SYSTEM

IN SPECIAL MESSAGE PRESIDENT SETS FC TH ADVANTAGES. OF PROCURING.

IS BASED ON COMMON SENSE

Bureau of Central Administrative Control and Congressional Budget Committees Recommended by the Chief Executive.

Washington, Feb. 26. — President Taft today submitted to the house and senate a message which included a concise statement of financial conditions and needs, and urged the adoption of a budget system.

Based on Common Experience.

"The first step ours is the only great nation whose government is doing business without a budget," said the president. "It is the most flagrant reason for departure from 123 years of precedent. The budget system is based on common experience and common sense. It is supported by the best judgment and experience that has obtained in the management of corporate bodies, both public and private. While officers of private corporations are not ordinarily limited by law in such manner as to make it necessary for them to act under formal appropriations, it is the ordinary method of transacting business to have the president or corresponding officer in the hands he accords at his annual meeting a report which is made under oath to all persons who may be interested; it is common experience for the president to submit estimates ahead of the executive branch, to set forth what has been done during the past year and what it is proposed that the corporation shall do during the next year, and to obtain approval once for the president as the head of the administration to accompany his estimates with statements of the common experience for the president as the head of the administration to accompany his estimates with statements of the common experience for the president as the head of the administration to accompany his estimates with recommendations as to how proposed expenditures shall be financed."

Advantages to Congress.

The message continues, in part:

"The advantages to the executive of getting before it a definite concrete statement and proposal, one which is submitted in the responsible name of the administration, must also be apparent. Such a statement will greatly facilitate the adoption of a procedure by the deliberating branch of the government whereby the gross amounts to be appropriated may be determined in advance of details as to how each amount will be allowed for each detail of the government's business, rather than to leave the retention of income and outlay to be competent and wasteful action taken on the many matters which are brought before the congress for determination.

"Notwithstanding the breadth and scope of the duties of the executive which is transacted by the government, legislative and executive officers have manifested a disposition without having before them the essential facts. They say how it has been without adequate information but, as a result, this great institution with its multiplicity activities and with expenditures that within the last 123 years have increased more than from three millions to more than one thousand million dollars in the year, has to be said to be without a plan or program."

In conclusion, Mr. Taft says:

"First in the list of proposed changes which I shall suggest for legislation should be enacted in order to enable the executive properly to separate the public business with greater economy and efficiency is a recommendation for the establishment of a bureau of central administrative control, which the executive by law would be responsible to the president and to congress. The purpose of this proposal is to consolidate the six auditors' offices as well as the office of the comptroller of the treasury and the other central accounting offices of the government into one executive bureau.

"While it is with much hesitation that I suggest a change in committee organization in congress, it seems to me to be highly desirable to secure more promptness and action than frequently suggested by members on the floor, whereby there will effect the simplicity of action now followed in house through the committee recommendations of the committees having to do with revenues and appropriations. I shall speak when they take the form of a definite bill."

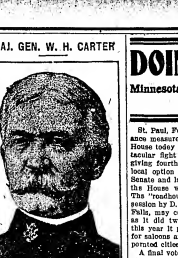
Ethel Roosevelt June Bride.

New York, Feb. 25.—Following six weeks of gayety, in spite of the fact that Miss Ethel Carow, an ostracism, Miss Ethel Roosevelt, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, and Dr. Richard Derby will be married in the later part of the month at the home of Roosevelt's parents, Sagamore Hill, Oyster Bay. The exact date has not been fixed. The six weeks before the wedding will be the gayest, liveliest ever known, even by the Long Island "hunting set."

"Labor Trust" Is Alleged.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Charges that "labor trust" was attacked by the federal government in a civil suit filed here against local union No. 9 and 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, engaged in a strike against the Postal Telegraph company, were made as part of the labor war against the telegraph company the government charges officers and employes of the unions with conniving and conspiring, through acts of violence and depredations, to injure the Postal Telegraph.

MAJ. GEN. W. H. CARTER



Major General William H. Carter, the department and divisional commander at Chicago, will be placed in command of the United States troops now being mobilized at Galveston, Texas. He will command the army in new encuste. Several companies have already arrived at the border city.

DIVISION IS SENT TO BORDER

MORE TROOPS ORDERED TO GALVESTON FOR POSSIBLE MEXICAN INVASION.

Divisional Commander to Take Charge —Feeling of Anxiety at Washington Continues.

Washington, Feb. 25.—More orders for moving troops to Galveston, with the purpose of concentrating a full army division there, accompanied by with the policy of preparedness outlined by President Taft, have been issued by the war department.

Maj.Gen. William H. Carter, the department and divisional commander at Chicago, will be placed in command.

In addition to the Fourth brigade of the Second division, consisting of the Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-seventh infantry, now in the middle West, orders were issued today for the preparation for entrainment of the entire Sixth brigade, comprising the Eleventh infantry, Col. Arthur Williams, at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming; the Eighteenth infantry, Col. Thomas F. David, at Fort McKinley, Wyoming and Fort Bliss, Texas; the Twenty-second infantry, Col. Daniel A. Frederick, at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Troops Already Ordered.

The Fourth brigade, now on the Sea ond battalion of engineers, and Signal corps. Company O, comprising part of the Sixth brigade, already have been ordered to Galveston.

Feeling of anxiety over the situation in Mexico continued throughout official circles in early part of today, but there were no additional dispatches made public to throw further light on the conditions existing.

EXTRA SESSION APRIL 1ST

President-Elect Wilson Announces Date for Reconvening of Congress.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 25.—President-elect Wilson announces that the extra session of congress will be convened on Tuesday, April 1. In reply to a question, President-elect Wilson said:

"I will make no announcement of the subject I will recommend for consideration by the extra session until after I get to Washington—in fact, I don't know my message."

It is assumed that tariff revision will be the chief matter considered, though that currency reform will be suggested by the present enactment of the law is doubted he feels it necessary that the currency be reformed as soon as possible.

Governor Wilson said he had waited before setting the date for the extra session until he learned the "state of the legislatures and congress. He said he understood a caucus of house democrats to select a speaker and name committees would be held March 5.

Mrs. Wilson Shocks Modistes.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson has angered Chicago modistes and startled Chicago society. The woman who is to be "the first lady in land" says she will spend $1,000 on her wardrobe, and not another cent. Her modistes say "Outrageous." Society women, imagining themselves in her place, estimate the lowest possible expenditure at $5,000. Fashionable dressmakers maintain that $7,328 is a bedrock estimate.

Aid for Explorer's Relatives.

London, Feb. 24.—The lord mayor of London announces that Premier Asquith informed him that the government would petition parliament that a grant from the British treasury be appropriated for the dependents of the late Captain Scott and his four companions, who died in the antarctic regions. The amount, the premier said would be sufficient to secure to the dependents pecuniary position they would have held had the disaster to the explorers not occurred.

Anti-Trust Legislation Urged.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Anti-trust legislation of a radical character is to be recommended by the senate committee on interstate commerce in a report early next week. Amendments to the present laws will be urged, to bring them from the supreme court the "discretionary power" it now exercises in administering the Sherman law, and to define clearly certain forms of illegal combination, so business interests will know when they are violating the law.

DOINGS OF THE SOLONS

Minnesota Legislative Affairs of the Past Week—Law Makers Hard at Work.

St. Paul, Feb. 25.—The two temperance measures which came up in the House today may start the most spectacular fight of the week. The bill giving fourth-class cities the right of local option has already passed the Senate and is expected to go through the House without much opposition. The "roadhouse" bill, introduced this session by D. P. O'Neill of Thief River Falls, may cause as much of a fight as it did two years ago. As drawn this year it prohibits issuing licenses for saloons anywhere outside of incorporated cities or villages.

A final vote is expected in the Senate this week on the primary election bill, providing nonpartisan nomination of county officers, changing the primary date to June and giving the Progressive party recognition. The bill has been debated at several sittings of the Senate and most of the contested points have been settled by votes on amendments.

Two Days Vacation.

Both houses of the Legislature resumed work yesterday afternoon after taking a rest over Washington's birthday and Sunday, each with the prospect of a busy week before it. Committees have been at work during the three or four weeks, so that each house has a long list of important bills before it which may be reached in all in the regular order.

Special Orders This Week.

Several special orders are set for this week, including:

11 A. M. today—House—Bill for classification of property for taxation.

2:30 P. M. today—House—"Roadhouse" bill and bill giving cities of the fourth class local option.

2 P. M.—Wednesday—House—R. C. Dunn's good roads bill.

10:30 A. M. Thursday—Senate—General primary election bill.

Reapportionment Up to Senate.

The reapportionment bill passed by the House last week will be taken up by the Senate reapportionment committee early this week. Attempts will be made to reduce the number of senatorial districts from nine to the present eight.

The resolution for a joint committee to probe campaign expenses of the last three elections, introduced in the house by Ole Sageng of Dalton and passed in the Senate, is before the Senate general legislative committee.

Daily Printing Stopped.

Clashing bids in the house on the interest of economy the House committee on legislative expense has directed the discontinuance of the daily printed general orders and calendar, and as a result suit is threatened by the firm which has the contract for legislative printing. In addition members who live in hills which, under the rules, should go on general orders as they are reported are complaining.

The printed general orders and calendars are considered a big item for the printer who has the contract, and for this reason an exceedingly low price is declared for other legislative printing. The committee's idea is that money can be saved by waiting until there is an accumulation of general orders and then having the lot printed instead of daily.

The House Probe.

The house committee investigating the grain business resumed work at 10 a. m., and witnesses appeared to exploit the milling and baking tests of wheat conducted by the Washburn-Crosby Milling company. F. M. Crosby was expected to testify. F. J. Benson and S. J. Nuccall, grain commission men, testified Saturday that they had not received any of the velvet chaff wheat except as forced by the attitude of the millers, who did not put so much for it, and A. F. Telgan, a member of the committee, is trying to find out why the millers consider the wheat inferior.

St. Paul, Feb. 22.—The non-partisan feature of the primary election law was upheld in the Senate late yesterday afternoon by a vote of 34 to 28, following a heated debate.

The vote was on an amendment offered by Senator Beaupre, of Cloquet, to the Senate elections committee bill which was under discussion. The amendment removes county officers from the non-partisan features of the bill.

The bill provides non-partisan nomination of county officers, giving recognition to the Progressive party, and changing the date of the primary to the third Tuesday in June. The debate threatened to last until late in the afternoon. Senator F. A. Delaney, of Caledonia, having started a filibuster on the bill with an amendment striking out the non-partisan feature as applied to county officers.

Educational Measure.

An educational commission to make a study of school conditions in Minnesota and prepare a plan for a complete reorganization, is to be reported to the 1915 Legislature, is planned in a bill drawn by the department of public instruction and introduced in both houses. The bill was introduced at the request.

Provides for Commission of Seven.

The bill provides for a commission of seven members, the superintendent of public instruction to be one, and the others to be named by the Governor. The senate committee suggested adding the number to five but, with the Superintendent Schulz, Mr. Schulz said today that the purpose of having a commission of seven was to have all interests represented.

To Improve Rural Schools.

"The general purpose is to co-ordinate the work of the different schools and especially to improve conditions in the rural schools," Mr. Schulz says, "We have a different rate of taxation for school purposes in each district. In the cities we pay more taxes and get better schools. In some districts there are small taxes, and the schools are governed by small men. We are all in several different ways, we provide for agricultural training under two different heads, we train teachers through our high schools, our normal schools, at the university, and the state agricultural schools. We need larger schools in the country, and the general purpose of the commission is to get all these different branches of our school system working together, and to provide efficiency and economy."

No Repeal of Elwell Law.

Opposition to the R. C. Dunn good roads bill, if indications today of the house took a recess, will be based on the possibility of a future repeal of the Elwell law. Representative Dunn, however, resented the idea in the house order, and continued his explanation after the recess, declared the bill will not conflict with or repeal any section of the Elwell act.

St. Paul, Feb. 21.—The lower house of the legislature yesterday passed the Warner reapportionment bill by a vote of 84 to 33.

The action came after a bitter fight between southern Minnesota members and representatives from the Twin Cities and northern Minnesota, caused by an amendment offered by H. H. Peterson, of Fairmont, proposed to limit the representation of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth to what they were allowed by the reapportionment of 1897, notwithstanding the large increase in the population in each city. The move of Mr. Dunn came unexpectedly and it was the fear of friends of the reapportionment bill feared that it might prove successful. After two hours of argument the Dunn amendment lost by a vote of 72 to 45 however.

Forest Fire Protection Asked.

Northern Minnesota will guard the roads and fire breaks necessary to protect it from a repetition of the fires of last autumn, if the action of the senate forestry committee of the house is a criterion of the sentiment of the legislature. The bill providing for the sum of one cent per acre per acre of the state lands in the north be appropriated for these purposes received unanimous endorsement of the senate forestry committee.

To Strengthen Tree Bounty.

Since 1877 Minnesota has paid to those who have planted groves of the state $537,594.63 for the encouragement of tree planting. All that was asked was that those claiming the bounty should plant not less than 10 acres of trees, for which they would receive $2.50 an acre. The bounty was available after six years of tree growth.

Ever since the old-time road and bridge fund, now called the "poor barrel," was knocked out by the supreme court in 1911, the state's road expenditure was also illegal has become general throughout the state. Action on this bill by Representative Fuchs of St. Paul, correcting the system were placed on the calendar in the house yesterday. One bill is for a constitutional amendment, which requires a two hundred days' work, the other corrects the present law to the extent that counties may levy taxes for counties whether they are prairie or otherwise.

House Distance Tariff.

The house distance tariff bill was recommended for passage yesterday by the committee on transportation. The vote was 11 to 8. John Lennon raised the point that it would take a unanimous vote of committee to make such a recommendation. Mr. Dunn then withdrew his motion and said that he would make it on the floor of the house. A test vote will then be allowed on which those opposed to it will demand that it take the regular place on general orders.

Two of Auto Party Killed.

St. Louis, Feb. 25.—George M. Trumbo and Miss Hazel Flinn and two of the four members of an auto party were seriously injured when the machine overturned on a country road in St. Louis county. Trumbo, who was driving, was responsible for the accident. He slipped both hands to the left side of the steering wheel. The car veered into a ditch and turned over. All occupants were placed under the tonneau.

Thaw Bride Hearing On.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Several witnesses appeared before Governor Sulzer's committee of inquiry when the investigation was resumed into charges that William F. Clark, secretary of the committee, used the governor's name in seeking the release of Harry K. Thaw from the Matteawan state hospital. They included Mrs. John W. Russell, superintendent of the Matteawan, who says he was offered $25,000 to aid in bringing about Thaw's release.

Trio Ties N. Y. Clerk; Takes $300.

New York, Feb. 25.—In broad daylight three men entered the branch store of a big retail coal corporation on a busy corner in the theatrical district, overcame the loss clerk with a revolver, bound and gagged him and rifled the safe of its contents, about $300. They fled, undisturbed. Alexander Jacobson, the clerk, though tied hand and foot, rolled to the door and attracted the attention of pedestrians by kicking in the glass with his manacled hands.

Must Have Majority for Convention.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Until a majority of the members of the Republican national committee express a desire for a national convention of the party to revise rules and change the basis of the southern representation, Chairman Charles D. Hilles will not favor a call for a meeting of the committee to consider the subject. This is understood to be the attitude of the national chairman, as expressed to Republican leaders who have been discussing the projected convention.

Marching Suffragettes in Maryland.

Elkton, Md., Feb. 22.—"General" Rosalie Jones and her band of suffragists arrived here after an 18-mile walk from Wilmington, Del. When the marchers reached the Maryland-Delaware line, three miles beyond, they knelt on the line and "General" Jones grasped a handful of Maryland soil and a handful of Maryland soil we bless thee in the name of equal suffrage. Forward, march!" she roared, and our cause proper within your borders."

Fifty Strikers Released.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 22.—Fully fifty persons taken by the military in connection with disorders in the Paint Creek coal region have been released, leaving about seventy in the temporary prison at Paint Creek Junction. Patrols traversed the mountains during last night without reports of incidents, but when reports were made to headquarters no further outrages were reported. All but the mine fields where operations were resumed were under heavy guard.

One Redeeming Trait.

Trotter—During my travels in Italy I was twice bound and gagged by bandits.

Miss Homer—How romantic! Were they anything like the bandits in the pantomime?

Trotter—No, indeed. The gags they used were all new.—Stray Stories.

Culture.

Gabe—What is culture?

Steve—Culture is when you speak of the honey beautiful when you mean the beautiful honey.

Cause Enough.

"Woman, what ever did Damon and Pythias ever do?"

"Lemme see. I think they loaded a ticket about 1836."

"And who ran against 'em?"

"Lemme see. Wasn't it Castor and Pollux?"

Can't Do Much.

Dasher likes to be considered a "live wire."

"So he does, but Dasher as a "live wire" is effectively insulated by a lack of fuse."

BOYISH BOASTINGS

Now they were fulfilled almost Literally

by Earl Marble

VIEW IN VENICE, PAINTED FOR ALVAN ADAMS

GEORGE LORING BROWN

THE recent exhibition at the Art Institute in Chicago of the portraits of the late George Peter Alexander Healy, who, although a native of Boston, afterward became a resident of Chicago, and really quite too unconnoisseurly, in spite of his birth and his subsequent residence abroad for so many years, created more than a ripple in the art world, and showed again what a strong and representative man of his era he was. It may be said truthfully of him that he was a most conspicuous figure in the latter part of the second era of the art of portraiture in America, as Gilbert Stuart was of the first one.

Aside from the strong merits of the portraits seen at the Art Institute, their exhibition recalls to the writer a story told him many years ago by a boyish boon companion of Mr. Healy, the late George Loring Brown, so famous for his studies of atmosphere and poetical distance in landscape and still another as seen under the skies of sunny Italy. Mr. Healy, at the time of which I speak, was about twenty years of age, and Mr. Brown a year younger. Mr. Healy had been studying art in a somewhat desultory manner—about the only way in which art could be studied in the New England city at that early day, and was making preparations to go abroad to enter upon his studies in an earnest way. He had attracted the attention of Mrs. Harrison Gray Otis the year before, that lady then being the queen of society in Boston. He had gone to her with a letter of introduction, who also asked the shy boy what she could do for him, and his reply was, "Oh, if you please, Madame! I so want to paint a beautiful woman!" She did so, and the portrait made quite a local reputation for the boy, upon which he made arrangements to go abroad.

Mr. Brown, the constant companion of Mr. Healy, was born in Boston, February 3, 1814, and began to draw when eight years old. His father used to encourage the boy to make caricatures of people whom he did not like, and got the boy into many a scrape. If he drew the caricature, as he told one once, he had trouble with the people thus travestied, and, if he did not, his father, who was it very uncomfortable for him, sending him out on the Rock Bay in winter to cut holes in the ice, and fish for eels and other inhabitants of mud and water, among other things. But the boy survived it all, and finally went to the Franklin school, where he won the silver medal, and at twelve years of age was appointed to the famous engraver, Peter Parley, where, he learned the art of drawing thoroughly, which stood him in rich stead in his later career.

While with Parley, who, it may be remembered, was the wood engraver who illustrated so many of the school books of a century ago, the boy experimented with colors, and when but at work at his engraving was experimenting constantly with colors, with the result that he attracted the attention of Isaac Rich, a wealthy merchant of that day, who one day asked him hesitatingly how much he wanted to go to Europe.

"One hundred dollars!" he replied enthusiastically, displaying a wonderful ignorance of the world.

But Mr. Rich advanced him the hundred dollars, and the boy began making preparations to go.

It was about this time that the two boys began to see the world opening its doors to them, and in honor of this event, young Brown invested a dollar or two in beer and something eatable "on the side"—the beer portion of the menu being considered as something themselves great already, and boasted of what they would do.

"I will paint pictures of Dallas scenery," declared Brown, "and have my pictures in all the castles of Europe."

"And I," said Healy, "will paint the kings and other notables of Europe, and have them in the castles side by side with yours."

I did not know Mr. Healy personally, but was acquainted intimately with Mr. Brown for many years, and have heard him many times tell how he finally got away to Europe. He went down on the wharves, and inquired around until he found a vessel that was ready to sail for Europe. He did not stop to ask what port of Europe, thinking that once the other side of the water he would find everything easy. A married sister gave him a mattress, and he marched down State street to Long Wharf with the mattress on his back, having taken steerage passage. He found, after the boat set sail, that her destination was Antwerp, almost as far from Italy as Boston itself. After he landed there he had twenty-five dollars left, but he had made a friend of the captain of the vessel, who lost him fifteen more, and with this amount he managed to get to London, where he was befriended by Mr. Chenay, the American engraver, and began at once the studies of Italian landscape, living almost on the verge of starvation for nearly a year, at the end of which time he sent a picture home to Mr. Rich, who sent him more money, and he continued his studies.

As an evidence of his conscientiousness in study, it may be mentioned that he sad secured a fine study of atmosphere by Claude Lorraine, but he never reached his ideal in the picture of it, and finally, in a fit of desperation, he slashed his copy into four pieces with his razor, and threw the pieces in the bottom of his trunk, where they remained for two or three years, only to be resurrected finally at the urgent solicitation of Mr. Rich, who begged him to mount the pieces on a fresh piece of canvas, and who liked it so well that he paid him a handsome sum for it. This copy really started him on his journey toward artistic eminence in America. Meantime he continued his work, mostly in Rome, where Leslie, Allston and Healy was attracted to him, making mention of him in "The Marble Faun;" and he was a noted and welcome figure in the American colony, the Brownings making much of him. His soon had pictures in several of the galleries in Italy, and also there and in other countries, there being a poetical dreaminess about his atmospheric effects that appealed to the cultured taste.

He came home in 1860, and took a studio for a time in New York, where he painted a view of Mount Washington, which he called "The Crown of New England," and which a number of New York gentlemen, among whom was Henry Ward Beecher, purchased and presented to the prince of Wales, afterward Edward VII, who was on a tour of this country at that time. The painting pleased the prince so greatly that he ordered a companion picture, "The Bay of New York," both of which he had sent home to him, and they were hung in Windsor castle, at that time being the only American pictures so honored.

So much for one of the boasters.

Mr. Healy first went to London, but did not remain there long, the French capital appealing to him more strongly. The American minister, Hon. Lewis Cass, interested himself in the young artist, and induced the French king, Louis Philippe, to give him sittings, the portrait pleasing sicned him to visit Windsor castle, to copy some of the fine monarch's portraits, and the Franklin school, where he won the silver medal, and at twelve years of age was appointed to the famous engraver, Peter Parley, where, he learned the art of drawing thoroughly, which stood him in rich stead in his later career.

While with Parley, who, it may be remembered, was the wood engraver who illustrated so many of the school books of a century ago, the boy experimented with colors, and when but at work at his engraving was experimenting constantly with colors, with the result that he attracted the attention of Isaac Rich, a wealthy merchant of that day, who one day asked him hesitatingly how much he wanted to go to Europe.

"One hundred dollars!" he replied enthusiastically, displaying a wonderful ignorance of the world.

But Mr. Rich advanced him the hundred dollars, and the boy began making preparations to go.

It was about this time that the two boys began to see the world opening its doors to them, and in honor of this event, young Brown invested a dollar or two in beer and something eatable "on the side"—the beer portion of the menu being considered as something themselves great already, and boasted of what they would do.

"I will paint pictures of Dallas scenery," declared Brown, "and have my pictures in all the castles of Europe."

"And I," said Healy, "will paint the kings and other notables of Europe, and have them in the castles side by side with yours."

I did not know Mr. Healy personally, but was acquainted intimately with Mr. Brown for many years, and have heard him many times tell how he finally got away to Europe. He went down on the wharves, and inquired around until he found a vessel that was ready to sail for Europe. He did not stop to ask what port of Europe, thinking that once the other side of the water he would find everything easy. A married sister gave him a mattress, and he marched down State street to Long Wharf with the mattress on his back, having taken steerage passage. He found, after the boat set sail, that her destination was Antwerp, almost as far from Italy as Boston itself. After he landed there he had twenty-five dollars left, but he had made a friend of the captain of the vessel, who lost him fifteen more, and with this amount he managed to get to London, where he was befriended by Mr. Chenay, the American engraver, and began at once the studies of Italian landscape, living almost on the verge of starvation for nearly a year, at the end of which time he sent a picture home to Mr. Rich, who sent him more money, and he continued his studies.

As an evidence of his conscientiousness in study, it may be mentioned that he sad secured a fine study of atmosphere by Claude Lorraine, but he never reached his ideal in the picture of it, and finally, in a fit of desperation, he slashed his copy into four pieces with his razor, and threw the pieces in the bottom of his trunk, where they remained for two or three years, only to be resurrected finally at the urgent solicitation of Mr. Rich, who begged him to mount the pieces on a fresh piece of canvas, and who liked it so well that he paid him a handsome sum for it. This copy really started him on his journey toward artistic eminence in America. Meantime he continued his work, mostly in Rome, where Leslie, Allston and Healy was attracted to him, making mention of him in "The Marble Faun;" and he was a noted and welcome figure in the American colony, the Brownings making much of him. His soon had pictures in several of the galleries in Italy, and there and also in other countries, there being a poetical dreaminess about his atmospheric effects that appealed to the cultured taste.

He came home in 1860, and took a studio for a time in New York, where he painted a view of Mount Washington, which he called "The Crown of New England," and which a number of New York gentlemen, among whom was Henry Ward Beecher, purchased and presented to the prince of Wales, afterward Edward VII, who was on a tour of this country at that time. The painting pleased the prince so greatly that he ordered a companion picture, "The Bay of New York," both of which he had sent home to him, and they were hung in Windsor castle, at that time being the only American pictures so honored.

So much for one of the boasters.

Mr. Healy first went to London, but did not remain there long, the French capital appealing to him more strongly. The American minister, Hon. Lewis Cass, interested himself in the young artist, and induced the French king, Louis Philippe, to give him sittings, the portrait pleasing sicned him to visit Windsor castle, to copy some of the fine monarch's portraits, and the Franklin school, where he won the silver medal, and at twelve years of age was appointed to the famous engraver, Peter Parley, where, he learned the art of drawing thoroughly, which stood him in rich stead in his later career.

While with Parley, who, it may be remembered, was the wood engraver who illustrated so many of the school books of a century ago, the boy experimented with colors, and when but at work at his engraving was experimenting constantly with colors, with the result that he attracted the attention of Isaac Rich, a wealthy merchant of that day, who one day asked him hesitatingly how much he wanted to go to Europe.

"One hundred dollars!" he replied enthusiastically, displaying a wonderful ignorance of the world.

But Mr. Rich advanced him the hundred dollars, and the boy began making preparations to go.

It was about this time that the two boys began to see the world opening its doors to them, and in honor of this event, young Brown invested a dollar or two in beer and something eatable "on the side"—the beer portion of the menu being considered as something themselves great already, and boasted of what they would do.

"I will paint pictures of Dallas scenery," declared Brown, "and have my pictures in all the castles of Europe."

"And I," said Healy, "will paint the kings and other notables of Europe, and have them in the castles side by side with yours."

I did not know Mr. Healy personally, but was acquainted intimately with Mr. Brown for many years, and have heard him many times tell how he finally got away to Europe. He went down on the wharves, and inquired around until he found a vessel that was ready to sail for Europe. He did not stop to ask what port of Europe, thinking that once the other side of the water he would find everything easy. A married sister gave him a mattress, and he marched down State street to Long Wharf with the mattress on his back, having taken steerage passage. He found, after the boat set sail, that her destination was Antwerp, almost as far from Italy as Boston itself. After he landed there he had twenty-five dollars left, but he had made a friend of the captain of the vessel, who lost him fifteen more, and with this amount he managed to get to London, where he was befriended by Mr. Chenay, the American engraver, and began at once the studies of Italian landscape, living almost on the verge of starvation for nearly a year, at the end of which time he sent a picture home to Mr. Rich, who sent him more money, and he continued his studies.

As an evidence of his conscientiousness in

G.P.A. HEALY

Clelion, Admiral Porter, William H. Seward, President Pierce, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Stephen A. Douglas, Archbishop McCloskey, not forgetting the famous one of President Lincoln.

So much for the other boaster.

Many of these portraits were shown at the Chicago Art Institute exhibition, having been loaned by their owners, notably the Queen Elizabeth of Roumania, the Lincoln, the Grant, the Clay, the Calhoun, and others. While its vigorous handling and strong effects made him particularly successful with public man, he yet had equal success with the feminine character, as may be noted in the Queen of Roumania and other noted women, and one of the most remarkable pictures of the late exhibition is that of a "Girl With Pitcher," which was painted at the studio of Rome Gros, in Paris, in 1835, when he was but twenty-two years of age, the color being marvelous, something like an echo, it might be said, of Thomas Couture, who also a young man, but afterward a famous one.

The portrait of Franz Liszt, sitting at the piano, with a rapt musical expression, is the first that the world knows—the musical and general world, that is—of "Hemg e Candle" he says a rapt religious expression, quite another expression, such as this wonderful artist could discern and depict; the painting showed the great musical genius during his temporary religious madness, so to speak, when it will be remembered he renounced the world, and declared he would end his days in a monkish institution, which of course he did not do, but came forth again the musician par excellence.

The remains of the two artists is really quite a remarkable one, and the paintings they have produced illustrate most graphically the lives of two earnest boys who were inspired by the high motives that urged each to a most honorable career, and "made the dreams come true" that were born of the boyish boastings.

NAPOLEON AND LETTER "M"

Both Napoleon I and Napoleon III attached a most superstitious importance to the letter "M." Merchoeuf was the first to call attention to the genius of the young Bonaparte at the military college. Marengo was Napoleon's first great victory. Melas was the name of the general whom he superseded in the command of the French army to Italy.

Mortier was one of his best generals. It was Moreau who betrayed him. Murat, King of Naples, was the first marshal to his cause. Marie Louise shared the culminating point of his success. Moscow was the scene of his greatest disaster, and it was Metternich who defeated him in the field of diplomacy.

To fewer than half of his field marshal's and twenty-six of his best generals had names beginning with "M," and Murat, Duke of Bassano, was his most trusted confidant. His very first battle was that of Montenotte, and his last that of Mont Saint Jean, subsequently and more universally known as Waterloo.

Among the interiors were those of Millesimo, Mondovi, Montebruni, Montereau and Montmartre. His first chamberlain was Count de Montesquiou. His last residence in France was at Malmaison. His surrendered himself to Captain Maitland, of his British majesty's ship Bellerophon, and his attendants at St. Helene were Montholon and Marchand.

The superstition attached by Napoleon III to the letter "M" was demonstrated for by the fact that his wife was a Countess of Montijo, that his most intimate friend was the Duke of Morny, and his most dreaded enemy Maximi. The most glorious feats of arms by the French army during his reign were the capture of the Malakoff and the grim Memelon during the Crimean war. His most famous field marshals were MacMahon, Duke of Magenta, and the Duke of Malakoff.

The great victory of Solferino, in 1859, took place on the banks of the Mincio, and the cities of Mantua and Milan played an important role during the campaign. The Mexican war and the execution of the Emperor Maximilian caused his power to wane perceptibly. Metternich was the name of his intimate friend in English political life. Sedan, which witnessed his fall in on the banks of the Meuse. The surrender of Metz rendered his restoration to power impossible, and Metlin was the name of the man to whose genius he chiefly owed his defeat.

Truthful Friends.

"That horrid old cat," said Mandie, "told Claudia that I'm ugly."

"The mean thing!" agreed Memie.

"Ain't she the limit?"

"She sure is—but she might have done worse."

"How?"

"Well, she might have thought up some lie about you."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Not Up to Standard.

Rev. Mr. Tardily—In regarding the milk you deliver at my house.

Grocer—Yes, sir?

Rev. Mr. Tardily—I—er—merely wish to remind you of the fact that I use it for drinking not for christening.

NOTHING DOING IN THAT LINE

German, Condemned to Death as a Spy, Interposed an Objection Seemingly Insuperable.

A little town one day he was suddenly pounced upon from the rear and made prisoner by half a dozen glowering insurgents.

A Droll traveler of German extraction was once touring one of the turbulent Balkan states during the progress of a series of uprisings which terminated in a more or less fanciful civil war. While leisurely pacing the road between two antagonLoudly protesting his innocence of any complicity in the revolt, he nevertheless was led away to the nearest settlement, more astonished, however, than frightened. After being confined for about twenty-four hours he was brought before a rebel leader and through an interpreter ordered to give an account of his actions, which he was told were considered suspicious.

The German tried to make plain the fact that he was a mere pleasure seeker, and that a map of the surrounding country found upon him was only a road guide, not a map of the enemy's camp.

But his surprisingly good-natured explanation proved unavailing and finally the chief thundered out:

"You shall be confined in the dungeon until tomorrow morning, when, at 6:30 o'clock, you shall die the death of a spy!"

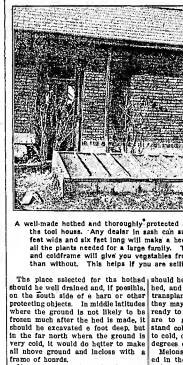
"Don't vere I feel you," smilingly returned the Dutchman. "I rather got no hefort half past eight."

Rare Gift.

"Twobble is one of the most lovable characters I have ever met."

"He is an unusual type of man. Why, Twobble can deliver a moral precept in such a way that it is a pleasure to hear him."

LOCATION AND CONSTRUCTION OF HOTBED



A well-made hotbed and thoroughly protected as it is on the south side of the tool house. Any dealer in sash can supply them. Two sash three feet wide and six feet long will make a bed big enough to take care of all the plants needed for a large family. The right use of the hotbed and coldframe will give you vegetables from one to two weeks earlier than without. This helps if you are selling stuff.

The place selected for the hotbed should be well drained and, if possible, on the South side of a barn or other protecting objects. In middle latitudes where the ground is not likely to be frozen much after the end of March, it should be excavated a foot deep, but in the far north where the ground is very cold, it would do better to make all above ground and inclose with a frame of boards.

If no excavation is made, throw up the dirt on the north side and use a narrow board on the south side, while several wide ones are used on the northwell to hold the dirt.

A foot of fresh stable manure should then be tramped in and as soon as this begins to heat add four inches of loam, and in a few days more if it can be found. The temperature will rise quickly, too hot for seed, but in a few days. As soon as the cooling begins and it reaches a temperature of about 80 degrees, which will be the third or fourth day, plant the seed.

If sweet potatoes are to be hedded for slips they should be placed to a depth of an inch or more, as the roots of the slips will be less short if the seed shallow. A hotbed should be made about three feet wide and as long as needed.

Such plants as tomato and pepper should be grown where one has a hotbed, and as soon as large enough be transplanted to a coldframe, where they may stand two inches apart until ready to put in the open where they are to grow. These plants cannot stand cold and should not be exposed to cold damp weather even if several degrees above frost.

Melons and cucumbers may be started in the hotbed by taking old cans from which the ends have been melted and planting the seeds in them in the hotbed. When ready to transplant them, take up can with the plants and dirt in it and put tut the lib ttl that has been prepared. The can may then be lifted up leaving dirt and plant. If the side seem of the can bee been melted it will have to be held in place with e string tied around it.

Cold rains should not be allowed to fall on the hotbed, though a light shower will not cool it. Warm well water should be used for watering. Boards will do for a covering till the plants are up, then sash or muslin should be used when the weather is warm open. The plants must have air and the top sash should be left open during the middle of the day.

I have been successful without other covering than boards, as the sun is warm at that time of year.

GROWING POTATO UNDER A COVER

Straw Keeps Soil Cool and Moist, Right Condition for the Best Field.

Potatoes may be grown under straw as well as in the soil. The straw keeps the soil cool and moist, two of the right condition for best yield.

The following method of culture is given by a Maryland farmer who has followed this system for several years. He says: "My ground was plowed in the fall of 1911. Last spring, when the ground was in fine tilth, it was then harrowed and the rows marked out two inches in depth. Early Rose potatoes, cut to one eye and dusted with plaster, were dropped ten inches apart in the furrow and covered with two inches of partly rotted wheat straw and chaff. The shoots pushed above the straw three weeks after planting, and made a strong growth. No cultivation was given. The vines were weeded with planters and parts grew as soon as the hugs appeared. Two applications were made, and the vines were pretty thick in midsummer. The potatoes were ripe and fit to eat by the middle of July. When hulled the flesh was dry and well flavored, and none needed to be thrown away. Those when broken open were of a floury quality. From the two bushels planted I obtained 21¼ bushels of good-sized and two and a half bushels of small potatoes. This was not a large yield. I am satisfied that the yield could have been increased by the use of a good kind of bone fertilizer. The ground was not manured or fertilized for the potatoes, as the ground had been heavily dressed with yard manure the year before for corn and truck. This is a good way to grow potatoes for family use by those having plenty of straw. Rotted stalks may be used if straw cannot be had.

A Future Guaranty.

Farming without a crop rotation of some sort, is my opinion, is most unprofitable. On my farm my rotation consists of wheat, followed by oats, then barley and corn. Rotation tends to produce bigger yields and keeps the land clean, says a writer in an exchange. Corn is almost indispensable to a good rotation, as it increases the yield of the crop following by improving my ground for seeding, I plow as early as possible, then work the soil into a good condition with a disk. I have a set time for seeding. I am governed by the weather.

High Class Rains.

No rams produced are too good to use on the grade flock and the higher the class of rams used the greater the profits.

Swedish Select Oat.

The Swedish select oat, which has been developed by the government, first being introduced in this country in 1899 from Sweden, is turning out very satisfactorily. Last year the total yield was 50,000,000 bushels. It was first grown on the grounds of the experiment station at Pullman, Wash.

Potatoes for Hogs.

Potatoes for hog feed must be cooked, using as little water as possible and fed with a small amount of grain.

FERTILIZER MIXING EASILY MASTERED

Work Can Well Be Done in Late February or Early March—Equipment Needed.

(BY M ROBERTS CONOVER.)

Mixing one's fertilizer is a distinct advantage as it insures a proper proportion of ingredients as well as purity. Although there are reliable fertilizer dealers who will mix to the desired quantity of fertilizer according to given formula at very reasonable prices, knowing one's soil and how to compound it is a money-saving process by contributing the right elements of plant food into the former above the grade of the blind, unplanned strength to the level of the scientific worker.

Although the proper proportions of ingredients for certain crops is the result of experience and research, the natural work of nature will supply the needs of partly rotted wheat straw and chaff. The shoots pushed above the straw three weeks after planting, and made a strong growth. No cultivation was given. The vines were weeded with planters and parts grew as soon as the hugs appeared. Two applications were made, and the vines were pretty thick in midsummer. The potatoes were ripe and fit to eat by the middle of July. When boiled the flesh was dry and well flavored, and none needed to be thrown away. Those when broken open were of a floury quality. From the two bushels planted I obtained 21¼ bushels of good-sized and two and a half bushels of small potatoes. This was not a large yield. I am satisfied that the yield could have been increased by the use of a good kind of bone fertilizer. The ground was not manured or fertilized for the potatoes, as the ground had been heavily dressed with yard manure the year before for corn and truck. This is a good way to grow potatoes for family use by those having plenty of straw. Rotted stalks may be used if straw cannot be had.

A Future Guaranty.

Farming without a crop rotation of some sort, is my opinion, is most unprofitable. On my farm my rotation consists of wheat, followed by oats, then barley and corn. Rotation tends to produce bigger yields and keeps the land clean, says a writer in an exchange. Corn is almost indispensable to a good rotation, as it increases the yield of the crop following by improving my ground for seeding, I plow as early as possible, then work the soil into a good condition with a disk. I have a set time for seeding. I am governed by the weather.

High Class Rains.

No rams produced are too good to use on the grade flock and the higher the class of rams used the greater the profits.

Swedish Select Oat.

The Swedish select oat, which has been developed by the government, first being introduced in this country in 1899 from Sweden, is turning out very satisfactorily. Last year the total yield was 50,000,000 bushels. It was first grown on the grounds of the experiment station at Pullman, Wash.

Potatoes for Hogs.

Potatoes for hog feed must be cooked, using as little water as possible and fed with a small amount of grain.

Raising of Silk Worms.

The raising of silk worms is to be undertaken on a large scale on Long Island by English capitalists. The United States department of agriculture will go to an unusual length to assist in making the enterprise successful. Attempts to grow silk worms were made 50 years ago but proved a failure.

Salt Stimulates Asparagus.

In growing asparagus, occasional applications of salt will stimulate the growth, as this is a seashore plant.

KILL EMELIO MADERO

BROTHER OF LATE PRESIDENT, MAY HAVE BEEN EXECUTED.

PEACE PROSPECTS ARE SLIGHT

Rebels In North Active—Negotiations With Zapatistas Fail—Huerta States Attitude.

Mexico City, Feb. 26.—Emelio Madero, a brother of the late ex-President Madero, has been shot and killed north of Monterey, according to reliable information received here.

Attempting to Join Rebels.

With an escort of 35 men Madero, it is said, was attempting to join the rebels holding Laredo, when he was overtaken by troops sent by General Trevino. The reports do not indicate whether Madero was killed in action or was executed. The shooting of Madero took place between Villaahuma and Santamonte.

As the rebel leader in the Laredo district (Gerardino Villarreal) is a partisan of General Trevino, the government expects that the trouble in that vicinity will soon be adjusted.

Had Begun Counter Revolution.

Emelio Madero, in conjunction with his brother Raoul, a few days ago began a counter revolution at San Pedro in the state of Coahuila in the expectation of uniting the rebels about Saltillo with those in the Laredo district.

Hope for immediate peace in Mexico is slight. Rebel activity in the North has increased and the government's forces have met with reverses with the Zapatistes appear to have failed.

Whether the rebels, whose center is in the south, have been increased numerically is not generally known, but they have accomplished their organizations greatly that communication with the frontier has been stopped, and the Mexico City-Laredo and San Luis Potosi being practically isolated.

In the south the Zapatistas continue burning and raiding, and an attack on a military train between Cuautla and Mexico City leaves little doubt as to their attitude towards the new administration.

Demand Rank for Officers.

One of the demands of the Zapatistan, made by commissioners representing that section of the rebels, was that all Zapatistan officers be admitted to the regular establishments with corresponding rank. The rebels have assumed the title of general. To this the government strongly objected. The commissioners left in order to report to their chief and soon word came back that the Zapatistas considered the revolution still in progress.

When arrangements are next forces southward toward Cuernavaca, along the line of the Central railway a section of which, destroyed by rebels, will be repaired.

Reports from the state of Morelos indicate that the work of destruction of property by the Zapatistas was more complete then in ordinarily undertaken by the rebels.

To offset the antagonism of the Zapatistas, however, the government believes that it has made a start in consolidating arrangements for peace in the state. Alexandro Almazan and Julio Redillo, the two most prominent leaders in that state, have agreed. Now is there much doubt felt that arrangements can be made by the new government before the end of March, representatives of Orozco's army.

Interest in Everett's Aim.

President Huerta insists that his visit to the border was made with no intention or revenge, but will devote its energy to the pacification of persons who have committed acts of depredation of its active enemies.

As indicated by the remark of the president, most of those who were armed immediately after the overthrow of Madero have been released, among them Juan Sanchez Azcona, Madero's secretary.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

Twin City Markets.

Minneapolis, Feb. 26.—Wheat, May, 88c; July, 89¾c; No. 1 northern, 88c; No. 2 northern, 86¾c; No. 3 wheat, 86c; No. 1 corn, 46c; No. 3 white oats, 34½c; No. 3 yellow corn, 46c; No. 3 white oats, 34½c; flax, $1.07.

Duluth, Feb. 26.—Wheat, May, 88½c; July, 89½c; No. 1 northern, 88½c; No. 2 northern, 86½c.

South St. Paul, Feb. 26.—Cattle—Receipts, 1,000; steady. Calves—Receipts, 500; steady. Hogs—Receipts, 4,000; steady. Sheep—Receipts, 1,000; steady.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—There was considerable activity in the cash wheat approach of the 43-90 hog. The market hosted a fair trade at 43-90 to 44-10 hog. The top of the day was reached at 44-10 hog. Sixty loads reached. Cattle supplies were 16,000; hogs, 40,000; sheep, 15,000; horses, 1,000. Estimated receipts for Thursday—Cattle, 16,000; hogs, 40,000; sheep, 15,000; horses, 1,000.

Cattle—Receipts, 4,000; slow; steers, $6.60@8.75; cows and heifers, $3.50@8.00; calves, $7.25@9.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,000; firm; light, $6.60@7.15; mixed, $6.60@7.20; heavy, $6.60@7.20; rough, $6.60@6.75; pigs, $5.60@6.45; bulk of sales, $6.80@6.95.

Sheep—Receipts, 12,000; steady; wethers, $6.25@7.00; lambs, $7.00@8.25; yearlings, $6.85@8.10; lambs, native, $7.00@8.25. Estimated Saturday, 30,000.

SNOED ACQUITTED BY JURY.

Vernon, Texas, Feb. 26.—John Beal Snoed, a wealthy West Texas ranch owner, was declared not guilty of the murder of Al Boyce, Jr., at Amarillo, last September. Boyce had eloped with Mrs. Snoed.

Offers $370,000 for Railway.

Atlantic, Ia., Feb. 26.—Harry H. Shaw has offered the receiver $370,000 for the Atlantic, Northern and Western railway, "the Corner line." The sale will be confirmed by the court next Saturday.

3,000 Soldiers in Vicinity of Galveston.

Galveston, Tex., Feb. 26.—Brig. Gen. Frederick A. Smith, commanding the fifth brigade of the second army division, and 3,000 soldiers of his brigade, have arrived at Fort Crockett and additional troops to arrive during the day will augment the number of men mobilized at Galveston to 3,000.

Assistant Attorney General Dying.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Assistant Attorney General John Q. Thompson, who has been ill here with acute uraemia, is reported sinking.

Red Lake Falls Gazette

BY C. R. C. BAKER

Issued Every Thursday at Red Lake Falls, Minnesota

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.50 Per Year in Advance

The only thing that the inaugural parade seemed to lack was a steam calliope.

The slot machine will devour the new nickles without effecting its delicate machinery in the least.

There are signs of spring, of course, but don't overlook the fact that sometimes all signs fail.

If the problem of what to do with our ex-presidents is any problem at all it certainly is a bigger problem now.

Now that the inaugural ceremonies are over, it will be possible to give attention to the important matter of making new postmasters.

Thomas Smith, who recently purchased the Thief River Falls Times, has sold a half interest in the paper to Frank R. Davies of Crookston.

Unless you don't wish to give credit where credit is due, don't forget that Congressman Lindbergh is the man who insisted that there is a money trust.

Now we will hear what those have to say who are positive that President Wilson made some very bad mistakes in the selection of members for his cabinet.

Since nobody seems to know what ought to be done with the ex-presidents, it might be well to let the discussion end for a time and give them—the ex-presidents—a chance to do it for themselves.

A United newspaper story announces that Christ has returned to earth and is in seclusion in a suburb of Chicago. Perhaps a little more credence can be given the report that it stated that he dared to venture down town.

The newspapers are giving more room to descriptions of the new fivecent piece now being coined than if it were a twenty-dollar gold piece. Perhaps this interest is due to the possibility that a newspaper man may hope to accumulate enough of the slugs to make quite a nolse.

The speed maniacs are about to be shown that their efforts have been for naught. An electrically propelled car to run on an elevated cable may be shot across the country at the rate of five hundred miles an hour. It is the purpose of the inventor that clear-shaped receptacles to carry the mails shall be used, and it looks like a possible thing in the light of the many seeming impossible things that have been accomplished. No mail will be sorted on the car for the reason that the mail clerk will not ride.

An important newspaper change is the sale by H. W. Wheelock of a half interest in his Wheelock's (Fergus Falls) weekly to George C. Manor. Mr. Wheelock will continue as editor and Mr. Manor will be the business manager. Mr. Manor has had several years experience and there is no doubt that the firm of Wheelock and Manor will publish a good and prosperous newspaper.

The contention that manufacturing enterprises need encouragement is not a good argument against the proposed distance tariff law. American enterprises are protected against certain foreign competition, but there is no reason that any section of the state should be protected against competition from another section. The struggling manufacturing enterprises of the small cities ought, at least, to have an equal chance with the large enterprises of the commercial centers.

It must be admitted that Mr. Taft was a first-class loser and he has retired as gracefully as a man could. He accepted the verdict of the American people without the slightest indication that he questioned its justice or fairness. Not all men have been able to do that. There is a possibility that the people of the next generation will find something to praise in the administration of Mr. Taft. They will find, no doubt, that his lon jot having the tariff systematically "doctored" by a commission of experts was right. They may even find that the proposed reciprocity treaty with Canada was not the dangerous measure that Americans frightened into believing it was.

CO-ADJUTORS' REMARKS.

All the world loves an optimist and here's the optimistest person we've found: "I lately took advantage of the bankruptcy law, and will remain in the grain business and believe our former success will continue."—Redwood Gazette.

The danger was not serious but the country must breathe easier since the electrical college completed its work without any stormy protest when Colonel Roosevelt.—Leslie (N. D.) Reporter.

The Twin City jobbers and manufacturers are sadly worried lest their poor country cousins suffer through the passage of the Cashman distance tariff. Their solicitude is touching, but as long as towns like Wadena have to be suckled of life blood to make great cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis, just so long will we remain indifferent to possible ills we suffer from a change of systems.—Wadena Pioneer-Journal.

No man or set of men is entitled to special privileges because they have "bigniterests." This applies to the opposition to the Cashman distance tariff bill.—Breckenridge Telegram.

Minneapolis does not take kindly to the distinction made by the department between herself and St. Paul in the matter of "port" designation. While St. Paul is classed as a "port of entry", Minneapolis is designated as a mere subport." From an important viewpoint it would seem to us that St. Paul and the Mississippi is entitled to a preference over Minneapolis on Bassett's Creek.—Princeton Union.

A famous painter says the American people are getting to look more and more like the Indians. Had he observed the bleachers at a ball game he might have added that they act like them too.—Crookston Times.

Swat the Fly.

According to those of authority in the swat the fly game the time to do the swatting is before the fly arrives or at least to make advance arrangements for the swatting when he does arrive. An article in the American Medical Journal tells "how one can make one's home, town or city flyless is described by C. F. Hodge of Clark University, Worchestar, Mass. He says that the American public spends $10,000,000 a year for window and door screens in a futile attempt to exclude a lively insect which insists on getting into the house every time the doors are opened. He believes also that the method of swatting the flies, using fly-paper or lo-door traps or poisons are ineffective, but may help. His method is to use in various ways the conical wire mesh fly-trap, which is familiar to almost every one, in such a way as to turn the tables on the flies and put them in jail and let ourselves out.' The plan involves, of course, the abolition as far as possible of all breeding-places and feeding-places for flies and the application of the fly-trap mentioned above to the garbage-can, to the screens on windows, to the covers on manure-bins, etc., all of which can be done by a little mechanical ingenuity. Garbage cans on the market which have a cover larger then the can and not fitting down closely so that the flies gain access to the can under the cover and escape through a hole in the cover were which is fixed a fly-trap. In fighting flies Dr. Hodge has found that the essentials of a successful campaign are to transfer the fight against the fly from the house to outdoors, and then to exterminate at another essential breeding-place in a town or city is that housebuild must co-operate. One ignorant or careless person can breed enough flies to vitiate the best endeavors of the whole town. Hodge has succeeded in his neighborhood in practically eliminating flies; he uses no screens in windows and doors, and can sit out doors or have doors or windows open ot any time without molestation. As flies begin to breed early in the spring and as they breed with marvelous rapidity, the time to arrange for a fly-campaign is in the winter."—Exchange.

It appears that like all other campaigns against the army of the enemy, you must first get your fighting force—your army of fly-swatters with none in camp giving aid and comfort to the enemy. Perhaps the slogan should be, first muzzle the garbage can, for one uncontrolled garbage can is a sure passage way to the heart of the camp of fly swatters.

Swat the fly.

SEND 'EM ALONG.

But What Would the Old-timer Say to Bath Tubs in a Lumber Camp.

(Stillwater Gazette.)

Sure thing. There should be bathtubs in all the logging camps. This has been sadly neglected for the last fifty or sixty years and should be remedied at an early date. And it will be if Representative Wilmot's bill is made a law. He insists that sufficient bathtubs, soap, water, towels, linen purnes, disinfectants all must be supplied at each logging camp so that at least one-teath of the men can bathe at once. It is shameful the way the men have been neglected in this line by the employers. We who have been here for many years and noted tha pale, puny, weak, sickly men who came down from the woods in the spring, after several months' sojourn, can fully realize what a great and everlasting benefit bathtubs would have been to these men. And it would be so easy and inexpensive to provide them for the men as they have in the logging camp. And what would they do with bathtubs in a camp? It is an unwritten law that when a man goes into the woods in the fall he hasn't a bath coming to him until spring. And did you ever hear of a hacker, hauler, breather bunch than the lumberjacks? You bet not. But if the bill becomes n law we hope someone will insist that tooth powder, face powder, soapine, finger bowls, colored waiters wearing dress suits, and an orchestra for each meal, be furnished to permit. Childe is the chairman of this particular committee.

✣ ✣ ✣

Economy is the keynote of those who hold the purse strings in the house and the many other proposed reforms some of the things attempted to be put over beyond the economy sense lies. For instance, a lengthy argument to a bill is not permitted because it might increase the cost of the daily journal. Then daily calendars are not allowed because it is followed because they, too, would add to the printing cost. In consequence bills and their manipulation are at a standstill. Even the desks set around the cure seems to be worse than the disease. Possibly $2,000 will be saved in the cost of the session, but the chances are that double that amount will be frittered away under the guise of reform.

✣ ✣ ✣

Theater passes now have the call in the house and senate, but the one thing left by the new order of things good things will go by the board if a bill offered by Representative Green of St. Paul gets by. Green wants it made a misdemeanor for any public officer to accept free admission to any theater or place of amusement. Minneapolis members this year have been providing the theater tickets, which consist principally of admission to the gallery, but for the seats in the higher priced theaters you decidedly have and hard to get. Green's rap at the honored custom is said to be intended to place because Minneapolis members have been entrusted with the distribution of the tickets to the matter up with the St. Paul chamber of commerce and the Commercial club by the city. St. Paul was not to be distanced by Minneapolis, which had the theater ticket privilege, then it would have to provide some sort of free entertainment for the legislate.

✣ ✣ ✣

Representative Albert Pfander of New Ulm is reported to be seriously ill at his home. He has been absent from the house for the past week and word received from his relatives Saturday was to the effect that he was no better. Colds, grippe and pneumonia prevail and have played the ranks of both house and senate this session and many absentees have been reported as a result.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage or Lease Land.
State of Wisconsin, County of Red Lake, in Probate Court.
State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, ss.
In the Matter of the Estate of Vital LaPlante, Deceased.

The State of Minnesota to Agnes Cardinal; Frank LaPlante; Alphonsella Lacourciere; Mary Wytsch; Della Lonchamberlain; Ruth Chaney; Arthur LaPlante; George Demerais; Della Cardinal; Frank LaPlante; all persons interested in the sale of certain lands belonging to said deceased: The petition of Hubert Cardinalas representative of the above named deceased, being duly filed in tole court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and of all interested in said deceased that certain lands of said deceased described therein be sold and praying that a license be to him granted to sell the same:

Now, Therefore, you and each of you are hereby notified and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of March, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said court, this 14th day of February, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.
(Probate Court Seal.)
CHAS. E. BOUGHTON, Esq.,
Attorney for Petitioner. m6-20

Order Limiting Time to File Claims Within Three Months, and for Hearing Thereon.

Estate of Vital LaPlante, deceased.
State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, in Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Vital LaPlante, deceased.

Letters testamentary this day having been granted to Hubert Cardinal and it appearing by the affidavit of said representative that there are no debts of said decedent:

It is Ordered, That the time within which all creditors of the above named decedent may present claims against his estate in this Court, be, and the same hereby is, limited to three months from and after the date hereof;and that Saturday,the 31st day of May, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., the Probate Court Rooms at the Court House at Red Lake Falls, in said County, be, and the same hereby are, appointed as the time and place for hearing upon and examination, adjustment and allowance of such claims as shall be presented within the time aforesaid.

Let notice hereof be given by the publication of this order in Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper of said County, for three successive weeks as provided by law.

Dated February 28th, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate.
(Probate Court Seal.) m6-20

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage or Lease Land.

Estate of Andre Lemieux, decedent.
State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, in Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Andre Lemieux, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Aurelia Lemieux; Israel Lemieux; Tesilla Lemieux; Josephine Cyr; Agnes Lemieux Blivin; Napoleon Lemieux, Albert Lemieux; Theodore Lemieux, Cora Lemieux, Andre Lemieux, Alice Lemieux, Keogh Lemieux, Edward Lemieux, and all persons interest in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent: The petition of Israel Lemieux as representative of the above named decedent, being duly filed in this court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and of all interested therein that certain lands of said decedent described therein be sold and praying that a license be to him granted to sell the same:

Now Therefore, you and each of you are hereby notified and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of March, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said court, this 7th day of February, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.
(Probate Court Seal.)
FRED LaPLANTE,
Attorney for Petitioner. f27-m12

Citation for Hearing on Petition to Sell, Mortgage or Lease Land.

Estate of Josephat Corbell, decedent.
State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, in Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Josephat Corbell, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to Victoria Corbell; Cora Corbell; Omer Corbell; Virginia Corbell; Cecelia Corbell; all persons interested in the sale of certain lands belonging to said decedent: The petition of Victoria Corbell, as representative of the above named decedent, being duly filed in the chic court, representing that it is necessary and for the best interests of said estate and of all interested therein that certain lands of said decedent described therein be sold and praying that a license be to him granted to sell the same:

Now, Therefore, you and each of you are hereby notified and required to show cause, if any you have, before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Red Lake Falls, County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of March, 1913, at 10 o'clock P. M. why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Judge of said Court, and the seal of said court, this 7th day of February, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate Court.
(Probate Court Seal.)
FRED LaPLANTE,
Attorney for Petitioner.

Order Limiting Time to File Claims and for Hearing Thereon.

Estate of Josephat Corbell, decedent.
State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, in Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Josephat Corbell, Decedent.

Letters Testamentary this day having been granted to E. H. Durand, of Crosby, Crow Wing County, Minnesota.

It is Ordered, that the time within which all creditors of the above named decedent may present claims against his estate in this court, be, and the same hereby is, limited to Six (6) months from and after the date hereof; and that Monday, the 28th day of August, 1913, at 2 o'clock P. M., in the Probate Court Rooms at the Court House at the City of Red Lake Falls, in said County, be, and the same hereby is, fixed and appointed as the time and place for hearing upon and examination, adjustment and allowance of such claims as shall be presented within the time aforesaid.

Let notice hereof be given by the publication of this order in Red Lake Falls Gazette, a weekly newspaper of said Red Lake County, as provided by law for three successive weeks.

Dated February 17th, 1913.

JOSEPH PERRAULT,
Judge of Probate.
(SEAL.) f20-m6

An Absolutely Pure Flour

It's all the wheat that's fit to eat

Always Unifor

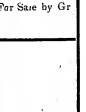
For Sale by Gr

MASCOT!

NUF SED

Red Lake Falls Milling Co.

Stickney Gasoline Engines
ARE THE BEST No.87



Time, Brains and Perseverance

Even nature itself cannot make two hills without a hollow between, nor a three year old colt in five minutes. Nor did the superiority of the Stickney Engine just happen. It took the brains and genius of Stickney together with years and years of experience to produce the Stickney Engine as it is today, an absolute success.

EXCLUSIVE AGENT
Joseph Helm Estate — Red Lake Falls, Minn.

N. M. WATSOY, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
GRADUATE OF McGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA
Office over First State Bank

J. C. WILKINSON
Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN KAYS BLOCK, RED LAKE FALLS
Telephone Resident's Done Store

F. T. BENOIT, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office over Brooks Mercantile Co.

Brooks, - Minn.

FRED L. FARLEY
ATTORNEY
LAW, LOANS, COLLECTIONS, INSURANCE
Office over Bank of Red Lake Falls
Red Lake Falls, Minn

CHAS. E. BOUGHTON
ATTORNEY
Oldest established lawyer in the city
Collections, real estate, loans and insurance. City attorney
Red Lake Falls, Minnesota

LODGE DIRECTORY

Clearwater Lodge No. 193,
INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS
Meets every Thursday evening.
A. L. HAUGHEY, N. G. FRED L. FARLEY, R. S.

Good Faith Lodge No. 500
ANCIENT BROTHERHOOD OF AMERICA
Meets Brodsley's Hall, Red Lake Falls.
Meetings every Monday evening in its own hall.
Visiting brothers and brothers coming to attend.

Red Lake Falls Camp No 7456
MODERN WOODMEN OF AMERICA
JAMES LANCE, Consul W. S. POMEROY, Clerk
Meet Wednesday evenings of each week

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking will not cure children of wetting the bed, because it is not a habit but a dangerous disease. The C. H. Rowan Drug Co., Dept. B 520, Chicago, Ill., have discovered a strictly harmless remedy for this distressing disease and it make known its merits they will send a $1 package securely wrapped and prepaid Absolutely Free to any reader of the Gazette. This remedy also cures frequent desire to urinate and inability to control urine during the night or day in old or young. The C. H. Rowan Drug Co. is an Old Reliable House; write them today for the free medicine. Cure the afflicted members of your family, then tell your neighbors and friends about this remedy.

AUCTION!

The undersigned will sell at public auction on his farm, 4 miles northwest of Red Lake Falls and 3 miles south of Wylie, Sec. 18, Red Lake Falls Township, commencing at 12 o'clock sharp, on Wednesday MARCH 12.

THE FOLLOWING DESCRIBED PROPERTY:

2 sorrel mares, 10 years old, 2800 lbs.
1 sorrel mare, 5 years old,1540 lbs.,with foal
1 bay horse, 4 years old, 1450 lbs.
1 bay mare, 9 years old, 1200 lbs., with foal.
1 colt, 1 year old.
8 milch cows.
1 Deering 7 ft. binder with tongue trucks.
1 Deering mower.
1 McCormick hay rake.
1 Thomas hay loader.
1 Kentucky single disc drill, nearly new
1 3-horse drog
1 disc
1 land roller, nearly new
1 13-inch John Deere gang plow
2 14-inch breaking plows
1 Success manure spreader, nearly new
1 Root & VanDervoort gasoline engine, 4 h.p.
1 wood saw
1 feed mill
1 feed cutter
1 narrow tire wagon
1 wide tire wagon
2 hob sleds.
1 brand new top buggy
1 double seated buggy
1 new 1500 lb. platform scale
1 Hero fanning mill.
1 galvanized steel tank, 14 bbl.
2 sets work harness
1 single harness
1 DeLoval cream separator
1 blacksmith outfit
Household goods and many other articles too numerous to mention

FREE LUNCH AT NOON

TERMS: Sums under $10 cash; on sums over that amount time will be given to Nov. 1, 1913, on bankable paper at 10 per cent interest

CARL GERLACH, Prop.

JOS. BELAIR, Auctioneer GEO. F. HENNINGS, Clerk

POSSIBLE SPLIT IN ORGANIZATION

(Continued from Page 1.)

surrounded himself with a comfortable majority in the house of his own thinking. Some of this majority would like to fall in with the other crowd, but good sense has kept them with him. One of the things that is said to have been brought in the bill at the opponents was his stand on tonnage tax. He voted against it but he could not do otherwise, as his county was opposed to the measure. Mr. Elles has initiated a number of things that he believes is bad for the progressive movement he wants to preserve, but I would not be surprised to see him openly declare himself most any time.

✣ ✣ ✣

In the face of what promised to be trouble all down the line the R. C. Dunn good roads bill passed the house by a good majority. It was hotly contested with cheers and Mr. Dunn was given an ovation. The only amendments permitted were those offered by the author. The Dunn bill, which now goes to the senate for approval, and there is nothing to show that it will not receive similar consideration there, is the most comprehensive and complete road measure ever attempted by any Minnesota legislature. It is a codification of all the old road and bridge laws, with the exception of the Dunn bill of last session. It provides a road and bridge fund of $1,500,000 a year. It was a proud day for the Princeton representative and he was congratulated on all sides. The bill is a thirty-page document and represents much labor, all of which was given by Mr. Dunn.

✣ ✣ ✣

The nearest thing to actual prohibition came last week when the house, by an overwhelming vote, passed the O'Neill "roadhouse" bill. The measure prohibits county boards of commissioners from granting saloon licenses. It puts the country saloon out of business. There are 1,200 saloons scattered over the state will be compelled to close down. Even if the bill becomes a law is not,so bad, but the fact that at the same time over $50,000 a year will be lost to the law will go up in smoke brings some regret. Under the law as it now stands from country saloons goes to roads and bridges and this revenue is wiped out by the new law. The bill is primarily directed at closing out a lot of groceries which flourish in the lumber country and near lumber camps. At the same time more than one respectable saloon is hit. This is especially so in those counties having a local option law.

✣ ✣ ✣

The O'Neill bill is the first bit of real liquor regulation that has gotten by the house since the session began and for a long time opposed to most ereal tied with drastic ideas in on sail liquor way he believe in this line to data has caused considerable comment. The whole trouble is that both houses and senate want to do very much in the regulation line and the bopper is checked in consequence. Again there is a constant temptation on the part of a fairly large minority that those engaged in trying to secure some regulation are to leagus with the brewers and there is much wrangling as a result. For two weeks now the house committee on temperance has put in its entire time discussing a bill permitting a saloon to continue on the death of the proprietor pending the probating of the estate and it is no nearer settlement than when the discussion started. The committee at first favored it, then attorneys for the breweries, when asked what they thought of it, gass it their synonyl and now the committee is split. In the meantime the committee is looking on and smiling. It is an old story and they know the text by heart.

✣ ✣ ✣

With the national senate holding up one of the appointments to the Interstate commerce commission, and confirmation unlikely while President Taft is in office, report has it that D. M. Ringdal of the state board of control is favored by President Elect Wilson for the place. If this is so his name will likely be presented to the new senate. Mr. Ringdel will sever his connection with the state board of control April 1, when he will be succeeded by Ralph W. Wheelock.

✣ ✣ ✣

This session of the two houses has been free from any personal accusations, but there came near being one last week when H. H. Dunn of Albert Lea invited Representative Childs of Minneapolis to step outside because he accused him of being in league with a firm of printers who had a contract for legislative printing. Childs did not accept the invitation and there is much coldness between the two. The controversy was over the printing of some legislative matter which the committee in charge refused to permit. Childs is the chairman of this particular committee.

✣ ✣ ✣

Theater passes now have the call in the house and senate, but the one thing left by the new order of things good things will go by the board if a bill offered by Representative Green of St. Paul gets by. Green wants it made a misdemeanor for any public officer to accept free admission to any theater or place of amusement. Minneapolis members this year have been providing the theater tickets, which consist principally of admission to the gallery, but for the seats in the higher priced theaters you decidedly have and hard to get. Green's rap at the honored custom is said to be intended to place because Minneapolis members have been entrusted with the distribution of the tickets to the matter up with the St. Paul chamber of commerce and the Commercial club by the city. St. Paul was not to be distanced by Minneapolis, which had the theater ticket privilege, then it would have to provide some sort of free entertainment for the legislate.

✣ ✣ ✣

Representative Albert Pfander of New Ulm is reported to be seriously ill at his home. He has been absent from the house for the past week and word received from his relatives Saturday was to the effect that he was no better. Colds, grippe and pneumonia prevail and have played the ranks of both house and senate this session and many absentees have been reported as a result.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

When You Have Saved

$5.00
$50.00
$100.00
$1,000.00
$10,000.00

the first question arising is
"HOW SHALL I INVEST IT?"

There is no better way than in a Certificate of Deposit in The Farmers National Bank.

Our Certificates of Deposit are issued in sums of $1.00 and upwards. They bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent, payable every six or twelve months as desired.

The Certificates of Deposit of the Farmers National Bank, as far as security is concerned,are practically on par with United States Government Bonds and are about three times as profitable.

Farmers National Bank
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Farm Loans Closed Promptly.

Is Your Cream Separator Guaranteed Not to Rust?

Every dairy utensil made of tin wears and rusts. This is the reason why a different metal—Nickel Silver—is used in the skimming sections of the 1913 model

United States Cream Separator

Nickel Silver Skimming Sections in United States Cream Separators are positively guaranteed not to rust.

Furthermore, U. S. Nickel Silver sections are easier to clean than tinned steel discs or other devices, because milk and the thick bowl matter stick to them less tightly than to tin or steel.

Still another advantage of U. S. nickel silver sections is that they will not crack as tinned steel does frequently do and are, therefore, much more durable.

To prove the superiority of nickel silver we offer to send any farmer a piece of nickel silver metal which he can test out for its non-rusting to his own satisfaction. Simply fill out and mail the coupon.

VERMONT FARM MACHINE CO.,
BELLOWS FALLS, VT. CHICAGO, ILL.

VERMONT FARM MACHINE CO.,
(If Hoosick Fall, Chicago, Ill.
Please send me a piece of nickel silver, free.
My name is .....
Address .....
Separator used ..... How long? .....
Serial number ..... How many cows? .....
I live ..... miles ..... from .....
(Give directions.)

Olson Prichard,
Thief River Falls

P. A. Langlois,
Lambert

E. B. Lanager,
Plummer

N. A. Nelson,
St. Hilaire

WHY NOT YOU?

People realize more and more that a Bank Account,maintained systematically, is the greatest aid to financial progress.

YOU

can enjoy many privileges by becoming a depositor in our bank.

THIS BANK

offers its service to responsible peopls who desire to build up a surplus and enjoy the benefits of an association with a strong financial institution.

First State Bank
Red Lake Falls, Minn.
United States, County and City Depository

WE HAVE MONEY TO LOAN ON FARMS

The Local Field

Jos. Taupin spent Sunday at Crookston.

Miss Agnes Hirsch returned Tuesday from a few days visit with relatives in the twin cities.

Dr. Spofford will be in Red Lake Falls, March 1. At the Grand View Hotel. —Adv

Geo. F. Hennings returned Monday morning from a business trip to the southern part of the state.

The University at Minnesota hond will give a concert at the Auditorium, Thief River Falls, Tuesday, March 25.

Mrs. Frank Jeffers returned Monday from Grand Forks, where she had been visiting with realtives for several days.

Carl Gerlach will sell his personal property at public auction next Wednesday, March 12. See ad for list of property and particulars.

Crookston had a fire Saturday night, the stock of the Royal Blue Shoe Store being damaged by fire, smoke and water to the estimated extent of $8000.

Mrs. E. F. Marshall went to Crookston Friday evening and returned Saturday morning. She was the guest at Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fournet and attended the Eastern Star boll.

Carl Krueger went narth an Monday morning's Great Northern train, going from Crookston to his home in St. Hilaire. He was accompanied by Mrs. Krueger, who had been a patient at St. Vincent hospital, Crookston, far several weeks.

The Crookston Times for Monday says: "Joe Taupin went to Red Lake Falls this morning, where he will spend the balance of the week attending a some business matters." Joe's many friends in Red Lake Falls were glad to see him. Call again, Jae.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock occurred the solemn benediction at the magnificent St. Joseph's Academy by Right Rev. Timothy Corbett, bishop of Crookston, assisted by the Catholic clergy of Crookston, Rev. Father Wurm and Rev. Father Du-Daffault, priest and assistant priest of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, and Rev. Fr. Tupin af St. Anne's church. — Crookston Times, Monday.

Charles A. Johnson, a farmer living near Targarson, had the misfortune of having his granary robbed of nearly one hundred bushels af wheat last week. The crop had been stored in a building located some distance from the Johnson home and was not missed by the owner until several days ago. The thieves had left the door of the building open and the snow had drifted over a large quantity of fine, rolling part of it.—Thief River News-Press.

Sa great a demand for high class dairy stock has come to the N. W. Experiment Station, Crookston, that canoil not be filled there that a number af farmers have asked the station to ship in ane or more carloads of Holsteins. Mr. F. R. Scribner, of the U. S. Dept. af Agriculture will be in Crookston Saturday, March 8, to meet with these farmers and to discuss cow-testing organizations. If any farmer wishes at join in getting some high grade stock he should attend this meeting or phone or write ta Supt. C. G. Selvig, Experiment Station, Crookston, stating what he wants. Fourteen farmers from various places have already placed their orders. The animals will be selected by a government or state dairy stock judge who will give his services without charge. Good stock can be bought reasonably in many sections where there are plenty af cows.

Seed oats for sale.—Alma Carriere, Gentilly.—Adv. tf

Presbyterian Church.

We shall continue to plan ta have our Communian service Sunday. If it is a bad day we will have the service the first Sunday when weather is such that all can get in to the service.

Subject for evening: The Optimist and the Pessimist.

Mission Study books are here. Read first chapter. Let us know Sunday most suitable time to meet.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Mr. Cook gave us a small experience in writing and folding letters properly Thursday morning.

Grace Jeffers, who has been ill several days returned to her school work Monday morning.

"A College Town," the Seniors' class play, has arrived and work will begin at once on it.

The Juniors have been quite excited the past few days over the fear af their class play being stopped. A final decision has not been reached but the Juniors are waiting in suspense.

Came to the next Spartan program and see who gets the cup.

School was dismissed last Thursday at 3:30 so that the building could be used for a meeting of parents. A like meeting will be held each month of the remainder of the term.

Good debate; next program, Friday evening, March 7.

ST. HILAIRE

Albert Sandberg returned Monday to Mentmorency, where he has a claim, after a visit with friends and relatives in Black River and at Crookston. He was accompanied by his brother, Emil Sandberg.

Miss Lou Brown, accompanied by her father, A. R. Brown of Lake City, Minn. was taken to Crookston last evening to undergo an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Brown was very much alarmed, owing to the fact that the same trouble has proved fatal to three members of the family.

Nolstad and Peterson are busily engaged this week making repairs on the Mike Anderson residence west of the railroad. It will be occupied by Dr. H. F. Dunn of Clark, N. D., who recently purchased a farm east of town.

Following is the line-up of the new band: Joe Morra and Ed. Brisson, solo cornets; Oscar Olmstad, first cornet; Albert Brisk, second cornet; Walter Peterson, first Eb alto; Walter Berg, second Eb alto; Victor Bolduc, first Bb tenor; Harold Holmes, first trombone; William Limbaki, baritone; Charles Robertson, Bb bass; E. Smith, Eb bass; James Amble, snare drum, A. Rolfsen, leader. The band expects to add two good clarionet players in the near future.—Spectator.

PLUMMER

Melvin Medenill received 3rd prize in the "county awards for wheat" in the grain contest held at Crookston the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Fred Witte and two children of Liberty, Sask., Can., are guests at the E. B. Lanager home, having arrived last week from a visit with relatives near Chicago.

Dr. Murphy of St. Paul, member of the state board of health, came up from Brooks on the freight Saturday morning he had been called to make an examination report on a small-pox epidemic.He reports many cases of this disease at that place, but all in a mild form. While there he removed three cases of this disease.

An interesting wrestling match will be pulled off Saturday night or next week between Ole A. Bergsahl and L. L. Wicherman, two local veterans of the wrestling game, at the Opera hall. Mr. Wicherman left yesterday for Trail where he will work with the heavy timber morrae polco to make him in shape for the coming contest. The claims do dose not send any testimo- ials as this will be a "paddle" for him. The contestants assure the public that it will be a Graeco Curtis-Sailor Jackson contest in this game; that everything will be on the square and above-board.—Pioneer.

Pure Seed Work.

Farmers of Polk county established a popular precedent last winter when over one hundred organized the Polk County Pure Seed association. The first meeting was held during the 1913 Short Course at the Agricultural Schaal, Crookston, and was the direct outcome of a seed fair by 400 farmers of galaa to work systematically and not only of providing themselves with pedigreed seed, but also of scaling to it that they would continue in keeping up their standard. J. D. Hilsbrorpe, the agronomist of the Northwest Experiment Farm, was elected secretary of the association. They have now an hand small quantities af this seed, the yield of their first crop. The Polk County Pure Seed association will be holding the 1913 Short Course at the Agricultural School, on February 11, at which time farmers from other counties were present and also learned of the benefits derived by their Polk county brethren.

During the past season, the Northwest Experiment Farm has begun tests of 137 varieties of wheat, oats and barley. The best of each will still be tried another season at the Experiment Farm, and also on the farms of the Pure Seed association members and an the farms in other counties selected to determine the best variety of each cereal for Northwestern Minnesota. When this variety is determined and displaces inferior varieties, the goal of the association is reached. This work will reach into all the counties of northern Minnesota just as soon as the families realize its value.—C. G. Selvig, Superintendent, Northwest Experiment Farm, Crookston.

The Farm Bathtub.

A fixed bathtub in the house is a benefit to every member of the household and especially the children because it encourages cleanliness. Who does not look with misfavor on a bath when warm soft water can run into an attractive white-lined tub, than when the only accomodations are a cold portable tub which must be brought from the cellar, and hard water carried from the well and heated in the washboiler, carried outside and emptied after used, and all utensils cleaned, dried and put away, five unnecessary operations. All that should be needed is simply to clean the bath tub and take care af the towels.—Miss Junior L. Shupert, Domestic Science, University Farm, St. Paul.

Cats and Coons

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1912, by Associated Lit. Press.

"That's a heap o' difference between wildcats and coons," said the old mountaineer, "and I found it out one time in a way that was powerful unpleasant.

"Some o' us are set in our ways and some o' us hain't. I reckon I be one o' the hain't kind. If I said anything in the matter if I knowed I was wrong, I'd stick to it to the last. Sich a failin' comes mighty nigh bein' a plumb fule, but no one could have made me believe it years ago.

"One Sunday, years ago, the old woman wanted me to go to the preachin' with her. It was a nice fall day, and I wanted to hunt around one of the coons was comin' down from the mountings.

"She was huffy when she got back, and not a word was said at the supper table. After she'd cleared things a way she got down the Bible and said:

"'Zeb Wilks, the preacher, was preachin' to us today about Dan'l in the lions' den, and I want to ax you some questions.'

"'Ax away,' I said.

"'Was them regular lions, with teeth and claws?'

"'Course they was.'

"'Do you know why the lions didn't eat Dan'l?'

"'Nope.'

"'And you don't keer, do you?'

"'Not a whoo.'

"'Well, you keep right on keer'nless and see how you'll come out. A man may be not ag'in his wife and not suffer no harm, but when he's not ag'in the Bible that's a different thing. I wish you'd find the place about Jonah and the whale and read it to me.'

"'I hain't pinin' to read this evenin',' says I.

"'But you believe that the whale swallered him, don't you?'

"'I hain't sayin' as I do or don't. What I'm thinkin' of is whether Jonah coons will come down in my co'nfield tonight.'

"'Ain't a Sunday night, too?' she gasps. 'Zeb, that's sunthly a rod of punishment laid up for you. You was sot ag'in Dan'l, and now you are sot ag'in Jonah, and don't you be thinkin' you'll see the end of it without trouble. Will you read me about the children who was devoured by the bears?'

"'Not just now. I'm waitin' to hear the old dawg bark to show that the coons have arroved.'

"'But how many children do you think ther was?'

"'I hain't countin'.'

"'Wuss, how many bars?'

"'Can't say. Might not have been a single child or a bar.'

"'Then you're ag'in them too, I wouldn't be in your shoes for this here built timberhead mountain. I don't reckon you believe about the children of Israel pissin' across the Red sea dry shod?'

"'I hain't saying' no I do.'

"Jest then my old dawg begun to bark and rush around, and I took down my gun and went out. I heard a great rustlin' and spittin' and scratchin', and I reckoned that me' than a hundred coons was movin' down on the co'n.

"I called to the dawg to sick 'em, but he dropped his tail and sneaked into the house. 'Peared like a funny thing for him to do, but I went down among the co'n without him. I had skeasy got that when I heard sumthin' mavin' shout and fired at it.

"That was one of the blunders of my life. The powder smoke was still hangin' in the air when half a dozen wildcats began to climb all over me.

"The only thing I could do was to start for the house, and as I staggered along I kept up a yellin'.

"It was clawed and bit and scratched from head to heel, and I hadn't 'mut' clothes on me to cover a silver dollar. I was the most scared and done up that I fainted away and fell in a heap, and when I come to I was on the bed and the old woman was dressin' my burts.

"She had to begin at my scalp and work down to my heels, and it took her all the rest of the night. I felt bad 'nuff, I tell you, but she made me feel a heap wuss. She didn't say a single word to me for hours, but when she had about finished me up she turned off on me:

"'Zeb, do you reckon 'them was regular lions in the cage with Dan'l?'

"'With all my heart, I do,' I says.

"'And them children of Israel and the Red Sea?'

"'I believe every last word of it, Linda.'

"'And is the dawg to be whopped for not tackling a big 4 bile of himself as you did?'

"'Not a whop. I reckoned on whoppin' him for not stayin' in, but I'll let it go this time. Anything mo?'

"'Only this, Zeb,' she says as she cusses over and kisses me, 'tcept that you hadn't better go to church ag'in an' think you are a bigger man than Providence.'

"'Linda,' says I, 'I stash thought them was coons.'

"'Of co'se you did—of co'se.'

"'And I reckoned an gettin' five or six grine pelts—'

"'Yes, you did.'

"'Do you think Providence kin turn coons into wildcats at a minit's notice?'

"'Of co'se he kin. Whenever ether ithin you git to thinkin' he can't you start for town and git a gallon of sweet'ls for the bites and scratches soak to sum. Quddle down now and go to sleep.'

How His Aerie Was Captured

By F. A. MITCHEL

Gallatly as a child was one of those infant phenomena who astonish everybody. His mind ran in a philosophic groove, and at twelve years of age he had found errors in the reasoning of Aristotle that had escaped the notice of Lord Bacon. His parents sent him to college, but he amused himself asking the professors questions they were unable to answer, then quitting and teaching himself. In his junior year it became evident that he was wasting his time at a university, and he left to enter upon original research an his own account.

Young Gallatly was so absorbed in his investigations that he could not bear any interruption. He was an object of curiosity to the community among persons of his own age, who were constantly taking up his time simply to gratify a desire to gain upon such a wonder. Girls especially annoyed him in trying to attract his attention. Consequently when he entered upon his life work and his father gave him a house for the purpose the young man had it constructed as a tower of stone, with only one opening on the ground floor, the main doorway.

Notwithstanding many such obstacles thrown in the way of persons who desired to take up his time to no purpose, Gallatly was driven from the bottom to the top of his building by successive stages till, finding the latter high enough he added three stories and did all his work in the one under the roof. Various ruses having been practiced upon him to effect an entrance through the door on the ninth floor, he built directly under the roof one of those little pulley sleds common in oil mills and had his supplies sent up as a sort of lift.

These precautions so discouraged the curious that at last Gallatly was left entirely alone. Indeed, he might have pursued his studies for a lifetime and given some new and wonderful philosophy to the world had it not been for a shit of a girl who for an other reason in the world than that she couldn't get at him made up her mind that she would. She was neither pretty nor intellectual. Indeed, almost any medium for breaking in upon the phenomenon's studies might be expected in preference to a freckle faced, red headed girl.

But, though Mehitabel Smith was not intellectual, fate favored her. Her father was a banker of acreplane. Mehitabel saw in this fact that what was denied to beauty, to intellect, to winning ways, had been given to her—money, an opportunity to get at the phenomenon. While others were restricted to making attacks from the ground, she might sail in the air and hover about the windows of the great thinker, and how was he going to get away from her? Only by going below to the world from time to time.

There was an outpost for Mehitabel to capture before she could take the stronghold. This was her father. She must induce him to allow her to learn to manage one of his aeroplanes. She did this in the same way she promised to bring down Gallatly—when she got at him. She put her arms around her father's neck and kept them there till she accepted the promise she wanted. This fatality in women is not greatly esteemed by men, but has never been known to fail. Mehitabel took rides in an aeroplane beside an operator till she learned how to manage one herself. Then, after some practice, she was ready to put her scheme of conquest into operation.

One morning when Gallatly was grubbing in his attic with a new dynamiton he heard a whirring without, which he at first mistook for some great bird beating the air with its wings. He was too intent on his studies to notice it till the light was interfered with, when he looked up and saw—

What?

A red headed, freckled girl.

She threw an into the only missile nature had provided her with for her purpose—a pleasant smile.

Gallatly sighed. Here was a point of attack that he had not calculated upon. It would be impossible for him to build his tower so high that an aeroplane could not reach the top. He could draw down the shade, but he couldn't study in the dark. He leaned back in his chair and looked at the girl sadly-like. That was all she reminded—for that time. She gave him another smile and sailed along as before, Gallatly didn't know then that her appearing before his window had been a matter of chance. Her going away without trying to affect an entrance had appeared him to this view. Perhaps she would never come again.

But she did come again, and in a week at him and go away. After awhile he began to look for her coming, and when she missed a periodical visit he was disappointed. She didn't give him time to forget her, not by any means, and every time she came she bowered closer.

One day after Gallatly had been expecting her for several days without her coming he descended from his aerie and made a bee line for the house where she lived. After that she didn't fly to him any more.

Presently it was announced that the phenomenon had been captured by a red haded, freckled, awkward, ill favored girl.

"Goodness gracious!" exclaimed the beauties. "How in the world did she do it?"

BUY IT NOW
RIGHT-CUT
CHEWING TOBACCO
GUARANTEED

"Right-Cut" is the Real Tobacco Chew—Try it Today

TRY "Right-Cut" today. You'll like it better than the old-style tobacco you are chewing now.

It's a new blend of mellow, sappy leaf—and a new cut.

You get the pure, rich tobacco flavor—not over-sweetened, but seasoned just right. It lasts longer than the old kind. 5 cents a can. Ask your dealer today.

We guarantee it to be pure chewing tobacco

WEYMAN-BRUTON CO.

The BANK of PERSONAL SERVICE

The Convenience of Checks

Of the billions of dollars changing hands daily in business transactions, less than five per cent is actual money.

Checks, or written orders representing the actual money, are more convenient than cash.

On receipt of your first deposit with this bank, we give you your bank book and blank checks. Instead of carrying currency, you carry your checks and write them for the amounts of purchases or obligations.

The checks that others give you in payment are brought to us for deposit to your credit and in turn the amount may be checked upon by you. If a check is lost the bank is notified and payment is stopped.

Checks are desirable because all chance of loss, error and theft are avoided. When paid and returned by the bank, they are an indisputable receipt. Such protection is valuable to your business, yet a check account with this bank costs you nothing whatever.

MERCHANTS STATE BANK,
Capital, Surplus and Deposits $300,000
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

INTEREST PAID ON DEPOSITS

Let the Gazette do your Job Printing.

KEZIAH COFFIN

by

Joseph C. Lincoln

Author of
Cy Whittaker's Place
Capn Eri, Etc.

Illustrations by
Ellsworth Young

Copyright, 1909, by D. Appleton & Company

SYNOPSIS.

Keziah Coffin, supposed widow, is left by her friend Tryant to look after Cynthia, the daughter of her brother, Abner Coffin, who is a drunkard. Cynthia, when returned, runs off with reformed Capt. Obadiah Kendrick, of the Baptist church, after a courtship of which Keziah knows nothing. Keziah is left in charge of Tryant's children. The new minister, and elder of the church, Nathaniel Atwater, is one of the parish. Elkey comes to Keziah's house to court Hannah. Uncle Ephraim Hardy, the richest man in town, dies. Elkey announces that he will marry Keziah. Keziah refuses the proposal. Elkey tells Keziah that he will marry Keziah whether she wants him or not. Keziah tells Nat Atwater that Elkey is going to marry her. Nat, meeting Keziah, tells her that he loves her. Keziah tells Nat that she will marry Elkey. Keziah tells Elkey that she will not marry him. Elkey tells Keziah that he will marry her. Keziah tells Nat that she will marry Elkey. Nat tells Keziah that he will marry Cynthia. Keziah tells Cynthia that she will marry Elkey. Cynthia tells Keziah that she will marry Nat

FEDERAL PRISONERS

STILLWATER PENITENTIARY MADE CUSTODIAN OF U. S. CONVICTS.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON TRAIN

Brings Sixty Men to Serve Out Terms—Minnesota Will Receive Pay for the Keep of the Convicts.

Stillwater.—The special train from Washington, D. C., carrying 48 negroes and 12 white federal prisoners convicted in the state prison here, arrived Sunday evening. The entire prison force of guards and clerks with a large number of spectators were on hand to receive them.

Why They Came.

Owing to the crowded conditions in the District of Columbia jail and workhouse the prisoners were transferred to the Minnesota institution. They have been sentenced for either house breaking, embezzlement or thefts.

This is the first time in the history of the Minnesota penitentiary that it has been made the custodian of federal convicts. Under the law, Uncle Sam can transfer his prisoners to any penitentiary he sees fit.

Pay for Keep of Prisoners.

Minnesota will receive a daily toll of 40 cents for each prisoner housed and fed. Five cents a day additional is allowed for incidentals. If any of the prisoners are discharged whilst at Stillwater, the government will give the regular allowance of $10.

The party of convicts from the East was in charge of Louis F. Zinkhan, superintendent of the Washington, D. C., jail. He was assisted by 19 United States deputies.

Given Supper and Bath.

The prisoners were given supper, then a bath and put into prison clothes and assigned to cells on the first and second floors of the main cell house.

Months the prisoners were photographed and their finger prints and measurements taken. They were then assigned to their work.

The negro of the party seemed to be cheerful and were singing when the train pulled into the prison yard.

CRANK SEEKS GOV. EBERHART

Bible and Revolver Are Carried by Eccentric Who Calls at Capitol.

St. Paul.—"There is $2,000,000 appropriated to spend for a monument, and I want to see that it is distributed where it is done more good. I want to see the governor about it," said a peculiar looking individual who entered the office of Governor A. O. Eberhart Friday. He carried a large Bible under his arm and apparently was much in earnest over his errand. Tears flowed from his eyes as he went on to declaim against such a waste of money. W. H. Williams, the governor's messenger, talked to him and tried to soothe him, but he insisted on seeing the governor. "I've got a gun," he said, pointing to a bulge in his pocket, "but I know the governor will make the thing all right."

"You are going out on the buses, aren't you?" Williams asked the man.

"Yes," he answered. "I am late and I must go out there right away."

So still carrying his Bible and the gun, he left the office. He gave the name of Peterson and did not say where he came from or where he was going.

1,000 Farmers Attend Meeting.

Redwood Falls.—One of the largest farmers' elevator meetings ever held was held in this city for the purpose of amending the articles of incorporation. Fully a thousand farmers were present. J. M. Anderson of Fargo, president of the Equity Cooperative Grain exchange, said Minnesota was to be commended for its fine organization of the grain trade, and predicted that the results would speak well for the members of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce all up and take notice. He declared that combination showed it that, owing to the rules governing the inspection and grading of grain, the four loose made millions every year from the processes known as mixing grains. He contended these profits were made as a result of the operation of the rules and their enforcement, and that they were made in addition to the legitimate profits of the business.

Farmers' Institute at Hinckley.

Hinckley.—A farmers' institute, held here Friday, under the auspices of the agricultural department of the Hinckley high school, was largely attended. Professor R. M. Washburn of the State Agricultural college spoke on the "Dairy Industry" and also gave an illustrated lecture on the study of agriculture.

Car Plant to Cost $2,000,000.

Duluth.—A steel car plant to involve the expenditure of over $2,000,000 is to be established at the head of the lakes, according to reliable information. It is expected that construction will commence as early in the prina as possible in order that the plant will be ready to go into operation by the time the Minnesota steel company is in position to supply raw material from its plant here. Representatives of a prominent Philadelphia syndicate have, for several months, been thoroughly canvassing the situation.

Identified by Stranger.

St. Cloud.—J. Rufus Wallingford of popular fame has but little to do a strange or here to the story told by Vincent Cheadle of this city in true. Asserting he represented the David C. Cook Publishing company, the man approached Cheadle with a proposition to be local agent. He demanded $10 down and handed the local man what purported to be a receipt. The paper, however, was found to be a plain "I. O. U" and the publishing company has repudiated its alleged agent. A warrant has been sworn out.

OWATONNA TO IMPROVE LAKE

Plans Made at Organization Meeting for Popularizing Summer Resort.

Owatonna.—A meeting of business men and sportsmen was held last week to organize and formulate plans to improve Rice lake, eight miles east of this city. R. H. Bach was elected chairman and F. A. Dunham secretary.

It was decided to have the lake surveyed and a profile made and then take the proposition before the county commissioners and ask permission to make the improvements. It is thought the water can be raised about five feet without any material damage to surrounding property. If this can be done it would make a lake about three miles long and one mile wide, with a shore adapted for park purposes. It is the intention to make a public park out of it and to stock the lake with game fish.

The lake was stocked several years ago with fish, but owing to the shallowness of the water they were destroyed in the winter. Up to a few years ago it was full of wild rice. From the enthusiasm shown at the meeting the success of the proposition is assured.

Part of the lake lies in Dodge county, so it will be necessary to get the consent of that county interested. The money for temporary access was quickly raised by those present and promises for as much more as might be necessary were made.

Arrested as Bigamists.

Holt.—Sheriff Forsberg has arrested John Tapper and Mrs. Leona Ring, both of Mud Lake, and taken them to Warren to answer to a charge of bigamy. The Tapper and Ring homesteads are near each other on the shore of Mud lake, and last fall Mrs. Ring deserted her husband and went to live with Tapper.

Recently Tapper secured a new marriage certificate in a bureau drawer at the family home, which contained the information that Tapper and Mrs. Ring had been married at Grand Forks, N. D., on Oct. 8, 1912, she giving her maiden name of Lena Amundson. Ring then took the certificate to a neighbor for safe keeping, until he could lay the matter before the county attorney.

U. S. Road Follows River.

Minneapolis.—The new federal highway, to be built under appropriations from congress, will follow the Mississippi river from the Omaha bridge near Meadota to Mankato. The state highway commission, which was asked by Governor A. O. Eberhart to select the fifty-mile road to be designated for federal aid, has notified the commissioners that the Mankato route, called the "scenic highway," has been agreed on. Formal action will also be taken until the next meeting of the commission. Owatonna and Faribault were bot competitors for the road, but they were advised today that the Minnesota river route had been selected.

Kochler Submits Report.

Moorhead.—The feature of the third annual meeting of the Clay County Potato Growers' association was the address Friday afternoon of Professor A. R. Kochler, potato expert of the agricultural college, made his report as "Cooperative Experiment in Clay County in 1912." The report was illustrated with a series of nearly fifty specially prepared slides showing the experiments and plans carried out to work done on the different experimental plots.

Freight Wreck on C. & N. W.

Mankato.—An extra freight train on the Chicago & North-Western road was wrecked in the yards here at Lake. In this county Saturday, but no one was injured. A broken rail caused the accident, after the engine and several cars had passed over it in safety. The derailed cars were like the new ones and were more or less damaged, but the wreck was cleared and the road was not suspended, as the Great Western track was used.

Boy Charged with Theft.

Wabasso.—Frank Bullock, 14 years old, was arrested at his home near here on a charge of burglary. It is alleged that the young man robbed a drug store and the postoffice at Wabasso. He was taken to Mankato by a deputy United States marshal and Postoffice Inspector Watson from the United States Commissioner Taylor.

Another State Highway.

Winona.—The proposed additional fourth state highway for Winona county has been formally approved by the county board. It will extend for a distance of several miles up Straight valley, between Dellgrove and Altura and is to be known as state highway No. 10.

Girl Poisoned by Pills.

Swanville.—Miss Hanna, 3-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ellsworth Deelle, received some pellets which she took over half a box of them. She died as a result. The child was recently taken from under a sick bed by a gratifying operation from which she was recovering.

Big Day for Columbus Knights.

Bemidji.—Forty-five members of the Bemidji council, Knights of Columbus, at the annual meeting held here. The degree team of St. Paul and Duluth had charge of the initiation. The following state officers were present: Neil M. Cronin, Minneapolis, state deputy; John A. Barry, St. Paul, past state deputy; Dr. Ed Fahey, Duluth, district deputy; Leo Bell, Duluth, past district deputy; Thomas Mahon, Duluth, state secretary, and James Nolan, Brainerd, district deputy.

$20,415 Bill is Disallowed.

Duluth.—Edward Miller's bill which amounts to $20,415 against the James Sheridan estate has been disallowed by Probate Judge S. W. Gilpin. Sheridan was one of the pioneer prospectors of the Mesaba range and his executors have carried him to Mexico and Alaska. Miller, Sheridan's friend and companion, according to his claim, was in the employ of Sheridan and according to an agreement existing between them was to receive pay for his services.

FARMERS SHORT COURSE END.

Grain, Corn and Potato Contest to Be Held Next Year, Hereafter.

Crookston.—The third annual short course at the Crookston school of agriculture and northwest experiment station has closed and was admittedly productive of the best results of any series of gatherings ever held in this section of the state.

The improvement of social conditions in rural communities was the main theme and Mrs. George Schuck, president of the Fairfax-Andover Social circle, presided and made the principal address for that section of the day's program.

Boys Are In Practice.

The Fairfax Andover Social circle organized three years ago has in actual practice the plans outlined by President Vincent of the University of Minnesota during university week last summer in various parts of the state. The club membership is composed of the women of two townships, the men of the township nearest them. They meet weekly in the winter months and monthly during the rush months of spring and summer, and each year they have a big dinner after which addresses are made and some interesting plans taken up and discussed.

The result is that the women become intelligent helpmets for their farmer husbands, instead of competent drudges. The farmers who "took on the plan sakeance on-the-start, are now his most enthusiastic supporters. It has developed a team work between the house wife and the field hand that has resulted in better farming and has wonderfully increased the attractiveness of rural life.

The attendance at the short course books all records. There were crowds every day ranging from 400 to close to 1,000, the largest crowd being present Monday when more than 1,000 Farmers' Boys and Professor Nelson were present. The farmers came from every portion of northwestern Minnesota and the greatest interest was manifested in every subject discussed, pure seed, livestock, dairying, horticulture, poultry and the sows for boys.

One of the biggest features was the grain, corn and potato contests, which will be a regular thing hereafter.

A NEW GIRLS' DORMITORY

Named for Judge Daniel Buck, Known As "Father of Normal."

Mankato.—Daniel Buck Hall" is the name selected for the girls' dormitory that is now nearing completition, to be used for housing girls attending the state normal school. The state normal board authorized John C. Wise, resident director, and President C. H. Cooper to choose a name.

Judge Daniel Buck was closely associated with the beginning of the Mankato normal, having secured the passage of the bill for its creation, while a member of the state legislature in 1885, and having been for a time a resident director and a member of the normal board. Because of his interest in the school, he acquired the title of "father of the normal school," and the selection of his name is considered eminently appropriate. His death occurred several years ago. He was at one time a member of the state supreme court, and was engaged in banking and other local enterprises.

President Cooper has gone east, to be gone two weeks or more. He will attend the national meeting of normal school presidents and instructors, and then there will go to Philadelphia to attend the meeting of the superintendents' section of the National Educational association.

Saves Farm Home.

Pipestone.—Quick work by a can of fresh milk were used with good effect in extinguishing a fire which threatened to destroy the residence of Frank Price on a farm five miles south of Pipestone. Mr. Price was making some repairs on a gasoline light when an explosion occurred, setting fire to the house. Five cans of milk which had just been brought to the house, were used to smother the flames, and when water at hand the milk was used to put out the flames. Mr. Price and three of his children were badly burned.

Mice Start Damaging Fire.

Elbow Bluff.—Mice, it is said, caused a fire which stretched its wrath for miles along the Livingston stretch, focusing on the aveiues radiating from the capitol. After President-elect Wilson had passed, Governor Wilson and Vice-President-elect Marshall became the center. Governor Marshall, they want straightway from the capitol to the White House and thence shortly to the reviewing stand in the park at the mansion's front.

The police, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, United States army, as its grand marshal started from the capitol grounds to move along the avenue to the White House, where it was to pass in review. The postmaster-general "forward march" at the instant the signal was heard from the White House that in fifteen minutes the newly elected president and commander-in-chief of the armies and navies of the United States would be ready to review his troops.

It was thought that the parade might, in some of the picturesque formations which particularly appealed to the people on former occasions. There were talked of rough riders and many not only when Roosevelt was inaugurated, but when he went out of office and was succeeded by William H. Taft. The parade, however, by the order of Mr. Wilson seemed to be picturesque enough in its features to appeal to the masses. Secretary cortelyou made notes enough over it.

The procession was in division with General Wood as the grand marshal of the whole affair and barring the rough riders, it was fulfilling the words invariably used on like occasions, was "impressive and brilliant."

Regulars in First Division.

The regulars of the country two armed service naturally had the right of way. Maj. Gen. W. W. Wotherspoon, United States army, was in command of the first division. It which marched the soldiers and sailors and marines from the posts and the navy yards within a day's ride of Washington. The West Point cadets and the midshipmen from the naval academy at Annapolis, competent beyond other corps in manual and in evolution, the future generals and admirals of the army, had place in the first division.

All branches of the army service were represented in the order of regulars—engineers, artillery, cavalry, infantry and signal corps. The sailors and marines from half a dozen battleships rolled along smartly in the wake of their landsmen brethren.

The National Guard division followed the division of regulars. It was commanded by Brig. Gen. Albert L. Mills, United States army, who wore the medal of honor given him for conspicuous personal gallantry at the battle of San Juan hill. General Mills is the chief of the militia division of the United States war department.

The entire National Guard of New Jersey was in line, and Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maryland, Virginia, Georgia, Maine and North Carolina were represented by bodies of civilian soldiers. Cadets from many of the private and state military schools of the country had a place in the militia division. Among them were boys from the Virginia Military Institute, the Xavier Military Academy of Indiana, the Carlisle school, Purdue university, the Citadel cadets and the Georgia Military academy.

Veterans and Civilians.

The third division of the parade was composed of the Grand Army of the Republic veterans, members of the Union Veteran league and of the Spanish war organizations. Gen. James H. Stuart of Chicago, a veteran of both the Civil and Spanish wars, was in command.

Robert P. Harper, chief marshal of the civic forces, commanded the fourth division. Under this change were represented the civic societies of the country, among them being Tammany, represented by 2,000 of its braves, and Democratic clubs from Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Baltimore and other cities.

They put the American Indians into the civilian division. To them that they were in war paint and feathers was nothing to be considered. They took no thought to their peace. Members of the United Hunt Clubs of Pennsylvania rode in this division. The pink coats and their high hats apparently were not thought to warp "Jeffersonian simplicity" from the heart. There was a fox-hunting field in Jefferson's day and in Jefferson's state.

Finally, the 1,000 Princeton students in the civic section of the parade were the last division.

Many of them wore orange and black

Escorting the President-Elect to White House at a Previous Inauguration.

sweaters and they were somewhat abashed by applause. Princeton students from seventeen other colleges and universities were among the marchers.

There was music enough for any democratic occasion. The judicious distribution of the bands prevented any clashing of tunes. Each band was fifty bands in line, but only one of them used the "Star Spangled Banner" and played "ball to the Chief;" a tune which every band on an occasion like this should have ready to play and play almost incessantly, to the routing of everything else known to the composers of the past.

Spectators Cheer Constantly.

All along Pennsylvania avenue, from the capitol to a point four block beyond the White House, the streets were massed in lines ten deep. The cheering was constant and Woodrow Wilson came completely into the enthusiasm attending his induction into office when not accompanied by apparently heartfelt acclaim of the people every now and then as he rode for the next four years.

The reviewing stand in front of the Pennsylvania avenue which is not occupied for office purposes was rented and used for a public affair was much money. Every room overlooking the marching parade was taken for the many spectators as could find a vantage point from which to peer through the grand stand. Many of the office buildings were covered with persons who had come to Washington for the day to see the wonders of the inauguration. The stands and parlors were clearly glad of an opportunity to go home and to say that after many years of waiting they had seen a democratic inauguration.

The parade passed the reviewing stand of President Wilson, who stood with Governor Marshall. The marchers saluted. When the last organization had marched by dusk was coming down. The hundreds of thousands of the city and the suburbs began to light their lamps were lighted and Washington at night became beautiful as has been the case before as bright as Washington at day. The loss of the attraction of the inaugural ball was compensated for by the finest display of fireworks, it is said, this city has ever known.

Live Baby as Football.

A dozen boys playing football with a pasteboard box in a vacant lot in Brooklyn sat down to rest after an hour's play. "That's a funny-looking box," said one of them. "Let's see what's inside." They untied the string. A four-pound baby was unclaimed and to all appearance dead, rolled to the ground. A policeman took it to a hospital. Half an hour later it was crying lustily. It will probably live.—New York Sun.

WILSON HONORED BY FINE PARADE

New President Reviews Immense Inaugural Procession.

AVENUE A GLORIOUS SIGHT

General Wood, Grand Marshal—Yet arms, National Guard and Civilians in Line—Indians Add Touch of Picturesque.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington, March 4.—Woodrow Wilson, as president of Princeton, rode down Pennsylvania avenue today, and later rode up the same avenue as president of the United States, and as the highest office of government a few minutes thereafter reviewed the multitudes of soldiers and civilians which, with playing bands and flying flags, marched by to give him proper official and personal honor.

For several nights Pennsylvania avenue has been a glory of light. Today it was a glory of color, movement and music. There are 300,000 inhabitants of the city of Washington. Its temporary population is more than half million mark. The absentees from the finishing lines of the parade were most by the patriotism, who were given over there to protect the temporarily vacated residences of the capital.

Woodrow Wilson asked that "Jeffersonian simplicity" should be one of the things which had to do with his inauguration. The command for Jeffersonian simplicity was given at many points in the city, and was largely heeded. Monday there was no "Jeffersonian simplicity," but there was nothing said to detract or qualify, but there was evidence in plenty that the American people love and admire all kinds of "Jeffersonian simplicity" and can find a place within the limits of democratic display for it when the grand parade and a great occasion generally.

Throngs Visit the Capitol.

The inhibition of the inaugural ball and of the planned public reception at the capitol had no effect as a bar to the attendance at its ceremony of distinguished presidents Masses were bound to see, and other masses were here to see them. There was a greater demonstration while the procession was passing than there was four years ago. Monday there were no days or early, but there was evidence in plenty that the American people love and admire all kinds of "Jeffersonian simplicity" and can find a place within the limits of democratic display for it when the grand parade and a great occasion generally.

Throngs Visit the Capitol.

The inhibition of the inaugural ball and of the planned public reception at the capitol had no effect as a bar to the attendance at its ceremony of distinguished presidents Masses were bound to see, and other masses were here to see them. There was a greater demonstration while the procession was passing than there was four years ago. Monday there were no days or early, but there was evidence in plenty that the American people love and admire all kinds of "Jeffersonian simplicity" and can find a place within the limits of democratic display for it when the grand parade and a great occasion generally.

Throngs Visit the Capitol.

The inhibition of the inaugural ball and of the planned public reception at the capitol had no effect as a bar to the attendance at its ceremony of distinguished presidents Masses were bound to see, and other masses were here to see them. There was a greater demonstration while the procession was passing than there was four years ago. Monday there were no days or early, but there was evidence in plenty that the American people love and admire all kinds of "Jeffersonian simplicity" and can find a place within the limits of democratic display for it when the grand parade and a great occasion generally.

Throngs Visit the Capitol.

The inhibition of the inaugural ball and of the planned public reception at the capitol had no effect as a bar to the attendance at its ceremony of distinguished presidents Masses were bound to see, and other masses were here to see them. There was a greater demonstration while the procession was passing than there was four years ago. Monday there were no days or early, but there was evidence in plenty that the American people love and admire all kinds of "Jeffersonian simplicity" and can find a place within the limits of democratic display for it when the grand parade and a great occasion generally.

Throngs Visit the Capitol.

The inhibition of the inaugural ball and of the planned public reception at the capitol had no effect as a bar to the attendance at its ceremony of distinguished presidents Masses were bound to see, and other masses were here to see them. There was a greater demonstration while the procession was passing than there was four years ago. Monday there were no days or early, but there was evidence in plenty that the American people love and admire all kinds of "Jeffersonian simplicity" and can find a place within the limits of democratic display for it when the grand parade and a great occasion generally.

PRESIDENT WILSON FOR JUSTICE ONLY

His Inaugural Address Calls on All Honest Men to Aid in His Task.

WILL RESTORE, NOT DESTROY

New Chief Executive Says Change of Government Means the Nation Is Using Democratic Party for Large and Definite Purpose.

Washington, March 4. — Looking upon the victory for the Democratic party as the means of the nation to correct the evils that have been allowed to grow up in our national life, President Wilson in his inaugural address today called on all honest men to assist him in carrying out the will of the people. Following is his address:

There has been a change of government. It began two years ago, when the house of representatives became Democratic by a decisive majority. It has now been completed. The senate about to assemble will also be Democratic. The offices of president and vice-president have been put into the hands of Democrats. What does the change mean? That is the question that is uppermost in our minds today. That is the question I am going to try to answer, in order, if I may, to interpret the occasion.

Not Destruction, But Life.

It means much more than the mere success of a party. The success of a party means little except when the nation is using that party for a large and definite purpose. No one can mistake the purpose for which the nation now seeks to use the Democratic party. It seeks to use it to interpret a change in its own plans and point of view. Some old things with which we had grown familiar, and which had begun to creep into the very habit of our thought and of our lives, have altered their aspect as we have latterly looked critically upon them, with fresh, awakened eyes; have changed their shapes and almost shown themselves alien and sinister. Some new things, as we look freshly upon them, wilfully seek to comprehend their real character, have come to assume the aspect of things long believed in and familiar, stuff of our own convictions. We have been renewed by a new insight into our own life.

We see that in many things that lie very great. It is incomparably great in its material aspects, in its body of resources and wealth, in the sweep of its energy, in the industries which have been conceived and built up by the genius of individual men and the limitless enterprise of groups of men. It is great, also, very great, in its moral force. Nowhere else in the world have abler men and women exhibited in more striking form the beauty and energy of sympathy and helpfulness and devotion. Our life as a whole cannot be question. We are not striking out new standards of conduct. We are not without counsel, or without experience, beacon lights of history to set by. We have but to apply the standards we have always carried at our elbows. Our work is a work of restoration.

We have itemized with some degree of particularity the things that ought to be altered and here are some of the chief items: A tariff which shall once more command the markets of the world, a system of currency and credit which shall make the government a facile instrument in the hands of private business; a banking and currency system based upon the conviction that the government is well its bonds fifty years ago and perfectly adapted to concentrating cash and reserves in the control of the many, a system which, take it on all its sides, financial as well as administrative, holds capital in leading strings, restrains the liberties and limits the opportunities of labor, and exploits without renewing or conserving the natural resources of the country; a body of agricultural activities never yet given the efficiency of great business undertakings or served as it should be through the instrumentality of science taken directly to the farm, or rendered the facilities of credit best suited to its particular needs; water courses undeveloped, waste places uncultivated, forests unheeded, fertile soils wasting without plan or prospect of renewal, unregarded waste heaps at every mine. We have worked at the task more than any other nation has the most effective means of production, but we have not studied cost or economy as we should either in our industry or in the use of our lands or in the conservation of our human life.

Matters of Justice.

Nor have we studied and perfected the means by which government may be put at the service of humanity, in safeguarding the health of our people, the health of its men and its women and its children as well as their right in the struggle for existence. This is no sentimental duty. The firm basis of government is justice, not expediency. These are matters of justice. There can be no equality or opportunity, the first essential of justice in the body politic, if men and women and children be not shielded in their weakness, their very vitality, from the consequences of industrial processes which they cannot alter, control or escape with intelligence. We must see to it that it does not itself crush or weaken or damage its own constituent parts. The first duty of law is to keep sound the society it moves among. To accomplish it all the laws affecting conditions of labor will be sifted and altered. Nothing can be determine for themselves are intimate parts of the very business of justice and legal efficiency.

These are some of the things we ought to do, and not leave the others undone, the old-fashioned, the long-neglected, fundamental safeguarding of property and of individual right. This is the high enterprise of the new day: to lift everything that concerns our life as a nation to the light that shines from the hearthfire of every man's conscience and vision of the right. It is inconceivable that we should do this as partisans; it is inconceivable we should do it in ignorance of the facts as they are or in blind haste. We shall do it deliberately and seek counsel and knowledge, not shallow self-confidence, in the settlement of exercitons whither they carried. Justice, and only justice, shall always be our motive.

Task Not One of Politics.

And yet this is not a new age in point of mere science. The nation has been deeply stirred, stirred by a solemn knowledge of sin and of moral failure, by the conviction that the only way to reform any existing evil is to set right the organic life of society out of which it has grown. No one can deny that the life of our nation has shown wherever it touched the life of the individual, that there was something wrong with our industrial society when men, right-minded in their relations to one another, could not find it possible long to live undisturbed by the desire to square their own conduct with the accepted standards of their neighbors. Our life contains every great thing, and contains it in rich abundance.

Human Cost Not Counted.

But the evil has come with the good, and much fine gold has been corrupted. With riches has come an unbearable waste. We have squandered a great part of what we might have used, and we have not stopped to conserve the exceeding bounty of nature, which our own energies have so wantonly and impotent, scorning to be careful, shamefully prodigal as well as admirably efficient. We have been proud of our industrial achievements but we have not hitherto stopped thoughtful enough to count the human cost, the cost of lives snuffed out, of energies overtaxed and broken, the fearful physical and spiritual cost to the men and women and children upon whom the dreadful strain and burden of it all has fallen pitilessly the years through. The groans and agony of it all had not yet reached our ears, the solemn, moving undertones of our life, coming up out of the mines and factories and out of every home where the struggle for life is hardest and most bitter. With the great government we have taken but little thought. We have left affairs too much alone, each man for himself and God for us all. We have let the active and the knowing shape their own fortunes and make their own terms, careless of the consequences, clear-sighted enough in our own selfish way, but heedless of the welfare, the rights, the very lives of others.

Restoration Is Task.

The task of restoration we have to perform has its bearing upon every part of our life as a people, upon our commercial life, our life as employers and workmen, our life as citizens, our political life, our social life. It is not a task for the government alone or for the states alone. It is not a task for any one class of our citizens. It is a task for the whole people, for us all. We are to cleanse and reconsider and restore, not our life as a nation only, but also our conception of life itself. We are to purify it and put it back into its due relations to the things that are material. We are to look to it that the splendid human energies that issue from it are not dissipated or led astray. We are to see to it that our work as a nation is so conducted that it will be a reproach to no man's conscience or principle. This is not the task of any party; it is the task of the nation, and of all parties within the nation. It is a task which shall search us through and through, and from which we shall emerge either humbled or inspired.

Romans May Have Worked God Mine.

Every one is aware that prehistoric gold mines have been found in South Africa, and speculation is rife as to the identity of the people who worked them. Mr. Theodore Bent, however informs us that a Roman coin has been found buried among the debris of one of these mines. This is apparent to the curator of coins in the British Museum, who says that it was struck during the reign of the Emperor Diocletian, A. D. 285-305. But the letter adds that these particular coins are not rare and that it would be unsafe to draw deductions from it as to the age of the mine or the nationality of its workers.

"Mother," asked John, "did Moses have the same indigestion as father has?"

"Why, John," what do you mean?"

"Well, it says in the Sunday school tears that he Lord gave Moses two tablets."

Possibly the ora of superstition is withering away. One of the great steamship lines is to start out its vessels on Fridays hereafter. Yet the canny traveler still refuses to sleep in upper 13.

That's the Place—

SPILLANES

The Store of Quality

Groceries, Confectionery, Stationery, Cigars, Pipes and Tobacco, Soft Drinks, Fruits, Coffee and Lunch.

A complete line in each department

The Local Field

Literary program, high school, next Friday evening.

Fur farm machinery see M. Skala & Son on the north side.

Girl wanted for general house work. Mrs. M. E. Millard.—Adv.

Pearl Hemmons of Thief River Falls spent Sunday in Red Lake Falls.

Miss Gertrude Hemenuth entertained the F. and F. B. Tuesday night.

Wm. Cano of River township was attending to business matters in town today.

P. H. Grasser of Crookston was attending to business matters in town Wednesday.

Tom Norby of Plummer has purchased of Pindelseen a five-passenger touck car.

S. M. Strand, the Brooks banker, is attending to business matters in town today.

Grain and hay land, also improved farm for rent, in Lake Pleasant.—P. H. Grasser.—Adv. tf

W. H. Fisher went to Minneapolis on a business trip Saturday and returned this morning.

Misses Allard of Bigfork arrived in town Wednesday and will spend several days with relatives here.

Monday evening, March 24, is the date for the big ball to be given by the Red Lake Falls firemen.

Miss Mona Zeh, after a two months vacation, resumed her work as teacher of the Louisville school Monday.

P. W. Lee, who has had a string of horses in the woods near Pankley, returned to Red Lake Falls Monday.

For dress making see Mrs. Joe Paquette, at Bray's, one door north of Helm's machine shop.—Adv. m26

Miss Pearl Gray returned this morning from Becker, where she had been for a few days visiting with relatives.

Frank Brouillet and George Cyr left Monday to go to St. Louis. They are now in the Missouri city disposing of a shipment of two car loads of potatoes.

Some more dress goods are due this week. We are very strong on ginghams and wash goods, percales and dress, etc. Will save you a little money too. Why not send for samples today, we pay the postage.—LaBissoniere—Adv.

New residents of Red Lake county are Herman Scheuring and family who arrived this week. Mr. Scheuring purchased the Jos. Prudhomme farm some weeks ago and is now occupying the place. Mr. Scheuring came from Iona, Minn., and brought considerable property with him.

Mrs. George Tykeson left today for Northwood, N. Dak., being summoned to that city because of the serious illness of her mother.

Nels Benoit left today to go to Holt, Minn., where he will have charge of an elevator for a few weeks.

A. Berthiaume went to St. Paul Friday evening to take down a shipment of live stock. He returned Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Whalen returned Monday from St. Paul, where they had been for a visit with Mrs. Whalen's people.

Clem Brunelle returned Tuesday from Calgary, where he had spent the past few weeks attending to business matters.

After a two months vacation, school was resumed Monday in the Vance district, south-west of town, with Miss Leah Chatel as teacher.

Miss Margaret Rose is spending the week at Thief River Falls assisting in the office of the Pennington County Abstract company.

W. H. Brown, manager of the Red River Power company, was here from Grand Forks Tuesday attending to some of the company's business matters.

L. E. Ericson spent Sunday at Crookston with Mrs. Ericson who is a patient in a Crookston hospital. Mrs. Ericson's condition continues to be favorable.

For Sale—6-room house, good cistern, cellar and shed on lots 9 and 10, block 4, Original townsite. For price and terms write F. L. Dyss, Epler Block, Seattle, Wash. m13—Adv.

New sheds have been erected on St. Joseph's church grounds for the accommodation of the horses of parishioners who drive to church from the country.

Newman, the mind reader and hypnotist, entertained large audiences at the Lotus theatre Monday and Tuesday evenings. Newman has few equals in his line. His work in "mind reading" can be called unusual.

Strayed or stolen, bird dog, white with black spot on one side. Black ear with white tip and black spot at tail. Liberal reward if returned to L. A. Dusterhoft, Red Lake Falls.

Oranges 20c dozen, apples 40c peck $3.75 per barrel, tea dust 15c, fig newtons 15c, seeded raisins 10c, canned beets 10c, cheese 15c, soap, 5c. Pears, 10c, pure home buck wheat flour.—The Big Store.—Adv.

At a meeting of the ladies aid society of the Presbyterian church held last Saturday afternoon the following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Ed L. Healy, president; Mrs. Hanson, vice president; Mrs. Carver, treasurer; Mrs. Fletcher, secretary.

The Rebeccas and invited guests enjoyed a card party at I. O. O. F. hall last Friday evening. A very enjoyable evening was spent playing progressive whist.

A. Berthiaume went to St. Paul on a business trip Saturday night. He went from St. Paul to Montevideo for a visit with his mother, returning to Red Lake Falls this morning.

Thinking of a new suit? Kuppenheimer and Clothcraft is the strongest combination there is—one the very best made, the other the most value for your money if you are looking for a suit at $10 to $15. A look costs nothing.—LaBissoniere.—Adv.

We expect our new Uts & Dunn's shoes this week. Quality, style and individuality are our marks of this, America's foremost line of shoes. They cost no more than ahem—called good shoes. — The Big Store.—Adv.

Earl W. Goss and family left Tuesday evening to go to Hunter, N. D., where they will reside in the future. Mr. Goss has become associated with his brother who operates a telephone system in the vicinity of Hunter.

Leon Huot, who has been employed in a barber shop at Crookston, visited with relatives here last week. He has discontinued his work at Crookston and has gone to Burdette, Sask., where he will remain indefinitely.

Ernest Buse returned Tuesday evening from his winter sojourn in the west. He spent the winter with relatives in Vancouver, the state of Washington and just before returning had been at Missoula for a visit with the family of his daughter, Mrs. H. B. Healy.

Peter S. Goedker returned Saturday from Prairie du Chene, Wis., where he had been for treatment for an injured foot that has caused him much trouble for the past few years. The treatment resulted in much improvement though not a complete relief from his trouble, due to the fact, Mr. Goedker says, that he could not spend enough time in the hospital at this season. He will have his foot treated again in the fall and expects to be made as good as new.

During the past week over thirty team loads of machinery belonging to the Northwestern Drainage Company left this city for the extreme eastern end of ditch number eleven in Beltrami county. The shipment included a Fairbanks, steel haul, yard machine, which will be erected for use during the coming summer. The company also has thirteen tank teams continually on the road hauling its summer's supply of fuel.—Thief River Falls News-Press.

Clem Brunelle, who returned this week from a business trip to Calgary, says that while business is rather quiet in the Canadian country, some of the cities that bid fair to become important business centers are enjoying lively "booms". This is due in part to the rapid settlement of the agricultural lands during the past few years and in some cases to the real estate "boom" itself. He noticed this condition in Calgary and Medicine Hat and especially in the latter city, the population of which increased from 5000 to 12000 in a single year. The city's big asset is natural gas in abundance supply offering very cheap light and fuel, and manufacturing enterprises are being induced to locate there by the offer of free gas for a term of years.

Let us figure on any farm machinery you may need for the season.—M. Skala & Son.—Adv.

Max Jugler returned today from New York city, where he had been in the big town for the past two weeks attending to some business matters.

Mrand Mrs. J. A.Duffy were Red Lake Falls' representatives at the Wilson inaugural. Mr. Duffy sent word home that he was a grand success. Duffy will visit a number of the larger eastern cities.

TAMING A SHREW

By ELIZABETH WEED

"Well, what are you goin' to do about it?"

"I dunno. If I could get the gal to marry me I'd let her a dery furnace for the rest of my life. If I let her alone I'll be goin' around like a whipped rooster. It's six for one and half a dozen for the other."

"Why don't you git her down and pummel her for awhile? Mebbe that would take some of the cussedness outen her."

"I'd like to see the man that could git it out of her that a way."

"You mought save her."

This plan seemed to set the other thinking. They were two hard-working miners in a campdive. Rogers was the man who loved the shrew, and Baxter was the friend who was advising him. Evidently in his last suggestion the latter had struck some thing that warranted consideration.

"What d'ye think would scare her?"

"Injuns."

"Mebbe," said the other after some thought. "How'd you work it?"

"Wual, you mought git some on 'em offen the reservation to put on their war paint and come down on the gal's home. The neighbors mought be told about it. You could come in with the plan, far she's a terror to the bull lot of 'em. I think I know a redskin—Arrapahoe Jim, they call him—who would consent to the plan for a keg of firewater."

The result of this dialogue was that one night soon after it occurred those living near Tom Medigre, the father of Madge Medigre, began to talk of trouble on the reservation and expressed fear that the Indians might break away. Tom didn't take much stock in the report, but as many persons talked with Madge about it that she believed they were in earnest. "Let 'em come," she said. "I'll be ready for 'em."

One night when her father was away Madge heard a distant whooping and saw the light of what she supposed were burning houses, though they were really bonfires. She locked all the doors and, getting down two rifles that hung on the wall, made preparations for defense. The whoops came nearer, and finally, looking out through a window, she saw a single redskin creeping under into the slantest heart. Half a dozen Indians carrying lighted torches were coming down the road. As they drew nearer their war paint, in the glare of the burning wood, was doubly savage looking. But they didn't come so near as they had intended, and when the first Indian let among them, which altered the situation. It was every man for his own and scraped the log of another. Baxter was among them, dressed and painted as a redskin. He was the last to run, being a short distance up the road, and to join them when they had made good scared and do the heroic by saving her from the savages. Then he would be no some shots in among them, and at every shot a redskin was to drop. Before most of them had come out of the fight the rest were to take to their heels and Baxter was to appear to Madge as her deliverer. She was expected to be so bodily scared and relieved at the sight of Rogers' power that thereafter he would lead her like a lamb.

This ieititire af Madge's somewiot checked the enthusiasm of Baxter, and he Dutter said to them, "We'll make it a hari," and led his braves on, and under the additional incentive they were ready to take the risk. But they straightway began their Indian exercises, crawling and dodging so that Madge was not able to locate the redskins. Nevertheless, an occasional shot came from her fortress, usually followed by a yell from some redskin who was either grazed or winged.

But they were not ready for her, and while she was watching the front of the house Baxter and an Indian took it in the rear and, getting on the roof, dropped down the chimney. Baxter got hold of him, and they captured the girl.

Trifling incidents often turn a general's original intentions, and the spirited defense requiring the Indians to skulk spoiled the plan. Rogers, not knowing what to do, rushed in, swore a blue streak at the savages, but did not hurt any of them. Madge, whose eye was full of fire and who was panting like fury, seeing that his advent was of no advantage to her, let out on him.

"Why don't you go for 'em?" she shrieked.

"Go for 'em!" repeated Rogers, like an actor who had forgotten his lines. "I do believe you're one on 'em."

Baxter didn't know what to do or say. Neither did Arapahoe Jim nor the supers in the performance. Whether Madge caught on to the fact that there was a game in it all or gathered courage from the inactivity of her enemies, she ceased to cry a boom and began to lay about her like a fury. Baxter, who had taken a cartridge in his rifle, fired it at her, but it only served to enrage her. The Indians, not relishing the lesson meeting one by one got out and away. Their leaders followed, and Baxter was next. Rogers was left alone with his love.

"You, Bill Rogers, git out a' here!" she said. "You beat puttin' up a job on me, and I'd have you know I won't stand it!"

With that she brought the broom down on him, and he, too, fled.

He is trying to think not a better job by which to tame his shrew.

THE CAR THAT SELLS BY THE TRAIN LOAD

What a Buick Has Done For Others, a Buick Will Do for You

Records of the past are the best promises of the future.

At the beginning of the 1913 season there were 110,000 Buicks on the road, and every one of those 110,000 Buicks has a record.

It is nothing unusual to see a Buick which has run from 25,000 up to 100,000 miles, and even more. And you never hear of a worn-out Buick.

34,000 Miles; No Repairs

"Have run my model "10" 22,000 miles in three years and haven't spent a cent for repairs. I have also run my Model "16" 12,000 miles in two years, and it has never been in the repair shop."—Arthur B. Spang, Buffalo.

Total Cost 2 Cents a Mile

"I get an average of 20 miles on a gallon of gasoline and it has not cost me more than two cents a mile inclusive of repairs, tires and supplies for the 5,000 miles thus far covered. A word to the Buick Service Department: It is the best—never too busy and always pleasant."—Miss Minnie Jackmon, Blasdell, Ill.

These are only two of the thousands of testimonials the Buick people have. This is what the Buick Co. vouches for in one of its catalogues: "We can furnish evidence to show that we have more satisfactory automobiles in service today than any other manufacturer, and we have frequently issued challenges to manufacturers in every direction that we have more Buick cars running that have had a mileage of over 20,000 miles, more over 50,000 miles, more over 100,000 miles and more over 200,000 miles than any other manufacturer can produce."

The famous Buick Overhead Valve Motor is guaranteed to have more power and more speed than any other type of motor on the market of equal size, American or Foreign make. It will pull stronger on low grade gasoline than any other type of motor ever built and the fuel consumption is less. Come in and get acquainted with this wonderful motor. Let us show you why it will do these things.

Roadsters and Touring Cars $1025 to $1725. F. O. B., Red Lake Falls

FINDEISEN AUTO. CO.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

County Agents--Buick and Ford Automobiles, Indian Motorcycles

Horses! Horses!

I have just received from the East 2 carloads of Native Broke Mares, weighing from 1200 to 1500 pounds. These mares are ready to do your spring work, and I'm the man that will sell them to you cheaper than anyone else. Come early and get your pick and I will see to it that the prices are made right.

LOUIS SIEFF, SR.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

A Newspaper Enterprise

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS

When the present czar of Russia was crowned, Elizabeth Monet, a young woman who had entered the profession of journalism, was sent to Russia to report the coronation ceremony. Arriving in Moscow, she discovered that no one was allowed inside the church where it was to take place. The journal she represented had obtained her leave from the Russian embassy at Washington a few letters to officials in Moscow who might help her. One of these was Dimitri Svensky, a young man of very prepossessing appearance, who the moment he saw Miss Moran proceeded to fall in love with her.

Svensky had authority to grant passes into the church, but only to certain persons connected with the foreign legations. He told the young woman that it was possible for him to secure her an admission, but, considering her talent to keep out any one who should be present for the purpose of assassination, if he should admit her and it were discovered the act would be punishable either with death or life imprisonment.

Elizabeth hesitated to accept such a risk for the young man. But there is in woman an inherent desire to put the devotion of men to the test, so she told him she would accept his offer. Before she quite realized what she was doing she had pleased him in jeopardy. The attempt was unsuccessful, and both were arrested.

Fortunately the American minister was present and learned that one of his countrywomen had endeavored to effect an entrance to the ceremony by corrupting an official and bestirred himself in the matter. It required months for him to convince the czar that Miss Moran was a newspaper correspondent and her only object was to send a report of the coronation ceremony to an American journal. Then she was released and ordered to leave Russia at once.

Before her departure she learned that the man whose love for her had induced him to take such a terrible risk had been sent to the mines of Siberia. There are few women who would not be won by such a sacrifice. Miss Moran's whole heart went ant to her unfortunate lover, whose fate was worse than death, and she resolved to free him.

But no such attempt could be successful without adequate preparation. She returned to America, where news of her arrest had preceded her. Indeed, it was largely through the efforts of the anti-nihilist newspaper proprietor that her liberty had been obtained. She told him of her resolve to free Svensky and claimed his influence and financial support in her effort. After vainly trying to induce her to relinquish her intention he agreed to help her. At her suggestion he procured through the Russian ambassador at Washington permission for one of his staff to investigate the Kara mines and write an account for the journal. When this was finally accomplished unlimited names were placed at her disposal, and, armed with the written permission that had been issued to Victor Kenworthy, she returned to Europe.

One morning a rather delicately organized person presented the Kenworthy order to the governor of Kara and was admitted to the inspection of the prisons. Not long after that Dimitri Svensky was transferred to the "Penitentiary" on the ground that he was afflicted with an incurable disease. The five command centists of persons who for some especial reason are permitted to live in houses, or rather huts, by themselves. Svensky was astonished at thus being transferred and could not divine the cause of such a favor.

Kenworthy, or, rather, Miss Moran, spent several weeks in making her inspection and writing her report, which she submitted to the governor. He was much pleased that it gave a very favorable account of the condition and kindly treatment of the prisoners.

One day Kenworthy appeared in his carriage at the mine guard station of Kara and told the commander that he desired to pass out without a permit. The commander was about to express a curt refusal when Kenworthy handed him an envelope. The officer opened it, but before taking out the contents saw that it was a money order of some kind. Without removing it he saw enough of it to assure him that it was a certified check on a bank in New York for $10,000. Closing the envelope, he told Kenworthy that he might drive on. Before doing so Kenworthy told him that the next evening he would desire to pass sgains and with some papers, reports on the condition of the prisoners, which he did not wish examined. He would have with him another envelope.

Kenworthy was permitted to visit the prisoners of the free command. He called on Svensky and made himself known. Svensky was thunderstruck. In a brief interview it was agreed that the latter was to come the next evening to a road leading to the main gate, where he would find a carriage.

The last act was Kenworthy stopping his carriage on the gate, handing the officer stationed there another $10,000 check and driving on. Svensky was concealed under robes.

A chartered vessel was at anchor in Kara sea, which took aboard the fugitives and landed them in Sweden, where they were married and could end their journey to New York.

Teacher—Johnny, he's you an excuse from your parent for being late at school?

Johnny—No, ma'am. I didn't have time to write it.—Baltimore Sun.

Tom Tibbs' ashes here repose.
Where loving friends may pause
To think how Tom in cotton clothes
Played up in Santa Claus.
—Santa Fe Employes' Magazine.

Here lies what's left of Tilford Bunce,
Somnient as a rabbit;
A six-ton car swept by him once,
And Tilford tried to grab it.
—Buffalo News.

Shed a tear for William Dunbar,
Who got in front of a friend's gun;
A rabbit was the reason why—
He came too late with a physician.
—Louisville Post.

This is the tombstone of Bill Wright.
No more his pay he drawe;
He tried to thaw some naughty;
He is not here because.
—Houston Post.

Agreed.

"There ought to be only one head in the free command centists of persons," shouted the orator.

"That's true," replied a man in the audience.

"Are you sore with me?" shouted the speaker.

"I do," roared the man. "I've just paid for hats for nine daughters."—Minneapolis Journal.

In Literature.

Author's Friend—Our baby enjoys your new book more than any of us.

Author—How can the baby enjoy it?

Author's Friend—He stands on it to look out of the window.—San Francisco Examiner.

Alas!

"In China," narrated Mr. Stayiate, "criminals are often sentenced to be kept awake until insanity and death result."

"And here," yawned Miss Cuttynge, "it is a fate peculiarly reserved for hostesses."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Deftly Turned.

"This isn't like the bread mother makes," said the young married man.

"No you are going to start that, are you?"

"I was merely compromising you. Mother never was a very good bread maker."—Washington Star.

If some irritating people would keep still long enough to permit us to forget them they would do much to promote our happiness.

The oil of flattery lubricates self esteem, but it is so apt to promote egotism that it really needs a physician's prescription to administer it.

If the weather man took orders he'd find plenty of people willing to order from him.

One reason why it is hard to name the baby is that it is difficult to find a name he'll answer to.

DR. G. B. FAIRCHILD
DENTIST
Graduate University of Minnesota
Offices over LaBissonière's store
Office hours:
9 a. m. to 12 m. 1 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Minnesota Historical Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

FIFTH LAKE FALLS GAZETTE—ESTABLISHED 1903
RED LAKE COURIER—ESTABLISHED 1910.

RED LAKE FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, MARCH 13, 1913. VOL. XXX—NO. 25

GOOD ROADS PROPOSITION FAILED

FARMERS OPPOSED TO CHANGE TO THE TOWNSHIP SYSTEM.

BROOKS GOES WET; ST. HILAIRE DRY—MANY DRY TOWNS.

Incomplete returns from the township elections held Tuesday indicate that the farmers did not feel very enthusiastic over the proposition to change the manner of handling road work to the township system. It is probable that the proposition failed to carry in every town in Red Lake county in which it was an issue in the election.

Brooks will continue to have a saloon, a majority having voted in favor of having the place remain "wet". St. Hilaire will continue to be without saloons, the "drys" having carried the day by the decisive vote of 74 to 28.

Many Red River Valley cities and villages will be without saloons, among those going dry being the following named towns: Fosston, Argyle, Ada, Stephen, St. Hilaire, Climax, Bagley, Perrille, Hallock, Kennedy, Mentor, Twin City, Halstad, Langby, Nelstosh, Greenbush, Badger, Roseau, Lancaster.

Following are returns from several Red Lake County precincts:

Terrebonne.

Supervisors—Louis Perrault, Alexis Perreau, Telesphore Dubay.
Town Clerk—Arthur Prevencost.
Treasurer—L. C. Cadieux.
Assessor—Louis Prevencux.
Justices of the Peace—Arthur Prevencost, Louis Parenteau.
Constables—Tom Connors, Albert Lachance.
Road Tax change: Yes 3, no 62.

Wylie.

Supervisors—Louis Gother, chr., Eli Bisaido, Chas. Zotz.
Town Clerk—T. F. Smidsenng.
Treasurer—P. E. Soldenang.
Assessor—Arnold Zotz.
Justice of the Peace—Anton Anderson.
Constable—Albert Drager.
Road tax change: Yes 4, No 15.

Red Lake Falls.

Supervisors—Thomas Whalen, L. Barli.
Town Clerk—John Linnertz.
Treasurer—George T. Whalen.
Assessor—M. O. Sortsetlad.
Road tax change—Yes 7, no 32.

Brown's Creek.

Supervisors—Andrew Lehrer, Jos. Schmitz, Ed. Enright.
Town Clerk—C. O. Swanson.
Treasurer—Peter Hidge.
Assessor—Chas. Dougherty.
Justice of the Peace—Ed. Enright.
Road tax change—yes 8, no 13.

Lake Pleasant.

Supervisor—Sam Luxemburg.
Town Clerk—M. Duchrome.
Treasurer—Wm. Schoger.
Assessor—P. E. Glass.
Justice of the Peace—Ernest Arel.
Constable—Wolter Columbus.
Road Tax change—yes 14, no 21.

Emardville.

Supervisor—Wm. Rose.
Clerk—A. Hemstad.
Treasurer—J. O. Hagen.
Assessor—A. J. Hemstad.
Justice of the Peace—J. M. Pillow.
Constables—August Glewwe, Albert Johnson.
Majority against road tax change.

Plummer Village.

President of the Council — Wm. Bottineau.
Councilmen—N. A. Nelson, J. W. Hulvick, Ole H. Engle.
Recorder—J. W. Palmer.
Treasurer—H. J. Enderle.
Justice of the Peace—J. J. Walker.
Constables—John Rice, Knute Henderson.

JEFFERS FOR REGISTRAR.

Said to be Candidate for Place Now Held by A. P. Tuplin.

Sometimes it is necessary to go away from home to get the news, it is said. For some time it has been rumored that when the new administration came to doing things in the way of rewarding the faithful, that Jeffers would be a candidate for appointment as registrar of the United States land office at Crookston, the place now held by A. P. Tuplin. However there has been nothing that seemed like a definite statement until the following appeared in the last issue of the Plummer Pioneer:

"Frank Jeffers, of Red Lake Falls, spent Tuesday in town. Being a "stanch Democyrat" Frank naturally felt much elated the all good Democrats should on a gala day like that. He states that he is in line for the job of registrar of the U. S. land office at Crookston, and feels that if party lines is to rule the appointment of this office Frank will have propounded the cause harded than he has, and asks for a fair chance when it comes to the distribution of the plums.

Plant Lice in Spring.

Some trees and shrubs are loaded every season with plant lice. On those affected last year one is likely to find now small, black, shiny eggs at the ends of the twigs. These can be seen on fruit and other trees, but also ornamental shrubs, and particularly on the lilac bushes. As soon as the tender leaves begin to unfold on this shrub the eggs hatch, and the leaves shortly become covered with lice. They rest, therefore, from the hedges and shrubs now, and burn the trimmings, burn also the small prunings of fruit trees? It is a well known fact that plant lice increase at a tremendous rate when once started—therefore, each egg destroyed now means the death of hundreds of lice, and the consequent lessening of the work of spraying later.—L. I. Washburn, Entomologist, University farm, St. Paul.

HOUSE EXPECTED TO DO LIKEWISE

STATE SENATE HAS PASSED THE CASHMAN DISTANCE TARIFF BILL.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Paul, March 10.—Unless Governor Eberhart sees fit to exercise his veto privileges the chances are excellent that railroads operating in the state will be doing freight business on a distance tariff basis within the next six months. In the face of vigorous opposition, with the big terminal centers, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, standing the expense, the Cashman distance tariff bill passed the senate last week by a good majority and there is nothing to show that it will be rejected by the house. In consequence there is weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth in the three big cities and other terminal points, with the wise ones cudgeling their brains in an effort to head off what they regard as a calamity. They may do it, but I have my doubts. Too much publicity seems to have been the undoing of the cities and the chances are that those in charge will continue with final results in favor of the measure. Out of it all has grown a bitter controversy on both by and that is the putting of the country against the city. No session of the legislature in late years has been free from this one thing at some time or another and the Cashman bill is the responsible agent this time.

* * *

In these piping times of progressive

(Continued on Page Four)

JUNIOR SHORT COURSE.

Special Work Offered Boys and Girls at Crookston.

Farm boys and girls between twelve and eighteen years of age will be gathering for the Junior Agricultural Short Course at Crookston, March 31 to April 4, and they will be given a week's work at the Northwest Agricultural School under the direction of specialists, in grain, live stock, poultry, gardening, cooking and sewing.

The only charge which the school will make for this interesting and instructive week, will be two dollars for board and room. The Dormitories and the Dining hall of the school will be used for the accommodation of the visiting boys and girls who will be in charge of responsible members of the school faculty.

For further information, address Superintendent C. G. Selvig at Northwest Agricultural School, Crookston, Minn.

TRAINMEN KILLED.

Engineer and Fireman Pinned Under Wreckage of N. P. Freight.

Joseph McGowan and Gus Sazen, both residents of East Grand Forks and employed on engineer and fireman on the Northern Pacific Wyoming freight, were killed last Thursday. The engine left the track near Davidson, the men having no warning of the danger. They were pinned under the engine and ten cars piled upon the wrecked engine. Escaping steam and the fire resulting from the wreck prevented any attempt to rescue the men, though their moans could be heard for a short time after other trainmen arrived on the scene. One of the cars wrecked contained oil and another coal. The oil poured over the wreckage causing a fierce fire and the men died in the flames.

While the wreckage was being cleared away the pulls the trains were taken over the Red Lake Falls branch from Portlle to Grand Forks.

BIG WRESTLING MATCH SCHEDULED

LOREN CURTIS AND SAILOR JACK AT LOTUS THEATRE NEXT THURSDAY.

Local wrestling fans are enthusiastic over the prospects of the big fast mat contest when Loren Curtis of Halstad and Sailor Jack come together at the Lotus Theatre in this city next Thursday night, March 20. They are scheduled to go for three falls or catch as catch can.

Those men participated in a match at Thief River Falls recently under rather unfavorable circumstances. They then performed before a crowd that filled the opera house to capacity. The match had gone to one fall the referee announced that it was a fake match. There is said to have been much money staked on the outcome and the excitement following the referee's announcement can be imagined.

It is said that Curtis and Sailor Jack are anxious to prove that they play the game square and hence were glad to accept the invitation to wrestle here, so near to the scene of the recent controversy.

The match will be preceded by some interesting preliminaries, commencing at 8 o'clock. The hour for the big match is 9 o'clock.

NECK BROKEN WHILE WRESTLING

JOHN IHLE OF THIEF RIVER FALLS, UNIVERSITY STUDENT, IS VICTIM.

John Ihle of Thief River Falls, a junior in the college of agriculture of the State University, is dead as a result of having his neck broken in a wrestling match with another student. Though he lived for some time his limbs were paralized and he died, shortly after an operation had been performed, last Friday, to relieve the pressure on the spinal cord caused by a broken vertebrae.

The Minneapolis Journal tells of the accident, as follows:

"Ihle had been interested in wrestling for a number of years, being one of the best heavyweight wrestlers in the university and also a second-string man on the football team. Most of his training during this winter had been in wrestling. The accident was caused by Ihle's head being turned to under him as he knelt on the mat. When the weight of both men fell forward, Ihle's head was rolled under his body and his neck broken. The audience were not aware that anything very serious had taken place and the extent of the injury was not determined until the X-ray examination."

AGED MAN CREMATED.

Burned to Death at Crookston Monday Morning.

This morning, lying helpless in his room on the second floor of the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Ole M. Sivertson, 112 Minnesota Street, Sampson's Addition, Ole Sanbo, aged nearly 88 years and totally blind, was burned to death.

The tragedy occurred shortly after 9 o'clock. The old gentleman had been smoking and it is supposed fire from his pipe fell on the bed clothing or on the carpet and started the blaze. His grandson, Oscar Sivertsen, aged 21, who was down stairs, smelling smoke, went upstairs to investigate. He opened the door of his grandfather's bedroom and found it belched out, nearly overcoming him. He heard his grandfather call to him to take the bedclothes off, and he made a dash into the room, but the flames, singing his hair, eyebrows, and eyelashes, even drove him back. Realizing the utter impossibility of rescuing the old gentleman, Oscar darted down the stairs and telephoned in a fire alarm to Chief Eck, who ran to the department.

The firemen made a quick run, but a few minutes were lost because an alarm had not been turned in direct to the department. When they arrived at the Sivertsen residence, Chief Harris, Borreice, Schmidt and others dashed to the room of the old man, but the whole room was a mass of flames. Barrette tried to tie flat on the floor and creep to the bed, intending to drag it to the doorway, but no human being could have accomplished the feat.—Crookston Times, Monday.

PARCELS POST REGULATIONS

PUBLIC ADVISED AS TO PRIVILEGES AND REQUIREMENTS OF SERVICE.

The parcels post service, in operation since the first of the year, continues to grow in popularity. Before the service was started much matter explaining the nature of the service was published. Since the public has become somewhat familiar with the operation of the service, the Gazette believes that an understanding of the rules prepared by the postal authorities will be of public service and offers the following from information supplied by the postoffice department:

"The local rate is applicable to parcels intended for delivery at the office of mailing or on a rural route starting therefrom.

"The law requires that on and after January 1, 1913, the postage on all domestic matter of the fourth class must be prepaid by distinctive postage stamps affixed. Postmasters can not receive for mailing parcels that do not bear such stamps.

"Procel post stamps are not valid for the payment of postage on messages, and,whenused for that purpose, or for the first, second and third classes, and, when used for that purpose, the matter to which they are affixed shall be treated as "Held for Postage," as prescribed in section 5.

"Parcels must be prepared for mailing in such manner that the contents can be easily examined. (See secs. 19 to 27, inclusive.)

"Postmasters will refuse to receive for mailing parcels not properly insured or stamped for safe shipment. Parcels must be mailed at a post office, branch post office, named or lettered station, or such numbered stations as may be designated by the postmaster, or delivered to a rural or other carrier duly authorized to receive such matter.

"Parcels collected on star routes must be deposited in the next post-

(Continued on Page 5.)

END OF ROMANCE.

Thief River Police Apprehended Half Breed Elopers.

The stern arm of the law put an end to an elopement at the Great Northern depot last Friday afternoon when Chief of Police Ericson took in custody Miss Pauline Carpenteur and John Vinehr both of Mahnomen, and held them to await the arrival of the Mahnomen authorities. The couple eloped to Thief River Falls on the Soo local Thursday evening. Friday afternoon the police department received a telephone communication from Mahnomen stating that the girl was under legal age and had left against her parents wishes. Chief Ericson hurried to the Great Northern depot and apprehended them just as they were boarding the train for Crookston. Miss Carpenteur stoutly maintained that she is eighteen years old. Vinehr says he is age 24 Twenty-three. Both are half-blood Chippewas.—Thief River News Press.

SUICIDE AT STATHCONA.

Well Known Farmer Takes Life by Drinking Laudanum.

John O.Gavick, a well known farmer of Strathcona, committed suicide by drinking laudanum last Saturday night. At the home of one of his neighbors, a family by the name of Erickson. During the day he was driven into town and bought a horse. While there he was heard to remark that he "was going to take his last trip over the road." He obtained a shave and hair cut and left the village late in the afternoon, stopping for the night at the Erickson home. During the night the family heard him moving about the house and in the morning discovered his dead body. He was 67 years old and leaves a family of grown children.—Thief River News Press.

SIMPLICITY IN SCHOOL EXERCISES

COMMENDABLE PLAN PROPOSED BY SUPT. COOK OF THE CITY SCHOOLS.

At a meeting of parents of children in the public schools, held at the high school Tuesday evening, the attendance was large enough so that the meeting was an interesting one, though the attendance should have been larger.

Supt. Cook and those who had responded to his invitation discussed several questions of interest, but much of the time was given to a consideration of Mr. Cook's proposal that the events of the annual commencement should be conducted with as much simplicity as possible. He proposes to place a limit upon the amount of money that may be expended for the "commencement gown". The proposition is not a new one. Practically all of the large high schools and many of the smaller ones in the state have taken similar action and with good reason. It is no part of the purpose of the public schools to train young people for a moneyspending contest and the commencement events should be conducted in such a manner as to in no unnecessary way contribute to the financial embarrassment of people of limited means who have children in the public schools. Mr. Cook's plan should be commended.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Wheat	.72
Corn	.73
Rye	.42
Oats	.31
Flax	1.13
Barley	.44
Potatoes	.35
Butter—creamery	.38
Butter—dairy	.28
Eggs—fresh	.20

When You Think of Farm Machinery THINK OF US

Call and See

Our Complete Line

Harrows, Plows, Cultivators, Corn Planters, Potato Planters, Wagons, Farm Trucks, Buggies, Breaking Plows, Harrow Carts and Manue Spreaders.

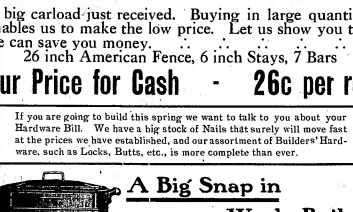
Let us figure with you for anything you need in your farm equipment.

M. SKALA & SON

Red Lake Falls, Minn.
NORTH SIDE

More Fence for Less Money

"THE AMERICAN"

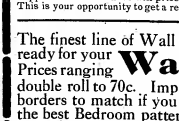


A big carload just received. Buying in large quantities enables us to make the low price. Let us show you that we can save you money.

26 inch American Fence, 6 inch Stays, 7 Bars

Our Price for Cash - 26c per rod

If you are going to build this spring we want to talk to you about your Hardware Bill. We have a big stock of Nails that surely will move fast at the prices we have established, and our assortment of Builders' Hardware, such as Locks, Butts, etc., is more complete than ever.



A Big Snap in Wash Boilers

Your Old Boiler Taken as Part Payment

We will allow you 50c for your old Tin Boiler with copper bottom or $1.00 for your old Copper Boiler.

Next SATURDAY and MONDAY we will put on sale a lot of Heavy Copper Boilers which we will price at $4.00
This is your opportunity to get a real good boiler at a very cheap price.

The finest line of Wall Paper ever shown in the city is ready for your Wall Paper inspection. Prices ranging from 10c a double roll to 70c. Imported Scotch Oatmeals with fancy borders to match if you want them. Cut-out Borders with the best Bedroom patterns. In fact an up-to-date line in exclusive designs. We would be pleased to show you.

WE SELL THE Monarch RANGE

Hunt-Kankel Hdwe. Co.

HARDWARE -- -- FURNITURE

WE SELL THE Monarch RANGE

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE

C. R. C. BAKER, Publisher.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA

Much has been accomplished. Opera is not only grand but profitable.

When the waiters strike no one can get one's own thumb into one's own soup.

Wife desertion is on the wane in New York. Due to the increase in divorces, perhaps.

Yet it is hard for one to feel grateful to the man who remarks that one's hair is getting thin.

Eastern men seeks divorce because his wife bit him with a tea cup. Evidently the cup that jars.

A Russian woman killed her husband in a duel with rapiers, marking the decline of the rolling-pin.

A man of twenty in good health may expect to live forty years longer; a man of forty, twenty-seven years.

A Johns Hopkins professor has discovered that orange blossoms can be used as an anaesthetic. Often they are.

A New Jersey judge announces that $15 is enough to spend in clothing a woman. Wonder how much his wife uses.

German scientists have decided that a man is in his prime at fifty years of age. Dr. Osler may yet take hope.

A New Jersey minister ate 32 pancakes at one sitting. Evidently he had no fear of what the hereafter consists of.

London women now feed their dogs at tables in restaurants. So they can bite the waiter if he gets too fresh, perhaps.

Duke Pompolo Litta wants us to wear pale blue evening clothes, regardless of chance affection for cerise and mauve.

In being engaged at a large salary to the Giants, Addie Burpee, the day qualified amateur, seems to have been kicked upstairs.

The parrot post is reported to be very heavy everywhere, but wait until Santa Claus gets his first whack at it, Dec. 25, 1912.

A Philadelphia woman is said to have cured sleeplessness by using a ruffle as a couch. Slept the sleep of the dead, no doubt.

While we are moving for universal peace, it is to be noted that Krupp's gun works show a surplus of $12,500,000 for the year 1912.

A Chicago club woman says that in the last 50 years the manners of American men have deteriorated. Does she speak from observation?

A Harvard professor says that pigeons can fall in love. The individual who wags of cooing doves and the like realized that long ago.

A live dog was sent to the Chicago postoffice to be mailed by parcel post. The owner, no doubt, must have been trying the system on the dog.

Arthur Fuller, the aviator who set a new record while carrying five passengers in his aeroplane, has a splendid name for business purposes.

Comes complaint from the large cities that working is becoming a lost art. But other facilities for getting there is improving, so why worry?

According to the store wiodows the women's spring hats are going to be smaller and very pleasing to look upon. Bring on your vernal equinox!

Now comes a college president who says Eve was not all that was originally demanded of her in society today. Of course not! She couldn't turkey trot.

Another good substitute for capital punishment has been found. It has been discovered that it is possible to live in Philadelphia on $7.50 a week.

From a cursory reading of the crime news one would hardly think that there are only ten commandments to be broken.

New York women have pledged themselves not to wear aigrettes or the plumes of the bird of paradise, thus practicing both humanity and economy.

All that is needed to make one of those "invisible" war aeroplanes truly a terror is an invisible gentleman to guide it and an inaudible motor to propel it.

Now some scientist has discovered that there were two Gardens of Eden. Adam and Eve must have been a quartet.

A New York dispatch states that the reporters' union struck for a five hour day. Doesn't it mean a fifteen hour day?

Somebody in Boston comes to the front with the suggestion that women be compelled to wear mumbasn hats. Probably he is the man who compelled them to give up long hatpins.

Now it is announced that the Chinese alphabet has been revised downward from 8,000 characters to 47, 23 vowels and 19 consonants. It may yet be possible for our cousins to that country to learn the language.

A peddler in London who hawked five-pound notes about the street, offering to sell them at a penny each, could sell only two, owing to the suspicions of the public. Yet almost anybody can sell stock in a wild-cat corporation that promises to pay a dividend of 50 per cent.

WHO IS WHO IN WILSON'S CABINET

Brief Sketches of Advisers of the New President.

BRYAN'S CAREER EPITOMIZED

McAdoo a Famous Tunnel Builder, McReynolds Skilled in "Trust Busting," Garrison a Man of Unusual Executive Ability, Others Able.

Washington, March 5.—President Wilson today sent to the senate the names of the following as the members of his cabinet:

Secretary of State—William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, Secretary of State.

Secretary of the Treasury—William G. McAdoo of New York.

Secretary of War—Lindley M. Garrison of New Jersey.

Attorney General—James C. McReynolds of Tennessee.

Postmaster General—Albert Burleson of Texas.

Secretary of the Navy—Josephus Daniels of North Carolina.

Secretary of the Interior—Franklin K. Lane of California.

Secretary of Agriculture—David A. Houston of Missouri.

Secretary of Commerce—William C. Redfield of New York.

Secretary of Labor—William B. Wilson of Pennsylvania.

With one or two exceptions, these men have attained considerable national fame, and all of them are admittedly able.

Mr. Bryan's Career.

William J. Bryan has been so much in the public eye for a good many years that a sketch of his career seems almost superfluous. Born in Salem, Ill., in 1860, he was graduated with highest honors from Illinois college at Jacksonville in 1881 and received his master's degree in 1884. In 1883 he was given the degree of LL. B. by Union College of Law, Chicago. After practicing law in Jacksonville and Lincoln, Neb., he served as a member of the 52nd and 53rd congresses. Having written the "silver plank" for the Democratic national convention of 1896 and made a sensational speech, he was nominated for president, but was defeated by William McKinley. Nominated again in 1900, he was again beaten by McKinley, and then established the Commoner and made a tour of the world. Nominated a third time in 1908, he was defeated by W. H. Taft.

WILLIAM G. M'ADOO, Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Bryan married Mary Elizabeth Baird in 1884. He has been much lecturing and written several books.

McAdoo the Tunnel Builder.

William Gibbs McAdoo, though a lawyer by profession, is known to most people as the builder of the great system of railway tunnels of New York city. He was born near Marietta, Ga., in 1863 and was educated at the University of Tennessee. In 1888 he was admitted to the bar,

LINDLEY M. GARRISON, Secretary of War.

and the same year he married Sarah Houston Fleming of Chattanooga. He entered the practice of law in New York in 1892, and since 1901 has been interested chiefly in tunnel construction there. He is president of the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad company.

Lindley M. Garrison.

The selection of Lindley M. Garrison, vice-chancellor of New Jersey, in the secretary of war is in line with President Wilson's idea that the holder of that position should be a man of unusual executive ability. He is a close friend of Mr. Wilson. Mr. Garrison was born in Camden, N. J., November 28, 1864. He is a son of Rev. Joseph F. Garrison, an Episcopal commission since 1905, and this experience is believed to have fitted him for the executive and judicial tasks in administering the army and navy of the country. Born in Prince Edward Island in 1864, he received his education in the University of California and became a lawyer in San Francisco. Prior to his resignation to the commission he was a Democratic political leader in California. He was Democratic candidate for governor, being defeated by a narrow margin.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS, Secretary of the Navy.

JAMES C. M'REYNOLDS, Attorney General.

clergymen. He is a brother of Justice Charles G. Garrison of the New Jersey supreme court. He was appointed to the chancery court in June, 1904, and reappointed by Chancellor Mahlon Pitney, now a justice of the United States Supreme court, in 1911 for a term of seven years.

James C. McReynolds.

In picking James Clark McReynolds for the position of attorney general, Mr. Wilson selected a man who has had a lot of experience as a "trust buster." He is a native of Elkton, Ky., where he was born in 1862, and a graduate of Vanderbilt university and the law school of the University of Virginia. From 1903 to 1907 he was assistant attorney general of the United States. He then returned to private practice, but has been retained as special assistant to the attorney general in matters relating to the enforcement of the anti-trust laws. Mr. McReynolds is unmarried.

ALBERT BURLESON, Postmaster General.

Albert S. Burleson.

Albert Sidney Burleson already has served seven consecutive terms as FRANKLIN K. LANE, Secretary of the Interior.

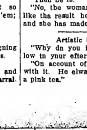
congressman from the Tenth district of Texas and was re-elected to the Sixty-third congress. He was born in San Marcos, Tex., in 1863, was educated at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, Baylor university and the University of Texas, and was admitted to the bar in 1884. His assistant city attorney of Austin for several years before going to congress. Mrs. Burleson was Miss Adale Steiner of Austin.

Josephus Daniels.

Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, is the one newspaper men given place in the cabinet. He has also been active in politics and is the chairman of the Democratic national committee for North Carolina. Mr. Daniels was born in 1862 at Washington, N. C., and began his newspaper career at the age of eighteen as editor of the Wilson (N. C.) Advance. In 1885 he became editor of the Raleigh State Chronicle, which nine years later he consolidated with the North Carolinian and the News and Observer.

Franklin K. Lane.

Franklin Knight Lane has been a member of the interstate commerce



DAVID A. HOUSTON, Secretary of Agriculture.

subsequently he was the Democratic caucus candidate for United States senator.

David F. Houston.

In David Franklin Houston, chancellor of Washington university, St. Louis, Wilson has a secretary of agriculture who is familiar with the processes of advancing scientific farming and allied questions to this country. Mr. Houston was president of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college for a number of years, and has taught years. In 1902 and 1903 he was commissioner of public works for the Borough of Brooklyn. In private life he is a manufacturer of ventilating and heating apparatus and engines. Mr Redfield was born in 1858 in Albany, N. Y., was educated in the schools of that city, and removed to New York in 1877 and to Brooklyn in 1883.

WILLIAM C. REDFIELD, Secretary of Commerce.

William B. Wilson.

Pennsylvania's representative in the cabinet is William Bauchop Wilson of

WILLIAM B. WILSON, Secretary of Labor.

Blossburg, named for secretary of labor. He was born in Blantyre, Scotland, in 1862, and came to this country in 1870. For most year he began working in the Pennsylvania coal mines, and from early manhood he has been actively interested in trade union affairs. For eight years he was international secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America. He is now engaged in farming. His wife, son has been a member of the last three congresses, representing the Fifteenth district of his state. He is married and has nine children.

STORY LESSON ON ELEPHANT

Animal Intelligence and Faithfulness Are Recounted for Study by Children.

The elephant is said to be the most intelligent of all animals; certainly a few one-hundred-dollar bills will serve on ably and faithfully. How courageous and loyal they can be is strikingly shown by an incident related by H. Perry Robinson in his book "Of Distinguished Animals," says the Youth's Companion.

"A native Mahratta prince was engaged in a fierce battle with his enemies, and the struggle raged furiously about the standard-bearing elephant. At the moment when it was ordered to turn down the enemy back till the tide of battle swept past the rooted elephant and left it, towering colossal among the slain.

"The fight was won, and then they would have had the elephant move from the battlefield, but it waited for the dead man's voice. For three days and nights it remained where it had been told to remain, and neither bribe nor blandishment moved it. Finally sent to the home village on the Nerbudda, a hundred miles away, and fetched the mahout's little son, a round-eyed, naked child. Then, at last, the hero of that victorious day, remembering that his master had succumbed to a brief absence, delegated his authority to the child, confessed its allegiance and, with shattered battle harness clanging at each stately stride, swung slowly along the road behind the boy."

Early Matrimonial Experience.

He—Yes; it was very regular all right, but he didn't take anything; I fright ened him away.

She—Oh! Isn't that too bad! I was hoping he'd take those pink ornaments the Blanks gave us.—Judge.

Always on Time.

"I suppose your husband detests New York?"

"Yes, indeed. But I've never known him to miss the train when he had any occasion to go."

Remodeled.

"He is a self-made man, isn't he?"

"He was."

"Then he is."

"No, the woman he married didn't like the result he had accomplished and she has made him over."

Artistic Perception.

"Why do you invite that silly fellow to your afternoon functions?"

"On account of his color harmony with it. He always looks as blue at a pink tea."

Business Suggestion.

"Why doesn't that line stand at attention?" said the young man at the military parade.

"I suppose," replied his friend, the telephone girl, "it is because the line's busy."

Three Sisters.

"Mamma, who is that lady with the strange dress on?"

"She is a sister of charity, dear."

"Which sister, mamma—Faith or Hope?"

DOINGS OF THE SOLONS

Minnesota Legislative Affairs of the Past Week—Law Makers Hard at Work.

St. Paul, March 4.—The present legislature, although it still has six weeks or more in which to work, has disposed of a large amount of important legislation. Some has been killed, but much more has been passed by one branch or the other and now awaits action by the other branch.

The house has been the busiest in disposing of legislation. In this body such measures as reapportionment, initiative and referendum, township tax, county option, good roads, etc., have been acted upon.

Inquiry Evidence Ruled Out.

Efforts on the part of Benjamin Drake, Jr., attorney for the Equity Co-operative exchange, to introduce into the records of the senate grain investigation the views of Louis Brandeis held regarding the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce failed yesterday. The committee ruled that it did not care what Mr. Brandeis thought.

Mr. Drake offered to show that, at a conference in Minneapolis last fall, Mr. Brandeis had declared that the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce was a monopoly and that he advised bringing suit against it. The committee ordered that all Mr. Drake's remarks regarding the Brandeis incident be ruled out of the records.

Campbell Bill in Original Form.

The house labor committee yesterday amended the Campbell members' pension bill, placing its administration in the counties instead of the state. This was provided in the bill in its original form. Chairman Campbell said that it was amended so as to place the administration in the state at the request of certain charity organizations, who said if the amendment were made they would withdraw their opposition. He added that after this was done, the opposition from this direction was just as keen, as he thought the county administration feature ought to be returned to the bill.

Minneapolis Day.

The big senate carving knife came flashing out of the darkness yesterday and bit the Minneapolis bond bills in fashion most radical. Originally the requests for bonds totaled $7,505,000, but when the senate knife was laid aside after the carving work they had been trimmed down below the four million mark. The result is that already the howl is going up from every section of the city hall.

Incidentally the senate, which set yesterday afternoon aside as Minneapolis day, showed very distinctly what it thinks if the patronage squabble which have characterized city health department affairs. It passed a bill, engrafted in the main by the disgusted Civic and Commerce association, which if passed by the house, will lift the health department far beyond the control of ward politicians.

St. Paul, March 3—Distance tariff, which has been laid aside by both houses of the legislature, will come to the front again when the Cashman bill comes up as a special order in the senate at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Having considered the delay in order to await a decision of the supreme court in the rate cases and having failed to get a decision, Senator Cashman feels as expected to insist upon a vote on his bill this week. The bill in the house is taking its regular course in spite of having made a special order and may be reached any day or may not be reached for some time. Should the senate kill the Cashman bill, the house is not likely to waste much time on the house bill.

To Settle Reapportionment.

Reapportionment, it is expected, will be definitely settled this week. The senate committee will have a hearing on the house bill Tuesday afternoon and members declared they would stay all night, if necessary, in order to report the bill out to the senate early Wednesday. It is expected the committee will recommend that this bill be made a special order Friday, when the senate will either kill or pass the bill.

Having settled the question of legislative reapportionment, there still remains the congressional redistricting. In this also the initiative will be left to the house, and a subcommittee appointed last week is expected to get a bill in shape this week to present to the house.

Duties Coming In.

The house committee on public accounts and expenditures is beginning to receive reports from the state departments to the requests it sent out two weeks ago for full information as to the employee and purchases at each department. Some of the departments which have a large list of employes are finding that it takes considerable time to arrange all the data asked for, as a detailed history of the connection of each employe with the department is asked.

At last of the returns come in it is the plan of the committee to classify and tabulate the essential facts and use the information as a foundation for such reorganization as the committee thinks will conduce to the maximum of public efficiency with the minimum of cost to the taxpayer.

St. Paul, March 1.—The court of recall for judges as proposed by Senator George H. Sullivan was turned down by the state senate yesterday. By a vote of 22 to 35 the senate defeated the Sullivan bill.

Senator Noonan, author of the original recall bill, asserted that the Sullivan measure was simply for the purpose of killing the recall bill passed by the senate two weeks ago. He said that if the two constitutional amendments were placed on the ballot, one providing for the recall of all public officers, including judges and another providing for a court of recall, the voters would be confused. Senator Noonan characterized the Sullivan bill as a "monstrosity."

Senator Sullivan proposed in his measure that judges be tried by a court that had the power to recall them if they were found guilty of charges preferred against them.

Searchlight Grain Exchange.

The searchlight of the senate grain investigating committee was turned upon the Equity Co-operative exchange, the Independent Grain exchange and the Lotus-Hybrard company yesterday afternoon.

George S. Loftus was the star witness and his testimony showed that he was the sales manager of the Equity exchange and the president of the Independent Grain exchange. It was shown that Mr. Loftus was the "moving spirit" in both exchanges.

Counsel for Independents.

The fact was brought out that James A. Manahan, who is conducting the investigation for the house committee, is the chief counsel for the Independent Grain exchange. It has been maintained in the house investigation that Mr. Manahan was not officially connected either with the Equity or the Independent Grain exchanges.

Senate Passes Primary Bill.

The primary bill, with its amendment extending the non-partisan feature to members of the legislature, was passed by the senate yesterday with only eight dissenting votes.

The bill gives recognition to the Bull Moose party, prevents the filing by petition in non-partisan elections and extends the non-partisan feature to all officers except state officials and members of congress.

The following senators voted against the measure: Berndt, Bigelow, Duxbury, Gunn, Klein, Marden, Nelson and Stebbins.

St. Paul, Feb. 28.—Memorials to be erected in the national cemeteries in Little Rock, Arkansas, and Memphis, Tenn., are asked for in a bill introduced in the senate yesterday by Senator C. P. Cook. It is pointed out that there are 64 known Minnesota officers and soldiers in the Little Rock cemetery, alone.

Non-Partisan Legislators.

Paving the way for the final defeat of the primary bill, the state senate yesterday adopted an amendment placing all members of the legislature on a non-partisan basis. Supporters of the bill, in its original form declare that they will vote for it on final passage. Opponents of the bill also are planning their intention of voting for the measure today.

Both sides feel that the house will kill the bill. Senators are loath to indicate what action would be taken if, by any chance, the house should pass the measure.

Amendment for a Purpose.

Those who supported the original bill say that the amendment putting the non-partisan tag on legislators was placed there for the purpose of killing it. The opponents of the bill, who supported that amendment, declare that it is just as logical as that county officers on a non-partisan basis. In fact, the hard-sledding for the bill is being traced to the defeat of the Duxbury amendment to a few days ago. The Duxbury amendment would have taken out the features of the law that placed county officers on a non-partisan basis.

Staples Coming In.

Senator Stebbins, of Rochester, was responsible for the amendment doing away with the school choice feature. Senator George H. Sullivan of Stillwater took up the fight for the amendment. He was opposed by Senator Hayward, who fought stubbornly for the retention of the school choice feature. Senator Sullivan characterized the school choice as a "polygamous choice," conceived in the mind of some theorist and provoking embarrassing from some cloister or university.

Senate for Two Battleships.

Washington, March 3.—Two battleships were voted into the naval appropriation bill by the senate after a short discussion of the provision adopted by the house limiting the building program to one battleship. The two battleship amendment offered by the naval committee of the senate was adopted by 46 to 16. An amendment by Senator Brandegee providing for three ships was defeated. The bill carries a total appropriation of approximately $150,000,000.

Practical Economy.

"I do not see that we are practicing economy by buying a $16 handbag for your wife."

"The interior is an omnibus that by the time she finds room for street car fare her companion will have paid for her."

Money Well Spent.

"Was your daughter's musical education a profitable venture?"

"Yes; but I bought the houses on either side at a half their value."—Judge's Library.

Thaw Again Seeks to Obtain Liberty.

New York, March 4.—For the fifth time since his incarceration in Matteawan asylum for the shooting of Stanford White, Harry K. Thaw has applied to the supreme court of a writ of habeas corpus to have the question of his sanity adjudged in the hope of gaining his freedom. The writ was granted by Supreme Court Justice Gray in the absence of Attorney Charles Kennedy, who had never before figured in the many and intricate Thaw proceedings.

Waiting for Fortuna.

"What sort of person is that?"

"When he hears a few dimes jingling he hopes he's going to be buried under an avalanche of dollars."

Saving One la.

"Before I was married a $20 bill looked like a two spot."

"And now?"

"Now, by George, a one looks like a miracle."

MUCH IMMIGRATION

H. J. MAXFIELD SEES BIG YEAR AHEAD FOR MINNESOTA.

URGES MORE STOCK RAISING

Dual Association Closes Big Convention After Splendid Session at Distance.

Mankato.—Speaking before the joint convention of the Minnesota Field Crop Breeders' association and the Minnesota Corn Growers' association, H. J. Maxfield, commissioner of immigration, urged diversified farming and especially stock raising, and said Minnesota ought to raise more stock, for there are splendid markets in the state, and with the passage of the differential tariff act the markets would be closer yet.

Distance Tariff Differences.

While there was a wide difference of opinion as to the wisdom of a distance tariff, he said something should be done to prevent the discrimination that has been going on for years to the disadvantage of outlying sections of the state. Granting rebates to large cities was on a par with granting them to monopolies and striking at the rebate system would do away with this injustice just as it had made monopolies unprofitable by taking away their special privileges.

Mr. Maxfield predicted that the immigration movement in Minnesota would this year exceed that of the past five years. "Minnesota is one of the leading states in the union in agriculture, but other states are making progress and Minnesota has got to do the same," he said.

The attendance taxed the capacity of the hall, so that extra seating arrangements had to be made during the fourdays session.

Hundreds of cuttles of corn, wheat, oats, barley and other small grain and grass seeds were made by the state fair that was held in connection with the annual meetings of the associations. The judging was done by Professor A. L. Stone, assistant agronomist of the Minnesota agricultural college; O. M. Olson of the extension division of the Minnesota agricultural college; A. C. Avery of the agronomy and farm management division of the Minnesota agricultural college; Leo Alexander, plant breeding foreman of the Minnesota agricultural experimental station; J. J. Rossman, corn specialist of the state agricultural college, and Professor C. R. Shumway, agricultural teacher in the Mankato high school.

Hume on Duty of Farmers.

The annual conventions of the two associations opened Tuesday afternoon with an address of welcome by Mayor Taylor and a response by President C. W. Gleisteller of the Seed Breeders' association, who then made his annual address. Professor A. N. Hume, agronomist of the South Dakota College of Agriculture at Brookings, spoke on "The Farmer and Better Crops." "The present duty of American farmers," he said, "is not merely to produce bigger crops, but to take stock of the present economic position. The best thinkers and the ablest and shrewd people in the United States today are farmers. They must produce more than an average crop to make it pay, and to do this general efficiency and business management is required."

A paper written by J. W. Beckman of Cokato, one of the best breeders of corn in the country, was read, and H. N. Green of Lake Crystal, president of the Blue Earth County Pure Seed association, delivered an address.

The convention came to a close Friday evening. A business session was held late in the afternoon, when officers were elected and a place selected for next year's meeting.

Calls Girl "Sweetheart." Then Hits Her.

Minneapolis.—"Hello there sweetheart," was the salutation of an unknown amateur when he accosted Miss Nellie Ellison, of Washington street northeast. Miss Ellison is a telephone operator, employed at the Spruce exchange of the Tri-State company. Sixth street and Seventh avenue northeast. After the man had spoken to her he struck her and tried to reach her purse. She successfully avoided him and screamed. The man ran away then. The young woman declares that the man has been shadowing her for days.

Vickberg to Return to Sweden.

Cannon Falls.—Jonas Vickberg, for many years manager of the Cannon Falls Creamery association plant, has resigned and on April 1 will sail from New York for Sweden, where he will reside permanently. During Mr. Vickberg's management the business has steadily increased. William Colten of Pine Island will succeed him here.

Drowned in Water Tank.

Moorhead.—The body of John Cox of Oanka was discovered in a Great Northern water tank, east of the passenger station here. Papers in the pockets of the dead man's clothes told who he was. He had been working on a plumber's force and was last seen about the end of December. The theory is that he fell into the top section of tramps, who use the timber inside a water tank to sleep on, and that he probably rolled off while in a deep slumber.

Lake Companies Incorporated.

Duluth.—H. R. Spencer, E. P. Preston and W. W. Sanford are the incorporators of three new marine transportation companies which filed articles of incorporation here. The companies are backed by Detroit capital and will engage in trade on the Great Lakes. The Sinclair Transportation company has a capital stock of $35,000. The Arrenee Transportation company has a $12,000 capitalization. The Comstock Transportation company is capitalized at $12,000.

AKELEY GETS PROGRESSIVE

Business Men and Farmers Unite to Develop the Tributary Country.

Akeley.—A big meeting of farmers and business men will be held here March 18, the object being to perfect plans for a company tractory. A. E. Chamberlain, developmeat agent for the Great Northern railroad, Dean Woods of the Minnesota farm bureau, D. M. Noll, president of the federation of commercial clubs, A. A. Quast of Bemidji, H. J. Maxfield, state immigration commissioner, and canning factory experts will be present.

Through the efforts of the Commercial club the owners of the cutover and other lands tributary to Akeley have consented to block of 2,500 acres in five and ten-acre tracts, and also about four thousand acres farther out, but all within the four corners of the town, into twenty and forty-acre tracts, the produce to be marketed at the canning factory. The soil is especially adapted for the growing of such produce.

The town has paid off all indebtedness and will spend $5,000 for good roads in the township the coming season in addition to whatever state aid it will be entitled to under the new road building laws.

Arrested as Bigamists.

Holt.—Sheriff Cowles has arrested John Tapper and Mrs. Lenus Bing, both of Med lake, and taken them to Warren to answer to a charge of bigamy. The Tapper and Bing homesteads are near each other on the shore of Mud lake, and last fall Mrs. Bing deserted her husband and went to live with Tapper.

Recently Mrs. Bing had a new marriage certificate in a bureau drawer at the Tapper home, and a search for information that Tapper and Mrs. Bing had been married at Grand Forks, North Dakota, on Oct. 3, 1912, by giving her maiden name of Lena Amundson. Bing took the complaint to Sheriff Cowles for safe keeping until he could lay the matter before the county attorney.

Indians Employed as Loggers.

Cloquet.—A number of the chiefs of the razor and log shanties shelter the forms of full men employed by the Red Lake-Bergen-McDonald Lumber company of Duluth at camp No. 1, in cutting timber on Indian lands. Many of the men are Indians, as the company's operations are on the reservation, and that Indians shall be employed in preference to white men, Superintendent Cole of the company announced altogether four camps. The company expected to cut 10,000,000 feet this winter, but owing to shortage of snow the cut will run only about 7,000,000 or 8,000,000.

Woman Beaten and Shot.

Minneapolis, March 3.—Mrs. Marie Phillips, 42 years old, was beaten and shot in her grocery store at 3857 Bloomington avenue south. Police detectives began shortly afterwards a search of South Minneapolis for the husband, Sam, a peddler, Mrs. Phillips is dying. She was shot through the left temple and the bullet lodged behind her right ear. Besides the man lapsed into unconsciousness she had a fractured jaw and a broken arm. She thought it was her husband that had shot her, although she didn't see the man.

Big Store in Corn Belt.

Ortonville.—The Big Stone county farmers' institute in this city last week, attended with fully 1,000 farmers in attendance, and proved to be a splendid success, awarded the first prize for the boys' and girls' corn test, which amounted to $50, was awarded Stanley Gruber, his having raised eighty-seven bushels on one acre. This was the first year for the test ten ears of corn. The average yield per acre in Minnesota, according to corn, raised in various parts of the county by boys and girls, was fifty-six bushels.

Cokato to Vote on License.

Cokato. — At the spring election, March 11, the license question will again come before the voters. Cokato has been in the "dry" column three years, but enough interest in a "wet" town can be secured to agitate the matter each year. Last year's decisive majority, the majority is predicted, will be increased this year.

Albert Lea League Elects Officers.

Albert Lea.—The annual meeting of the Business men's league has just been held. The election of officers resulted: President, Dr. Bowen, Bowen; first vice president, Martin Bleichfeldt; second, Bert Schumer; secretary, Clint L. Loce; treasurer, William Wehrhuter.

Logging Camps Breaking Up.

Grand Rapids.—The breaking up of the lumber camps for the season is in progress, and the north woods are pouring their workers into the village. Nearly three thousand men have arrived in villages hereabout in the past three days. Most of them will go to Minneapolis and Duluth.

Synod May Control College.

Fergus Falls.—A conference of the ministers of all the synodical Lutheran churches of this part of the state was held to discuss the advisability of placing the Red Eagle Lutheran college, of the city, under direct control of the synod. The college is now controlled by a private corporation besides the church, and has something like 300 students. About fifty ministers attended the conference and it was the unanimous opinion that the college should be placed under direct synod control.

Three Boys Taken to Hospital.

Two Harbors.—The deadly dynamita cap was responsible for the injury of three boys, sons of a Finnish farmer living near Embarass station on the Duluth & Iron Range road. The boys found the caps and when exploding them when two of the boys were badly injured about the face and hands and were taken to a hospital. Later in the day another boy had his hands and face badly lacerated and one eye injured.

FARM SCHOOL CELEBRATIO:.

Three "U" Proxies On Program—Folwell, Northrop and Vincent to Speak.

St. Paul.—Three presidents of the University of Minnesota will be among the speakers on the program for the quarter centennial celebration of the founding of the College of Agriculture of that university form, which commences March 23 and lasts one week, providing Dr. William Watts Folwell, first president of the institution, is able to return from his winter home in Leesburg, Fla., early enough for the celebration. Dr. Folwell has written Superintendent D. D. Mayne of the farm school that he will be here if possible, although illness in the form of lagrippe has from attending the quarter cent alumni association's celebration of his eightieth birthday, February 14. President Emeritus Cyrus Northrop and President George E. Vincent will complete the list of presidents.

Three Notables Can't Come.

All hope of having President-elect Woodrow Wilson, William Jennings Bryan or Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, each of whom were asked to speak at the celebration, has been given up. Professor, moving director and lantern slides, it is planned, will depict the various stages through which agricultural education has moved in the last twenty-five years, according to the plans of the arrangement committee.

Program in Detail.

Sunday, March 23.—Baccalaureate sermon, Henry Wallace, Des Moines, Iowa, Auditorium.

Monday, March 24.—Class play at S. Junior.

Tuesday, March 25.—Alumni Day—Forenoon, assembling of alumni in registration building. Afternoon at 2 o'clock, annual meeting of alumni; 7:30 p.m., special program behind the curtain. Evening: Annual alumni dinner at 6:30 o'clock, with program of toasts and responses.

Wednesday, March 26.—Commencement Day.—Speeches, 7 p. m., commencement address, President George E. Vincent, University of Minnesota. Reception of alumni and friends of the university and lantern slides.

Tentative program for March 27:

Forenoon.—Dean Woods presiding; Dr. W. A. Munster, high federal official; Dr. B. L. Kiehl, state superintendent of public instruction; Hon. Charles Lindbergh, U. S. Senator; Hon. Andrew Nelson, member of congress; Mrs. Annie L. Bull, chairman women's committee of the state public safety commission; Mrs. Clara Ueland, civic and social welfare; Prof. D. D. Mayne, present principal; Mrs. Virginia Meredith, first preceptress; Charles P. Bull, historian.

Afternoon.—Presiding, Governor Edgar Ueland presiding; address, President Emeritus William W. Folwell; address, President Emeritus Cyrus Northrop; address, President George E. Vincent. Address by Governor Eberhart.

Evening.—Annual alumni ball, 8 o'clock, Auditorium.

$110,000 ALEXANDRIA FIRE

Haiter & Gunderson Block Destroyed and Property Damaged.

Alexandria.—Alexandria was visited early Thursday morning by the most disastrous fire in its history, the loss to property and merchandise being fully $110,000, with insurance of from $45,000 to $50,000. The Haiter & Gunderson block and Haiter theatre shoe store were ruined and the contents of the large stores of E. O. Unumb and Haiter Brothers are total losses.

State Senator C. J. Gunderson lost his law and private library and about $15,000 his total loss being $18,000. He had one of the finest law libraries in the state. The loss on the Haiter & Gunderson building was $18,000; insurance $10,000. R. O. Dingman, loss of general merchandise, $45,000; insurance $25,000. Reiter Brothers, shoe store, loss $16,000; insurance, $7,000; loss on building $5,000. Insurance $3,000. Dr. C. L. Cole, Dr. Ruud and Dr. George Estes and N. Langehousen, a lawyer, with offices in the building, had losses of $1,000.

Both property adjacent were damaged. The heat destroyed much of the white glass and copper work on the Farmers National bank, its loss being from $2,000 to $4,000. There were other losses of several hundred dollars each.

The cause of the fire is not known it originated in the basement of the Unumb store, in the Haiter & Gunderson building, and was discovered about 11:30 p. m. The fire department responded promptly and kept the fire confined to the basement for an hour, but the conflagration would be in the first floor into the large storeroom. The building was one of the best in the city.

Minnesota Dean to Resign.

Minneapolis.—Dr. F. F. Wesbrook, dean of the medical school of the University of Minnesota, has resigned official notification of his appointment as president of the new University of British Columbia at Vancouver, B. C Dr. Wesbrook said that he would accept the position. He will take up his new duties about the middle of the end of the university year at Minnesota.

Claim Youngest Worshipful Master.

Tower.—Members of Vermilion lodge, No. 107, A. F. & A. M., say they have the youngest worshipful master in the state in the person of Will am L. Chipman. Mr. Chipman is barely past his twenty-sixth birthday. He was born at Greenwood.

Beekeepers Elect Officers.

Winona.—The Southeastern Beekeepers' association closed its two days' convention here Wednesday afternoon by electing the following officers: President, Peter Bowen, Stockton; vice-presidents, L. A. Stickney, of Minnesota City, and F. How of Kellogg; secretary, Otto Hollands, Winona; treasurer, Mrs. Otto Holland Winona. The organization decided that the Hopkins hill pending to the boxes providing for the employment of an apiarist at the state agricultural college.

Immigration Starts Early.

Cass Lake.—Many new settlers are coming to Cass Lake. The average for February was a family or more a day for Cass Lake and vicinity. Charles Locke and family of ten children have just arrived from Alexandria, Minnesota, and make home here. Frank Gregory of Ruthven, Iowa, has arrived with his family and will start a truck farm. Will Miller and family, also of Ruthven, have arrived. Peter Duncan, L. F. Fuller, also lowa man, are expected in a few days with their families.

NEW MISTRESSES OF THE WHITE HOUSE.

BLACKMAIL CHARGED

ANTIGO, WIS., WOMAN ACCUSED OF DEMANDING MONEY OF SOCIAL RIVAL.

SEEN TAKING PACKAGE LEFT

Detective Watch Woman as She Goes to Hilding Place Suggested—Postal and Theorities Act.

Chicago, March 5. — Mrs. Maud Stewart, of Antigo, Wis., a social leader and wife of a prominent merchant, was arrested by federal detectives here charged with sending a blackmailing letter to a rival social leader. Mrs. Stewart collapsed when United States Commissioner held her in $3,000 bond.

Letter to Rival.

The letter which caused her arrest was written to Mrs. H. E. Van Osterland who, government detectives say, is a rival of Mrs. Stewart's for leadership in Antigo society.. Mrs. Van Osterland received a formal meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Washington. The letter made some comments regarding Mrs. Van Osterland in connection with the Washington trip and demanded that she place a sum of money in a crevice of a post in the outskirts of Antigo. The demand and the letter were inspired, according to the detectives, by a spirited contest between the two women for leadership in Antigo society.

Seen Taking Package.

Mrs. Van Osterland found the letter over to the postal authorities. A decoy package was placed in the post, and it is declared, Mrs. Stewart was seen taking it. The state's attorney, however, declined to undertake the prosecution of the case, according to federal officials, because of the preponderance of the accused woman, declaring that conviction would be impossible. The postal authorities in Wisconsin took the matter up and Mrs. Stewart was arrested here on a service from District Attorney Goff of Milwaukee.

Mrs. Stewart had registered at a hotel here with her husband, A. D. Stewart, and a 15-years-old son. Mr. Stewart was not present when she was arrested and did not accompany her to the commissioner's office.

Becomes Very Hysterical.

Mrs. Stewart became hysterical in the commissioner's office. "Why is this being done to me?" she demanded, "I have done wrong to no one. I can't stand this." I have done no wrong." Medical attention was necessary to quiet her.

The warrant on which she was arrested calls for her removal to Wisconsin for trial. The preliminary hearing will take place here today, it is expected.

Heike Sentence Commuted.

Washington, March 4. — President Taft today commuted to five years and costs the sentences of Charles R. Heike, secretary and treasurer of the defunct Sugar Trust, imprisoned for eight months in the New York county penitentiary and a fine of $5,000. Heike was convicted of conspiracy to defraud the United States in affecting entry of dutiable sugar at less than its true cost. The president acted upon the recommendation of Attorney General Wickersham.

Boy, Flying Kite, Electrocuted.

Portsmouth, Va., March 4.—While flying a kite, Sidney Bright, a 16-year-old boy, was instantly electrocuted. The boy attached a thin wire to the kite instead of a string and when the kite fell across an electric wire, 11,000 volts passed through his body.

Illinois Democrats Leave.

Chicago, March 4.—Governor Dunne, Mayor Harrison of Chicago, and nearly 1,000 other Cook county Democrats went to Washington to take part in the inauguration of the president.

FAILED TO PASS SUPPLY BILLS

FUNDS WILL BE PROVIDED FOR BY DEMOCRATS.

Senate Meets to Confirm Appointments to Cabinet by Order of Marshall.

Washington, March 5.—Two of the great annual appropriation bills, necessary to the maintenance of the several governments, failed of passage when the sixty-second congress went out of its affairs.

Senator Pull of New Mexico, holding the floor through the closing hours of the session, talked the Indian appropriation bill to death with its fifty-000,000 for the support of the Indian service while President Taft wrote his veto on the $115,000,000 bill to take care of the "sundry civil expenses" of the government.

The house repassed the sundry civil bill over the veto, but when it reached the senate, Senator Poindexter objected to any appropriation for the Washington police force unless an investigation had been made for the ethics of the various executive departments and if it recognized that if the administration wants to get control of these places it can find a way to do so.

DECLARE THAW IS DANGEROUS

State Officials Will Fight Attempt to Release Slayer from Matteawan Asylum.

Albany, N. Y., March 5.—Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, will be fought vigorously by state officials from the Matteawan asylum without any combination or agreement having in view the increasing of wages, shortening of hours or betterment in the conditions of labor," or for the prosecution of "prisoners of farm products and associations of farmers who cooperate and organize to maintain a fair price for their products," it is declared.

This, he declared, "was class legislation of the most vicious sort," and that it would undoubtedly be held unconstitutional by the courts.

Referring to the farmers' clause, President Taft said:

"At a time when there is widespread complaint of the high cost of living, it certainly would be an example to put on the statute books of the United States an act to effect preventing the prosecution of combinations of producers of farm products for the purpose of retiring conducing prices."

The special session of the senate, which Vice President Marshall called to order immediately after the sixty-second congress had adjourned, met again at noon today to receive and act upon President Wilson's cabinet appointments.

Drops Dead in Grave.

Emporia, Kan., March 5.—William Hamilton, 70 years old, died in a grave he was digging in a cemetery here. Heart disease caused his death.

Suffragists Win a Victory.

Indianapolis, March 5.—Woman suffrage in Indiana won a victory when the senate and house decided to submit to the state house, swamping the floor of the senate and argued their cases with members of the legislature. Senator Gribe, unable to withstand the pleas, introduced a joint resolution to amend the state constitution to grant women full suffrage. When the senate the woman went into the house and there separated the proceedings while they heard their pleas. Here, however, they were less successful.

Wilson Breaks Another Precedent.

Washington, March 3.—President-elect Woodrow Wilson nearly threw the congressional inaugural committee into convulsions by requesting ten extra seats on the floor of the senate for the members of his cabinet on inauguration day and ten seats in the reserved gallery for the wives of his cabinet. It has not been customary at previous inaugurations to give this recognition to the new cabinet. The committee, headed by Senator Crane, had to comply.

MANY SEEK JOBS

PATRONAGE AT WILSON'S DISPOSAL ESTIMATED AT $30,000,000.

MAY ENFORCE CIVIL SERVICE

If so Many of His Predecessors' Appointments Will Receive His Approval and Office Seekers Will be Disappointed.

Washington, March 5.—In keeping with the time-respected adage, "to the victors belong the spoils," 100,000 federals, republican officeholders, are now placed at the mercy of their successors—the leaders of the newly inaugurated democracy—and pleaded for protection from the hordes of hungry, stompeding patronage hunters which seeks to turn them out of office.

Civil Service Attitude.

President Wilson, as the democratic leader, has an unmistakable record of praise to give his followers. Roughly estimated, it has been valued at $50,000,000. Of course, much depends on the rigidity or looseness the civil service laws are so far as possible. As to minor offices, they predicted, Wilson will replace republicans with democrats to conserve the spoils benefits spoils, but he will not be in a rush about it.

Assassinators to Be Shifted.

Only in the instances where ambassadors, consuls, ministers and officials, and appointees for the more important posts will be made is it expected that immediate shifts will be made.

This policy, it is admitted, will not satisfy the insistent democrats who demand immediate reward for their political affiliations during the campaign. They want Wilson at once to have the president make a quick general reorganization of the executive departments, so democratic successors will request that former President Taft's order, standing about 36,000 fourth-class postmasters, be rescinded and these places opened to them. The committee service also will be attacked in an effort to discover further places of "snake" for democratic prospectors.

Civil Federal Employees.

The total number of officers and employees of the government, exclusive of the army and navy, is 411,648. Of the total, over 300,000 are protected by the civil service rules. Of the remaining 100,000 whose positions are at the mercy of the new administration. The number of direct appointees is only 10,823. Of these, 9,949 must be confirmed by the senate. The great bulk of the 100,000 jobs in control of the bureau chiefs and the chiefs of the various executive departments and if it recognized that if the administration wants to get control of these places it can find a way to do so.

LOSER OF $41,000 A MYSTERY

LEAVES CHICAGO HOSPITAL BY REAR ENTRANCE.

Fails to Notify Police of Her Sudden Departure.

Chicago, March 5. — Mrs. Mabel Mills, wife of a wealthy hotel owner of San Antonio, Texas, who mysteriously lost more than $41,000 presumably by robbery, in Evanston, a Chicago suburb, Saturday night, has left the hospital to which she was taken, dazed and injured. Here whereabouts are as much of a mystery as that of the large sum of money which has so strangely disappeared.

Mrs. Mills left early in the afternoon without giving the police notice, although she had consulted Chief Shaffer of Evanston, that she would communicate with him when she decided to depart.

The hospital authorities told Chief Shaffer that Mrs. Mills had an appointment with her bankers in Chicago and that she had gone to meet them. They denied however that they had been or heard from her.

The missing woman is said to have left the hospital at the rear entrance. A taxicab and a large limousine were drawn up side by side and Mrs. Mills is said to have entered the limousine car and thee to have alighted on the other side and taken the taxicab. It is reported that her friend, Mrs. H. L. Scrivens had previously made reservations for her on a train.

A maid at the Stevens home declared that Mrs. Mills had passed Friday night there, two days before her departure for the hotel complained of being ill.

In spite of the puzzling features of the case, Chief Shaffer said he was continuing to work on the theory that Scotpads saw Mrs. Mills obtain the money on an elevated train, and followed her to the hotel down when she walked up a dark street.

WILSON'S CABINET NAMES.

Lane, Garrison and Houston Chosen for Posts.

Wilmington, Del., March 4.—Justice Charles Grant Garrison of New Jersey is to be secretary of war, and Franklin K. Lane of California, at present a member of the interstate commerce commission, will be secretary of the interior, according to unquestionable authority.

The same source of information gave the names of the cabinet slate as follows:

Secretary of State—William J. Bryan.

Secretary of Treasury—William G. McAdoo of New York.

Attorney General—James McReynolds of Tennessee.

Secretary of Commerce—William C. Redfield of New York.

Postmaster General—Josephus Daniels of North Carolina.

Secretary of Navy—William B. Wilson of Pennsylvania.

Secretary of Agriculture—D. F. Houston, Missouri Democrat.

FIRM RULE MAY COME NOW

